600. —— Termination at such port in United Kingdom as required by master—What constitutes "end of voyage."]—By an agreement a crew was engaged on a voyage within specified limits of time & space, which was to end "at such port in the United Kingdom or the Continent of Europe within home trading limits as may be required by the master." Within the prescribed limits the ship arrived at Southampton, where she discharged her cargo. The master required the crew to take her on to Cardiff in ballast. One of the seamen claimed his discharge & wages at Southampton, on the ground that the voyage had ended there:—Held: he was not entitled to his discharge at Southampton.—BOARD OF TRADE v. BAXTER, THE SCARSDALE, [1907] A. C. 373; 76 L. J. P. 147; 97 L. T. 526; 23 T. L. R. 729; 51 Sol. Jo. 70; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 525, H. L.

Annotation:—Follid. Haylett v. Thompson, [1911] 1 K. B. 311.

iii. Where Character of Voyage changed.

601. Whether seamen entitled to quit ship—Increased risk—Carriage of contraband.]—(1) Pltf. agreed with deft. to serve as one of the crew of a ship, whereof deft. was master, for twelve months, from London to Rio, or any other of the ports specified in the agreement, amongst which were ports in the Pacific Ocean, & back to a final port of discharge, & to obey during that period all deft.'s lawful commands. He subsequently sailed for Rio with the ship. She was destined, as it appeared from her charterparty, for the service of the Peruvian Govt., & had on board a cargo of coal & ammunition. In the course of her voyage to Rio she joined co. with two Peruvian war steamers, to which from time to time she supplied coal & ammunition. At Rio it became known to pltf. & deft. that hostilities had commenced between Spain & Peru, two powers at peace with England. Deft., notwithstanding this circumstance, announced to pltf. that he intended to go on to Callao, in the Pacific, another Peruvian port. He was at that time acting under the direction of a Peruvian agent on board the ship, who received his instructions from the commanders of the two war steamers. Pltf. objected to serve any further on the voyage on the ground that it had become illegal, & involved greater danger than he had anticipated when he entered into his agreement with deft. He accordingly left the ship. In an action for breach of contract brought by him against deft.:—Held: deft. must complete the voyage with respect to which they signed articles.—CASEY v. DEACON, THE DECCAN, [1906] S. A. L. R. 125.—AUS.

---

PART III. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 4.—A. (e) ii.

591 i. Whether seaman entitled to quit ship.]—Where a seaman shipped in Liverpool, & signed articles which thus described the voyage: "To come out to St. John in a ship called the P.; to be under the command of the master of the P. until her arrival in St. John, there to leave the P. & to go in a new ship commanded by the master, & to continue by her until her arrival at her port of discharge in the United Kingdom":—Held: an avowed intention to go to Savannah, in Georgia, previous to her return to Great Britain, was an intended departure sufficient to justify the seaman leaving the ship & suing for wages.—HAYWARD v. MAINE (1841), 3 N. B. R. (1 Kerr) 292.—CAN.

591 ii. ——.]—Where there was a deviation in the voyage from that stated in the shipping articles, occasioned by a return to the port of Quebec:—Held: the engagement of a seaman was terminated, as there was then no subsisting contract.—THE LATONA (1874), 18 L. C. J. 185.—CAN.

591 iii. ——.]—Where a change in destination of a ship is made, the crew can legally refuse on terms of existing contract. In such event, where the new terms asked are not accepted by the owner, members of the crew are entitled to legal notice before being discharged.—JACOBSON v. THE FORT MORGAN (1919), 19 Exch. C. R. 165; 49 D. L. R. 123.—CAN.

b. Change in destination — Fresh terms not accepted by owner—Right to legal notice before discharge.]—JACOBSON v. THE FORT MORGAN (1919), 19 Exch. C. R. 165; 49 D. L. R. 123.—CAN.

Sect. 2.—Contracts of service: Sub-sect. 4, A. (e) iii., & B. Sect. 3.]

be taken to have engaged pltf. for an ordinary voyage, & pltf. was entitled to treat as a breach of contract deft.'s employment of him on a voyage which would expose him to greater danger than he originally had reason to anticipate. (2) Pltf., after leaving deft.'s ship, was imprisoned at Rio for some days as a Peruvian deserter. When he came out of prison the ship had gone, carrying some of his clothes on board of her. The jury awarded damages both for the imprisonment & the loss of clothes:—Held: these damages were too remote to be recoverable.—BURTON v. PINKERTON (1867), L. R. 2 Exch. 340; 36 L. J. Ex. 137; 16 L. T. 419; 17 L. T. 15; 31 J. P. 615; 15 W. R. 1139; 2 Mar. L. C. 494, 547.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. O'Neil v. Armstrong, Mitchell, [1895] 2 Q. B. 70; Lloyd v. Sheen (1905), 93 L. T. 174. Consd. Palace Shipping Co. v. Caine, [1907] A. C. 386. Reld. Austin Friars Steam Shipping Co. v. Strack, [1905] 2 K. B. 315; Browning v. Crumlin Valley Collieries, [1926] 1 K. B. 522. As to (2) Reld. Hobbs v. L. & S. W. Ry. (1875), L. R. 10 Q. B. 111.

602. —— —— ——.]—A seaman signed articles to serve on board a British ship for a voyage not exceeding two years to ports in the East, proceeding to Hong Kong & thereafter trading to ports in any rotation & ending at a port in the United Kingdom. War then existed between Russia & Japan, & coal had been declared contraband of war. The vessel left with a cargo of coal to Hong Kong or Shang hai as might be ordered at Singapore. On the voyage to Singapore the cargo was sold for Nagasaki in Japan, & on the arrival of the ship at Singapore the master received orders from the owner to go to Nagasaki instead of Hong Kong. At Singapore it first came to the knowledge of the crew that the ship was to go to Nagasaki instead of Hong Kong. They refused to proceed to Nagasaki on account of the increased risk & danger in going to a belligerent port with contraband of war. It was then arranged by the master that the crew should remain at Singapore & that he would call for them on his way back. He took another crew on board, went to Nagasaki, delivered the coal, & left that port, but on her way back the ship was driven ashore, was got off, & was taken to Hong Kong. It was not proved that she became a wreck. The seaman was sent home with the rest of the crew & arrived in London. He claimed his wages up to the date of his arrival in London, upon the ground that the agreement was broken by the owner when the ship was ordered to Nagasaki. When he made the agreement he had no knowledge that he would be required to sail with contraband of war to a belligerent port:—Held: there having been no wreck or loss of the ship which would terminate the service under 1894 Act, s. 158, & there having been no termination by the discharge of the seaman under the terms of the contract or under the provisions of the Act, either at home or abroad, the seaman was entitled to his wages up to the date of his arrival in London.—LLOYD v. SHEEN (1905), 93 L. T. 174; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 75, D. C.

Annotations:—Distd. Sivewright v. Allen (1906), 75 L. J. K. B. 476. Reld. Sibery v. Connelly (1905), 94 L. T. 198.

603. —— —— ——.]—PALACE SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. CAINE, No. 956, post.

604. —— —— ——.]—A seaman signed articles at Glasgow for a voyage on the British steamship G. of "not exceeding three years' duration to any ports or places within the limits of 75 degrees north & 60 degrees south latitude, commencing at Glasgow, proceeding thence to Hong Kong, via the Bristol Channel, thereafter trading to ports in any rotation, & to end at such port in the United Kingdom of continent of Europe, within home trade limits as may be required by the master." The vessel proceeded to Cardiff, where she was loaded with a cargo of coal. At the time the articles were signed a state of war existed between Russia & Japan, & both powers had declared coal to be contraband of war. The master knew at the time of the loading of the vessel at Cardiff that the cargo was destined for the Japanese port of Sasebo, but did not disclose this information to the crew. Sasebo was within the limits prescribed by the articles. Upon arrival at Hong Kong the seaman discovered the port of destination, & refused to proceed in the vessel. He remained at Hong Kong until she returned, when he rejoined her & returned to Cardiff:—Held: the seaman was entitled to wages & maintenance while he was waiting at Hong Kong.—SIBERY v. CONNELLY (1907), 96 L. T. 140; 23 T. L. R. 257; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 330, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Palace Shipping Co. v. Caine, [1907] A. C. 386. Reld. Hutton v. Ras Steam Shipping Co., [1907] 1 K. B. 834.

605. —— —— Declaration of war.]—The Japanese Govt. purchased in this country a warship, which was placed in charge of a master to navigate on their behalf from the Tyne to Yokohama. Pltf. contracted with the master to serve as one of the crew for the voyage for a fixed sum. The ship sailed from the Tyne, but before she arrived at her destination news reached her that war had been declared by Japan against China. Pltf. thereupon refused to continue to serve & left the ship. In an action brought by pltf. for his wages:—Held: the master was responsible to pltf. for the act of his principals in declaring war, &, as the consequence of such declaration of war would be to expose pltf., in the event of his continuing the voyage, to greater risks than those he had contracted to run, pltf. was justified in leaving the ship, & was entitled to recover the stipulated sum notwithstanding that the voyage was not completed.—O'NEIL v. ARMSTRONG, MITCHELL & Co., [1895] 2 Q. B. 418; 65 L. J. Q. B. 7; 73 L. T. 178; 11 T. L. R. 548; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 63; 14 R. 703, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Austin Friars Steam Shipping Co. v. Strack, [1905] 2 K. B. 315; Palace Shipping Co. v. Caine, [1907] A. C. 386. Reld. Lloyd v. Shun (1905), 93 L. T. 174; St. Enoch Shipping Co. v. Phosphate Mining Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 624; Browning v. Crumlin Valley Collieries, [1926] 1 K. B. 522.

606. —— —— ——.]—Pltfs. were engaged as seamen on a British ship on a commercial voyage from London to Port Arthur, Texas, & to a final port of destination in the United Kingdom. Upon arrival at Port Arthur she discharged her outward cargo & took on board a cargo of black oil. News having arrived that a state of war existed between Germany & England & that the Karlsruhe, a German cruiser, was in the vicinity of Port Arthur, pltfs. refused to proceed to sea & complete the voyage, on account of the extra risk due to the outbreak of war which they would incur, unless they received extra remuneration. The master being unable otherwise to obtain their services, signed an agreement to pay them an extra £12 each to take the ship home:—Held: the risks of war not being contemplated by the seaman when they made the bargain for the commercial voyage, & the risk of capture & of danger from mines on the voyage home being risks which might reasonably be taken into consideration, pltfs. were discharged from their obligation to proceed on the voyage, the master was impliedly clothed with authority from the owners to make such reasonable contract with pltfs. as he could to obtain their services, & the contract was binding on the owners.—LISTON v. CARPATHIAN (OWNERS), [1915] 2 K. B. 42; 84 L. J. K. B. 1135; 112 L. T. 994; 31 T. L. R. 226; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 70; 20 Com. Cas. 224.

Annotation :—Refd. Browning v. Crumlin Valley Collieries, [1926] 1 K. B. 522.

B. Licences to engage or supply Seamen.

See 1894 Act, ss. 110–112.

607. Necessity for licence—Engaging or supplying seamen—For British ship.]—NELSON v. RICHARDSON (1884), 48 J. P. 457.

608. —— —— For foreign ship in United Kingdom.]—R. v. STEWART, No. 9, ante.

609. —— Exemption—"Owner"—Unregistered but having control of ship.]—By 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, s. 147 (1), if any person not licenced by the Board of Trade other than "the owner or master or mate of a ship, or some person who is bonâ fide the servant & in the constant employ of the owner, or a shipping master duly appointed as aforesaid, engages or supplies any seaman or apprentice to be entered on board any ship in the United Kingdom," he incurs a penalty. Resp. having bonâ fide contracted to purchase one sixty-fourth share in a British ship from P., who, though not registered as the owner, had the full possession & control of the ship under a contract to purchase the sixty-four shares, supplied an apprentice to P., who engaged the apprentice for the ship: —Held: resp. was an "owner" within the meaning of the exemption, since though not a registered owner he had a contract enforceable in equity for the purchase of a share in the ship.—HUGHES v. SUTHERLAND (1881), 7 Q. B. 160; 50 L. J. Q. B. 567; 45 L. T. 287; 46 J. P. 6; 29 W. R. 867; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 459, D. C.
Annotations :—Refd. Von Freeden v. Hull & Turner (1906), 75 L. J. K. B. 359; The Hopper No. 66, [1907] P. 254.

610. Proof of licence—Onus on defendant.]—Deft. having been charged under 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, s. 147, with supplying a seaman to a merchant ship in the United Kingdom he not being a person holding a licence from the Board of Trade for that purpose:—Held: proof having been given of the supply of the seaman by deft., the onus of proving that he held a licence from the Board of Trade rested with him.—R. v. JOHNSTON (1886), 55 L. T. 265; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 14; 16 Cox, C. C. 221; sub nom. TURNER v. JOHNSTON, 51 J. P. 22, D. C.

611. Acting without licence—Nature of fine—Punishment for offence—Not civil debt.]—R. v. STEWART, No. 9, ante.

---

SECT. 3.—CARE OF SEAMEN DURING CURRENCY OF AGREEMENT.

See 1894 Act, ss. 198–211; 1906 Act, ss. 25–27, 34, 35, 64; 1923 Act.

612. Supply of provisions—Rights of seaman.]—THE CASTILIA, No. 587, ante.

613. —— Shortage due to prolongation of voyage—Right of seamen to compensation.]—Owing to the unexpected length of a voyage the crew of a vessel had been put on short allowance, They were, on motion, allowed compensation under the provisions of Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104).—THE JOSEPHINE (1856), Sw. 152; 28 L. T. O. S. 192; 2 Jur. N. S. 1148.

614. —— Total ration issued unconsumed by seaman—Property in unconsumed rations.]—1906 Act, s. 26, enacts that masters of ships shall furnish provisions to the members of the crew in accordance with the scale set out in Schedule I. to the Act. Where during a voyage a seaman saves up a portion of his rations supplied in accordance with that sect., & at the end of the voyage takes home the unconsumed rations, he cannot be convicted of larceny unless the prosecution prove that there was mens rea on his part. The fact that the shipowners, to the knowledge of the seaman, disapproved of the practice of taking away unconsumed rations at the end of the voyage, does not justify a finding of mens rea against the seaman. It must be proved that he knew that he was taking away the property of another.

The unconsumed rations remain the property of the shipping co.—MOGAN v. CALDWELL (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 1141; 83 J. P. 213; 35 T. L. R. 381; 17 L. G. R. 330; sub nom. MORGAN v. CALDWELL, 121 L. T. 148; 26 Cox, C. C. 425; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 437, D. C.

—— Board wages in default.]—See No. 940, post.

615. Provision of medicine & medical attendance—Failure to provide—Liability for manslaughter.]—Persons on board a ship are necessarily subjected to something like a despotic government, & it is extremely important that the law should regulate the conduct of those who exercise dominion over them. Therefore, in a case of manslaughter against the captain & mate of a vessel by accelerating the death of a seaman, really in ill health, but who, they allege, they believe to be a skulker, the question will be, in determining whether it is a slight or an aggravated case, whether the phenomena of the disease were such as would excite the attention of reasonable & humane men; & in such a case, if deceased be taken on board after he was discharged from an hospital, it is important to inquire whether he was sent on board by the surgeon of the hospital as a person in a fit state of health to perform the duties of a seaman.—R. v. LEGGETT (1838), 8 C. & P. 191.

616. —— —— Penalty.]—An action will lie at the suit of a seaman, against his owners for injury arising to him from not providing a sufficient supply of medicines, pursuant to 7 & 8 Vict. c. 112, s. 18, notwithstanding the penalty imposed by the same sect. for non-compliance with it.—COUCH v. STEEL (1854), 3 E. & B. 402; 2 C. L. R. 940; 23 L. J. Q. B. 121; 22 L. T. O. S. 271; 18 Jur. 515; 2 W. R. 170; 118 E. R. 1193.
Annotations :—Dbtd. Atkinson v. Newcastle Waterworks Co. (1877), 2 Ex. D. 441. Refd. Gorris v. Scott (1874),

---

PART III. SECT. 3.

c. Provision of medicine & medical attendance—Right of master to withdraw authority before recovery of seaman.]—A master of a ship who engages a medical practitioner to attend upon one of his seamen who has been injured, is at liberty to withdraw his authority before the seaman is out of danger.—BROWN v. FIGG (1879), 5 V. L. R. (L.) 136.—AUS.

d. ——.]—MORGAN v. BRITISH YUKON NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1903), 10 B. C. R. 112.—CAN.

e. —— Seaman absent on leave—No request from master.]—The liability of a vessel & its owners to provide necessary medical attendance & care for members of the crew during the voyage will not enable a physician to recover against the vessel or owners for services rendered, in the absence of a request from the master, to a member of the crew who is permitted to absent himself from the vessel for a few days & while so absent becomes ill & dies. There is no contractual relation express or implied, in such case, between the attending physician & the owners, &, in the absence of a statute, he cannot recover.—MELANSON v. GORTON PEW FISHERIES CO. (1915), 48 N. S. R. 502.—CAN.

f. Expenses of maintenance—Seaman receiving hurt or injury in service of ship—Detention in foreign

Sect. 3.—Care of seamen during currency of agreement. Sect. 4: Sub-sect. 1.]

43 L. J. Ex. 92; Robertson v. Amazon Tug & Lighterage Co. (1881), 7 Q. B. D. 598. Mentd. A.-G. v. Radloff (1854), 10 Exch. 84; Casswell v. Worth (1856), 25 L. J. Q. B. 121; Bartonshill Coal Co. v. Reid, Same v. M'Guire (1858), 22 J. P. 560; Brecon Corpn. v. Edwards (1862), 6 L. T. 293; Young v. Davis (1862), 7 H. & N. 760; Wilson v. Merry (1868), L. R. 1 Sc. & Div. 326; Handley v. Moffat (1872), 21 W. R. 231; Jones v. Stanstead, Shefford & Chambly Railroad Co. (1872), 8 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 312; Pickering v. James (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 489; Thorley v. Glossop (1876), 34 L. T. 169; Melliss v. Shirley & Freemantle L. B. of Health (1885), 54 L. J. Q. B. 408; R. v. Hall, [1891] 1 Q. B. 747; Cowley v. Newmarket L. B., [1892] A. C. 345; Pictou Municipality v. Geldert, [1893] A. C. 524; Thompson v. Brighton Corpn., Oliver v. Horsham L. B., [1894] 1 Q. B. 332; Saunders v. Holborn District Board of Works, [1895] 1 Q. B. 64; Maguire v. Liverpool Corpn. (1905), 92 L. T. 374; Dawson v. Bingley U. C., [1911] 2 K. B. 149; Neville v. London Express Newspaper, [1919] A. C. 368; Hemmings v. Stoke Poges Golf Club, [1920] 1 K. B. 720; R. v. Marshland Smeeth & Fen District Comrs., [1920] 1 K. B. 155; Simmonds v. Newport Abercarn Black Vein Steam Coal Co., [1921] 1 K. B. 616.

617. —— —— Seaman's right of action.]—COUCH v. STEEL, No. 616, ante.

618. —— Seaman receiving hurt or injury in service of ship—Illness brought on in discharge of duty—Hospital expenses.]—Resp. was a seaman on board the British ship Crown Prince, & was shipped in London in 1875. In Nov. 1876, while the Crown Prince was at sea, resp. was taken ill, owing to the bad provisions which were supplied to the crew. The Crown Prince put into Port Stanley in Jan. 1877, & all the crew being sick were taken to the hospital there. Resp. remained there wholly incapacitated until Aug. 1877, when he was sent to England as a distressed seaman. Applt. declined to pay the expenses incurred by resp. at Port Stanley, & deducted them from a sum of £81 12*s.* 6*d.* due to resp. as wages. Upon a summons taken out by resp. to recover that amount, applt., as Secretary to the Board of Trade, was convicted & fined one penny, & ordered to pay forthwith to resp. the sum of £81 12*s.* 6*d.* Against this conviction the present appeal was brought:—Held: the conviction was good, as the words "hurt or injury in the service of the ship," in 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, s. 228, were wide enough to apply not only to any hurt sustained by a casualty, but to any illness brought on a seaman while doing his duty in the service of the ship.—BOARD OF TRADE SECRETARY v. SUNDHOLM (1879), 41 L. T. 469; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 196.

619. —— —— Seaman brought to home port—Medical expenses after return.]—A shipowner is not liable under 1894 Act, s. 207 (1), for expenses of necessary surgical & medical attendance upon a seaman injured in the service of the ship incurred after the seaman has been brought back to a port of the United Kingdom.—ANDERSON v. RAYNER, [1903] 1 K. B. 589; 72 L. J. K. B. 292; 88 L. T. 313; 19 T. L. R. 297; 51 W. R. 369; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 385; sub nom. RAYNER v. ANDERSON (No. 1), 47 Sol. Jo. 353, C. A.

620. Accommodation for seamen—1894 Act, sect. 210—Application to Lascars.]—Above sect., which requires that a certain amount of space shall be provided for seamen on board any British ship, applies to Lascars serving on board such ships.—PENINSULAR & ORIENTAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. v. R., [1901] 2 K. B. 686; 70 L. J. K. B. 845; 85 L. T. 71; 17 T. L. R. 610; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 228.

See, now, 1906 Act, s. 64.

621. Expenses of maintenance—Seaman receiving hurt or injury in service of ship—Effect of desertion by seaman.]—By 1906 Act, s. 34 (1), if a seaman receives any hurt or injury in the service of the ship, the expenses of his maintenance until he is cured, or dies, or is returned to a proper return port, & of his conveyance to the port, shall be defrayed by the owner of the ship.

Workmen's Compensation Act, 1906 (c. 58), s. 7 (1), applies the Act to seamen, subject to (inter alia) the following qualification: (e) "The weekly payment shall not be payable in respect of the period during which the owner of the ship is, under 1894 Act, as amended by any subsequent enactment, . . . liable to defray the expenses of maintenance of the injured . . . seaman."

In June, 1920, a Mohammedan seaman, who was engaged for service throughout a round voyage from Bombay to the United Kingdom & back to Bombay within one year, sustained in the course of the voyage an injury arising out of his employment, whereby he was for a time totally incapacitated & remained partially incapacitated. He was treated in hospital at Marseilles & was ultimately taken to Glasgow, where he rejoined his ship. In Sept. 1920, while the shipowners were in process of returning the seaman to Bombay, he left the ship without leave & deserted his service:—Held: the liability of the owners in respect of the maintenance of the seaman under 1906 Act, ceased from the date of his desertion, & he was entitled to an immediate payment of compensation.—ANCHOR LINE (HENDERSON BROTHERS), LTD. v. MOHAD, [1922] 1 A. C. 146; 91 L. J. P. C. 65; 126 L. T. 420; 38 T. L. R. 199; 15 B. W. C. C. 1; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 434, H. L.

622. Expenses of repatriation—After detention in foreign port.]—BOARD OF TRADE v. ANGLO-AMERICAN OIL CO., LTD., No. 858, post.

Right of seaman to compensation under Employers' Liability Act & Workmen's Compensation Act.]—See Sect. 6, post.

Destitute & dismissed seamen.]—See Sect. 7, post.

---

SECT. 4.—WAGES.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

623. Assignability of wages.]—A seaman assigns his wages, as a security for money, & dies indebted to other persons. This assignment specifically binds the wages, & the money secured thereby shall be paid preferable to all other debts.—CROUCH v. MARTIN (1707), 2 Vern. 595; 1 Eq. Cas. Abr. 45, pl. 7; 23 E. R. 987.

Annotations:—Consd. Stone v. Lidderdale (1795), 2 Anst. 533. Apld. Russell v. Fryers (1909), 25 T. L. R. 414. Mentd. Voyle v. Hughes (1854), 2 Sm. & G. 18.

---

port.]—Deft.'s vessel left Liverpool, with a full crew, bound for Miramichi, N. B. S., a stowaway found on board, was permitted by the master to sign the ship's articles, at nominal wages, after which he performed the duties of a seaman until severely injured by a fall from a yard of the ship. In the course of her voyage the vessel put into Sydney Bar, & S., who was then suffering from disease resulting from his injuries & want of proper attendance was brought by the master to pltf., to whom the master represented that S. was a seaman who had been injured in the discharge of his duty, & pledged the credit of the owner for his support & maintenance:—Held: the contract made by the master with pltf. was within the scope of his authority as master of the vessel & was binding upon the owner.—WALSH v. MCDONALD (1867), 7 N. S. R. (1 G. & O.) 87.—CAN.

g. Termination of navigation by ice—Right of seaman to sustenance or transportation to open seaport.]—In cases arising out of the abrupt termination of the navigation of the St. Lawrence by ice or storms in the end of November, seamen shipped in England on a voyage to Quebec & back are entitled to have provision made for their sustenance during the winter, or their transportation to an open seaport on the Atlantic, with the payment of wages up to the arrival in such port.—THE JANE (1846), 1 S. V. A. R. 256.—CAN.

624. Right to wages — Whether voyage must be completed—Contract for whole voyage.]—CUTTER v. POWELL, No. 796, post.

625. —— —— —— Quantum meruit.] — HULLE v. HEIGHTMAN, No. 952, post.

626. —— —— —— ——.]—JESSE v. ROY, No. 575, ante.

627. —— —— —— ——.] — HILLYARD v. MOUNT, No. 631, post.

628. —— —— —— ——.]—Deft. having contracted with the Lords of the Admlty. to provide a steam vessel for exploring the river Niger, wrote to pltf. as follows:—"I am willing to give you the command of the steamer destined for an exploring & trading voyage up the river Niger & its tributaries. Your pay to be at the rate of £50 per month commencing from Dec. 1, 1853, & a commission of 20 per cent. on the net proceeds of the produce you may bring down." In reply, pltf. wrote to deft. as follows:—"In answer to your letter of yesterday offering me the command of the vessel to go out in a trading & exploring voyage to the river Niger & its tributaries at a fixed pay of £50 per month & 20 per cent. on the net proceeds of the goods obtained, I beg leave to say that I accept the service & the terms you mention." The vessel proceeded up the Niger under the command of pltf. as far as Dagbo when pltf. refused to proceed further & abandoned the command:—Held: this was not an entire contract for the whole voyage, but a contract which gave a cause of action for the salary as each month arose, & which, when once vested, was not subject to be lost or divested by pltf.'s desertion or abandonment of the contract.—TAYLOR v. LAIRD (1856), 1 H. & N. 266; 25 L. J. Ex. 329; 27 L. T. O. S. 221; 156 E. R. 1203.

Annotations:—Apld. Button v. Thompson (1869), L. R. 4 C. P. 330. Mentd. Parkin v. South Hetton Coal Co. (1907), 98 L. T. 162.

629. —— —— —— Unseaworthy ship forced back to port.]—Though a ship, when she sails on a voyage, is not seaworthy, & after part of the voyage is performed she is forced into port, & compelled to abandon the voyage, that does not entitle the sailors to recover wages for any part of the voyage.—EAKEN v. THOM (1803), 5 Esp. 6; 170 E. R. 719, N. P.

630. —— —— —— Seaman discharged by master.]—By 39 Geo. 3, c. 80, s. 29, for the regulation of the African trade, mariners are not to be discharged abroad in that service. Wages given to the time of the ship's return to Liverpool.—THE BEAVER (1800), 3 Ch. Rob. 92; 165 E. R. 397.

Annotation:—Refd. The British Trade, [1924] P. 104.

631. —— —— —— Seamen exchanged with consent of master.]—By a clause in the ship's articles of a South Sea whaler, the seamen serving on board were to lose their wages if they did not return with the ship to the port of London. After serving twenty-seven months, some of the seamen were, with the consent of the captain, exchanged into another ship for others belonging to that ship:—Held: if these seamen lost their wages under the articles, they could recover a reasonable compensation for their services, on the count for work & labour.—HILLYARD v. MOUNT (1828), 3 C. & P. 93; 172 E. R. 338.

Annotation:—Distd. Robins v. Power (1858), 4 Jur. N. S. 810.

632. —— —— Contract for succession of voyages—Seaman left behind through own negligence.]—Pltf. shipped on board deft.'s vessel, as mate, at wages of £5 10*s.* per calendar month, under articles in the form sanctioned by the Board of Trade in pursuance of Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), for a voyage from Shields to Alexandria, &, if required, to any port or ports in the Mediterranean, Black Sea, Danube, etc., & home to the ship's final port of discharge in the United Kingdom or continent of Europe; the voyage not expected to exceed twelve months. During the voyage out there was evidence that pltf. had been guilty of drunkenness & violent & insubordinate conduct; &, being on shore at Sulina, a port in the Danube, he was left behind, & the vessel came home without him.—In an action for wages for the time pltf. actually served on board the jury found that he had been guilty of drunkenness & abusive language subversive of discipline, & that he was not left behind by the wilful misconduct or negligence of the captain, but through his own negligence & misconduct. They, however, negatived desertion:—Held: notwithstanding this finding of the jury, pltf. was entitled to recover wages up to the time of his being left behind at Sulina,—the contract being for a succession of voyages of indefinite duration, though "not expected to exceed twelve months," & the wages being vested & a debt at the end of each month of service, subject, it might be, to forfeiture in an event which had not happened, though perhaps not recoverable until the expiration of the period of service stipulated for.—BUTTON v. THOMPSON (1869), L. R. 4 C. P. 330; 38 L. J. C. P. 225; 20 L. T. 568; 17 W. R. 1067; 3 Mar. L. C. 231.

Annotations:—Mentd. Saunders v. Whittle (1876), 33 L. T. 816; Parkin v. South Hetton Coal Co. (1907), 98 L. T. 162.

633. —— Based on contract of service.] — Where part of a vessel had been saved by the exertions of the mariners:—Held: they were entitled to the payment of their wages, as far as the fragments of the materials would form a fund, though there was no freight earned by the owners.

The natural & legal parents of wages are the

---

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 1.

624 i. Right to wages—Whether voyage must be completed—Contract for whole voyage.]—When seamen execute articles for a period not exceeding two years, & back to a port of final discharge of cargo in the United Kingdom, they are not justified in leaving their vessel & demanding payment of their wages at a port of call for orders only, even although the period of two years has expired.—THE TRIUMPH (1859), 12 Ir. Jur. 381.—IR.

625 i. —— —— —— Quantum meruit.]—If there has been a deviation from the voyage agreed upon, or the ship is unseaworthy, a seaman has a right to determine the contract, & to recover wages to the time of leaving the ship.—R. v. WHETEN (1856), 8 N. B. R. (3 All.) 269.—CAN.

h. —— —— —— Deviation.]—THE PRINCE EDWARD (1858), 8 L. C. R. 293.—CAN.

k. —— —— —— Seaman left behind on ground of unfitness.]—CABLE v. THE SOCOTRA (1907), 11 Exch. C. R. 301; 7 W. L. R. 25; 13 B. C. R. 309.—CAN.

l. —— ——.]—Action was brought by a seaman for wages at Quebec, under articles of agreement that stipulated that "the several persons whose names are hereto subscribed hereby agree to serve on board the said ship in the several capacities expressed against their respective names on a voyage from the port of Liverpool to Constantinople, thence, if required, to any ports & places in the Mediterranean or Black Sea, or wheresoever freight may offer, with the liberty to call at a port for orders, & until her return to a final port of discharge in the United Kingdom, or for a term not to exceed twelve months":—Held: action for wages could be brought on such agreement at Quebec, & the seamen could not be compelled to return to a final port of discharge in the United Kingdom.—THE VARUNA (1855), 5 L. C. R. 312.—CAN.

m. —— Supercargo — No specific agreement to pay wages—Quantum meruit.]—A supercargo is entitled to a quantum meruit, if there is no specific agreement to pay him wages or to allow him a percentage on the value of the cargo exported & imported.—TUZO v. JONES (1846), 2 R. de L. 76.—CAN.

n. —— Seaman leaving ship on ground of apprehension of danger to life—Alleged unseaworthiness of ship.]—Under Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, a seaman who has contracted & signed mariner's contract, & the performance of the service covenanted therein; they in fact generate the title to wages. What is the obligation which a mariner contracts with the ship in which he engages to serve? It is not only to navigate her in favourable weather, but likewise in adverse weather inducing shipwreck, to exert himself . . . to save as much of the ship & cargo as he can. It is a part of his bounden duty in his character of a seaman of that ship. It is certainly a laborious & probably a dangerous portion of his service, but certainly not less a service, & a meritorious service on those accounts. In performing that duty he assumes no new character. He only discharges a portion of that covenanted allegiance to that vessel which he contemplated, & pledged himself to give in the very formation of that contract which gave him his title to the stipulated wages (LORD STOWELL).—THE NEPTUNE (1824), 1 Hag. Adm. 227; 166 E. R. 81.

Annotations:—Distd. The Riby Grove (1843), 2 Wm. Rob. 52. Apld. The Reliance (1843), 2 Wm. Rob. 119; The Portreath, [1923] P. 155. Reld. The Malta (1828), 2 Hag. Adm. 158; The Lady Durham (1835), 3 Hag. Adm. 196; The Florence (1852), 19 L. T. O. S. 304; The Warrior (1862), Lush. 476; The Le Jonet (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 556; The Schiller (Cargo Ex) (1877), 2 P. D. 145; The Solway Prince, [1896] P. 120; The Olympic, [1913] P. 92; The Leon Blum, [1915] P. 90. Mentd. Notara v. Henderson (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 225.

634. —— Seaman wrongfully disrated.]—FRANCIS v. HUTCHINSON (1841), 10 L. T. 913.

635. —— Seaman prevented from doing duty.]—FRANCIS v. HUTCHINSON (1841), 10 L. T. 913.

636. —— Agreement to run blockade.]—By principal authority, & usage, it is not a municipal offence, by the law of nations for a neutral to carry on trade with a blockaded port. In a suit for wages, upon an agreement entered into for the purpose of breaking the blockade of the Confederate States of America, an article in deft.'s answer alleging such agreement to be contrary to law ordered to be struck out.—THE HELEN (1865), L. R. 1 A. & E. 1; 35 L. J. Adm. 2; 13 L. T. 305; 11 Jur. N. S. 1025; 14 W. R. 136; 2 Mar. L. C. 293.

Annotations:—Distd. Geipel v. Smith (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 404. Reld. Caine v. Palace Shipping Co., [1907] 1 K. B. 670.

637. —— Discharge wrongfully refused—Extension of voyage—Wages until arrival home.]—DONKIN v. HASTIE, No. 592, ante.

638. —— Seaman quitting ship by reason of increased risk—Carriage of contraband.]—LLOYD v. SHEEN, No. 602, ante.

639. —— —— ——.]—PALACE SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. CAINE, No. 956, post.

640. —— —— ——.]—SIBERY v. CONNELLY, No. 604, ante.

641. Agreement verbal or in writing.]—THE PRINCE GEORGE, No. 807, post.

642. Agreement to receive proportion of profits.]—If a sailor engages on a whaling voyage, & is to receive a certain proportion of the profits of the voyage in lieu of wages, when the cargo is sold, he may maintain an action for his wages against the captain; & shall not be considered as a partner.—WILKINSON v. FRASIER (1802), 4 Esp. 182; 170 E. R. 684, N. P.

Annotations:—Reld. Whelan v. Great Northern Steam Fishing Co. (1909), 100 L. T. 913. Mentd. Stocker v. Brockelhurst (1851), 3 Mac. & G. 250.

643. ——.]—Where pltf. subscribed articles of agreement under seal, between the captain of a ship & the mariners, whereby, in consideration of their serving faithfully in a fishing voyage to the South Seas & back again, they were each to receive a certain share of the net proceeds of the cargo brought home, & deft., as owner of the ship, was appointed agent to dispose of the cargo for the benefit of all concerned:—Held: money had & received would not lie against deft. to recover pltf.'s share of the net proceeds, on proof that deft. had disposed of the cargo, & the price of it had come to his hands; without evidence of an acknowledgment that pltf. had done his duty during the voyage, & was entitled to his stipulated share of the proceeds.—EVANS v. BENNETT (1808), 1 Camp. 300; 170 E. R. 964, N. P.

644. ——.]—JESSE v. ROY, No. 575, ante.

645. ——.]—Articles of agreement provide, that a seaman shall receive for his wages a proportion of the net proceeds of the cargo, after the same are actually received by the owner, subject to certain stipulations as to the seaman's conduct. Semble: his share may be recovered in an action for money had & received: the owner having received the money, & the seaman having fulfilled the stipulations on his part.—HAYWARD v. KAIN (1829), Mood. & M. 311, N. P.

646. —— Promise by master to procure cargo.]—Pltf., as captain of a South Sea whaler, covenanted with defts., that he would proceed to the fishery & procure a cargo of sperm oil, etc., or as great a proportion as might be, under all circumstances, within his power to obtain; would return to London, & at his own cost deliver the cargo; would obey instructions; be frugal of provisions, & not dispose of any of them without accounting for the same; & would not smuggle or trade, or permit any on board to do so. Defts. covenanted, on the performance of the before-mentioned terms & conditions on the part of pltf., to pay him a certain proportion of the net proceeds of the cargo:—Held: pltf.'s covenants were independent, & the performance of them was not a condition precedent to an action on the articles for a voyage to British North America & back to a final port of discharge in the United Kingdom, is not entitled to recover wages here on the ground of apprehension of danger to life, in consequence of the alleged unseaworthiness of the vessel.—THE PILOT (1851), 8 L. C. R. 99.—CAN.

---

o. —— Necessity for proof of contract of hiring.]—Held: the claims of pltfs. for wages as seamen on a gasoline launch failed because they failed to establish a contract of hiring.—MCARTHUR v. THE JOHNSON (1913), 23 W. L. R. 619; 14 Exch. C. R. 321; 18 B. C. R. 94; 9 D. L. R. 568.—CAN.

p. —— Sailors acting as salvors of ship driven on coast.]—YOUNG v. THE MINNIE A. (P. E. I.) (1918), 40 D. L. R. 408.—CAN.

q. —— Shareman at seal fishery.]—In an action against the owner of a sealing ship, by a stowaway, who was adopted during the voyage as one of the crew by the acceptance of his work, for the value of his share of seals, it is no defence that the owner has only received the vessel's share of the seals, & that the crew's share has never come into his custody.—DUNN v. MCLOUGHLAN (1857), 4 Nfld. L. R. 177.—NFLD.

r. —— During detention by embargo in foreign port.]—Wages are due to a seaman during the period of the vessel's detention by an embargo in a foreign port.—THOMSON v. MILLIE (1806), 13 Fac. Coll. 560; 22 Mor. Dict. App. 10.—SCOT.

t. —— Master's wages—Master owner of half vessel & cargo.]—THE JOSEPH DEXTER (1869), 20 L. T. 820.—IR.

642 i. Agreement to receive proportion of profits.]—Where a seaman holding a master's certificate agrees to accept a share of the season's profits earned by a ship in return for his services as master, he cannot, in the event of the venture not being successful, or before its conclusion, make a claim for payment of wages for navigating the ship.—QUINN v. THE VOLUNTEER (1920), 20 Exch. C. R. 324.—CAN.

642 ii. ——.]—Where the master of a banking schooner was to receive one twenty-eighth part of the produce of a fishery banking voyage, after deducting the "necessary expenses" for securing & making the voyage, but the agreement was silent as to what the "necessary expenses" were, the ct. was of opinion that it included fish making & freight.—DENIEF v. JOB BROTHERS & CO. (1880), 6 Nfld. L. R. 201.—NFLD.

s. Amount of wages—Conclusiveness of ship's articles.]—In the case of an English vessel, the ship's articles are conclusive as to the amount of wages.—LOUPIDES v. THE CALIMERIS defts.' covenant.—STAVERS v. CURLING (1836), 3 Bing. N. C. 355; 2 Hodg. 237; 3 Scott, 740; 6 L. J. C. P. 41; 132 E. R. 447.

Annotations:—Apld. Oliver v. Fielden (1849), 18 L. J. Ex. 353; Bradford v. Williams (1872), 41 L. J. Ex. 164. Reid. Seeger v. Duthie (1860), 8 C. B. N. S. 45; Richardson v. Stanton, Stanton v. Richardson (1872), 41 L. J. C. P. 190; Parkin v. South Hetton Coal Co. (1907), 97 L. T. 98; Kidner v. Stimpson (1918), 35 T. L. R. 63. Mentd. Fishmongers' Co. v. Robertson (1843), 5 Man. & G. 131; Sibthorp v. Brunel (1849), 3 Exch. 826; Grey v. Friar (1854), 4 H. L. Cas. 565; Newson v. Smythies (1858), 28 L. J. Ex. 97; Bastin v. Bidwell (1881), 18 Ch. D. 238.

647. Employment of female cook & steward—Employment of wife of master.]—THE JANE & MATILDA (1823), 1 Hag. Adm. 187; 166 E. R. 67.

Annotations:—Reid. R. v. City of London Court Judge & S.S. Michigan (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 339; Ex p. Guiness, Ex p. Murray (1926), 42 T. L. R. 766.

648. Consideration in lieu of wages.]—THE HARVEY, No. 578, ante.

649. Board wages—Provisions exhausted—Seamen providing for themselves.]—THE SAN JOSE PRIMEIRO, No. 940, post.

650. Half wages—Provision in articles—Should ship winter abroad on account of ice.]—The ship's articles contained a printed clause, usual in the Baltic trade to this effect: "& should the ship or vessel winter abroad on account of the ice, the officers & seamen agree to accept half of the wages agreed upon during the time of such detention." The ship went out "seeking"; the ice prevented her from getting a cargo, but not from sailing without one; she wintered abroad:—Held: the crew were only entitled to half wages during her detention.—THE HOGHTON (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 100; 166 E. R. 343.

651. Wages not insurable.]—A seaman cannot insure his wages.—THE LADY DURHAM (1835), 3 Hag. Adm. 196; 166 E. R. 378.

Annotation:—Consd. The Riby Grove (1843), 2 Wm. Rob. 52.

---

SUB-SECT. 2.—TIME AND MODE OF PAYMENT.

See 1894 Act, ss. 127, 131, 132, 134–137, 196, 197; 1906 Act, ss. 28, 37–39, 57, 60.

652. Delay or refusal to pay—Right to double pay—Right of master.]—A master is entitled, under 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, ss. 187, 191, to double pay for the number of days, not exceeding ten, during which the payment of his wages is improperly withheld; but he is not so entitled, if he himself causes the delay, by improperly keeping back the accounts of the ship.

The owner of a ship refused to pay wages due to a master for a voyage, unless credited with certain salvage money received by the master under an award, & kept by him for his own share; the master refusing to account for a subsequent voyage, except on condition of a settlement for the former voyage, without reference to the salvage money:—Held: the payment of wages was improperly withheld, & the master was entitled, under 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, to ten days' double pay.—THE PRINCESS HELENA (1861), Lush. 190; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 137; 8 L. T. 335; 1 Mar. L. C. 108; 167 E. R. 91.

Annotations:—Overd. The Arina (1887), 12 P. D. 118. Mentd. Jones v. Jones (1895), 43 W. R. 656.

653. —— —— ——.]—(1) A master is not entitled under Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), ss. 187, 191, to the double pay for delay in the payment of wages recoverable by "seamen" under the former sect.

(2) A master is not entitled under 43 & 44 Vict. c. 16, s. 4, to wages up to the final settlement of his claim.—THE ARINA (1887), 12 P. D. 118; 56 L. J. P. 57; 57 L. T. 121; 35 W. R. 654; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 141.

Annotation:—Generally, Mentd. Jones v. Jones, [1895] P. 201.

654. —— —— Refusal "without sufficient cause."]—FRAZER v. HATTON, No. 571, ante.

655. —— —— ——.]—Under Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 187, & 43 & 44 Vict. c. 16, s. 4, as to the nonpayment of wages the right to recover ten days' double pay & wages to the time of final settlement is not enforceable where there is a bonâ fide question as to liability.

I think in this case there was "sufficient cause," & "a reasonable dispute as to liability." It never could have been meant that, where there was a bonâ fide question as to liability, shipowners should be visited with the penalties prescribed by those statutes (BUTT, J.).—THE RAINBOW (1885), 53 L. T. 91; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 479.

656. —— —— ——.]—Where, in an action for master's wages, it appears that, at the institution of the suit, accounts are outstanding between the owners & pltf., & that the same have not been taken or settled, & that within two days of the institution of the suit the wages are paid, the owners have not refused to pay "without sufficient cause" within Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 187, & therefore pltf. is not entitled to recover ten days' double pay.—THE TURGOT (1886), 11 P. D. 21; 54 L. T. 276; 34 W. R. 552; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 548.

Annotations:—Reid. Morgan v. Castlegate S.S. Co., The Castlegate, [1893] A. C. 38; The Ripon City, [1897] P. 226.

657. —— Right to wages until final settlement—"Reasonable dispute as to liability."]—THE RAINBOW, No. 655, ante.

658. —— —— —— Counterclaim in respect of separate cause of action.]—A counterclaim in respect of a separate cause of action, is not "a reasonable dispute as to liability" within 43 & 44 Vict. c. 16, s. 4 (4).—DELAROQUE v. S.S. OXENHOLME CO., LTD. (1883), Cab. & El. 122.

659. —— —— Right of master.]—THE ARINA, No. 653, ante.

---

(1922), 69 D. L. R. 138; 20 Exch. C. R. 331.—CAN.

b. Priority.]—Seamen's claims for wages have priority over master's wages & disbursements.—THE TYBURNIA (No. 1) (1887), 8 N. S. W. L. R. 1; 4 N. S. W. W. N. 1.—AUS.

c. ——.]—Seamen's wages are privileged, & are payable in preference to the mtges. due upon a steamboat navigating Canadian waters.—MITCHELL & COUSINEAU & DIVERS (1858), 7 L. C. J. 218.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 2.

d. Delay or refusal to pay—Right to wages until final settlement.]—THE delay in paying the wages being due solely to the wrongful act or default of the master:—Held: the purser was entitled to wages at the stipulated rate down to "the time of final settlement," & "the time of final settlement" was the date of the interlocutor of the ct.—LANG v. ST. ENOCH SHIPPING CO., LTD., [1908] S. C. 103; 45 Sc. L. R. 59; 15 S. L. T. 454.—SCOT.

e. —— Conviction — Jurisdiction.]—M., the master of a British ship of Canadian register, was convicted before a stipendiary magistrate, for that he wrongfully & unlawfully refused to pay R., a seaman serving on board said ship, a sum of money claimed to be due him for wages, &., further, for refusing to discharge said R., he being then entitled to his discharge:—Held: quashing the conviction with costs, the refusal to pay R. his wages, or to give him his discharge, was not a criminal offence, & the proceedings taken were not warranted by Seamen's Act (D.), c. 74; the ship being, at the time the proceedings were instituted, within the jurisdiction of the Govt. of the British possession in which she was registered, the case was within the exception mentioned in sect. 26 (d) & Shipping Act (Imp.), Part 2, was not applicable. — R. v. MEIKLE, Ex p. RAMSEY (1903), 36 N. S. R. 297.—CAN.

f. Seaman left behind—Duty of master to deliver account of seaman's effects & wages.]—CABLE v. THE SOCOTRA (1907), 7 W. L. R. 25; 13 B. C. R. 309.—CAN.

g. ——.]—The wages to which a

Sect. 4.—Wages: Sub-sects. 2 & 3, A.]

660. Wages payable in foreign currency — Specific condition in articles—Condition not enforced.]—Where in a seaman's articles it is covenanted to pay wages in dollars, sterling & not currency value is to be assumed as intended, & the wages are to be paid at the rate of 4*s.* 2*d.* per dollar.

Where it was alleged that there was a specific covenant in seaman's articles, duly read over & explained to the crew, that the wages when due should be "payable in United States currency or its equivalent":—Held: the ct. could not enforce such a condition against the seamen, from the fact of its being contrary to equity & justice, & an imposition upon such a class of men as mariners.—THE ANNIE SHERWOOD (1865), 12 L. T. 582; 13 W. R. 641, 965; 2 Mar. L. C. 214.

661. —— Sterling value presumed.] — THE ANNIE SHERWOOD, No. 660, ante.

662. —— American dollar.]—THE NONPAREIL, No. 576, ante.

663. Payment "through or in presence of superintendent"—Superintendent refusing to be present at payment—Deductions made on ground of forfeiture—Conviction for payment in absence of superintendent.]—A seaman deserted from a ship at a foreign port, thereby committing an offence under 1894 Act, s. 221, which rendered him liable to forfeit his wages then due & subsequently earned, & to satisfy any excess of wages paid by the owners to a substitute at a higher rate. The seaman returned to the United Kingdom in another ship of which applt. was master. In order to escape a prosecution for desertion by the owners of the first ship, the seaman agreed to have deducted from the wages earned on the homeward voyage the extra expense which had been incurred by them in providing a substitute after his desertion. The superintendent of mercantile marine before whom the seaman was being discharged refused to be present at the payment of the wages on the ground that the deduction was illegally made. The balance due to the seaman after making the deduction was paid to him by applt. in the absence of the superintendent. Applt. was summoned under 1894 Act, s. 131, for having paid the wages otherwise than "through or in the presence of the superintendent," & was convicted; —Held: the conviction was right; there is no power to make a deduction from a seaman's wages on the ground of forfeiture after desertion, although with the consent of a seaman, except under an order of a ct. of competent jurisdiction.—KESLAKE v. BOARD OF TRADE, [1903] 2 K. B. 453; 72 L. J. K. B. 829; 89 L. T. 534; 67 J. P. 356; 52 W. R. 127; 19 T. L. R. 583; 47 Sol. Jo. 640; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 491, D. C.

664. Seaman left behind — Duty of master to deliver account of seaman's wages—What deductions allowable—Deductions of bonus under forfeiture clause.]—A seaman was engaged for a voyage on a British ship. The agreement provided for the payment of wages & a bonus of 15 per cent., but there was a stipulation that in the event of a seaman's desertion as being paid off abroad his bonus was to be forfeited. The seaman deserted abroad, & on the termination of the voyage the master tendered to the proper officer under 1906 Act, s. 28, the proper proportion of the seaman's wages, but no bonus:—Held: the stipulation for the forfeiture of the bonus was invalid, inasmuch as bonus was "wages" within 1894 Act, s. 742, & therefore the master had failed to comply with the requirements of 1906 Act, s. 28.—SHELFORD v. MOSEY, [1917] 1 K. B. 154; 86 L. J. K. B. 289; 115 L. T. 685; 80 J. P. 463; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 554, D. C.

665. —— —— Meaning of left "behind"—Deserter.]—1906 Act, s. 28 (1) provides that "if a seaman belonging to any British ship is left behind out of the British Islands, the master of the ship shall . . . as soon as may be, enter in the official log book a statement of the effects left on board by the seaman & of the amount due to the seaman on account of wages at the time when he was left behind":—Held: the words "left behind" apply not only to the case of a seaman who has actually been left behind in the port when his ship sails therefrom, but also to the case of a seaman who has deserted from the ship & as to whom, when the ship sails from the port, the master has no information whether he is in fact left there or has already joined, & sailed from the port in, another ship.—COLBOURNE v. LAWRENCE, [1917] 2 K. B. 857; 87 L. J. K. B. 219; 117 L. T. 666; 82 J. P. 6; 26 Cox, C. C. 92; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 168, D. C.

---

SUB-SECT. 3.—LOSS OF RIGHT TO WAGES.

A. Loss or Wreck of Ship.

See. now, 1894 Act, ss. 157, 158; 1925 Act (c. 42), s. 1.

666. Whether right to wages lost.] — ANON. (1664), 1 Sid. 179; 82 E. R. 1043.

Annotation:—Consd. The Neptune (1824), 1 Hag. Adm. 227.

667. ——.]—Sailors wages not recoverable if ship taken or lost before the end of the voyage.—HERNAMAN v. BAWDEN (1766), 3 Burr. 1844; 97 E. R. 1129.

668. ——.]—Monition to show cause, granted

---

seaman is entitled, under Navigation Act, 1912–1920, s. 132 (1) (b), are wages for the period beginning on the date at which he was left on shore & ending either on his arrival at his home port or on the happening of one of the events mentioned in the proviso.—BRUHN v. AUSTRALIAN STEAMSHIPS PROPRIETARY, LTD. (1922), 31 C. L. R. 136; [1923] V. L. R. 375.—AUS.

h. Payment of wages to disabled seaman.]—Where the master of a disabled seaman obtains from the shipping master a discharge, he is bound to render to the shipping master the account of the wages due, but he must pay them to the seaman himself, though he is unable to attend before the shipping master.—PAIN v. KREEN (1878), 4 V. L. R. (L.) 73.—AUS.

k. Seaman imprisoned by stranger for assault.]—The imprisonment of a seaman by a stranger for assault does not entitle him to recover wages during the voyage & before its termination.—THE GENERAL HEWITT (1838), 1 S. V. A. R. 186.—CAN.

l. Agreement by master to pay at port other than one originally agreed upon—Whether binding.]—An agreement entered into by the master of a vessel & his crew, subsequently to the execution of the mariner's contract, to discharge & pay them their wages at a port other than the one agreed upon, & previous to the ship's arrival at the final port of destination, is not binding upon him.—Re WINSCALES (1858), 8 L. C. R. 350.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 3.—A.

636 i. Whether right to wages lost.]—WOOD v. HIGGINBOTHAM (1846), 2 R. de L. 28.—CAN.

636 ii. ——.]—Three of the promoters shipped on a voyage from Millford to Quebec, & back to London; the eight remaining promoters shipped at Quebec on their return voyage, & all had signed articles accordingly. The ship came in ballast to Quebec, &, after taking in a cargo, sailed from Quebec on the return voyage, & was wrecked in the River St. Lawrence & abandoned by the master as a total loss:—Held: the seamen who shipped at Millford were entitled to wages for services on the outward voyage from Millford to Quebec, & for one half the period the vessel remained at Quebec, notwithstanding that the outward voyage was made in ballast, & the seamen who shipped at Quebec, having abandoned, were not entitled to claim wages.—THE ISABELLA (1850), 1 S. V. A. R. 281.—CAN.

636 iii. ——.]—THE LAUREL WHALEN, [1919] N. Z. L. R. 343.—N.Z.

against the owner of a ship totally lost, at the instance of a surviving seaman, whose wages were unpaid.—THE STEPHEN WRIGHT (1848), 12 Jur. 732.

669. —— Necessity for proof of abandonment of ship.]—On the wreck of a ship the seamen are bound by their contract to do their utmost to save ship & cargo; but the seamen's contract of service may be terminated either by final abandonment of the ship or by discharge given by the master. An abandonment of a ship, which is relied upon as operating a dissolution of the seamen's contract, must be clearly proved.—THE WARRIOR (1862), Lush. 476; 6 L. T. 133; 1 Mar. L. C. 204; 167 E. R. 214.

Annotations:—Folld. The Portreath, [1923] P. 155. Reld. The Le Jonet (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 556; The Olympic, [1913] P. 92.

670. —— In whole or part.]—If a ship be lost in her return, seamen shall have all outward wages, & but half while in harbour abroad.—ANON. (1700), 12 Mod. Rep. 408; 88 E. R. 1414.

671. —— ——.]—In a divided voyage, in which cargoes are successively taken in & delivered at different ports, & freight thereby earned for the owners, the mariners are by the general law entitled to their wages up to the time of arrival at each port of delivery; & an attempt to extinguish their right, in case of the loss of the ship on the last part of such divided voyage, by inserting a covenant in the ship's articles that they shall not be entitled to any part of their wages unless the ship returns to the last port of discharge, will not be upheld by the Ct. of Admlty.—THE JULIANA (1822), 2 Dods. 504; 165 E. R. 1560.

Annotations:—Reld. The Minerva (1825), 1 Hag. Adm. 347; The Hoghton (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 100; Jesse v. Roy (1834), 1 Cr. M. & R. 316; The Lady Durham (1835), 3 Hag. Adm. 196; The Reliance (1843), 2 Notes of Cases, 347; The Don Francisco (1861), Lush. 468; Button v. Thompson (1869), L. R. 4 C. P. 330.

672. —— ——.]—A ship was hired by Govt. to take out convicts to Van Dieman's Land. From that place it sailed to Batavia, & on several other trading voyages. It sailed on the homeward voyage to England, & arrived safe at St. Helena, but was lost before arrival at the port of discharge, & all on board perished:—Held: proof of these facts, & of a seaman having gone on board the ship in England, & having been seen working on board at Van Dieman's Land, at Batavia, & afterwards at St. Helena, was sufficient to go to the jury, as evidence to entitle the seaman to wages pro rata for the voyage out.—HARRIS v. IVE (1835), 1 Har. & W. 238.

673. —— ——.]—Where any portions of a wrecked vessel have been recovered, the mariners are entitled to sue against the proceeds for their wages, although no freight has been earned; & their title is not divested by the circumstance that the portions of the ship have been preserved, were preserved not by the exertions of the crew, but by third parties. A summary petition in a suit for wages, admitted on behalf of the widow & administratrix of a deceased seaman, the whole of the crew, with the exception of one man, having been lost.—THE RELIANCE (1843), 2 Wm. Rob. 119; 2 Notes of Cases, 347; 7 Jur. 542; 166 E. R. 700; sub nom. THE ALLIANCE, 10 L. T. 913.

674. —— —— Destruction of ship to escape enemy.]—BENNET v. BUGGIN (1766), Burrell, 25; 167 E. R. 454.

675. —— —— Wages until time of loss.]—Where a ship was lost, the administratrix of the captain was entitled to maintain an action for wages for the period of his service before the loss.—HAWKINS v. TWIZELL (1856), 5 E. & B. 883; 25 L. J. Q. B. 160; 2 Jur. N. S. 302; 119 E. R. 709; sub nom. HAWKINS v. FURZILL, 26 L. T. O. S. 235; 4 W. R. 242.

676. —— —— —— What constitutes "loss."]—A British seaman on Mar. 10, 1905, signed articles for service on a British ship for a three years' voyage in certain specified latitudes including Japan, Manchuria, & Siberian ports. At that date a state of war existed between Russia & Japan. On May 18, 1905, the ship while proceeding through the China Sea & approaching the Straits of Formosa was captured by a Russian cruiser, & was on June 2, 1905, destroyed by the Russians. Her crew, who had been previously taken on board another Russian ship, were subsequently sent back to London. There was no evidence of what the cargo of the British ship consisted, nor that her capture by the Russians was justified:—Held: the capture of the ship, coupled with the fact of her subsequent destruction, constituted a "loss" of the ship within 1894 Act, s. 158, whereby the seaman's service was terminated on June 2, 1905.—SIVEWRIGHT v. ALLEN, [1906] 2 K. B. 81; 75 L. J. K. B. 476; 94 L. T. 778; 70 J. P. 290; 54 W. R. 604; 22 T. L. R. 482; 50 Sol. Jo. 440; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 251; 11 Com. Cas. 167, D. C.

Annotation:—Reld. Horlock v. Beal, [1916] 1 A. C. 486.

677. —— —— Scuttling of ship.]—THE WOODHORN (1891), 92 L. T. Jo. 113.

Annotation:—Expld. Sivewright v. Allen, [1906] 2 K. B. 81.

678. —— —— Wages until "final settlement."]—THE WOODHORN (1891), 92 L. J. Jo. 113.

Annotation:—Expld. Sivewright v. Allen, [1906] 2 K. B. 81.

679. —— —— ——.]—Pltfs. agreed to serve as seamen on board defts.' ship on a voyage from Cardiff to Kiau Chiu & any ports within certain limits & home again. At this time war had broken out between Russia & Japan. Pltfs. subsequently discovered that the ship was engaged in carrying contraband of war for Russia. When in the Far East on a voyage to Saigon, a port within the above limits, she was destroyed by an explosion. Pltfs. were rescued & were sent home to Cardiff as distressed seamen, & at Cardiff they signed a conditional release without prejudice to their claim for damages & wages. Pltfs. claimed wages down to the time of "final settlement" & damages for the loss of their kit & for the hardships suffered. Defts. contended that pltfs. were only entitled to wages down to the date of the destruction of the ship, & were not entitled to damages. The judge held that they were entitled to damages for the loss of their kit & for the hardship suffered. Upon appeal upon the question of wages:—Held: there had been a "loss" of the ship within the meaning of s. 158, when she was destroyed, & that the pltfs. were only entitled to wages down to that date.—COLLINS v. SIMPSON S.S. Co. (1907), 24 T. L. R. 178, C. A.

680. —— —— Collision—Ship ceasing to be in seaworthy condition.]—Pltfs., two members of the crew of a steamship, subscribed their names to articles of agreement by which they undertook to serve on board the ship, in the capacities & at

---

675 l. —— In whole or part—Wages until time of loss.]—SIMPSON v. DEVEBER (1877), 17 N. B. R. (1 P. & B.) 316.—CAN.

678 l. —— —— Wages until "final settlement."]—M'LAGAN v. CLUNIE (1848), 10 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 847; 20 Sc. Jur. 296.—SCOT.

m. —— —— Destruction of ship by fire.]—Where pltf. was engaged by defts. for "the season," i.e., from May till Nov., as master to manage the steamer W. for $1,000, & he continued so employed until Sept., when the steamer was burnt:—Held: pltf. was not entitled to more than the proportionate share of the salary agreed upon, for the contract was subject to the continued existence of the vessel, & performance was excused by its destruction without the default of the wages therein mentioned, on a voyage from Southampton to New York, &/or, if required, to any port within the North Atlantic & South Atlantic Oceans, trading as may be required, until the ship returns to a final port of discharge in the United Kingdom for any period not exceeding twelve months, & should the vessel put back into port through accident, the crew to be transferred to any other vessel belonging to the same owners taking the place of the vessel named. On the same day that the vessel left Southampton for New York she came into collision with another vessel, & was so seriously damaged in the hull that she was obliged to come to anchor, & the next day to return, under her own steam, to Southampton, where the crew, including pltfs., were discharged with three days' pay, & her passenger & free board certificates having been, on demand, returned to the Board of Trade, the vessel was sufficiently patched up to enable her to proceed to Belfast, where she could be repaired, &, at the end of nine weeks, she received back the above-mentioned certificates enabling her to proceed to sea on the voyage from Southampton to New York. Pltfs. under 1894 Act, s. 162, claimed, in addition to the three days' wages earned by them, a further sum of one month's wages by way of compensation for the damage caused to them by being discharged otherwise than in accordance with the terms of the agreement, without fault on their part, & without their consent:—Held: in the circumstances, by reason of the injury sustained by the vessel in the collision, she had ceased to be in a seaworthy condition to continue the adventure, so that, in respect of the voyage agreed upon, the case fell within the words of the 1894 Act, s. 158, namely, that "by reason of the wreck . . . of the ship" the service of pltfs. had terminated before the date contemplated by the agreement, &, there pltfs. had been properly discharged with three days' pay.—THE OLYMPIC, [1913] P. 92; 82 L. J. P. 41; 108 L. T. 592; 29 T. L. R. 335; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 318; sub nom. FRASER & WELLER v. OCEANIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (No. 2), 57 Sol. Jo. 388, C. A.

Sect. 4.—Wages: Sub-sect. 3, A., B. & C.]

Annotations:—Consd. Horlock v. Beal, [1916] 1 A. C. 486; The Countess (1922), 91 L. J. P. 161.

681. What amounts to loss—Capture of ship carrying contraband.]—AUSTIN FRIARS S.S. CO. v. STRACK, SAME v. STRACK, No. 693, post.

682. —— Capture & subsequent destruction.]—SIVEWRIGHT v. ALLEN, No. 676, ante.

683. —— Destruction by explosion.]—COLLINS v. SIMPSON S.S. CO., No. 679, ante.

684. —— Unseaworthiness due to collision.]—THE OLYMPIC, No. 680, ante.

685. —— Detention of ship in enemy port.]—A British ship during a voyage for which a British seaman had signed articles, being in a German port when war was declared between the United Kingdom & the German Empire, was immediately detained, & some months later the crew were imprisoned. The ship was still detained & the crew imprisoned when this action for an allotment of wages was commenced:—Held: (1) the detention of the ship did not constitute "the loss of the ship" within 1894 Act, s. 158; (2) the seaman ceased to be entitled to his wages as soon as the further performance of the contract became impossible; (3) (LORD ATKINSON, LORD SHAW OF DUMFERLINE, & LORD WRENBURY), the further performance of the contract had become impossible from the date of the detention of the ship; (4) LORD LOREBURN), from the date of the imprisonment of the crew.—HORLOCK v. BEAL, [1916] 1 A. C. 486; 85 L. J. K. B. 602; 114 L. T. 193; 32 T. L. R. 251; 60 Sol. Jo. 236; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 250; 21 Com. Cas. 201, H. L.; revsg. S. C. sub nom. BEAL v. HORLOCK, [1915] 3 K. B. 627, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Refd. Tamplin S.S. Co. v. Anglo-Mexican Petroleum Products Co., [1916] 2 A. C. 397; Scottish Navigation Co. v. Souter, Admiral Shipping Co. v. Weidner, Hopkins, [1917] 1 K. B. 222; Browning v. Crumlin Valley Collieries, [1926] 1 K. B. 522. As to (3) Refd. Bank Line v. Capel, [1919] A. C. 435. Generally, Refd. Blackburn Bobbin Co. v. Allen, [1918] 2 K. B. 467; Ertel Bieber v. Rio Tinto Co., Dynamit Act. v. Same, Vereinigte Königs & Laurahütte Act. v. Same, [1918] A. C. 260; Naylor, Benzon v. Krainische Industrie Gesellschaft, [1918] 1 K. B. 331; Re Comptoir Commerical Anversois & Power, [1920] 1 K. B. 868; Larrinaga v. Soc. Franco-Americaine Des Phosphates De Medulla (1922), 38 T. L. R. 739; Hirji Mulji v. Cheong Yue S.S. Co., [1926] A. C. 497. Mentd. Daimler Co. v. Continental Tyre & Rubber Co. (Great Britain), [1916] 2 A. C. 307; Leiston Gas Co. v. Leiston-cum-Sizewell U. C., [1916] 2 K. B. 428; Metropolitan Water Board v. Dick, Kerr, [1918] A. C. 119; Fried Krupp Akt. v. Orconera Iron Ore Co. (1919), 88 L. J. Ch. 304; Schostall v. Johnson (1919), 36 T. L. R. 75.

B. Capture.

686. Whether right to wages lost.]—HERNAMAN v. BAWDEN, No. 667, ante.

687. —— In whole or part.]—If a ship is freighted out & home, & captured on her homeward bound voyage, the mariners shall be paid for the outward voyage, & for half the time they stayed at the port of delivery.—ANON. (1700), 1 Ld. Raym. 739; 91 E. R. 1394.

688. —— ——.]—CHANDLER v. MEADE (1705), cited in 2 Ld. Raym. at p. 1211; 92 E. R. 300, N. P.

Annotation:—Consd. Beale v. Thompson (1803), 3 Bos. & P. 405.

689. —— —— Detention by foreign government.]—PRATT v. CUFF (1798), cited in 4 East, at p. 43; 102 E. R. 746, N. P.

Annotations:—Consd. Beale v. Thompson (1804), 4 East, 546; Horlock v. Beal, [1916] 1 A. C. 486. Mentd. Browning v. Crumlin Valley Collieries, [1926] 1 K. B. 522.

690. —— —— ——.]—A seaman, detained in Russia under the late embargo, in 1800, who is permitted by the captain to return, & serve on board upon being taken off the embargo, is entitled to wages, during the time he was on shore & absent from the ship by force thereof his contract being for the voyage, & to do his best endeavour for the ship, & not to neglect or to refuse to do his duty by day or night, nor go out of the ship on board any other vessel, nor be on shore under any pretence without leave, under the penalties of 2 Geo. 2, c. 36, & 37 Geo. 3, c. 73; & twenty-four hours' absence, without leave, to be deemed a total desertion.

Capture, even hostile, does not defeat the right to wages, where the captors, instead of proceeding to condemnation, release the ship, & thereby pronounce that that act is not a valid seizure.—BEALE v. THOMPSON (1804), 4 East, 546; 1 Smith, K. B. 144; 102 E. R. 940; affd. sub nom. THOMSON v. BEALE (1813), 1 Dow. 299, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. The Florence (1852), 19 L. T. O. S. 304. Apld. Melville v. De Wolf (1855), 4 E. & B. 844. Consd. Button v. Thompson (1869), L. R. 4 C. P. 330. Distd. Horlock v. Beal, [1916] 1 A. C. 486. Refd. Dowthwaite v. Tibbut (1816), 5 M. & S. 75; Brown v. Milner defts.—ELLIS v. MIDLAND RY. CO. (1882), 7 A. R. 464.—CAN.

---

n. —— Members of crew left on island for seal fishery purposes—Subsequent loss of ship—Stranded crew taken off by passing ship—Right to wages for whole period.]—GUTHRIE v. MUNTINGH (1829), 1 Men. 398.—S. AF.

o. What amounts to loss—Injury sustained sufficiently serious to necessitate substantial repairs.]—THE LAUREL WHALEN, [1919] N. Z. L. R. 343.—N.Z.

(1817), 7 Taunt. 319; The Chieftain (1863), Brown. & Lush. 104; The Olympic, [1913] P. 92. Mentd. Cuckson v. Stones (1858), 1 E. & E. 248; Browning v. Crumlin Valley Collieries [1926] 1 K. B. 522.

691. —— —— ——.] — JOHNSON v. BRODERICK (1804), 4 East, 566; 1 Smith, K. B. 153; 102 E. R. 947.

692. —— —— ——.] — HORLOCK v. BEAL, No. 685, ante.

693. —— —— Neutral ship carrying contraband.]—A British seaman signed an agreement to serve on a British ship on an ordinary trading voyage to the East, & between ports in the East, to end at a final port of discharge in the United Kingdom. Whilst the ship was in the East war was declared between Russia & Japan, & the ship whilst carrying a cargo of contraband of war was captured by one of the belligerents & confiscated by a prize ct. The master knew, but the crew did not know, that the ship was carrying contraband. The crew were sent back to London, & suffered hardships on the journey:—Held: as the shipowners had broken the agreement by altering the character of the voyage, the service of the seamen was not terminated "by reason of the loss of the vessel" within 1894 Act, s. 158, when the ship was captured, & he was entitled to recover his wages up to the date of his arrival in London, & damages for breach of the agreement.—AUSTIN FRIARS S.S. Co. v. STRACK, SAME v. STRACK, [1905] 2 K. B. 315; 74 L. J. K. B. 683; 93 L. T. 169; 53 W. R. 661; 21 T. L. R. 556; 49 Sol. Jo. 537; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 70, D. C.; on appeal, [1906] 2 K. B. 499, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Lloyd v. Sheen (1905), 93 L. T. 174; Sibery v. Connelly (1905), 94 L. T. 198. Consd. Sivewright v. Allen, [1906] 2 K. B. 81. Reld. Caine v. Palace Steam Shipping Co., [1907] 1 K. B. 670; R. v. Westminstcr Assmt. Com., R. v. Islington Assmt. Com., [1917] 2 K. B. 215. Mentd. Browning v. Crumlin Valley Collieries, [1926] 1 K. B. 522.

694. —— Subsequent recapture.] — (1) If a ship is captured in the course of her voyage, & is afterwards recaptured & arrives at her port of destination, the sailors are entitled to their wages.

(2) If a foreign seaman, captured on board an English ship, enters into the service of the enemy, though the ship is afterwards recaptured & completes her voyage, he shall not be entitled to wages.—BERGSTROM v. MILLS (1799), 3 Esp. 36; 170 E. R. 529, N. P.

Annotation:—As to (1) Consd. Beale v. Thompson (1804), 4 East, 546.

695. —— ——.]—THE FRIENDS (1801), 4 Ch. Rob. 143; 165 E. R. 565.

Annotations:—Consd. Horlock v. Beal, [1916] 1 A. C. 486. Reld. Beale v. Thompson (1804), 4 East, 546.

696. —— Subsequent release by captors.]—JOHNSON v. BRODERICK (1804), 4 East, 566; 1 Smith, K. B. 153; 102 E. R. 947.

697. —— ——.]—On a count for work & labour:—Held: a seaman might recover for wages during a hostile embargo in a foreign port, while he was imprisoned on shore, on proof that the crew were restored to the ship, & that she completed the voyage & earned freight, without producing the order by which the embargo was taken off.—DELAMAINER v. WINTERINGHAM (1815), 4 Camp. 186; 171 E. R. 60, N. P.

Annotations:—Consd. Horlock v. Beal, [1916] 1 A. C. 486. Reld. The Chieftain (1863), Brown. & Lush. 104. Mentd. Browning v. Crumlin Valley Collieries, [1926] 1 K. B. 522.

C. Desertion.

See 1894 Act, ss. 221, 225, 376.

What amounts to desertion.]—See Sect. 10, subsect. 3, B. (c) i., post.

698. Whether right to wages lost.] — If a mariner or ship carpenter run away, he loses his wages due.—ANON. (1672), 1 Mod. Rep. 93; 1 Vent. 146; 86 E. R. 758.

699. —— In whole or part.] — ANON. (1701), 1 Ld. Raym. 639; 12 Mod. Rep. 442; 91 E. R. 1328.

Annotations:—Consd. Jesse v. Ray (1834), 1 Cr. M. & R. 316. Reld. The Juliana (1822), 2 Dods. 504.

700. —— —— Seaman compelled to quit ship——Ill-treatment.]—If a master of a ship by inhuman treatment compels a sailor to quit a ship, it is not such a desertion as shall amount to a forfeiture of his claim for his wages for the voyage performed.—LIMLAND v. STEPHENS (1801), 3 Esp. 269; 170 E. R. 611, N. P.

701. —— —— Seaman quitting ship after reaching port—Before ship moored.]—A seaman who quits his ship after her arrival in port, but before she is moored, does not thereby subject himself to the forfeiture of his whole wages under the 2 Geo. 2, c. 36, s. 3.—FRONTINE v. FROST (1802), 3 Bos. & P. 302; 127 E. R. 167.

Annotation:—Consd. The Baltic Merchant (1809), Edw. 86.

702. —— —— —— Before arrival at particular dock.]—Her port is not the Port of London, generally, but of that particular portion of it which is expressly & exclusively appropriated for the reception of West India ships. It is therefore a desertion during the voyage which . . . works a forfeiture of the whole wages (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—THE BALTIC MERCHANT (1809), Edw. 86; 165 E. R. 1041.

703. —— —— —— Before cargo discharged.]—THE TEST (No. 1) (1836), 3 Hag. Adm. 305; 166 E. R. 418.

704. —— —— —— ——.] — Desertion of a ship by a seaman, to work a total forfeiture of wages, under 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 19, s. 9, must happen before the arrival of the ship in port. Quitting the ship after that time, & before the discharge of her cargo, is punished by a forfeiture of one month's pay only.—M'DONALD v. JOPLING (1838), 4 M. & W. 285; 1 Horn & H. 271; 7 L. J. Ex. 220; 6 L. T. 371; 2 Jur. 790; 150 E. R. 1437.

Annotation:—Apld. The Two Sisters (1843), 2 Wm. Rob. 125.

705. —— —— Failure of master to supply provisions.]—THE CASTILIA, No. 587, ante.

---

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 3.—C.

698 i. Whether right to wages lost.]—Both under the general maritime law & under the Merchant Shipping Act desertion of a ship in the course of the voyage effects a forfeiture of wages.—THE WASHINGTON IRVING (1863), 13 L. C. R. 123; 2 S. V. A. R. 97.—CAN.

698 ii. ——.]—A seaman was employed for four months from July 4 at $150 a month. On Oct. 25, he left under circumstances held to be desertion:—Held: notwithstanding that he had nearly completed his contract, the ct. was bound to give effect to the law that his wages were forfeited from Oct. 4, the date of commencement of his last month's service.—OSTROM v. THE MIYAKO, [1924] 2 D. L. R. 200; [1924] Exch. C. R. 86; [1924] 1 W. W. R. 1098; 34 B. C. R. 4.—CAN.

703 i. —— In whole or part—Seaman quitting ship after reaching port—Before cargo discharged.]—The chief mate of a vessel, subsequently to her being moored in the port of discharge, but previously to the discharge of her cargo, quitted her without leave, & being afterwards told by the master to return & complete his duty, refused to do so:—Held: he had deserted the ship within Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, s. 243, & rendered himself liable to a forfeiture of the entire or part of his wages.—THE FORTUNA (1872), 6 I. L. T. 48.—IR.

p. —— —— Seaman quitting ship contrary to master's orders — Substitute engaged for lower wages.]—Pltf., cook & steward on deft. ship, left the ship contrary to the master's orders. Upon pltf. leaving, the master hired another cook for less money than was given pltf.:—Held: notwithstanding that pltf. was not justified in leaving the vessel by reason of the master's conduct, the owners having lost nothing by reason of his refusal to continue the voyage, but on the contrary having profited by his so doing, pltf. was

Sect. 4.—Wages: Sub-sect. 3, C., D. & E.]

706. —— —— Seaman absent without leave—Waiver of forfeiture by master.]—Where it is provided by a ship's articles, that any of the crew who shall absent themselves from the ship without leave shall forfeit their wages if, after one of the crew has so absented himself, the master receives him back again & allows him to work like the others, the forfeiture is waived, & the wages are recoverable.—MILLER v. BRANT (1811), 2 Camp. 590; 170 E. R. 1262, N. P.

707. —— —— Seaman absent with leave—Neglect or refusal to return on expiry of leave.]—Forfeiture of wages incurred by a mariner, who neglects or refuses to return to his ship, when demanded by the master, although previously absent with leave.—THE BULMER (1823), 1 Hag. Adm. 163; 166 E. R. 59.

708. —— —— —— ——.]—A sailor's wages & expenses pronounced for: as getting drunk on shore, at Dominica, & not returning on board immediately leave of absence expires, his clothes & other property being on board, is not an act of desertion working a forfeiture of wages; & is amply punished by seventy-five days' imprisonment in the island, when the man was willing to return to his ship.—THE EALING GROVE (1826), 2 Hag. Adm. 15; 166 E. R. 150.

709. —— —— Seaman quitting ship in consequence of alteration of voyage—Insertion of words "or elsewhere."]—THE ELIZA (1823), 1 Hag. Adm. 182; 166 E. R. 65.

Annotations:—Consd. The British Trade, [1924] P. 104. Reld. The Cambridge (1828), 2 Hag. Adm. 243.

710. —— —— ——.]—THE KING WILLIAM (1844), 2 Wm. Rob. 231; 2 L. T. O. S. 374; 8 Jur. 87; 166 E. R. 741.

711. —— —— Seaman quitting ship by order of mate—Disobedience of master's order to return.]—A mariner, having at Jamaica quitted the ship by order of the mate, applied to the master, who was on shore, for his discharge. The master refused, & ordered him to return to his duty. The mariner, however, engaged in another ship. Such conduct is desertion, working a forfeiture of wages.

It is manifestly of the greatest importance to the trade of this country that the duties for which mariners contract should be substantially performed, & not be rashly or wantonly abandoned; at the same time, it is the duty of the ct. to protect mariners from oppression or injustice, & even from the effect of error leading to acts that might not be strictly justifiable, if they should appear to have been occasioned by unjust provocation or violent conduct on the part of those in command (SIR CHRISTOPHER ROBINSON).—THE JUPITER (1829), 2 Hag. Adm. 221; 166 E. R. 225.

712. —— —— Seaman quitting ship before reaching port.]—M'DONALD v. JOPLING, No. 704, ante.

713. —— —— —— Port too full to enter.]—THE PEARL (1804), 5 Ch. Rob. 224; 165 E. R. 756.

714. —— —— Seaman sent home as witness.]—CROSS v. HYNE, No. 919, post.

—— —— ——.]—Compare No. 751, post.

715. —— —— Stipulation for forfeiture invalid.]—SHELFORD v. MOSEY, No. 664, ante.

716. —— Entry into service of enemy after capture.]—BERGSTROM v. MILLS, No. 694, ante.

717. Evidence of desertion—Certificate of consul abroad.]—A seaman having remained ashore all night at a foreign port, the master went to the consul without any notice to the seaman & obtained his certificate, with an indorsement thereon that the seaman had deserted. In a summary proceeding before justices in this country by the seaman to recover his wages, the consul's certificate was held not to be conclusive evidence of the fact of desertion.—LEWIS v. JEWHURST (1866), 15 L. T. 275; 31 J. P. 38; 2 Mar. L. C. 489.

718. Wages forfeited for desertion—Payment into Exchequer—Deductions allowable—1894 Act, s. 232.]—In taking the accounts in an action in rem, in a county ct., for wages & disbursements, the master was allowed to deduct, as against the Exchequer, from wages forfeited by desertion, the sum of £116 for clothing supplied to the seamen, prior to their desertion, out of the slop chest kept by the master with the knowledge of the owners. He was also allowed to retain a sum of £45, being the total of three gratuities paid by consignees of cargo to him, & not credited to the ship. On appeal by the owners:—Held: (1) the "wages forfeited for desertion," which are to be paid into the Exchequer under above sect., are the wages due after all proper deductions have been made, in which deductions may be included the price of stores supplied by the master to the seamen by way of advance of wages, with the knowledge of the owners; &, (2) the master was entitled to retain sums given to him by consignees by way of gratuity for the efficient manner in which he had superintended the discharge of cargoes.—THE PARKDALE, [1897] P. 53; 66 L. J. P. 10; 75 L. T. 597; 45 W. R. 368; 13 T. L. R. 82; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 211.

719. Expenses caused by desertion—Right of master to reimbursement—Excess of wages paid to substitutes.]—KESLAKE v. BOARD OF TRADE, No. 663, ante.

720. —— —— —— ——.]—On the arrival of a ship, in the course of a voyage, at San Francisco sixteen members of the crew deserted. The ship remained at that port for rather more than five months, being used there as a coal hulk. At the end of that period sixteen seamen were engaged as substitutes for the deserters at a higher rate of pay, & the ship sailed on her homeward voyage to the United Kingdom. The amount saved in the wages of the deserters during the period the ship was at San Francisco exceeded the amount of the excess of wages paid to the substitutes:—Held: (1) the amount so saved could not be set off against the excess of wages, & the master was entitled to be reimbursed out of the forfeited wages the excess of wages paid to the substitutes.

During the stay of a ship at Melbourne several members of her crew deserted on various dates. In consequence of the difficulty in obtaining substitutes for the deserters the ship was detained at the port one day longer than would otherwise have been the case. The master claimed to be entitled to recover his wages.—SHAW v. THE FIELDWOOD (1922), 68 D. L. R. 399; 21 Exch. C. R. 324.—CAN.

---

q. Contract to serve for season as fisherman on shares—Quitting ship after one voyage—Right to share of proceeds of that voyage.]—Pltf. shipped as a fisherman for the "present fishing season" upon a schooner of which deft. was master & part owner. The schooner left port & returned & landed her catch & then refitted for another trip. On the second trip pltf. left the vessel:—Held: the words "fishing season" & "voyage" were not to be taken in the same sense, but it was contemplated that there might be more than one fishing voyage in a season, & pltf., by leaving the vessel before the end of the season, did not forfeit his share of the proceeds of the voyage then terminated.—WENTZELL v. WINACHT (1907), 41 N. S. R. 406; 3 E. L. R. 94.—CAN.

r. Contract for service on whaling voyage for certain sum per month "& lay"—Forfeiture of bonus on leaving ship before termination of season—Whether "lay" subject to forfeiture.]—A sailor, who engages on a whaling voyage & is to receive a certain sum reimbursed out of the wages of the deserters the sum of £16, representing one day's expenses for wages & keep of the crew & coal consumed on the ship:—Held: (2) this expenditure was not an expense caused by the desertions.—DEACON v. QUAYLE, NEATE v. WILSON, [1912] 1 K. B. 445; 81 L. J. K. B. 409; 106 L. T. 269; 76 J. P. 79; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 125, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Colbourne v. Lawrence, [1917] 2 K. B. 857.

721. —— —— Fine on master through deserter being prohibited immigrant.]—A ship in the course of a voyage arrived at Brisbane, at which port a Chinaman, who was a member of the crew, deserted. In respect of this desertion the master of the ship was fined £100 by a ct. of summary jurisdiction at Brisbane under an Act of the Commonwealth of Australia which imposed that penalty upon the master of any ship from which a prohibited immigrant, as the Chinaman was, entered the Commonwealth:—Held: the fine of £100 was not "an expense" caused to the master of the ship by the absence of the seaman due to desertion within 1906 Act, s. 28 (1) (b), & the master was, therefore, not entitled to be reimbursed out of the wages of the seaman.—HALLIDAY v. TAFFS, [1911] 1 K. B. 594; 80 L. J. K. B. 388; 104 L. T. 188; 75 J. P. 165; 27 T. L. R. 186; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 574, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Deacon v. Quayle, Neate v. Wilson, [1912] 1 K. B. 445.

722. —— —— Expenses for detention of ship.]—DEACON v. QUAYLE, NEATE v. WILSON, No. 720, ante.

723. Liability to forfeiture criminal in nature—Not subject of compromise—Between masters, owners or crew.]—KESLAKE v. BOARD OF TRADE, No. 663, ante.

D. Insubordination.

See 1894 Act, ss. 225, 376.

724. Whether right to wages lost.]—Semble: a regulation in the seamen's articles of a merchant ship, that "every seaman committed to custody for the preservation of good order, shall forfeit his wages, together with everything belonging to him on board the ship," is in point of law a good & proper regulation.—RICE v. HAYLETT (1828), 3 C. & P. 534; 172 E. R. 535, N. P.

725. —— In whole or part—Wages subsequent to insubordinate act.]—THE SUSAN (1829), 2 Hag. Adm. 229, n.; 166 E. R. 228.

726. —— —— Single act of insubordination.]—THE BLAKE (1839), 1 Wm. Rob. 73; 10 L. T. 913; 166 E. R. 500.

727. —— —— Wages subsequent to dismissal.]—THE MARINA, No. 898, post.

728. —— Conduct tending to mutiny.]—(1) Ill usage is an undefined term depending much upon the opinion of the person who uses it; & the provocation & relation of the parties. Holding of fists to strike a captain, is so near an act of mutiny, that the master may quell it by striking the first blow.

(2) Semble: a chief mate, who, unknown to the master, signs & is active in getting signed, a document tending to mutiny, incurs a forfeiture of wages.

The maintenance of order discipline, & the authority of the commanding officer on board, are essential to the safety of navigation, & the great commercial interests of the country (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—THE LIMA (1837), 3 Hag. Adm. 346; 166 E. R. 434.

729. —— Refusal to navigate ship—Character of voyage changed.]—THE COUNTESS OF HARCOURT, No. 591, ante.

730. —— —— Condonation.]—THE TEST (No. 2) (1836), 3 Hag. Adm. 307; 166 E. R. 419.

731. —— ——.]—RENNO v. BENNETT, No. 884, post.

Insubordination generally.]—See Nos. 893-900, post.

E. Drunkenness.

732. Whether incurring forfeiture—Occasional intemperance.]—Forfeiture of wages is not incurred by occasional intemperance.—THE NEW PHŒNIX (1824), 1 Hag. Adm. 298; 166 E. R. 71.

733. —— —— Circumstances of case considered.]—Occasional acts of drunkenness, not more than usual with sailors, & latterly, when more frequent arising from the undue force given by bodily disease to the moderate use of strong liquors will not enure to the forfeiture of a steward's wages.—THE LADY CAMPBELL (1826), 2 Hag. Adm. 5; 166 E. R. 146.

Annotation:—Refd. The Macleod (1880), 5 P. D. 254.

734. —— —— Causing loss of ship's property.]—(1) The master of a ship does not forfeit his wages by occasional drunkenness; nor by mere errors of judgment in the performance of his duty.

(2) Semble: the loss of the ship's boat & other property ascribed to the master's drunkenness would work a forfeiture of his wages pro tanto.—THE ATLANTIC (1862), Lush. 566; 7 L. T. 647; 9 Jur. N. S. 183; 11 W. R. 188; 1 Mar. L. C. 274; 167 E. R. 257.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. The Roebuck (1874), 31 L. T. 274.

735. —— —— Unaccompanied with neglect of duty.]—(1) Occasional drunkenness in port on the part of the master of a vessel will not, if unaccompanied with neglect of duty, work a forfeiture of wages. Semble: constant drunkenness on the part of a master, whether there be proof of neglect of duty or not, will work a forfeiture of either the whole or part of his wages, according to circumstances.

(2) Where a master receives express orders from his owners as to the voyages which he is to make & the ports to which he is to take the ship, & those orders are given under & with a view to a state of circumstances out of which danger might arise to the ship, & which are known to & discussed by the master & owner at the time when they are given, the master is not justified, out of an alleged apprehension of that danger, in taking the ship on other voyages & to other ports; & if he does so take the ship, he will not be entitled to recover his wages for the time during which she is engaged against the owners' orders, even if the voyages are for the owners' benefit.

(3) A master's wages may be forfeited by desertion, but there can be no absolute desertion of his ship working a forfeiture of the whole of his wages if there be an animus revertendi upon the part of the master.

---

per month, "& lay," may include the sum due him under "the lay" in an action for wages against the ship; the sum so due is not subject to forfeiture under a clause in the articles providing for the forfeiture of a "bonus" in case the seaman leaves his employment before the final termination of the whaling season.—FARRELL v. THE WHITE (1917), 20 B. C. R. 576.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 3.—D.

724 i. Whether right to wages lost.]—When the master of a vessel by his wilful disobedience of the direct & positive orders of the owners causes the vessel to be driven ashore, he forfeits all right to wages.—THE HURON (1886), 6 C. L. T. 127.—CAN.

724 ii. ——.]—MCKELLAR v. MCKELLAR (1852), 1 W. R. 484.—SCOT.

Sect. 4.—Wages: Sub-sect. 3, E. & F.; sub-sect. 4.]

(4) Where a master quits his ship & remains away for such a time & under such circumstances as lead his owner reasonably to suppose that he has no intention of returning, the owners will be justified in removing the vessel from the place where it is left, & appointing another master; & the original master will not be entitled to recover his wages for any period after the time when he so quitted the ship.—THE ROEBUCK (1874), 31 L. T. 274; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 387.

Annotation:—As to (1) Reld. The Macleod (1880), 5 P. D. 254.

736. —— Habitual intemperance.]—(1) Though under the principle, that freight is the mother of wages, mariners lose their wages by an interruption of the voyage from accident, the condemnation of the vessel for illegal trading on the part of the master, to which the mariners are not parties, does not work a forfeiture of wages, nor even bar the mariners of their action against the owners; & charges of disobedience, neglect of duty, of intoxication & mutiny, not being established, wages pronounced for.

(2) In a suit for wages, a logbook, not pleaded but asserted to be in the mariner's hand-writing, allowed to be brought in by the owners.

(3) A single instance of intemperance does not work a forfeiture of wages; it must be a habit to produce that effect.—THE MALTA (1828), 2 Hag. Adm. 158; 166 E. R. 202.

Annotation:—Generally, Reld. The City of Manchester (1879), 5 P. D. 3.

737. —— ——.]—THE ATLANTIC, No. 734, ante.

738. —— ——.]—A shipmaster who has been habitually drunk during his employment cannot maintain an action for his wages.—THE MACLEOD (1880), 5 P. D. 254; 50 L. J. P. 6; 29 W. R. 340.

739. —— —— Forfeiture of whole or part.]—THE ROEBUCK, No. 735, ante.

740. —— Single instance of intemperance.]—THE MALTA, No. 736, ante.

F. Other Cases.

741. Misconduct—Induced by treatment of master.]—If a seaman's claim for wages is resisted, on the ground that he would not do his work, which, by the ship's articles, is to cause a forfeiture of wages; it is a good answer to this defence, to show that the refusal to work was caused by the misconduct of the captain, which went to induce the men to incur such forfeitures. If seamen have incurred a forfeiture of their wages, &, in a time of distress, when the ship is aground, the captain call on those seamen to assist in getting her off, this is no waiver of the forfeiture; but if the captain continues them in their work, after the peril is over, it is otherwise.

A master of a ship is not, by his own conduct, to induce a forfeiture of the men's wages (LORD TENTERDEN, C.J.).—TRAIN v. BENNETT (1827), 3 C. & P. 3; Mood. & M. 82; 172 E. R. 296, N. P.

742. —— Of master.]—Neither error of seamanship in a master, nor neglect to communicate to a Lloyd's agent stranding of the vessel, nor neglect to sign a bottomry bond, works a forfeiture of wages.

The alleged misconduct of the master does not work a forfeiture of wages at common law or in Admlty.—THE CAMILLA (1858), Sw. 312; 31 L. T. O. S. 282; 6 W. R. 840; 166 E. R. 1152.

Annotations:—Consd. The British Trade, [1924] P. 104. Reld. The Atlantic (1862), Lush. 566 The Joseph Dexter (1869), 20 L. T. 820.

743. Condemnation of vessel—Illegal trading by master—Crew not party thereto.]—THE MALTA, No. 736, ante.

744. Clause providing for forfeiture & fine—If contraband carried—Necessity for proof of offence.]—Ship's articles are only conclusive as to the amount of wages & the voyage; on collateral points the Ct. of Admlty. may consider how far they are reasonable & just; therefore a clause, providing that if contraband goods were found in the forecastle, the seamen living therein should forfeit their wages & £10, is not conclusive to work a forfeiture of wages against those not directly proved to be personally implicated in the offence. The penalty cannot be enforced in the Ct. of Admlty.—THE PRINCE FREDERICK (1832), 2 Hag. Adm. 394; 166 E. R. 287.

745. Seaman left on shore by own fault—What amounts to "own fault."]—A sailor serving under articles providing for a forfeiture of his wages in case of breach of any of his engagements, among which is that of serving faithfully during the voyage, can recover nothing if he is left ashore in the course of it owing to his own fault in being absent, though he had no intention of deserting. He is left on shore by his own fault, if he is so in consequence of going away, after being forbidden by the captain, though he subsequently obtains the leave of an inferior officer.—SHERMAN v. BENNETT (1830), Mood. & M. 489, N. P.

746. Trivial irregularity.]—A trivial irregularity will not incur a forfeiture of wages.—THE GONDOLIER (1835), 3 Hag. Adm. 190; 166 E. R. 376.

747. ——.]—Payment of wages was refused on the ground that part of cargo embezzled through mariner's misconduct. A chief mate, though bound to exercise vigilance in preserving the cargo, not responsible for all embezzlements & robberies, & the wages were pronounced for, because the loss was not proved to have been owing to his neglect. Care of the cargo one of duties of chief mate. The mate is not responsible for all embezzlements; he is bound to exercise due care, vigilance, & caution; & if, notwithstanding, embezzlement or robbery is committed, without his knowledge, or participation, or reasonable means of preventing it, then he is not responsible for the consequences. Forfeiture of wages may be incurred by general or by particular neglect of duty. Mere neglect, in a particular instance, not followed by injury to owners, does not work a forfeiture.—THE DUCHESS OF KENT (1841), 1 Wm. Rob. 283; 1 Notes of Cases, 180; 5 Jur. 1042; 166 E. R. 578.

---

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 3.—E.

736 i. Whether incurring forfeiture—Habitual intemperance.]—The master of a vessel, after having been dismissed by the owner for drunkenness, when in a foreign port, was reinstated in the command, & entrusted with the charge of the vessel on her homeward voyage, on the condition that no spirits were to be allowed on board: the master disobeyed the owner's orders by taking spirits on board, & was for a part of the voyage incapacitated through drunkenness from taking charge of the vessel:—Held: though the ship completed her voyage home in safety, the master had by this misconduct forfeited his claim to his wages.—M'KELLAR v. MACFARLANE (1852), 15 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 246; 25 Sc. Jur. 156; 2 Stuart, 123.—SCOT.

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 3.—F.

t. Neglect of duty—Work done by delegate.]—Held: a party who was hired to take charge personally of a vessel, forfeited his wages by failure to do so, although he employed a delegate.—CAMPBELL v. PRICE (1831), 9 Sh. (Ct. of Sess.) 264.—SCOT.

748. Incompetence—Reduction of wages.]—THE RICHMOND (1839), 10 L. T. 913.

749. Neglect of duty—Loss of cargo through embezzlement—Liability of chief mate.]—THE DUCHESS OF KENT, No. 747, ante.

750. ——.]—THE CAMILLA, No. 742, ante.

751. Seaman sent home as witness.]—Action by a seaman for wages. Pleas: never indebted, & payment into ct. It appeared that pltf. had signed articles to serve at £7 a month, on a seeking voyage to the Pacific Ocean & back, till the ship's return to the United Kingdom or for a term of three years. The captain was sent home from Monte Video by a naval ct. constituted under 13 & 14 Vict. c. 93, to be tried for shooting one of the crew. Pltf. was sent home, by the ct., from the same place, as witness against him, & attended the trial in this country. When the trial was over, the ship was in the Pacific, & pltf. could not practically return. The payment into ct. covered the wages up to the time when pltf. left the ship in obedience to the order of the naval ct. Pltf. claimed further wages up to the time when the trial terminated:—Held: he was not entitled to any wages after he left the ship.—MELVILLE v. DE WOLF (1855), 4 E. & B. 844; 3 C. L. R. 960; 24 L. J. Q. B. 200; 25 L. T. O. S. 127; 19 J. P. 628; 1 Jur. N. S. 758; 3 W. R. 401; 119 E. R. 313.

Annotations:—Consd. Cross v. Hyne (1868), 18 L. T. 474. Apld. Horlock v. Beal, [1916] 1 A. C. 486. Reld. Millar v. Taylor, [1916] 1 K. B. 402.

——.]—Compare No. 919, post.

752. Error of judgment by master.]—Mere error of judgment on the part of the master in the management of the concerns of a vessel in a foreign port, unaccompanied by corrupt intention or wilful disobedience of orders, will not, per se, entail a forfeiture of his wages.—THE THOMAS WORTHINGTON (1848), 3 Wm. Rob. 128; 6 Notes of Cases, 570; 10 L. T. 913; 12 Jur. 1057; 166 E. R. 910.

Annotations:—Consd. The Roebuck (1874), 31 L. T. 274; The Dunmore (1875), 32 L. T. 340; The Macleod (1880), 5 P. D. 254. Reld. The Joseph Dexter (1869), 20 L. T. 820.

753. ——.]—THE CAMILLA, No. 742, ante.

754. ——.]—THE ATLANTIC, No. 734, ante.

755. ——.]—Where a master receives instructions to take the balance of freight due at the end of a voyage in cash, or by bank bill upon London, &, without sufficient inquiry, but without malâ fides & rather through error of judgment, he takes a bill which he believes to be, but which is not, a bank bill, & which is afterwards dishonoured, causing loss to his owners, this negligence of disobedience, not being wilful, does not work a forfeiture of his wages, nor can the owners claim to deduct the amount of their loss from his wages.—THE DUNMORE (1875), 32 L. T. 340; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 509.

756. Temporary interruption of voyage.]—BROWNING v. CRUMLIN VALLEY COLLIERIES, No. 585, ante.

SUB-SECT. 4.—DEDUCTIONS.

See 1894 Act, ss. 132, 133, 159–161; 1906 Act, s. 34 (3), (4).

757. Insurance & interest on advances—Protest against deduction—Seaman estopped from subsequent claim.]—(1) Where a seaman, about to proceed on a trading voyage, entered into & signed articles, whereby he agreed not to sue for wages any of the owners, except one, who was the captain, & who alone was a party to the articles:—Held: he could not sue the other owners, although they sold & received the proceeds of the cargo, & one of them, the managing owner, adjusted the wages, & settled with the seamen.

(2) Pltf.'s wages were adjusted, & the balance struck, subject to certain deductions for insurance & interest on advances made to him before & during the voyage. It was proved that such charges were the usual ones in trading voyages, & that the accounts were always made out so. Pltf. remonstrated against those deductions, but ultimately accepted the balance, & gave a receipt for the whole wages:—Held: he could not recover the amount of such deductions.

(3) So also, where, in another voyage, he had stipulated for 90th share of the net proceeds of the cargo, on a whaling adventure in lieu of wages, & was charged with insurance on such share:—Held: such deductions need not, under the circumstances, be made the subject of a set-off.—M'AULIFFE v. BICKNELL (1835), 2 Cr. M. & R. 263; 1 Gale, 232; 5 Tyr. 1035; 4 L. J. Ex. 225; 150 E. R. 114.

758. Illegal payments—Distribution of forfeited wages.]—THE ARAMINTA, No. 775, post.

759. Reduction consequent on disrating.]—Pltf. signed articles to serve on board defts.' vessel as refrigerating engineer at £10 per month. He so served for two months, at the end of which time the master of the vessel, on account of alleged drunkenness & unfitness, disrated him, & placed him in the main engine room, at wages reduced to £7 per month, for the remaining period of one month & eighteen days during which the voyage lasted. In the account of wages on the Board of Trade form, the master filled in the date when the wages began, the date when they ceased, the total period of employment, & in the column headed "Earnings" entered "Wages at 10 & 7 per month —two months at £10–£20," & then filled in the final balance less cash advances. In an action for wages, brought by pltf. against defts. in the Liverpool Ct. of Passage, the defence raised of justification for the disrating on account of drunkenness & unfitness was not gone into, but judgment was entered for pltf. on the ground that the account delivered by defts. was insufficient as there was no entry in the column headed "deductions" of the amount of wages forfeited by reason of the reduction consequent on disrating:—Held: the case must be sent back to be retried, as the reduction in the amount of wages consequent on disrating was not a "deduction" requiring to be a. Voyage broken up by consent—Seaman continuing under new articles—Claim for wages under first articles.]—Where a voyage was broken up by consent, & the seamen continued under new articles on another voyage:—Held: they could not claim wages under the first articles subsequently to the breaking up of the voyage.—THE SOPHIA (1839), 1 S. V. A. R. 219.—CAN.

---

756 i. Temporary interruption of voyage.]—The detention of a sailing vessel during winter by stranding in the River St. Lawrence on her voyage to Quebec, where she arrived in the following spring, was held not to defeat the claim of the seamen to wages during the detention.—THE FACTOR (1838), 1 S. V. A. R. 183.—CAN.

756 ii. ——.]—THE FACTOR (1846), 1 R. de L. 358.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 4.

b. Value of articles negligently lost.]—The mate of a vessel is chargeable for articles lost through his inattention & carelessness, & the amount may be deducted from his wages.—THE PAPINEAU (1836), 1 S. V. A. R. 94.—CAN.

c. Refusal to work on Sunday.]—Action to recover $8 deducted from wages for refusal to work in port on Sunday in discharging & loading cargo:—Held: the command to "work cargo" on Sunday for the purpose of hastening the voyage, thereby making it more profitable to the contestants, was not such a command as the claimant was bound, under the terms of his articles, to obey: the evidence did not bring the work within the exception of "works of necessity & mercy" in Lord's Day Act, 1906, s. 2; if the refusal to "work cargo" on Sundays was an infraction entered under that column in the Board of Trade form.

Sect. 4.—Wages: Sub-sects. 4, 5, 6 & 7, A. & B. (a).]

Semble: the master has the power, & is the proper person, if circumstances require it, to disrate.—THE HIGHLAND CHIEF, [1892] P. 76; 61 L. J. P. 51; 66 L. T. 468; 40 W. R. 416; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 176, D. C.

760. Necessity for inclusion of amount deducted —In account delivered to seaman—At end of voyage.]—THE HIGHLAND CHIEF, No. 759, ante.

761. Advance of wages to seaman — Right to deduct.]—The master of a ship in a foreign port can make a valid contract with a seaman whom he engages abroad for the advance to him of a sum on account of his wages conditionally on his shipping, & there is no limit to the advance which may thus be made to the seaman, & if the master pays the advance to the seaman or to some one authorised by him to receive it he can afterwards deduct the whole sum so paid from the seaman's wages. Such advances are not prohibited by 1894 Act, s. 163, & advance notes signed by the master in the usual form are not assignments by the seaman of his wages within the meaning of that sect. The master of a ship engaged a seaman in a foreign port for the homeward voyage, & agreed to advance to him a sum equal to two months' wages. A note was drawn up acknowledging the receipt of the money in advance & this note was assigned by the seaman to a third party, who received payment of the same from the master:—Held: the master was entitled to deduct from the seaman's wages the whole of the money so advanced, & he was not limited to a deduction of one month's wages only.—ROWLANDS v. MILLER, [1899] 1 Q. B. 735; 68 L. J. Q. B. 338; 80 L. T. 290; 63 J. P. 407; 47 W. R. 687; 15 T. L. R. 216; 43 Sol. Jo. 398; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 508; 4 Com. Cas. 133, D. C.

762. Deduction for forfeiture after desertion.]—KESLAKE v. BOARD OF TRADE, No. 663, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 5.—WAGES DURING ILLNESS.

See 1894 Act, ss. 159, 160.

763. Right of seaman to wages.]—A seaman belonging to a merchant ship which is articled for a certain voyage, is prevented from performing the whole voyage by being disabled by an accident happening in the course of his duty: he is entitled to wages for the whole voyage.—CHANDLER v. GRIEVES (1792), 2 Hy. Bl. 606, n.; 126 E. R. 730.

Annotations:—Consd. Beale v. Thompson (1803), 3 Bos. & P. 405. Refd. Horlock v. Beal, [1916] 1 A. C. 486.

764. ——.]—THE CATHAYA, BARKER v. WINDER (1853), 11 L. T. 113.

765. ——.]—S. was a seaman hired & serving on board a British ship, & owing to the pork & provisions being bad, he & several others became so ill that he was obliged to be sent to an hospital, & several months elapsed before he recovered. He claimed his wages during that time under 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, s. 228, as his illness arose from injury or hurt in the service of the ship:—Held: this illness came under the words "injury," & S. was entitled to his wages.—FARRER v. SANDHOLM (1879), 43 J. P. 735, D. C.

---

SUB-SECT. 6.—EFFECT OF TRANSFER OF SHIP.

766. Whether seaman entitled to wages — Hypothecation of ship.]—The hypothecation of a ship cannot deprive the seaman of his right to wages.—THE SYDNEY COVE (1815), 2 Dods. 11; 165 E. R. 1399.

Annotations:—Consd. The Riby Grove (1843), 2 Wm. Rob. 52. Refd. The Mona (1840), 1 Wm. Rob. 137.

767. —— Sale of ship abroad.]—The owner of a British ship cannot, by the sale of his ship to a foreigner in a distant part of the world, divest the seaman of his wages earned under a contract entered into with himself in this country, & the Ct. of Admlty. will enforce the payment of wages so earned. A fortiori, if the transfer of the ship was merely colourable.—THE BATAVIA (1822), 2 Dods. 500; 165 E. R. 1559.

768. —— Sale of ship in England—Ship abroad —Seaman continuing to serve at request of new owner.]—Where a change of ownership in a British vessel takes place, by sale in this country, whilst she is in a foreign port, the contract under which the crew shipped is, quoad the new owner, at an end; but, if one of the crew continues to serve on board the vessel at the request of an agent of the new owner, without entering into any fresh articles, & afterwards, & before the termination of the contemplated voyage, quits with the consent of the captain appointed by the new owner, he

---

of the claimant's articles, it was waived by the retention of the claimant in the contestants' service after the breach; & the deduction from the wages was improperly made.—GREEN v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO. (B. C.) (1911), 18 W. L. R. 608.—CAN.

d. ——.]—Action for $12.20, being the amount deducted from a seaman's wages by defts. to recompense themselves for amounts paid other workmen to do pltf.'s work on occasions when he refused to do the same. The occasions referred to were on one occasion after 6 p.m., & on two occasions the whole of Sunday. Pltf. had agreed, in his contract of service, to work after hours or on Sundays if needed, but claimed that to require him to work on Sundays was a breach of the Lord's Day Act:—Held: the term "emergency" in the Lord's Day Act must be liberally construed in the case of maritime labour, which is so dependent on wind, water or tide, & pltf., having expressly agreed to work on Sunday, had no status to complain.—MURRAY v. COAST S.S. CO. (B. C.) (1912), 22 W. L. R. 572; 3 W. W. R. 153 8 D. L. R. 378.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 5.

763 i. Right of seaman to wages.]—Navigation, Act, 1912-1920, s. 92, applies to a claim for wages alleged to be due by virtue of sect. 132 (1) (b), & no appeal lies to the High Ct. from a judgment of a District Ct. upon a claim for such wages.—AUSTRALIAN STEAMSHIPS PROPRIETARY, LTD. v. ABBOTT (1927), 39 C. L. R. 148.—AUS.

763 ii. ——.]—A seaman going into the hospital for a small hurt, not received in the performance of his duty, is not entitled to wages after leaving the ship.—THE CAPTAIN ROSS (1838), 1 S. V. A. R. 216.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 6.

767 i. Whether seaman entitled to wages—Sale of ship abroad.]—THE SCOTIA (1837), 1 S. V. A. R. 160.—CAN.

e. —— —— Contract ended by mutual consent.]—It was a term of the contract that in the event of the vessel being sold in a foreign port deft. was to receive his expenses back to H. & his wages up to the time of his return. The vessel was sold, but it appeared from the evidence that the contract was ended by mutual consent:—Held: deft. was not entitled to wages & expenses claimed.—SCHOONER LAVONIA, LTD. v. LOWE (1921), 54 N. S. R. 159; 57 D. L. R. 727.—CAN.

f. —— Former owner limited company in liquidation.]—Where the former owner of the ship is a limited co. which has gone into liquidation the crew are not entitled to immediate payment of their wages up to the date when the new owners took possession in the absence of proof that the liquidation was compulsory.—CASEY v. DEACON, THE DECCAN, [1906] S. A. L. R. 125.—AUS.

g. ——.]—A seaman agreed by articles to perform a voyage from Great Britain to America, & thence back again to the United Kingdom, & the contract was terminated by reason of a change of ownership having taken place:—Held: he was not in a position to sue in N. B. for wages due him up to the time of transfer under Merchant Shipping Act, s. 190, but should have proceeded to England & may in an action against such new owner recover wages pro rata.—ROBINS v. POWER (1858), 4 C. B. N. S. 778 ; 27 L. J. C. P. 257 ; 31 L. T. O. S. 202 ; 4 Jur. N. S. 810 ; 140 E. R. 1297.

---

SUB-SECT. 7.—EXTRA REMUNERATION.

A. In General.

769. General rule—Conclusiveness of articles.]—Declaration by a sailor for wages & the average price of a negro slave earned " during a certain voyage from the port of London to the coast of Africa, & from thence to the West Indies " : at the trial it appeared from the articles that the voyage was, " from the port of London, upon an intended voyage to the coast of Africa for slaves, from thence to the West Indies or America, & afterwards to London in Great Britain, or to her delivering port in Europe," & that no mention was made in the articles of the average price of a negro-slave :—Held : the contract for the average price of a negro slave in addition to the wages was void, not being included in the articles according to 2 Geo. 2, c. 36.—WHITE v. WILSON (1800), 2 Bos. & P. 110 ; 126 E. R. 1188.

770. —— ——.]—A mariner who has signed articles for a voyage at a certain pay per month, cannot claim any further wages or gratuity by usage or custom.—ELSWORTH v. WOOLMORE (1803), 5 Esp. 84 ; 170 E. R. 746, N. P.

Annotation :—Distd. Clutterbuck v. Coffin (1841), Car. & M. 273.

771. —— ——.]—If one execute a ship's articles to serve on board as an able seaman, at certain wages, & when on board act as a cuddy servant ; if there be no express agreement that he shall receive separate wages as a cuddy servant, he can maintain no action against the captain for wages in that capacity. Qu. : whether he could, if there were an express agreement.

If a man signs the ship's articles as a seaman, he can recover no more wages than are there agreed for however he may be employed on board the ship (ABBOTT, C.J.).—DAFTER v. CRESWELL (1826), 2 C. & P. 161 ; 172 E. R. 73, N. P. ; subsequent proceedings, 7 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 650.

Annotation :—Consd. Hanson v. Royden (1867), L. R. 3 C. P. 47.

772. —— ——.]—A claim for increased wages on the part of seamen will be disallowed by this ct., & the contract or ship's articles which they signed when originally undertaking the voyage, must regulate the payments to be made to them on its termination.—THE PRINCE EDWARD (1860), 2 L. T. 139.

773. —— ——.]—TURNER v. OWEN, No. 788, post.

774. Where duty of master to unload cargo—Unloading loose cargo in hold.]—SWINNEY v. TINKER (1774), Burrell, 139 ; 167 E. R. 510.

775. Wages forfeited by desertion—Division amongst remainder of crew—Legality.]—Seamen's wages, forfeited by desertion, divided amongst that portion of the crew which did not desert :—Held : an illegal act, & not binding on the owner of the vessel.

A vessel sailed from this country to Australia ; there a part of her crew deserted, thereby forfeiting the wages due to them. The master, to encourage the remainder of the crew to adhere to the ship, & work her home, divided amongst them the wages so forfeited. The owners objected to such payment :—Held : since the payment of that portion of the wages was an illegal act, the owners were entitled to deduct such sum from the wages due to the crew for their homeward voyage.—THE ARAMINTA (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 224 ; 24 L. T. O. S. 43 ; 18 Jur. 793 ; 164 E. R. 130.

Annotations :—Expld. The Don Francisco (1861), Lush. 468. Reld. Hartley v. Ponsonby (1857), 7 E. & B. 872.

776. Right to retain gratuity.]—THE BANKER'S DAUGHTER, KELLY v. COULBORN (1854), 6 L. T. 914.

B. Agreement for Extra Remuneration.

(a) In General.

777. Necessity for consideration.]—No action will lie at the suit of a sailor on a promise of the captain to pay him extra wages in consideration of his doing more than the ordinary share of duty in navigating the ship.—HARRIS v. WATSON (1791), Peake, 102 ; 170 E. R. 94, N. P.

Annotations :—Apld. Stilk v. Myrick (1809), 2 Camp. 317. Distd. Clutterbuck v. Coffin (1842), 1 Dowl. N. S. 479. Apld. Harris v. Carter (1854), 3 E. & B. 559. Reld. Frazer v. Hatton (1857), 2 C. B. N. S. 512. Mentd. Wilkinson v. Byers (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 106.

778. ——.]—In the course of a voyage some of the seamen desert, & the captain not being able to find others to supply their place, promises to divide the wages which would have become due to them among the remainder of the crew. This promise is void for want of consideration.—STILK v. MYRICK (1809), 2 Camp. 317 ; 6 Esp. 129 ; 170 E. R. 1168, N. P.

Annotations :—Distd. Clutterbuck v. Coffin (1842), 1 Dowl. N. S. 479. Consd. The Araminta (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 224 ; Harris v. Carter (1854), 3 E. & B. 559. Reld. Frazer v. Hatton (1857), 2 C. B. N. S. 512. Mentd. Shadwell v. Shadwell (1860), 7 Jur. N. S. 311.

779. ——.]—Pltf., a sailor, signed articles, for a voyage out to M. & home, at £3 per month. On the arrival of the ship at M. several of the crew sued.—R. v. PETERS (1874), 15 N. B. R. (2 Pug.) 352.—CAN.

---

h. ——.]—SIMPSON v. DEVEBER (1877), 17 N. B. R. (1 P. & B.) 316.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 7.—A.

769 i. General rule—Conclusiveness of articles.]—Ship's articles prescribed the hours of work for navigating & engineer officers "in port when watches are suspended," & provided : —" Time worked outside these hours to be paid for at the rate of 2*s.* 6*d.* per hour, except in the following cases :—Officers in charge. No overtime payable where navigating or engineer officers are appointed as officers in charge for night duty & are given equivalent time off duty " :—Held : overtime was payable only for " time worked," & an officer in charge for night duty, who received no equivalent time off duty, was not entitled to overtime payment for the whole time during which he was the officer in charge, but only for time during which he was engaged in actual work.—VALENTINE v. GOW, HARRISON & Co., [1921] S. C. 435.—SCOT.

769 ii. —— ——.]—A claim for increased wages on the part of seamen will be disallowed by the ct., & the contract or ship's articles, which they signed when originally undertaking the voyage, must regulate the payments to be made to them on its termination.—THE PRINCE EDWARD (1859), 12 Ir. Jur. 110.—IR.

k. Release a bar to claim for overtime.]—A release signed & attested as required by Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, s. 136, operates to bar a claim by the seamen for payment for overtime unless under Merchant Shipping Act, 1906, s. 60, he excepts from the release such claim for overtime.—COLEMAN v. SMITH HOWARD CO., LTD. (1912), 12 S. R. N. S. W. 208 ; 29 N. S. W. W. N. 50.—AUS.

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 7.—B. (a).

777 i. Necessity for consideration.]—A promise made by the master of a vessel at an intermediate port on the voyage to give an additional sum over & above the stipulated wages in the articles of agreement is void for want of consideration.—Re LOCKWOODS (1837), 1 S. V. A. R. 123.—CAN.

l. Legality.] — HANSEN v. THE THOMAS F. BAYARD (B. C.) (1911), 16 W. L. R. 527.—CAN.

m. Whether contrary to public policy.]—Special agreements with the owners by the masters of a tug steamer as to a percentage on the earnings of the tug, & by seamen as to increased wages, for foregoing all claims for salvage, will not be upheld by the ct. of deserted. The captain, to induce the rest to remain, signed fresh articles with pltf. & others at the rate of £6 per month for the home voyage. Pltf. continued in the vessel till her arrival home, & then sued the shipowner for work & labour. Deft. paid money into ct. at the rate of £3 per month. Pltf. claimed to be paid at the rate of £6 for the home voyage. On the trial, there was some evidence that at M. the captain had consented to the discharge of some of the crew. The judge asked the jury if pltf. himself had been discharged before entering into the fresh articles. On their answering that he had not, the judge directed a nonsuit. On a motion for a rule for a new trial:—Held: the nonsuit was right; for there was no evidence of any circumstances to free pltf. from his original contract, so as to enable him to give consideration for the fresh promise to him, or to authorise the captain to bind the owners by such a contract.—HARRIS v. CARTER (1854), 3 E. & B. 559; 2 C. L. R. 1582; 23 L. J. Q. B. 295; 23 L. T. O. S. 66; 18 Jur. 1014; 2 W. R. 409; 118 E. R. 1251.

Sect. 4.—Wages: Sub-sect. 7, B. (a) & (b); sub-sects. 8 & 9.]

Annotations:—Apld. Harrison v. Dodd (1914), 78 J. P. 206. Refd. Hartley v. Ponsonby (1857), 7 E. & B. 872.

780. ——.]—FRAZER v. HATTON, No. 571, ante.

781. —— Extra risk.]—In an action by seamen to enforce an agreement made by the master with them abroad, while under articles, to pay additional remuneration in consideration of their remaining on board & working the vessel home after an accident, which had, in fact, not rendered the vessel unseaworthy:—Held: in the absence of evidence that the risk of navigating the vessel in her then state was such as would have justified the crew breaking their articles abroad, the agreement was not one that could be enforced.—HOPKINS v. M'BRIDE (1901), 50 W. R. 255; 18 T. L. R. 53; 46 Sol. Jo. 52, D. C.

782. —— Overtime.]—When a seaman enters into articles with a shipowner for a voyage, the seaman is as a general rule bound to give his full services for the wages specified in the articles, & he is not entitled to any payment in respect of overtime merely because he is called upon to work for longer hours than was contemplated when the articles were entered into, even though an express promise was made to him by an officer of the ship to pay overtime.

A seaman signed articles as a fireman & trimmer on a steamship; he had four hour watches until the ship reached L., when one fireman was left behind having fallen ill. The remaining firemen were asked by the chief engineer to do six hour watches, which they did for about a week, the chief engineer promising to pay overtime & saying that if the shipowners did not pay it he would pay it himself. Upon a claim by a fireman against the shipowners in respect of such overtime:—Held: there was no consideration for the promise made by the chief engineer even if he had authority to make it, which he had not, & the seaman was not entitled to claim any overtime payment.—HARRISON v. DODD (1914), 111 L. T. 47; 78 J. P. 206; 30 T. L. R. 376; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 503, D. C.

783. Necessity for express agreement.]—DAFTER v. CRESWELL, No. 771, ante.

784. Legality—Agreement to serve as cook — On board man of war.]—Pltf., who was a cook on board a merchant ship, was engaged by deft. to serve in that capacity on board a man of war, of which deft. was captain, & extra wages, in addition to the ordinary pay, were promised him. Pltf. went on board deft.'s ship, & was rated in the usual way, & acted as cook, receiving pay as a seaman:—Held: there was a good consideration for the promise of deft. to pay the extra wages, & an action might be maintained by him, against deft., in respect of them.

Semble: such an agreement is not illegal.—CLUTTERBUCK v. COFFIN (1842), 3 Man. & G. 842; 1 Dowl. N. S. 479; Car. & M. 273; 4 Scott, N. R. 509; 11 L. J. C. P. 65; 6 Jur. 131; 133 E. R. 1379.

Annotation:—Mentd. Shadwell v. Shadwell (1860), 7 Jur. N. S. 311.

785. —— Payment extorted mutinously — Ship in distress.]—THE BANKER'S DAUGHTER, KELLY v. COULBORN (1854), 6 L. T. 914.

(b) Validity of Consideration.

786. Agreement to serve as ship's cook — On board man of war.]—CLUTTERBUCK v. COFFIN, No. 784, ante.

787. Increased risk—Shortage of crew.] — A vessel, in consequence of the desertion of some of the seamen, was left short of hands in harbour, before the voyage was completed. The master, to induce the remaining seamen to perform the rest of the voyage, promised to pay them a sum of money in addition to their wages. They accordingly performed the rest of the voyage with the diminished number of hands. On an action by one of the seamen against the master for the sum promised, the jury found that he made the agreement without coercion, for the best interests of the owners; that he could not have obtained additional hands at a reasonable price; & that it was unreasonable for so large a ship to proceed on the completion of the voyage with the diminished number of hands:—Held: on this finding, which the ct. understood to mean that it was unsafe so to proceed, pltf. was entitled to recover, as the seamen were not bound, by their original contract of service, to proceed with the diminished number of hands; & their undertaking to do so was therefore a good consideration for the master's promise.—HARTLEY v. PONSONBY (1857), 7 E. & B. 872; 26 L. J. Q. B. 322; 29 L. T. O. S. 195; 3 Jur. N. S. 746; 5 W. R. 659; 119 E. R. 1471.

Annotations:—Consd. Hopkins v. M'Bride (1901), 50 W. R. 255. Refd. The Mobile (1857), Sw. 256. Mentd. Shadwell v. Shadwell (1860), 9 C. B. N. S. 159.

788. —— Vessel unseaworthy.] — When a seaman signs articles at a foreign port, there is an

---

Admlty., as being repugnant to general principle & prejudicial to the public interest, & as the effect of such agreements would be to take away from the actual salvors the motives to all enterprise & energy.—THE MARYANNE (1864), 11 L. T. 85.—IR.

n. Agreement made by captain—Whether owners bound.]—Where seamen sign ship's articles for a specified service, & before the voyage has concluded, the captain agrees to give one or more of them increased wages, the ct. will not bind the owners by such an agreement & will make its decree for the wages properly payable under the ship's articles.—THE PATRIOTTO (1864), 11 L. T. 149.—IR.

o. Loss of extra remuneration—By desertion.]—Pltf. signed articles for the fishing season. On her second trip the schooner was damaged & was put upon a marine slip for repairs. In order to get the men to stay by her, the managing owner entered into a special agreement to pay pltf. & other members of the crew $15 each provided they remained on board for the fishing season, "to be paid at the end of the voyage." The vessel returned to her home port for further repairs. Before these repairs were completed pltf. & other members of the crew left & the vessel was then sold by her owner:—Held: the owners having done nothing on their part, at the time the crew deserted, to constitute a breach of contract, pltf. could not recover upon the special agreement the whole or any part of the amount claimed, on the ground of quantum meruit.—SELIG v. ARENBURG (1917), 51 N. S. R. 198; 35 D. L. R. 608.—CAN.

implied warranty of seamanship, & if the ship is unseaworthy, there is consideration for a new contract for extra reward to induce him to sail in her.

When a seaman has signed articles, he cannot claim extra remuneration for the same services as are included in the articles. On the other hand, when he signs articles it is implied, on the part of the owner, that the ship shall be reasonably fit for navigation, i.e., shall be seaworthy, & if, before the ship sets sail, the seaman discovers that she is one in which he cannot safely embark, he can refuse to do so, & enter into a new contract (COCKBURN, C.J.).—TURNER v. OWEN (1862), 3 F. & F. 176, N. P.

789. —— ——.]—HOPKINS v. M'BRIDE, No. 781, ante.

790. Promotion during voyage.]—MURDOCK v. WILKINSON (1843), 7 L. T. 258.

791. ——.] — The master of a ship carrying passengers may bind the owners by an agreement with an ordinary seamen, under articles, to serve for three years at £1 a month, to serve as steward, upon the death of the then steward, at £4 10*s.* a month.—HICKS v. WALKER (1856), 27 L. T. O. S. 83; 20 J. P. 517; 4 W. R. 511.

792. ——.]—A. engaged to serve on board a ship as an able seaman for a long voyage out & back. The captain having died shortly after the ship left port, the first mate assumed the command, & appointed A. to act as second mate, & agreed with him that he should receive the pay of a second mate. The ship subsequently touched at several ports & returned home, A. continuing to act throughout as second mate:—Held: the agreement made with A. was binding on the shipowner, & A. was entitled to wages as second mate.—HANSON v. ROYDEN (1867), L. R. 3 C. P. 47; 37 L. J. C. P. 66; 17 L. T. 214; 16 W. R. 205; 3 Mar. L. C. 8.

793. —— Although no alteration in ship's articles.]—Mariner's wages. Claim of a second mate, who succeeded to the office of chief, to the rate of wages given to chief officers upon similar voyages, established; an alteration in the ship's articles is not absolutely necessary to support his title.—THE PROVIDENCE (1825), 1 Hag. Adm. 391; 166 E. R. 139.

Annotation:—Folld. Hanson v. Royden (1867), L. R. 3 C. P. 47.

794. —— No specific rate in ship's articles.]—Mariner's wages. Claim for a gradation of wages sustained upon the facts; there being no specific rate of hiring inserted in the articles. A tender of reward is an admission of services.—THE PORCUPINE (1825), 1 Hag. Adm. 378; 166 E. R. 135.

Annotations:—Distd. The Harvey (1827), 2 Hag. Adm. 79. Consd. The Prince George (1837), 3 Hag. Adm. 376. Refd. Hanson v. Royden (1867), 37 L. J. C. P. 66.

---

SUB-SECT. 8.—PAYMENT ON DEATH.

See, now, 1894 Act, s. 169; 1906 Act, s. 29.

795. Right to wages to time of death.]—The rule that "freight is the mother of wages" does not apply to the case of the master of a ship; & therefore where a master, engaged for a voyage at £10 per month, continued to act as master from the time when the ship sailed until she was lost with all hands, his representatives were entitled to recover against the owners his wages up to the time of the loss.—HAWKINS v. TWIZELL (1856), 5 E. & B. 883; 25 L. J. Q. B. 160; 2 Jur. N. S. 302; 119 E. R. 709; sub nom. HAWKINS v. FURZILL, 26 L. T. O. S. 235; 4 W. R. 242.

796. —— Agreement for whole voyage—Death before completion.]—If a sailor hired for a voyage take a promissory note from his employer for a certain sum provided he proceed, continue, & do his duty on board for the voyage, & before the arrival of the ship he dies, no wages can be claimed either on the contract or on a quantum meruit.—CUTTER v. POWELL (1795), 6 Term Rep. 320; 101 E. R. 573.

Annotations:—Consd. Appleby v. Myers (1867), L. R. 2 C. P. 651; Button v. Thompson (1869), L. R. 4 C. P. 330. Distd. O'Neil v. Armstrong, Mitchell, [1895] 2 Q. B. 70. Refd. Thomas v. Williams (1834), 3 Nev. & M. K. B. 545; Baxter v. Nurse (1844), 8 Jur. 273; De Bernardy v. Harding & Pooley (1853), 1 C. L. R. 884; Harrison v. James (1862), 31 L. J. Ex. 248; Bartholomew v. Markwick (1864), 9 L. T. 651; Donkin v. Hastie (1897), 61 J. P. 568; Sumpter v. Hedges, [1898] 1 Q. B. 673; Parkin v. South Hetton Coal Co. (1907), 97 L. T. 98; George v. Davies, [1911] 2 K. B. 445; Harrowing S.S. Co. v. Thomas, [1913] 2 K. B. 171; Dakin v. Lee, [1916] 1 K. B. 566; Moriarty v. Regent's Garage Co., [1921] 1 K. B. 423. Mentd. Collins v. Price (1828), 5 Bing. 132; Ex p. Baker (1857), 3 Jur. N. S. 937; Savage v. Canning (1867), 16 W. R. 133.

Judgment in favour of seaman—Renewal to administrator after death.]—See No. 807, post.

Summary proceedings to recover wages due.]—See Nos. 843, 845, post.

Property of deceased seamen.]—See Sect. 9, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 9.—ADVANCE AND ALLOTMENT.

See 1894 Act, ss. 140–144; 1906 Act, ss. 61, 62; 1911 Act (c. 8), s. 1.

797. Advance note—Validity — Sum exceeding one month's wages—Engagement abroad.]—A seaman was engaged at a foreign port, in which there was a British consul, & was paid a sum exceeding one month's wages, under an advance note, conditionally on his going to sea. In proceedings to recover wages the master claimed to deduct the whole amount paid under the advance note:—Held: 1894 Act, s. 124, does not extend sect. 140 to engagements of seamen abroad, & sect. 140 applies only to engagements to sail from the United Kingdom, & the master was entitled to deduct the whole amount.—RITCHIE v. LARSEN, [1899] 1 Q. B. 727; 68 L. J. Q. B. 335; 80 L. T. 259; 47 W. R. 413; 15 T. L. R. 167; 43 Sol. Jo. 224; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 501; 4 Com. Cas. 129, D. C.

Annotation:—Consd. Rowlands v. Miller, [1899] 1 Q. B. 735.

798. —— —— —— ——.] — ROWLANDS v. MILLER, No. 761, ante.

799. —— Whether negotiable.] — CARDIFF BOARDING MASTERS' ASSOCN. v. CORY & SONS (1893), 9 T. L. R. 388, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Rowlands v. Miller, [1899] 1 Q. B. 735.

800. —— —— Necessity for fulfilment of conditions—Advance partly in cash & partly in goods.] —The master of a vessel on the eve of sailing gave one of the seamen an advance note in the following form — "Ten days after the ship Athlone sails from the port of Liverpool, the undersigned does promise & agree to pay to any person who shall advance to H. on this agreement the sum of £6, provided H. shall sail in the ship from said port of Liverpool." Pltf., an outfitter, gave the seaman in exchange for the note £3 5*s.* in cash, & £2 15*s.*

---

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 9.

p. Agreement to pay wages in advance.]—A promise to pay wages to a mariner in advance, on condition that he proceed to sea in the ship, is an agreement to pay so much absolutely upon the performance of the condition, whether the ship & cargo be afterwards lost on the voyage or not.—MULLEN v. LEFROY (1845), 1 R. de L. 362.—CAN.

Sect. 4.—Wages: Sub-sects. 9, 10, 11 & 12, A.]

worth of wearing apparel; but he stated, in answer to a question from the ct., that, if he had advanced the whole amount in cash, he would have charged a discount of 7½ per cent. The seaman having sailed with the vessel:—Held: the condition upon which the holder of the document was entitled to sue the maker was substantially fulfilled by giving the seaman the amount in money & money's worth.—M'KUNE v. JOYNSON (1858), 5 C. B. N. S. 218; 28 L. J. C. P. 133; 4 Jur. N. S. 760; 141 E. R. 87; sub nom. M'KANE v. JOYNSON, 31 L. T. O. S. 165; 6 W. R. 658.

Annotations:—Refd. Cardiff Boarding Masters' Assocn. v. Cory (1893), 9 T. L. R. 388; Rowlands v. Miller, [1899] 1 Q. B. 735.

801. —— —— —— Payment conditional on continued employment of seaman.]—An advance note was given to A., a seaman, for a half month's wages. The note was in this form: "Five days after the ship W. leaves P. pay to the order of A., provided he sails in the ship & is duly earning his wages, according to his agreement," etc. It was directed to B. & co., the shipowners' agents at P., & there was a note upon it that it should at once be presented to B. & co. for acceptance. A. transferred the note to C., who presented it to B. & co. by whom it was duly accepted. Four days after W. left P., A. was discharged. The master of the W. informed B. & co. that A. had been discharged within five days of sailing, & directed them not to pay the note. B. & co. paid the note. On action by B. & co. against the shipowners for the amount of the note:—Held: as A. was not earning his wages at the end of five days after the W. left P., the condition of the note was not fulfilled, & neither the shipowners nor B. & co. as acceptors were liable upon it.—BELLAMY & Co. v. LUNN & Co. (1897), 77 L. T. 396; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 348, D. C.

—— Forgery of.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., pp. 1059, 1060, Nos. 11,973–11,976.

802. Allotment note—Who may be liable—Registered owner demising ship by charterparty.]—MEIKLEREID v. WEST, No. 382, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 10.—REMITTANCE.

See 1894 Act, ss. 145–154; 1906 Act, s. 63.

---

SUB-SECT. 11.—COMPENSATION FOR PREMATURE DISCHARGE.

See Sect. 11, sub-sect. 2, A., post.

SUB-SECT. 12.—PROCEEDINGS FOR RECOVERY.

A. In General.

See 1894 Act. ss. 164–167.

Jurisdiction — Admiralty Court.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 131–139, Nos. 363–466.

—— —— Colonial & Vice-Admiralty Courts.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 251, 252, Nos. 1795, 1796.

—— Summary proceedings.]—See Sub-sect. 12, D., post.

803. —— Foreign ship — Conflict of laws.] — Foreign seamen at a foreign port enter into articles with the master, who is also a foreigner, for a voyage on board a foreign ship, & thereby agree amongst other things, not to institute any suit against the master in foreign countries, or cite him before any judge or magistrate, but that they will abide by the maritime code of their own country & the adjudication of their own cts. Having made this agreement in their own country, they cannot maintain an action in England against the master for wages, though the ship & cargo be confiscated in an English port, & the voyage thereby ended.—GIENAR v. MEYER (1796), 2 Hy. Bl. 603; 126 E. R. 728.

804. —— —— ——.] — THE WILHELM FREDERICK (1823), 1 Hag. Adm. 138; 166 E. R. 50.

Annotation:—Expld. The Golubchick (1840), 1 Wm. Rob. 143.

805. —— —— ——.]—All questions of collision are questions communis juris; but in suits for wages, the claim of the mariner must be tried by the law of the country to which the ship belongs.—THE JOHANN FRIEDERICK (1839), 1 Wm. Rob. 35; 166 E. R. 487.

Annotations:—Refd. Harmer v. Bell, The Bold Buccleugh (1851), 7 Moo. P. C. C. 267; The Clara (1855), 2 Jur. N. S. 46; The Leon (1881), 6 P. D. 148; Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London & China v. Netherlands Steam Navigation Co. (1883), 10 Q. B. D. 521; The Dictator, [1892] P. 304.

806. Application for payment by bond holder—Out of proceeds of sale of ship.]—Motion that a bond holder, in a suit in pœnam against a foreign ship, may pay wages of crew & deduct the same from proceeds of sale, rejected.—THE ADOLPH (1835), 3 Hag. Adm. 249.

Annotation:—Expld. The Golubchick (1840), 1 Wm. Rob. 143.

807. Favourable attitude of court to seamen.]—(1) An agreement for wages, as purser, having been entered into by a master & sole owner, the purser, prior to the ship's sailing, signed the usual articles, but in which there was no rate of wages specified for him. After the completion of the outward voyage, he ceased, by the master's orders, to do duty as purser, but was not regularly

---

ART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 12.—A.

q. Jurisdiction—Admiralty Court—Effect of special contract for wages.]—THE ENTERPRISE (1861), 5 L. T. 29.—R.

r. —— County court.]—BROWN v. JAUGHAN (1882), 22 N. B. R. 258.—CAN.

t. —— —— Effect of R. S. C. c. 74, s. 52.]—The jurisdiction given by the County Ct. Act not taken away or the common law right impaired by R. S. C. c. 74, s. 52.—FISENHAUER v. ERNST (1903), 40 N. S. R. 420.—CAN.

a. —— ——.]—A county ct. judge has jurisdiction in an ordinary action for wages of a seaman to try a claim for more than $200 where pltf. has good demand at common law.—CAIRNS v. BRITISH COLUMBIA SALVAGE CO., LTD. (1907), 13 B. C. R. 83.—CAN.

b. —— Supreme Court.]—An action for seaman's wages, where the amount claimed is under £50, cannot be brought in a Supreme Ct. except where the owner or master, neither is, nor resides, within twenty miles of the place where the seaman is discharged or put on shore.—WATSON v. LEUKTEN (1903), 36 N. S. R. 412; 24 C. L. T. 25.—CAN.

c. —— Facts & circumstances giving jurisdiction must be shown.]—Under R. S. C. c. 74, s. 52, to enable a seaman to sue for & recover his wages, the complaint must show all the facts & circumstances which, under the statute, give the ct. jurisdiction.—Ex p. ANDREWS (1897), 34 N. B. R. 315.—CAN.

d. —— Joinder of claims.]—A number of seamen forming part of the crew of a ship, to whom separate & varying sums are alleged to be due for wages, may combine in one action to recover the same.—BEATON v. THE CHRISTINE (1907), 11 Exch. C. R. 167.—CAN.

e. —— ——.]—Although the claims of a number of seamen for wages do not amount to the sum of $200 individually, yet, where the aggregate of such claims exceeds that sum, the claims may be joined & sued for in the Exchequer Ct. on its Admiralty side.—BURKE v. THE VIPOND (1914), 14 D. L. R. 396; 14 Exch. C. R. 326.—CAN.

f. —— ——.]—COWAN v. THE ST. ALICE (B. C.) (1915), 32 W. L. R. 17.—CAN.

g. ——.]—The restriction on the jurisdiction of the Exchequer Ct. contained in Canada Shipping Act, s. 181, applies as well to the cases of a master as of a seaman.—BECK v. THE KOBE (1915), 32 W. L. R. 351; 9 W. W. R.

suspended for neglect of duty; the wages pronounced for, & a mtgee., who opposed them, condemned in costs.

Qu.: though the owner be bkpt., & the ship has been sold, & the proceeds are insufficient to pay mtgees., a principal mtge. has sufficient interest to oppose a mariner's claim for wages.

(2) Semble: a decree for wages, with costs, to a mariner, when deceased may be renewed to his administrator.

In suits for wages the ct. is anxious that seamen should not be harassed with litigation. . . . An agreement for wages may be made by word of mouth or in writing; the mariner incurs no forfeiture or penalty by not signing articles; it is only the master who does so. . . . The law favours a mariner suing for wages (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—THE PRINCE GEORGE (1837), 3 Hag. Adm. 376; 166 E. R. 445.

808. To what date wages recoverable.]—A seaman who commences a suit in rem for the recovery of his wages cannot have a decree for wages or subsistence money after the date of the commencement of his suit, although he is retained in the service of the ship by the master; but he will be entitled to an allowance in the way of costs for detention & subsistence money from the date of the institution of the suit to the date of decree.—THE CAROLINA (1875), 34 L. T. 399; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 141.

809. ——.]—The time up to which a seaman is entitled in an action to recover his wages under this Act [Merchant Seamen (Payment of Wages & Rating Act, 1880 (c. 16))] is to date of certificate of chief clerk in Chancery or report of registrar in Admiralty.—Re GREAT EASTERN S.S. CO., WILLIAMS' CLAIM (1885), 53 L. T. 594; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 511.

Annotations:—Consd. Vickerson v. Crowe, [1914] 1 K. B. 462; The British Trade, [1924] P. 104. Refd. R. v. City of London Court Judge & S.S. Michigan (1890), 6 T. L. R. 364; Palace Shipping Co. v. Caine, [1907] A. C. 386; Haws v. Brown (1917), 81 J. P. 300.

810. Question of ownership pending in Chancery Court—Effect of admission of ownership.]—Mariner's wages. A protest, on the ground of non-liability pending a question in the Court of Ch. as to the ownership of the vessel under an assignment, the parties having, in their answer to a bill in that Ct., admitted that they were the owners, overruled.

The party suing here is not implicated in the proceeding there. . . . Here the party is a mariner suing for his wages, as mate of a vessel upon two foreign voyages, & though there may be some affinity between the questions, yet there may be enough to furnish grounds for a decree upon the confined interests of this man, without in the least interfering with that jurisdiction which embraces the whole merits of the case. . . . There never was a more absolute admission on the part of these gentlemen than what is contained in this answer; they say, they were the owners, not only affirmatively, but negatively, that no other person was the owner—the services were at least therefore accepted for them. . . . I am justified in taking these gentlemen at their word, that they are the owners & nobody else (LORD STOWELL).—THE ST. JOHAN (1825), 1 Hag. Adm. 334; 166 E. R. 119.

811. Evidence—Log book.]—THE MALTA, No. 736, ante.

812. —— Power of attorney to owner's agent—Secondary evidence.]—B. was engaged as master of a ship on a trading voyage out & back; but, after the voyage out was dismissed by C., his employer's agent. At the trial of an action by B. for full wages, C. said he acted under a power of attorney, which was lost, & gave secondary evidence of its contents:—Held: it was for the judge, & not the jury, to say whether this secondary evidence showed sufficient authority in C. to dismiss, & though the jury found otherwise, their finding was immaterial.—BERWICK v. HORSFALL (1858), 4 C. B. N. S. 450; 27 L. J. C. P. 193; 31 L. T. O. S. 117; 22 J. P. 659; 4 Jur. N. S. 615; 6 W. R. 471; 140 E. R. 1160.

—— Ship's articles—Notice to produce.]—See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 248, No. 2283.

813. Set-off or counterclaim—Engagement for whole voyage—Discharge at foreign port—Wages earned on return voyage in another ship.]—(1) A refusal, on the part of the master, to certify for the wages of his crew upon their quitting the ship, especially when coupled with equivocal expressions as to leave, is no decisive proof of a desertion.

(2) Effect of wages earned on board another vessel not making the same homeward voyage as the one for which the engagement had been made.—THE FREDERICK (1823), 1 Hag. Adm. 211; 166 E. R. 76.

814. —— Loss due to negligence of seaman.]—Loss arising from the gross negligence of a mariner, may be set off against a claim for wages.—THE NEW PHŒNIX (1832), 2 Hag. Adm. 420; 166 E. R. 297.

815. —— Insurance & interest—Agreement to share profits.]—M'AULIFFE v. BICKNELL, No. 757, ante.

——.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., p. 184, Nos. 975–977.

816. Costs—Disputed accounts—Costs of reference.]—On a reference of the accounts in a master's suit for wages, more than one-half of the owner's h. —— Foreign ship—Conflict of laws.]—In an action by an American seaman for services alleged to have been rendered on board an American ship of which deft. was master, a plea to the jurisdiction was put in:—Held: the ct. would entertain such suits for wages by foreign seamen & would notice the lex loci to ascertain whether there was a legal & subsisting contract to prevent the mariner from enforcing payment of such services as had been rendered.—CARROLL v. BALLARD (1861), 12 L. C. R. 247.—CAN.

---

89; 24 D. L. R. 573; 22 B. C. R. 169. —CAN.

k. —— ——.]—BRUHN v. GRUNWALDT (1863), 2 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 335; 36 Sc. Jur. 223.—SCOT.

l. Evidence — As to validity of articles & nature of law under which made.]—In an action by certain sailors against the captain of their ship for wages the vessel being a Russian one:—Held: the evidence of the master as to the validity of the ship's articles, & the nature of the law under which they were made, would be admitted.—PATEZ v. KLIEN (1863), 13 L. C. R. 433. —CAN.

814 i. Set-off or counterclaim—Loss due to negligence of seaman.]—SHARP v. RETTIE (1884), 11 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 745; 21 Sc. L. R. 507.—SCOT.

m. —— Passenger fare & board of friend—Custom of port.]—An item of set-off asserted by the owners against the master's claim for wages, consisting of an amount charged for the fare & board of a friend of the master who had been taken with him on one of his trips on the owner's tug boat, was not allowed, because it was a general practice in the port of Vancouver to allow the masters such a privilege.—ROBERTS v. THE TARTAR (1908), 11 Exch. C. R. 308; 13 B. C. R. 474.—CAN.

n. —— Speculative & remote damages.]—Deft.'s vessel sailed under charter with a cargo of lumber consigned to St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands. On arrival deft.'s agent, the consignee, refused to accept more than a portion of the cargo & pltf. in the absence of instructions from deft., who had been notified, sailed for a port in Africa with the remainder of the cargo & disposed of it & secured another cargo & eventually returned home. Deft. counterclaimed damages:—Held: pltf. having acted in good faith & to the best of his judgment in the interest of his owner & in the absence of instruction, although he had asked for instructions before leaving, damages that would not have been incurred if he had acted otherwise were too speculative & remote to be claimed by deft. in his counterclaim.—POTHIER v. THERIAULT (1924), 57 N. S. R. 408.—CAN.

o. Costs—Claim within jurisdiction

Sect. 4.—Wages: Sub-sect. 12, A., B., C. & D.]

claim of set-off, & nearly two-thirds of the master's claim, were disallowed. Charges of immorality were made by the owners, but not sustained. The ct., considering that the master had at the utmost been guilty only of extravagance, allowed him his costs of the reference.—THE STRATHALLAN (1862), 6 L. T. 107 ; 1 Mar. L. C. 207.

—— Expenses of witnesses.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., p. 227, No. 1527.

817. Judgment for wages—Renewal to administrator.]—THE PRINCE GEORGE, No. 807, ante.

818. —— Whether satisfied by payment before shipping master.]—Payment to seamen by shipowners before a shipping master held to be no satisfaction of wages pronounced for in a suit in the Ct. of Admlty.—THE ARAMINTA (1856), Sw. 81 ; 26 L. T. O. S. 317 ; 2 Jur. N. S. 310 ; 4 W. R. 396 ; 166 E. R. 1030.

Annotation :—Reld. The Soblomsten (1866), L. R. 1 A. & E. 293.

Who may sue—Alien enemy.]—See ALIENS, Vol. II., p. 156, Nos. 264, 265.

Limitation of action.]—See LIMITATION OF ACTIONS, Vol. XXXII., p. 377, No. 604.

Loss of right to wages.]—See Sub-sect. 3, ante.

Lien for wages & disbursements.]—See Part XVIII., post.

B. Who may be Liable.

819. Master.]—For the wages of mariners the master is liable, the ship is liable, & the owner is liable. The mariner is entitled to his option (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—THE JACK PARK (1802), 4 Ch. Rob. 308 ; 165 E. R. 622.

820. ——.]—WILKINSON v. FRASIER, No. 642, ante.

821. —— Remedy over against owner.]—The owners of a ship let it out to freight, & by the charterparty it was agreed, that no freight should be paid to the owners, until six days after the ship should be returned to the Port of London, & make a full delivery of her lading, but the master might detain the imprest money ; & if the ship should be lost in her voyage, the master & owners should not expect any other satisfaction than the imprest money, for the freight & demurrage of the ship. The ship was lost ; & upon a question, who was liable to pay the seaman's wages :—Held : the master was liable in the first instance, as having hired them, but he had his remedy against the owners.—BUCK v. RAWLINSON (1704), 1 Bro. Parl. Cas. 137 ; 1 E. R. 470, H. L.

Annotations :—Consd. The Juliana (1822), 2 Dods. 504. Distd. Jesse v. Roy (1834), 1 Cr. M. & R. 316.

822. —— Necessity for previous demand from owner—Order on owners given to seaman by master.]—During a voyage the ship is wrecked, & the captain gives the mariners an order upon the owners for the amount of their wages to the date of the wreck, acknowledging at the same time that he had hired them by the month :—Held : under these circumstances, no action for wages could be maintained by the mariners against the captain, at least without proving that they had first made a demand upon the owners.—FORSBOOM v. KRUGER (1812), 3 Camp. 197 ; 170 E. R. 1353, N. P.

823. Owner.]—THE JACK PARK, No. 819, ante.

824. —— Reimbursement of master.]—BUCK v. RAWLINSON, No. 821, ante.

825. —— Unless agreement that master alone liable.]—M'AULIFFE v. BICKNELL, No. 757, ante.

826. Ship.]—THE JACK PARK, No. 819, ante.

827. Mortgagee—Mortgagor in possession.]—Where a ship is mortgaged, but the mtgor. continues in possession, the master employed by him cannot maintain an action for wages & disbursements against the mtgee.—ANNETT v. CARSTAIRS (1813), 3 Camp. 354 ; 170 E. R. 1409, N. P.

828. Purser—Action by purser's steward.]—A purser's steward on board one of His Majesty's ships cannot recover wages from the purser, upon an implied contract, for his services as such on board the ship.—CARTER v. HALL (1818), 2 Stark. 36 ; 171 E. R. 673, N. P.

Annotation :—Reld. Clutterbuck v. Coffin (1842), 3 Man. & G. 842.

829. Charterers.]—(1) Where a ship is chartered under a charter providing that the master shall be appointed by the charterers, that the owners are to provide & pay for all provisions & wages of captain & crew, & for the necessary equipment & efficient working of the ship, that the captain is to be dismissed by the owners if he fails to give satisfaction, & that the charterers shall provide & pay for all coals, pilotages, port charges, etc., the master is the servant of the shipowners, & hence he has a right in rem for his wages & such disbursements as are necessary for the navigation of the ship, & which the charterers had not by the provisions of the charterparty undertaken to pay.

(2) Semble, if the charterers had refused to make these disbursements, & without them the ship

---

of inferior court—Pltf. deprived of costs.]—Where pltfs., seamen, recovered for wages due them an amount in each case below $40 :—Held : as their claims might have been sued for before a stipendiary magistrate or two justices, they should not have their costs.—THE ANN (1871), Y. A. D. 104.—CAN.

p. ——.]—Where two claims for seamen's wages were prosecuted to judgment before two similar claims were allowed by the ct., the costs of the prosecution of the first two claims were ordered to be paid out of the fund in the registry in full in preference to the last two claims. In respect of the latter it was directed that they should be paid in full if the balance of the fund permitted it, if not they were to be paid pro rata.—MUNSEN v. THE COMRADE, SAUNDERS v. THE COMRADE, DICKSON v. THE COMRADE (1902), 7 Exch. C. R. 330.—CAN.

q. —— Error in computing wages necessitating bringing action.]—In an action by a seaman for recovery of wages :—Held : as there had been an error, though unintentional, in computing his wages, thus necessitating pltf. bringing action therefor, he was entitled to his costs.—CABLE v. THE SOCOTRA (1907), 13 B. C. R. 309.—CAN.

r. Action for wages until dismissal & further sum under special contract—Wages paid into court—Failure to prove special contract.]—Pltf. claimed a sum for wages up to the term of his dismissal, & a further sum under a special contract, which he alleged had been made upon his entering into the service of deft., but of which he had failed to produce any evidence. Deft. paid the first sum into ct. having, first tendered it to pltf. :—Held : there should be judgment for deft., with costs.—THE PEERESS (1880), Y. A. D. 265.—CAN.

t. Assignability of right of action.]—The right of action in rem for wages cannot be assigned.—BIERRE v. THE J. L. CARD (1899), 6 Exch. C. R. 274.—CAN.

a. Dispute as to amount of wages—No reason to discredit either party—Defendant's version to prevail.]—In an action by pltf. for wages claimed to be due him as master of deft.'s schooner, pltf. claimed that the amount agreed upon was $175 per month, while deft. swore that the amount agreed upon was $170 per month :—Held : as there was no reason for discrediting either of the parties & the burden of proof was upon pltf., deft.'s version of the agreement must prevail.—POTHIER v. THERIAULT (1924), 57 N. S. R. 408.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 12.—B.

819 1. Master.]—A mariner has a three-fold remedy for his wages, (1) against the ship ; (2) against the master ; (3) against the owner of the ship.—MORRIER v. LALA RAGHUMULL (1922), I. L. R. 50 Calc. 29.—IND.

823 1. Owner.]—MORRIER v. LALA RAGHUMULL (1922), I. L. R. 50 Calc. 29.—IND.

826 1. Ship.]—MORRIER v. LALA RAGHUMULL (1922), I. L. R. 50 Calc. 29.—IND.

b. Part owner.]—A part owner of could not be navigated, the master would be entitled to charge them against the shipowners.

(3) Semble: where a master is the servant of the charterers, & not of the shipowner, he has no right against the owners in respect of wages & disbursements.—THE BEESWING (1885), 53 L. T. 554; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 484, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (2) Reld. The Turgot (1886), 11 P. D. 21.

C. Action.

See 1894 Act, s. 165.

830. Wages earned on enemy ship.]—THE OSPRAY (1795), cited 5 Ch. Rob. at p. 8; 165 E. R. 678.

Annotations:—Consd. The Anglo Mexican (1917), 87 L. J. P. 33. Reld. The Vigilantia (1798), 1 Ch. Rob. 1.

831. ——.]—THE INDUSTRY (circa 1795), cited 5 Ch. Rob. at p. 8; 165 E. R. 678.

832. ——.]—THE FREDERICK (1803), 5 Ch. Rob. 9; 165 E. R. 678.

833. Agreement not to demand wages until specified time from arrival—Action commenced within specified time—Right to recover sum admitted to be due.]—A seaman is restricted by the ship's articles from demanding his wages until the expiration of twenty days after the ship's arrival at her destined port, & the delivery of her cargo:—Held: although the seaman had commenced his action before the expiration of the twenty days, he might still recover a sum which the captain had admitted to be due to him for wages, & which he had offered to pay him.—WHITE v. MATTISON (1818), 2 Stark. 325; 171 E. R. 661, N. P.

Annotation:—Reld. M'Auliffe v. Bicknell (1835), 1 Gale. 232.

834. Owner insolvent—Right of master to sue.]—(1) The balance of a running account between the owner & master of a vessel, by reason of expenses incurred on behalf of the vessel, was due to the master. The owner gave bills for it, including wages due to the master. The owner subsequently became bkpt., & the bills were unpaid:—Held: the master might, under 7 & 8 Vict. c. 112, s. 16, sue for his wages as an ordinary seaman. (2) Semble: where the majority of interests in a vessel becomes bkpt. or insolvent the master may proceed against the ship for the recovery of wages.—THE SIMLAH (1851), 18 L. T. O. S. 35; 15 Jur. 865.

Annotation:—Generally, Reld. The Albion (1872), 27 L. T. 723.

835. Action in rem—Fraudulent application of master's money by managing owner.]—A master on his appointment agreed with the managing owner that he, the master, should find the provisions for the officers & crew at a certain rate per day. The master subsequently agreed with the managing owner, who was also a ship's store dealer, that the managing owner should supply the provisions & should charge them against moneys of the master which he held in his hands. The managing owner, however, debited his co-owners with the costs of the provisions, & fraudulently applied the master's money to his own purposes:—Held: in an action in rem against the owners by the master to recover wages & disbursements, the master was entitled to credit for such an amount in the settlement of his accounts with the owners, the fraudulent application of his money by the managing owner being a wrong done to the co-owners for which he was not responsible.—THE DORA TULLY (1886), 54 L. T. 467; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 550.

836. Time for commencement of action.]—THE TEST (No. 2) (1836), 3 Hag. Adm. 307; 166 E. R. 419.

837. —— Master leaving ship abroad on account of ill health.]—A master, being compelled by pressing necessity of ill health to leave his ship abroad, is entitled to sue immediately for wages.—THE RAJAH OF COCHIN (1859), Sw. 473; 166 E. R. 1223.

Annotation:—Reld. The Yuri Maru, The Woron, [1927] A. C. 906.

838. Statute of Limitations, 1623 (c. 16)—Whether applicable.]—Above Act does not extend to suits in Admlty. for seamen's wages.—ANON. (1702), 11 Mod. Rep. 6; 88 E. R. 849.

839. —— ——.]—Qu.: if above Act extends to suits in the Admlty. Ct. for seamen's wages; if it does, a plea that it appears by the libel that the cause did not accrue within six years is bad. Deft. should state immediately that the cause in action did not accrue within six years.—EWER v. JONES (1703), 1 Com. 137; 2 Ld. Raym. 934; 6 Mod. Rep. 25; 3 Salk. 227; 92 E. R. 1001.

Annotations:—Reld. Lothian v. Henderson (1803), 3 Bos. & P. 499; Hopkins v. Swansea Corpn. (1839), 8 L. J. Ex. 121; The City of Mecca (1879), 5 P. D. 28. Mentd. Millar v. Taylor (1769), 4 Burr. 2303; Webb v. Jiggs (1815), 4 M. & S. 113; Braithwaite v. Skinner (1839), 5 M. & W. 313; Longbottom v. Longbottom (1852), 8 Exch. 203.

840. —— ——.]—Qu.: whether above Act extends to suits in Admlty. for mariner's wages. If it does a plea there that the contract was made ten years before the commencement of the suit is bad.—HYDE v. PARTRIDGE (1705), 2 Ld. Raym. 1204; 11 Mod. Rep. 43; 3 Salk. 227; 92 E. R. 295; sub nom. HIDE v. PARTRIDGE, 2 Salk. 424; Holt, K. B. 428.

Annotation:—Mentd. Watlington v. Wilkinson, Watlington v. Brand (1729), 1 Barn. K. B. 270.

841. —— ——.]—ELLIOTT v. LISTER, THE JOHN (1756), Burrell, 320; 167 E. R. 591.

842. Limitation of jurisdiction—Distance of residence of owner from port of discharge—What amounts to residence—Action by master.]—Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 189, read with s. 191, extends to masters of ships.

A place of occasional business is not a residence within Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 189.—THE BLAKENEY (1859), Sw. 428; 5 Jur. N. S. 418; 166 E. R. 1199.

Annotation:—Reld. The Ferret, Phillips v. Highland Ry. (1885), 48 L. T. 915.

Right to sue in Admiralty.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 131–139, Nos. 363–466.

Action in Admiralty side of county court.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., p. 247, Nos. 1749–1752.

D. Summary Procedure.

See 1894 Act, ss. 164, 165, 693, Criminal Justice Act, 1925 (c. 86), s. 29.

843. Necessity for personal application—Application by administrator.]—Under 7 & 8 Vict. c. 112, s. 15, a justice of the peace is not authorised to act upon the personal application of the administrator of a seaman, but only upon the application of the seaman himself.—HOLLINGWORTH v. PALMER (1849), 4 Exch. 267; 18 L. J. Ex. 409; 13 L. T. O. S. 363; 13 J. P. 553.

Annotation:—Reld. The Ferret, Phillips v. Highland Ry. (1883), 48 L. T. 915.

---

a vessel is liable to be sued for seamen's wages under 6 Will. 4, c. 44.—Ex p. WOOD (1849), 6 N. B. R. (1 All.) 422.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 12.—C. c. Action abroad.]—THE HAIDEE (1860), 10 L. C. R. 101; 2 S. V. A. R. 25.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 12.—D. d. Jurisdiction.]—The jurisdiction of the stipendiary magistrate under 3 R. S. c. 75, is concurrent only with that

Sect. 4.—Wages: Sub-sect. 12, D. Sect. 5: Sub-sects. 1 & 2. Sects. 6 & 7.]

844. To what claims applicable—Wages earned on foreign ship.]—Qu.: whether 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, s. 189, applies to a claim for services on board a foreign ship.—BURNS v. CHAPMAN (1858), 5 C. B. N. S. 481; 28 L. J. C. P. 6; 32 L. T. O. S. 128; 5 Jur. N. S. 19; 7 W. R. 89; 141 E. R. 195.

845. —— Wages of deceased seaman.]—A ship was lost at sea, & all hands perished. At the time the ship was lost, five months' wages were due to one of the seamen, but a certain sum had been paid to his wife under an allotment note. Information was laid by the shipping master at Sunderland against the shipowner, under Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 196, to recover the whole wages & the penalty imposed by that sect., but the justices refused to make any order:—Held: the justices ought to have made an order for the sum due to the seaman at the time the vessel was lost, after deducting the sum which had been paid to his wife, but that no penalty ought to be imposed, there having been no wrongful refusal on the part of the shipowner.—LAMBTON v. SMURTHWAITE (1859), 8 W. R. 61.

846. Objection to jurisdiction—Time for making—Before magistrates.]—THE MINERVA (1822), 1 Hag. Adm. 54; 166 E. R. 20.

847. Appeal—To Court of Appeal—From Divisional Court—R. S. C., Ord. 68, r. 15.]—An order of a Div. Ct. affirming an orde of an alderman of the City of London made upon a summons for wages taken out by a seaman, under 1894 Act, s. 164, is a final order in a matter not being an action within the meaning of above rule, & no appeal can be brought to the Ct. of Appeal after the expiration of fourteen days from the decision of the Div. Ct.—AUSTIN FRIARS S.S. CO. v. STRACK, [1906] 2 K. B. 499; 75 L. J. K. B. 658; 94 L. T. 875; 70 J. P. 528; 22 T. L. R. 701, C. A.

Annotations:—Reld. R. v. Westminster Assmt. Com., R. v. Islington Assmt. Com., [1917] 2 K. B. 215. Mentd. Lloyd v. Sheen (1905), 93 L. T. 174; Sibery v. Connelly (1905), 94 L. T. 198; Sivewright v. Allen, [1906] 2 K. B. 81; Caine v. Palace Steam Shipping Co., [1907] 1 K. B. 670; Browning v. Crumlin Valley Collieries, [1926] 1 K. B. 522.

848. —— Not by special case.]—By Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1879 (c. 49), s. 33 (1), any person aggrieved who desires to question an order or other proceeding of a ct. of summary jurisdiction, on the ground that it is erroneous in point of law, may apply to the ct. to state a special case setting forth the facts of the case & the grounds on which the proceeding is questioned.

By 1894 Act, s. 164, a seaman may, as soon as any wages due to him, not exceeding £50, become payable, sue for the same before a ct. of summary jurisdiction as therein described, & the order made by the ct. in the matter shall be final:—Held: notwithstanding the former enactment, no appeal by special case lies from an order made by a ct. of summary jurisdiction under the latter.—WILLS & SONS v. MCSHERRY, [1914] 1 K. B. 616; 83 L. J. K. B. 596; 110 L. T. 65; 78 J. P. 120; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 426, D. C.

Annotations:—Mentd. Higgs & Hill v. Stepney B. C. (1913), 78 J. P. 134; Godman v. Crofton, [1914] 3 K. B. 803.

SECT. 5.—PROTECTION OF SEAMEN FROM IMPOSITION.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See 1894 Act, ss. 156, 163, 212–219.

849. Assignment of salvage & wages—What amounts to assignment—Indorsement of advance note—Advance note for more than one month's wages.]—ROWLANDS v. MILLER, No. 761, ante.

—— Agreements for apportionment of salvage.]—See Part XIII., Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, post.

850. Stranger boarding ship without permission—Right to trial by jury.]—A person charged with the offence of "crimping" under 1894 Act, s. 218, has a right to claim to be tried by a jury.—R. v. GOLDBERG, [1904] 2 K. B. 866; 73 L. J. K. B. 970; 91 L. T. 490; 68 J. P. 554; 20 T. L. R. 683; 20 Cox, C. C. 699, D. C.

—— Soliciting seaman to become lodger.]—See No. 11, ante; No. 852, post.

SUB-SECT. 2.—LODGING-HOUSE KEEPERS.

See 1894 Act, ss. 214–219, &, generally, PUBLIC HEALTH, Vol. XXXVIII., pp. 209–211, Nos. 437–466.

---

of two justices of the peace & not exclusive.—ANDERSON v. MASON (1867), 7 N. S. R. (1 G. & O.) 1.—CAN.

845 i. To what claims applicable—Wages of deceased seaman.]—STEPHENS v. DUNCAN (1862), 1 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 146.—SCOT.

e. ——.]—The jurisdiction of justices under 7 & 8 Vict. c. 112, s. 15, extends to all cases where wages are due & payable, & not merely to the case specified in sect. 11. Any justice in the county where the voyage ends has jurisdiction. The order of the justice need not fix any time for the payment of the wages.—R. v. WHETEN (1856), 8 N. B. R. (3 All.) 269.—CAN.

f. ——.]—Where a vessel had been sold in execution of a judgment of a magistrate for the recovery of wages due to the men employed on her:—Held: as the vessel was not owned or registered in Quebec all the proceedings had concerning her were absolutely null & void.—KERR v. GILDERSLEEVE (1858), 3 L. C. J. 304; 8 L. C. R. 267.—CAN.

g. ——.]—7 & 8 Vict. c. 112, s. 15, is founded on 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 19, s. 15, & was the model for 3rd R. S. N. S., c. 75, s. 24. It was the object of the Legislature in passing 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 19, to assist mariners in a speedy recovery of their wages, & for that purpose to give to magistrates a summary jurisdiction when the question of wages was merely in dispute; but it was not intended to enable them to decide upon intricate questions for forfeiture, whether arising from imputed desertion, disobedience of orders, or from any other cause.—CRAWLEY v. ANDERSON (1868), 7 N. S. R. (1 G. & O.) 385.—CAN.

h. ——.]—Pltf. contracted with F., who professed to be the owner of a vessel, to sail her as master at a stipulated rate of wages. After six months F., who had up to that time been on board, left the ship, & pltf. discovered that he was not the owner, the possession of the ship having been demanded by deft., the real owner. Pltf. then sued deft. for wages as master before the stipendiary magistrate under C. S., 1873, c. 129, ss. 52, 59, which enable a master to sue for wages due, him, not exceeding $200:—Held: the stipendiary had no jurisdiction.—HAWES v. HART (1885), 18 N. S. R. (6 R. & G.) 42; 6 C. L. R. 140.—CAN.

k. ——.]—Under R. S. C. c. 74, a claim for less than $200 for wages earned on board a Canadian registered vessel must be enforced by summary proceedings under sects. 48–55 of the Act.—BEATTIE v. JOHANSEN (1887), 28 N. B. R. 26.—CAN.

l. ——.]—R. S. C. c. 74, s. 52, does not confer jurisdiction upon the stipendiary magistrate for the county of Halifax, in relation to a deft. residing & a voyage terminating in the city of Halifax, the stipendiary magistrate being permitted to hold his ct. in the city, but his jurisdiction being confined to the county.—GRANT v. WEBBER (1893), 25 N. S. R. (13 R. & G.) 193.—CAN.

m. ——.]—Re GAMBLE v. WARD, 20 C. L. T. 462.—CAN.

n. Objection to jurisdiction—Inquiry into accounts exceeding £50 to ascertain balance.]—Merchant Seaman Act gives two justices of the peace jurisdiction in actions for wages up to £50. Pltf. sued for a balance of £15 15*s*. To ascertain the balance really due the justices had to inquire into the amount of his wages during his whole services, which exceeded £70. An application was now made to set aside their judgment on the ground that they had exceeded their jurisdiction:—Held: the judgment below must be sustained.—BOUCHE v. AYLWARD (1869), 1 P. E. I. 295.—CAN.

o. Ouster of jurisdiction.]—The jurisdiction of a magistrate in an action by a seaman for wages is not ousted by the fact that the master had purported to forfeit the wages for misconduct.—UNION S.S. CO. OF NEW ZEALAND, LTD. v. SPENDIFF (1903), 23 N. Z. L. R. 239.—N.Z.

851. Meaning of lodging-house—Sailor's home.]—By Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 238, it is enacted that if within twenty-four hours after the arrival of any ship at any port in the United Kingdom, any person then being on board such ship solicits any seaman to become a lodger at the house of any person letting lodgings for hire, or takes out of such ship any effects of any seaman, except under his personal direction & with the permission of the master, he shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding £5 :—Held : upon an information charging A., the agent of a sailors' home at H., with infringing the above section, sailors' homes are not lodging-houses within the meaning of the statute.—RICHARDSON v. ARTHUR (1864), 28 J. P. 168.

852. Boarding ship for purpose of soliciting seaman to become lodger—Meaning of "arrival."]—Resp. was charged under Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 237, with boarding without the permission of the master a ship "about to arrive at her place of destination before her actual arrival in dock or at the place of her discharge." The ship, at the time resp. boarded her, had just entered the Cumberland Basin in the port of Bristol at 7 a.m. The basin is divided from the river Avon by dock gates, & is a complete dock, forming part of, but divided by other dock gates from, the rest of the docks. There are quays in the basin, but the ship was not intended to discharge in the basin; she remained in the basin all night, & the next morning she was moored further in the floating harbour, & discharged her cargo at the quay there. The justices dismissed the complaint :—Held : the ship had not arrived "at her place of destination" by merely arriving in the port of Bristol, & she had not "actually arrived at her place of discharge," which was the quay where she ultimately did discharge; but she had "actually arrived in dock" within Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 237, although the dock was not the dock in which she ultimately discharged; & the justices' decision was therefore right.—ATTWOOD v. CASE (1875), 1 Q. B. D. 134; 45 L. J. M. C. 20; 40 J. P. 534; sub nom. ATWOOD v. CASE, 33 L. T. 507; 24 W. R. 94; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 84, D. C.

See, now, 1894 Act, s. 218.

853. —— Foreign ship—Extension of Act by Order in Council.]—R. v. ABRAHAMS, No. 11, ante.

---

SECT. 6.—ACCIDENTS TO SEAMEN IN COURSE OF EMPLOYMENT.

Liability of owners under Employers' Liability Act.]—See MASTER & SERVANT, Vol. XXXIV., p. 222, Nos. 1845, 1846.

Liability of owners under Workmen's Compensation Acts.]—See MASTER & SERVANT, Vol. XXXIV., pp. 241–244, 254, 276, 293, 421, Nos. 2059–2078, 2176, 2339, 2445, 3417.

Liability of owners under Merchant Shipping Acts.]—See Sect. 3, ante.

SECT. 7.—DESTITUTE AND DISTRESSED SEAMEN.

See 1894 Act, ss. 184, 185; 1906 Act, ss. 28–49; 1923 Act; Statutory Rules & Orders, 1914, No. 90; Statutory Rules & Orders, 1921, No. 642.

854. Termination of service abroad—Meaning of "passage home"—Passage to port of shipment or other port in United Kingdom agreed to by seamen.]—By 1894 Act, s. 186, where the service of any seaman belonging to any British ship terminates at any port out of Her Majesty's dominions, the master shall, among other alternatives, either (c) provide him with a passage home, or (d) deposit with the consular officer such a sum of money as is by the officer deemed sufficient to defray the expenses of his maintenance & passage home.

Upon the discharge abroad of a British seaman, the consul, acting under clause (d), fixed a sum which he deemed sufficient to defray the expenses of the seaman's passage home, & the master deposited this sum with the consul, who provided the seaman with a voucher for a passage. The voucher for the passage did not include maintenance. In an action by the seaman against the shipowners to recover the expenses of his maintenance on the passage :—Held : the master, by depositing the sum fixed by the consul, had complied with the requirements of clause (d), & the shipowners were not liable.

Semble : a "passage home" in clause (c) means a passage to the port at which the seaman was shipped, or to some port in the United Kingdom agreed to by him.—EDWARDS v. STEEL, YOUNG & Co., [1897] 2 Q. B. 327; 66 L. J. Q. B. 690; 77 L. T. 297; 45 W. R. 689; 13 T. L. R. 528; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 323; 2 Com. Cas. 272, C. A.

Annotation :—Followed. Purves v. Straits of Dover S.S. Co., [1899] 2 Q. B. 217.

855. —— —— ——.]—When the service of a seaman belonging to a British ship terminates at a foreign port, & the master elects to "provide him with a passage home," under 1894 Act, s. 186 (2) (c), the master is bound to provide him with a passage to the port in Her Majesty's dominions at which he was originally shipped, or to a port in the United Kingdom agreed to by him.—PURVES v. STRAITS OF DOVER S.S. Co., [1899] 2 Q. B. 217; 68 L. J. Q. B. 925; 81 L. T. 35; 15 T. L. R. 450; 43 Sol. Jo. 620; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 566; 4 Com. Cas. 274, C. A.

856. —— —— —— Agreement to return to nearest port served by steamers.]—Seamen agreed to serve on a British ship on a voyage from Newport, Monmouth, to Malta, & the end at a final port of discharge in the United Kingdom or Continent of Europe between the Elbe & Brest, inclusive, & it was agreed that when the seamen were discharged on the continent as above the master should furnish the means of sending them back to the nearest port in the United Kingdom served by regular steamers, & the seamen agreed to such nearest port as the port United Kingdom

---

PART III. SECT. 7.

p. "Crimping."]—T. was convicted under Seaman's Laws Consolidation Act, 1864, s. 14, for supplying a seaman to be entered on board a ship. It was, however, not proved that T. took the seaman on board in any way against his will :—Held : T. was wrongly convicted inasmuch as the word "supply" in the sect. means that the person supplied has no volition or no power to prevent himself from being supplied, e.g. drink & drugs.—MCLEAN v. THOMSON (1893), 14 N. S. W. L. R. (Law) 114; 9 N. S. W. W. N. 147.—AUS.

q. Construction of 20 Geo. 2, c. 38.]—The object of the above Act was to provide a fund for the permanent relief of the persons named in the title; but it left the right of the sailor to support & medical aid abroad, while the voyage was not terminated, untouched. The sailor was bound to pay so much per month towards the fund contemplated by the Act, & in consideration of such payment he was entitled to certain advantages & relief under it, but there was no intention of enacting any matter interfering with the then existing rights between master & mariner.—RALSTON v. BARSS (1836), 1 N. S. R. (1 Thom.) 75.—CAN.

r. Liability of owner—Under 11 Geo. 4, c. 20.]—As 11 Geo. 4, c. 20, had failed to express the ultimate liability of the owner to discharge the duty of sending home distressed seamen, or to bear the burthen of it, it created none & recognised none. The statute not merely shows that there is no duty on the owner, but that it was not one thought proper to impose on him, but rather a public charge.—MELANCON v.

Sect. 7.—Destitute and distressed seamen. Sects. 8, 9 & 10: Sub-sects. 1 & 2.]

to which they might be so sent back. The voyage ended at Hamburg, where the crew were discharged. The master paid the expenses of sending the seamen to Hull, which was the nearest port served by regular steamers. The seamen claimed that they were entitled to the expense of conveyance to Newport, the port of shipment:—Held: the agreement that the seamen should be sent back from the port of discharge to the nearest port in the United Kingdom served by regular steamers was not inconsistent with the provisions of 1894 Act, s. 186, and that the seamen were not entitled to the expenses of conveyance to the port of shipment.—A.-G. v. FARGROVE STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1908), 24 T. L. R. 430, C. A.

857. —— Expenses of maintenance — Insufficient sum fixed by consul—Shipowner not liable for deficiency.]—EDWARDS v. STEEL, YOUNG & CO., No. 854, ante.

858. —— —— Right of Crown to recover from owner—Seaman suffering from venereal disease.]—Under 1906 Act, ss. 41 & 42, the Board of Trade on behalf of the Crown is entitled to recover from the owner of a British ship the expenses incurred on behalf of the Crown of maintenance in the sense of board & lodging & conveyance home of a seaman left behind from the ship in a place out of the United Kingdom & in distress in that place, though suffering from venereal disease, but it cannot recover any medical or surgical expenses of the seaman.

I cannot conceive that Parliament used the word "maintenance" [in 1906 Act, s. 41] to cover, say, the fee of a surgeon for amputating a leg (SCRUTTON, J.).—BOARD OF TRADE v. ANGLO-AMERICAN OIL CO., LTD., [1911] 2 K. B. 225; 80 L. J. K. B. 835; 104 L. T. 497; 27 T. L. R. 344; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 599; 16 Com. Cas. 151.

859. —— —— Medical or surgical expenses not included—Fee for operation.]—BOARD OF TRADE v. ANGLO-AMERICAN OIL CO., LTD., No. 858, ante.

860. Distressed seaman—Who is—Question of fact.]—The question whether a seaman who has been shipwrecked abroad is a "distressed seaman" within 1894 Act, ss. 190, 191, 193, is a question of fact.

A "distressed seaman" does not of necessity cease to be a "distressed seaman" on his being paid the wages due to him, when such wages are enough to pay the expenses of his maintenance abroad & passage home.

Qu.: whether the "sufficient evidence" of expenses incurred for his benefit which is provided for by 1894 Act, s. 193 (3), means "conclusive evidence."

The mere fact that a seaman is shipwrecked abroad is not conclusive evidence of distress.—BOARD OF TRADE v. SAILING SHIP GLENPARK, [1904] 1 K. B. 682; 73 L. J. K. B. 315; 90 L. T. 360; 52 W. R. 646; 20 T. L. R. 321; 48 Sol. Jo. 310; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 550; 9 Com. Cas. 192, C. A.

861. —— —— Effect of payment of wages.]—BOARD OF TRADE v. SAILING SHIP GLENPARK, No. 860, ante.

862. —— "Sufficient evidence" of expenses incurred by Crown—Whether equivalent to conclusive evidence.]—BOARD OF TRADE v. SAILING SHIP GLENPARK, No. 860, ante.

Care of seaman during currency of agreement.]—See Sect. 3, ante.

---

SECT. 8.—RELIEF TO FAMILIES OF SEAMEN.

See 1894 Act, ss. 182, 183.

Allotment notes.]—See Sect. 4, sub-sect. 9, ante.

---

SECT. 9.—PROPERTY OF DECEASED SEAMEN.

See 1894 Act, ss. 169–181; 1906 Act, s. 29.

863. Sale of seaman's property at the mast—Whether conclusive as to value.]—Qu.: if the inventory & sale of a dead seaman's property at the mast is conclusive evidence of their value, or the practice of mast-selling legal.—BLAINFIELD v. MARCH (1703), 7 Mod. Rep. 141; 87 E. R. 1150.

864. Will of seaman — Whether will must be made at sea — Wills Act, 1837 (c. 26), s. 11.] — Deceased, who was master of a trading vessel, in the course of a voyage, arrived at Port Adelaide, from whence he wrote, & forwarded by post a letter, some sentences of which were testamentary. The vessel was subsequently lost at sea:—Held: deceased was a mariner at sea, & such a letter, being in the handwriting of deceased, & testamentary, was entitled to probate.—In the Goods of PARKER (1859), 2 Sw. & Tr. 375; 28 L. J. P. & M. 91; 23 J. P. 360; 5 Jur. N. S. 553; 164 E. R. 1041.

——.]—Compare ROYAL FORCES, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 332, 333, Nos. 180–190.

Payment of wages on death.]—See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 8, ante.

Presumption of death.]—See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 169, No. 1450.

---

SECT. 10.—DISCIPLINE.

SUB-SECT. 1.—GENERAL DUTIES OF SEAMEN.

See 1894 Act, ss. 220–238, 376–384.

865. General rule.]—(1) Drunkenness, neglect of duty, & disobedience. These are certainly offences of a high nature, fully sufficient to justify the discharge, if proved. In respect to the negligence, it would not be necessary to prove, that it was wilful negligence; it would be sufficient if it appeared to amount to that habitual inattention to the ordinary duties of his station that might expose the ship to danger (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

(2) Upon the matter of drunkenness, the ct. will be no apologist for that; it is an offence peculiarly noxious on board a ship, where the sober & vigilant attention of every man, & particularly of officers, is required. At the same time the ct. cannot entirely forget, that in a mode of life peculiarly exposed to severe peril & exertion, & therefore admitting in seasons of repose something of indulgence & refreshment; that indulgence & refreshment is naturally enough sought by such persons in grosser pleasures of that kind; & therefore that the proof of a single act of intemperance, committed in port, is no conclusive

---

COMEAU (1854), 2 N. S. R. (James) 378.—CAN.

t. —— "Owner for the time being."]—M. S. Act, 1854, s. 213, makes the expenses of a seaman left in a foreign port & being relieved from distress under the Act a charge upon the ship, & empowers the Board of Trade, in Her Majesty's name, to sue for & recover the same from the master of the ship or "owner thereof for the time being":—Held: the latter words mean the owner at the time of action brought.—R. v. SAILING SHIP "TROOP" CO. (1899), 29 S. C. R. 662.—CAN.

proof of disability for general maritime employment. Another rule would, I fear, disable many very useful men for the maritime service of the country (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

(3) As to disobedience to lawful command, it is an offence of the grossest kind; the ct. would be particularly attentive to preserve that subordination & discipline on board of ship which is so indispensably necessary for the preservation of the whole service, & of every person concerned in it. It would not, therefore, be a peremptory or harsh one, or an overcharged manner in the exercise of authority, that will be ever held by this ct. to justify resistance. It will not be sufficient that there has been a want of that personal attention & civility which usually takes place on other occasions, & might be wished, generally, to attend the exercise of authority. The nature of the service requires, that those persons who engage in it should accommodate themselves to the circumstances attending it (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

(4) If a master chose to turn a mariner on shore, without cause, in a foreign country, the mere refusal to go would of itself justify an improper discharge (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—ROBINETT v. THE EXETER (1799), 2 Ch. Rob. 261; 165 E. R. 309.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. The Roebuck (1874), 31 L. T. 274; The Macleod (1880), 5 P. D. 254. As to (3) Consd. The Blake (1839), 1 Wm. Rob. 73. Generally, Refd. The British Trade, [1924] P. 104.

866. ——.]—(1) In an action against the captain of an E. I. C. ship for personal damage on the ground of excessive punishment:—Held: the justification was sufficiently established.

It does not appear to me that there is any doubtful question of law, arising upon the illegality of inflicting bodily correction upon offending mariners—such punishment being commensurate to the offence committed, being awarded by due authority, & being administered with due moderation (LORD STOWELL).

(2) In the punishment of a seaman for misconduct, previous acts ejusdem generis may be considered, & pleaded in justification.

(3) This ct will expect that seamen shall do their proper duty, & in a proper manner (LORD STOWELL).—THE LOWTHER CASTLE (1825), 1 Hag. Adm. 384; 166 E. R. 137.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The Sylph (1867), L. R. 2 A. & E. 24; Mersey Docks & Harbour Board v. Turner, The Zeta (1893), 63 L. J. P. 17.

867. ——.]—THE JUPITER, No. 711, ante.

868. To serve the ship—In river as well as at sea.]—THE PEARL (1804), 5 Ch. Rob. 224; 165 E. R. 756.

869. —— In favourable & adverse weather.]—THE NEPTUNE, No. 633, ante.

870. —— Threatened shipwreck.]—THE NEPTUNE, No. 633, ante.

SUB-SECT. 2.—AUTHORITY OF MASTER.

See 1894 Act, ss. 220–238.

871. General rule.]—The master of a merchant ship has authority over the mariners to enforce obedience to his lawful commands, for the navigation of the vessel & preservation of good order; &, in case of disobedience or disorderly conduct, may inflict corporal punishment, moderate & proportionate to the offence.—LAMB v. BURNETT (1831), 1 Cr. & J. 291; 1 Tyr. 265; 9 L. J. O. S. Ex. 55; 148 E. R. 1430.

Annotation:—Mentd. Penn v. Ward (1835), 2 Cr. M. & R. 338.

872. Basis of authority—Safety of navigation.]—THE LIMA, No. 728, ante.

873. Whether personal violence justified.]—THE LIMA, No. 728, ante.

874. Punishment—Corporal punishment—Extent of right to inflict.]—In a case of gross misbehaviour, the master of a merchant ship has a right to inflict corporal punishment upon the delinquent mariner; that right must be supported by the law of England, which is the proper authority for fixing the limits within which one subject of this realm has a right to inflict corporal suffering upon another (LORD STOWELL).—THE AGINCOURT (1824), 1 Hag. Adm. 271; 166 E. R. 96.

Annotations:—Apld. The Lowther Castle (1825), 1 Hag. Adm. 384. Refd. The Sylph (1867), L. R. 2 A. & E. 24, R. v. City of London Court Judge, [1892] 1 Q. B. 273; Mersey Docks & Harbour Board v. Turner, The Zeta (1893); 63 L. J. P. 17.

875. —— —— ——.]—THE LOWTHER CASTLE, No. 866, ante.

876. —— —— ——.]—LAMB v. BURNETT, No. 871, ante.

877. —— —— ——.]—FRANCIS v. HUTCHINSON (1841), 7 L. T. 224.

878. —— —— ——.]—CARNAGHAM v. DAVIDSON (1852), 7 L. T. 224.

879. —— Evidence of previous acts ejusdem generis.]—THE LOWTHER CASTLE, No. 866, ante.

880. —— By local authority in foreign port—Offence committed on board—Master instigating action of local authority.]—The commander of an English merchant ship lying in a port of a foreign state sent a seaman, who had committed mutiny on board the ship, ashore, in custody of the soldiers of the port, & procured him to be flogged & imprisoned by the local authorities:—Held: the captain was answerable in trespass for what was done on shore, he having taken an active part in instigating & promoting the proceedings.—AITKEN v. BEDWELL (1827), Mood. & M. 68, N. P.

881. —— Previous institution of inquiry—Entry of inquiry in log.]—It is the duty of the captain of a merchant vessel, in case of misconduct of one of the crew, previously to the infliction of punishment, to institute inquiry, with

---

PART III. SECT. 10, SUB-SECT. 2.

873 i. Whether personal violence justified.]—Although the master of a ship may take all reasonable means to preserve discipline, where, to enforce an order given by him, he unnecessarily lays hands on a member of the crew (a woman) he is technically guilty of an assault on her.—LOUPIDES v. THE CALDERIS (1921), 20 Exch. C. R. 331.—CAN.

873 ii. ——.]—In an action by a seaman against the owners of a vessel on which he was employed for damages on account of an assault committed upon him by the master of the vessel, the pursuer averred that the master "acting in the course of his employment, & in defenders' interest," came into the forecastle, where the pursuer was lying ill, & in order to compel him to proceed with his work, pulled him from his berth & dragged him on deck, whereby his illness was aggravated:—Held: pursuer's averments disclosed that the master was acting in the course of his employment, & defenders were not responsible to the pursuer for an injury caused by the fault of his fellow-servant.—DOWNIE v. CONNELL BROTHERS, LTD., [1910] S. C. 781.—SCOT.

874 i. Punishment — Corporal punishment—Extent of right to inflict.]—Where a seaman having mutinied & incited the rest of the crew to mutiny, the captain ordered him to be placed in irons & afterwards to be flogged which was done, & the seaman, on arrival of the ship at Quebec brought action of damages against the captain:—Held the latter had the right of punishment so practised by him, & the action was dismissed.—THE COLDSTREAM (1832), S. R. C. 518.—CAN.

874 ii. —— —— ——.]—GORDON v. GORDON (1867), 7 N. S. R. (1 G. & O.) 80.—CAN.

874 iii. —— —— ——.]—The master of a ship is entitled to chastise an apprentice, & the ct. on a claim for damages being made on the apprentice's behalf, will not inquire whether the master was right or wrong, provided his act was truly an act of chastisement, & not an act of wanton cruelty.—WIGHTS v. BURNS (1883), 11 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 217; 21 Sc. L. R. 160.—SCOT.

a. Right to reduce mate in rank.]—

Sect. 10.—Discipline: Sub-sects. 2 & 3, A. & B. (a) & (b).]

the assistance of others, & to have the result entered in the log.—MURRAY v. MOUTRIE (1834), 6 C. & P. 471; 172 E. R. 1324, N. P.

882. —— Controlled by exigencies of occasion.]—The master has no authority to inflict punishment, except what the exigencies of any occasion demand.—SAVORY v. BURNETT (1854), 6 L. T. 557.

883. To disrate seaman.]—THE HIGHLAND CHIEF, No. 759, ante.

884. Death of master — Chief mate succeeding —Crew bound to accept chief mate as master—Although foreigner.]—In an action for wages by a seaman against the shipowner, plea, after setting out the ship's articles between H. the master & pltf. & others, that H. died, & S. the chief mate became & was master; & that, while S. was such master, pltf. was guilty of mutiny. Replication, admitting the ship's articles & the death of H., & that S. became & was master, concluded "de injuria absque residuo causae":—Held: under this replication, pltf. could not show that S. was a foreigner, & incompetent to be master of the ship under 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 54, s. 12.

Semble: if the master of a ship dies on the voyage, & the chief mate succeeds him in the command, the crew are bound by the ship's articles, though such chief mate is a foreigner.—RENNO v. BENNETT (1842), 3 Q. B. 768; 3 Gal. & Dav. 54; 12 L. J. Q. B. 17; 6 Jur. 992; 114 E. R. 702.

——.]—Compare No. 792, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 3.—OFFENCES AGAINST DISCIPLINE.

A. In General.

See 1894 Act, ss. 220–238, 376–384.

885. Application of statutory provisions as to discipline—Only to registered British ships.]—The sects. coming under the head of "Discipline" in 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, have reference to British ships alone. One of these, sect. 257, renders liable to a penalty "every person who wilfully harbours or secretes any seaman or apprentice who has deserted from his ship":—Held: in order to convict an offender under this sect., it must be shown that the ship deserted from is a British ship; & that, inasmuch as by Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 19, "every British ship must be registered," "& no ship" thereby "required to be registered shall, unless registered, be recognised as a British ship," proof that the ship is registered must also be given, either by the production of the original register, or by an examined or certified copy of it, as required by sect. 107.—LEARY v. LLOYD (1860), 3 E. & E. 178; 29 L. J. M. C. 194; 3 L. T. 210; 24 J. P. 662; 6 Jur. N. S. 1246; 121 E. R. 409.

Annotations:—Consd. Poll v. Dambe, [1901] 2 K. B. 579. Reld. The Tagus (1902), 87 L. T. 598.

886. —— "Sea going ships" — Summary punishment for offences.]—Resp. was engaged on a screw steamer, of about 142 tons gross tonnage, registered as a British ship at the port of Liverpool. She was exclusively used to carry salt upon the rivers Weaver & Mersey from Winsford to Liverpool where it was transferred to ocean going vessels. Her voyages, so far as they were upon the river Mersey, were in tidal waters, but did not extend in such tidal waters beyond the limits of the port of Liverpool:—Held: the ship was not a "sea going" ship within Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 109, &, therefore, that proceedings could not properly be taken against resp. under 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, s. 243.—SALT UNION v. WOOD, [1893] 1 Q. B. 370; 62 L. J. M. C. 75; 68 L. T. 92; 57 J. P. 201; 41 W. R. 301; 37 Sol. Jo. 195; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 281; 5 R. 176, D. C.

887. Naval court constituted under 1894 Act—Extent of powers—Whether limited to powers of punishment—Discharge of seaman.]—A naval ct. summoned under the provisions of 1894 Act in dealing with the offence of continued wilful disobedience by a seaman to lawful commands, may put in exercise all its statutory powers so far as they are applicable to the case, including the power to discharge the seaman from his ship, & is not limited to the powers of punishment conferred by the Act on a ct. of summary jurisdiction in respect of the same offence.

An order regularly made by a duly constituted naval ct. within the scope of its jurisdiction is conclusive in any subsequent legal proceedings of the rights of all the parties interested, whether they are parties to the proceedings before the naval ct. or not; consequently, where by such order a seaman is discharged from his ship, the order is a bar to a civil action by the seaman against the owner for wrongful dismissal, notwithstanding that the owner was not a party to the criminal proceedings.

Pltf., who was engaged on a ship for a term of three years, which covered the period of the Russo-Japanese war, on the arrival of the ship at Yokohama, refused to continue the voyage on the ground that the ship was carrying contraband of war. At the instance of the master a naval ct. was convened, which found pltf., with others of the crew, guilty of continued wilful disobedience to lawful commands & of insubordination prejudicial to the owners' interests, & rejected the men's plea with respect to the carriage of contraband; & the ct. discharged the men from the ship & forfeited their wages. In an action by pltf. against the owner for wrongful dismissal & for wages, it appeared that the ship was carrying contraband at the time of pltf.'s refusal to proceed:—Held: the order of the naval ct. was a bar to the action.—HUTTON v. RAS S.S. CO., LTD., [1907] 1 K. B. 834; 76 L. J. K. B. 562; 96 L. T. 515; 23 T. L. R.

---

Where a second mate is raised to the rank of chief mate by the master during the voyage, he may be ordered to his own rank by the master for incompetency, & thereupon the original contract will revive.—THE LYDIA 1837), 1 S. V. A. R. 136.—CAN.

b. Detention — Action for false imprisonment.]—The master of a steamer lying in Halifax harbour having cause to suspect pltf. of stealing, & having procured warrants to be issued against him, confined pltf. while the search was being made, in order to prevent him from communicating with the rest of the crew. An action for false imprisonment was brought:—Held: the master had acted within the scope of his authority.—LEITH v. TROTT (1863), 16 N. S. R. (4 R. & G.) 120.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 10, SUB-SECT. 3.—A.

c. Application of statutory provisions.]—On a petition for habeas corpus in a case of conviction under M. S. Act:—Held: 36 Vict. c. 129, s. 125, does not modify or limit sect. 124, so as to restrict the application of the Act in relation to ships in the merchant service of foreign countries to the offence of desertion only, but the whole provisions of such Act apply to such foreign vessel in so far as is consistent with existing treaties between Great Britain & foreign countries.—Ex p. JOHANSEN & NORDIN (1874), 18 L. C. J. 164.—CAN.

d. —— British ship in Canadian waters.]—The Orion, a British ship, being in Canadian waters, Imperial Shipping Act, 1894, Part 2 (ss. 220–238), relating to discipline, have no application.—R. v. OLSEN (B. C.) (1906), 4 W. L. R. 108.—CAN.

e. —— Necessity for stating that act charged wilfully committed.]—R. v. BRIDGES (1907), 13 B. C. R. 67.—CAN.

f. —— To British India.]—M. S. Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 243 (b), has no application to British India. The Act applicable to cases of continued wilful disobedience of lawful commands by 295; 50 Sol. Jo. 95; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 386; 12 Com. Cas. 231, C. A.; affg. (1905), 94 L. T. 645.

Annotations:—Refd. Caine v. Palace Shipping Co. (1906), 22 T. L. R. 816. Mentd. Hill v. Clifford, Clifford v. Timms, Clifford v. Phillips, [1907] 2 Ch. 236.

888. —— Order of court—Operation as estoppel—Subsequent action by discharged seamen for wages.]—HUTTON v. RAS S.S. CO., LTD., No. 887, ante.

Limits of criminal jurisdiction—Offences committed on seas & rivers.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XIV., pp. 137–141, NOS. 1090–1139.

B. Nature of Offences.

(a) In General.

See 1894 Act, ss. 220, 225, 237, 376; 1896 Act, s. 82 (1), Marine Insurance Act, 1906 (c. 41), Sched. I. (1).

889. Wilful negligence.]—ROBINETT v. THE EXETER, No. 865, ante.

890. Misconduct endangering ship—Act tending to loss or destruction.]—To sustain an indictment for a misdemeanour under Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 239, it is not necessary that the act done or omitted should be followed by actual loss, destruction, or damage.

If the act tended to the loss, destruction or damage of the ship though neither result followed, it is a misdemeanour within this sect., as if a man should stick a lighted candle in an uncovered barrel of gunpowder, though he put it out immediately, I think that would be an act tending to the damage of the ship. . . . Two persons being together in the immediate neighbourhood of an explosive & unprotected material & one lighting a candle, & the other omitting to put it out, the first would be guilty under the former clause of the sect., & the second under the latter (BRAMWELL, B.).—R. v. GARDNER (1859), 1 F. & F. 669.

891. —— Omission to do act for preserving ship—No look out kept.]—Where a ship comes into collision with another vessel as the result either of the act of the master in placing the look-out man in such a position on deck that his view ahead is partially obstructed, or of the failure of the look-out man to keep a good look out, neither the act of the master nor the neglect of the look-out man is a neglect of duty of the kind contemplated by 1894 Act, s. 220.—DEACON v. EVANS, [1911] 1 K. B. 571; 80 L. J. K. B. 385; 104 L. T. 99; 75 J. P. 162; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 550, D. C.

892. Refusal to serve—Agreement to serve—Articles not signed.]—By Reg. 39A of the Defence of the Realm Regulations Consolidated, 1917, "If a person lawfully engaged to serve on board any ship or vessel belonging to or chartered, hired, or requisitioned by the Admlty. or Army Council . . . neglects or refuses without reasonable excuse to join his ship or vessel . . . he shall be guilty of an offence. . . ." Where a seaman has agreed to serve on a requisitioned ship & to proceed to a port to sign articles thereon & afterwards refuses to carry out the agreement:—Held: the fact that he has not signed articles does not prevent him from being "lawfully engaged" & from being liable to be convicted under above regulation for refusing to join his ship.—HAWS v. BROWN (1917), 87 L. J. K. B. 124; 117 L. T. 408; 81 J. P. 300; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 164; 26 Cox, C. C. 21, D. C.

Offences on the high seas—Piracy & slave trade.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., pp. 724–728.

Larceny from ships, docks, etc.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., pp. 899, 900, Nos. 9865–9869.

Trade disputes—Proceedings under Conspiracy & Protection of Property Act, 1875 (c. 86).]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., pp. 768, 769, Nos. 8237, 8238.

(b) Drunkenness and Insubordination.

See 1894 Act, ss. 220, 376.

893. Drunkenness—Habitual drunkenness & single acts of intemperance distinguished.]—ROBINETT v. THE EXETER, No. 865, ante.

894. —— —— Master.]—THE ROEBUCK, No. 735, ante.

—— Forfeiture of wages.]—See Sect. 4, subsect. 3, E., ante.

895. Insubordination.]—ROBINETT v. THE EXETER, No. 865, ante.

896. —— Refusal to return to ships with captain—Forfeiture of offenders property on board.]—Where the second mate of a vessel was ordered with three other seamen to take the ship's boat & convey the captain on board, who had gone on shore at the Mauritius, & on their getting on shore they refused to return with him, but remained there all night, & he was obliged to get back to his ship in another boat, & redeem his own on the following morning: when such mate was taken before a magistrate at the Mauritius, & committed to prison for a month:—Held: this was such an act of disobedience as to warrant the captain to detain his property on board the vessel by way of forfeiture, & consequently that trover could not be maintained against the captain for such detention.—WEATHERPEN v. LAIDLER (1823), 8 Moore, C. P. 37.

897. —— Duty of captain immediately to discharge seaman—Where facility for replacement.]—THE EALING GROVE, No. 708, ante.

898. —— Officer directly or indirectly promoting—Right of owner to dismiss.]—The owners of a vessel have a right to dismiss an officer who directly or indirectly promotes insubordination, & such officer has no right to wages otherwise due to him by agreement after such dismissal.—THE MARINA (1881), 50 L. J. P. 33; 29 W. R. 508.

899. —— Wilful disobedience—Question of fact.]—Applt. was the representative of the Neptune Navigation co., & resps. were seamen employed as firemen on the ss. Pennine Range, which belonged to that co. Resps. were summoned upon an information that on May 18, 1908, being seamen engaged on the Pennine Range when on the high seas, they had been guilty of wilful disobedience to a lawful command contrary to 1894 Act, s. 225. When the ss. Pennine Range was two days out from Las Palmas on a homeward voyage, resps. were ordered by the engineer to clean out the engine room. They refused to do so, saying that they were tired. The captain then sent for them, & explained the penalty that might be imposed upon them for refusing to obey a lawful command, & gave them twenty-four hours to consider the matter, but sailors is Act 1 of 1859, s. 83, cl. 5 (c).—Re REARDON (1875), 8 Mad. 85.—IND.

---

g. —— To imposition of punishments.]—Shipping & Seamen Act (Imperial), s. 771, did not authorise the imposition of punishments expressly prohibited by New Zealand Legislature, 1909 Act, s. 94.—Re MULVANEY, [1928] N. Z. L. R. 129.—N.Z.

PART III. SECT. 10, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (b).

h. Insubordination — Refusal to obey order on Sunday.]—MARSHALL v. FOSTER (1898), 24 V. L. R. 155.—AUS.

k. —— Continued refusal to obey commands—Unless proper rate of wages was paid.]—BIDWELL v. ABBOTT, Ex p. ABBOTT, [1926] S. R. Q. 196.—AUS.

l. —— ——.]—R. v. GOODREW (1915), I. L. R. 39 Bom. 558.—IND.

m. —— —— Justification of disobedience—Increased risk in war time.]

Sect. 10.—Discipline: Sub-sect. 3, B. (b) & (c) i. & ii.]

they again said they were too tired, & did not do the work of cleaning. Evidence was given that other steamships of the same kind & about the same tonnage & horse power as the Pennine Range carried eight or more firemen, & that to command the six resps. to clean the engine room in the circumstances was unreasonable. The magistrate found as facts—(a) that cleaning the engine room at the time of the command to do so was necessary work & proper for firemen; (b) that resps. were then physically capable of performing the work; (c) that they were then tired by their ordinary work; (d) that by not cleaning the engine room when ordered to clean it they disobeyed a lawful command; but he doubted whether in the circumstances resps. had been guilty of "wilful disobedience" within 1894 Act, & he gave them the benefit of the doubt & dismissed the information:—Held: it was impossible to say as a matter of law that resps'. refusal was wilful, & the question being a question of fact for the magistrate this ct. would not interfere.—CAROE v. BAYLISS (1908), 72 J. P. 525; 25 T. L. R. 22, D. C.

900. —— —— Where command disobeyed unreasonable.]—Seamen signed articles as members of a crew of sixteen men. This number was subsequently reduced to fifteen. Some of the seamen thereupon refused to go to sea on the ground that fifteen men were insufficient to man the lifeboats or to keep an adequate look out. An information having been preferred against these men under 1894 Act, s. 225 (1) (b), for wilfully disobeying a lawful command, the magistrate found that the command ordering them to go to sea was unreasonable, inasmuch as the perils of the voyage had been increased by the reduction in the crew, & dismissed the information:—Held: since the magistrate had found that the command to go to sea was unreasonable for the reasons above stated, it was an unlawful command, & consequently resps. could not be guilty of "wilful disobedience to a lawful command" within 1894 Act, s. 225 (1) (b).—O'REILLY v. DRYMAN (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 492; 114 L. T. 613; 80 J. P. 79; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 298; 25 Cox, C. C. 334, D. C.

—— Forfeiture of wages.]—See Sect. 4, sub-sect. 3, D., ante.

(c) Desertion or Absence Without Leave.

i. In General.

See 1894 Act, ss. 221, 228, 376–384; 1906 Act, s. 65.

901. What constitutes desertion—Quitting ship before end of run—Not necessarily desertion.]—FELL v. THE DOROTHY (1766), Burrell, 9; 167 E. R. 447.

902. —— Unjustifiable abandonment of duty—By leaving ship.]—THE WESTMORLAND, No. 569, ante.

903. —— —— No animus revertendi.]—There can be no total desertion without an intention absolutely to quit, which is to be inferred from the circumstances. If there be absence from the ship with an animus revertendi, whatever may be the duration of this absence, that is provided for by 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 19, s. 7, & it is not desertion forfeiting the whole of the wages (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE TWO SISTERS (1843), 2 Wm. Rob. 125; 2 Notes of Cases, 420; 6 L. T. 371; 7 Jur. 861; 166 E. R. 702.

Annotation:—Apld. The Roebuck (1874), 31 L. T. 274.

904. —— —— ——.]—THE ROEBUCK, No. 735, ante.

905. —— Remaining ashore after further leave refused—Subsequent offer to return to duty.]—If seamen go on shore on the ship's duty, & when the boat is about to return request to be permitted to remain on shore to get some victuals, which is refused, & the boat goes without them; if they afterwards go & offer to return to their duty on board the ship, it is not a desertion.—SIGARD v. ROBERTS (1799), 3 Esp. 71; 170 E. R. 542, N. P.

906. —— Leaving ship because of inhuman treatment.]—LIMLAND v. STEPHENS, No. 700, ante.

907. —— ——.]—Where a seaman serving on board a British registered merchant ship was flogged & punished by the captain & officers with great & unreasonable cruelty & severity, & had just & reasonable cause to apprehend that the captain & officers would continue to flog & punish him with such great & unreasonable cruelty & severity:—Held: he was justified in leaving the ship, & he was not thereby guilty of desertion within 7 & 8 Vict. c. 112.—EDWARD v. TREVELLICK (1854), 4 E. & B. 59; 2 C. L. R. 1605; 24 L. J. Q. B. 9; 23 L. T. O. S. 208; 18 J. P. 680; 1 Jur. N. S. 110; 2 W. R. 586; 119 E. R. 23.

908. —— Leaving ship because of shortage of provisions.]—THE CASTILIA, No. 587, ante.

909. —— Refusal to return when ordered.]—THE BULMER, No. 707, ante.

910. —— Request to accede to unauthorised demand.]—THE COUNTESS OF HARCOURT, No. 591, ante.

911. —— Failure to return owing to drunkenness.]—THE EALING GROVE, No. 708, ante.

912. —— ——.]—BUTTON v. THOMPSON, No. 632, ante.

913. —— Engaging on another ship.]—THE JUPITER, No. 711, ante.

914. —— —— In King's service.]—THE AMPHITRITE, No. 965, post.

915. —— Negative definition in articles—Absence for less than twenty-four hours.]—THE AMPHITRITE, No. 965, post.

916. —— Insubordinate acts—Refusal to perform work.]—THE WESTMORLAND, No. 569, ante.

917. —— Going on shore to obtain legal advice.]—THE WESTMORLAND, No. 569, ante.

918. —— Leaving ship because unseaworthy.]—THE ELLERSLIE, DAVIDSON v. TODHUNTER (1855), 8 L. T. 803.

919. —— Leaving ship to give evidence against captain—Under instruction of consul.]—A. signed articles as chief mate of a ship for a foreign voyage, not to exceed twelve months, wages 5 guineas a month. When he had served six months, & was at sea, the steward charged the captain with having stabbed him, whereupon he (captain) was, with the assent of A. put in irons & taken to Lisbon. The consul there having investigated the matter, sent the captain, together with A. & three sailors as witnesses, from Lisbon to England;

—HARRIS v. BENCE, SULLIVAN v. MCFARLANE (1915), 34 N. Z. L. R. 628.—N.Z.

PART III. SECT. 10, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (c) i.

918 i. What constitutes desertion—Leaving ship because unseaworthy.]—THE BRENDA (1855), 8 L. T. 803.—SCOT.

n. —— Quitting ship before end of run.]—COX v. LO FOOK, LO LOCK & HO POO (1906), 2 Tas. L. R. 53.—AUS.

o. —— —— Whether right to wages forfeited.]—SEWARD v. RATTER (1884), 12 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 222; 22 Sc. L. R. 173.—SCOT.

p. —— —— Agreement for twelve months certain.]—R. v. THE QUEEN, [1921] 3 W. W. R. 123; 30 B. C. R. 256.—CAN.

q. —— Absence on shore without but on the matter being brought before a metropolitan police magistrate, he, on hearing the evidence, discharged the captain. A. having under 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, laid a complaint before the justices of Sunderland for wages due by the owner of the ship to A. up to the time of leaving it at Lisbon, the owner resisted on the ground, first, that he (A.) deserted the ship by leaving her at Lisbon, & secondly, of his misconduct in being a party to the putting the captain in irons on a groundless charge. The justices having overruled these objections, & made an order for payment of the wages :—Held : the order was good.—CROSS v. HYNE (1868), 18 L. T. 474 ; 16 W. R. 967 ; 3 Mar. L. C. 80 ; sub nom. HYNE v. CROSS, 32 J. P. 566.

920. Evidence of desertion—Proof of agreement of service.]—Resistance to a claim for seaman's wages on a plea of desertion, not sustained ; upon a failure of proof by the owners as to the time of service.—THE GEORGE (1823), 1 Hag. Adm. 168, n. ; 166 E. R. 60.

921. —— Refusal of master to certify for wages of crew.]—THE FREDERICK, No. 813, ante.

922. —— Certificate of consul — Obtained by master without notice to seaman.]—LEWIS v. JEWHURST, No. 717, ante.

923. Summary proceedings—Exclusive of civil remedy for damage.]—17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, s. 243, which enables a seaman who neglects without reasonable cause to join his ship to be punished upon proceedings before a ct. of summary jurisdiction with imprisonment & forfeiture of part of his wages, by implication takes away any other remedy against the seaman for the breach of contract, & the shipowner cannot, where the amount which he claims does not exceed £10, take proceedings for the recovery of damages under Employers & Workmen Act, 1875 (c. 90), s. 4.—GREAT NORTHERN FISHING CO. v. EDGEHILL (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 225, D. C.

Annotation :—Reld. Salt Union v. Wood (1893), 62 L. J. M. C. 75.

See, now, 1894 Act, ss. 226, 377.

924. —— Conviction as for disobedience to lawful command—1894 Act, s. 376 (1), (a), (b), (d).]—A seaman may be convicted of the offence of wilfully disobeying a lawful command of the master, under above Act, s. 376 (1) (d), although the act of disobedience amounts to the offence of desertion or absence without leave under above Act, s. 376 (1) (a) or (b).—EDGILL v. ALWARD (J. & G.), LTD., [1902] 2 K. B. 239 ; 71 L. J. K. B. 690 ; 87 L. T. 121 ; 66 J. P. 760 ; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 341 ; 20 Cox, C. C. 302, D. C.

Forfeiture of wages for desertion.]—See Sect. 4, sub-sect. 3, C., ante.

ii. Enticing to Desert or Harbouring Deserters.

See 1894 Act, s. 236.

925. Offence must relate to British ships.] — LEARY v. LLOYD, No. 885, ante.

926. ——.]—POLL v. DAMBE, No. 10, ante.

927. Who is seaman—No written agreement for service.]—A seaman engaged by the master of a vessel, & taken to sea without any such written agreement having been entered into between them as is rendered necessary by 7 & 8 Vict. c. 112, s. 2, is not a seaman or mariner within 11 & 12 Will. 3, c. 7, s. 9, & therefore is not liable under that sect. for making a revolt, by deserting his vessel in port, & inducing the rest of the crew to do the same.—R. v. SMITH (1848), 12 J. P. 762 ; 3 Cox, C. C. 443.

928. Institution of proceedings — "Parties to proceedings" out of United Kingdom—Who are such parties.]—17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, s. 287, makes it an offence to persuade or attempt to persuade any seaman to neglect or refuse to join or to desert from his ship ; by sect. 525 no conviction for any offence shall be made under this Act in any summary proceeding, unless such proceeding is commenced within six months after the commission of the offence ; or if both or either of the parties to such proceeding happen during such time to be out of the United Kingdom, unless the same is commenced within two months after they both first happen to arrive or to be at one time within the same :—Held : "parties to the proceeding" meant the seaman & the person persuading or attempting to persuade, & if either of them leaves the kingdom during the six months after the commission of the offence, an information may be laid within two months of his return ; the offence might be committed, although the formalities required by sect. 150 in the engagement of the seaman had not been complied with.—AUSTIN v. OLSEN (1868), L. R. 3 Q. B. 208 ; 9 B. & S. 46 ; 37 L. J. M. C. 34 ; 17 L. T. 537 ; 32 J. P. 183 ; 16 W. R. 426 ; 3 Mar. L. C. 52.

929. —— Statutory formalities as to engagement of seaman not complied with.]—AUSTIN v. OLSEN, No. 928, ante.

930. —— Under Conspiracy & Protection of Property Act, 1875 (c. 86)—Offence against seamen.]—Conspiracy & Protection of Property Act, 1875, c. 86, s. 16, means only that the punishments prescribed by the Act are not to fall on seamen. The case of an offence against a seaman by a person who is not a seaman is therefore not excluded from the Act by this sect.—KENNEDY v. COWIE, [1891] 1 Q. B. 771 ; 60 L. J. M. C. 170 ; 64 L. T. 598 ; 55 J. P. 680 ; 39 W. R. 686 ; 7 T. L. R. 474 ; 17 Cox, C. C. 320, D. C.

931. —— —— ——.]—A federation of shipowners which was not qualified under 1894 Act, s. 111, by licence or otherwise to engage or supply seamen to be entered on any ship in the United Kingdom, provided a depot ship for men intending to serve as seamen on ships in the United Kingdom belonging to members of the federation. Certain men were on board the depot ship, & had entered into engagements with the federation to remain on board until engaged to serve as seamen on such eave.]—THE VENOSTA v. COLLIERS, 1925] Exch. C. R. 212.—CAN.

---

r. Justification for desertion—Agreement not containing statutory provisions.]—If an agreement for service by a seaman does not contain the particulars required by the Mercantile Act, 1850, s. 46, a seaman's desertion is justifiable or, at any rate he is not liable to summary punishment, under sect. 70.—Re MERCANTILE MARINE ACT ; Ex p. SMITH (1852), 19 L. T. O. S. 39.—AUS.

t. —— Suspicious conduct of owners as to wages agreement.]—PORTEOUS v. THE LIGHTNING (Y. T.) (1905), 2 W. L. R. 199.—CAN.

a. Who may institute proceedings—Captain.]—M'NAUGHTON v. ALLHUSEN & Co. (1847), 10 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 236 ; 20 Sc. Jur. 68.—SCOT.

PART III. SECT. 10, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (c) ii.

927 i. Who is seaman—No written agreement for service.]—A., a storekeeper on a homeward bound vessel, was on her arrival formally discharged, but verbally re-engaged to act in that capacity for the vessel's next voyage, & also to remain by her & to attend to the stores while she lay in harbour. Before he had signed articles for the voyage, an attempt was made to induce him to leave the vessel by a delegate of a seamen's union. The delegate on being convicted of an offence under M. S. Act, 1854, s. 257, appealed to the High Ct. of Justiciary on the ground that A. was not a "seaman" within sect. 2 of the Act because he had not signed articles :—Held : A. was a seaman in the sense of the Act, & appeal dismissed.—THOMSON v. HART (1890), 18 R. (Ct. of Sess.) (J.) 3 ; 28 Sc. L. R. 28.—SCOT.

b. When offence complete—Seaman not "lawfully engaged."]—BELL v. MANSFIELD (1893), 19 V. L. R. 165.—AUS.

c. Necessity to show on face of

Sect. 10.—Discipline: Sub-sect. 3, B. (c) ii., C. & D. Sect. 11: Sub-sects. 1 & 2, A.] ships, receiving in the meantime certain daily wages & rations from the federation. Resps., with a view to compel these men to abstain from remaining on board the depot ship & fulfilling the engagements, wrongfully & without legal authority beset the deposit ship & the approach thereto. An information having been laid against resps. under Conspiracy & Protection of Property Act, 1875 (c. 86), s. 7 (4):—Held: they ought to be convicted inasmuch as, though fulfilling the engagements might not be an act which the men had a legal right to do within that sub-sect., remaining on board the depot ship & receiving the wages & rations were such acts; &, it was immaterial for the purposes of the sub-sect. that the relationship of master & servant did not exist between the federation & the men.—FARMER v. WILSON (1900), 69 L. J. Q. B. 496; 82 L. T. 566; 64 J. P. 486; 16 T. L. R. 309; 44 Sol. Jo. 363; 19 Cox, C. C. 502, D. C.

932. —— —— Offence by seaman.]—KENNEDY v. COWIE, No. 930, ante.

933. —— —— —— Meaning of "seaman."]—Persons who follow the sea as a calling are not "seamen" within the exception contained in sect. 16 of above Act, unless they are actually employed or engaged on board ship within the meaning of the definition of "seaman" contained in Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 2, an indictment for intimidation under sect. 7 of above Act, will therefore lie against persons not so employed or engaged.—R. v. LYNCH & JONES, [1898] 1 Q. B. 61; 67 L. J. Q. B. 59; 77 L. T. 568; 46 W. R. 205; 14 T. L. R. 78; 42 Sol. Jo. 83; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 363; 18 Cox, C. C. 677, C. C. R.

934. When offence complete—Seaman engaged but articles not signed.]—By 1894 Act, s. 113, the master of every ship, except as therein mentioned, shall enter into an agreement with every seaman whom he carries to sea as one of his crew from any port in the United Kingdom. By 1894 Act, s. 114, the agreement is to be in the form approved by the Board of Trade & is to be dated & signed as therein directed.

By 1894 Act, s. 236, if a person by any means whatever persuades or attempts to persuade a seaman or apprentice to neglect or refuse to join or proceed to sea in or to desert from his ship, he shall be liable to a penalty.

A seaman was engaged to serve as a seaman on a British ship. After he was so engaged, but before he had signed any agreement under 1894 Act, s. 113, a person attempted to persuade him to refuse to join the ship:—Held: the person could properly be convicted of attempting to persuade the seaman to refuse to join "his ship" although at the time of the attempt no agreement had been signed.—VICKERSON v. CROWE, [1914] 1 K. B. 462; 83 L. J. K. B. 469; 110 L. T. 425; 78 J. P. 88; 30 T. L. R. 111; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 446; 24 Cox, C. C. 122, D. C.

Annotation:—Apld. Haws v. Brown (1917), 81 J. P. 300.

C. Entry of Offences.

See 1894 Act, ss. 228–231; 1906 Act, ss. 28, 36, 49.

935. Entry in log—Seaman deserting in foreign port—1906 Act, s. 28.]—COLBOURNE v. LAWRENCE, No. 665, ante.

D. Penalties.

See 1894 Act, ss. 221, 225, 227, 232, 234–237, 376, 378.

936. Agreement providing for penalties other than statutory—Ultra vires.]—MERCANTILE S.S. Co. v. HALL, No. 573, ante.

Loss of right to wages.]—See Sect. 4, sub-sect. 3, ante.

---

SECT. 11.—DISCHARGE.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See 1894 Act, ss. 127–130; 1906 Act, ss. 30–33, 36.

937. Authority of master.]—ROBINETT v. THE EXETER, No. 865, ante.

938. ——.]—THE PEARL (1804), 5 Ch. Rob. 224; 165 E. R. 756.

939. Discharge abroad—Whether consent of seaman necessary.]—By the general rule, a master is not at liberty to discharge his crew in a foreign port without their own consent, but circumstances may vest in him an authority to do so, upon proper conditions.—THE ELIZABETH (1819), 2 Dods. 403; 165 E. R. 1527.

Annotations:—Consd. The Olympic, [1913] P. 92; Horlock v. Beal, [1916] 1 A. C. 486; The British Trade, [1924] P. 104.

—— Proceedings for penalty.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., p. 762, Nos. 8190, 8191.

940. Discharge of foreign seaman in England—Right to return money.]—(1) Foreign seamen engaged for a voyage out & home, are entitled, upon being discharged in this country against their own consent, to receive out of the proceeds of the ship passage money for their return home; not so seamen engaged during the course of the voyage.

(2) Seamen forced to provide themselves, the ship's provisions being exhausted, are entitled to board wages out of the proceeds of the ship.—THE SAN JOSE PRIMEIRO (1860), 3 L. T. 513; 1 Mar. L. C. 5.

941. —— ——.]—Foreign seamen discharged in Great Britain, & who recover wages in a suit against a foreign ship in which they served, are not entitled as of course to their passage money home, but will obtain it when their consul certifies they have gone or are about to go home. Semble: their shipping in another vessel as seamen, even for the voyage home, would disentitle them.—THE RAFFAELLUCCIA (1877), 37 L. T. 365; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 505.

Annotation:—Reld. The Tagus (1902), 19 T. L. R. 82.

942. Sale of ship abroad—Right of seaman to complete voyage.]—On a contract to employ pltf. on board a particular ship, on certain specified voyages:—Held: a breach, to sell the ship before those voyages are completed without procuring him similar employment on board that particular vessel.—DRISCOLL v. AUSTRALIAN ROYAL MAIL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1859), 1 F. & F. 458, N. P.

---

proceedings—Consent of both parties or foreign consul to prosecute.]—Re FRASER, R. v. BLAIR & STAPLETON (1884), 24 N. B. R. 245.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 10, SUB-SECT. 3.—C.

d. Entry in log—"Wilfully & intentionally disobeying orders"—Whether action lies against master for bonâ fide entry.]—HILL v. THOMSON (1892), 19 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 377; 29 Sc. L. R. 317.—SCOT.

PART III. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 1.

937 i. Authority of master.]—CHAN A. FOOK v. THE SEQUOIA (1921), 16 Hong Kong L. R. 7.—HONG KONG.

937 ii. ——.]—A master of a vessel is justified in dismissing a seaman for a single act of grave misconduct, such as attempting to kill or do grievous bodily harm to a petty officer.—MINISTER OF MARINE v. BRISCOE, MACNEIL & Co. (1899), 18 N. Z. L. R. 722.—N.Z.

943. Certificate — As to discharge — Refusal to give—Whether action lies.]—An action will not lie for the refusal to give to a seaman the certificate of discharge directed to be given by 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, s. 172, the only remedy for such refusal being the penalty provided by that sect.—VALLANCE v. FALLE (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 109; 53 L. J. Q. B. 459; 51 L. T. 158; 48 J. P. 519; 32 W. R. 770; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 280, D. C.

Annotation:—Mentd. Groves v. Wimborne, [1898 2 Q. B. 402.

944. —— —— —— Penalty for refusal.]—VALLANCE v. FALLE, No. 943, ante.

—— As to character—Forgery.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., p. 1065, No. 12,057.

945. Disagreement as to interpretation of agreement—Vessel to be taken only to "places of safety"—Interpretation question for judge.]—JOHNSON v. UNION LIGHTERAGE CO. (1924), 18 Lloyd, L. R. 418, D. C.

Discharge of master.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 114, 115, Nos. 189–192.

---

SUB-SECT. 2.—WRONGFUL DISMISSAL.

A. Claim for Compensation.

See 1894 Act, s. 162.

946. Right to compensation.]—Compensation granted for improper dismissal of an engineer, £20.—CLEMENT v. AFRICAN S.S. CO. (1853), 6 L. T. 580.

947. —— Method of assessment.]—MITCHELL v. FOE (1866), cited in Maclachlan's Merchant Shipping, 5th ed. 239.

948. —— In addition to damages.]—THE JUSTITIA, No. 951, post.

949. —— Condition precedent — Discharge before commencement of voyage—Or improper discharge before one month's wages earned.]—Resp., a seaman, was engaged under an agreement in the prescribed form to serve on a ship on a voyage from Sunderland to Bilbao, & any other ports within certain degrees, & back to a port of discharge in the United Kingdom. The term of employment was not to exceed six months. The wages were stated to be at a monthly rate. The ship returned to Sunderland within twenty-three days, &, the voyage being thereupon terminated, resp. was duly discharged. Upon a summons issued by resp. against applt., the master, the justices held that he was entitled to compensation up to one month's wages for such discharge under Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 167, & notwithstanding any agreement:—Held: being properly discharged under his agreement, resp. was not entitled to the benefit of Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 167, since discharge before the commencement of the voyage, or an improper discharge before one month's wages have been

---

943 i. Certificate—As to discharge—Refusal to give—Whether action lies.]—In an action by a seaman against the owners of a vessel on which he was employed for damages in respect of the failure of the master of the vessel to grant a certificate to pursuer on his discharge at Colombo:—Held: the duty imposed by M. S. Act, 1894, s. 128 (1) & M. S. Act, 1906, s. 31, of granting a certificate of discharge to a seaman discharged at any place either within or out of the United Kingdom, is a duty laid upon the master alone, & he alone is responsible for failure to perform it, & action dismissed. — DOWNIE v. CONNELL BROTHERS, LTD., [1910] S. C. 781.—SCOT.

944 i. —— —— —— Penalty for refusal.]—BÉLANGER v. GAGNON (1905), Q. R. 14 K. B. 340.—CAN.

944 ii. —— ——.]—SMITH v. SUTCLIFFE, SUTCLIFFE v. SMITH (1908), 28 N. Z. L. R. 207.—N.Z.

e. Right to wages—During illness.]—JOHANSEN v. HUDDART, PARKER, LTD., [1922] V. L. R. 750.—AUS.

f. ——.]—Where a vessel on her voyage from Quebec to England, in Dec., encountered so much ice in the Gulf of the St. Lawrence that she was obliged to be run ashore in order to avoid total shipwreck, & the master prevailed upon the crew by representations that the boat was condemned, to accept their wages up to that period in full discharge, which they did, & signed receipts therefor, but afterwards brought action, alleging that no provision had been made for their sustenance or for their reaching any other Atlantic port by which they could get to England, & praying for their wages & the value of their board & lodging up to the first of June following, their board & lodging was allowed & wages up to the opening of navigation.—THE JANE (1846), 1 R. de L. 355.—CAN.

g. Refusal of marine superintendent to allow discharges—Repugnancy between Imperial Act and Federal Act.]—UNION S.S. CO. OF NEW ZEALAND, LTD. v. THE COMMONWEALTH (1925), 36 C. L. R. 130; 31 Argus L. R. 269.—AUS.

h. Grounds for discharge — Food insufficient & unwholesome.]—Where seamen brought action to be discharged from their engagement on account of the insufficiency & unwholesomeness of the provisions supplied:—Held: unless the master was satisfied that he had the means of properly providing for the men, they should be discharged.—THE RECOVERY (1837), 1 S. V. A. R. 128.—CAN.

k. —— Whether death of master & substitution of mate.]—The death of the master & substitution of the mate in his place does not operate as a discharge of the seamen.—THE BRUNSWICK (1837), 1 S. V. A. R. 139.—CAN.

l. —— Illness of seaman]—When a seaman can safely proceed on his voyage he is not entitled to his discharge by reason of illness.—THE TWEED (1837), 1 S. V. A. R. 132.—CAN.

m. —— Immorality or intemperance of master.]—Immorality or intemperance of master is not alone a sufficient ground for dismissal.—THE BELLA MUDGE (1878), Y. A. D. 222.—CAN.

n. —— Insolvency of owners of ship.]—The insolvency of the owners does not ipso facto put an end to the functions of the master He must be dismissed by their assignee.—THE JEAN ANDERSON (1879), Y. A. D. 244.—CAN.

o. —— Ill-usage.]—A seaman is not entitled to his discharge & wages under Rev. Stat. Can. cap. 74, s. 58, where the ill-usage was a blow on the face with the fist, accompanied with very abusive language.—Ex p. LOWERY (1893), 32 N. B. R. 76.—CAN.

p. —— Ship unseaworthy.]—THE LAUREL WHALEN, [1919] N. Z. L. R. 343.—N.Z.

q. Reasonableness of alleged custom at Vancouver.]—There is no custom at the port of Vancouver that masters of tug-boats & small coasting vessels may on the one hand be discharged without notice, & on the other, leave their employer's service in the same manner, in either case receiving their wages to the date of termination of the service; & if there were such custom the ct. would refuse to enforce it on the ground of unreasonableness.—ROBERTS v. THE TARTAR (1908), 13 B. C. R. 474.—CAN.

r. Whether shipping master has discretion — Captain consenting to discharge.]—Where the captain of a ship consents to the discharge of a seaman, who also desires to be discharged, the shipping master has no discretion in the matter, but is bound to sanction the discharge of the seaman under M. S. Acts, 1854 & 1862, & the regulations of the Board of Trade.—R. v. CALCUTTA SHIPPING MASTER (1867), 2 Ind. Jur. N. S. 371.—IND.

t. —— Articles of seaman unexpired.]—The Shipping Master of Bombay has a discretion vested in him of refusing to sanction the discharge of a seaman shipped from a foreign port whose articles have not expired, though the seaman consents to such discharge.—Re LEWIS (1869), 6 Bom. O. C. 42.—IND.

PART III. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 2.—A.

946 i. Right to compensation.]—THE INVERNESSHIRE (NO. 2) (1915), 11 Tas. L. R. 123.—AUS.

943 ii. ——.]—J. was hired in New York as master of a Norwegian ship for a voyage to Halifax & thence to the West Indies. On arriving at Halifax he found that the ship was to go to Newfoundland & from there to Italy. He was offered $400 a month for the new voyage & agreed to go for $450 or, at all events, more than was paid to the chief engineer. Without further notice the owner engaged a new master & chief engineer, paying the latter $400 a month. J. left the ship &, the owner refusing to pay the account he rendered, brought an action claiming damages for wrongful dismissal:—Held: he was entitled to recover; & not having been hired for a definite term he was entitled to reasonable notice before being dismissed; & the assessment of his damages at three months' wages, the arrears due when he was suspended, & expenses of his trip to Norway after dismissal should not be disturbed.—THE FORT MORGAN v. JACOBSEN (1919), 59 S. C. R. 404; 51 D. L. R. 149.—CAN.

a. Allowance for viaticum.]—A seaman wrongfully discharged in the port of Melbourne is not entitled to receive as part of his compensation an earned, are the conditions precedent to the relief given by the Act.—TINDLE v. DAVISON (1892), 61 L. J. M. C. 107; 66 L. T. 372; 56 J. P. 390; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 169, D. C.

Sect. 11.—Discharge: Sub-sect. 2, A. & B. Sects. 12 & 13. Part IV. Sect. 1: Sub-sect. 1, A.]

Annotation:—Reld. The Olympic, [1913] P. 92.

Jurisdiction of Admiralty Court.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., p. 134, No. 415.

B. Action for Damages.

950. Right to damages.]—DOWDELL v. AUSTRALIAN ROYAL MAIL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1853), 8 L. T. 30.

951. —— In addition to compensation.]—In an action by a seaman for breach of the stipulations in his agreement for service, the ct., in addition to the compensation provided by Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), can award general damages for breach of the agreement, & for hardships incurred by the seamen through the vessel being employed for purposes other than those contemplated by the agreement.—THE JUSTITIA (1887), 12 P. D. 145; 56 L. J. P. 111; 57 L. T. 816; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 198.

Annotations:—Folld. O'Neil v. Armstrong, Mitchell, [1895] 2 Q. B. 70; Austin Friars S.S. Co. v. Strack, The Same v. Strack, [1905] 2 K. B. 315. Expld. Caine v. Palace Shipping Co. (1906), 12 Com. Cas. 96. Reld. R. v. City of London Court Judge, [1892] 1 Q. B. 273.

952. —— Contract for whole voyage.]—A seaman having contracted to go a voyage from A. to B. & back again, with a stipulation that he should not be entitled to his wages till the end of the voyage, cannot maintain a general indebitatus assumpsit to recover his wages pro ratâ as far as B.; though he were there wrongfully dismissed by deft., the captain: but his remedy is either for the breach of the special contract, or for such tortious act of the captain's, whereby he was prevented from earning his wages.—HULLE v. HEIGHTMAN (1802), 2 East, 145; 102 E. R. 324.

Annotations:—Consd. Button v. Thompson (1869), L. R. 4 C. P. 330. Reld. Thomas v. Williams (1834), 3 Nev. & M. K. B. 545. Mentd. Collins v. Price (1828), 2 Moo. & P. 233; Prickett v. Badger (1856), 1 C. B. N. S. 296.

953. —— Master refusing to be on board.]—THE SIR THOMAS GRESHAM, RIPPON v. LIDGETT (1858), 7 L. T. 196.

954. —— Seaman left behind—Disability from accident.]—ROBERTS v. MARTIN (1858), 31 L. T. O. S. 99; 22 J. P. 271.

955. —— Termination of service by altered character of voyage—Carriage of contraband.]—AUSTIN FRIARS S.S. CO. v. STRACK, SAME v. STRACK, No. 693, ante.

956. —— —— ——.]—British seamen signed an agreement for a voyage from Cardiff to any ports within certain limits, including Hong Kong, knowing that Russia & Japan were at war, that the ship was to carry coal to Hong Kong, & that coal was treated by both belligerents as contraband of war. At Hong Kong the master required the men to proceed with the coal to a naval base in Japan within the limits, & on their refusal illegally procured their imprisonment & left them at Hong Kong & proceeded to Japan without paying them their wages:—Held: (1) the agreement being for a peaceful commercial voyage, the men were justified in refusing to go to Japan at the risk of war capture & its consequences; (2) they were entitled to wages until the final settlement, & to the costs of maintenance for the same period under the head of damages for wrongful discharge.—PALACE SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. CAINE, [1907] A. C. 386; 76 L. J. K. B. 1079; 97 L. T. 587; 23 T. L. R. 731; 51 Sol. Jo. 716; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 529; 13 Com. Cas. 51, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. CAINE v. PALACE S.S. CO., [1907] 1 K. B. 670, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. Hutton v. Ras S.S. Co., [1907] 1 K. B. 834. As to (2) Expld. Collins v. Simpson S.S. Co. (1907), 24 T. L. R. 176. Folld. Sibery v. Connelly (1907), 96 L. T. 140. Generally, Reld. Browning v. Crumlin Valley Collieries, [1926] 1 K. B. 522.

957. —— Previous order of naval court—Finding seamen guilty of insubordination—Estoppel.]—HUTTON v. RAS S.S. CO., LTD., No. 887, ante.

958. In respect of what matters damages recoverable—Loss of kit.]—BURTON v. PINKERTON, No. 601, ante.

959. —— ——.]—COLLINS v. SIMPSON S.S. CO., No. 679, ante.

960. —— Imprisonment.]—BURTON v. PINKERTON, No. 601, ante.

961. —— Hardship.]—THE JUSTITIA, No. 951, ante.

962. —— ——.]—COLLINS v. SIMPSON S.S. CO., No. 679, ante.

963. Taxation of expenses—Loss of subsistence.]—Pltf. obtained a verdict. Deft. obtained a rule nisi for a new trial, which was discharged. Pltf. was a witness in his own cause; & he remained in this country till after the rule nisi was discharged. On taxation the master allowed pltf. subsistence money from the time the rule was granted till it was discharged. On a rule to review the taxation:—Held: as the master must be taken to have found that pltf. was a necessary witness, that he could not have attended a second trial, if one were ordered, unless he remained, & his remaining incapacitated him from earning his subsistence, the detention might, under those special circumstances, be considered as part of the costs of the rule; & the allowance was right.

It is not a general rule that parties, if witnesses, are to have an allowance for their attendance.—DOWDELL v. AUSTRALIAN ROYAL MAIL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1854), 3 E. & B. 902; 2 C. L. R. 1656; 23 L. J. Q. B. 369; 23 L. T. O. S. 189; 18 Jur. 579; 2 W. R. 554; 118 E. R. 1379.

Annotation:—Reld. The Bahia (1865), L. R. 1 A. & E. 15.

964. —— ——.]—An action was brought by a seafaring man for unliquidated damages for a breach of an agreement, & upon the trial it was pressed upon the jury as a subject of damages, that pltf. had been detained in this country for thirty-two weeks, awaiting the trial, & the jury gave him £32 in respect of that claim. Upon the taxation allowance for viaticum to London, his port of engagement, if it be proved that he would have obtained employment on ships bound direct to London at higher wages than he was receiving when discharged.—THE FERRET (1881-2), 8 V. L. R. (Adm.) 1, P. C.—AUS.

---

b. Right to compensation—Equal to loss of wages.]—The action whereby a sailor, dismissed without reason, claims from his employers the amount equal to the loss of his wages during the balance of the season, is not a suit for wages, withdrawn from the jurisdiction of the Superior Ct. by M. S. Act.—SIMARD v. CANADA S.S. CO. (1916), Q. R. 50 S. C. 105.—CAN.

PART III. SECT. 11, SUB-SECT. 2.—B.

950 i. Right to damages.]—Damages for wrongful dismissal may be sued for & recovered as wages.—THE W. B. HALL, 8 C. L. T. Occ. N. 169.—CAN.

950 ii. ——.]—GUILDFORD v. ANGLO-FRENCH S.S. CO. (1883), 9 S. C. R. 303.—CAN.

c. —— Justification by master of refusal to obey orders.]—THE LADY EILEEN v. POULIOT (1907), 11 Exch. C. R. 87.—CAN.

d. Whether maintenance costs allowed.]—Maintenance costs are allowed when the action is not one of wrongful dismissal.—HARVEY v. EWAN (1881), 2 N. S. W. L. R. (Law) 267.—AUS.

e. What amounts to wrongful discharge—Seamen abandoned disabled.]—Abandoning seamen disabled in the service of the ship, without providing for their support & care, is equivalent to a wrongful discharge.—THE ATLANTIC (1837), 1 S. V. A. R. 125.—CAN.

of pltf.'s costs the master allowed him £20 for subsistence money pending the action:—Held: the jury, having included such subsistence money in their verdict, it ought not to have been allowed in the taxed costs.—BARKER v. CLOUGH (1861), 4 L. T. 306; 7 Jur. N. S. 545; 9 W. R. 618.

—— ——.]—See, generally, EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., pp. 440–442, Nos. 4585–4597.

Jurisdiction of Admiralty Court.] — See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 134, 247, Nos. 414, 1750.

---

SECT. 12.—SEAMEN VOLUNTEERING FOR ROYAL NAVY.

See 1894 Act, s. 195.

965. Enlistment after desertion of ship—Consequent on insubordination.] — (1) A mariner quitted a vessel in defiance of the master, with opprobrious language; &, without any declaration of such intention when he quitted the vessel, entered on board a king's ship within twenty-four hours, this is desertion, working a forfeiture of wages.

(2) A clause in the articles, to the effect that mere absence for less than twenty-four hours shall not be deemed a desertion, relates to occasional absences, & not to a wilful denial of authority.—THE AMPHITRITE (1832), 2 Hag. Adm. 403; 166 E. R. 291.

---

SECT. 13.—REGISTRATION AND RETURNS RESPECTING SEAMEN.

See 1894 Act, ss. 195, 252–258.

---

Part IV.—Authority and Liability of Master as Custodian of Ship and Cargo.

SECT. 1.—GENERAL AUTHORITY AND LIABILITY.

SUB-SECT. 1.—AUTHORITY.

A. In General.

966. Extent of authority—General rule.]—The master of a ship signing a bill of lading for goods which have never been shipped, is not to be considered as the agent of the owner in that behalf, so as to make the latter responsible to one who has made advances upon the faith of bills of lading so signed.

The authority of the master of a ship is very large & extends to all acts that are usual & necessary for the use & enjoyment of the ship; but is subject to several well known limitations. He may make contracts for the hire of the ship, but cannot vary that which the owner has made. He may take up money in foreign ports, & under certain circumstances at home, for necessary disbursements, & for repairs, & bind the owners for repayment; but his authority is limited by the necessity of the case, & he cannot make them responsible for money not actually necessary for those purposes, although he may pretend that it is. He may make contracts to carry goods on freight but cannot bind his owners by a contract to carry freight free. So, with regard to goods put on board, he may sign a bill of lading, & acknowledge the nature & condition of the goods (JERVIS, C.J.).—GRANT v. NORWAY (1851), 10 C. B. 665; 20 L. J. C. P. 93; 16 L. T. O. S. 504; 15 Jur. 296; 138 E. R. 263.

Annotations:—Consd. Coleman v. Riches (1855), 16 C. B. 104; Reynolds v. Jex (1865), 7 B. & S. 86; Gunn v. Roberts (1874), 43 L. J. C. P. 233. Apld. Cox v. Bruce (1886), 18 Q. B. D. 147; Thorman v. Burt, Boulton (1886), 54 L. T. 349. Consd. Whitechurch v. Cavanagh, [1902] A. C. 117; Compania Naviera Vasconzada v. Churchill & Sim, Same v. Burton, [1906] 1 K. B. 237. Refd. Udell v. Atherton (1861), 7 H. & N. 172; Stagg v. Elliott (1862), 12 C. B. N. S. 373; British Columbia & Vancouver's Island Spar, Lumber & Saw Mills Co. v. Nettleship (1868), 16 W. R. 1046; Pyman v. Burt (1883), Cab. & El. 207; Parsons v. New Zeland Shipping Co., [1901] 1 K. B. 548; Hambro v. Burnand, [1903] 2 K. B. 399; Russo Chinese Bank v. Li Yau Sam, [1910] A. C. 174; Lloyd v. Grace, Smith, [1911] 2 K. B. 489; Jones v. Oceanic Steam Navigation Co., [1924] 2 K. B. 730.

967. Right to maintain action for trespass—For wrongful seizure.]—The master of a ship may, though he is not owner, maintain trespass against any one who seizes the ship or if he sustains any consequential damage thereby case.—PITTS v. GAINEE & FORESIGHT (1700), 1 Ld. Raym. 558; Holt, K. B. 12; 1 Salk. 10; 91 E. R. 1272.

Annotations:—Apld. Moore v. Robinson (1831), 1 L. J. K. B. 4. Refd. The Jupiter (No. 3), [1927] P. 122. Mentd. Hopper v. Reeve (1817), 1 Moore, C. P. 407 Newcastle v. Clark (1818), 2 Moore, C. P. 666; Branscomb v. Brydges (1823), 2 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 256; Parker v. Bailey (1824), 4 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 215; Moreton v. Hardern (1825), 4 B. & C. 223; Hansworth v. Fowkes (1833), 2 L. J. K. B. 72; Muskett v. Hill (1839), 5 Bing. N. S. 694; M'Mahon v. Lennard (1858), 6 H. L. Cas. 970.

968. —— Injury to ship.]—Where pltf. had the superintendence of a boat belonging to the proprietors of the Aire & Calder Canal, & hired the man who assisted him in the navigation of it:—Held: he might maintain trespass for any injury done to the boat.—MOORE v. ROBINSON (1831), 2 B. & Ad. 817; 1 L. J. K. B. 4; 109 E. R. 1646.

Annotations:—Consd. The Jupiter (No. 3), [1927] P. 122. Mentd. British Columbia Electric Ry. v. Stewart, [1913] A. C. 816.

969. Authority as servant of owners.]—SPEERMAN v. DEGRAVE, No. 1082, post.

---

PART IV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 1.—A.

969 i. Authority as servant of owners.] —THE ALEXANDER WILLIAMS (1878), Y. A. D. 217.—CAN.

969 ii. ——.]—Pltf. sued deft. for the price of a barrel of beef supplied by him to the master of deft.'s vessel. The beef was shown to be necessary for the vessel, but it appeared that deft. had an agent at the place where it was procured who might have been requested by the master to supply or procure the beef for him:—Held: in the absence of evidence to show that the master had made such a request to the agent, or that he had special authority to bind the owner, pltf. could not recover.—PETTIPAS v. CROSBY (1888), 20 N. S. R. (8 R. & G.) 446; 9 C. L. T. 197.—CAN.

969 iii. ——.]—The master of a ship sought to enforce a claim in rem for wages as well as for disbursements & liabilities assumed in respect of necessaries supplied the ship, for which he had made a joint note with the owner for $250 under an agreement that the note should be paid out of the earnings of the ship. This agreement was made without the consent or knowledge of the mtgee.:—Held: the master did not exceed his authority in borrowing money on the note for the purposes of the ship, it appearing that the sum so borrowed had been duly & properly expended for the ship.—REIDE & HAYES v. THE QUEEN OF THE ISLES (1892), 3 Exch. C. R. 258.—CAN.

969 iv. ——.]—LARSEN v. IRELAND & SON (1892), 20 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 228; 30 Sc. L. R. 228.—SCOT.

969 v. ——.]—A master of a vessel has sufficient authority to sue for damages for an injury to the ship occasioned by the wrongful act of a

Sect. 1.—General authority and liability: Sub-sect. 1, A. & B.]

970. ——.]—Re STRICKLAND, Ex p. BLAND, No. 445, ante.

971. Payment of ransom money.]—HELLY v. GRANT (1783), cited in 1 Term Rep. at p. 76; 99 E. R. 980.

Annotation:—Consd. Yates v. Hall (1785), 1 Term Rep. 73.

972. ——.]—Ransom of ships is a species of salvage, & the owners are bound by the contract of the master.—ANON. (1702), 11 Mod. Rep. 6; 88 E. R. 849.

973. Payment to member of crew—As inducement to become hostage.]—A promise by a captain of a ship on behalf of his owners, when the ship was taken, to pay monthly wages to one of the sailors, in order to induce him to become a hostage, is binding on the owners although they abandon the ship & cargo.—YATES v. HALL (1785), 1 Term Rep. 73; 99 E. R. 979.

Annotations:—Refd. Hanson v. Royden (1867), L. R. 3 C. P. 47; Jackson v. Blanche (Owners), The Hopper No. 66, [1908] A. C. 126.

974. Authority to contract.]—The master is the agent of the shipowner in every contract made in the usual course of the employment of the ship (LORD CHELMSFORD).—MCLEAN & HOPE v. FLEMING (1871), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 128; 25 L. T. 317; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 160, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Smith v. Bedouin Steam Navigation Co., [1896] A. C. 70; Whitechurch v. Cavanagh, [1902] A. C. 117. Refd. Gray v. Carr (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 522; Brown v. Powell Coal Co. (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 562; Pyman v. Burt (1883), Cab. & El. 207; Red "R." S.S. Co. v. Allatini (1909), 100 L. T. 268; Kish v. Taylor, [1912] A. C. 604; New Chinese Antimony Co. v. Ocean S.S. Co., [1917] 2 K. B. 664. Mentd. The Hollinside (1898), 3 Com. Cas. 100.

975. —— Engagement of pilot.]—On the part of the owner, it is certainly not a valid ground of defence that it was an agreement [for pilotage] made only by the master, because the master's agreement in the service of the vessel, not affected by collusion or fraud, would be as binding on the owner as if made in his own person (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—THE NELSON (1805), 6 Ch. Rob. 227; 165 E. R. 911.

Annotation:—Mentd. The Ambatielos, The Cephalonia, [1923] P. 68.

976. —— To borrow money—At home or abroad.]—GRANT v. NORWAY, No. 966, ante.

977. —— —— Transaction to owner's benefit.]—The master of a ship, who had expended all the money furnished to him by his employers, entered into a contract abroad for the purpose of obtaining funds to enable him to lay in the cargo which constituted the main object of his voyage:—Held: under the circumstances, & upon its appearing that the owners had derived benefit from the contract in question, that they had no right to repudiate the claim of the party by whom the advance was made, upon the ground that the master had exceeded his authority in the transaction; or that he had obtained the advance by means of representations to the lender the truth of which the latter was not in a position to prove.

Qu.: if the conduct of the master had been proved by the owners to be fraudulent, & his representations untrue, whether, in such a case, a person in the position of pltf. ought to bear the loss arising from the misconduct of the master, who was an agent of the owners.—ASHMALL v. WOOD (1857), 30 L. T. O. S. 20; 3 Jur. N. S. 232; 5 W. R. 397; previous proceedings, 28 L. T. O. S. 30.

978. —— Hire of ship.]—GRANT v. NORWAY, No. 966, ante.

979. —— Hiring of servants.]—A., the ostensible commander of a ship in the temporary possession of B. has an implied authority from B. in the absence of evidence to the contrary, to hire servants for the ship's purposes.—LUTTRELL v. CHINA NAVIGATION CO. (1863), 1 New Rep. 329.

980. —— Appointment of agent.]—The master has authority to appoint an agent, both for ship & cargo, when there is no representative of the owner of the cargo.—THE SOBLOMSTEN (1866), L. R. 1 A. & E. 293; 36 L. J. Adm. 5; 15 L. T. 393; 15 W. R. 591; 2 Mar. L. C. 436.

Annotations:—Refd. The Teutonia (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 394; Metcalfe v. Britannia Ironworks Co. (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 613; The Mogileff, [1921] P. 236. Mentd. The Livietta (1883), 8 P. D. 209.

—— Charterparties.]—See Part VII., Sect. 2, sub-sect. 3, post.

—— Signature to bills of lading.]—See Part VII., Sect. 3, sub-sect. 4, B., post.

—— Freight.]—See Part VIII., Sect. 2, post.

981. Right to promote seaman—To vacant post—With corresponding increase of wages.]—HICKS v. WALKER, No. 791, ante.

982. —— —— ——.]—BATES v. FINLAY (1865), 30 J. P. 55.

Annotation:—Distd. Hanson v. Royden (1867), 37 L. J. C. P. 66.

983. Right to increase wages—On appointment of new steward—Post vacant through death.]—HICKS v. WALKER, No. 791, ante.

984. Settlement of accounts—Freight & demurrage.]—Pltf. the owner of a ship, entered into a charterparty with defts., containing stipulations as to demurrage. The ship was detained in South America beyond the time stipulated for. The captain was in possession of the ship, he was to be paid freight & demurrage by bill in South America. After the making of the charterparty, & before the settlement hereafter mentioned, the ship with the charter was sold to F. The captain became a part owner of the ship. The captain having settled the account for freight, demurrage, & delay with deft., by taking a bill in South America:—Held: F. & pltf., in whose name he was suing, were bound by such settlement.—ALEXANDER v. DOWIE (1856), 1 H. & N. 152; 25 L. J. Ex. 281; 27 L. T. O. S. 159; 156 E. R. 1156.

985. Expenses in defence against false charge—Brought by crew—Forfeit of security to prosecute for perjury.]—A master, while at a foreign port with a homeward bound vessel, incurred expenses in defending himself against a charge of murder maliciously brought by two of the crew, whom he had censured for misconduct. The master was tried & acquitted, & bound over in a sum of £10 to prosecute the men for perjury. He forfeited the £10 in order to return with the vessel to England:—Held: (1) the master was entitled to the expenses of his defence, on the ground that the charge originated directly from the performance of his duty to his owners in chastising the men; (2) the ct. allowed the £10 forfeit, as it was for the interest of his owners that the master should not be delayed in returning with

---

Board vested with control of a patent slip, or its servants.—GIFFORD v. TABLE BAY DOCK & BREAKWATER MANAGEMENT COMMISSION (1874), Buch. 96.—S. AF.

f. Authority to contract—For discharge of vessel.]—Re THE VOLAGE, MCKENZIE v. JOHNSON (1901), 18 S. C. 276; 11 C. T. R. 450.—S. AF.

g. Acting master accepting service of writ.]—Where deft. resided in Wales & the master of his ship had died at St. John's, Newfoundland, where she had put into for repairs:—Held: the acting master of the ship (the mate) was to be deemed the recognised agent of such owner for the purpose of compelling him to accept service of a writ on behalf of the owner.—DOOLY v. JONES (1867), 5 Nfld. L. R. 200.—NFLD.

the vessel.—THE JAMES SEDDON (1866), L. R. 1 A. & E. 62; 35 L. J. Adm. 117; 15 L. T. 636; 12 Jur. N. S. 609; 14 W. R. 973; 2 Mar. L. C. 443.

Annotation:—As to (1) & (2) Consd. Re Famatina Development Corpn., [1914] 2 Ch. 271.

986. Salvage — Under & apart from express stipulation.]—The steamer T., while on a voyage from Marseilles to London, fell in with the steamer S., which had been disabled by an accident to her machinery. The master of the T. agreed to tow the S. to port for a sum agreed on. In endeavouring to do so the T. negligently came into collision with the S. & sunk her. The policy of insurance upon the T. & her bills of lading provided that she might assist & tow vessels in all situations. The master of the T. had never received any instructions from the owners as to performing salvage services:—Held: the master of the T. was acting within the scope of his general authority as master in endeavouring to tow the S. to port, & the owners of the T. were consequently liable for the damage caused by his negligence in so doing.

Semble: even if there had been no clause in the policy of insurance or bills of lading as to salvage services, the master would nevertheless have been acting within his general authority as master in rendering salvage service to the S.—THE THETIS (1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 365; 38 L. J. Adm. 42; 22 L. T. 276; 3 Mar. L. C. 357.

Annotations:—Refd. The C. S. Butler, The Baltic (1874), 30 L. T. 475. Mentd. Bayley v. M. S. & L. Ry. (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 415; The Charkieh (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 59.

987. Towage.] — The steamship W., having found the steamship A. on Feb. 12 off Cape Finisterre in a disabled condition, towed her in heavy weather until Feb. 14 when, in consequence of the condition of the A., the master of the W. proposed to abandon her. However, at the desire of the master of the A. it was agreed in writing that the W. should "stand by the A. as long as possible, & that the W. & owners are to be paid for the time & towing already done & to be done from Feb. 12, 1883." The W. thereupon again took the A. in tow, but on Feb. 16, owing to stress of weather, it was found necessary to abandon her, after which she was totally lost. In an action for towage against the owners of the A., the ct. held that the agreement entered into by the master of the A., was a reasonable one, & one which, in his position of agent, ex necessitate for his owners, he had an authority to enter into, & awarded pltfs. the sum of £400, in respect of the services rendered prior to & after the agreement.—WELLFIELD (OWNERS) v. ADAMSON & SHORT, THE ALFRED (1884), 50 L. T. 511; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 214.

988. Institution of proceedings — Action in rem in foreign port.]—Semble: the master of a ship carrying cargo where his ship & cargo have been damaged by collision in or near a foreign port, has authority to institute an action in rem in the foreign port against the offending ship on behalf of both ship & cargo, & the owners of the cargo cannot, so long as that suit is pending in their names, be allowed to deny his authority.—THE REINBECK (1889), 60 L. T. 209; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 366.

Annotation:—Mentd. The Mannheim, [1897] P. 13.

—— For freight.]—See No. 4538, post.

989. Costs of defending action on bill—Drawn by master on owners.]—The costs incurred by a master in unsuccessfully defending an action on a dishonoured bill of exchange drawn by him on his owners for the price of coals supplied to the ship will not be deemed "liabilities properly incurred by him, as master, on account of the ship" within 1894 Act, s. 167, unless the defence was reasonably necessary in the interests of the ship.—THE ELMVILLE (No. 2), [1904] P. 422; 74 L. J. P. 69; 53 W. R. 287; 20 T. L. R. 783.

990. Authority as agent to receive goods for carriage—Not to accept delivery.]—The captain is an agent to receive the goods for the purpose of carriage, not to accept delivery of them.

The captain of the ship is merely an agent to receive the goods for the purpose of carriage; he knows nothing of the contract of purchase & is not an agent to accept delivery under it (BIGHAM, J.).—VIGERS BROTHERS v. SANDERSON BROTHERS, [1901] 1 K. B. 608; 70 L. J. K. B. 383; 84 L. T. 464; 49 W. R. 411; 17 T. L. R. 316; 45 Sol. Jo. 328; 6 Com. Cas. 99.

Annotations:—Refd. Aron v. Comptoir Wegimont, [1921] 3 K. B. 435. Mentd. Re Bourgeois & Wilson, Holgate (1920), 25 Com. Cas. 260; Szymonowski v. Beck, [1923] 1 K. B. 457.

991. Control of ship — Where pilot on board — Unpaid pilot.]—A pilot allowed to be in control of pltfs.' ship by her master for his own convenience negligently ran her ashore off Barry, in the Bristol Channel. The pilot was a volunteer in the sense that he was not to be paid for piloting the ship until she reached Flatholm, which is beyond Barry. In an action brought by the shipowners against the pilot:—Held: although the pilot was negligent, the master had no right to give up control of the vessel to an unpaid pilot, & was guilty of contributory negligence in so doing, & the owners therefore could not succeed in their action.—THE BONVILSTON (1914), 30 T. L. R. 311.

992. Death of captain—Chief mate succeeding—Authority to promote seaman—With corresponding increase of wages.]—HANSON v. ROYDEN, No. 792, ante.

Preservation of cargo.]—See Part VII., Sect. 6, sub-sect. 3, A., post.

Authority to collect freight—Whether an assignment.]—See No. 4700, post.

Sale of ship.]—See Part IV., Sect. 6, post.

Sale of cargo.]—See Part VII., Sect. 6, sub-sect. 6, post.

B. Limitation of General Authority.

993. Acts contrary to law.] — I conceive that the trust reposed in the captain of a vessel obliges him to obey the written instructions of his owners where they give any; & where his instructions are silent, he is at all events to do nothing but what is consonant to the laws of the land, whether with or without a view to their advantage (LORD ELLENBOROUGH, C.J.). — EARLE v. ROWCROFT (1806), 8 East, 126; 103 E. R. 292.

Annotations:—Apld. Wilson v. Rankin (1865), 6 B. & S. 208. Refd. Grill v. General Iron Screw Collier Co. (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 600; Atkinson & Hewitt v. Great Western Insce., New York (1872), 27 L. T. 103; Australasian Insce. v. Jackson (1875), 33 L. T. 286; Cory v. Burr (1883), 8 App. Cas. 393; Westport Coal Co. v. McPhail, [1898] 2 Q. B. 130.

994. ——.] — A master of a vessel, though acting within the scope of his ordinary authority as master, who does an act in contravention of the laws of his country without the express authority, knowledge or sanction of his owner, whether with or without a view to the owner's advantage, is guilty of an implied breach of his orders.—WILSON v. RANKIN (1865), L. R. 1 Q. B. 162; 6 B. & S. 208; 35 L. J. Q. B. 87; 13 L. T. 564; 14 W. R. 198; 2 Mar. L. C. 287; 122 E. R. 1173, Ex. Ch.

Annotation:—Refd. Dudgeon v. Pembroke (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 581.

995. Acts outside scope of authority.] — LYALL v. HICKS, No. 1246, post.

Sect. 1.—General authority and liability: Sub-sect. 1, B.: sub-sect. 2.]

996. Contractual authority—Pledging credit of owners.]—The master of a vessel agreed with a tug for towage from Sea Reach in the Thames to a London wharf, & agreed to pay £6 & give an order upon the owner of the wharf for the amount usually allowed by him, under the name of towage, as a premium to vessels of the kind coming to his wharf. The service was performed by the tug, & the master paid the £6, but refused to give the order on the owner of the wharf. The amount actually paid by the owner of the wharf according to his practice was proved; & it was also proved that if an order, signed by the master of the vessel towed, was presented by the master of the tug, the money would be, as a matter of practice, paid to him:—Held: the master of the vessel had no authority to agree to transfer to the master of the tug an uncertan sum payable to the owners of the vessel; & the ct. had no authority to enforce such a contract or give damages for the breach of it.—THE MARTHA (1861), 1 Lush. 314; 167 E. R. 138.

—— —— Necessaries.]—See Sect. 2, post.

997. —— Insurance of ship—Bottomry bond to pay for premiums.]—(1) The master of a ship putting into a foreign port of distress has not authority to insure the ship or freight for performing the residue of the voyage, & has no authority, therefore, to grant a bottomry bond on the ship to pay for the premiums of such insurance.

(2) A bottomry bond, to cover payment of premiums of such insurance, stipulated that, in case of average or loss of the ship, the lender should obtain reimbursement from the underwriters, & should thence repay himself the premiums of insurance, with interest, commission & costs, holding the remainder at the disposal of the master or his principal. Semble, such a bond was also invalid, as not being conditioned to bear maritime risk.—THE SERAFINA (1864), Brown. & Lush. 277; 167 E. R. 362.

998. —— Whether authority ousted—By presence of agents of owner.]—THE EQUATOR (1921), 56 L. J. C. C. 76; 152 L. T. Jo. 259, D. C.

—— Freight.]—See Part VIII., Sect. 2.

999. Alteration of voyage—Substitution of new for agreed voyage.]—The captain of a ship has no authority as such to agree to the substitution of another voyage in the place of the one agreed upon between his owners & the freighters of the ship in England, & on which he has sailed to a foreign country.—BURGON v. SHARPE (1810), 2 Camp. 529; 170 E. R. 1241, N. P.

1000. —— Apprehended danger.]—THE ROEBUCK, No. 735, ante.

1001. —— Deviation to save property only.]—A deviation for the purposes of saving life is justifiable, but not a deviation for the mere purpose of saving property.

Defts.' ship was chartered by pltfs. to carry a cargo of wheat from C. to the Mediterranean, the usual perils of the sea excepted. Whilst on her voyage she sighted & went to the assistance of a vessel in distress, called the Arion, & the master, in consideration of £1,000 agreed to tow her into the T., which was out of his direct course. Whilst doing so defts.' vessel was stranded, & ultimately, with her cargo, was totally lost. The jury found that it was not reasonably necessary to take the Arion to the T. in order to save the lives of those on board her; but it was reasonably necessary to do so in order to save her & her cargo:—Held: the deviation was unjustifiable, & consequently pltfs. were entitled to recover the value of the cargo against defts. as owners of the ship.—SCARAMANGA v. STAMP (1880), 5 C. P. D. 295; 49 L. J. Q. B. 674; 42 L. T. 840; 28 W. R. 691; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 295, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Kish v. Taylor (1910), 80 L. J. K. B. 601; A.-G. v. Smith (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1045. Mentd. Brandon v. Osborne, Garrett, [1924] 1 K. B. 548.

SUB-SECT. 2.—LIABILITY.

1002. General rule—Duty to take care of ship & cargo.]—When the ship is brought in, the master writes to Mr. F., his asserted owner's correspondent in London, informing him that the ship is taken, & she is immediately claimed. But no claim is given for the cargo till after a considerable time. It is said no mention was made of the cargo, as it is not usual to mention it, although it belongs to the owner of the ship. It may be so, but it seems to be the natural conduct on such an occasion & indeed the duty of the master when both are equally in danger, to take care of one as well as of the other (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—THE ARGO (1799), 1 Ch. Rob. 158; 165 E. R. 133.

1003. Duty to inform owners—Of danger—Owners of ship & cargo.]—THE ARGO, No. 1002, ante.

1004. —— Of accidents—To ship.]—THE CAMILLA, No. 742, ante.

1005. Loss of cargo by theft.]—An action in the case lies against the master of a ship to recover the value of goods which he has received upon freight, on their being stolen by open force & violence from on board ship while lying in the river Thames.—MORS v. SLUCE (1672), 1 Mod. Rep. 85; 2 Keb. 866; 3 Keb. 72, 112, 135; 2 Lev. 69; T. Raym. 220; 1 Vent. 190; 86 E. R. 752.

Annotations:—Apld. Boson v. Sandford (1688), 3 Lev. 258. Consd. Boucher v. Lawson (1736), Lee temp. Hard. 194. Expld. Blaikie v. Stembridge (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 894. Consd. Liver Alkali Co. v. Johnson (1874), L. R. 9 Exch. 338; Nugent v. Smith (1876), 1 C. P. D. 423. Refd. Barton v. Wolliford (1686), Comb. 56; Coggs v. Bernard (1703), 2 Ld. Raym. 909; Drinkwater v. Quenell (1738), 7 Mod. Rep. 248; Mitchell v. Torup (1766), Park. 227; Gibbon v. Paynton (1769), 4 Burr. 2298; Bodenham v. Bennett (1817), 4 Price, 31; Crouch v. L. & N. W. Ry. (1854), 14 C. B. 255; Phillips v. Clark (1857), 2 C. B. N. S. 156; Redhead v. Mid. Ry. (1869), 9 B. & S. 519. Mentd. Lane v. Cotton (1701), 12 Mod. Rep. 472; Ashby v. White (1703), 2 Ld. Raym. 938; Austin v. M. S. & L. Ry. (1852), 10 C. B. 454; M'Manus v. L. & Y. Ry. (1859), 4 H. & N. 327; Peek v. North Staffordshire Ry. (1863), 10 H. L. Cas. 473; Pandorf v. Hamilton (1886), 17 Q. B. D. 670; G. N. Ry. v. L. E. P. Transport & Depository, [1922] 2 K. B. 742.

1006. Non-delivery of cargo.]—(1) An action for the miscarriage of goods by water may be brought against the shipowners, or the master. It will lie ex contractu without alleging the custom of England.

(2) It must be brought against all the owners, & a non-joinder may be shown under the general issue.—BOSON v. SANDFORD (1690), Freem. K. B. 499; 3 Lev. 258; 2 Show. 478; Carth. 58; Comb. 116; 2 Salk. 440; 3 Mod. Rep. 321; 89 E. R. 374; sub nom. BOULSTON v. SANDIFORD, Skin. 278.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Boucher v. Lawson (1735), Lee temp. Hard. 194. Refd. Laugher v. Pointer (1826), 5 B. & C. 547; Blaikie v. Stembridge (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 894. As to (2) Consd. Abbot v. Smith (1774), 2 Wm. Bl.

---

PART IV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 1.—B.

996 i. Contractual authority—Pledging credit of owners.]—Master has no power to bind the credit of the shipowner, except where absolutely required & when he cannot communicate with his owner.—GIOVANNINI v. RORKE (1891), 7 Nfld. L. R. 578.—NFLD.

996 ii. —— ——.]—A ship's master at a foreign port cannot bind the owners by drawing a bill upon them.—DRAIN & CO. v. SCOTT (1864), 3 Macph. (Ct. of Sess), 114.—SCOT.

h. Alter or vary contract.]—The master of a ship has no express or implied authority to alter or vary a contract made directly with the owners of his vessel.—PERRY v. PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1874), 1 P. E. I. 476.—CAN.

947. Distd. Mitchell v. Tarbutt (1794), 5 Term Rep. 649. Consd. Govett v. Radnidge (1802), 3 East, 62. Reld. Kendall v. Hamilton (1879), 4 App. Cas. 504. Generally, Consd. Powell v. Layton (1806), 2 Bos. & P. N. R. 365. Reld. Max v. Roberts (1807), 2 Bos. & P. N. R. 454. Mentd. Corbett v. Packington (1827), 6 B. & C. 268; Alton v. Midland Ry. (1865), 19 C. B. N. S. 213.

1007. ——.]—The owner is liable, as well as the master; in respect of such custom & of receiving freight; & the owner, as well as the master, may bring an action for the freight, & it is on that foundation that he is liable to the freighters (LEE, J.).—BOUCHER v. LAWSON (1736), Lee temp. Hard. 194; 95 E. R. 125.

Annotations:—Consd. Yates v. Hall (1785), 1 Term Rep. 73. Reld. Ashmall v. Wood (1857), 3 Jur. N. S. 232; Jackson v. S.S. Blanche, The Hopper No. 66, [1908] A. C. 126.

Safe stowage of cargo.]—See Part VII., Sect. 3, sub-sect. 5, post.

1008. Misconduct—Own misconduct.]—HUSSEY v. PENSEY (1666), 2 Keb. 88; 84 E. R. 55; sub nom. HUSSEY v. PUSY, 1 Sid. 298; sub nom. HUSSY v. PACY, 1 Lev. 188.

Annotations:—Apld. Mitchell v. Torup (1766), Park. 227. Mentd. Barker v. Braham & Norwood (1773), 2 Wm. Bl. 866; Swinfen v. Chelmsford (1860), 29 L. J. Ex. 382.

1009. —— ——.]—The master is answerable to the owners for the damage they suffer by his default, or by the unlawful act of the mariners because he employs them; & the mariners are answerable to the master for any damage he suffers by their doing an act prohibited by law, or that is a breach of trust in them; though it must be confessed that but little benefit can be expected from this remedy against the mariners (PARKER, C.B.).—MITCHELL v. TORUP (1766), Park. 227; 145 E. R. 764.

Annotation:—Mentd. Re Aaron, Ex p. Lowe (1832), 1 L. J. Bcy. 54.

1010. —— Of crew.]—MITCHELL v. TORUP, No. 1009, ante.

1011. —— ——.]—(1) If one of a ship's crew does a wilful act of injury to another ship, without any direction from or privity of the master, trespass cannot be maintained against the master, although he was on board at the time.

(2) The master of a ship is not discharged of his responsibility for the acts of his crew, although done under the direction of a pilot, who, by the regulations of a statute, supersedes the master for the time in the government of his ship.—BOWCHER v. NOIDSTROM (1809), 1 Taunt. 568; 127 E. R. 954.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. The Druid (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 391. As to (2) Reld. The Maria (1839), 1 Wm. Rob. 95. Generally, Mentd. Hall v. Smith (1824), 2 Bing. 156.

1012. —— ——.]—P. v. ACHESON (1841), cited 33 L. T. O. S. at p. 346.

Annotation:—Reld. Blakie v. Stembridge (1859), 33 L. T. O. S. 345.

1013. Acts of crew done under direction of pilot.]—BOWCHER v. NOIDSTROM, No. 1011, ante.

1014. To account for profits.]—If the master of a ship in a foreign port, from the state of the exchange receives a premium for a bill drawn upon England on account of the ship, this belongs to his owner, although there may have been a usage for masters of ships to appropriate such premiums to their own use.—DIPLOCK v. BLACKBURN (1811), 3 Camp. 43; 170 E. R. 1300.

Annotation:—Reld. Morison v. Thompson (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 480.

1015. ——.]—The master of a ship, who having authority to employ the vessel on freight to the best advantage, but not to purchase a cargo on the owners' account, & being unable to procure remunerative freight loads the ship with a cargo of his own:—Held: liable to account to the owners for all profits made by the sale of the cargo, & not merely for a proper freight.—SHALLCROSS v. OLDHAM (1862), 2 John & H. 609; 5 L. T. 824; 10 W. R. 291; 70 E. R. 1202.

1016. Collision—In absence of master ashore.]—THE FERONIA v. THE NORTHAMPTON (1853), 7 L. T. 258; sub nom. THE NORTHAMPTON, 1 Ecc. & Ad. 152.

Annotation:—Reld. The Woburn Abbey (1869), 38 L. J. Adm. 28.

1017. Error in bill of lading.]—The mere employment of ship's brokers at a foreign port to find a cargo for a ship & adjust the terms upon which it is carried does not give them implied power to relieve the master, when he signs bills of lading presented to him, from the duty of seeing that the dates of shipment are correctly stated in the bills. For breach of that duty the master is liable to his owners.—STUMORE, WESTON & Co. v. BREEN (1886), 12 App. Cas. 698; 56 L. J. Q. B. 401, H. L.

1018. Expenses of deportation — Undesirable alien.]—The master of a ship in which an undesirable alien has been brought into the United Kingdom is liable under Aliens Act, 1905 (c. 13), s. 4 (2) for the expenses of the deportation of such alien, following upon an expulsion order, although the alien, having been a stowaway, was brought into the United Kingdom involuntarily on the part of the master.—A.-G. v. SUTCLIFFE, [1907] 2 K. B. 997; 76 L. J. K. B. 991; 97 L. T. 373; 23 T. L. R. 711.

1019. Liability on bill of exchange—Drawn for necessaries—Master's lien against ship.] — A master drew bills on his owners in favour of coal merchants who had supplied coals to the ship he commanded. The bills were accepted, but were dishonoured on presentation, & the coal merchants then sued the master as the drawer of the bills. The coal merchants issued a writ in personam in the Admlty. Div. against the master, & on a summons for directions it was ordered that the cause should be set down for trial as a short cause, & that evidence might be given by affidavit:—Held: the master was liable, but he had a lien against his ship for his disbursements.—THE CAIRO, WATSON & PARKER v. GREGORY (1908), 99 L. T. 940; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 161.

1020. Judgment against owners—In same cause of action—Bar to action against master.]—PRIESTLY v. FERNIE, No. 1029, post.

---

PART IV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 2.

1008 i. Misconduct—Own misconduct.]—M., the husband of pltf., was employed by deft., master of a steamship, to assist in unmooring the steamship then lying at the wharf at Montreal, & about to put to sea. While M. was standing ready to cast off the stern hawser from the post to which it was fastened, the hawser snapped, & M. was fatally injured:—Held: the presumption was that the rope was insufficient for the purpose for which it was being used, & the ship was unskilfully handled, & in either case, the master of the ship was responsible.—CORNER v. BYRD (1886), M. L. R. (2) Q. B. 262.—CAN.

1010 i. —— Of crew.]—The master of a ship in harbour, is not liable for injuries occasioned by the negligence of the crew.—CLANCY v. HARRISON (1878), 4 V. L. R. (L.) 437.—AUS.

1010 ii. —— ——.]—At common law, captains & masters of vessels are not personally liable to the owners thereof for damage done to the cargoes through the fault or negligence of the mates.—PETRIE, ETC. (EXECUTORS) v. AITCHISON & Co. (1841), 37 Fac. Coll. 493.—SCOT.

k. To be sued for breach of bill of lading.]—By the maritime law the master is a party to the bill of lading, & may be sued for a breach of it without joining the ship owner.—MAXWELL v. LAWSON (1887), 3 Q. L. J. 58.—AUS.

l. Under charterparty executed by owners only.]—The master of a ship, although he is liable in respect of the obligations arising under the contracts made by him as master, is not liable under a charter party not executed by him, but by the owners themselves.—BURSTALL v. CAVE (1898), Q. R. 14 S. C. 110.—CAN.

m. Liability to account for property entrusted to him.]—In a small vessel, carrying only a master, mate, chief & assistant engineer, cook, & one seaman, besides fishermen, who were not shipped as seamen, the master

SUB-SECT. 3.—LIABILITY OF OWNERS FOR ACTS OF MASTER AND CREW.

Liability of master for acts of servant generally.]—See MASTER & SERVANT, Vol. XXXIV., pp. 123–167.

1021. General rule.]—The act of the master of the vessel binds the owner in respect of the conduct of the ship, as much as if it were committed by the owner himself. There are powers with which the law invests him; & if he abuses his trust, it is a matter to be settled between him & the person who constituted him master; but his act of violation is, as to the penal consequences, to be considered as the act of the owners (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—THE VROUW JUDITH (1799), 1 Ch. Rob. 150; 1 Eng. Pr. Cas. 86; 165 E. R. 130.

Annotations:—Refd. Northcote v. Douglas, The Franciska (1855), 10 Moo. P. C. C. 37; Rodoconachi v. Elliott (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 518; Sanday v. British & Foreign Marine Insce., [1915] 2 K. B. 781.

1022. Deviation.]—ANON. (1677), 2 Cas. in Ch. 238; 22 E. R. 925, L. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Yates v. Hall (1785), 1 Term Rep. 73.

1023. Misconduct.]—The owners of vessels on the navigation between A. & C. having given public notice that they would not be answerable for losses in any case, except the loss were occasioned by the want of care in the master, nor even in such case beyond 10 per cent. unless extra freight were paid, the master of one of the ships took on board pltf.'s goods, to be carried from A. to B., an intermediate place between A. & C., & delivered at B.; the vessel passed by B. without delivering pltf.'s goods there, & sunk before her arrival at C. without any want of care in the master:—Held: the owner of the vessel was responsible to pltf. for the whole loss in an action on the contract.

Though the loss happened in consequence of the misconduct of defts.' servant, defts. are answerable for it in this action (LORD KENYON, C.J.).—ELLIS v. TURNER (1800), 8 Term Rep. 531; 101 E. R. 1529.

Annotations:—Mentd. Bodenham v. Bennett (1817), 4 Price, 31; Batson v. Donovan (1820), 4 B. & Ald. 21; Garnett v. Willan (1821), 5 B. & Ald. 53; Owen v. Burnett (1834), 3 L. J. Ex. 76; Morritt v. N. E. Ry. (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 302.

1024. ——.]—If a ship be chartered to the Comrs. of the Navy, as an armed vessel, & an injury be done to another vessel by the misconduct of the persons on board the former, while a Commander of the Navy & a King's Pilot are on board, an action for the injury may be sustained against the owners of the chartered ship.

If an injury happens through the misconduct of the master & crew the owners should be liable, but if by the misconduct of the officer, that the officer should be liable (SIR J. MANSFIELD, C.J.).—FLETCHER v. BRADDICK (1806), 2 Bos. & P. N. R. 182; 127 E. R. 593.

Annotations:—Distd. Scott v. Scott (1818), 2 Stark. 438; The Tasmania (1888), 13 P. D. 110. Refd. Omoa Coal & Iron Co. v. Huntley (1877), 2 C. P. D. 464. Mentd. Laugher v. Pointer (1826), 5 B. & C. 547.

1025. Breach of blockade.] — THE ADONIS (1804), 5 Ch. Rob. 256; 165 E. R. 767; affd. (1807), 6 Ch. Rob. XI.

Annotations:—Refd. Baltazzi v. Ryder, The Panaghia Rhomba (1858), 12 Moo. P. C. C. 168; The Kim Björnstjerne, The Björnson, The Alfred Nobel, [1920] P. 319.

1026. Failure to lower boats.]—Where the master of an American vessel, held not to be in fault, did not, at the time of the collision, order out a boat & afford assistance to save the life of a seaman who had fallen overboard from the other vessel, & was drowned, the ct. in pronouncing in favour of the American owners, refused to decree their costs. The owners of a vessel are responsible, civilly speaking, for the whole conduct of the master, & for any deviation from that line of conduct which it behoves a master to perform, not simply in the navigation of the ship, but in offices of humanity.—THE ST. LAWRENCE (1850), 7 Notes of Cases, 556; 14 Jur. 534.

1027. Failure to put pilot on shore.]—THE RICHARD REYNOLDS, PLANT v. DOEG (1855), 7 L. T. 649.

1028. Untrue or fraudulent representations.]—ASHMALL v. WOOD, No. 977, ante.

1028a. Negligence.]—Pltfs., owners of oyster beds at the mouth of a navigable river, brought an action in rem against defts., as owners of a vessel, for so negligently navigating her as to ground on the property of pltfs., & thereby do damage to their oysters & oyster beds:—Held: as the damage was not done by grounding in the ordinary course of navigation, or without notice of the existence of the oyster beds, defts. were liable for the negligence of those in charge of their vessel.—THE SWIFT, [1901] P. 168; 70 L. J. P. 47; 85 L. T. 346; 17 T. L. R. 400; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 244.

Annotation:—Refd. The Carlgarth, The Otarama, [1927] P. 93.

1029. Judgment against master—On same cause of action—Bar to action against owners.]—A separate action cannot be maintained against the master & the owner of a ship for the same identical cause of action. The creditor has an election to sue either the one or the other; but he cannot, after he has sued the one to judgment, maintain another action against the other.—PRIESTLY v. FERNIE (1865), 3 H. & C. 977; 34 L. J. Ex. 172; 13 L. T. 208; 11 Jur. N. S. 813; 13 W. R. 1089; 2 Mar. L. C. 281; 159 E. R. 820.

Annotations:—Mentd Curtis v. Williamson (1874), L. R. 10 Q. B. 57; Kendall v. Hamilton (1879), 4 App. Cas. 504; Firm of R.M.K.R.M. v. Firm of M.R.M.V.L., [1926] A. C. 761.

---

must personally account for the property of the owner entrusted to his charge, whatever may be his responsibility in a larger vessel where property may be in the custody of various officers.—BROWN v. THE ALIANCE (No. 2) (1914), 27 W. L. R. 704; 16 D. L. R. 413; 19 B. C. R. 529.—CAN.

n. ——.]—GILLIES v. SMITH (1832), 10 Sh. (Ct. of Sess.) 636.—SCOT.

PART IV. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 3.

o. Detention of ship.]—WILSON v. HOLMES (1870), 1 V. R. (Law) 53.—AUS.

p. Goods supplied.]—In an action against deft. for goods supplied by pltfs. to certain vessels at the request of the masters thereof, there was no evidence of deft. having employed the masters, &, though the vessels appeared to have been transferred to deft. before the goods were supplied, the transfers were not registered until after, nor was any express contract with deft. proved:—Held: deft. was not liable.—HAWN v. ROCHE (1876), 27 C. P. 142.—CAN.

q. Repairs.] — The authority of the captain of a ship to bind her owners for repairs, & anything incidental thereto, can only exist by reason of his being their special agent for the purpose, which he will be presumed to be only in particular cases of necessity.—BAYLEY v. TARUKNAUTH PORAMANIC (1865), Bourke, 263.—IND.

r. Advances by charterers' agents.]—BENN & CO. v. PORRET (1868), 6 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 577; 40 Sc. Jur. 278.—SCOT.

t. Powers conferred by Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, s. 246.]—The powers conferred by the above sect. upon masters, etc., were conferred upon them in their individual capacity, & not as acting for the owners, & consequently the owners were not responsible for any misuse of these powers.—O'NEIL v. RANKIN & SONS (1873), 11 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 538; 45 Sc. Jur. 346.—SCOT.

s. Liability on bills of exchange.]—MEIER & CO. v. KUCHENMEISTER (1881), 8 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 642; 18 Sc. L. R. 431.—SCOT.

SECT. 2.—NECESSARIES.

SUB-SECT. 1.—WHAT ARE NECESSARIES.

A. In General.

1030. General rule—Things fit & proper for service of ship—Such as prudent owner would require.]—A shipowner is liable for necessary repairs done to a ship by the master's order; & the word "necessary" means such as are fit & proper for the vessel upon her voyage, & such as a prudent owner himself, if present, would order. —WEBSTER v. SEEKAMP (1821), 4 B. & Ald. 352; 106 E. R. 966.

Annotations:—Apld. The Alexander (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 346; The Riga (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 516; The André Théodore (1904), 93 L. T. 184. Refd. Gunn v. Roberts (1874), 43 L. J. C. P. 233; The Orienta, [1895] P. 49; Foong Tai v. Buchheister, [1908] A. C. 458; The Mogileff, [1921] P. 236.

1031. —— —— ——.]—(1) Suit by material man for necessaries supplied to a foreign ship under Admiralty Court Act, 1840 (c. 65).

Legal definition of the term necessaries, viz. whatever is fit & proper for the service in which a vessel is engaged, & what the owner of that vessel, as a prudent man, would have ordered if present.

(2) The burden lies on the person making advances to the master to prove that they were necessary for the use of the ship, & he must show that the money was applied to such necessary purpose.—THE ALEXANDER (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 346; 1 Notes of Cases, 380; 7 L. T. 340; 6 Jur. 241; 166 E. R. 602.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. The Ella A. Clark (1863), Brown. & Lush. 32. Refd. The Sophie (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 368; The Two Ellens (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 345; The Riga (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 516; Giovanni Dapueto v. Wyltie, The Pievo Superiore (1874), L. R. 5 P. C. 482; Gunn v. Roberts (1874), 22 W. R. 652; Laws v. Smith, The Rio Tinto (1884), 9 App. Cas. 356; Northcote v. S.S. Henrich Bjorn, The Henrich Bjorn (1886), 11 App. Cas. 270; The Cella (1888), 36 W. R. 540; The Mogileff, [1921] P. 236.

1032. —— —— ——.]—(1) The term "necessaries," where used in the statutes giving the Admlty. Ct. jurisdiction over such claims, has the same meaning as is given to it by the common law cts., & signifies, whatever the owner of a vessel, as a prudent man, if present under circumstances in which his agent, in his absence, is called upon to act, would have ordered.

(2) Premiums paid by a shipbroker at the owner's request to procure insurance on freight are necessaries.

(3) Charges paid by a shipbroker at the owner's request for entering, reporting, & piloting a ship, & for tonnage & light dues, & for noting protest, are within the meaning of the term "necessaries."

(4) Advances at the owner's request for travelling expenses of the master & goods supplied for the ship's use are necessaries.

(5) Brokerage charges made by a ship's broker for acting as ship's agent, & for negotiating a charter-party, may be necessaries with the meaning of the statutes, but must be proved to come within the definition.

(6) Where a petition merely alleges that money was advanced for necessary expenses at the owner's request, without stating what those necessary expenses were, such a claim will be struck out on motion to reject or alter the petition.—THE RIGA (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 516; 41 L. J. Adm. 39; 26 L. T. 202; 20 W. R. 927; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 246.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The Tergeste (No. 2) (1902), 19 T. L. R. 91; Foong Tai v. Buchheister, [1908] A. C. 458; The Mogileff, [1921] P. 236; Pocahontas Fuel Co. v. Ambatielos (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 148. As to (2) Distd. The André Théodore (1904), 93 L. T. 184. As to (4) Refd. The Jenny Lind (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 529; The Marianne, [1891] P. 180.

1033. For purpose of Admiralty Court Act, 1840 (c. 65).]—(1) In order to establish that the necessaries supplied to a foreign ship or vessel are necessaries within above Act, the vessel must be in a state of exigency at the time; & the articles supplied must consist of articles needful for the relief of such exigency.

(2) Articles supplied for the equipment of a vessel building in a foreign dockyard not necessaries within the meaning of the statute.—THE OCEAN (1845), 2 Wm. Rob. 368; 4 Notes of Cases, 31; 7 L. T. 340; 9 Jur. 381; 166 E. R. 793.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The Wataga (1856), 28 L. T. O. S. 192; The India (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 185. As to (2) Refd. The West Friesland (1859), Sw. 454; The Heinrich Bjorn (1885), 10 P. D. 44; The Mecca, [1895] P. 95. Generally, Refd. The Feronia (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 65.

1034. ——.]—The master of a Belgian steamer, plying constantly between Ghent & London, employed an engineer, in London . . . to do some repairs, & to supply him with a new screw propeller: Held: (1) the ct. had jurisdiction under the statute, as whatever was necessary to put the machinery of a passenger steamship in the best working order was a "necessary" within the meaning of the Act; (2) where no special contract was proved, the purchaser takes at his own risk.—THE FLECHA (1854), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 438; 3 L. T. 58; 164 E. R. 252.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Northcote v. S.S. Henrich Bjorn, The Henrich Bjorn (1886), 11 App. Cas. 270; The Mecca, [1895] P. 95.

1035. ——.] — "Necessaries," in Admiralty Court Act, 1840 (c. 65), s. 6, means articles immediately necessary for the ship, as contra-distinguished from those merely necessary for the voyage.

The statute does not apply to ordinary mercantile accounts between ship-owner & agent.—THE COMTESSE DE FREGEVILLE (1861), 1 Lush. 329; 4 L. T. 713; 1 Mar. L. C. 106; 167 E. R. 146.

Annotations:—Folld. The Underwriter (1868), 25 L. T. 279. Consd. The Riga (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 516. Folld. The El Salto (1908), 25 T. L. R. 99. Refd. The Panthea (1871), 25 L. T. 389; The Mogileff, [1921] P. 236.

1036. —— Liberal construction.]—(1) A liberal meaning is to be attached to the term "necessaries," in above Act, s. 6. (2) Copper sheathing is a necessary.

(3) Where necessaries are supplied for the use & benefit of a foreign ship, the presumption is that the ship is liable.—THE PERLA (1858), Sw. 353; 7 L. T. 397; 4 Jur. N. S. 741; 166 E. R. 1164.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The Heinrich Bjorn (1883), 8 P. D. 151. As to (3) Refd. Foong Tai v. Buchheister, [1908] A. C. 458; The Mogileff, [1921] P. 236.

1037. —— Similar to common law necessaries.] —THE RIGA, No. 1032, ante.

——.]—See, also, No. 1031, ante; Nos. 1047, 1049, 1057, 1061, 1063, 1071, 1073, post.

---

PART IV. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 1.—A.

1030 i. General rule—Things fit & proper for service of ship—Such as prudent owner would require.]—In considering what goods or services supplied to a ship are "necessaries" so as to enable the person supplying them to maintain an action in rem in the Admiralty Ct., the term "necessaries" is not to be given a restricted meaning. It is not essential that such goods or services should have been supplied in some sudden emergency or to meet some urgent need. All the circumstances must be considered. The test is what a prudent owner would have considered reasonable in the circumstances.—CHRISTIE v. THE KARU (1927), 27 S. R. N. S. W. 443; 44 N. S. W. W. N. 11.—AUS.

Sect. 2.—Necessaries: Sub-sect. 1, A., B. & C.]

1038. In relation of hypothecation—Usual legal meaning.]—DROEGE v. SUART, THE KARNAK, No. 1509, post.

1039. Repairs.]—WEBSTER v. SEEKAMP, No. 1030, ante.

1040. ——.]—A claim for "repairs" to a ship held to be a claim for "necessaries" supplied to the ship.—THE TERGESTE (No. 2) (1902), 19 T. L. R. 91.

1041. Anchor.]—THE SOPHIE, No. 1071, post.

1042. Cable.]—THE SOPHIE, No. 1071, post.

1043. Rigging.]—THE SOPHIE, No. 1071, post.

1044. Screw propeller.]—THE FLECHA, No. 1034, ante.

1045. Supplies to crew on shore—Medicine & food for injured seamen.]—Several sailors on board a merchant vessel, having met with a serious accident in weighing the vessel's anchor, were taken on shore by the captain to pltf.'s, a public-house, the captain telling pltf. that the owner of the vessel would pay for what the sailors had. The captain immediately afterwards hired some fresh hands & proceeded on the voyage. At the time the sailors were entrusted to the care of pltf., there was no probability that they would be able to resume their duties for that voyage, & they remained at his house for several weeks.

In an action against the owner of the vessel for food & medicine supplied to the sailors:—Held: as the matters supplied were not necessary for the due prosecution of the voyage, the captain had no authority to pledge the owner's credit, & consequently the latter was not liable.—ORGAN v. BRODIE (1854), 10 Exch. 449; 3 C. L. R. 51; 24 L. J. Ex. 70; 24 L. T. O. S. 82; 3 W. R. 13; 156 E. R. 513.

1046. —— Refreshments for crew working on ship in dock.]—NIND v. HUTCHINSON (1855), 9 L. T. 237.

1047. Provisions for crew on board—Butcher's meat.]—Butcher's meat is a necessary within Admiralty Court Act, 1840 (c. 65), s. 6.—THE N. R. GOSFABRICK (1858), Sw. 344; 31 L. T. O. S. 345; 4 Jur. N. S. 742; 6 W. R. 871; 166 E. R. 1160.

Annotations:—Consd. The Riga (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 516. Refd. The Albert Crosby (1870), 18 W. R. 410; The Panthea (1871), 25 L. T. 389.

1048. Fitting out ship for passengers.]—THE MARY HOLLAND, MERINO v. WINCH (1855), 9 L. T. 237.

1049. Stevedoring.]—The expression "necessaries supplied" to a foreign ship in Admiralty Court Act, 1840 (c. 65), s. 6, includes necessary work & labour, such as that of a stevedore.—THE WABAN (1855), 6 L. T. 662.

1050. ——.]—THE LANCASTRIAN (1923), 155 L. T. Jo. 526.

1051. Commissions for services.]—THE RODERICK DHU, No. 1276, post.

1052. Copper sheathing.]—THE PERLA, No. 1036, ante.

1053. ——.]—THE TURLIANI, No. 343, ante.

1054. Coals.]—THE COMTESSE DE FREGEVILLE, No. 1035, ante.

1055. ——.]—Pltfs. supplied coals at Alexandria, Port Said & Algiers to a steamship belonging to Jeddah in Asiatic Turkey & also at Port Said advanced her canal dues. To recover payment, pltfs., on the arrival of the vessel in this country commenced an action in rem for necessaries & arrested her:—Held: Under Admiralty Court Act, 1861 (c. 10), s. 5, the ct. had jurisdiction. Semble: in respect of the necessaries supplied at Alexandria & Algiers the ct. also had jurisdiction under Admiralty Court Act, 1840 (c. 65), s. 6, those places being "upon the high seas" within the meaning of that sect.—THE MECCA, [1895] P. 95; 64 L. J. P. 40; 71 L. T. 711; 43 W. R. 209; 11 T. L. R. 139; 39 Sol. Jo. 132; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 529, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Pocahontas Fuel Co. v. Ambaticlos (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 148.

1056. Items of general mercantile account.]—THE COMTESSE DE FREGEVILLE, No. 1035, ante.

1057. ——.]—The ct. will not exercise the powers conferred upon it by the Admiralty Courts Acts, 1840 & 1861, to enforce the payment of a claim for necessaries where these are merely items forming part of a general mercantile account between a shipowner & agent.—EL SALTO (1908), 25 T. L. R. 99.

Annotation:—Distd. The Mogileff, [1921] P. 236.

1058. Travelling expenses—Agent.]—The expenses of an agent for coming from Newcastle to London to assist the master in the defence of a vessel prosecuted in a cause of collision, & for attending the trial:—Held: not to be necessaries.—THE BONNE AMELIE (1865), L. R. 1 A. & E. 19; 35 L. J. Adm. 115; 14 L. T. 191; 2 Mar. L. C. 321.

Annotation:—Consd. The Riga (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 516.

1059. —— Master.]—THE RIGA, No. 1032, ante.

1060. Brokerage.]—THE RIGA, No. 1032, ante.

1061. ——.]—There is no jurisdiction to entertain an action in rem against a foreign ship for brokerage on a charterparty, such a claim not falling within the word "necessaries" in Admiralty Court Act, 1840 (c. 65), s. 6.—THE MARIANNE, [1891] P. 180; 60 L. J. P. 39; 64 L. T. 539; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 34.

Annotation:—Refd. The Mogileff, [1921] P. 236.

1062. Insurance premiums.]—THE RIGA, No. 1032, ante.

1063. ——.]—Sums paid by a broker as insurance premiums for the purpose of effecting insurances on the hull & safe arrival of a vessel, or sums due to underwriters as premiums cannot be recovered by the broker or by the underwriters as necessaries within Admiralty Court Act, 1840 (c. 65), s. 6; &, as such sums are not necessaries, the broker & underwriters have no right to proceed against the ship in rem.—THE ANDRÉ THÉODORE (1904), 93 L. T. 184; 10 Asp.

---

1039 i. Repairs.]—A claim for money advanced to a foreign ship to pay for repairs, equipment, & outfitting is a claim for necessaries.—WILLIAMS & LAKE ERIE & DETROIT RIVER RY. CO. v. THE FLORA & THE ROSE D. BROWN (1897), 6 Exch. C. R. 137.—CAN.

1062 i. Insurance premiums.]—The insurance of a ship is not a necessary within 26 Vict. c. 24, s. 10.—STOKES v. THE CONFERENCE (1887), 8 N. S. W. L. R. (Adm.) 10; 3 N. S. W. W. N. 130.—AUS.

b. Fishing stores 'or fishing tackle.]—Fishing-stores or fishing-tackle, such as hooks, gaffs, nippers, & knives, used in a fishing-boat, are "necessaries," for which the ship is liable.—PICHON v. THE ALLIANCE (No. 2) (1914), 20 B. C. R. 560; 28 W. L. R. 632; 20 D. L. R. 70.—CAN.

c. Provisions.]—CLOY v. JACQUES (1867), 27 U. C. R. 88.—CAN.

d. Lining.]—Action for necessaries brought by the promoter, a shipliner and carpenter of Montreal. The Glendevon came to Montreal with a cargo of coal; she was to take a cargo of wheat on her return voyage & the promoter was employed by the master to line her so as to undertake this voyage. He did the work & brought the action for the price of it, $666.15:—Held: such lining came under the terms "necessaries" in Imperial Act, 26 Vict. c. 24, s. 10 (10).—Re THE GLENDEVON (1884), 10 Q. L. R. 295.—CAN.

e. Alterations in structure & equipment—To change style of fishing craft.]—Alterations in the structure & equipment of a vessel in order to change her from one style of fishing craft into another are "necessaries" within Admiralty Courts Act, 1861, s. 5

M. L. C. 94; sub nom. THE ANDRÉ THÉODORE, ADAMS v. ANDRÉ THÉODORE (OWNERS), 21 T. L. R. 158.

Annotations:—Apld. Nolan, Galloway v. Uzielli (1905), 54 W. R. 250. Refd. The Mogileff, [1921] P. 236.

1064. Charges connected with discharge of cargo—Quay rent for cargo.]—The agents at New York of the steamer A., made payments in connection with the discharge of her cargo at New York. In an action against the A. in rem to recover these disbursements as necessaries it was contended that they were made in respect of the cargo only, & were not necessaries to the ship:—Held: payments though made in respect of the cargo were necessaries to the ship if she could not go on her business without them. As the business of the A. consisted in entering the port of New York, discharging her cargo, & leaving the port, payment of charges which, being unpaid, would prevent her from doing any of these things was necessary to the A., notwithstanding that the amount disbursed did not become due, nor was the disbursement made, until after the A. had left New York. Quay rent for cargo, & the cost of destroying putrid cargo, were necessaries to the A., since by the law of New York she was liable for these charges, & could have been prevented from sailing had they not been paid.—THE ARZPEITIA (1921), 126 L. T. 29; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 426.

1065. —— Cost of destroying putrid cargo.]—THE ARZPEITIA, No. 1064, ante.

B. Advances for Purpose of Necessaries.

1066. Whether regarded as "necessaries."]—SCARREBORROW v. LYRIUS (1628), Noy, 95; 74 E. R. 1061.

1067. ——.]—The owner of a vessel is liable for money supplied to the captain in a foreign port, provided the supply be absolutely necessary for the use of the vessel.—ROCHER v. BUSHER (1815), 1 Stark. 27; 171 E. R. 391, N. P.

Annotation:—Consd. The Alexander (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 346.

1068. ——.]—The owner, in England, is liable for money advanced to the master at his request for the necessary use of the ship, after her arrival in an English port; nor is the consent of the owner necessary to establish his responsibility.—ROBINSON v. LYALL (1819), 7 Price, 592; 146 E. R. 1071.

Annotations:—Apld. Arthur v. Barton (1840), 6 M. & W. 138. Consd. The Alexander (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 346. Dbtd. Beldon v. Campbell (1851), 6 Exch. 886. Refd. Edwards v. Havill (1853), 14 C. B. 107; The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289.

1069. —— Money must be advanced for that purpose.]—The owner of a ship is not liable for money advanced to the master, & expended by him in the necessary use of the ship, unless the money is advanced expressly for that purpose.—THACKER v. MOATES (1831), 1 Mood. & R. 79, N. P.

1070. —— Necessity question for jury.]—ARTHUR v. BARTON, No. 1119, post.

1071. —— Proof of necessity required.]—It is absolutely necessary, when the owner is abroad, to prove not only that the articles supplied were necessaries, but that they were actually wanting for the service of the ship at the time when they were made. The technical meaning of the term necessaries I have already explained, as strictly applying to anchors, cables, rigging, & matters of that description; & at the same time, I consider myself at liberty to enlarge the term necessaries so as to include money expended upon necessaries; but in such cases, I must be satisfied that the necessaries were wanting, & that the money was bonâ fide advanced for the purpose of procuring them (per CUR.).—THE SOPHIE (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 368; 1 Notes of Cases, 393; 3 L. T. 153; 166 E. R. 610.

Annotations:—Distd. The N. R. Gosfabrick (1858), Sw. 344. Apld. The Masonic (1861), 5 L. T. 460; The Albert Crosby (1870), 18 W. R. 410. Consd. The Riga (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 516.

1072. —— Borrowing advantageous to owner.]—EDWARDS v. HAVILL, No. 1123, post.

1073. —— Advance to pay averages.]—A claim for money advanced to a master to pay averages dismissed with costs, such advances not being "necessaries" within 3 & 4 Vict. c. 65, s. 6.—THE AALTJE WILLEMINA (1866), L. R. 1 A. & E. 107.

Annotation:—Consd. The Riga (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 516.

1074. —— Advance to discharge shipwright's lien.]—A., being master & sole owner of a vessel, put her into a shipwright's dock for repair. The shipwright repaired the vessel, & refused to allow her to leave his dock until his bill for the repairs was paid. A. having no funds, pltf. lent him money to pay the shipwright's bill, & A. paid the bill with the money lent:—Held: pltf. was entitled to recover the amount of the loan in a suit for necessaries.—THE ALBERT CROSBY (1870), L. R. 3 A. & E. 37; 18 W. R. 410.

Annotation:—Apld. The Tergeste (No. 2) (1902), 19 T. L. R. 91.

1075. —— Advance to discharge dock dues.]—A person who has advanced money for the purpose of discharging dock dues stands in the same position as the dock co., & his claim ranks with pilotage & towage claims, & has priority over the claim of a holder of a bottomry bond of a previous date.—THE ST. LAWRENCE (1880), 5 P. D. 250; 49 L. J. P. 82.

Annotations:—Distd. The Lyons (1887), 57 L. T. 818. Consd. Westrup v. Great Yarmouth Steam Carrying Co. (1889), 43 Ch. D. 241; The Petone, [1917] P. 198. Refd. Pocahontas Fuel Co. v. Ambatielos (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 148.

See, also, Sect. 2, sub-sect. 2, C., post.

C. Onus of Proof.

1076. Plaintiff to prove necessity—& application of money borrowed.]—In an action against the owner of a ship for money supplied to the captain at a foreign port, it is not sufficient to prove the advance of a much larger sum than was necessary for the use of the ship, & an application of part of that sum to such uses, & that the residue was placed to the private account of the captain. It is essential to prove the advance of a specific sum, that it was necessary for the use of the ship, & that it was so applied in fact.—PALMER v. GOOCH (1818), 2 Stark. 428; 171 E. R. 694, N. P.

Annotation:—Consd. The Alexander (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 346.

1077. —— ——.]—To charge the owners of a ship with money advanced to the captain in a foreign country, pltf. must show that it was necessary to borrow the money, & must prove the actual application of it. Where the paper, in which a party charges himself with the receipt of

---

(c. 10).—VICTORIA MACHINERY DEPOT CO., LTD. v. THE "CANADA & THE TRIUMPH" (1913), 15 Exch. C. R. 142; 17 D. L. R. 27.—CAN.

1064 1. Charges connected with discharge of cargo—Quay rent for cargo.]—On May 27, 1926, deft. ship, a foreign ship, discharged her cargo at the port of Hamilton & loaded another cargo. Pltf.'s dock & warehouse were used by deft. ship under the authority of the master thereof. Deft. was bound to incur the charges made for the use of this dock & warehouse before he could discharge his cargo & leave the port of Hamilton:—Held: such charges were to be considered as "necessaries" within Admiralty Act.—HAMILTON HARBOUR COMRS. v. THE WENCHITA, [1927] Exch. C. R. 176.—CAN.

Sect. 2.—Necessaries: Sub-sect. 1, C.; sub-sect. 2, A.] money, likewise contains a discharge of it, it is not admissible in evidence.—BOGLE v. ATTY (1818), Gow, 50; 171 E. R. 835, N. P.

1078. —— ——.]—THE ALEXANDER, No. 1031, ante.

1079. —— ——.]—THE SOPHIE, No. 1071, ante.

1080. ——.]—In an action against a shipowner for goods supplied, & money lent to the master, at a foreign port, the onus is on pltf. to prove that the goods & money supplied were necessaries.—MACKINTOSH v. MITCHESON (1849), 4 Exch. 175; 18 L. J. Ex. 385; 13 L. T. O. S. 344; 154 E. R. 1171.

Annotation:—Consd. Ashmall v. Wood (1857), 30 L. T. O. S. 20.

1081. ——.]—THE RIGA, No. 1032, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 2.—LIABILITY OF OWNER.

A. In General.

1082. General rule—Owner liable.]—Master of a ship buys provisions for the ship, & has money from the owners to pay for the provisions, but fails without paying the money. The owners are liable to pay in proportion to their respective shares in the ship.

Master of a ship is but a servant to the owners.—SPEERMAN v. DEGRAVE (1709), 2 Vern. 643; 23 E. R. 1020.

Annotation:—Reld. Samsun v. Brag[g]lington (1750), 1 Ves. Sen. 443.

1083. —— ——.]—By the custom of merchants, if the master of a ship be supplied with necessaries for the ship, by the order or on the credit of any freighter, the owner of the ship is liable to pay such freighter; & on this ground it is customary for freighters to furnish the masters of the ships they take to freight, with letters of credit for whatever money they may happen to want, for the necessary service of the ship.—CARY v. WHITE (1710), 5 Bro. Parl. Cas. 325; 2 E. R. 708, H. L.

Annotations:—Distd. Webster v. Seekamp (1821), 4 B. & Ald. 352. Reld. Bogle v. Atty (1818), Gow, 50; Palmer v. Gooch (1818), 2 Stark. 428; The Alexander (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 346.

1084. —— ——.]—GARNUM v. BENNET (1728), 1 Barn. K. B. 96; 2 Stra. 816; 94 E. R. 67.

1085. —— —— Unless liability expressly excluded.]—Re STRICKLAND, Ex p. BLAND, No. 445, ante.

1086. —— —— Express or presumed authority of master — Rebuttal of presumption.] — The relation between the owner & commander of a vessel, as to the ordering & payment of necessaries & repairs, is exactly the same as between a master & servant generally; & consequently, the presumption of an implied authority of the commander to order repairs to be done on the credit of the owner, may be repudiated by circumstances, as where the commander promises to pay ready cash, & no mention is made of the owner's responsibility.—GORDON v. HARE (1823), 1 L. J. O. S. K. B. 70.

1087. —— —— —— ——.]—Action for goods sold & delivered, work, labour & materials. Plea, never indebted. Pltf. proved that he supplied the goods & did the work to fit out the ship P. then in London in dock. That the orders were given by T., who appeared on the register as master, & that deft. appeared on the register as owner. Some evidence was given from which it might be inferred that T. was appointed by deft. Deft. proved that he had agreed to sell the P. to one G., that T. was appointed master by G., & gave the orders for G.; & that deft. afterwards resumed possession of the vessel. The judge directed the jury that, if T. acted as master with deft.'s privity & consent, & the goods were bonâ fide supplied on the credit of the owner, deft. was liable; & that, though deft.'s evidence was believed, he was not conclusively entitled to a verdict. On a bill of exceptions:—Held: deft. was not liable for the goods ordered by T. unless he had sanctioned T.'s appearing to be his captain acting for him, & the goods were supplied on the faith of T.'s being so; &, consequently, the direction was wrong. Qu.: whether the primâ facie authority of the captain of a ship in dock in London extends to order repairs, the owner being no farther distant than Liverpool?—MITCHESON v. OLIVER (1855), 5 E. & B. 419; 3 C. L. R. 1104; 25 L. J. Q. B. 39; 25 L. T. O. S. 258; 1 Jur. N. S. 900; 119 E. R. 537, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Consd. Pearson v. Neli (1865), 6 New Rep. 304; Hibbs v. Ross (1866), L. R. 1 Q. B. 534; The Great Eastern (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 88. Reld. Hackwood v. Lyall (1855), 17 C. B. 124; Mackenzie v. Pooley (1856), 11 Exch. 638; Myers v. Willis (1856), 18 C. B. 886; Whitwell v. Perrin (1858), 4 C. B. N. S. 412; The Troubadour (1866), L. R. 1 A. & E. 302; The Orienta, [1894] P. 271. Mentd. Currey v. Armitage (1858), 6 W. R. 516; Ley v. Peter (1858), 3 H. & N. 101; Flower v. Allan (1863), 2 H. & C. 688.

1088. —— —— ——.]—FROST v. OLIVER, No. 378, ante.

1089. —— —— ——.]—The liability of the owner of a vessel to pay for repairs & equipments ordered by the master, depends, not upon the ground of ownership of the vessel, but upon the ground of a contract made with the vendor by a person who was the owner's agent for the purpose of ordering such necessaries. The master's contracts cannot bind the owner, unless authority to bind the owner has been actually given to him; or unless the owner has, by word or deed, held out the master as his master, & thereby induced the vendor to supply the necessaries upon the credit of the owner. The owners of a vessel entered into an agreement & charterparty, by which it was provided (inter alia) that the master, officers & crew should be appointed by the owners, be under their control, & be dismissed by them, but that their wages should be paid by the charterer, it was also provided that the master should act as supervisor of the repairs & fittings of the ship.

---

PART IV. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 1.—C.

1080 i. Plaintiff to prove necessity.]—A ship's master incurred a debt in a foreign port. In an action against the owners for payment the latter were assoilzied, in respect the pursuers had not proved that the debt was for necessary & proper charges for the ship.—DRAIN & Co. v. SCOTT (1864), 3 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 114.—SCOT.

PART IV. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 2.—A.

1082 i. General rule—Owner liable.]—Where the managing owner & the master of a ship order necessaries for the ship on credit, the owners are liable.—SMITH v. FULTON (1877), 11 N. S. R. (2 R. & C.) 225.—CAN.

1082 ii. —— ——.]—The managing owner of a fishing vessel let to the captain & crew on the "quarter lay" is not liable for supplies furnished to the crew of the vessel unless he specially authorises the advances to be made on the credit of the vessel & owners.—CROWELL v. SMITH (1900), 32 N. S. R. 505.—CAN.

1082 iii. —— ——.]—STEWART v. HALL (1813), 2 Dow, 29.—SCOT.

1082 iv. —— ——.]—CARSWELL v. FINLAY (1887), 14 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 903; 24 Sc. L. R. 643.—SCOT.

f. Master servant of charterers & not of owner—Owner not liable.]—THE DAVID WALLACE v. BAIN (1903), 23 C. L. T. 103; 8 Exch. C. R. 205.—CAN.

g. Claim by material men—Against surplus proceeds lying in court registry.]—Re PROCEEDS OF THE ASIA, Ex p. HORMASJI & UKARJI (1868), 5 Bom. O. C. 64.—IND.

h. Presumption that necessaries supplied on credit of ship—Whether rebuttable.]—Necessaries supplied to a

An action having been brought for necessaries supplied to the ship while under this charter, by the master's order, who stated in his evidence that he considered himself as acting for & as the servant of both owners & charterer:—Held: the owners had held out the master as their master, & they were therefore liable for the debt.—THE GREAT EASTERN (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 88; 17 L. T. 667; 3 Mar. L. C. 58.

Annotations:—Refd. The Orienta, [1894] P. 271; The Wellgunde (1902), 18 T. L. R. 719.

1090. —— —— ——.]—THE WELLGUNDE (1902), 18 T. L. R. 719.

1091. —— —— ——.] — Pltfs. were an American co. carrying on business at Norfolk, Virginia, & deft. was a Greek shipowner. In Jan. 1921, a steamer belonging to deft. called at Norfolk for coal. Pltfs. supplied her with coal & made certain disbursements on her behalf whereby deft. became indebted to pltfs. in a sum $15,174. In payment the master gave to pltfs. a bill of exchange drawn on deft.'s agent in London & payable in sterling. The amount for which the bill was drawn was £4,262 11*s.* 0*d.* which represented the value in sterling of $15,174 at the rate of exchange then prevailing. At the date when the bill became payable the rate of exchange had moved in favour of England & £4,262 11*s.* 0*d.* had become worth $16,368. Deft. refused to pay the full sum of £4,262 11*s.* 0*d.* but tendered $15,174 which pltfs. accepted. Deft. contended that the sum was accepted in full satisfaction; pltfs. said that they had only accepted it on account & they now sued for a sum of £310 16*s.* 3*d.* representing the outstanding balance of $1,194. Deft. refused to pay on the ground that the master in giving the bill had exceeded his authority; pltfs. contended that the master had power to give the bill on these grounds, because he had such power by special contract between the parties, by the course of business between the parties, or by general implication of law:—Held: (1) on the facts the master had no power by special contract to give a bill binding on deft., but (2) he had such power in consequence of the course of dealing which had taken place between the parties; & judgment must therefore be entered for pltfs.; & (3) obiter whether in any case a master has power to draw a bill on the owner in payment for necessaries supplied to the ship must depend on the particular circumstances of the case.—POCAHONTAS FUEL CO. (INCORPORATED) v. AMBATIELOS (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 148.

1092. Credit given personally to owners.]—HOSKINS v. SLAYTON, No. 1127, post.

1093. ——.]—Where goods were ordered for a ship by the owner before the appointment of the captain, though some were not delivered till afterwards, yet as no personal credit was given to the captain, he is not answerable for any of them.—FARMER v. DAVIES (1786), 1 Term Rep. 108; 99 E. R. 1000.

Annotation:—Refd. The Neptune (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 129.

1094. Master lessee of ship.] —Though the master of a vessel, be also lessee of it, by agreement with the owners, for a term of years, under covenants on their part, that he shall have the sole management of the ship, & employ her for his own sole benefit, etc., & on his part, that he shall repair her at his own sole cost & charge, etc., the owners are still liable for necessaries furnished for the ship by order of the master, though without their knowledge, or without their being known to the person who supplied them.—RICH v. COE (1777), 2 Cowp. 636; 98 E. R. 1281.

Annotations:—Dbtd. Westerdell v. Dale (1797), 7 Term Rep. 306; Priestly v. Fernie (1865), 3 H. & C. 977. Refd. Yates v. Hall (1785), 1 Term Rep. 73; Jackson v. Vernon (1789), 1 Hy. Bl. 114; The Neptune (1833) 3 Hag. Adm. 129.

1095. ——.]—The registered owner of a ship having chartered her to the then captain at a rent for a certain number of voyages is not liable for stores furnished to the ship by order of the charterer during the charter-party.—FRAZER v. MARSH (1811), 13 East, 238; 2 Camp. 517; 104 E. R. 362.

Annotations:—Folld. Reeve v. Davis (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 312. Distd. Frost v. Oliver (1853), 2 E. & B. 301; Steel v. Lester (1877), 3 C. P. D. 121. Apld. Baumwoll Manufactur Von Carl Scheibler v. Furness, [1893] A. C. 8. Refd. M'Iver v. Humble (1812), 16 East, 169; Hutton v. Bragg (1816), 7 Taunt. 14; Helme v. Smith (1831), 9 L. J. O. S. C. P. 206; Jackson v. S.S. Blanche, The Hopper No. 66, [1908] A. C. 126; Associated Portland Cement Manufacturers (1910), Ltd. v. Ashton, [1915] 2 K. B. 1.

1096. Order by agent of owner—Payment by owners to agent—Failure of agent to pay.]—Repairs & furnishings done at Hull to a Greenock ship, by order of the agents of the owner, at the instance & under the direction of the master. Account made out to "Captain C., the master, & owners of ship Jeanie" attested by C., & addressed to the agents for payment, but payment not demanded for some months. In the meantime, the owner pays the agents for the repairs. The agents become embarrassed in their circumstances, upon which those who did the repairs apply for payment to the owner:—Held: the owner is still liable; for he can be discharged only by positive agreement, or by necessary inference that those who did the repairs have abandoned that security.—STEWART v. HALL (1813), 2 Dow, 29; 3 E. R. 777, H. L.

1097. Authority to draw bills—On third party.]—There is no implied undertaking on the part of the owner of a ship, that a bill of exchange drawn by the master on a third person for money advanced for the ship's use abroad, shall be duly honoured.—HARDER v. BROTHERSTONE (1815), 4 Camp. 254; 171 E. R. 81, N. P.

1098. —— On Owner.]—POCAHONTAS FUEL CO. (INCORPORATED) v. AMBATIELOS, No. 1091, ante.

1099. —— —— Indemnification of master against loss or damage.]—Where the owners of a ship instruct the captain to make purchases in a foreign country, & to draw bills upon them in payment, the promise implied by the law is not a promise to accept or pay the bills, but a promise to indemnify the captain against any loss, damage, etc., sustained by him from having drawn the bills. —HUNTLEY v. SANDERSON (1833), 1 Cr. & M. 467; 3 Tyr. 469; 2 L. J. Ex. 204; 149 E. R. 483.

1100. Ownership without privity of contract.]—BAKER v. BUCKLE, No. 283, ante.

1101. Agreement for advance of money—Goods supplied & payments made—No actual advance.]—Where A. the charterer of a vessel, by the charter-party agreed that on the arrival of the ship at the ship are primâ facie presumed to have been supplied on the credit of the ship, but that presumption can be rebutted by evidence of facts going to show that the person who supplied or paid for the necessaries, looked for payment to the person at whose instance he furnished the supplies or advanced the sums & not to the owner of the ship.—HEIWA MARU (OWNER) v. BIRD & CO. (1923), I. L. R. 1 Ran. 78.—IND.

---

k. Action against agent not satisfied—Whether owners liable.]—Although the owners of a ship are liable for furnishings made to her in a foreign port on the order of the ship's agent, yet if the furnisher selects the agent as his debtor, he cannot, especially after a lapse of time & the insolvency of the agent, recur to the owners, who have in the meantime paid for the furnishings to their agent.—SCOTTS & STEVENSON v. CARSEWELL (1839), 1 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 1215; 35 Fac. Coll. 1214. —SCOT.

l. Onus of proof.] — A ship's master incurred a debt in a foreign port. In an action against the owners for outward port, he would, through his agent there, supply cash to the master for the disbursement of the vessel to be repaid by bills to be drawn by the master on the owner; &, on the arrival of the vessel there, the agent supplied goods for the use of the crew & paid certain money demands made on the master, but did not advance any actual cash :—Held: although it was not shown that any bills were drawn by the master for the amount, A. might recover it from the owner in an action for goods sold & delivered & for money paid, the master having authority to obtain supplies of goods & money for the necessary use of the ship on the credit of the owner, independently of the express stipulation of the charterparty.—WESTON v. WRIGHT (1841), 7 M. & W. 396; 10 L. J. Ex. 329; 5 Jur. 197.

Sect. 2.—Necessaries: Sub-sect. 2, A., B. & C.]

1102. Whether agency of master established—Question for jury.]—In an action against the owner of a ship, to recover money advanced to the captain for the use of the ship whilst in a home port :—Held: the only question for the jury was, whether, under the circumstances, the captain's position was such as to constitute him the authorised agent of the owner, in order to procure such advances, & the state of the accounts between the captain & the owner at the time had nothing to do with the case.—WILLIAMSON v. PAGE (1844), 1 Car. & Kir. 581.

Annotation :—Reld. Frost v. Oliver (1853), 2 E. & B. 301.

1103. Money advanced to captain whilst in home port.]—WILLIAMSON v. PAGE, No. 1102, ante.

1104. Master working on "clear fifths" principle.]—THE DEBORAH, JOHNSON v. WARD (1856), 9 L. T. 237.

1105. Liability question of contract not ownership.]—PEARSON v. NELL, No. 1133, post.

1106. ——.]—THE GREAT EASTERN, No. 1089, ante.

1107. Authority limited—To knowledge of party supplying necessaries—Power of master to vary contract—Ratification by owner.]—Where pltfs. contracted with the agent of an absent shipowner to effect certain specified repairs, all confined to damage by stranding, & instead of doing the work as stipulated alleged that they had on the agent's authority, done the equivalent thereto or better, & in the same contract stipulated that they should be paid for repairs due to deterioration at scheduled prices stated by them :—Held: it appearing that the agent's authority to their knowledge was limited to the said specified repairs, they could not recover on the contract which was an entire one, & in its entirety had never been performed, the shipowner having taken the ship as repaired & sold it did not thereby ratify the contract.—FORMAN & CO. PROPRIETARY v. THE SHIP LIDDESDALE, [1900] A. C. 190; 69 L. J. P. C. 44; 82 L. T. 331; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 45, P. C.

Annotation :—Mentd. Dakin v. Lee, [1916] 1 K. B. 566.

1108. Effect of existence of time charter—Liability of charterer for necessaries.]—Where pltfs. at the request of the master of a Norwegian vessel made necessary payments & disbursements for the vessel in a British port without knowing of the existence of the time charter :—Held: the fact that the ship was under a time charter, by the terms of which such payments & disbursements were mostly to be for charterer's account, did not affect the right of the master to pledge the credit of the shipowners, & such right would not have been affected by pltfs.' knowing of the existence of the time charter without being aware of its terms.—THE TOLLA, [1921] P. 22; 90 L. J. P. 103; 37 T. L. R. 73.

1109. ——.]—WEISE & CO. v. THE HETTIE (1920), 5 Lloyd, L. R. 440.

B. On Sale of Ship.

1110. Whether vendor or purchaser liable—Failure to register sale.]—YOUNG v. BRANDER, No. 142, ante.

1111. —— After transfer of legal title.]—TREWHELLA v. ROWE, No. 372, ante.

1112. —— Imperfect sale afterwards rescinded.]—FROST v. OLIVER, No. 378, ante.

1113. —— Executory contract of sale.]—Pltf. by a letter dated June 4, 1858, addressed to one T., agreed to take certain shares in a vessel called the Conrad, belonging to T., on account of a debt due to him from T., & also to take upon himself all liabilities after the vessel had discharged her cargo at S. Pltf., with several other creditors of T., afterwards signed the following latter, dated July 14, 1858, & addressed to T.: "Sir,—We, the undersigned, agree to purchase the ships in the annexed statement at the prices there put down, in the proportions set down opposite to our names, it being understood as part of this agreement that the debts owing by you to us annexed be taken to their full amount in payment or part payment of the said purchases." By the statement annexed to such letter pltf. was entered as a purchaser of the said shares of the Conrad. Pltf. sold these shares to deft., who signed a memorandum, dated Sept. 30, 1858, & addressed to pltf., in which he said, "I have this day bought from you sixteen sixty-fourth shares of the barque Conrad, 328, now registered in your name at the custom house, for the sum of £700, & all liabilities or profits on the said shares from the time of your purchase from T. for which you are liable as owner, in any way, or entitled to if there be any profits or balance in your favour." At the time deft. signed such memorandum he was aware of the letter of July 14 but not of the letter of June 4. T. did not execute a bill of sale of the shares to pltf. until Sept. 14, 1858. Pltf. having paid certain expenses incurred on account of the Conrad after the ship had discharged her cargo at S., & before the said bill of sale had been executed to him, sued deft. for the same upon the contract of Sept. 30, 1858 :—Held: pltf. could not recover such expenses, as the letter of July 14 was the only letter which could be connected with the contract, & there was therefore nothing to show any liability of pltf. before he had become legal owner of the shares in the ship which deft. had contracted to pay; qu.: whether the contract of Sept. 30, 1858, was altogether void by reason of 17 & 18 Vict. c. 104, s. 55.—CHAPMAN v. CALLIS (1861), 9 C. B. N. S. 769; 30 L. J. C. P. 241; 3 L. T. 890; 7 Jur. N. S. 995; 9 W. R. 375; 1 Mar. L. C. 37; 142 E. R. 303.

Annotation :—Reld. Stuckey v. Bailey (1862), 10 W. R. 720.

1114. —— Whether registered title conclusive.]—JENNINGS v. GRIFFITHS, No. 370, ante.

1115. —— ——.]—The registered owner of a ship is, primâ facie, liable for goods furnished for the use of that ship; but such liability may be rebutted by evidence of the credit having been given to others.

If there be a bill of sale of a ship, not containing payment, the latter were assoilzied in respect the pursuers had not proved that the debt was for necessary & proper charges for the ship.—DRAIN & CO. v. SCOTT (1864), 3 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 114; 37 Sc. Jur. 64.—SCOT.

---

m. Whether shipowner liable to shipbroker employed by charterer.]—BARNETSON v. PETERSEN BROTHERS (1902), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 86; 40 Sc. L. R. 56; 10 S. L. T. 345.—SCOT.

any qualification, & such unqualified bill of sale be entered properly on the register, & there be also a deed of defeasance, making void such bill of sale on the payment of a sum of money, the deed of defeasance may be given in evidence on the part of deft., charged, in an action for goods, as the registered owner, in order to show the qualified nature of such deft.'s ownership.—COX v. REID (1824), 1 C. & P. 602; Ry. & M. 199; 171 E. R. 1334, N. P.

Annotations:—Consd. Frost v. Oliver (1853), 2 E. & B. 301. Refd. Hibbs v. Ross (1866), L. R. 1 Q. B. 534.

1116. —— —— Proof of agency of master.]—The fact of a person being the registered owner of a ship is not of itself evidence that the master has authority to bind him by contracts for necessaries supplied to the ship; but it must be shown that the master is his agent for that purpose.

Therefore, where a ship sailed for a foreign port, the master having a power of attorney from the owner, & whilst the ship was at the port deft. purchased it:—Held: he did not thereby become liable for necessaries supplied to the ship by order of the master.—MACKENZIE v. POOLEY (1856), 11 Exch. 638; 25 L. J. Ex. 124; 26 L. T. O. S. 223; 4 W. R. 262; 156 E. R. 986.

Annotation:—Consd. Myers v. Willis (1856), 18 C. B. 886.

C. Facilities for Communication with Owner.

1117. General rule.]—The master of a ship has, in the absence of the owner or means of communicating with him, authority to pledge his credit for all things necessary for the purpose of conducting the navigation to a favourable termination; & for that purpose he may borrow money for services which require prompt payment; but he has no authority to borrow money in order to pay for services already rendered.

Therefore, where the state of the weather rendered it necessary that a vessel should be towed into its port of destination, which was accordingly done, without any previous agreement as to payment:—Held: (1) the master had no authority to borrow money on the owner's credit for the purpose of paying the towage; (2) the ship, having arrived at its port of destination, [in England] & the owner residing at a distance where he might have been easily communicated with, the master had no authority to borrow money in order to enable a shipwright, who was engaged on the necessary repairs of the vessel, to pay his workmen on a Saturday.—BELDON v. CAMPBELL (1851), 6 Exch. 886; 20 L. J. Ex. 342; 17 L. T. O. S. 257; 155 E. R. 805.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Edwards v. Havill (1853), 17 Jur. 1103. Consd. Frost v. Oliver (1853), 2 E. & B. 301. As to (2) Consd. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289. Refd. Anderson v. Ocean Steam Co. (1884), 10 App. Cas. 107. Generally, Mentd. Brady v. Todd (1861), 4 L. T. 212.

1118. ——.]—The doctrine of authority by necessity in the case of the master of a ship only applies when he cannot communicate with the owner (LORD ESHER, M.R.).—GWILLIAM v. TWIST as reported in, [1895] 2 Q. B. 84, C. A.

Annotations:—Mentd. Beard v. London General Omnibus Co., [1900] 2 Q. B. 530; Harris v. Fiat Motors (1906), 22 T. L. R. 556; Ricketts v. Tilling, [1915] 1 K. B. 644; Prager v. Blatspiel, Stamp & Heacock, [1924] 1 K. B. 566; Jebara v. Ottoman Bank, [1927] 2 K. B. 254.

1119. Ship in English port—Owner without agent in port.]—The master of a ship has authority by law to pledge the credit of his owner, resident in England, for money advanced to the master in an English port where the owner has no agent, if such advance of money was necessary for the prosecution of the voyage; & whether it was so or not is a question for the jury.—ARTHUR v. BARTON (1840), 6 M. & W. 138; 9 L. J. Ex. 187; 7 L. T. 224; 151 E. R. 355.

Annotations:—Apld. Johns v. Simons (1842), 2 Q. B. 425; Wallace v. Fielden, The Oriental (1851), 7 Moo. P. C. C. 398. Consd. Gunn v. Roberts (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 331. Refd. Weston v. Wright (1841), 7 M. & W. 396; Duncan v. Benson (1847), 17 L. J. Ex. 238; Gibbs v. Gray, Gray v. Gibbs (1857), 26 L. J. Ex. 286.

1120. —— Communication easily obtained.]—In a home port, as well as a foreign one, the master of a ship has implied authority to borrow money on the owner's credit in case of necessity. But, it was held that the master had no implied authority to pledge the owner's credit in respect of necessary supplies & advances for the use of the vessel during several weeks while she lay at Newport, Monmouthshire, the owner, during all the time, having resided at Plymouth, & nothing appearing to have prevented a communication, if desired, between the master & owner.—STONEHOUSE v. GENT (1841), 2 Q. B. 431, n.; 114 E. R. 170, n.; sub nom. STONEHOUSE v. GRANT, 7 L. T. 224.

Annotations:—Apld. Johns v. Simons (1842), 2 Q. B. 424. Distd. Snowdon v. Chadwick (1850), 15 L. T. O. S. 140. Apld. Wallace v. Fielden, The Oriental (1851), 7 Moo. P. C. C. 398. Refd. Williamson v. Page (1845), 1 C. B. 464.

1121. —— ——.]—In a home port, as well as a foreign one, the master has implied authority to borrow money for the necessary use of the ship, if the owner is absent & no communication with him can be had without great prejudice & delay. But, where the ship was in the port of Swansea & the owner at Llanelly, only eleven miles distant, & the master, being in want of money to clear the vessel, & having been unable to raise it, as the owner had directed, by selling part of the cargo, sent three messages to the owner for money but received no money, whereupon he borrowed £10 of pltf., telling him of the applications made to the owner:—Held: the master was not authorised to borrow, & the lender could not recover the money from the owner. Though the jury found that the money was advanced for the necessary use of the ship, & on the credit of the owner, not the master.—JOHNS v. SIMONS (1842), 2 Q. B. 425; 7 L. T. 224; 114 E. R. 168.

Annotations:—Distd. Snowdon v. Chadwick (1850), 15 L. T. O. S. 92, 140. Apld. Wallace v. Fielden, The Oriental (1851), 7 Moo. P. C. C. 398. Refd. Williamson v. Page (1845), 1 C. B. 464; Gibbs v. Gray, Gray v. Gibbs (1857), 26 L. J. Ex. 286; Gunn v. Roberts (1874), 22 W. R. 652.

1122. —— ——.]—BELDON v. CAMPBELL, No. 1117, ante.

1123. —— ——.]—(1) A vessel having been a fortnight windbound at Newport, her owner residing at Exeter, one day's post from Newport, the master borrowed £5 from a broker, to enable him to purchase provisions necessary for the use of the ship:—Held: the jury were justified in inferring that there was such a reasonable necessity for borrowing the money, as to render the owner liable for it, though there was no proof that the goods might not have been obtained by the master on credit.

(2) It may be to the advantage of the owner to borrow a small sum for the purpose of buying provisions; they would necessarily be obtained upon better terms for ready money (MOULE, J.).—EDWARDS v. HAVILL (1853), 14 C. B. 107; 2 C. L. R. 1343; 23 L. J. C. P. 8; 22 L. T. O. S. 87; 17 Jur. 1103; 2 W. R. 12; 139 E. R. 45.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Gunn v. Roberts (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 331.

1124. —— ——.]—CURRAN v. WOOD, No. 1134, post.

1125. Ship in foreign port—Resident agent.]—GUNN v. ROBERTS, No. 1248, post.

Sect. 2.—Necessaries: Sub-sect. 2, C.; sub-sects. 3 & 4. Sect. 3: Sub-sect. 1.]

1126. No time to communicate with owner.]—THE WILLIAMS'S ADVENTURE, SCHENCK v. TOWNHEND (1854), 9 L. T. 119.

---

SUB-SECT. 3.—LIABILITY OF MASTER.

1127. General rule.]—The owners or the master are in general liable for necessaries for the use of a ship, if the master order them; but if it appear that the credit had been given exclusively to the owners, & that the master in giving the orders acted merely as their servant, he will not be liable.—HOSKINS v. SLAYTON (1737), Lee temp. Hard. 376; 95 E. R. 244.

1128. Credit given to master only.]—GARNUM v. BENNET (1728), 1 Barn. K. B. 96; 2 Stra. 816; 94 E. R. 67.

1129. ——.]—GORDON v. HARE, No. 1086, ante.

1130. ——.]—The captain of a ship, who gives directions for repairs, is liable to the tradesman in the first instance, if it does not appear that any credit was given to the owners.—ESSERY v. COBB (1832), 5 C. & P. 358; 172 E. R. 1010, N. P.

1131. ——.]—THE PROGRESS, TILLY v. THOMPSON (1853), 7 L. T. 224.

1132. ——.]—THE FORERUNNER, ASHTON v. HUDSON (1858), 9 L. T. 87.

1133. ——.]—(1) In an action against an exor. for work done for deceased in repairing a vessel, it was proved by witnesses, called for pltf., that deceased was the registered owner, & that the repairs were done at the request of the captain of the vessel, but it also appeared that the captain, when he received the bill, said he was the biggest owner, & that deceased was part owner; that pltf. in his books gave credit to the captain only, & had originally applied to him for payment, drawing a bill upon him which he did not accept. No witnesses were called for deft., but it was objected on his behalf that there was no evidence to go to the jury. The case, however, went to the jury, who found their verdict for pltf.:—Held: there must be a new trial, as there was no evidence that deceased owner had authorised the captain to employ pltf., & the verdict was against the evidence, which showed that pltf. treated the captain as the person with whom he contracted.

(2) The liability of the owner is a question of contract, & not of ownership (CROMPTON, J.).—PEARSON v. NELL (1865), 6 New Rep. 304; 12 L. T. 607; 13 W. R. 967; 2 Mar. L. C. 213.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Hibbs v. Ross (1866), 7 B. & S. 655.

1134. ——.]—Where clothes have been supplied to a ship's crew on the orders of the master of the ship, in a port within a day's post of the residence of the owners of the vessel, & an undertaking to pay given by the master, the value of the goods cannot be recovered from the owners of the ship.—CURRAN v. WOOD (1867), 15 L. T. 592; 2 Mar. L. C. 441.

1135. Judgment against master—Bar to action against owners—Judgment unsatisfied.]—PRIESTLY v. FERNIE, No. 1029, ante.

1136. Liability expressly excluded—In bill drawn for payment of goods.]—In pursuance of a contract for the supply of bunker coal, made between the owners of a steamship, as buyers, & the agent of the suppliers of the coal at Colombo, as sellers, deft., the master of the steamship, drew a bill of exchange on the owners of the vessel in favour of the suppliers, concluding with the words "value received on 300 tons coal & disbursements . . . supplied to my vessel to enable her to complete this voyage from Melbourne to Hull, for which I hold my vessel, owners, & freight responsible." The bill was duly accepted in London, but on presentation for payment at maturity on a Saturday was dishonoured. Pltfs., holders of the bill, learnt through their bankers on the Monday that the bill was not paid, &, having communicated with the agents of the suppliers of the coal, ascertained that the vessel had arrived in the Tyne; but not knowing in what part, they made further inquiries without success, & on the following Thursday sent deft. notice of dishonour by registered letter addressing him as master of the vessel at Newcastle-upon-Tyne:—Held: deft. was liable as drawer for the wording of the bill did not by implication relieve him of that liability.—THE ELMVILLE, [1904] P. 319; 91 L. T. 151; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 606; sub nom. CEYLON COALING CO. v. GOODRICH, 73 L. J. P. 104.

---

SUB-SECT. 4.—LIABILITY OF SHIP.

See Part XVIII., Sect. 1, sub-sect. 7, post.

---

SECT. 3.—AUTHORITY TO HYPOTHECATE SHIP AND FREIGHT.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

1137. General rule—Master has authority.]—If a ship be at sea & take leak, or otherwise want victual, or other necessaries, whereby either herself be in danger or the voyage defeated, in such case of necessity the master may impawn for money or other things to relieve such extremities, by employing the money so; for he is the person trusted with the ship & voyage, & therefore reasonably may be thought to have that power given to him implicitly, rather than to see the whole lost.—BRIDGEMAN'S CASE (1614), Hob. 11; 80 E. R. 162; sub nom. BARNARD v. BRIDGEMAN, Moore, K. B. 918.

Annotations:—Refd. Manby v. Scott (1662), O. Bridg. 229; Johnson v. Shippin (1703), 1 Salk. 35; Yates v. Hall (1785), 1 Term Rep. 73. Mentd. Clerk v. Andrews (1689), 1 Show. 9.

1138. —— ——.]—A master . . . may pawn to relieve the ship in extremity, for he being constituted master of the ship, has implicitly a power to preserve it in cases of danger (HOLT, C.J.).—KING v. PERRY (1689), 3 Salk. 23; 91 E. R. 669.

1139. —— ——.]—A master may pawn his ship for relief in extremity; for he being constituted master has implicitly a power to preserve the ship in cases of danger; though he cannot n. Credit given to ship—Master not liable.]—In this case necessaries were supplied to a British ship in a home port. The trial judge found that they were supplied on the credit of the ship, although ordered by the master at the request of the owners:—Held: the master had incurred no personal liability in the circumstances.—KANE v. THE JOHN IRWIN (1911), 10 E. L. R. 331; 13 Exch. C. R. 502; 1 D. L. R. 447.—CAN.

---

PART IV. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 3.

o. Credit given to master—Letter of credit expended by master for wrongful purposes.]—PASSMORE v. CALCUTTA DOCKING CO., LTD. (1865), 13 L. T. 23.—IND.

PART IV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 1.

1137 1. General rule—Master has authority.]—HALIFAX GRAVING DOCK CO. v. MAGLIULO (1908), 43 N. S. R. 174; 5 E. L. R. 553; affd. (1909), 6 E. L. R. 333.—CAN.

do it for his own debt, because he has neither a property or power for that purpose (HOLT, C.J.). —ANON. (1701), Holt, K. B. 650; 90 E. R. 1260.

1140. —— ——.]—A master, under circumstances of necessity, has a general right to hypothecate either of them, or to sell the cargo, or to throw any part of it overboard (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—THE COPENHAGEN (1799), 1 Ch. Rob. 289; 165 E. R. 180.

Annotations:—Mentd. Hallett v. Wigram (1850), 9 C. B. 580; Hall v. Janson (1855), 4 E. & B. 500; Atwood v. Sellar (1880), 5 Q. B. D. 286; Svensden v. Wallace (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 69; Hamel v. Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Co., [1908] 2 K. B. 298.

1141. —— ——.]—THE ATLAS, No. 1154, post.

1142. —— —— Limited by necessity of the circumstances.]—(1) A ship was freighted & insured from London to Calcutta & back: the master employed, as agents at Calcutta, G. & co., upon whom he had a limited credit to complete a return cargo; he exhausted that credit; & took a cargo under their advice to the Mauritius; & in a series of voyages, in defiance of letters from his owners to return home, came back to Calcutta, chartered to G. & co. who, on a fresh cargo to the Mauritius, received the freight, & for a small balance took a bottomry bond. The bond was without premium: it included the above freight:—Held: except as to the letter of credit, G. & co. had acted as the agents & on the credit & responsibility of the master, & there being shown no absolute necessity for the bottomry bond to secure the return of the ship to England, that the bond was invalid.

Before a master can exercise the extraordinary power of hypothecation, he must show that there is an absolute necessity for it, to secure the return of the ship (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).

(2) Bottomry bonds, where given bonâ fide & for legitimate purposes, are to be liberally protected. It is important for the interests of commerce that a master, in a foreign port, standing in need of assistance arising out of some unforeseen necessity, to complete a voyage, & having no credit, should for that object be invested with a power to pledge the ship, & charge upon it the repayment of the loan in case of her safe arrival; but on the other hand, it is highly necessary for the protection of shipowners that the master's power in that respect should be limited by the necessity of the case; the transaction should be cautiously watched; for otherwise, masters entrusted with valuable ships in very distant parts of the world may, in conjunction with merchants, tempted by the profit of agency & commission on all sales & advances, employ ships for years on their own speculations & adventures; & at last, under colour of advances to enable the ship to return home, grant bottomry bonds, thus adding to losses & injuries already suffered by the owners, & which bonds may also be to the prejudice of creditors (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—THE RELIANCE (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 66; 166 E. R. 331.

Annotation:—As to (1) Reld. The Orelia (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 75.

1143. —— —— ——.] — THE KENNERSLEY CASTLE, No. 1178, post.

1144. —— —— ——.]—SOARES v. RAHN, THE PRINCE OF SAXE COBOURG, No. 470, ante.

1145. —— —— ——.]—(1) To render a bottomry-bond valid, there must be a double necessity: (a) a necessity of obtaining supplies in order to prosecute the voyage; (b) the impossibility of obtaining those supplies in any other way than by an hypothecation of the ship.

A bottomry-bond, given at Hobart Town, under a threat of arrest, by the owner's agent, & for whose benefit, at least in part, the bond was entered into, on the day before the vessel sailed, & reciting that it was to enable the master to pay for "necessaries supplied for the intended voyage, & for the use of the brig," such bond not having been conditioned for previously, pronounced against, with costs.

The master is not the owner of the property so as to have a right to bind it at his own will & pleasure. . . . The hypothecation may be unjust, not only as it affects the property of his owners, but, by giving a priority of payment to one creditor, & thereby operating to the injury of other creditors & of mtgees., for if the hypothecation be valid, it has a preference to all other liens, except seamen's wages. . . . Necessity is the vital principle of hypothecation-bonds (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).

(2) It is not till after three months, during which time the master was in full communication with O., the agent, that a long account of debts due from the ship is produced & a bottomry bond taken. Were, then, such debts so incurred as to constitute a lien on the ship & to give the master a right to hypothecate her? If the funds were advanced by O. before the bottomry bond was contemplated, they were advanced by him on the credit of the owners or master. If they were advanced on the guarantee of O., the debts were simple contract debts, not entitled to priority of payment, nor authorising the hypothecation of the ship (SIR J. NICHOLL).—THE HERSEY (1837), 3 Hag. Adm. 404; 3 L. T. 825; 166 E. R. 455; affd. sub. nom. GORE v. GARDINER, THE HERSEY (1840), 3 Moo. P. C. C. 79, P. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289; Grant v. St. George Yacht, The St. George, Douglas v. St. George Yacht, The St. George (1926), 136 L. T. 252; The St. George, [1926] P. 217. As to (2) Reld. The Ariadne (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 411.

1146. —— —— ——.] — THE PONTIDA, No. 1387, post.

1147. Extent of authority—How governed.]—DROEGE v. SUART, THE KARNAK, No. 1509, post.

1148. Foundation of rule—Prospect of benefit to owner.]—THE GRATITUDINE, No. 1518, post.

1149. Sale of bottomry bonds—Whether favoured by court.]—SOARES v. RAHN, THE PRINCE OF SAXE COBOURG, No. 470, ante.

1150. How construed—By tenor of contents.]—THE EMANCIPATION, No. 1492, post.

1151. —— According to general scope.]—THE INDOMITABLE, No. 1357, post.

1152. Master acts exclusively as owner's agent.]—A master of a ship who borrows money on bottomry, for the repairs of the ship, acts exclusively as the agent of the owner.—BENSON v. DUNCAN (1849), 3 Exch. 644; 18 L. J. Ex. 169; 12 L. T. O. S. 516; 14 Jur. 218; 154 E. R. 1003, Ex. Ch.; affg. S. C. sub nom. DUNCAN v. BENSON (1847), 1 Exch. 537.

Annotations:—Reld. Lloyd v. Guibert (1865), 6 B. & S. 100; The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137; Atwood v. Sellar (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 342. Mentd. Hallett v. Wigram (1850), 9 C. B. 580; Atkinson v. Stephens (1852), 7 Exch. 567; Stainbank v. Shepard (1853), 13 C. B. 418; Grey v. Gibbs (1857), 2 H. & N. 22; The Union (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 17; The Olivier (1862), Lush. 484; The Lizzie (1868), 19 L. T. 71; The Eugenie (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 123; The Onward (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 38; Miedbrodt v. Fitzsimon, The Energie (1875), 32 L. T. 579.

1153. Hypothecation of ship & cargo—Cargo owner's right of action against shipowner—For costs & charges.]—(1) To render valid a bottomry bond where communication is practicable between the port of distress & the owner, it is not sufficient that the owner should be made aware of the disaster which has happened to his ship; he should also be informed of the intention to hypothecate.

Sect. 3.—Authority to hypothecate ship and freight: Sub-sects. 1, 2, 3, 4 & 5.]

(2) In considering an objection to a bottomry bond on ship & cargo, by owners of cargo, upon the ground that the master had not communicated with the owner of the cargo before giving the bonds, the ct. will consider the probable effect of the delay arising from such communication, & not only whether it was possible, but also whether it was reasonable & practicable for the master or the lender of the money to have any such communication with the owner or consignee of the cargo before entering into the bond.

(3) If it is intended to rely upon such a ground to invalidate a bond, such objection ought to be specifically set forth in the pleading.

(4) Where money has been advanced upon bottomry of a British ship & her cargo, the owner of the cargo so hypothecated has his right of action for all costs & charges against the owner of the ship.—THE OLIVIER (1862), 1 Lush. 484; 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 137; 1 Mar. L. C. 214; sub nom. THE OLLIVIER, 6 L. T. 259.

Annotation:—As to (1) Consd. The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137.

---

SUB-SECT. 2.—NATURE OF BOTTOMRY BONDS.

1154. Contract in nature of mortgage.]—In bottomry bonds, which are contracts in the nature of mtges., the lender runs the risk of the loss of the vessel; & in case of her safe arrival receives large interest, called maritime interest, faenus nauticum usura maritima, pretium periculi.

Bottomry bonds are contracts in the nature of mtges. of a ship on which the owner borrows money to enable him to fit out the ship, or to purchase a cargo for a voyage proposed, & pledges the keel or bottom of the ship, pars pro toto, as a security for repayment. It is, moreover, stipulated that if the ship is lost in the course of the voyage, by any of the perils enumerated in the contract, the lender also shall lose his money; but if the ship shall arrive safe, then he shall be paid back his principal, & also the interest agreed upon, called marine interest, however this may exceed the legal rate of interest (per CUR.).

The hypothecation or bottomry bond . . . is a bond whereby the captain of a vessel, not having any credit in the port, is enabled to obtain money for the repair of the ship, & its equipment for the voyage, upon what is called maritime interest. . . . The extent or value of this security for repayment was not limited, for it was not certain, but only eventual, dependent upon the safe accomplishment of the intended voyage. If the ship arrived safe, the title to repayment became vested; but if the ship perished in itinere, the loss fell entirely upon the lender. Upon that account, the lender was entitled to demand a much higher interest than the current interest of money in ordinary transactions (LORD STOWELL).

Qu.: whether a bond professing to be a bottomry bond, but excluding maritime risk, is subject to the Admlty. jurisdiction. The ct. directed a search for precedents. Five precedents of such bonds but no judicial decisions on the point being found, the ct., after directing an argument, decided that the interest reserved was maritime interest, & that therefore, ex concessis, the bond excluding sea risk was void.—THE ATLAS (1827), 2 Hag. Adm. 48; 166 E. R. 162.

*Annotations:—Refd. Stainbank v. Fenning (1851), 11 C. B. 51; Stainbank v. Shepard (1853), 13 C. B. 418; The Royal Arch (1857), 30 L. T. O. S. 198; The James W. Elwell, [1921] P. 351.

1155. Privileged character.]—THE ALEXANDER, No. 1174, post.

1156. ——.]—THE ZODIAC, No. 1240, post.

1157. ——.]—THE RELIANCE, No. 1142, ante.

1158. ——.]—THE KENNERSLEY CASTLE, No. 1178, post.

1159. ——.]—THE ST. CATHERINE, No. 1495, post.

1160. —— Limits of privilege.]—THE COGNAC, No. 1436, post.

1161. —— ——.]—THE MARY ANN, No. 1221, post.

1162. Distinguished from respondentia.]—Bottomry & respondentia are totally & essentially distinct & the former does not in any sense include the latter (TINDAL, C.J.).—GORE v. WYNNE (1829), L. & Welsb. 39; Mood. & M. 393, N. P.

1163. Distinguished from mortgage or pledge.]—STAINBANK v. SHEPARD, No. 1349, post.

1164. Contract of insurance for particular voyage.]—LONDON & MIDLAND BANK v. NEILSEN, No. 1398, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 3.—FORMALITIES OF CONTRACT.

1165. Form—Bill of sale.]—(1) The master of a ship may in the course of his voyage hypothecate her for necessaries even upon land.

(2) The master of a ship cannot as such sell the ship or any part of her, & if he makes a bill of sale of the ship in respect of something for which he might expressly have hypothecated it, the bill of sale will be void, & the ship shall be looked upon as hypothecated.—JOHNSON v. SHIPPEN (1704), 2 Ld. Raym. 982; Holt, K. B. 48; 11 Mod. Rep. 30; 1 Salk. 35; 92 E. R. 154; sub nom. JONSON v. SHEPNEY, 6 Mod. Rep. 79.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The Rhadamanthe (1813), 1 Dods. 201. As to (2) Consd. Reid v. Darby (1808), 10 East, 143. Expld. Idle v. Royal Exchange Assce. (1819), 8 Taunt. 755. Consd. Freeman v. East India Co. (1822), 5 B. & Ald. 617. Refd. Yates v. Hall (1785), 1 Term Rep. 73; Menetone v. Gibbons (1789), 3 Term Rep. 267; Stainbank v. Shepard (1853), 13 C. B. 418. Generally, Mentd. Castrique v. Imrie (1870), L. R. 4 H. L. 414; The Dictator, [1892] P. 304.

1166. —— Instrument under seal.]—Whether the Ct. of Admlty. has or has not jurisdiction depends upon the subject matter. Therefore they have cognisance of an hypothecation bond given in the course of a voyage, though it be executed on land & under seal.—MENETONE v. GIBBONS (1789), 3 Term Rep. 267; 100 E. R. 568.

*Annotation:—Refd. The Catherine (1848), 6 Notes of Cases, Sup. XLIII.

1167. —— Indorsement on charterparty.]—THE GRECIA (1850), 7 Notes of Cases, 410; 4 L. T. 28.

1168. —— Bill of exchange.]—(1) An instrument, drawn in the form of a bill of exchange for

---

PART IV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 2.

p. Part of agreement to pay void for uncertainty.]—ASAN KUTHU SAHIB MERCOYAR v. RAMANATHAN CHETTI (1898), I. L. R. 22 Mad. 26.—IND.

q. Necessity for liberal construction.]—Bottomry bonds being in the language of commercial men, & not of lawyers, should receive a liberal construction so as to give effect to the evident intention of the parties.—THE SOURANDER (1860), 4 L. T. 92.—IR.

r. Necessity to comply with Registry Acts.]—A bottomry bond is not such a transfer of property in a vessel as to require a compliance with the Registry Acts.—BRISTOWE & BRISTOWE v. BUTLER & TODRIDGE'S ESTATE (TRUSTEES) (1817), 1 Nfld. L. R. 19.—NFLD.

the payment of necessary disbursements of a ship, but which is payable after the arrival of the ship at her destination, & pledges the ship, "except in case of total loss," is, although not stipulating for maritime interest, a bottomry bond.

(2) A claim for necessaries, to secure the payment of which the master has given a bottomry bond on his ship, is merged in the bond, & cannot be enforced by the material men on the simple contract.—THE ELPIS (1872), L. R. 4 A. & E. 1; 42 L. J. Adm. 43; 27 L. T. 664; 21 W. R. 576; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 472.

Annotation:—Consd. The Haabet, [1899] P. 295.

1169. Execution—Proof—Execution in foreign port.]—(1) Of hypothecation bonds, the last executed must be first paid.

(2) The due execution of a bond in a foreign port cannot be proved by a mere formal affidavit of persons resident in this country, swearing to facts of which they have no personal knowledge, nor any information or document on which to found their belief.

(3) Hypothecation bonds can be given only where money is not to be had on personal security. —THE SYDNEY COVE (1815), 2 Dods. 1; 165 E. R. 1396.

Essential contents.]—See Sub-sect. 7, G., post.

---

SUB-SECT. 4.—WHO MAY GIVE BOTTOMRY BONDS.

1170. Master.]—BRIDGEMAN'S CASE, No. 1137, ante.

1171. ——.]—SCARREBORROW v. LYRIUS (1628), Noy, 95; Lat. 252; 74 E. R. 1061.

1172. ——.]—THE ATLAS, No. 1154, ante.

1173. ——.]—THE RELIANCE, No. 1142, ante.

1174. —— Substituted master—Appointed by consignees of cargo.]—Consignees of a cargo advancing money for the necessary repairs of a ship are justified in taking a bond of hypothecation from a person whom as a measure of necessity they had themselves substituted for the former master.

Bonds of hypothecation are of a very high & privileged nature (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—THE ALEXANDER (1812), 1 Dods. 278; 165 E. R. 1310.

Annotations:—Consd. The Kennersley Castle (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 1; The Laurel (1863), Brown. & Lush. 191; The Laurel (1864), Brown. & Lush. 317. Refd. The Vibilia (1838), 1 Wm. Rob. 1; The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289; The St. George, [1926] P. 217.

1175. —— —— Appointed by merchant.]—THE RUBICON, No. 1184, post.

1176. —— —— Appointed by underwriters.]—THE KENNERSLEY CASTLE, No. 1178, post.

1177. —— Master by succession—Bonds given for repairs ordered by predecessors.]—THE WAKEFIELD (1829), cited in 3 Hag. Adm. at p. 8; 166 E. R. 310.

Annotation:—Refd. The Kennersley Castle (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 1.

1178. —— ——.]—The owner having abandoned, a substituted master, whether appointed by the underwriter's agent, or by the owner's agent, or by both, not appearing, gives a bottomry bond to a holder of a collateral security. Bond sustained. Qu.: whether if a substituted master were appointed by underwriters alone, he can give such a bond.

Bottomry bonds may be given by masters substituted & appointed abroad, & by masters by succession, such a master being the hæres necessarius as he is called. Bottomry bonds are the creature of necessity & distress, & may be expected therefore to assume different shapes, which cannot be limited except by the condition of a faithful & beneficial discharge of the authority exercised in granting them as being necessary for the preservation of property. They are favoured instruments (SIR CHRISTOPHER ROBINSON).—THE KENNERSLEY CASTLE (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 1; 166 E. R. 308.

1179. Factor.]— SCARREBORROW v. LYRIUS (1628), Noy, 95; Lat. 252; 74 E. R. 1061.

1180. Purser.]— SCARREBORROW v. LYRIUS (1628), Noy, 95; Lat. 252; 74 E. R. 1061.

1181. Mate—Capture & recapture—Payment of salvage to recaptors.]—In a case of capture & recapture, the mate, in the absence of the captain, has a right to hypothecate the ship for the purpose of paying the salvage to the recaptors.—PARMETER v. TODHUNTER (1808), 1 Camp. 541; 170 E. R. 1050, N. P.

Annotations:—Mentd. Mount v. Harrison (1827), 4 Bing. 388; Currie & Bombay Native Insce. (1869), 6 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 302; Russian Bank for Foreign Trade v. Excess Insce., [1918] 2 K. B. 123.

1182. Consul—Master murdered—New master afterwards appointed.]—THE CYNTHIA, No. 556, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 5.—WHO MAY TAKE BOTTOMRY BONDS.

1183. Consignee of cargo.]—THE ALEXANDER, No. 1174, ante.

1184. —— Bond taken by agent.]—A bottomry bond given by a substituted master to the merchant who had appointed him upheld. In the charter-party was a stipulation that the disbursements for the ship should be made, free of commission, by "the charterer's agent," not named. The bond holder never saw the charterparty; he disclaimed any knowledge of this clause, & denied that he was agent.

The supplies were the proper subjects of bottomry; & the charges fair. There is therefore nothing to impeach the good faith of the transaction, nor to invalidate the claim of the bond holder (SIR CHRISTOPHER ROBINSON).—THE RUBICON (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 9; 166 E. R. 311.

1185. Agent of ship.]—Semble: the agent of the owner may, under circumstances, take a bottomry bond by way of security for advances made by him.—THE HERO (1817), 2 Dods. 139; 165 E. R. 1441.

Annotations:—Consd. The Kennersley Castle (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 1; The Orelia (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 75; Smith v. Bank of New South Wales, The Staffordshire (1872), L. R. 4 P. C. 194. Refd. The Hersey (1837), 3 Hag. Adm. 404; The Lord Cochrane (1844), 2 Wm. Rob. 320; The Oriental (1850), 3 Wm. Rob. 243; The Royal Arch (1857), 30 L. T. O. S. 198.

1186. ——.]—Bottomry bond given at Pernambuco upon the ship, freight & cargo, resisted by the consignees of the cargo, upon the ground, (a) that the advances were made by persons acting in the capacity of ship agents at the time the bond was given; (b) that the disbursements were made with the understanding that they should be covered by bills of exchange upon the owners of the ship; (c) that the repairs upon the vessel were improvidently undertaken, & the vessel should have been sold, & the cargo transhipped. Objection overruled, & the bond sustained.

It is not to be denied that under certain circumstances the master of a vessel . . . may sell &

t. Agent of owner.]—WALLACE v. FIELDEN (1851), C. R. 2 A. C. 33.—CAN.

Sect. 3.—Authority to hypothecate ship and freight: Sub-sects. 5, 6 & 7, A. (a) & (b).]

dispose of the ship but this power . . . is only to be exercised under emergencies of great stringency (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE LORD COCHRANE (1844), 2 Wm. Rob. 320 ; 3 Notes of Cases, 172 ; 3 L. T. O. S. 487 ; 8 Jur. 714 ; 166 E. R. 775 ; subsequent proceedings, sub nom. BENSON v. CHAPMAN (1849), 2 H. L. Cas. 696, H. L.

Annotations :—Expld. The Olivier (1862), 6 L. T. 259. Reld. The Don Francisco (1861), Lush. 468 ; The Onward (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 38 ; The Pontida (1884), 9 P. D. 102.

1187. ——.]—(1) A lender on bottomry, the agent of the ship, cannot include in the bond the expenses of relanding a cargo of his own shipped in an unsafe condition, nor money advanced to the master, without proof of inquiry as to its necessity, & as to its proper application.

(2) When the lender is the agent of the ship, the ct. watches the transaction with great vigilance.

(3) In advancing money to a master, the lender is bound to inquire whether the money is necessary for the ship ; & if the lender be also the agent, he is bound to protect the owner by looking to the proper application of the money.—THE ROYAL STUART (1855), 2 Ecc. & Ad. 258 ; 3 L. T. 824 ; 7 L. T. 24 ; 1 Jur. N. S. 1116 ; 164 E. R. 420.

Annotation :—As to (3) Reld. The Pontida (1884), 9 P. D. 177.

1188. ——.]—THE ROYAL ARCH, No. 1230, post.

1189. —— Limitations on right to take bond.]—It is not a proposition universally true, that an agent cannot, under any circumstances, take a bottomry bond from the master of a vessel consigned to his charge, though it does not follow that in all cases, he has the same right to take a bond as a person wholly unconnected with the ship. An agent must not take advantage of his character of agent to take a bond which, by his discharge of his duty as agent would have been avoided.—THE ORIENTAL (1850), 3 Wm. Rob. 243 ; 7 Notes of Cases, 476 ; 3 L. T. 559 ; 14 Jur. 336 ; 166 E. R. 953 ; on appeal, sub nom. WALLACE v. FIELDEN, THE ORIENTAL (1851), 7 Moo. P. C. C. 398, P. C.

Annotations :—Consd. The Onward (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 38. Reld. The Cynthia (1852), 20 L. T. O. S. 54 ; Edwards v. Havill (1854), 2 C. L. R. 1343 ; Sloveking v. Maas (1856), 25 L. J. Q. B. 358 ; The Royal Arch (1857), Sw. 269 ; The Sultan (1859), Sw. 504 ; The Olivier (1862), Lush. 484 ; The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137 ; Kleinwort, Cohen v. The Cassa Marittina of Genoa (1877), 2 App. Cas. 156.

1190. —— Duty to give opportunity of obtaining advance elsewhere—On owner's personal credit.]—SMITH v. BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, THE STAFFORDSHIRE, No. 1506, post.

1191. British Consul.]—THE ZODIAC, No. 1240, post.

1192. Lienholder—Lien given by law of country where advance made.]—THE VIBILIA, No. 1283, post.

1193. Purchaser of bond at auction.]—SOARES v. RAHN, THE PRINCE OF SAXE COBOURG, No. 470, ante.

1194. Debtor of ship.]—A party cannot lend money upon bottomry of a vessel, if, at the time, he is indebted to the owners, in respect of the vessel.—THE HEBE (1843), 2 Wm. Rob. 146 ; 3 L. T. 824 ; 7 Jur. 564 ; 166 E. R. 710 ; subsequent proceedings (1846), 2 Wm. Rob. 412.

Annotations :—Reld. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289 ; The Empire of Peace (1869), 39 L. J. Adm. 12.

1195. —— Partial indebtedness—Validity of bond as to excess.]—The general validity of a bond will not be vitiated by the fact that the lender of the money was himself partially indebted to the ship at the time he lent the money, the bond will be invalidated pro tanto only ; & the amount of the deductions must be ascertained by reference to the registrar & merchants.—THE HEBE (1846), 2 Wm. Rob. 412 ; 4 Notes of Cases, 361 ; 10 Jur. 227 ; 166 E. R. 811.

Annotations :—Consd. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289. Reld. The Ocean (1846), 2 Wm. Rob. 429.

1196. Person concerned with pecuniary affairs of ship—Suspicion of collusion with master.]—(1) Where the lender, in New South Wales, had mixed himself with the pecuniary affairs of the ship, & taken a commission upon receipts & disbursements, having also purchased debts from creditors at less than their amount, which he charged to the ship, & covered by the bond, & where there were other circumstances exciting a suspicion of collusion with the master, the ct. referred the whole accounts to the registrar & merchants, to report generally & specially.

(2) A bond may be good in part & bad in part ; part being bad does not invalidate the whole bond.

(3) Where the conduct of the bondholder had been such as to give reasonable ground for suspicion, & to justify the opposition, the ct., although it pronounces for the bond will make no order as to costs.—THE OCEAN (1846), 2 Wm. Rob. 429 ; 4 Notes of Cases, 410 ; 4 L. T. 92 ; 10 Jur. 504 ; 166 E. R. 817 ; subsequent proceedings, 2 Wm. Rob. 465.

1197. Person having pledged own credit for expenses—No money actually advanced.]—THE ROYAL ARCH, No. 1230, post.

1198. Managing owner—Director of company owning ship.]—THE ST. GEORGE, No. 1338, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 6.—WHAT SHIPS ARE SUBJECT OF HYPOTHECATION.

1199. Vessel in service of government—Hired transport.]—THE JANE, No. 1339, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 7.—ESSENTIALS OF BOTTOMRY BONDS.

A. Must be Grounded on Necessity.

(a) In General.

1200. General rule.]—BRIDGEMAN'S CASE, No. 1137, ante.

1201. ——.]—THE COPENHAGEN, No. 1140, ante.

1202. ——.]—THE RELIANCE, No. 1142, ante.

1203. ——.]—THE KENNERSLEY CASTLE, No. 1178, ante.

1204. ——.]—SOARES v. RAHN, THE PRINCE OF SAXE COBOURG, No. 470, ante.

1205. ——.]—THE HERSEY, No. 1145, ante.

---

PART IV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 7.—A. (a).

1200i. General rule.]—The hypothecation of a ship is only justified when it is done to secure amounts due for necessary repairs to enable the ship to proceed with her voyage, or for necessaries or provisions required for the same purpose. Furthermore, in order to enable the creditor to benefit by the hypothecation, the following elements must be present in the transaction :—(a) The repairs must be performed & the necessaries or provisions supplied on the express condition that the claim is to be secured by a bond ; (b) there must be a total absence of personal credit on the part of the owner or master ; (c) before pledging the ship, the master should, if it was at all possible to do so, have communicated with the owner ; & (d) there must not be sufficient cash or credit available to the master to pay the amount of the indebtedness so incurred.—CHRISTIAN v. THE ST. JOSEPH (1893), 3 Exch. C. R. 344.—CAN.

1206. ——.]—THE GAUNTLET, No. 1272, post.
1207. ——.]—THE GRECIA, No. 1347, post.
1208. ——.]—LYALL v. HICKS, No. 1246, post.
1209. ——.] — LAW v. WALLERSTEIN, THE GRAPESHOT, No. 1374, post.
1210. ——.]—GUNN v. ROBERTS, No. 1248, post.
1211. ——.]—THE PONTIDA, No. 1387, post.
1212. Meaning of "necessity"—Analagous to meaning in other parts of law.] — DROEGE v. SUART, THE KARNAK, No. 1509, post.
1213. Evidence of necessity—Consent of managing part owner.]—THE ROYAL ARCH, No. 1230, post.
1214. —— How to be ascertained.]—DROEGE v. SUART, THE KARNAK, No. 1509, post.
1215. Presumption that necessaries are fit & proper—Where no clear proof to the contrary.]—LAW v. WALLERSTEIN, THE GRAPESHOT, No. 1374, post.

(b) Necessity Must Arise in Course of Voyage.

1216. General rule.]—(1) The master of a ship cannot hypothecate her except in the course of the voyage.

(2) By the maritime law an hypothecation is implied upon every contract with the master of a ship.—JUSTIN v. BALLAM (1702), 2 Ld. Raym. 805; 1 Salk. 34; 92 E. R. 38.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. Cannan v. Meaburn (1823), 1 Bing. 243; The Neptune (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 129. Generally, Reld. The Gratitudine (1801), 3 Ch. Rob. 240; The Rhadamanthe (1813), 1 Dods. 201; The Gustaf (1862), 7 L. T. 259.

1217. ——.]—On a ship's being repaired in the river Thames, & fitted out there with new rigging & apparel, the ship itself is not liable, but the owners. Secus if repaired or fitted out at sea, where the master alone may hypothecate.—WATKINSON v. BERNADISTON (1726), 2 P. Wms. 367; 2 Eq. Cas. Abr. 512; 24 E. R. 769.

*Annotations:—Dbtd. The Orienta, [1894] P. 271. Reld. Buxton v. Snee (1748), 1 Ves. Sen. 154; Hussey v. Christie (1807), 13 Ves. 594; The Neptune (1835), 3 Knapp, 94.

1218. ——.]—The master cannot hypothecate the ship before the voyage begins.—LISTER v. BAXTER (1726), 2 Stra. 695; 93 E. R. 789.
1219. ——.]—THE DUNVEGAN CASTLE, No. 314, ante.
1220. ——.]—SOARES v. RAHN, THE PRINCE OF SAXE COBOURG, No. 470, ante.

1221. ——.]—(1) Bottomry may legally take place whenever a ship is engaged in a voyage, within the intention of the owners, declared by them in any instrument, or where such intention & consent is to be inferred from the facts of the case, whether the voyage be called intermediate or not; so that a bottomry bond may be valid, whatever number of voyages the adventure may include, provided such voyages be in the legal or de facto contemplation of the owners.

Repairs & expenses became necessary in consequence of an accident antecedent to a particular voyage; the bond given to meet these expenses was not dated till after the completion of that voyage:—Held: this objection was not fatal, & the bond was not invalidated on that account.

(2) Bottomry bonds duly executed & in proper form are sacred instruments, only so far that the legal presumption is in favour of their validity.

(3) Right of mtgees. to impeach the validity of a bottomry bond.—THE MARY ANN (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 376; 10 Jur. 253.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. The Louisa Bertha (1850), 16 L. T. O. S. 316; The Union (1860), Lush. 128.

1222. —— Effect of liability of vessel to arrest—For any debt of owner to creditor—Residing in country where bond given.] — (1) A bond of bottomry given by the master to release his vessel from an arrest on account of debts owing by the owner to his agent at Malta, upon the balance of accounts current between them, such accounts being incurred anterior to the voyage in which the vessel was engaged at the time, not sustained.

(3) The general principle, that bonds of bottomry can alone be given for the furtherance of the voyage in which the vessel is actually engaged, not affected by the circumstance that by the law of the country where the bond is given, the vessel may be arrested & sold for any debt owing by the owner to a creditor residing in that country.—THE OSMANLI (1850), 3 Wm. Rob. 198; 7 Notes of Cases, 322; 3 L. T. 559; 14 Jur. 93; 166 E. R. 937.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. The Edmond (1860), Lush. 57; The North Star (1860), 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 73; The Edmond (1861), Lush. 211; The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289.

1223. Whether bond given in course of voyage—Bond given on land.]—If the master of a ship take up moneys during the voyage at any place abroad for necessaries wanted super altum mare, & hypothecate the ship, the pawnee may sue on the hypothecation bond, in the Ct. of Admlty., although it was given at land.—COSSART v. LAWDLEY (1688), 3 Mod. Rep. 244; 87 E. R. 159.

*Annotation:—Folld. Johnson v. Shippen (1703), 2 Ld. Raym. 982.

1224. —— ——.]—The master of a ship may hypothecate her for necessaries even upon land in the course of the voyage. The Admlty. is the proper ct. to sue in, upon an hypothecation.—BENZEN v. JEFFRIES (1697), 1 Ld. Raym. 152; 91 E. R. 999.
1225. —— ——.]—JOHNSON v. SHIPPEN, No. 1165, ante.
1226. —— ——.]—MENETONE v. GIBBONS, No. 1166, ante.

1227. —— Bond given in English port—By owner.]—Bond given by owner of British ship in England is valid & can be sued on in Admiralty.—THE PROVIDENCE (1783), Burrell, 330; 167 E. R. 595.

1228. —— —— By master.]—A bottomry bond, granted by the master of a British vessel in a port of this country, upheld.

The authority of the ct. to take cognisance of such bonds, does not depend upon the locality of the owner's residence, but upon the necessity of the case.—THE TRIDENT (1839), 1 Wm. Rob. 29; 3 L. T. 682; 166 E. R. 484.

*Annotations:—Consd. The Priscilla (1859), Lush. 1. Reld. Law v. Wallerstein, The Grapeshot (1870), 22 L. T. 376.

1229. —— —— ——.]—(1) Advances made to the master for the repairs & service of a British ship in the port of Cowes, the owners being resident at Newcastle, cannot be made the subject of a bottomry transaction.

(2) An alleged bond of bottomry given at Rotterdam pronounced against upon the ground that the advances were made for the repayment of debts incurred by the ship in a former voyage, & also that such advances were not necessary for the immediate exigencies of the ship.

I know of no case which has decided that a vessel can be duly hypothecated upon a bottomry bond for debts incurred before the voyage in question. LORD STOWELL entertained considerable doubt, in the first instance whether a vessel could be well hypothecated merely to avoid detention (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(3) The mtgee. of this vessel has a perfect right to contest in this ct. the validity of such a bond

Sect. 3.—Authority to hypothecate ship and freight: Sub-sect. 7, A. (b) & (c), & B.

(DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE LOCHIEL (1843), 2 Wm. Rob. 34; 2 Notes of Cases, 177; 3 L. T. 153, 682, 825, 826; 7 Jur. 265; 166 E. R. 668.

Annotation:—Generally, Refd. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289.

1230. —— —— ——.]—(1) A bottomry bond given by the master, with the consent of the owner, upon a British ship, lying in a British port, for a new voyage, cannot be sued upon in the High Ct. of Admlty.; but it is otherwise, if the ship was lying in a foreign port.

(2) A bond may be given, though money has not actually been advanced, to a person who has pledged his own credit for the expenses incurred.

(3) No particular rate of interest is essential to a bottomry bond, though, when the ordinary or a low rate of interest is taken, it raises a suspicion that sea risk was not intended, & sea risk is essential to the jurisdiction of the ct.

(4) The consent of a managing part owner to a bottomry bond binds his co-owners, & is strong evidence of the necessity of the bond.

(5) A bottomry bond is entitled to priority of payment over a mtge. during the voyage for which the bond was executed; but when due, should be enforced within reasonable time, & a voluntary agreement on the part of the holder to postpone payment under it alters its character totally, & substitutes a contract, over which the Admlty. Ct., at least, has no jurisdiction.

(6) A British ship, owned at Liverpool, Nova Scotia, terminated at New York a voyage from Glasgow; being in need of repair her master, with the consent of her managing part owner, gave a bottomry bond, payable at New York on her return to a port of discharge in the United States of British North America. After the termination of such contemplated voyage, the bondholder agreed with the same managing part owner to postpone the payment of the bond till after the conclusion of a subsequent voyage & her arrival at a port of discharge as before, the bond to remain a lien on the ship; such voyage was also performed, & on the ship reaching Liverpool, in England, in prosecution of a further voyage, she was arrested by warrant of the ct.; the validity of the bond & agreement was contested by the mtgees. of three-fourths & the owner of one-fourth of the ship:—Held: the bond was originally good, but the holder could not now sue upon it in this ct., or upon the agreement.

The consent of an owner is strong proof of the existence of the necessity of the bond.

The master, with consent of the owner, cannot give a bond on a British ship lying in a British port for a new voyage; at least, this ct. has no power to enforce such an instrument.

(7) A bottomry bond cannot be given to cover advances originally made on personal credit; nor would the liability of the vessel to arrest alone & without other circumstances, warrant a bond.

(8) Bottomry bonds must be enforced within reasonable time at the risk of losing their priority.

(9) Where money is advanced on mtge. of a ship, the mtgee. must always be aware that he takes his security subject to all legal liens, & if he suffers therefrom, his only remedy must be against the owners (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(10) A part owner may mortgage his own shares, but he cannot mortgage those of his co-owner without his consent (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE ROYAL ARCH (1857), Sw. 269; 30 L. T. O. S. 198; 6 W. R. 191; 166 E. R. 1131.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The St. George, [1926] P. 217. As to (5) Refd. London & Midland Bank v. Neilson (1895), 1 Com. Cas. 18. Generally, Refd. The James W. Elwell, [1921] P. 351.

1231. —— Bond given in foreign port—Irish port.]—THE RHADAMANTHE, No. 1237, post.

1232. —— ——.]—SOARES v. RAHN, THE PRINCE OF SAXE COBOURG, No. 470, ante.

1233. —— ——.]—THE ROYAL ARCH, No. 1230, ante.

1234. —— Number of voyages in single adventure—Intention of owners.]—THE MARY ANN, No. 1221, ante.

1235. Effect of deviation.]—(1) A bottomry-bond given by a master to the foreign merchant who appointed him, "binding the owners of the ship," & indorsed "as a collateral security for bills of exchange," pronounced valid. The Ct. of Admlty. does not hold, that a bond bad in one part vitiates the rest.

(2) Owners are always bound to a certain extent, to the extent of their property in the ship (LORD STOWELL).

(3) A bottomry bond may be invalidated by a case of fraud & by the ill conduct of the party (LORD STOWELL).—THE TARTAR (1822), 1 Hag. Adm. 1; 166 E. R. 1.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The Emancipation (1840), 1 Wm. Rob. 124; Stainbank v. Fenning (1851), 11 C. B. 51. Generally, Refd. The Atlas (1827), 2 Hag. Adm. 48; Weston v. Foster (1836), 5 L. J. C. P. 242.

1236. Bond dated after completion of voyage—Effect of.]—THE MARY ANN, No. 1221, ante.

(c) Credit Not Otherwise Obtainable.

1237. General rule.]—(1) Bottomry bonds of a later date are entitled to priority of payment over those of a former; but this privilege is confined to bonds given under the pressure of necessity in a foreign port, where the master & owners have no personal credit, & no other means of procuring supplies for the repair of the ship.

(2) Ports of Ireland are for purposes of hypothecation to be considered as foreign ports (SIR W. SCOTT).—THE RHADAMANTHE (1813), 1 Dods. 201; 165 E. R. 1283.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. The Boddington (1832), 2 Hag. Adm. 422.

1238. ——.]—THE SYDNEY COVE, No. 1169, ante.

1239. ——.]—THE NELSON, No. 1362, post.

1240. ——.]—(1) A bottomry bond, reciting "that the outward freight was insufficient to pay the just charges of the British consul, & the necessary disbursements on the vessel"; & which bond was proved to have been given for a loan of money in great part required for the payment of the consul's commission, upheld.

(2) Validity of a bond is not affected by the conduct of a third party.

(3) Bottomry bonds are held in great sanctity by the maritime cts. of Europe generally; they are so in the cts. of this country. . . . They are usually given for the payment of repairs & other necessary expenses incurred in foreign ports, when the owner & captain have no personal credit (LORD STOWELL).

(4) There have been a few instances, though a very few, in which this ct. has exercised, with great caution, a control, in the way of a reduction of the stipulated interest, where it appeared exorbitant (LORD STOWELL).

1237 i. General rule.]—WALLACE v. FIELDEN (1851), C. R. 2 A. C. 33.—CAN.

1237 ii. ——.]—THE WAKEFIELD (1861), 3 L. T. 825.—IR.

(5) He [a British consul] cannot be compelled to advance money, nor without adequate security (LORD STOWELL).—THE ZODIAC (1825), 1 Hag. Adm. 320; 166 E. R. 114.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The Cognac (1832), 2 Hag. Adm. 377; The Kennersley Castle (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 1. As to (3) Refd. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289. As to (5) Refd. The Cynthia (1852), 20 L. T. O. S. 54. Generally, Refd. The Glenmanna (1860), Lush. 115.

1241. ——.]—THE DUKE OF BEDFORD, No. 1418, post.

1242. ——.]—A bottomry bond executed by the master of a ship cannot be supported against the owners, if the master, at the time of executing the bond, had other resources for obtaining the necessary supplies for the ship.—DOBSON v. LYALL (1837), as reported in 6 L. J. Ch. 115; 11 Jur. 179, n.; subsequent proceedings (1838), 2 Ph. 323, n.

Annotations:—Refd. Glascott v. Lang (1847), 2 Ph. 310; The Don Francisco (1861), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 14.

1243. ——.]—THE HERSEY, No. 1145, ante.

1244. ——.] — WALLACE v. FIELDEN, THE ORIENTAL, No. 1320, post.

1245. Agent of shipowner in port.]—THE NELSON, No. 1362, post.

1246. ——.]—(1) A shipowner, in his written instructions to the captain, directed him, in case of emergency, to apply to certain firms abroad, "who would give him any assistance required":—Held: this did not authorise the captain to do anything not included in his general power & authority as captain.

(2) To authorise a captain to hypothecate the ship or freight for repairs, the necessity for such hypothecation must exist; if, therefore, the agent of the shipowner in a foreign port has sufficient funds in his hands for the repairs, the captain cannot hypothecate.—LYALL v. HICKS (1859), 27 Beav. 616; 54 E. R. 244.

1247. ——.]—(1) Where it appeared that at a foreign port, at which the master had taken in necessary supplies, the owner of the vessel had a recognised agent within the possible & probable knowledge of the person making the advance, the ct. held, that the bottomry bond given for such advance was void.

(2) In all disputed cases of bottomry bonds the ct. expects that, where it is practicable, the master will by his affidavit show affirmatively the good faith of his own transaction & the circumstances relating to it.—THE FAITHFUL (1862), 31 L. J. P. M. & A. 81.

Annotation:—Generally, Consd. Gunn v. Roberts (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 331.

1248. ——.]—Where the owner of a ship had an agent at the [foreign] port where she was lying, authorised & ready to supply the ship's requirements:—Held: the master has no implied authority to pledge the owner's credit at such port for necessaries supplied for the ship's use.

The captain has authority to bind the owners to pay for supplies or repay money advanced, only when the necessity of the case gives him that authority. In order to give rise to that authority . . . two things are necessary; first, it must appear that the money borrowed or goods supplied were . . . reasonably necessary according to the ordinary course of prudent conduct; . . . secondly, it is not sufficient that the moneys lent, or goods supplied, were necessary for the ship's use, but it must be shown also that it was reasonably necessary that the captain should obtain or order them on the owner's credit. . . . The same law applies to the captain's right to sell part of the cargo (BRETT, J.).—GUNN v. ROBERTS (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 331; 43 L. J. C. P. 233; 30 L. T. 424; 22 W. R. 652; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 250.

Annotations:—Refd. Adair v. Young (1879), 12 Ch. D. 13; The Pontida (1884), 9 P. D. 177; The Orienta, [1894] P. 271.

1249. Alleged agreement for payment by bills of exchange.]—THE LORD COCHRANE, No. 1186, ante.

B. Must be in respect of Necessaries.

Necessaries, generally, see Part IV., Sect. 2, sub-sect. 1, ante.

1250. Supplies.]—BRIDGEMAN'S CASE, No. 1137, ante.

1251. ——.]—THE DUKE OF BEDFORD, No. 1418, post.

1252. ——.]—A bottomry bond may be good in part, though void for the residue.

Where, therefore, a bottomry bond was given by the master at New York, as well for advances to obtain his discharge from arrest, at the instance of the consignees, on account of damage done on the voyage to part of the cargo; as for payment of the port duties & other disbursements necessary to enable the ship to prosecute her voyage; the Judicial Committee, reversing so much of the decision of the Admiralty Ct. as rejected the bond in toto, sustained the bond to the extent of the sums advanced for necessary supplies & payment of the port duties.—SMITH v. GOULD, THE PRINCE GEORGE (1842), 4 Moo. P. C. C. 21; 6 Jur. 543; 13 E. R. 208, P. C.

Annotations:—Consd. The Osmanli (1849), 3 Wm. Rob. 198. Apld. The Edmond (1861), Lush. 211. Consd. The Laurel (1864), 11 Jur. N. S. 46. Apld. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289. Consd. The Ida (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 542.

1253. ——.]—Semble: payment of one bottomry bond was a good consideration for a new bottomry bond.

The inquiry before the master was, what sum of money, on a particular day, was due & payable upon a certain bottomry bond, & what was necessary for discharging such other demands against the ship as were necessary to be discharged, & of defraying such expenses as it was necessary to incur to enable the ship to proceed home:—Held: (1) a private debt of the captain was not within the meaning of the inquiry, although it might prevent his returning with the ship; (2) a sum of money, which was required for the purchase of stores & payment of wages at a port into which the ship put on the homeward voyage, was within the meaning of such inquiry, although, on the particular day named, such sum could not be definitely foreseen; (3) a sum which became payable for seamen's wages, dues, & other expenses, immediately upon the completion of the homeward voyage, was also within the meaning of the inquiry.—DOBSON v. LYALL (1844), 3 L. T. 682; 8 Jur. 969.

1254. ——.]—THE EDMOND, No. 1292, post.

1255. ——.]—LAW v. WALLERSTEIN, THE GRAPESHOT, No. 1374, post.

1256. Repairs.]—BRIDGEMAN'S CASE, No. 1137, ante.

1257. ——.]—CORSET v. HUSELY (1689), Holt, K. B. 48; Comb. 135; 90 E. R. 924.

Annotations:—Distd. Justin v. Ballam (1702), 2 Ld. Raym. 805. Refd. Benzen v. Jeffries (1696), 1 Ld. Raym. 152; Clay v. Snelgrave (1699), 1 Ld. Raym. 576.

---

1245 1. Agent of shipowner in port.]—BENN & Co. v. PORRET (1868), 6 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 577.—SCOT.

a. Validity of bond given after advances have been made—Advances made on that understanding.]—THE ADONIS (1866), 2 S. V. A. R. 125.—CAN.

Sect. 3.—Authority to hypothecate ship and freight: Sub-sect. 7, B., C. & D.]

1258. ——.]—DAY v. WALTERS, THE ELIZABETH (1775), Burrell, 325; 167 E. R. 593.

1259. ——.]—THE ZODIAC, No. 1240, ante.

1260. ——.]—THE VIBILIA, No. 1283, post.

1261. ——.]—THE LORD COCHRANE, No. 1186, ante.

1262. ——.]—THE EDMOND, No. 1292, post.

1263. ——.]—LAW v. WALLERSTEIN, THE GRAPESHOT, No. 1374, post.

1264. Debt of master.]—ANON. (1701), No. 1139, ante.

1265. ——.]—DOBSON v. LYALL, No. 1253, ante.

1266. Obtaining master's discharge from arrest.]—SMITH v. GOULD, THE PRINCE GEORGE, No. 1252, ante.

1267. ——.]—THE HERSEY, No. 1145, ante.

1268. ——.]—THE GAUNTLET, No. 1272, post.

1269. Port dues.]—SMITH v. GOULD, THE PRINCE GEORGE, No. 1252, ante.

1270. ——.]—THE GAUNTLET, No. 1272, post.

1271. Wages.]—DOBSON v. LYALL, No. 1253, ante.

1272. Expenses of investigation into mutiny.]—A vessel carried into a foreign port by a mutinous crew, with the master dispossessed & in irons, the expenses incurred by a party employed by the British Vice-Consul to investigate into the mutiny, & re-invest the master in his command, allowed by the ct. to be a good foundation for a bottomry transaction, although no mention was made of a bottomry bond in the outset of the inquiry, & the bond was taken from the master on the eve of the vessel's sailing from the port.

No bottomry bond of the master, as an honest man, is a purely voluntary transaction, inasmuch that his distress & his necessities are the only grounds upon which he is justified in executing the bond at all . . . looking to the facts of the case, I am of opinion that the circumstance of the vessel being in the possession & under the control of a mutinous crew when she arrived at the port of A., justified the authorities of that place in interfering as they did, & that all proper costs incurred by that interference were just charges against the ship (DR. LUSHINGTON).

Upon general principles, where work has been done, or advances made upon personal security in the first instance, the party doing the work, or making the advances, is not at liberty to turn round upon the owners, & cover himself by exacting a bond of bottomry from the master (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE GAUNTLET (1848), 3 Wm. Rob. 82; 6 Notes of Cases, 370; 3 L. T. 825; 166 E. R. 893.

1273. Salvage.]—THE GAUNTLET, No. 1272, ante.

1274. Expenses of relanding cargo of lender.]—THE ROYAL STUART, No. 1187, ante.

1275. Commissions—Of consul.]—THE ZODIAC, No. 1240, ante.

1276. —— Of agent.]—On taking the ship's accounts in a cause of bottomry it was ascertained that, save as to the agent's commission, no money was due as against the ship; & the registrar & merchants reported that the commission was so excessive that on the balance of account, after reducing the commission to a proper amount, the owners of the ship were creditors & not debtors. Bond pronounced against with costs.—THE RODERICK DHU (1856), Sw. 177; 166 E. R. 1082; sub nom. THE RHODERICK DHU, 28 L. T. O. S. 238; 5 W. R. 168.

1277. Preventing arrest of ship.]—THE LOCHIEL, No. 1229, ante.

1278. ——.]—THE ROYAL ARCH, No. 1230, ante.

1279. Premiums for insurance.]—THE SERAFINA, No. 997, ante.

C. Must Not be for Pre-existing Debt.

1280. General rule.]—THE LOCHIEL, No. 1229, ante.

1281. ——.]—A British vessel being damaged by tempestuous weather, put into the port of E. for repairs. During the progress of the repairs, S. & co., who had given the orders for, & superintended them, corresponded with the owner of the vessel & part owners of the cargo, but gave no notice to them or to the master of their intention to take a bottomry bond as a security until the vessel was almost on the point of sailing:—Held: the bond could not be enforced by reason of the repairs, having been, in the first instance, undertaken on personal credit, & there having been no notice given that a bond would be required.

The agreement for bottomry must precede the advances, or the incurring responsibility. All advances made without such agreement can only be advances on personal credit, & no advances on personal credit can afterwards be converted into a bottomry transaction (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE WAVE (1851), 17 L. T. O. S. 285; 15 Jur. 518.

1282. Long account of debts.]—THE HERSEY, No. 1145, ante.

1283. Advances made without agreement for bond—Small advances.]—(1) A bottomry bond, granted by the master of a British vessel to a merchant of Philadelphia, who had consented to act as mercantile agent for the ship & cargo during the progress of repairs in the port of Philadelphia, upheld.

(2) The fact of a lien on the ship existing by the law of the country in which the bond is given, is an important ingredient, & furnishes a presumption in favour of bottomry, & against personal credit.

(3) Small advances, originally made without any express stipulation for a bond, but followed by a bond of bottomry, may be included in the bond.

(4) It is not incumbent upon a foreign merchant advancing money upon bottomry for the repairs of a vessel to calculate the expediency of such repairs.

(5) Where once the transaction is proved to have been clearly & indisputably of a bottomry character, that is, where the distress is admitted or established, the want of personal credit beyond question, & the bond in all essentials apparently correct, then that under such circumstances the strong presumption of law is in favour of its validity & it shall not be impugned save when there shall be clear & conclusive evidence of fraud (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE VIBILIA (1838), 1 Wm. Rob. 1; 166 E. R. 474.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289. Reid. The Laurel (1863), Brown. & Lush. 191. As to (3) Reid. The Trident (1839), 1 Wm. Rob. 29. As to (4) Reid. Duncan v. Benson (1847), 1 Exch. 537; The Staffordshire (1871), 23 L. T. 137. Generally. Reid. The Lochiel (1843), 2 Wm. Rob. 34; The Mary Ann (1846), 4 Notes of Cases, 376; The Royal Arch (1857), Sw. 269.

1284. —— Presumption that advances made in contemplation of bottomry security.]—It is the duty of the master before resorting to bottomry to communicate, or to endeavour to communicate with the owners of the cargo as well as with the owners of the ship, if in the circumstances it be feasible. Where a master fails to obtain funds from the owner to pay for repairs which the necessaries of the ship compel him to order, he is warranted in raising money on bottomry of ship, freight & cargo for that purpose from persons other than those who had supplied such repairs. In the case of a bottomry bond for money already supplied without any previous agreement, it is to be presumed in the absence of all evidence that the foreign lender made his advances in contemplation of bottomry security & this presumption is increased where the lex loci empowers the lender to arrest the ship in satisfaction of his demand.

The question whether money advanced is to be considered a loan or an advance of freight must principally depend upon what appears upon the face of the instrument.—THE KARNAK (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289; 37 L. J. Adm. 41; 18 L. T. 661; 17 W. R. 56; 3 Mar. L. C. 103; varied, sub nom. DROEGE v. SUART, THE KARNAK (1869), L. R. 2 P. C. 505, P. C.

Annotations:—Consd. Currie v. Bombay Native Insce. (1869), 6 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 302. Apld. The Ida (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 542. Consd. The Dora Forster, [1900] P. 241. Refd. The Empire of Peace (1869), 39 L. J. Adm. 12; The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137; Miedbrodt v. Fitzsimon, The Energie (1875), 32 L. T. 579; The St. George, [1926] P. 217.

1285. Expenses of former voyage.] — THE LOCHIEL, No. 1229, ante.

1286. ——.]—THE MARY ANN, No. 1221, ante.

1287. ——.]—THE OSMANLI, No. 1222, ante.

1288. —— Damages for non-delivery of cargo.]—In 1867 an English vessel, then at M., was chartered by W. to proceed with cargo to certain ports in South America. She took in the agreed cargo, & sailed according to orders, first to one & then to another of the ports of discharge named in the charter. A portion of the cargo was delivered, but the master failing to obtain any directions for the discharge of the residue, after considerable delay & after notice to the consignee, sold it to defray expenses. The vessel after having been several other voyages, arrived at B. in 1868, & procured a charter to an English port. After this last-mentioned charter had been entered into, W. instituted legal proceedings at B. to recover damages for the non-delivery of the cargo shipped by him, & caused the vessel to be arrested for the damages so claimed. The arrest was under process valid according to the law in force at B. By the advice of the British Consul at B. the master agreed with W. to compromise the dispute by giving to W. a bottomry bond for a sum of money considerably less than the amount claimed by him. The bond was given, & the vessel was released. In a suit instituted on behalf of W. & his partner in trade against the vessel after her safe arrival home to enforce the bond: —Held: the circumstances under which the bond was given rendered it incapable of being enforced. —THE IDA (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 542; 41 L. J. Adm. 85; 27 L. T. 457; 21 W. R. 39; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 443.

1289. Bond to avoid arrest for former debt.]—THE OSMANLI, No. 1222, ante.

1290. Arrest & sale of ship for former debt—Allowed by lex loci—Effect of.]—THE OSMANLI, No. 1222, ante.

1291. ——.]—THE KARNAK, No. 1281, ante.

1292. —— Bottomry by master in own name.]—A master, on his own authority, can bottomry his vessel abroad for the homeward voyage only for necessary repairs & articles supplied to the ship; he cannot include in such a bond charges relating to the outward cargo, even though they constitute debts due from the owner of the ship, unless by the law of the port the ship can be arrested for them.

Semble: the owner of the ship might bottomry his ship for such charges.—THE EDMOND (1860), Lush. 57; 2 L. T. 192; 167 E. R. 30; sub nom. THE EDMUND, 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 76; subsequent proceedings (1861), Lush. 211.

Annotation:—Refd. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289.

1293. —— —— —— Bottomry by owner.]—THE EDMOND, No. 1292, ante.

1294. Payment of former bond—Inclusion of amount in fresh bond—Given in same voyage.]—A bottomry bond having been given, it is allowable to pay that, & to include the amount in a fresh bond during the same voyage, but not in a subsequent one.—THE TOIVO (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 185; 164 E. R. 108.

1295. —— —— Given in subsequent voyage.]—THE TOIVO, No. 1294, ante.

1296. General average contribution—Lien for contribution—By lex loci.] — A right to general average contribution from a ship after adjustment made gives the owners of cargo no lien on the ship by the law maritime.

A debt for general average contribution, arising in respect of an outward voyage, being a personal debt only, is not a sufficient foundation for a bottomry bond on the ship for the voyage homeward.

Qu.: if a lien upon the ship for general average contribution, given by the law of the foreign port where the bond is given, could support such a bottomry bond.

A bond, given at B. on ship & freight for the voyage to England to pay a general average contribution due upon adjustment from the ship to the outward cargo, pronounced against, but without costs.

The drawing of these bills [of exchange] per se would not affect the validity of the bond according to the usual custom they would be considered as a collateral security only.

A master entering a foreign port in need of necessaries from distress or otherwise may incur debts for repairs or necessities. Those debts may be purely personal, but he may borrow money on bottomry from any one not his creditor to pay such debts. On the other hand, a personal debt cannot be converted into a bottomry transaction (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE NORTH STAR (1860), Lush. 45; 29 L. J. P. M. & A. 73; 2 L. T. 264; 167 E. R. 24.

Annotations:—Distd. The Edmond (1861), Lush. 211. Consd. The Galam MacAndrew v. Cleary (1863), Brown. & Lush. 167; The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289. Refd. The Daring (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 260.

D. Must be on Credit of Ship.

1297. General rule.]—A bond of hypothecation is valid when no other security is held out than the ship & freight; secus, where the lender looks only to the personal security of the borrower. It is not necessary that a bond should be either good or bad in toto.—THE AUGUSTA (1813), 1 Dods. 283; 165 E. R. 1312.

Annotations:—Apld. The Vibilia (1838), 1 Wm. Rob. 1. Consd. The Trident (1839), 1 Wm. Rob. 29; The Lord Cochrane (1844), 2 Wm. Rob. 320; The Ocean (1846), 2 Wm. Rob. 429. Expld. The Osmanli (1849), 3 Wm. Rob. 198. Apld. The Wave (1851), 17 L. T. O. S. 285. Consd. The Roderick Dhu (1856), Sw. 177; The Royal Arch (1857), Sw. 269; The North Star (1860), Lush. 45. Expld. The Laurel (1863), Brown. & Lush. 191. Distd. The Laurel (1864), Brown. & Lush. 317. Consd. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289. Refd. The Hersey (1837), 3 Hag. Adm. 404; The Emancipation (1840), 1 Wm. Rob. 124; The Lochiel (1843), 2 Wm. Rob. 34; Stainbank v. Fenning (1851), 11 C. B. 51; Stainbank v. Shepard (1853), 13 C. B. 418; The Segredo (otherwise The Eliza Cornish) (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 36; The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137; The Pontida (1884), 9 P. D. 102.

Sect. 3.—Authority to hypothecate ship and freight: Sub-sect. 7, D., E. & F.]

1298. ——.]—THE ATLAS, No. 1154, ante.

1299. ——.]—THE MINSTREL BOY (1835), 7 Notes of Cases, 341.

1300. ——.]—THE WAVE, No. 1281, ante.

1301. ——.]—THE ROYAL ARCH, No. 1230, ante.

1302. ——.]—Pltfs. advanced £600 to A., the owner of five-sixth shares in, & sole managing owner of, a foreign ship then in England, & an agreement was drawn up which stated that the advance was made for necessaries supplied, & that A. undertook to return the whole amount so advanced on the return of the ship, & also authorised pltfs. to effect an insurance on the ship to cover the advance:—Held: the agreement was not a contract of bottomry, for it created no charge on the ship, but left pltfs. to recover the advance from A. personally.—THE HEINRICH BJÖRN (1885), 10 P. D. 44; 54 L. J. P. 33; 52 L. T. 560; 33 W. R. 719; 1 T. L. R. 266; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 391, C. A.; affd. sub nom. NORTHCOTE v. HENRICH BJÖRN, THE HENRICH BJÖRN (1886), 11 App. Cas. 270, H. L.

Annotations:—Refd. The Beeswing (1885), 53 L. T. 554; The Ringdove (1886), 11 P. D. 120; The Lyons (1887), 57 L. T. 818; The Sara (1887), 12 P. D. 158; The Cella (1888), 13 P. D. 82; Westrup v. Great Yarmouth Steam Carrying Co. (1889), 43 Ch. D. 241; The Dictator, [1892] P. 304; The Africano, [1894] P. 141; The Oriental, [1894] P. 271; The Mecca, [1895] P. 95; The Veronas, [1901] P. 304; The André Théodore (1904), 93 L. T. 184; Moran, Galloway v. Uzielli, [1905] 2 K. B. 555; Foong Tai v. Buchheister, [1908] A. C. 458; The Petone, [1917] P. 198; The Mogileff, [1921] P. 236; The Ambatielos, The Cephalonia, [1923] P. 68; The Stream Fisher, [1927] P. 73.

1303. Advances made on owner's personal credit.]—THE MINSTREL BOY (1835), 7 Notes of Cases, 341.

1304. —— Bond taken by agent of ship.]—THE ELIZABETH, FISHER v. COFFEY (1857), 4 L. T. 27.

1305. —— & on freight—Further trivial advances.]—A. & co. agreed to purchase at Akyab cargoes of rice for F. & co., A. & co. to be secured by hypothecation of the bills of lading & a fixed freight of 5*s.* per ton. Whilst the ship E. P. was loading one of the cargoes, A. & co. advanced £540 for ship's disbursements, but upon hearing that F. & co. had stopped payment, induced the master to execute a bottomry bond both for the advances already made, & also for a further sum of small amount:—Held: (1) the first advances were made partly upon personal security, & partly upon the margin of freight, & could not therefore be secured by a subsequent bottomry; (2) the further advances were too trivial to render the bond valid with respect to them.—THE EMPIRE OF PEACE (1869), 39 L. J. Adm. 12; 21 L. T. 763; 3 Mar. L. C. 324.

1306. Advances made on master's personal credit.]—Bottomry bond given by the master upon a threat of arrest, for supplies previously furnished on his personal credit, held void.—GORE v. GARDINER, THE HERSEY (1840), 3 Moo. P. C. C. 79; 13 E. R. 37, P. C.

Annotations:—Distd. The Ariadne (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 411. Consd. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289. Refd. The St. George, [1926] P. 217.

1307. ——.]—THE GAUNTLET, No. 1272, ante.

1308. Master pledging owner's personal credit—Whether ship may be hypothecated at same time.]—The master of a vessel has no authority to hypothecate, for money borrowed at a foreign port for necessary repairs & disbursements, & at the same time pledge the personal credit of his owner for such advances, whether maritime interest be stipulated for or not. A vessel having put into a foreign port in a damaged state, the master borrowed money of a merchant there, for necessary repairs & disbursements; to secure which, he drew bills upon his owner, & also executed an instrument which purported to be an hypothecation of the ship, cargo, & freight. By this instrument, the merchant who advanced the money forbore all interest beyond the amount necessary to insure the ship to cover the advances; & the master took upon himself & his owner the risk of the voyage, making the money payable at all events, & subjecting the ship to seizure & sale by virtue of process "out of Her Majesty's High Ct. of Admlty. of England, or any ct. of Vice-Admlty. possessing jurisdiction at the port at which the vessel might at any time happen to be lying, or to be, according to the maritime law & custom of England," in the event of the bills being refused acceptance, or being dishonoured:—Held: this not being such an hypothecation as could be enforced in the Ct. of Admlty., the payment of the money borrowed not being made to depend upon the arrival of the vessel, the merchant had no insurable interest in the ship.—STAINBANK v. FENNING (1851), 11 C. B. 51; 20 L. J. C. P. 226; 17 L. T. O. S. 255; 15 Jur. 1082; 138 E. R. 389.

Annotations:—Refd. Stainbank v. Shepard (1853), 13 C. B. 418; Morgan, Galloway v. Uzielli, [1905] 2 K. B. 555.

1309. Effect of lien on ship—Lien by lex loci.]—(1) A lien on the ship & freight, existing by local law, for advances & commissons, cannot convert a transaction on personal credit into a bottomry transaction, so as to render valid a bond subsequently given, or prevent the ordinary reference of the fairness of the commissions to the registrar & merchants.

(2) The existence of such a local law may be properly pleaded as material evidence to support an allegation that the agreement was to make advances on the credit of the ship & freight, & that the commissions were customary.

(3) The existence of such a law will be assumed by the ct., unless contradicted by plea. If contradicted, either party may produce evidence, the party failing in the particular issue to pay the costs of it.—THE LAUREL (1863), Brown. & Lush. 191; 3 New Rep. 48; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 17; 9 L. T. 457; 1 Mar. L. C. 405; 167 E. R. 330.

Annotation:—As to (1) Consd. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289.

1310. —— ——.]—(1) The master in a port of refuge consigned the vessel to a merchant to advance money for her repairs, the law of the country allowing a lien on the vessel for such advances; no agreement was made at the time whether the advance was to be made on personal security or on bottomry; & the merchant did not himself determine on having bottomry security until shortly before the ship sailed, when he demanded a bond which the master executed. The ct. upheld the bond.

(2) The amount of the commission may be a reason for impeaching a bottomry bond on the ground of fraud, but cannot otherwise affect its validity.

(3) The practice of advertising, though usually expedient, is not as a general rule indispensable to the validity of a bottomry bond.

(4) The existence of a bottomry premium is only important where a question arises whether there is a maritime risk.

(5) As soon as the lenders have determined to demand a bond, they ought to communicate that fact at once to the master, but their failure to do so will not of necessity invalidate the bond.—THE LAUREL (1864), Brown. & Lush. 317; 5 New Rep. 219; 11 Jur. N. S. 46; 13 W. R. 352; 167 E. R. 382.

Annotation:—As to (4) Refd. The Mary Ann (1865), L. R. 1 A. & E. 13.

E. Advertisement.

1311. Whether necessary.]—THE GAUNTLET (1848), as reported in 6 Notes of Cases, 370; 3 L. T. 559.

1312. ——.]—THE LAUREL, No. 1310, ante.

F. Communication with Owners.

1313. Whether communication essential.]—(1) A Swedish vessel bound from a port in Sweden to Hull, was driven by stress of weather to put back into another port in Sweden. This took place on Sept. 21, 1848. Ten days afterwards the cargo was unladen, & the ship found to be greatly damaged. The repairs were completed, & the cargo reloaded. The master at once communicated with the owners of the ship, resident in Sweden, who, being without funds, consented to the master taking up a bottomry bond for payment of the necessary repairs, & the British Consul at the port where the vessel lay, wrote on behalf of the master, & as his agent, to the consignees at Hull, informing them of the damage sustained by the vessel, but made no application for money, nor referred to the necessity of repairs. No answer was made to this letter, & the master in the month of Mar. 1879, hypothecated the ship, freight, & cargo for the money borrowed for the repairs:—Held: such letter to the consignees was a sufficient notice to authorise the master raising money by bottomry on the cargo.

(2) That it is a universal rule that the master . . . before hypothecating the cargo must communicate, or even endeavour to communicate, with the owner of the cargo, has not been alleged, & is a position that could not be maintained; but it may safely . . . be said that in general it is his duty to do so, or it is his duty in general to attempt to do so (KNIGHT BRUCE, L.J.).—WILKINSON v. WILSON, THE BONAPARTE (1853), 8 Moo. P. C. C. 459; 14 E. R. 175, P. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. The Onward (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 38. Refd. The Rajah of Cochin (1859), Sw. 473; Lloyd v. Guibert (1865), L. R. 1 Q. B. 115. As to (2) Distd. The Olivier (1862), Lush. 484. Expld. Duranty v. Hart, The Hamburg (1864), 2 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 289. Consd. The Lizzie (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 254; Australasian Steam Navigation Co. v. Morse (1872), 8 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 482; Kleinwort, Cohen v. Cassa Marittima of Genoa (1877), 2 App. Cas. 156; The St. George, [1926] P. 217. Refd. The Cynthia (1852), 16 Jur. 748; Sieveking v. Maas (1856), 27 L. T. O. S. 264; The Sultan (1859), Sw. 504; Acatos v. Burns (1878), 3 Ex. D. 282; The Gaetano & Maria (1881), 7 P. D. 1.

1314. ——.]—THE JANET WILSON (1857), 3 L. T. 682; subsequent proceedings, Sw. 261.

1315. ——.]—THE OLIVIER, No. 1153, ante.

1316. ——.]—THE KARNAK, No. 1284, ante.

1317. ——.]—BARRON v. STEWART, THE PANAMA, No. 1331, post.

1318. ——.]—A master cannot bottomry his ship nor a fortiori hypothecate his cargo without communication with the owners where practicable, as to the necessity of the course adopted.—KLEINWORT, COHEN & CO. v. CASSA MARITTIMA OF GENOA (1877), 2 App. Cas. 156; 36 L. T. 118; 25 W. R. 608; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 358, P. C.

*Annotation:—Refd. The Gaetano & Maria (1881), 7 P. D. 1.

1319. No means of communication—Whether master may hypothecate—In country where owners reside.]—The master has a right to hypothecate the ship & cargo though lying in a port of the same country in which the owners reside, provided he has no means of communicating with the owners.—LA YSABEL (1812), 1 Dods. 273; 165 E. R. 1308.

*Annotations:—Consd. The Trident (1839), 1 Wm. Rob. 29; Wallace v. Fielden, The Oriental (1851), 7 Moo. P. C. C. 398. Refd. The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137.

1320. —— —— ——.]—The authority of the master of a ship to pledge by bottomry for the purpose of raising money for the absolute necessaries of the ship, only arises when he cannot obtain the necessary advances upon the personal credit of the owner; & such power to raise money by bottomry is vested in the master, although the owner resides in the same country, provided there is no means of communication with the owner, & the exigency of the case requires it.

A bottomry bond was granted in New York by the master of a ship, to obtain money for necessary repairs; the owner whereof was residing at St. John's, New Brunswick. A communication by electric telegraph existed between the two cities. The bondholder had previously acted as the general agent of the owner, & no intimation of the transaction was made by the master to the owner until after the execution of the bond:—Held: the master having the means of communication with the owner, so such absolute necessity existed as to authorise him to pledge the ship without communication with the owner, & the bond declared void.—WALLACE v. FIELDEN, THE ORIENTAL (1851), 7 Moo. P. C. C. 398; 3 L. T. 682; 13 E. R. 934, P. C.

*Annotations:—Apld. The Cynthia (1852), 20 L. T. O. S. 54. Consd. The Olivier (1862), Lush. 484. Apld. The Onward (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 38. Refd. Edwards v. Havill (1854), 2 C. L. R. 1343; Sieveking v. Maas (1856), 25 L. J. Q. B. 358; The Royal Arch (1857), Sw. 269; The Sultan (1859), Sw. 504; The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137; Kleinwort, Cohen v. Cassa Marittima of Genoa (1877), 2 App. Cas. 156.

1321. Failure to communicate—Effect of.]—GLASCOTT v. LANG, No. 1469, post.

1322. —— ——.]—WALLACE v. FIELDEN, THE ORIENTAL, No. 1320, ante.

1323. —— ——.]—THE JANET WILSON (1857), 3 L. T. 682; subsequent proceedings, Sw. 261.

1324. —— Matters for consideration of court.]—THE OLIVIER, No. 1153, ante.

1325. —— Invalidity on account of failure—Must be specially pleaded.]—THE OLIVIER, No. 1153, ante.

1326. —— Alleged insolvency of owner—Whether justifying failure.]—BARRON v. STEWART, THE PANAMA, No. 1331, post.

1327. Sufficiency of notice—No direct communication with owner.]—A bottomry bond on ship, freight, & cargo was granted by the master at the port where A., the owner of the cargo & charterer of the ship, resided. Advertisements for the loan on bottomry were published, & A. was aware of these advertisements, of the unseaworthy condition of the ship, & of the fact that his cargo had been laden & unladen while the ship was in the port, but no more direct communication was made

---

PART IV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 7.—F.

b. General rule.]—The rule that the master has authority to borrow money on the ship & to pledge the owner's credit whenever the power of communication is not correspondent with the existing necessity, applies as well to a case where a vessel, subject to Inland Waters Seamen's Act, is in a home port as where she is in a foreign one.—THIRD NATIONAL BANK OF DETROIT & PENINSULAR SAVINGS BANK OF DETROIT v. SYMES (1895), 4 Exch. C. R. 400.—CAN.

c. Failure to communicate.]—WALLACE v. FIELDEN (1851), C. R. 2 A. C. 33.—CAN.

d. ——.]—SHIP OWNERS' DRY DOCK CO. & WING & CO. v. THE FLORA (1897), 6 Exch. C. R. 135.—CAN.

e. ——.]—A British ship, under a charter from London to Callao, put into Melbourne for repairs. The to him, nor any application for advances :—Held : the advertisements were not sufficient notice ; & the bond pronounced against, so far as A.'s interest was affected.—THE NUOVA LOANESE (1852), 3 L. T. 154 ; 17 Jur. 263.

Sect. 3.—Authority to hypothecate ship and freight: Sub-sect. 7, F. & G. (a) & (b).]

1328. —— No information as to necessity of case.]—WILKINSON v. WILSON, THE BONAPARTE, No. 1313, ante.

1329. —— No mention of intention to hypothecate.]—THE OLIVIER, No. 1153, ante.

1330. —— ——.]—THE ONWARD, No. 1336, post.

1331. —— Notice to mortgagees—Where owner insolvent.]—Before resorting to bottomry for raising necessary supplies, it is absolutely necessary, where practical, that notice should be given by the master to the owner of the vessel, & an allegation that such owner was insolvent, is no excuse for not communicating to him, unless he has been judicially declared insolvent, & the ownership of the vessel vested in his assignees, to whom such notice must then be given.

Semble : notice to the mtgee. of the vessel in such circumstances would not suffice.—BARRON v. STEWART, THE PANAMA (1870), L. R. 3 P. C. 199 ; 6 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 484 ; 39 L. J. Adm. 37 ; 23 L. T. 12 ; 18 W. R. 1011 ; 3 Mar. L. C. 461 ; 16 E. R. 808, P. C.

Annotations :—Reld. The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137 ; The Onward (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 38.

1332. —— Mere statement of injuries—& necessity for repairs.]—THE ONWARD, No. 1336, post.

1333. Necessity for notice to owners of cargo.]—THE CYNTHIA (1852), 20 L. T. O. S. 54; 16 Jur. 748.

Annotation :—Reld. Mackenzie v. Poolley (1856), 25 L. J. Ex. 124.

1334. —— Notice to consignees.]—WILKINSON v. WILSON, THE BONAPARTE, No. 1313, ante.

1335. —— Hypothecation of ship & cargo.]—THE OLIVIER, No. 1153, ante.

1336. —— ——.]—The master of a ship, being only the agent of the cargo in special cases of necessity, is bound, when the circumstances permit, to communicate with the owner of the cargo before he does any act which seriously affects the value of the cargo. A master, therefore, putting into Port Louis, Mauritius, for repairs to his ship, & intending to raise money for those repairs upon bottomry, not only on ship & freight, but also upon cargo of an imperishable nature & belonging to one firm residing in Great Britain, is bound to communicate with them before having recourse to bottomry ; otherwise the bond is invalid.

To justify a master in giving a bottomry bond on cargo where communication with the owners is necessary, a mere statement of injuries sustained by the ship & of the consequent necessity for repairs entailing considerable expense, unaccompanied by a statement that a bottomry bond is proposed, is not a sufficient communication : the law does not require the owners from such premises to draw the conclusion that the ship & cargo must be bottomried ; although it may not be required that the words " bottomry of cargo " should be used in the communication, the fact itself should be stated, or at least the necessity for a bottomry bond should be an obvious & irresistible inference from the circumstances stated.

A communication detailing the disasters to the ship, & the probable expense of repair, but not expressing the intention to bottomry the cargo, & requesting the owners of cargo to wait for further information, is not, where any communication is necessary, sufficient ; more especially where the information as to the bottomry has been given to the shipowners, but withheld from the owners of cargo ; & in such circumstances the owners of cargo are not bound to conclude that the master will resort to bottomry, or to reply to the communication.—THE ONWARD (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 38 ; 42 L. J. Adm. 61 ; 28 L. T. 204 ; 21 W. R. 601 ; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 540.

Annotation :—Apprvd. Kleinwort, Cohen v. Cassa Marittima of Genoa (1877), 2 App. Cas. 156.

1337. Necessity for notice to mortgagee.]—THE HELGOLAND, No. 1432, post

1338. ——.]—The provision in 1894 Act, s. 34, that a mtgor. shall not be deemed to have ceased to be the owner of a mtged. ship, except as far as may be necessary for making the ship available as a security for the mtge. debt, does not prevent the ship from being made the subject of a bottomry bond ; nor is the consent of the mtgee. a prerequisite of such a hypothecation ; but where practicable, the lender on bottomry should see that the mtgee. has notice of the necessity for the hypothecation before obtaining the bond.

Granting the necessity for the loan, the fact that the lender is registered as the managing owner, & is also a director of the co. owning the ship, does not disable him from making advances on bottomry. —THE ST. GEORGE, [1926] P. 217 ; 95 L. J. P. 181 ; 136 L. T. 252 ; 42 T. L. R. 766 ; 17 Asp. M. L. C. 164.

G. Essential Contents.

(a) In General.

1339. Voyage.]—A hired transport in the service of government may be the subject of bottomry as well as any other vessel, & the hypothecation of such hired transport may be valid, though the particular voyage on which she was bound should not be stated in the bond.—THE JANE (1814), 1 Dods. 461 ; 165 E. R. 1378.

Annotations :—Reld. Stainbank v. Shepard (1853), 13 C. B. 418 ; The James W. Elwell, [1921] P. 351.

1340. ——.]—Advances were made on the terms of the following document relied on as a bottomry bond :—" Sept. 30, 1919. Bond of bottomry between A. C. Clark, master of American schooner James W Elwell . . . & American Express co. . . . I, A. C. Clark . . . do hereby agree to bond & lien said schooner together with her furniture, sails, gear, & future earnings to the amount of frs. 20,000 for value received, said American Express co. to have absolute lien upon vessel until said loan is repaid together with interest accrued & all other charges relating thereto. . . ." Signed, etc. :—Held : as neither the voyage on which the maritime risk was to be run, nor the time when the loan was to become repayable, was stated, the bond was not a valid contract of bottomry & gave the lenders no maritime lien.—THE JAMES W. ELWELL, [1921] P. 351 ; 90 L. J. P. 355 ; 125 L. T. 796 ; 37 T. L. R. 835 ; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 418.

1341. Provision for repayment.]—THE ATLAS, No. 1154, ante.

1342. —— Time for repayment.]—THE JAMES W. ELWELL, No. 1340, ante.

---

master, who was also part owner, fearing that the shipwrights would, unless their claims were paid, detain the vessel, & that she might thus be unable to fulfil her charter, raised the necessary funds from the ship's assets at Melbourne upon a bottomry bond of the ship & freight :—Held : the bond was not invalidated by the absence of previous communication between the master & the co-owner.—THE STAFFORDSHIRE (1871), 25 L. T. 137.—IR.

1343. Bottomry premium.]—THE LAUREL, No. 1310, ante.

Maritime risk.]—See Sect. 3, sub-sect. 7, G. (b), post.

Maritime interest.]—See Sect. 3, sub-sect. 7, G. (c), post.

(b) Maritime Risk.

1344. Necessity for inclusion.]—THE ATLAS, No. 1154, ante.

1345. ——.]—THE EMANCIPATION, No. 1492, post.

1346. ——.]—A ship pledged abroad by the master for expenses, etc., well hypothecated, & the part-owners liable.—SAMSUN v. BRAGINGTON (1750), 1 Ves. Sen. 443; 27 E. R. 1132.

Annotations:—Dbtd. Stainbank v. Fenning (1851), 11 C. B. 51; Stainbank v. Shepard (1853), 13 C. B. 418.

1347. ——.]—Additional articles, appended to a charterparty, signed by the master, acknowledging the receipt of money on account of his freight, for which he had paid insurance, which, with other moneys, he stipulated should "on his safe arrival in London," be deducted from his freight, & in case his freight should not be sufficient to pay the same, "the debit shall be retained as a bottomry bond"; on motion to decree payment of these advances, as on bottomry, out of proceeds of sale of the vessel in the registry:—Held: there was no maritime risk, nor proof that the advances were for the necessities of the ship.

A bottomry bond must not only include maritime risk, but also it must be for the necessities of the ship, & the ct. must be satisfied, before it can pronounce for the validity of a bottomry bond, & decree it to be paid out of the proceeds of the vessel, that the money was advanced for that purpose (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE GRECIA (1850), 7 Notes of Cases, 410.

1348. ——.]—STAINBANK v. FENNING, No. 1308, ante.

1349. ——.]—(1) The master of a ship on a foreign voyage has no authority to bind his employers for everything which he may deem to be or which may really be for their interest, but has power to pledge, in a foreign country, the personal credit of the owners for necessary repairs; & if that be ineffectual, to hypothecate the ship, but this power does not extend to more than hypothecation.

(2) Hypothecation is distinguishable from a mtge. or pledge, & gives only a right enforceable against the subject of it by Admlty. process.

(3) The master has no power to make an actual transfer by mtge.

(4) It is essential to hypothecation that the sea risk should be incurred by the lender, & that the pledge should take effect only in the event of the ship's safe arrival.

Where the master of a ship, having borrowed money for repairs, gave the lender bills on the owner of the ship & on the consignee of the cargo for the amount, & also an instrument by which he purported to hypothecate the vessel, etc., & stipulated that, in case the bills were not accepted or paid, the lenders might take possession, & sell under process of the Admlty. Ct., & in which it was agreed that the lender should forbear maritime interest, & that the advances were to be recoverable, whether the vessel arrived at its port of destination or not:—Held: the instrument was void, & the lender had no insurable interest.—STAINBANK v. SHEPARD (1853), 13 C. B. 418; 1 C. L. R. 609; 22 L. J. Ex. 341; 22 L. T. O. S. 158; 17 Jur. 1032; 1 W. R. 505; 138 E. R. 1262, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. Bristow v. Whitmore (1859), 4 De G. & J. 325; Willis v. Palmer (1859), 7 C. B. N. S. 340. As to (2) Reld. Miedbrodt v. Fitzsimon, The Energie (1875), 32 L. T. 579. As to (4) Reld. The James W. Elwell, [1921] P. 351. Generally, Reld. The Onward (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 38.

1350. ——.]—THE ROYAL ARCH, No. 1230, ante.

1351. ——.]—THE INDOMITABLE, No. 1357, post.

1352. ——.]—THE SERAFINA, No. 997, ante.

1353. ——.]—SMITH v. BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, THE STAFFORDSHIRE, No. 1506, post.

1354. Circumstances excluding maritime risk—Ship not proceeding on voyage.]—A. intending to go a voyage, enters into a bottomry bond, but the ship not going the voyage, but lying all along safe in the port of London, the ct. decreed deft. should lose the premium, & accept of his principal with usual interest.—DEGUILDER v. DEPEISTER (1684), 1 Vern. 263; 23 E. R. 458.

1355. —— Stipulation for insurance.]—THE LOVELY ANN (1815), Burrell, 337; 167 E. R. 598.

1356. —— ——.]—THE BODDINGTON'S, No. 1446, post.

1357. —— —— Premiums to be paid by borrowers—Insurance extending beyond date of arrival.]—(1) The expression of maritime risk, to be collected from all the terms of the instrument, is essential to the validity of a bottomry bond.

(2) Stipulations in an instrument purporting to be an agreement to hypothecate the ship, which, taken together, exclude the implication of maritime risk. Common rate of interest, to extend beyond the date of arrival at the port of destination & until payment of the principal; insurance of the ship beyond the date of the arrival, the same to be made by the lenders & paid for by the borrowers. This conclusion not rebutted by a stipulation to pay a bill of exchange for the amount of the money lent within thirty-four days after arrival, the bill not being expressed to be drawn as a collateral security

(3) Semble: if sea risk is directly expressed, a stipulation that the ship shall be insured for the voyage by the lenders, the premium be repaid by the borrowers, is immaterial.

The insurance of the ship to be made by lenders, & paid for by borrowers, standing alone, might not prejudice the bond. But such insurance, beyond the termination of the voyage negatives sea risks.—THE INDOMITABLE (1859), Sw. 446; 33 L. T. O. S. 127; 5 Jur. N. S. 632.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. The James W. Elwell, [1921] P. 351. As to (3) Foll. The Haabet, [1899] P. 295.

1358. —— Proviso for payment on non-return of ship.]—An instrument executed in a foreign port by the master of a ship, reciting, that his vessel bound to London, had received considerable damage, & that he had borrowed £1,077 to defray the expenses of repairing her, proceeded as follows:—"I bind myself, my ship, her apparel, tackle, etc., as well as her freight & cargo, to pay the above sum with 12 per cent. bottomry premium; & I further bind myself, said ship, her freight, & cargo, to the payment of that sum, with all charges thereon, in eight days after my arrival at the port of London, & I do hereby make liable the said vessel, her freight & cargo, whether she do or do not arrive at the port of London, in preference to all other debts or claims, declaring that this pledge or bottomry has now, & must have, preference to all other claims & charges, until such principal sum, with 12 per cent. bottomry premium, & all charges are duly paid":—Held: this was an instrument of bottomry, for an intention sufficiently appeared from the whole of it, that the lender should take upon himself the peril of the voyage; the words "my arrival," must be understood to mean my ship's arrival; & the words, "I make liable the said vessel, her freight & cargo, whether she do or do not arrive at London"; were intended only to give the lenders a claim on the ship, in preference to other claims, in case of the ship's arrival at some other than the destined port, & not to provide for the event of a loss of the ship.—SIMONDS v. HODGSON (1832), 3 B. & Ad. 50; 1 L. J. K. B. 51; 110 E. R. 19.

Sect. 3.—Authority to hypothecate ship and freight: Sub-sect. 7, G. (b) & (c); sub-sects. 8, 9, & 10, A.]

Annotations:—Refd. Stainbank v. Fenning (1851), 11 C. B. 51; The Royal Arch (1857), 30 L. T. O. S. 198; The Mary Ann (1865), L. R. 1 A. & E. 13; The James W. Elwell, [1921] P. 351.

1359. —— Low rate of interest.]—THE ROYAL ARCH, No. 1230, ante.

1360. —— Common rate of interest.]—THE INDOMITABLE, No. 1357, ante.

1361. —— Stipulation for immediate repayment of loan—If vessel puts into port of refuge.]—THE HAABET, No. 1367, post.

1362. Sufficiency of expression of risk.]—(1) It is certainly the vital principle of bottomry bonds, that they shall have been taken where the owner was known to have no credit; no resources for obtaining necessary supplies. It is that state of unprovided necessity that alone supports these bonds: the absence of that necessity is their undoing. If the master takes up money from a person who knows that he has a general credit in the place, or at least an empowered consignee, or agent, willing to supply his wants, the giving a bottomry bond is a void transaction, not affecting the property of the owner, only fixing loss & shame on the fraudulent lender; but where honourably transacted, under an honest ignorance of this fact, an ignorance that could not be removed by any reasonable inquiry, it is the disposition of this ct. to uphold such bonds, as necessary for the support of commerce in its extremities of distress, & as such recognised in the maritime codes of all commercial ages & nations (LORD STOWELL).

(2) One objection is that it binds the owners personally, as well as the ship & freight, which it cannot do. That is held in this ct. to be no objection to the efficacy of what it is admitted it can do. Here we do not take this bond in toto, as is done in other systems of law, & reject it as unsound in the whole, if vicious, in any part. But we separate the parts, reject the vicious, & respect the efficiency of those which are entitled to operate. The form of these bonds is different in different countries; so is their authority. In some countries they bind the owner or owners, in others not, & where they do not, though the form of the bond affects to bond the owners, that part is insignificant, but does not at all touch upon the efficiency of those parts which have an acknowledged operation. . . . The money is to be paid at such a time "after the ship arrives at her port." If the ship never arrives at her port, or is lost upon the voyage, that is a sufficient description of sea risk (LORD STOWELL).—THE NELSON (1823), 1 Hag. Adm. 169; 166 E. R. 61.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The Hersey (1837), 3 Hag. Adm. 404; The Prince of Saxe Cobourg (1837), 3 Hag. Adm. 387. As to (2) Refd. The Atlas (1827), 2 Hag. Adm. 48; Stainbank v. Fenning (1851), 11 C. B. 51; Stainbank v. Shepard (1853), 13 C. B. 418; The Royal Arch (1857), 30 L. T. O. S. 198; The Indomitable (1859), Sw. 446. Generally, Refd. Weston v. Foster (1836), 5 L. J. C. P. 242; The Mary Ann (1865), L. R. 1 A. & E. 13.

1363. Risk must be incurred by lender.]—STAINBANK v. SHEPARD, No. 1349, ante.

(c) Maritime Interest.

1364. Whether necessary.]—THE ATLAS, No. 1154, ante.

1365. ——.]—THE EMANCIPATION, No. 1492, post.

1366. —— If maritime risk expressed.]—THE LAUREL, No. 1310, ante.

1367. —— ——.]—The master of a Norwegian barque at Barbados, being in need of necessaries, obtained a cash advance on the security of an instrument by which he promised to repay the amount "within ten days after arrival at port of discharge in Europe, or at any other place at which the voyage may terminate . . . in an approved banker's sight draft or cheque on London to the order of (the agents of the lender) . . . & for which I hereby pledge the said vessel, her freight & her owners. The claim to have priority over all others that may be presented against the said freight & vessel, with the express agreement, however, that it shall not invalidate or affect the lien upon, or right of process against, the said vessel & freight & owners for the amount of this bill . . . in case of its not being duly accepted & paid. Provided always . . . that if the said vessel shall, in the course of the voyage on which she is now being despatched, go into any port of refuge to repair there, all the moneys for the payment of which the said vessel, her freight, & owners, are hereby pledged, shall forthwith become due & payable, & it shall be lawful for the said (agents) to proceed at once against the said vessel, freight & owners, or any or either of the same, separately, to recover the amount of this bill. . . ." In the margin was a note as to insurance by the lender:—Held: the instrument was a valid bottomry bond, for the lender of the money ran the risk of the vessel not reaching her port of discharge, &, therefore, it was immaterial that there was no stipulation as to maritime interest, nor was the bond invalidated by the bill transaction contained in it, or by the loan becoming immediately payable on the vessel putting into a port of refuge, or by the memorandum as to insurance.—THE HAABET, [1899] P. 295; 68 L. J. P. 121; 81 L. T. 463; 48 W. R. 223; 15 T. L. R. 548; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 605.

1368. Whether particular rate of interest essential.]—THE ROYAL ARCH, No. 1230, ante.

Payment in enforcement of bond.]—See Sect. 3, sub-sect. 11, D., post.

---

SUB-SECT. 8.—DUTIES OF LENDERS AND THEIR ASSIGNEES.

1369. To ascertain that advances were necessary.]—(1) A bottomry bond, given within three days of sailing, at the Mauritius, by a part owner, the de facto master, to a stranger who took no step to ascertain whether the loan was required for the purposes of the ship, such loan being larger than advertised for, & the balance in favour of the agents & consignees small, though in evidence that, till discharged, they would have detained the ship, not valid.

(2) There being no mala fides in the bondholder, the ct. declined to condemn him in the costs of the asignees.

(3) It may be a question whether a lender on bottomry is bound to see to the application of the money he advances, but it is clear that he must make due inquiry to ascertain that a necessity exists, & that without money so advanced the ship cannot proceed upon her voyage. When a necessity has been ascertained, the lender may not be required to see to the application of the loan; but when a ship has arrived with a considerable cargo in a foreign port, & remains there for some time, . . . & where the repairs have been unimportant, & all the stores furnished, & a person then advances money on bottomry without seeing to the necessity, he does so at his own risk (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—THE ORELIA (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 75; 166 E. R. 334.

1370. ——.]—SOARES v. RAHN, THE PRINCE OF SAXE COBOURG, No. 470, ante.

1371. ——.]—A merchant advancing money on bottomry in a foreign port, though bound to show a reasonable case of unprovided necessity for the advance, from the want of repair or otherwise, is not bound to inquire into the expediency of incurring the expense of those repairs with reference to the interest of the owner (POLLOCK, C.B.).—DUNCAN v. BENSON (1847), 1 Exch. 537; 17 L. J. Ex. 238; 10 L. T. O. S. 228; 154 E. R. 229; affd. sub nom. BENSON v. DUNCAN (1849), 3 Exch. 644.

Annotations:—Consd. The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137. Mentd. Miedbrodt v. Fitzsimon, The Energie (1825), 32 L. T. 579; Hallett v. Wigram (1850), 9 C. B. 580; Atkinson v. Stephens (1852), 7 Exch. 567; Stainbank v. Shepard (1853), 13 C. B. 418; Grey v. Gibbs (1857), 2 H. & N. 22; The Union (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 17; The Olivier (1862), Lush. 484; Lloyd v. Guibert (1865), 6 B. & S. 100; The Lizzie (1868), 19 L. T. 71; The Eugenie (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 123; The Onward (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 38; Atwood v. Sellar (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 342.

1372. ——.]—THE ROYAL STUART, No. 1187, ante.

1373. ——.]—THE PONTIDA, No. 1387, post.

1374. —— Effect of failure to make inquiries.]—(1) Where the claim on a bottomry bond is by the material man against the owner, it will always be presumed that supplies & repairs ordered by the master were reasonably fit & proper, unless there is clear proof to the contrary, & also proof of collusion by the material man.

(2) To support hypothecation by bottomry, evidence of actual necessity for repairs & supplies is required, &, if the fact of necessity be left unproved, evidence is also required of due inquiry, & of reasonable grounds of belief that the necessity was real & exigent.

(3) A survey is not indispensable in proof of necessity; but where the repairs alleged to be made are extensive, & the necessity otherwise left in doubt, the absence of such an examination will go far to warrant the conclusion that no real necessity existed.

(4) A bottomry bond may be good in part & bad in part; & the mere omission of the lender to make inquiry, will not vitiate it altogether.—LAW v. WALLERSTEIN, THE GRAPESHOT (1870), 22 L. T. 376; 3 Mar. L. C. 388.

1375. To see that advances are properly applied.]—THE ORELIA, No. 1369, ante.

1376. ——.]—THE ROYAL STUART, No. 1187, ante.

1377. To ascertain that advances could not be obtained on credit.]—The party taking a bottomry bond from the master of a vessel requiring supplies for the further prosecution of her voyage, is bound to ascertain whether such supplies can be procured on the personal credit of the owner, before resort is had to a bottomry bond as security for their amount. Semble: where a party has the means of knowing a fact, he is bound to show that he exercised reasonable diligence to ascertain it.—HEATHORN v. DARLING, THE ELIZA (1836), 1 Moo. P. C. C. 5; 12 E. R. 712, P. C.

Annotation:—Apld. The Prince of Saxe Cobourg (1837), 3 Hag. Adm. 387.

1378. ——.]—SOARES v. RAHN, THE PRINCE OF SAXE COBOURG, No. 470, ante.

1379. To calculate expediency of incurring expense.]—THE VIBILIA, No. 1283, ante.

1380. ——.]—DUNCAN v. BENSON, No. 1371, ante.

1381. To give notice—Of intention to take bond—To masters—& owner.]—THE WAVE, No. 1281, ante.

1382. —— —— ——.]—THE LAUREL, No. 1310, ante.

1383. —— —— Effect of failure to give notice.]—THE LAUREL, No. 1310, ante.

1384. —— To mortgagee—Of existence of bond.]—THE HELGOLAND, No. 1432, post.

1385. —— —— Of necessity for hypothecation.]—THE ST. GEORGE, No. 1338, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 9.—LIABILITY OF OWNERS.

1386. Extent of liability—Extent of property in ship.]—THE TARTAR, No. 1235, ante.

1387. —— Commensurate with necessity.]—(1) The master of a ship is the agent of the owner to pledge his credit only in the case of necessity, & to the extent of that which is necessary to enable the ship to complete her voyage, & he cannot by giving a bottomry bond for an excessive amount fix the owner with liability for anything beyond that which is necessary.

To take another illustration: as that a ship requires coppering to a certain extent in order to enable her to complete the voyage & the master thinks it better to have five times as much work done as is actually required, in order, by so doing, that she may be reclassed. The lender on bottomry, according to the arguments we have heard, if he does not suspect fraud, & has made some inquiries, has obtained a valid bottomry bond for the whole cost of the work done. But no authority has been cited which carries the law to this length. A bond under such circumstances would be pronounced invalid whether the lender knew or did not know that the repairs were for reclassing the vessel (BRETT, M.R.).

(2) The fact that the person who advances the money may have made reasonable inquiries into the circumstances of the case does not render the owner liable for excessive or unreasonable charges.—THE PONTIDA (1884), 9 P. D. 177; 53 L. J. P. 78; 51 L. T. 849; 33 W. R. 38; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 330, C. A.

1388. Liability for excessive or unreasonable charges—Reasonable inquiries made by lender.]—THE PONTIDA, No. 1387, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 10.—PAYMENT OF BOTTOMRY BONDS.

A. In General.

1389. Right of bondholder to benefit of insurance—In addition to money due on bond.]—One lends £250 on a bottomry bond, & afterwards insures on the same ship. The ship is lost. He shall have

---

PART IV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 9.

f. General rule.]—The hypothecation of the ship does not render the owner personally liable.—SHAW v. BARTLETT (1864), 5 Nfld. L. R. 85.—NFLD.

g. Master pledging ship without authority—Owner not liable.]—COCHRANE v. GILKISON (1854), 16 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 548; 26 Sc. Jur. 251.—SCOT.

h. Bills of exchange drawn by master—As security for money advanced—Promise to pledge given.]—MILLER & Co. v. POTTER, WILSON & Co. (1875), 3 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 105; 13 Sc. L. R. 70.—SCOT.

Sect. 3.—Authority to hypothecate ship and freight: Sub-sect. 10, A. & B. (a) & (b).]

both the benefit of the insurance, & the money due on the bond too.—HARMAN v. VANHATTON (1716), 2 Vern. 716 ; 23 E. R. 1071, L. C.

1390. Proof of payment—Bond as primary evidence.]—A bottomry bond uncancelled & not delivered up, as paid, held not to be discharged by an agreement, on a settlement of accounts, between the owner & the charterer, that the latter should pay the bond, to which agreement the agent of the bondholder was, as partner of the charterer, privy ; but under which there was no evidence that, as agent of the bondholder, he had acted or received the money. Bond pronounced for with costs.

Looking to the peculiar nature of bottomry bonds, as given, usually to strangers & foreigners, for the advance of money for the service of the ship in a distant port, it is the duty of the ct. to look for the discharge of them in the simplest & most unequivocal form. If it should turn aside to averments of collateral or constructive payments, growing out of the complicated relations of individuals, & on disputed facts, it would destroy the security of these engagements, & lead the bondholder into a discussion of particulars, of which he must be totally ignorant, & thus expose him to litigation, that may disappoint all his prospects of a return for the advances which he has made, & involve him in fruitless expenses. . . .

With respect to the common principles that govern all bonds, it is natural to look to the bond itself for the proof of payment ; as it is usual to deliver up the bond, or to note the payment on the instrument itself, or in some collateral receipt (SIR CHRISTOPHER ROBINSON).—THE HUNTCLIFF (1829), 2 Hag. Adm. 281 ; 166 E. R. 247.

Annotation :—Refd. The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137.

1391. What amounts to payment—Settlement of accounts between owner & charterer—Agreement that charterer should pay bond—Agent of bondholder privy to contract.]—THE HUNTCLIFF, No. 1390, ante.

1392. Payment of one bond—Whether consideration for new bond.]—DOBSON v. LYALL, No. 1253, ante.

1393. Merger of simple contract debt.]—THE ELPIS, No. 1168, ante.

B. When Bond Payable.

(a) In General.

1394. General rule—On completion of voyage.]—THE ARMADILLO, No. 1396, post.

(b) When Payable Before Completion of Voyage.

1395. Deviation of ship.]—WESTERN v. WILDY (1684), Skin. 152 ; 90 E. R. 71.

1396. ——.]—A bond of bottomry sought to be enforced prior to the arrival of the ship at her port of destination upon the grounds that the advances for which the bond was given had been obtained from the bondholder by the fraudulent misrepresentations of the master, & that the payment of the bond had become due by unnecessary delay & deviation in the progress of the voyage. Claim of the bondholder dismissed with costs.

The general principle undoubtedly is, that a bond does not become payable until the voyage for which it is given is completed, but if a master, after setting out on a voyage, fraudulently neglects or refuses to proceed with the vessel to the place to which she was destined, I entertain no doubt whatever that the bond becomes instantly due, & payment may be enforced upon it by proceedings in this ct. (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE ARMADILLO (1841), 1 Wm. Rob. 251 ; 1 Notes of Cases, 75 ; 166 E. R. 566.

1397. —— Ship pressed into King's service.]—WILLIAMS v. STEADMAN (1693), Holt, K. B. 126 ; Skin. 345 ; 90 E. R. 968.

1398. —— Not consented to by lenders.]—Deft. borrowed a sum of money from pltfs. on the security of a bottomry bond on a ship of which he was the owner. The voyage was described in the bottomry bond as from Liverpool to Newhaven, but the ship when at Liverpool was rechartered by deft. to Santos, where she was abandoned :—Held : pltfs. not having consented to the deviation the amount secured by the bottomry bond became payable by deft.

Bottomry is a contract of insurance for a particular voyage. If the vessel does not sail on that voyage the consideration fails (MATHEW, J.).—LONDON & MIDLAND BANK v. NEILSEN (1895), 1 Com. Cas. 18.

1399. Delay—By inevitable accident—Embargo—Effect of provision for inevitable accident.]—INGLEDEW v. FOSTER (1713), 2 Eq. Cas. Abr. 189 ; 4 Vin. Abr. 281 ; 22 E. R. 162.

1400. —— Unnecessary delay.]—THE ARMADILLO, No. 1396, ante.

1401. Capture by enemy—Clause providing for such event—Subsequent recapture—Arrival at destination.]—Action on a bottomry bond containing a clause, that if the ship should be taken by the enemy, etc., the bond should be void. The ship was captured & recaptured, & afterwards arrived at her destination, & earned her freight :—Held : the obligee was entitled to recover upon the bond. There is no average on salvage on a bottomry bond.

It was contended that the case came within the words of the clause, making the bond void in case of capture by the enemy. But, on consideration, we are all of opinion, that the taking by the enemy there contemplated does not mean merely a temporary taking, which is only an obstruction (LORD MANSFIELD). — JOYCE v. WILLIAMSON (1782), 3 Doug. K. B. 164 ; 99 E. R. 593.

1402. Where ship lost—Recovery dependent on actual total loss.]—An assured on bottomry cannot recover against the underwriter unless there has been an actual total loss of the ship ; for if the ship exist in specie, in the hands of the owners, though under circumstances that would entitle the assured on the ship to abandon, it will prevent its being an utter loss within the meaning of the bottomry bond.—THOMSON v. ROYAL EXCHANGE ASSURANCE CO. (1813), 1 M. & S. 30 ; 105 E. R. 11.

Annotations :—Apld. The Elephanta (1851), 18 L. T. O. S. 248. Folld. Broomfield v. Southern Insce. (1870), L. R. 5 Exch. 192. Refd. Barr v. Gibson (1838), 3 M. & W. 390 ; The Catharina (formerly The Croxdale) (1851), 17 L. T. O. S. 43 ; Stephens v. Broomfield, The Great Pacific (1869), L. R. 2 P. C. 516.

1403. —— —— Sale as unseaworthy.]—A British ship, upon which a bottomry bond had been taken, payable on the ship's arrival in England, was sold by the master, as unseaworthy, at public auction, & with the consent of the British Consul, at Bahia, to a foreigner, who repaired her, changed her name, & sent her to England. There was no evidence of notice of the bond having been given at the sale :—Held : the ship was still subject to the bond.

Abandonment of ship—For payment of debts.]—THE TRIUMPH (1861), 3 L. T. 821.—IR.

If a ship was once bottomried, the bond attached to the very last plank, & the bondholder might have that sold for his benefit (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE CATHARINA (FORMERLY THE CROXDALE) (1851), 17 L. T. O. S. 43 ; 15 Jur. 231.

Annotation :—Refd. Stephens v. Broomfield, The Great Pacific (1869), L. R. 2 P. C. 516.

1404. —— —— ——.]—The master of a ship, to raise money for necessary repairs, hypothecated the ship & freight. The bottomry bond contained a clause which provided that the obligation should be void if the obligors should pay, in consequence of the loss of the ship, such an average as by custom would have become due on the salvage, or if the ship should be utterly lost, cast away, or destroyed, in consequence of the perils of the sea. The ship, on her homeward voyage, met with such bad weather as to be obliged to put into an intermediate port in a damaged state, & after being surveyed was found unseaworthy, & sold while existing in specie for a sum less than the amount of the bond :—Held : (1) the doctrine of constructive total loss does not apply to bottomry bonds, as in the case of insurance between insurers & insured, & the bondholder's claim to the entire proceeds of the sale upheld ; (2) the above clause in the bond did not apply when the ship remained in specie, though so much damaged that it would have cost more to repair her than she was worth.—STEPHENS v. BROOMFIELD, THE GREAT PACIFIC (1869), L. R. 2 P. C. 516 ; 6 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 151 ; 38 L. J. Adm. 45 ; 21 L. T. 38 ; 17 W. R. 933 ; 3 Mar. L. C. 263 ; 16 E. R. 683, P. C.

1405. —— Covenant by owner to pay average due on salvage.]—STEPHENS v. BROOMFIELD, THE GREAT PACIFIC, No. 1404, ante.

1406. —— ——.]—The condition of a bottomry bond provided for its defeasance on payment of the amount of the bond " or, in case of the loss of the said ship or vessel, such an average as by custom shall have become due on the salvage, or if on the said voyage the said ship or vessel should be utterly lost, cast away or destroyed." The ship having become a constructive total loss the bondholder, by a decree in the Admlty. Ct., obtained payment to him of the proceeds of the ship, which had been paid into ct., & which were insufficient ; the ct. holding that a bottomry bond was only discharged by payment or by an absolute total loss, & that the condition providing for defeasance on payment of such average as by custom should have become due did not refer to the case of a constructive total loss. In an action brought by the bondholder on a policy of insurance upon the bond :—Held : the doctrine of constructive total loss was not applicable to a policy of insurance on bottomry & the condition of defeasance did not apply to the case of a constructive total loss.—BROOMFIELD v. SOUTHERN INSURANCE CO. (1870), L. R. 5 Exch. 192 ; 39 L. J. Ex. 186 ; 22 L. T. 371 ; 18 W. R. 810 ; 3 Mar. L. C. 396.

1407. —— Whether doctrine of constructive total loss applicable.]—STEPHENS v. BROOMFIELD, THE GREAT PACIFIC, No. 1404, ante.

1408. —— ——.]—BROOMFIELD v. SOUTHERN INSURANCE CO., No. 1406, ante.

1409. —— Negligence of another ship — Sum awarded as compensation for loss of freight — Whether bondholder may claim.]—Although pltf. in an action for limitation of liability is ordinarily liable to pay the costs of the action, yet, if defts. raise unnecessary issues on which they fail, he is entitled to the costs of those issues, & he will not be ordered to pay the costs occasioned by a dispute between rival claimants to the proceeds in ct. The master of the ship C., bound from P. to A. obtained at P. from M. a loan of money on freight upon the security of an instrument signed by him by which it was stipulated that the loan should be repaid after arrival of the C. at A. or other intermediate port at which the voyage should end, & that if there should be no payment of freight the loan should not be paid back. The C. whilst on the course of her voyage to A., came into collision with another ship & sank, & her cargo was lost. The collision was occasioned by the negligence of those in charge of the other ship, & her owners instituted an action for limitation of their liability. In such action a sum of money was awarded out of the proceeds paid into ct. to the owners of the C. for loss of freight. M. claimed a portion of this sum in respect of his loan :—Held : his claim was well founded. Semble, where in an action for limitation of liability a sum of money is awarded as compensation for loss of freight to the owners of a vessel run down by pltf.'s ship, the holder of a bottomry bond on the freight of the vessel run down is entitled to claim, in respect of the loan on bottomry, a portion of the sum awarded for loss of freight.—THE EMPUSA (1879), 5 P. D. 6 ; 48 L. J. P. 36 ; 41 L. T. 383 ; 28 W. R. 263 ; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 185.

Annotation :—Refd. The Victoria (1888), 37 W. R. 62.

1410. Advances obtained by fraud.] — THE ARMADILLO, No. 1396, ante.

1411. Ship compelled to put into port—& condemned as unseaworthy.]—A bottomry bond granted in the port of London upon an American vessel, stipulating that the payment of the bond should be made within twenty-four hours after the ship's arrival in a port of the United States. The vessel sailed from London, took in a cargo at Shields, & was in the actual progress of her voyage, when she was compelled to put into Plymouth, & was condemned as unseaworthy. Payment of the bond decreed by the ct. ; & the maritime interest allowed, upon the ground that the maritime risk had been partially incurred, & was interrupted by the damaged condition of the vessel. Semble, if the vessel had not left the port of London, the maritime interest would not have been allowed.—THE DANTE (1846), 2 Wm. Rob. 427 ; 4 Notes of Cases, 408 ; 166 E. R. 816.

Annotations :—Refd. The Catharina (formerly The Croxdale) (1851), 17 L. T. O. S. 43 ; Stephens v. Broomfield, The Great Pacific (1869), L. R. 2 P. C. 516 ; London & Midland Bank v. Neilsen (1895), 1 Com. Cas. 18.

1412. Abandonment of ship—As for total loss.]—Bond on ship, freight & cargo, the money to be paid within twenty-one days of the ship's arrival in the port of London, & not to be demanded or recovered in case the ship & her cargo be lost, miscarry, or be cast away on the voyage. The ship never reached the port of London, but was abandoned as for a total loss at Algoa Bay, where part of the cargo was sold, & the proceeds brought to England, & part put into another ship, & also brought to England. The fact that the ship could not be repaired was not proved :—Held : the bond must be pronounced for, & enforced against the proceeds of the cargo, & the cargo transhipped.—THE ELEPHANTA (1851), 18 L. T. O. S. 248 ; 15 Jur. 1185.

Annotations :—Refd. Stephens v. Broomfield, The Great Pacific (1869), L. R. 2 P. C. 516 ; The Montrosa, [1917] P. 1.

1413. Abandonment of voyage.]—THE HELGOLAND, No. 1432, post.

Sect. 3.—Authority to hypothecate ship and freight: Sub-sect. 10, C.; sub-sect. 11, A., B., C. & D.]

C. Priority.

1414. As between bond holders.]—DUNLOP v. THE NEPTUNE (1769), Burrell, 97; 167 E. R. 490.

1415. ——.]—THE RHADAMANTHE, No. 1237, ante.

1416. ——.]—Where there are two bottomry bonds, the holders of the one last dated bond are entitled to priority of payment though the difference to date is very slight, & though the bonds should be in other respects similar.—THE BETSEY (1813), 1 Dods. 289; 165 E. R. 1314.

1417. ——.]—THE SYDNEY COVE, No. 1169, ante.

1418. ——.]—A bottomry bond, given for the necessities of the voyage by an owner on board the vessel, who could not otherwise obtain money, is valid, & supersedes a previous mtgc. of the ship; the master, who was on board, but to dispossess whom a suit had been instituted, being privy & receiving the supplies as necessary, though refusing to sign the bond.

Sea stores, particularly for the subsistence of passengers, who may be considered as cargo in this view, & by whom a large payment had been made as passage money, in the nature of freight, are objects of a bottomry bond.

It is the general character of bottomry bonds to supersede even former bonds of the same species, on the supposition that they operate for the protection of all prior interests (SIR CHRISTOPHER ROBINSON).—THE DUKE OF BEDFORD (1829), 2 Hag. Adm. 294; 166 E. R. 251.

Annotations:—Reld. The Marie Glaeser, [1914] P. 218; The St. George, [1926] P. 217.

1419. ——.]—THE ELIZA, No. 1505, post.

1420. ——.]—Where three bonds had been given, the first upon the ship alone, the second upon the cargo alone, & the third upon the ship alone:—Held: (1) the last bond was entitled to priority, & must be paid out of the proceeds of the ship only; (2) the first bond was payable out of the same proceeds & if they were insufficient, the bondholder must go unpaid; & the cargo could not be applied to the discharge of the second bond until the proceeds of the ship & the freight were exhausted.—LA CONSTANCIA (1845), 2 Wm. Rob. 404; 4 Notes of Cases, 285; 6 L. T. O. S. 193; 10 Jur. 845; 166 E. R. 807; subsequent proceedings (1846), 2 Wm. Rob. 460, 512.

Annotation:—Dbtd. The Priscilla (1859), Lush. 1.

1421. ——.]—Where there are two bottomry bonds, the first in date on a ship & freight only, & the other or last bond on ship, freight & cargo, & ship & freight are insufficient to discharge both bonds, the last bond, which is entitled to priority, must nevertheless be paid out of ship & freight.—THE PRISCILLA (1859), 1 Lush. 1; 1 L. T. 272; 5 Jur. N. S. 1421; 167 E. R. 1.

Annotations:—Consd. The Union (1860), Lush. 128; The Edward Oliver (1867), L. R. 1 A. & E. 379.

As between bondholders & mortgagees.]—See Part II., Sect. 3, sub-sect. 3, K. (b) iii., ante.

Ranking of liens on bottomry.]—See Part XIX., Sect. 4, post.

SUB-SECT. 11.—ENFORCEMENT OF BOTTOMRY BONDS.

A. In General.

1422. Equitable relief against condition.]—ANON. (1716), 2 Eq. Cas. Abr. 189; 22 E. R. 162, L. C.

1423. Sale of ship—Proceeds insufficient to discharge bond—Liability of freight.]—THE JACOB (1802), 4 Ch. Rob. 245; 165 E. R. 600.

Annotations:—Distd. Smith v. Bank of New South Wales, The Staffordshire (1872), L. R. 4 P. C. 194. Reld. The Royal Arch (1857), Sw. 269.

1424. Whether ship alone liable—Terms of bond conclusive.]—LA CONSTANCIA, No. 1420, ante.

1425. What must be produced—Accounts.]—THE CATHERINE, No. 1464, post.

1426. —— Original bond.]—THE ROWENA (1877), 37 L. T. 366; 26 W. R. 82; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 506.

1427. Proof of amount due—On whom onus lies.]—THE CATHERINE, No. 1464, post.

1428. Decision of court as to validity—Whether opinion given as to amount due.]—THE CATHERINE, No. 1464, post.

1429. —— Effect of.]—THE CATHERINE, No. 1464, post.

1430. Owner not appearing—Actions for claims against ship—Whether bondholder may pay claims—On giving security.]—In a cause of bottomry, where no appearance is given for the owners, & actions for wages, etc., are entered against the ship, the ct. may allow the bondholders to pay the claims which were the subject of those actions, on giving security for the protection of the owners' interests.—THE JOHN FEHRMAN (1852), 16 Jur. 1122.

Annotation:—Reld. The Petone, [1917] P. 198.

1431. Delay—Effect of.]—THE ROYAL ARCH, No. 1230, ante.

1432. —— —— On rights of mortgagee.]—A bottomry bond originally valid is not affected by any agreement by the bondholder for the purchase of the ship.

A bottomry bondholder is under no obligation to communicate the existence of the bond to the mtgees. of the ship, & is not affected by the owner concealing it from the mtgees.

A bond becomes payable upon the abandonment of the voyage agreed upon in the bond.

A mtgee. cannot set up as a defence to a bond the laches of the bondholder, unless his position has been thereby prejudiced.—THE HELGOLAND (1859), Sw. 491; 5 Jur. N. S. 1179; 166 E. R. 1228.

Annotation:—Reld. The St. George, [1926] P. 217.

—— ——.]—See, also, ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 123, 124, Nos. 299, 300.

1433. Proof of good faith of master—Proof by affidavit.]—THE FAITHFUL, No. 1247, ante.

1434. Decree for sale—Adverse claims against proceeds—Onus of proof.]—A bottomry bondholder, having obtained a decree of sale of the vessel, has acquired a primâ facie right to the proceeds, & before he can be called upon to defend & maintain such right, those claiming adverse interests in the proceeds must first have established their interests therein.—THE INDIA (1863), 2 New Rep. 42; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 185; 9 L. T.

---

PART IV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 10.—C.

l. As between bondholders & master.]—A., the agent for the ship in port at Bombay, lent the master money on a bond, in the nature of a bottomry bond, which he obtained from the master under pressure of necessity. It appeared that A., at the time of the making of the bond had funds of his principal's in hand:—Held: the master's lien for wages had priority over the bondholder.—THE GOOD SUCCESS, MACQUEEN v. FUZZUL MAHOMED ESSAU (1866), 1 Ind. Jur. N. S. 303.—IND.

PART IV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 11.—A.

m. When proceedings will be stayed.]—In the case of a Dutch vessel, which was arrested at Cork under a bottomry bond, the ct. agreed to stay the proceedings for ten days, as the consul for the kingdom of which the owner was a native made an affidavit admitting the validity of the bond, & intimated that the owner was sending over a trustworthy agent to settle the demand.—THE ALBERT SCHURINGA (1856), 4 L. T. 92.—IR.

234; 9 Jur. N. S. 417; 11 W. R. 536; 1 Mar. L. C. 390.
Annotation:—Refd. The Mecca, [1895] P. 95.

B. Jurisdiction.

See, generally, ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 121–126, 158, Nos. 267–317, 663.

1435. Reduction of interest—Where appearing exorbitant.]—THE ZODIAC, No. 1240, ante.

1436. Reduction of premiums.]—The registrars' & merchants' report, reducing the premium on a bond, given in France for a voyage to London, from 20 to 12½ per cent. overruled; but sustained where it disallowed a charge of commission for the unshipping & care of the cargo, at 5 per cent., as unreasonable, though agreeable to the custom of the place; & in lieu thereof substituted an allowance of 5 per cent. on the disbursements; & the ct. also sustained the report, where it disallowed a charge for wages advanced to the crew abroad, on the ground that the payment might never have become due.

The ct. pronounced for the modified amount of the bond, with interest at 4 per cent. from the time it became payable to the date of the decree, & with costs.

These contracts have always been considered free from the restraints proceeding from laws against usury, & have been held to depend chiefly on the agreement of the parties. But . . . they are still subject to the restrictions imposed on all contracts by the principles of good faith (SIR CHRISTOPHER ROBINSON).

When it is admitted, therefore, that fraud or collusion might justify the interference of this ct., we must take those terms with the extension given to them in other cts.; & if this ct. is required to enforce contracts of this kind at all, it must be on such principles as equity demands, & without which neither equity nor justice would be done (SIR CHRISTOPHER ROBINSON).—THE COGNAC (1832), 2 Hag. Adm. 377; 166 E. R. 281.

Annotations:—Consd. The Heart of Oak (1841), 1 Wm. Rob. 204. Refd. The Glenmanna (1860), Lush. 115.

1437. ——.]—THE HUNTLEY (1860), 1 Lush. 24; 167 E. R. 13.

1438. —— Matters for consideration of court.]—THE HEART OF OAK, No. 1474, post.

1439. Allowance of charges — Wages.]—THE COGNAC, No. 1436, ante.

1440. —— Commission.]—THE COGNAC, No. 1436, ante.

1441. In fraud or collusion.]—THE COGNAC, No. 1436, ante.

1442. Restraint of proceedings in Admiralty Division—Injunction—Concurrent proceedings in Chancery.]—DUNCAN v. M'CALMONT (1841), 3 Beav. 409; 10 L. J. Ch. 335; 3 L. T. 824; 49 E. R. 161, L. C.
Annotation:—Refd. The Don Francisco (1862), Lush. 468.

C. Reference to Registrar and Merchants.

1443. Matters referred to registrar & merchants —Fairness of commissions—Charges customary where bond given—Whether decision affected.]—THE LAUREL, No. 1309, ante.

—— Costs.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., p. 220, Nos. 1453–1459.

——.]—See, also, ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 215, 216, Nos. 1390–1396.

Reference to registrar & merchants generally.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 215–221, Nos. 1390–1477.

D. Interest.

1444. General rule.]—THE CATHERINE, No. 1464, post.

1445. Unreasonable interest—Whether bond enforceable.]—A part owner of a ship borrowed money of pltf. upon a bottomry bond, payable on the return of the ship from the voyage she was then going in the service of the East India co., & the East India co. broke up the ship in the Indies; & the owners brought their action against the co. & recovered damages, but they did not amount to a full satisfaction; & the obligee brought his bill to have his proportionable satisfaction out of the money recovered, but his bill was dismissed, & he left to recover as well as he could at law; for a ct. of equity will never assist a bottomry bond which carries an unreasonable interest.—DANDY v. TURNER (1701), 1 Eq. Cas. Abr. 372; 21 E. R. 1111.

1446. Maritime interest allowed only as compensation for maritime risk.]—The report of the registrar & merchants disallowing, as irregular & unusual where there is a bottomry premium, a charge of insurance on money advanced to the master on bottomry, & forming part of the amount of the bond, confirmed; bottomry bonds, given by the master, binding the owners only for sums necessary for repairs, & for the furtherance of the voyage, & maritime interest being only allowed as a compensation for maritime risk.

This is a bottomry bond executed by the master of the ship, who has no power to bind the ship or the owner by the law of England, except within special limits, for repairs & supplies becoming necessary from the exigencies of the voyage. This is an essential principle of this species of bottomry, & the ct. has hitherto acted with great strictness in not extending the privilege of bottomry against the ship beyond these limits, confining it to sums necessary for repairs, & for the furtherance of the voyage. Another essential principle of all bottomry is, that maritime interest is allowed only as a compensation for maritime risk. . . . Since the introduction of insurance lenders on bottomry, if not restrained by special regulations, may insure their own advances in a distinct contract on their own account, but it would be contrary to the essential character of bottomry to make it a part & condition of the bond; & after hypothecating the ship in maritime interest for maritime risk, to hypothecate it also, in the same bond with the same interest, to take off that risk by other collateral engagements. This is contradictory in form, at least, & in principle. . . .

If this article of expenditure is not properly a subject of bottomry, it cannot be made so, by the mere agreement of the master (SIR CHRISTOPHER ROBINSON).—THE BODDINGTON'S (1832), 2 Hag. Adm. 422; 166 E. R. 298.

1447. Rate of interest allowed.]—THE COGNAC, No. 1436, ante.

---

PART IV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 11.—B.

1440 1. Allowance of charges—Commission.] — Where a ship's agent charges a commission for his general superintendence upon the entire value of the ship & cargo, & upon advances alleged to have been made by him, without stating to what amount, or at what rate of interest, the ct. will consider the several claims, & award a specific sum for his services & advances, & reduce the amount of the bond accordingly.—THE FORTUNA (1861), 4 L. T. 840.—IR.

n. Jurisdiction of Admiralty Court.] —THE THREE SISTERS (1873), Y. A D. 149.—CAN.

PART IV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 11.—D.

o. Right to Indian interest—Whether debt converted into Indian debt.]—COCHRANE v. GILKISON (1857). 20 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 213; 30 Sc. Jur. 111.—SCOT.

Sect. 3.—Authority to hypothecate ship and freight: Sub-sect. 11, D. & E.; sub-sect. 12, A. & B.; sub-sect. 13.]

1448. —— Whether bound by stipulation in bond.]—THE SOPHIA COOK, No. 1454, post.

1449. —— ——.] — The rate of interest ordinarily payable upon a bottomry loan & the premium thereon after the safe arrival of the ship at the end of the risk is 4 per cent. per annum, & a provision in a bond entered into by the master of a ship providing for the payment of 10 per cent. per annum interest is not binding on the owners of ship or cargo, provided the provision was entered into without their knowledge.—THE D. H. BILLS (1878), 4 P. D. 32, n.; 38 L. T. 786; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 20.

Annotation:—Apld. The Sophia Cook (1878), 4 P. D. 30.

1450. —— —— Interest exorbitant.]—THE ZODIAC, No. 1240, ante.

1451. —— No stipulation in bond—Usual rate—According to circumstances.]—In a bottomry bond taken at Calcutta, blanks had been left where the rate of interest ought to have been expressed, the ct. pronounced for the bond, with such interest as the registrar should find to have been usual on such risks at the time & place the bond was taken.—THE CHANGE (1857), Sw. 240; 29 L. T. O. S. 147; 5 W. R. 547.

1452. —— ——.]—The master of a Danish vessel being without funds or credit at Hamburg, in order to obtain necessaries to enable his vessel to proceed on a voyage to Africa & back to London, obtained a loan on the security of instruments by which he pledged his vessel & bound himself for the repayment of the sum advanced within six days after the arrival of the vessel in London. No stipulation was made for interest of any kind. In an action of bottomry instituted against the vessel:—Held: the instruments were valid bottomry bonds, & the holders were entitled to payment out of the proceeds of the vessel of the sum advanced together with 4 per cent. interest from the time when the bonds became due.—THE CECILIE (1879), 4 P. D. 210; 40 L. T. 200; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 78.

Annotation:—Consd. The Haabet, [1899] P. 295.

1453. From when interest payable—Time when bond due.]—THE COGNAC, No. 1436, ante.

1454. —— ——.]—A bottomry bond on ship, freight, & cargo provided for payment of a bottomry loan, together with interest at 8 per cent., at or before the expiration of five days after the arrival of the ship at her port of discharge. The bond further provided that an additional premium of 10 per cent. on the loan should become payable if default was made in payment. The ship having arrived at her port of discharge, default was made in payment of the bond, & a suit was instituted by the bondholder against ship, freight, & cargo, to recover the amount of the loan & interest, & the additional premium of 10 per cent.:—Held: the additional premium of 10 per cent. could not be enforced against the cargo, but the bondholder was entitled to interest at 4 per cent. from the date when the bond became payable until payment.—THE SOPHIA COOK (1878), 4 P. D. 30; 49 L. J. P. 16.

1455. —— ——.]—THE CECILIE, No. 1452, ante.

1456. Bondholder having no agent in this country—Power of attorney authorising receipt of principal—Necessity for.]—Where the legal holders of an overdue bond of bottomry are resident abroad, & have no agent in this country, interest upon such bond will not be decreed prior to the arrival of a power of attorney authorising the receipt of the principal.—THE NEW BRUNSWICK (1839), 1 Wm. Rob. 28; 166 E. R. 484.

Inclusion of maritime interest in bond—Necessity for.]—See Sect. 3, sub-sect. 7, G. (c), ante.

E. Costs.

1457. Bond upheld.]—THE HUNTCLIFF, No. 1390, ante.

1458. —— Modification of amount.]—THE COGNAC, No. 1436, ante.

1459. —— Conduct of holder suspicious—No order as to costs.]—THE OCEAN, No. 1196, ante.

1460. Bond not upheld—No mala fides.]—THE ORELIA, No. 1369, ante.

1461. —— Unnecessary bond—Costs against bondholder.]—THE RODERICK DHU, No. 1276, ante.

1462. Dispute as to fairness of charges—Costs of evidence respecting charges—Against party failing in proof.]—THE LAUREL, No. 1309, ante.

1463. Arrest of ship before bond payable—Costs against bondholder.]—Where the holders of a bottomry bond, on ship & freight payable seven days after the arrival of the ship, being apprehensive that her cargo would be discharged forthwith, & their security diminished, instituted, a bottomry suit, after the arrival of the ship & before the expiration of the seventh day, & arrested the ship, the ct. on the application of the owners of the ship, who had paid the amount of the bond & interest into ct., condemned pltfs. in costs.—THE EUDORA (1879), 4 P. D. 208; sub nom. THE ENDORA, 48 L. J. P. 32; 40 L. T. 166; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 78.

Bond as collateral security for bill of exchange.]—See No. 1349, ante.

SUB-SECT. 12.—AVOIDANCE OF BOTTOMRY BONDS.

A. Grounds for Avoidance.

1464. General rule.]—When once the ct. has pronounced for the validity of a bond, whether it be done by the consent, or against the will, & in opposition to the wishes, of the party who defends it, in that case the validity of the bond is finally & completely determined, so far as this ct. is concerned, & unless that judgment be appealed from, the ct. must consider it as a valid bond. But when the ct. pronounces for the validity of a bond, it gives no opinion as to the amount due under it. It is one of the most convenient & beneficial practices which this ct. can uphold, to pronounce for the validity of a bond by consent, & refer the amount to the registrar & merchants. It is obviously so to all parties who seek justice, because the party proceeding gets, in the first instance, the realisation of his security, whether it be the ship, cargo, or freight, or whether it be a remedy against the bail, & no man ought to seek to recover more than that which is justly due to him. It is beneficial to the other party, namely, the persons who have to pay the bond, because they have as good a mode of ascertaining the real amount of the expenditure as is possible to be afforded in any other way. I apprehend that a reference to the registrar & merchants is as little expensive & as certain in its results as any reference can be out of ct. to any number of merchants

PART IV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 12.—A. p. Bond given in locality near residence of owners.]—THE NAPOLEON III., CREIGHTON v. MARMAUD (1861), 3 L. T. 825.—CAN.

q. ——.]—THE MARIETTA (1861), 3 L. T. 825.—IR.

r. Premium excessive.]—THE BON ACCORD (1861), 4 L. T. 28.—IR.

selected in any manner whatsoever. . . . A reference being made to the registrar & merchants, the ct., unless it is called upon by one party or the other, never interferes until the report is made; but it is always ready to interfere if the interests of justice require it. It is always ready to allow more time to the one side or to the other; to the one, to establish the demand if it be just; to the other, to show it is unjust, if, in the opinion of the ct., a sufficient opportunity has not been afforded to the parties of obtaining justice. . . . He who claims under a bond pronounced valid, must show what he has expended, what he is entitled to under the bond, whatever be its nominal amount. Upon him is the onus probandi, as he is pltf., as it is upon every person who is to establish an affirmative; & he has every advantage. He ought to keep regular accounts & regular receipts, & to produce those accounts; and if they are fair & just, he is entitled to all his expenses attending the establishing the accounts, and to interest. Bondholders have no right to complain in this ct. that they have not ample, full & complete justice. . . .

When British ships, or any other ships, coming into a British port, may happen to meet with the misfortune of being stranded, & require repairs, in any part of the world whatsoever, if bottomry bonds are taken to an exorbitant extent, & they are put into suit in this ct., I will, on behalf of British merchants, as well as foreign owners, take care to prevent, to the utmost extent of my power, a repetition of any such disgraceful proceedings as have taken place in this cause (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE CATHERINE (1847), 3 Wm. Rob. 1; 5 Notes of Cases, 398; 10 L. T. O. S. 35; 11 Jur. 739; 166 E. R. 803.

1465. Fraud.]—THE TARTAR, No. 1235, ante.

1466. ——.]—THE COGNAC, No. 1436, ante.

1467. —— Necessity for clear proof.] — THE VIBILIA, No. 1283, ante.

1468. —— Extent of repairs exceeding necessity —Intention to improve class of ship.] — THE PONTIDA, No. 1387, ante.

1469. —— Fraud not proved—Whether court may direct inquiries—For ascertainment of amount properly due under bond.] — If a bill makes a case of actual fraud, &, at the hearing, the fraud is disproved or not established, the ct. will not in general allow the bill to be used for any secondary or inferior kind of relief to which pltf. might otherwise have been entitled, but will dismiss it at once.

But where a bill sought to set aside a bottomry bond, as having been concocted in a fraudulent conspiracy between the captain of the ship & the obligee, though the fraud was disproved at the hearing, the ct., at the request of deft., directed the usual inquiries, for the purpose of ascertaining how much of the sum secured by the bond was a proper subject of bottomry.

Semble: a bottomry bond given by the captain of a ship at a foreign port is not necessarily void, because there was time during the ship's stay at such port for the captain to have written home to his employers & to have received an answer: but, at all events, if the omission of the captain, under such circumstances, to communicate with his employers is intended to be relied on as invalidating the bond, it ought to be specifically charged in the bill, otherwise, although it appear in evidence, it will not be regarded.—GLASCOTT v. LANG (1847), 2 Ph. 310; 16 L. J. Ch. 429; 9 L. T. O. S. 490; 11 Jur. 642; 41 E. R. 962.

Annotations:—Reld. The Royal Arch (1857), Sw. 269; The Sultan (1859), Sw. 504; The Bonita (1861), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 145; The Olivier (1862), Lush. 484; Duranty v. Hart (1863), 2 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 289. Mentd. Archbold v. Charitable Bequests for Ireland Comrs. (1849), 2 H. L. Cas. 440; Price v. Berrington (1851), 3 Mac. & G. 486; Barnard v. Hunter (1856), 5 W. R. 92.

1470. Conduct of third party.]—THE ZODIAC, No. 1240, ante.

1471. Collusion.]—THE COGNAC, No. 1436, ante.

1472. Giving bill of exchange with bond.]—THE ST. CATHERINE, No. 1495, post.

1473. ——.]—THE EMANCIPATION, No. 1492, post.

1474. Duress.]—(1) A bottomry bond executed by the master whilst under arrest at the suit of the bondholder upheld. In order to render a bond so executed invalid, it must be shown that the whole of the transaction was compulsorily forced upon the master.

(2) The ct. may pronounce a bond to be good in part & bad in part (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(3) Possessing this jurisdiction [consideration whether rate of premium is fair & reasonable], it would be inconsistent with equity, & this ct. sits as a ct. of law & equity, that the ct. should decline to interpose its authority to reduce the premium when the rate of interest is excessive (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE HEART OF OAK (1841), 1 Wm. Rob. 204; 3 L. T. 559; 4 L. T. 28, 92; 166 E. R. 549.

1475. Excessive commissions.]—THE RODERICK DHU, No. 1276, ante.

1476. ——.]—THE LAUREL, No. 1309, ante.

1477. Illegal discharge of master.]—THE JANET WILSON (1857), 3 L. T. 682; subsequent proceedings, Sw. 261.

1478. Illegal appointment of master.]—THE JANET WILSON (1857), 3 L. T. 682; subsequent proceedings, Sw. 261.

1479. Bond given before actual advance of money.]—THE ROYAL ARCH, No. 1230, ante.

1480. Agreement for purchase of ship—By bondholder.]—THE HELGOLAND, No. 1432, ante.

Failure to observe essentials.]—See Sect. 3, sub-sect. 7, ante.

B. Partial Avoidance.

1481. Whether bond may be good in part.]—THE AUGUSTA, No. 1297, ante.

1482. ——.]—THE TARTAR, No. 1235, ante.

1483. ——.]—THE NELSON, No. 1362, ante.

1484. ——.]—THE HEART OF OAK, No. 1474, ante.

1485. ——.]—SMITH v. GOULD, THE PRINCE GEORGE, No. 1252, ante.

1486. ——.]—THE HEBE, No. 1195, ante.

1487. ——.]—THE OCEAN, No. 1196, ante.

1488. ——.]—LAW v. WALLERSTEIN, THE GRAPESHOT, No. 1374, ante.

1489. ——.]—SMITH v. BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, THE STAFFORDSHIRE, No. 1506, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 13.—BONDS GIVEN WITH BILLS OF EXCHANGE.

1490. Bond taken as collateral security for bill.]—THE TARTAR, No. 1235, ante.

---

PART IV. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 13.

1490 1. Bond taken as collateral security for bill.]—A party having taken a bill of exchange for a sum advanced for repair of a vessel in a foreign port, & thereafter taken a bond of bottomry in further security, of the same sum:— Held: the bond was null, & the party was entitled to recover on the bill.—SWORD v. HOWDEN (1826), 4 Sh. (Ct. of Sess.) 757.—SCOT.

Sect. 3.—Authority to hypothecate ship and freight: Sub-sects. 13 & 14.]

1491. ——.]—Pltf., by his agent, advanced a considerable sum for the use of deft., in supplying his ship at Sierra Leone, the agent taking the captain's bills of exchange on deft. for the amount; & subsequently, immediately before the sailing of the ship on her home voyage, the agent took a bottomry bond from the captain. The vessel being lost, & deft. having refused to pay the amount of the bills of exchange, on the ground that the money was advanced on the security of the ship, upon action brought, the jury found that the bond was not taken in full discharge & satisfaction of the debt, but as additional collateral security, & consequently that deft. was liable to pay. The ct. refused to disturb the verdict.—WESTON v. FOSTER (1836), 2 Bing. N. C. 693; 2 Hodg. 59, 63; 3 Scott, 155; 5 L. J. C. P. 242; 132 E. R. 267.

1492. ——.]—(1) Bonds of bottomry must be construed by the tenor of their contents alone.

(2) It is essential for the validity of such bonds that a maritime risk should be directly or indirectly expressed, either in immediate terms, or by necessary inference from the contents of the bond itself.

(3) A bond of bottomry is not invalidated by the circumstance of its being given as a security for bills of exchange drawn upon the owner.

(4) Not necessary for the validity of a bond of bottomry that it should carry maritime interest.

(5) The fact, however, that only an ordinary rate of interest is demanded is a material circumstance in considering the character of the instrument under litigation.—THE EMANCIPATION (1840), 1 Wm. Rob. 124; 166 E. R. 519.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The James W. Elwell, [1921] P. 351. As to (2) Apld. Stainbank v. Fenning (1851), 11 C. B. 51. Refd. Stainbank v. Shepherd (1853), 13 C. B. 418; The Haabet, [1899] P. 295. As to (3) Refd. Stainbank v. Shepherd (1853), 13 C. B. 418

1493. ——.]—STAINBANK v. SHEPARD, No. 1349, ante.

1494. ——.]—SMITH v. BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, THE STAFFORDSHIRE, No. 1506, post.

1495. Bill taken as collateral security for bond—Whether vitiating bond.]—(1) A bottomry bond, dated Nov. 26, just before the vessel sailed, given at Miramichi, with 20 per cent. interest, to consignees of charterers, they having been directed by the charterers to "value upon the owner" for a reimbursement of other than trivial payments, sustained; it being held that the bond was originally contemplated, that bills of exchange did not affect it, & that the owner's bkpcy. was not known at the date of the bond.

I am not prepared to say, that even if the bkpcy. had been known . . . that would take away the effect of a bottomry bond given by a master in a foreign port, when the merchant who had made advances on the credit of the ship might perhaps detain her till he was repaid & his lien discharged. Assignees are in no better situation in opposing a bond of this nature, than owners, if there were no bkpcy. (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).

(2) Bills of exchange serve as a collateral security; it is a common practice to take them, & have been often held not to vitiate a bottomry bond. . . . When a transaction is so conducted in a distant part of the world, & no advantage taken of distress, it is highly for the interests of commerce to sustain the credit of these bonds. The foreign lender is entitled to the best security (SIR JOHN NICHOLL).—THE ST. CATHERINE (1835), 3 Hag. Adm. 250; 1 Notes of Cases, 502; 166 E. R. 398.

Annotation:—As to (2) Refd. Stainbank v. Shepard (1853), 13 C. B. 418.

1496. —— ——.]—THE NORTH STAR, No. 1296, ante.

1497. ——.]—THE ARIADNE (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 411; 1 Notes of Cases, 494; 3 L. T. 559; 6 Jur. 513; 166 E. R. 627.

*Annotations:—Refd. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289; The Staffordshire (1871), 23 L. T. 137.

1498. Position of assignees of bond—Where owner not bankrupt.]—THE ST. CATHERINE, No. 1495, ante.

1499. —— Where owner bankrupt—Effect of knowledge of bankruptcy.]—THE ST. CATHERINE, No. 1495, ante.

1500. Dishonour of bill—Enforceability of bond.]—THE ARIADNE (1842), 1 Wm. Rob. 411; 1 Notes of Cases, 494; 3 L. T. 559; 6 Jur. 513; 166 E. R. 627.

*Annotations:—Refd. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289; The Staffordshire (1871), 23 L. T. 137.

1501. —— ——.]—STAINBANK v. SHEPARD, No. 1349, ante.

1502. —— —— What constitutes sufficient dishonour.]—SMITH v. BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, THE STAFFORDSHIRE, No. 1506, post.

1503. Effect of acceptance of bill—Double remedy of creditor.]—STAINBANK v. SHEPARD, No. 1349, ante.

1504. —— Whether creditor has direct remedy on bond—Against owner & ship.]—STAINBANK v. SHEPARD, No. 1349, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 14.—HYPOTHECATION OF FREIGHT.

1505. What freight may be hypothecated—Sub-freight.]—(1) Freight, earned from sub-shippers of goods by permission of the charterers of the whole ship, is liable, as against them, in payment of a bottomry bond given at the port of the charterers, for advances subsequently to the charterparty.

(2) Of two bottomry bonds, the latter has a priority.—THE ELIZA (1833), 3 Hag. Adm. 87; 166 E. R. 338.

1506. —— Freight to be earned before bond becomes due.]—(1) A bottomry bond on a ship & freight was given by the master for repairs of the ship, already subject to a mtge., with an agreement by the bondholder, the ship's agent, that if a bill of exchange drawn by the master upon the mtgee. should be duly honoured, the bond should not be enforced. The drawee died before the bill was presented, & neither administration nor probate of his will had been taken out, when the holder of the bill, in ignorance of the death of the drawee, presented the bill for acceptance:—Held: it was not necessary, in order to entitle the bondholder to enforce the bottomry bond, that there should have been such a dishonour of the bill as might have been necessary to give a right of action against a drawee or indorsee of the bill, & it was sufficient that what was the reasonable course for the purpose of getting the bill accepted & paid should have been taken, which, having regard to the circumstances of the case, appeared to the Judicial Committee to be established; & the bond held good.

---

1497 1. Bill taken as collateral security for bond.]—Although a bottomry transaction cannot be based upon personal security, bills of exchange may be given in addition to the bond.—THE STAFFORDSHIRE (1871), 25 L. T. 137.—IR.

1500 1. Dishonour of bill—Enforceability of bond.]—COCHRANE v. GILKISON (1854), 16 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 548; 26 Sc. Jur. 251.—SCOT.

(2) The bond on the ship & freight was made absolute on the arrival of the ship at Callao, but the bond also hypothecated the freight to be earned by the ship from that place to any other port or ports:—Held: the bond was good pro tanto as to the ship, but void with respect to the subsequent freight earned in the voyage from Callao to England.

(3) A bottomry bond can only hypothecate something which is in danger of perishing by maritime risk during the time that the bond is running & therefore cannot validly pledge freight to be earned on a voyage after that maritime risk is ended & the bond is forfeited.

An ordinary bottomry bond . . . only pledges the ship, & sometimes the cargo & the freight to be earned on the voyage which is to be accomplished before the bottomry bond becomes payable; & their Lordships have not been referred to any case in which freight to be earned on a subsequent voyage has been included in a bottomry bond (MELLISH, L.J.).

(4) A bottomry bond is not invalid merely because the advance secured by the bond is made by agents of the ship, provided that they could not be expected to advance on the personal credit of the owners, & gave the master an opportunity of obtaining an advance on the owners' personal credit elsewhere by refusing such an advance.—SMITH v. BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, THE STAFFORDSHIRE (1872), L. R. 4 P. C. 194; 8 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 443; 41 L. J. Adm. 49; 27 L. T. 46; 20 W. R. 557; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 305, P. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. The Onward (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 38. Refd. Barber v. Mackrell (1892), 67 L. T. 108. Generally, Refd. Louisiana Citizen's Bank v. Wendelin (1886), 2 T. L. R. 240; The Dictator, [1892] P. 304; The St. George, [1926] P. 217.

1507. —— Freight to be earned after bond becomes due.]—SMITH v. BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, THE STAFFORDSHIRE, No. 1506, ante.

1508. Advance of freight before bond given—Advance made bonâ fide.]—Wherever freight has been bonâ fide advanced anterior to a bottomry bond, the bond does not attach to that freight.

When a bottomry bond is granted on ship, freight, & cargo, the bond can only attach upon that which properly comes under the name of one or the other; it cannot affect anything bonâ fide done before with reference to the freight, though it might be a very erroneous proceeding on the part of a master not to inform the lender of the money on bottomry that the freight had been actually paid, for such might be the case, though it might savour of fraud to keep back such a circumstance, yet even that would not affect a case of this description coming before this ct. . . . wherever freight has been bonâ fide advanced anterior to the period when a bottomry bond is taken, the bond does not attach on that freight (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE JOHN (1849), 3 Wm. Rob. 170; 7 Notes of Cases, 61; 3 L. T. 824; 13 Jur. 754.

Annotation:—Refd. Droege v. Suart, The Karnak (1869), L. R. 2 P. C. 505.

1509. —— Right of obligee of bond to freight.]—The extent of the authority conferred on the master of a vessel to bind the owners either of the ship or cargo, is derived from, & governed by, the law of the flag; & the existence of the necessity which the maritime law requires to validate the hypothecation of the ship & cargo by bottomry, is to be ascertained by evidence in the usual manner. The meaning of the term "necessity," in respect of hypothecation by the master, being analogous to its meaning in other parts of the law.

The master of a vessel, chartered from Galveston, U.S., to Liverpool, received before sailing from the charterer various sums in part payment of the freight, & after taking on board a cargo, sailed for the port of destination. The vessel, having in the prosecution of her voyage met with bad weather, & suffered damage, put into Bermuda, where the master incurred heavy expenses for repairs & supplies. The repairs were executed, & the supplies furnished, without any promise of a bottomry bond; but the law of Bermuda giving a right of arrest of the ship to the creditors for the repairs & supplies, the master, to complete the voyage, having written to the agent of the owners, of the ship, & of the cargo, & not receiving any answer within the time an answer might have been returned, raised the funds necessary for the payment for such supplies on bottomry, of the ship, cargo, & freight. On a suit brought by the assignees of the bond, the owners of the ship not opposing, the ct. below pronounced for the validity of the bond, so far as it regarded the ship, cargo, & freight, & the ship was thereupon sold, but produced a sum far less than sufficient to cover the sum due on the bond. The consignees of the cargo, who were also entitled to the freight, claimed to retain in their hands the amount of freight, with interest & insurance, advanced by them in part payment before the commencement of the voyage, & paid the freight, short of that amount, into ct. The ct. below disallowed this abatement, & ordered the whole freight to be paid into ct. On appeal:—Held: (1) in the circumstances, the master was warranted in resorting to a bottomry bond, & the necessity of the case warranted the hypothecation of the cargo as well as the ship & freight, but (2) as the latter was, by the agreement between the charterer & the master, in part paid in advance, the retention of the amount of such prepayment by the consignees of the cargo, upheld, as the master by hypothecating the chartered freight could give no right to more freight than the owner had a right to demand from the charterer.—DROEGE v. SUART, THE KARNAK (1869), L. R. 2 P. C. 505; 6 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 136; 38 L. J. Adm. 57; 21 L. T. 159; 3 Mar. L. C. 276; 16 E. R. 677, P. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The Empire of Peace (1869), 39 L. J. Adm. 12; The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137; The Ida (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 542; Miedbrodt v. Fitzsimon, The Energie (1875), 32 L. T. 579; The Dora Forster, [1900] P. 241; The St. George, [1926] P. 217. Generally, Refd. Currie v. Bombay Native Insce. (1869), L. R. 3 P. C. 72.

1510. —— Computation of freight payable by charterers—What may be deducted—Insurance premiums.]—The charterer may deduct from the freight payable to a bondholder the premium for insurance of part of the freight advanced according to stipulations in the charterparty before the bond was granted.—THE CATHERINE (1857), Sw. 263; 3 L. T. 154.

1511. —— —— —— Value of goods sold during voyage.]—THE SALACIA, No. 1513, post.

1512. —— —— —— ——.]—Where the master of a ship, which is carrying goods under a charter making the freight payable on delivery at the port of destination, sells some of the goods at an intermediate port for repairs of the ship, the charterer is at liberty to treat the amount realised as a loan, & to receive it from the shipowner, & in that case there is no implied contract to pay freight pro rata up to the port of sale.—HOPPER v. BURNESS (1876), 1 C. P. D. 137; 45 L. J. Q. B. 377; 34 L. T. 528; 24 W. R. 612; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 149.

Annotations:—Folld. Castel & Latta v. Treckmass (1884), Cab. & El. 276. Consd. St. Enoch Shipping Co. v. Phosphate Mining Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 624. Refd. Hill v. Wilson (1879), 4 C. P. D. 329.

Sect. 3.—Authority to hypothecate ship and freight: Sub-sect. 14. Sects. 4, 5 & 6: Sub-sect. 1.]

1513. —— —— —— Authorised advances.]—A ship was chartered to go to a port of loading, there to load & return; freight payable, as per tale. On the voyage out, the master hypothecated the ship & the cargo to be shipped, & the freight as per charter. Subsequently, at the port of loading, advances for ship's expenses were made to the master by the charterers' agent, with notice of the bond; & on the voyage home the master sold part of the charterers' goods to pay other expenses of the ship. In computing the amount of freight to be paid into ct. by the charterers, to answer the bond:—Held: (1) the charterers might deduct advances made abroad by their agent according to the charter, & by the charter to be deducted on settlement of the freight; (2) they should not be required to pay the sum which would have been payable as freight upon the goods sold, had the goods arrived; (3) the charterers should not deduct from the freight, as per tale, advances by their agent, which were not authorised by the charter to be made & deducted; (4) they should not deduct the value of their goods sold by the master.—THE SALACIA (1862), Lush. 578; 1 New Rep. 194; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 43; 8 L. T. 91; 1 Mar. L. C. 322; 167 E. R. 263.

Annotations:—As to (4) Reid. The Norway (1864), Brown. & Lush. 377. Generally, Reid. The Gem of the Nith (1863), Brown. & Lush. 72; The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289.

1514. —— —— —— Unauthorised advances.]—THE SALACIA, No. 1513, ante.

1515. —— —— —— Sum payable as freight if goods had arrived unsold.]—THE SALACIA, No. 1513, ante.

1516. Right of bond holder to full freight—On delivery of cargo—Whether cargo owner entitled to reference.]—The holder of a bottomry bond on ship, freight & cargo is, upon the conclusion of proceedings by default against ship & freight, entitled as of course to have the full freight due upon delivery of the cargo paid to him, to satisfy the sum secured by the bond with costs; & the owner of the cargo who has paid the freight into ct. is not entitled to a reference of the amount due on the bond, notwithstanding that before the execution of the bond part of his cargo was sold by the master, & the proceeds applied to ship's expenses.—THE GEM OF THE NITH (1863), Brown. & Lush. 72; 167 E. R. 304.

SECT. 4.—AUTHORITY TO HYPOTHECATE CARGO.

See Part VII., Sect. 6, sub-sect. 5, B., post.

SECT. 5.—AUTHORITY TO JETTISON.

See 1894 Act, ss. 446, 448.

1517. When exercisable — Necessity.]—THE COPENHAGEN, No. 1140, ante.

1518. —— Imminent danger.]—(1) Nothing can be better settled than that the master has a right to exercise this power [jettisoning cargo], in case of imminent danger. He may select what articles he pleases; he may determine what quantity; no proportion is limited; a fourth, a moiety, three-fourths, nay, in cases of extreme necessity, when the lives of the crew cannot otherwise be saved, it never can be maintained that he might not throw the whole cargo overboard. The only obligation will be that the ship should contribute its average proportion (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).

(2) The consideration which form is the rule of of law that applies to the hypothecation of a ship in all cases it is the prospect of benefit to the proprietor, that is the foundation of the authority of the master (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—THE GRATITUDINE (1801), 3 Ch. Rob. 240; 165 E. R. 450.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Benson v. Duncan (1849), 3 Exch. 644; Cammell v. Sewell (1858), 3 H. & N. 617. Reid. Hussey v. Christie (1807), 13 Ves. 594; Cannan v. Meaburn (1823), 1 Bing. 243; La Constancia (1846), 2 Wm. Rob. 487; Hallett v. Wigram (1850), 9 C. B. 580; The James Seddon (1866), L. R. 1 A. & E. 62; The St. George, [1926] P. 217. As to (2) Distd. Freeman v. East India Co. (1822), 5 B. & Ald. 617. Consd. The Jonathan Goodhue (1858), Sw. 355. Apld. The Karnak (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 289. Reid. Morris v. Robinson (1824), 5 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 34; Vlierboom v. Chapman (1844), 13 M. & W. 230; The Olivier (1862), Lush. 484; Duranty v. Hart (1863), 2 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 289; The Onward (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 38. Generally, Reid. Idle v. Royal Exchange Assce. (1819), 3 Moore, C. P. 115; Robertson v. Clarke (1824), 1 Bing. 445; The Cognac (1832), 2 Hag. Adm. 377; Rayne v. Benedict (1841), 5 Jur. 1176; The Lord Cochrane (1844), 2 Wm. Rob. 320; La Constancia (1845), 2 Wm. Rob. 404; The Osmanli (1850), 3 Wm. Rob. 198; Wilkinson v. Wilson, The Bonaparte (1853), 8 Moo. P. C. C. 459; Gibbs v. Grey, Grey v. Gibbs (1857), 2 H. & N. 22; The Priscilla (1859), Lush. 1; The Soblomsten (1866), L. R. 1 A. & E. 293; The Lizzie (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 254; Notara v. Henderson (1870), L. R. 5 Q. B. 346; The Patria (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 436; Gunn v. Roberts (1874), 43 L. J. C. P. 233; Metcalfe v. Britannia Ironworks Co. (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 613; The Gaetano & Maria (1882), 7 P. D. 137; The Pontida (1884), 9 P. D. 102.

1519. —— Panic.]—If the master exercises a power which circumstances might justify, so that it is within the general scope of his functions, & it turns out that the facts do not warrant to exercise in the particular instance, as, for instance, if he unnecessarily throw goods overboard in a panic, or sell goods without justifying need, the owners are held liable for his acts (WILLES, J.).—NOTARA v. HENDERSON (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 225; 41 L. J. Q. B. 158; 26 L. T. 442; 20 W. R. 443; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 278, Exch.

*Annotations:—Reid. The Argos, Gaudet v. Brown (1873), L. R. 5 P. C. 155; The Kathleen (1874), L. R. 4 A. & E. 269; Hingston v. Wendt (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 367; Metcalfe v. Britannia Ironworks Co. (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 613; Prehn v. Bailey (1881), 45 L. T. 399; Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. v. English Bank of Rio de Janeiro (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 362; Rose v. Bank of Australasia, [1894] A. C. 687; Nobel's Explosives Co. v. Jenkins, [1896] 2 Q. B. 326; The Savona, [1900] P. 252; The Torbryan, [1903] P. 35; Hansen v. Dunn (1906), 22 T. L. R. 458; Anglo-Northern Trading Co. v. Emlyn Jones & Williams, [1917] 2 K. B. 78; Brandt v. Liverpool, Brazil & River Plate Steam Navigation Co., [1924] 1 K. B. 575. Mentd. G. N. Ry. v. Swaffield (1874), L. R. 9 Exch. 132; Coldman v. Hill, [1919] 1 K. B. 443.

1520. Powers of master—Selection of articles.]—THE GRATITUDINE, No. 1518, ante.

1521. —— Determination of quantity.]—THE GRATITUDINE, No. 1518, ante.

1522. What proportion may be jettisoned.]—THE GRATITUDINE, No. 1518, ante.

1523. Liability of shipowner—Jettison from barge.]—BIRD v. ASTCOCK (1614), 2 Bulst. 280; 80 E. R. 1122.

1524. ——.]—HARVEY v. THOMPSON (1837), 7 L. T. 442.

Right of owners to average contribution.]—See Part VII., Sect. 14, sub-sect. 2, C., post.

---

*PART IV. SECT. 5.

t. Liability of master.]—The master of a ship who has signed the usual bill of lading, is not liable for a loss by the jettison of goods which have been laden on deck with the knowledge & consent of the shipper & consignee.—JOHNSTON & KAYE v. CRANE (1841), 4 N. B. R. (2 Kerr) 39.—CAN.

SECT. 6.—AUTHORITY TO SELL SHIP.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

1525. General rule.]—TREMENHERE v. TRESILLIAN (1672), 1 Sid. 453 ; 3 Keb. 91 ; 82 E. R. 1213.

Annotations :—Consd. Hayman v. Molton (1803), 5 Esp. 65 ; Cannan v. Meaburn (1823), 1 Bing. 243 ; The Segredo (otherwise The Eliza Cornish) (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 36. Refd. Idle v. Royal Exchange Assco. (1819), 3 Moore, C. P. 115. Mentd. Carpenter v. Thornton (1819), 3 B. & Ald. 52.

1526. ——.]—The Vice-Admlty. Cts. abroad have no authority, upon the mere petition of the captain of a ship bound on a foreign voyage, to decree the sale of such ship, reported upon survey not to be seaworthy, or repairable so as to carry the cargo, to its place of destination, but at an expense exceeding the value of the ship when repaired. Nor does it appear that the master has any original authority to sell the ship under such circumstances, & to put an end to the adventure by such discretionary act of his own, when he might in fact have repaired the ship & continued the voyage. But supposing he has such authority exercised bonâ fide in a case of necessity, still the vessel subsisting as such, & capable of being used for the purposes of navigation, & so used in fact after some repair on the spot, can only be conveyed by the captain in the form prescribed by the Register Acts ; & the requisites of those Acts not having been complied with, the sale in question was held to transfer no property to the vendee.—REID v. DARBY (1808), 10 East, 143 ; 103 E. R. 730.

Annotations :—Distd. Idle v. Royal Exchange Assco. (1819), 3 Moore, C. P. 115. Consd. Freeman v. East India Co. (1822), 5 B. & Ald. 617 ; Morris v. Robinson (1824), 3 B. & C. 196 ; Hunter v. Parker (1840), 7 M. & W. 322 ; The Segredo (otherwise The Eliza Cornish) (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 36. Refd. Hunter v. Prinsep (1808), 10 East, 378 ; Thompson v. Leake (1815), 1 Madd. 39 ; Cannan v. Meaburn (1823), 1 Bing. 243 ; Robertson v. Clarke (1824), 1 Bing. 445 ; The Catharina (formerly The Croxdale) (1851), 17 L. T. O. S. 43.

1527. ——.]—THE GLASGOW (OTHERWISE THE YA MACRAW), No. 1544, post.

1528. ——.]—(1) The validity of the sale of a British ship in a foreign port is determined by the law usually enforced in the Ct. of Admlty., unless the foreign law be specially pleaded.

(2) The master of a British ship, except under urgent necessity, is not entitled to sell without the authority of the owner ; & the proof of such necessity lies upon the purchaser.

(3) A master before selling the ship is bound, if practicable, to communicate with his owner ; &, semble, if he sells without such communication, the sale is invalid.

(4) It is the duty of the master of a British ship before selling her in a foreign port to consult the British Consular Officer there resident, the opinion of the Consul being much considered by the ct. in determining the validity of the sale.

(5) The order of a foreign commercial ct. for the sale of a British ship within twenty-four hours of the application by the master, held not to be a judicial proceeding.—THE BONITA, THE CHARLOTTE (1861), Lush. 252 ; 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 145 ; 5 L. T. 141 ; 1 Mar. L. C. 145 ; 167 E. R. 111.

1529. Form of sale—Compliance with statutory requirements.]—REID v. DARBY, No. 1526, ante.

1530. Action of trover by owner—Whether purchaser may plead lien.]—HUNTER v. PARKER, No. 1579, post.

1531. Power of attorney to sell—Revocation—Decree of grantor's insolvency in colonial court.]—(1) A power of attorney to sell a ship may be substantially revoked by parol ; & the attorney selling thereafter is guilty of a breach of trust.

(2) If the grantee of a power of attorney to sell a ship sells fraudulently, or so as to commit a breach of trust, the fraud of the attorney vitiates the title of the purchaser, if the fraud was known to him, or could have been known by reasonable inquiry. Circumstances constituting fraudulent sale & circumstances putting purchaser on inquiry, considered. Semble, (3) a power of attorney to sell a ship given to the master, among other reasons, by way of security to cover his advances, does not justify him in selling against his owner's consent, except in a case of necessity. (4) A power of attorney to sell a ship is not revoked by a decree of the grantor's insolvency in a colonial possession, so as to invalidate a bonâ fide exercise of the power before notice of the insolvency. (5) A party claiming title to a ship will not be allowed to rely on two conflicting titles.

(6) The sale of a ship by the master abroad without the consent of the owner can only be justified by proof of urgent necessity. Circumstances showing such necessity considered.

The master of a ship, without authority from the owner, but under stress of necessity sold her at S. to R. & transmitted the proceeds to the owner. R. repaired the ship at S., & at W. appointed S. to command her, & gave him a power of attorney authorising him to sell. S. sailed to ship to Europe, & ultimately, in spite of letters from R., advertised her for sale by auction in London, R. being then insolvent under a decree of Her Majesty's Consular Ct. at S., though S. was unaware of that fact. The advertised sale was prevented by the arrest of the ship at suit of M., her original owner. Messrs. Mo. & T. then took a bill of sale of the ship for £4,000 from S., as attorney of R., & another bill of sale for £1,200 from M., the value of the ship being probably at least twice those amounts. Soon after the ship was arrested by the assignees of R. :—Held : the sale at S. was justified by the necessity of the case, & had legally divested the property from M., the original owner, vesting it in R., & under all the circumstances of the case, Messrs. Mo. & T. had no good title under the bill of sale from S. as the attorney of R.

(7) All the ingredients which may constitute necessity cannot be enumerated ; some may. The want of repairs, & the degree of want ; the possibility of procuring the repairs at the port where the ship lies ; the expense of repairs ; the expense of remaining in port ; the want of funds or credit ; the impracticability of communicating with the owner ; these & other circumstances may, in combination, constitute the necessity the law requires (DR. LUSHINGTON).

(8) Whoever purchases under a title of this description must, to defend that title, be prepared to prove the necessity (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE MARGARET MITCHELL (1858), Sw. 382 ; 7 L. T. 803 ; 4 Jur. N. S. 1193 ; 166 E. R. 1174.

1532. —— —— By parol.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

1533. —— —— Effect of sale after revocation.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

1534. —— Bonâ fide exercise of power—Before notice of grantor's insolvency—Whether sale avoided.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

1535. Fraudulent sale — What constitutes.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

1536. —— Whether purchaser's title avoided—Purchaser having notice of fraud.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

1537. Master failing to exercise authority—In proper case—Validity of sale by British Vice-Consul.]—THE UNIAO VENCEDORA (OTHERWISE THE GIPSY), No. 1562, post.

1538. Who may purchase—Survey of ship for purpose of sale.]—LAPRAIK v. BURROWS, THE AUSTRALIA, No. 1561, post.

Sect. 6.—Authority to sell ship: Sub-sects. 1 & 2, A., B. & C.]

1539. Sale in foreign port—Duty to consult British Consul.]—THE BONITA, THE CHARLOTTE, No. 1528, ante.

SUB-SECT. 2.—WHEN SALE IS JUSTIFIABLE.

A. In General.

See, generally, INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 261–263, 279, 280, Nos. 2107–2124, 2262.

1540. Extreme necessity.] — TREMENHERE v. TRESILLIAN (1672), 1 Sid. 453; 3 Keb. 91; 82 E. R. 1213.

Annotations:—Refd. Hayman v. Molton (1803), 5 Esp. 65; Idle v. Royal Exchange Assce. (1819), 3 Moore, C. P. 115; Cannan v. Meaburn (1823), 1 Bing. 243; Segredo (otherwise The Eliza Cornish) (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 36, Mentd. Carpenter v. Thornton (1819), 3 B. & Ald. 52.

1541. ——.]—American ship restored on salvage to former owner, but without prejudice to the rights of a party claiming under an affected purchase from the master in Ireland.

A sale of the vessel was made in Ireland, by the master, without the authority of his owners; & it is contended that such a sale, being made under the pressure of necessity, will convey a valid title to the purchaser. But, in the first place, it must be shown that there was a necessity, & then it remains to be considered whether it was such as by law would give the master a right to sell (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—THE FANNY & ELMIRA (1809), 1 Edw. 117; 165 E. R. 1052.

Annotations:—Refd. Cannan v. Meaburn (1823), 1 Bing. 243; Alcock v. Royal Exchange Assce. (1849), 13 Q. B. 292; Knight v. Faith (1850), 15 Q. B. 649.

1542. ——.]—THE LORD COCHRANE, No. 1186, ante.

1543. ——.]—THE SEGREDO (OTHERWISE THE ELIZA CORNISH), No. 1557, post.

1544. ——.]—The G. reached Savannah in Mar. 1855, laded a cargo of timber, & in Apr., before she cleared the mouth of the river, drove ashore in a hurricane; she was got off; discharged her cargo, & was surveyed; extensive repairs were found necessary; neither the owner who lived at Gloucester in England, nor the master had any credit, the ship was uninsured, & money could not be raised on bottomry; under these circumstances the master sold her without any express authority from the owner; she was repaired by the purchasers, sailed to Liverpool, & was arrested there at the suit of the former owners:—Held: under the circumstances, the sale was a valid one, & the ship was decreed to be restored with costs & demurrage; but, in such cases, the burden of proof lies upon the purchaser, unless the sale took place under the decree of a competent ct.

Master generally no authority to sell the ship; necessity only will justify it.—THE GLASGOW (OTHERWISE THE YA MACRAW) (1856), Sw. 145; 28 L. T. O. S. 13; 2 Jur. N. S. 1147; 5 W. R. 10; 166 E. R. 1065.

1545. ——.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

1546. ——.]—THE BONITA, THE CHARLOTTE, No. 1528, ante.

1547. —— Survey made on best information—& in good faith.]—In cases of extreme necessity, & where a ship having got aground, cannot, in the opinion of the persons competent to judge, be raised, the captain will sell her for the benefit of the owners; but it can only be in cases of extreme necessity & the survey, etc., must be made on the best information, & with the most pure good faith.—HAYMAN v. MOLTON (1803), 5 Esp. 65; 170 E. R. 739, N. P.

Annotations:—Consd. Idle v. Royal Exchange Assce. (1819), 3 Moore, C. P. 115. Refd. Knight v. Faith (1850), 15 Q. B. 649; The Australia (1859), Sw. 480.

1548. —— No alternative to sale.]—The master of a vessel has no power to sell her so as to affect the insurers, except under circumstances of stringent necessity: such circumstances as, after sufficient examination of her condition, after every exertion in his power, within the means at his disposal, to extricate her from peril or to raise funds for the repair, leave him no alternative but to sell her as she is.—COBEQUID MARINE INSURANCE CO. v. BARTEAUX (1875), L. R. 6 P. C. 319; 32 L. T. 510; 23 W. R. 892; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 536, P. C.

Annotation:—Consd. Hall v. Jupe (1880), 49 L. J. Q. B. 721.

1549. Power of attorney given to master—Security to cover advances.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

B. What Constitutes Necessity.

1550. Question of fact.]—The necessity which gives the master an implied authority to sell his vessel abroad must be created by, & depend upon, the particular circumstances of each case.

The vessel was at the Cape of Good Hope, & in need of extensive repairs. The master had no credit, & the ship's agents there had a claim of £300, against her, & threatened arrest. The master was unable to repair the ship, even temporarily, so as to bring her to England, & the necessary delay of three months to enable the master to communicate with the owner in England would have been prejudicial to the vessel. The master therefore sold her at the Cape:—Held: under the circumstances, an adequate necessity existed for the sale, & therefore the transfer was valid.—THE VICTOR (1865), 13 L. T. 21; 2 Mar. L. C. 261.

1551. Impossibility of continuing voyage—Ship run aground—Unable to be raised.]—HAYMAN v. MOLTON, No. 1547, ante.

1552. —— Damage to ship—No prospect of completion of voyage.]—HUNTER v. PARKER, No. 1579, post.

1553. —— —— ——.]—IRELAND v. THOMSON, No. 1581, post.

1554. Want of repair.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

1555. —— Ship capable of repair.]—REID v. DARBY, No. 1526, ante.

1556. —— ——.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

1557. —— —— Subsequent repair by purchaser.]—A ship, belonging to a British owner at Liverpool, having been taken by alleged pirates, & recaptured by one of Her Majesty's ships of war after her master had been killed, was placed in charge of a master of the Royal Navy to bring to Liverpool. Having suffered considerable damage, he put into the island of Fayal, & petitioned the director of the customs for an official survey. Three were made. The report was to the effect that the ship could be repaired for about £300. The master being dissatisfied, obtained a private survey, which resulted in a report that the ship was unseaworthy, & should be condemned. The director of the customs then, on the petition of the master, decreed the sale of the ship by public auction, & gave official notice thereof, according to the custom of the place. She was purchased by a Portuguese merchant, who immediately repaired her, & sent her with a cargo to Bristol, where she was arrested by the original owner in a cause of possession:—Held: (1) The master had the authority of an ordinary master, & no more; (2) the validity of the sale must be tried by the law maritime; (3) by the law maritime, as well as by the law of England, the sale of a ship by a master, though bonâ fide, can be justified only by urgent necessity; (4) with respect to ships, the lex loci contractus cannot prevail if opposed to the law maritime; (5) the circumstances of the case do not show an urgent necessity for the sale; (6) the sale was invalid, & the ship must be restored to the original owner with costs.

Sales of ships by authority of Vice-Admlty. Cts. abroad are invalid, from want of jurisdiction. Semble: the ct. would hold a sale made under the authority of a ct. of competent jurisdiction, valid.—THE SEGREDO (OTHERWISE THE ELIZA CORNISH) (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 36; 22 L. T. O. S. 36; 17 Jur. 738; 164 E. R. 22.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The Gaetano & The Muria (1882), 46 L. T. 835, C. A. As to (4) Refd. Cammell v. Sewell (1860), 5 H. & N. 728. Generally, Refd. The Glasgow (otherwise the Ya Macraw) (1856), 28 L. T. O. S. 13; R. v. McCleverty, The Telegrafo (or The Restauracion) (1871), L. R. 3 P. C. 673.

1558. —— Necessitating delay in port.]—It appears that there was ample authority given to the captain to sell, both by the conduct of the parties at home, & by the circumstances in which the property was placed. It appears also to me that in the sale all due caution was used, & all due attention shown to the interests of the former owners, & the previous authority of the master was fully confirmed by subsequent recognitions & approvals (LORD STOWELL).—THE PITT (1824), 1 Hag. Adm. 240; 166 E. R. 86.

Annotations:—Refd. The John (1830), 2 Hag. Adm. 305; The Beatrice (otherwise The Rappahannock) (1866), 36 L. J. Adm. 9.

1559. —— ——.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

1560. —— Involving excessive expenditure.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

1560a. —— ——.]—Where a ship was so shattered in a storm that upon survey it was found the expense of repairing her would far exceed her original value, & the captain having sold her bonâ fide for the benefit of all concerned, the purchaser shortly afterwards broke her up:—Held: this was such an urgent necessity as justified the sale.—ROBERTSON v. CLARKE (1824), 1 Bing. 445; 8 Moore, C. P. 622; 2 L. J. O. S. C. P. 71; 130 E. R. 179.

Annotations:—Consd. Cambridge v. Anderton (1824), 4 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 203; Knight v. Faith (1850), 15 Q. B. 649; Tronson v. Dent (1853), 8 Moo. P. C. C. 419. Apld. The Segredo (otherwise The Eliza Cornish) (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 36; The Bonita, The Charlotte (1861), Lush. 252. Refd. Roux v. Salvador (1836), 3 Bing. N. C. 266; The Margaret Mitchell (1858), 4 Jur. N. S. 1193; Cossman v. West, Cossman v. British America Assce. (1887), 13 App. Cas. 160.

1561. —— ——.]—(1) If a ship, being in a foreign port, cannot be sent upon her voyage, without repairs, & the repairs cannot be done except at so great & so certain a loss that no prudent man would venture to encounter it, this constitutes a case of necessity, justifying a sale of the ship by the master.

(2) The first purchaser of the master is bound to prove such necessity; but whether such onus probandi attaches to a second purchaser depends on all the circumstances of the case.

(3) An omission by the first purchaser to comply with the Ship Registry Act, 1845 does not affect the title of a subsequent purchaser.

(4) A person surveying a ship with a view to the sale thereof by the master, may be justfied in becoming the purchaser.

(5) Vice-Admlty. Cts. abroad have only the ordinary jurisdiction exercised by the Ct. of Admlty. before the passing of Admiralty Court Act, 1840 (c. 65), they cannot therefore try causes of title to ships.—LAPRAIK v. BURROWS, THE AUSTRALIA (1859), 13 Moo. P. C. C. 132; Sw. 480; 7 W. R. 718; 15 E. R. 50, P. C.

Annotation:—Refd. The Yuri Maru, The Woron, [1927] A. C. 906.

1562. —— ——.]—To constitute a valid sale at a port of distress there must be the consent of the master except under most peculiar circumstances, an impossibility of repairs except at a ruinous cost, or an equally ruinous delay & an inexpediency arising from imminent risk of awaiting communication with the owners. Semble: if an extreme necessity existed for the sale of a British vessel at a foreign port the British Vice-Consul at the port might, if the master neglected to sell, sanction the sale, which would then be valid notwithstanding the absence of the master's consent.—THE UNIAO VENCEDORA (OTHERWISE THE GIPSY) (1864), 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 195; 11 L. T. 351; 2 Mar. L. C. 146.

1563. Inability to procure fresh crew.]—The underwriters on goods insured from London to Demarara are only liable for an average loss where the ship being captured & recaptured was sent into St. Thomas's stript of all her hands, & the captain not being able on his arrival there to procure a fresh crew, or to raise money to pay the salvage, immediately sold the ship & cargo, & broke up the adventure.—UNDERWOOD v. ROBERTSON (1815), 4 Camp. 138; 171 E. R. 44, N. P.

1564. Inability to raise money.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

1565. —— To pay salvage.]—UNDERWOOD v. ROBERTSON, No. 1563, ante.

1566. —— For repairs.]—ALEXANDER v. PRATT (1844), 7 L. T. 225.

Annotation:—Consd. Gibson v. Small (1853), 4 H. L. Cas. 353.

1567. —— ——.]—THE GLASGOW (OTHERWISE THE YA MACRAW), No. 1544, ante.

1568. —— ——.]—THE VICTOR, No. 1550, ante.

1569. Impracticability of communicating with owner.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

1570. ——.]—THE UNIAO VENCEDORA (OTHERWISE THE GIPSY), No. 1562, ante.

1571. Ruinous delay.]—THE UNIAO VENCEDORA (OTHERWISE THE GIPSY), No. 1562, ante.

C. Proof of Necessity.

1572. On whom onus lies—Purchaser.]—THE GLASGOW (OTHERWISE THE YA MACRAW), No. 1544, ante.

1573. —— ——.]—THE MARGARET MITCHELL, No. 1531, ante.

1574. —— ——.]—THE BONITA, THE CHARLOTTE, No. 1528, ante.

PART IV. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 2.—B.

1561 i. Want of repair—Involving excessive expenditure.]—WOOD v. STYMEST (1862), 10 N. B. R. (5 All.) 309.—CAN a. Moral necessity.]—Moral necessity is sufficient to justify a master in selling a shipwrecked vessel, & the existence of such necessity is a question of fact for jury.—ORANGE v. MCKAY (1864), 5 N. S. R. (1 Old.) 444.—CAN.

b. "Stringent necessity."]—PROVIDENCE WASHINGTON INSURANCE CO. v. CORBETT (1884), 9 S. C. R. 256.—CAN.

1571 i. Ruinous delay.]—If a disabled ship is in a place of safety, but cannot be repaired where she is nor taken to a port of repairs, & if instructions from the owner cannot be received for some weeks, the expense of preserving her, the danger of her being driven on shore, & the probability of great deterioration in value during the delay, will justify the master when acting bonâ fide & for the benefit of all concerned, in selling without waiting for instructions, & the sale will excuse notice of abandonment.—NOVA SCOTIA MARINE INSURANCE CO. v. CHURCHILL & CO. (1896), 26 S. C. R. 65.—CAN.

Sect. 6.—Authority to sell ship: Sub-sect. 2, C.; sub-sects. 3, 4, 5 & 6, A. & B. Sects. 7 & 8. Part V. Sects. 1, 2 & 3.]

1575. —— —— First purchaser—Whether onus attaches to second purchaser.]—LAPRAIK v. BURROWS, THE AUSTRALIA, No. 1561, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 3.—COMMUNICATION WITH OWNER.

1576. Duty of master to communicate with owner.]—ALEXANDER v. PRATT (1844), 7 L. T. 225.

Annotation:—Mentd. Gibson v. Small (1853), 4 H. L. Cas. 353.

1577. ——.]—THE BONITA, THE CHARLOTTE, No. 1528, ante.

1578. Effect of failure to communicate.]—THE BONITA, THE CHARLOTTE, No. 1528, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 4.—RATIFICATION BY OWNER.

1579. What amounts to ratification—Receipt of proceeds of sale.]—(1) Semble: the master of a ship has authority, when, in consequence of injury to the ship during the voyage, there is no prospect of bringing her to the termination of the voyage, to sell her for benefit of all parties interested. At all events, where the proceeds of such sale have been received by the owner, that is a sufficient ratification by him of the act of the master in selling her, so as to prevent him from afterwards recovering back the ship from the purchaser or one claiming under him. So, it is equally a ratification of a sale by an auctioneer, acting under a parol authority from the master.

(2) The purchaser of a vessel under such circumstances cannot set up any defence of lien against an action of trover by the owner.—HUNTER v. PARKER (1840), 7 M. & W. 322; 10 L. J. Ex. 281; 9 L. T. 53; 151 E. R. 789.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Ridgway v. Roberts (1844), 4 Hare, 106; Chapman v. Benson (1847), 5 C. B. 330; The Segredo (otherwise The Eliza Cornish) (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 36. Generally, Mentd. Hobson v. Holt (1850), 16 L. T. O. S. 263; Low v. Macgill (1864), 4 New Rep. 145; Naylor v. Mortimore (1864), 13 W. R. 47.

1580. —— —— Sale by auction.]—HUNTER v. PARKER, No. 1579, ante.

——.]—See, also, AGENCY, Vol. I., pp. 405, 413, 414, Nos. 1045, 1100, 1101, 1105.

---

SUB-SECT. 5.—PAYMENT OF PURCHASE-MONEY.

1581. Who may receive payment—Master.]—Where a ship is so damaged during a voyage that she cannot prosecute it, the master has authority to sell her for all parties interested, & the person whom he may have employed to sell her & receive the money may pay over the proceeds to him or his agent; & such payment, in the absence of any notice not to do so from the parties interested, will be good.—IRELAND v. THOMSON (1847), 4 C. B. 149; 17 L. J. C. P. 241; 136 E. R. 460.

Annotation:—Refd. Walshe v. Provan (1853), 8 Exch. 843.

1582. —— Master's agent.] — IRELAND v. THOMSON, No. 1581, ante.

1583. Whether payment to master good discharge—No notice prohibiting payment—From interested parties.]—IRELAND v. THOMSON, No. 1581, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 6.—CONFLICT OF LAWS.

A. In General.

See, generally, CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 306 et seq.

1584. By what law validity of sale is determined.]—THE SEGREDO (OTHERWISE THE ELIZA CORNISH), No. 1557, ante.

1585. ——.]—THE BONITA, THE CHARLOTTE, No. 1528, ante.

Admiralty jurisdiction over title generally.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., p. 112, Nos. 162–168.

B. Foreign Judgments.

1586. Court must be competent to decree sale—Vice-Admiralty Court.]—REID v. DARBY, No. 1526, ante.

1587. —— ——.]—Where the master of a ship on a voyage from Calcutta to London, laden with indigo, was obliged to put into Mauritius from unseaworthiness, & there abandoned ship & cargo, which were bonâ fide sold by public auction under the orders of the Vice-Admlty. Ct.:—Held: in assumpsit by the owner against the purchaser of the indigo, there being no pressing necessity for the sale, the master could confer no title upon the vendee.

In this case the sale was conducted under the authority of the Vice-Admlty. Ct., the judge of which made a decree for that purpose; but without intending any disrespect to that ct., I am bound to express my opinion that it had no jurisdiction in this matter, & no power to make any such decree (BAYLEY, J.).—MORRIS v. ROBINSON (1824), 3 B. & C. 196; 5 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 34; 107 E. R. 706.

Annotations:—Refd. Cammell v. Sewell (1860), 6 Jur. N. S. 918. Mentd. Knight v. Legh (1828), 1 Moo. & P. 528; Valpy v. Sanders (1848), 5 C. B. 886; Brinsmead v. Harrison (1871), L. R. 6 C. P. 584; Rice v. Reed, [1900] 1 Q. B. 54.

1588. —— ——.]—THE SEGREDO (OTHERWISE THE ELIZA CORNISH), No. 1557, ante.

1589. —— ——.]—LAPRAIK v. BURROWS, THE AUSTRALIA, No. 1561, ante.

1590. Judgment must be given in judicial proceeding—Order of foreign commercial court—Sale within twenty-four hours of master's application.]—THE BONITA, THE CHARLOTTE, No. 1528, ante.

Foreign judgments generally.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 444–472, Nos. 1027–1262.

---

SECT. 7.—AUTHORITY TO SELL CARGO.

See Part VII., Sect. 6, sub-sect. 6, A., post.

---

SECT. 8.—AUTHORITY TO TRANSHIP.

See Part VII., Sect. 6, sub-sect. 4, post.

---

PART IV. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 3.

1576 i. Duty of master to communicate with owner.]—GALLAGHER v. TAYLOR (1881), 5 S. C. R. 368.—CAN.

e. Effect of failure to communicate—Sale "illegal."]—MORTON v. PATILLO (1872), 9 N. S. R. (3 G. & O.) 17.—CAN.

Part V.—General Statutory Provisions for Safety of Ship and Cargo.

SECT. 1.—SEAWORTHINESS OF SHIP.

See 1894 Act, ss. 457, 458; 1914 Act (c. 50), ss. 18–21, 23; 1921 Act, s. 2; Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), s. 2; Statutory Rules & Orders, 1927, No. 1183.

1591. What amounts to unseaworthiness — Failure to use part of equipment—Danger to crew—But not to ship.]—A ship was sent to sea with stanchion & rails on board, but not shipped as they ought to have been so as to raise the bulwarks at a certain part to the proper height. A storm came on & a seaman engaged in performing his duty on deck fell overboard in consequence of the neglect to ship the stanchions & rails & was drowned. It was not safe for the crew that the ship should leave port with the stanchions & rails unshipped:—Held: the neglect of duty on the part of the master did not render the ship "unseaworthy" within Merchant Shipping Act, 1876 (c. 80), s. 5.—HEDLEY v. PINKNEY & SONS S.S. Co., [1894] A. C. 222; 63 L. J. Q. B. 419; 70 L. T. 630; 42 W. R. 497; 10 T. L. R. 347; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 483; 6 R. 106, H. L.

Annotations:—Distd. Morris & Morris v. Oceanic Steam Navigation Co. (1900), 16 T. L. R. 533. Apld. Leonard v. Leyland (1902), 18 T. L. R. 727. Refd. Dobell v. S.S. Rossmore Co., [1895] 2 Q. B. 408; Ingram & Royle v. Services Maritimes du Trépont, [1913] 1 K. B. 538. Mentd. Burr v. Theatre Royal Drury Lane, [1907] 1 K. B. 544.

1592. —— Defective hook & davit of lifeboat.]—LEONARD v. LEYLAND & CO. (1902), 18 T. L. R. 727.

Unseaworthiness generally.]—See Part VII., Sect. 6, sub-sect. 1, post.

Warranty as to seaworthiness in policies of insurance.]—See INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 186, et seq.

---

SECT. 2.—EQUIPMENT.

See, generally, 1894 Act, ss. 285, 290, 427–433; 1914 Act (c. 50); 1919 Act; Statutory Rules & Orders, 1924, Nos. 1056, 1289; Statutory Rules & Orders, 1925, No. 321; Statutory Rules & Orders, 1927, Nos. 303, 1183.

1593. Life saving appliances—Construction of rules of Board of Trade—Ship employed solely in coasting trade—Not certified to carry passengers.]—The rule of the Life Saving Appliances Rules made by the Board of Trade under 1894 Act, s. 427 as to steamships not certified to carry passengers & employed solely in the coasting trade, requiring that such ships should carry lifebelts "so that there may be one for each person on board the ship," is not confined to providing a lifebelt for each one of the crew on board but requires a lifebelt for each person on board the ship whether such person is one of the crew or not.

A British ship, not certified to carry passengers & employed solely in the coasting trade, with a crew of seven & twenty-seven other persons on board, proceeded from the pier head in the port of L. for a distance of 12 miles to another vessel which was lying also within the limits of the port of L. to be lightened. She had on board seven lifebelts & no more:—Held: the ship was, under the rule, bound to have on board one lifebelt for each of the thirty-four persons on board; & further that she was "proceeding on a voyage or excursion" within 1894 Act, s. 430, & the master was liable to a penalty for not having a lifebelt for each person on board.—GENOCHIO v. STEWARD (1909), 100 L. T. 525; 73 J. P. 158; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 226, D. C.

1594. —— —— Proceeding on "voyage or excursion."]—GENOCHIO v. STEWARD, No. 1593, ante.

Application of regulations to fishing vessels.]—See 1894 Act, s. 375.

Application of regulations to foreign ships.]—See 1906 Act, ss. 4, 6; 1914 Act (c. 50); Order in Council, Oct. 24, 1908; Statutory Rules & Orders, 1927, No. 1183.

—— Exemptions.]—See Statutory Rules & Orders, 1909, pp. 580–583; Statutory Rules & Orders, 1910, pp. 473, 474.

---

SECT. 3.—MARKING OF SHIPS.

1595. Load lines—Penalty for overloading—Liability of owner—Overloading without knowledge or assent of owner.]—The owner of a British ship, which without his knowledge or assent is overloaded by the master in breach of the provisions of Merchant Shipping Act, 1876 (c. 80), s. 28, is not responsible for the act of the master so as to be liable to the penalty created by the sect.—MASSEY v. MORRISS, [1894] 2 Q. B. 412; 63 L. J. M. C. 185; 70 L. T. 873; 58 J. P. 673; 42 W. R. 638; 10 T. L. R. 517; 38 Sol. Jo. 547; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 586; 10 R. 342, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Collman v. Mills (1896), 13 T. L. R. 122.

1596. —— —— Load line becoming submerged during voyage.]—A British ship loaded at a foreign port a cargo of timber, part of which was carried on deck. When the loading was completed the centre of the disc indicating the load line of the ship was not submerged in salt water. During the voyage, however, the ship encountered bad weather & her deck cargo became saturated with rain & sea water, with the result that it increased in weight, & when the ship arrived at a British

---

PART V. SECT. 1.

d. Criminal liability of owner & master.]—THE CALIFORNIA (1854), 7 L. T. 224.—IR.

e. —— Plea of ignorance.]—Although it is necessary for the prosecution to show scienter in order to establish a breach of Shipping & Seamen Act, 1908, s. 224 (2), which prohibits a master from knowingly taking a British ship to sea in such an unseaworthy state that the life of any person is likely to be thereby endangered, scienter or knowledge is not a necessary ingredient of the offence created by sub-sect. 1 of that sect., which prohibits any person from sending a British ship to sea in such an unseaworthy state.—R. v. NEWSON (1909), 29 N. Z. L. R. 373.—N.Z.

f. Sufficiency of crew.]—FLEMING v. RAINEY (1904), 21 N. Z. L. R. 158.—N.Z.

PART V. SECT. 2.

g. Application of regulations to fishing vessels.]—STURGEON v. PORT BURWELL FISH CO. (1906), 12 O. L. R. 154.—CAN.

PART V. SECT. 3.

h. Load lines—Penalty for overloading.]—The offence contemplated by Marine Board Navigation Act, 1881, s. 194, is the loading at the port where the cargo is put on board, & not the port of arrival.—STAPLE v. STEPHENS (1883), 17 S. A. L. R. 130.—AUS.

Sect. 3.—Marking of ships. Sects. 4, 5, 6 & 7. Part VI. Sect. 1.]

port it was found that the centres of her discs were submerged in salt water to the depth of some inches:—Held: the words "allows the ship to be so loaded as to submerge in salt water the centre of the disc" in 1894 Act, s. 442 (1) (a), did not refer merely to the amount at which the loading was completed, but referred to the condition of the ship at any point of her voyage, even though that condition did not result from any default by the owner or master, &, therefore, the master of the ship in question was guilty of an offence under the sub-sect. at the British port.—RADCLIFFE v. BUCKWELL, [1927] 2 K. B. 273; 96 L. J. K. B. 965; 137 L. T. 593; 43 T. L. R. 514; 28 Cox, C. C. 373, D. C.

——.]—See 1894 Act, ss. 438–445.

Deck lines.]—See 1894 Act, s. 437.

As to marking on registration.]—See Part II., Sect. 2, sub-sect. 3, ante.

---

SECT. 4.—CARRIAGE OF DANGEROUS GOODS.

See Part VII., Sect. 1, sub-sect. 8, post.

---

SECT. 5.—DECK CARGO.

See, generally, 1894 Act, ss. 85, 294; Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article 1.

1597. What is "deck cargo"—Horses & cattle.]—Horses & cattle are "goods" within Merchant Shipping Act, 1876 (c. 80), s. 23, which provides that, where timber, stores, or other goods are carried as deck cargo all dues payable on the ship's tonnage shall be payable as if there were added to the ship's registered tonnage the tonnage of the space occupied by such goods.

For the purposes of the computation of such tonnage, the measurement ought to include only the space occupied by the animals themselves, fair allowance being made for their free bodily movements, & ought not to include the shed or pens belonging to the ship in which the animals are confined.—RICHMOND HILL S.S. Co. v. TRINITY HOUSE CORPN., [1896] 2 Q. B. 134; 65 L. J. Q. B. 561; 75 L. T. 8; 45 W. R. 6; 12 T. L. R. 472; 40 Sol. Jo. 583; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 164; 1 Com. Cas. 404, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Cairn Line of Steamships v. Trinity House Corpn., [1908] 1 K. B. 528.

1598. —— Bunker coal for use on voyage.]—Coals carried in an uncovered space upon the deck of a ship, though intended for use in the ship's fires upon the voyage, come within the words "stores or other goods," & are carried "as deck cargo," within 1894 Act, s. 85.—CAIRN LINE OF STEAMSHIPS, LTD. v. TRINITY HOUSE CORPN., [1908] 1 K. B. 528; 77 L. J. K. B. 363; 98 L. T. 86; 24 T. L. R. 212; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 602; 13 Com. Cas. 175.

1599. Tonnage measurement of space occupied by goods—For purposes of dues payable—Horses & cattle.]—RICHMOND HILL S.S. Co. v. TRINITY HOUSE CORPN., No. 1597, ante.

1600. Wood goods.]—Resp., the captain of a foreign vessel, arrived in a port in the United Kingdom between Oct. 31 & Apr. 16, carrying as deck cargo certain pieces of spruce fir wood, varying from 27 feet to 15 feet in length, & with a mean girth of 2 feet 9 inches, which were not carried to a height of 3 feet above the deck:—Held: such spruce fir wood came under the definition of "any square, round, waney, or other timber, defendant had, in fact, contravened 1894 Act, s. 451.—MORRISS v. THORMODSEN (1896), 60 J. P. 644, D. C.

——.]—See 1906 Act, s. 10, & Criminal Justice Act, 1925 (c. 86), s. 30.

---

SECT. 6.—STOWAGE OF GRAIN CARGO.

See 1894 Act, ss. 452, 454, 456, Sched. XVIII.; 1906 Act, ss. 3, 11.

---

SECT. 7.—DETENTION OF UNSAFE SHIPS.

See 1894 Act, ss. 459, 460, 462; 1897 Act, s. 1; 1906 Act, s. 2.

1601. Reasonable & probable cause for detention—What amounts to.]—In order to justify the Board of Trade in taking proceedings under 36 & 37 Vict. c. 85, s. 12, it is unnecessary that either the complaint as to a vessel or the report from surveyors should state in express terms that she is unable to "proceed to sea without serious danger to human life"; it is sufficient if it appears from the facts therein respectively mentioned that she is in that condition. Semble, under the foregoing statute, the Board of Trade can order a vessel to be detained only for the purpose of being surveyed, repaired, or otherwise dealt with according to its provisions, & they cannot order her detention for an indefinite period of time after its objects have been fulfilled. If the Board of Trade order a ship to be detained in excess of the powers conferred by the above-mentioned statute, her owner is not bound to appeal under 36 & 37 Vict. c. 85, s. 14, to a ct. having Admiralty jurisdiction, but he may obtain redress by either an action or a petition of right.—LEWIS v. GRAY (1876), 1 C. P. D. 452; 45 L. J. Q. B. 720; 34 L. T. 421; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 136.

1602. —— ——.]—Pltf. was the owner of a British ship named the L., which was at the British port of S., & was intended to be employed in the foreign cattle trade. Certain surveyors of the Board of Trade reported in doubtful terms that owing to her unusual proportions the L. was an unsafe ship. The Board of Trade thereupon ordered the L. to be provisionally detained. A court of survey was held as to the condition of the L., & the members thereof reported that the L. was not unsafe, & that she ought not to have been detained. The L. was accordingly released. Pltf. then brought an action against the secretary of the Board of Trade to recover compensation for the loss to him by reason of the provisional detention. At the trial it was admitted that the L. was a safe ship. The judge in substance directed the jury to consider whether it was reasonable in the Board of Trade to detain the L. for survey without a direct affirmation by their surveyors that in their opinion she was unsafe:—Held: a misdirection, for the proper question to be left to the jury was whether the facts with regard to the L. as she lay at S., which would have been apparent to a person of ordinary skill on examining her & inquiring about her, would have given him reasons able & probable cause to suspect her safety & to

---

PART V. SECT. 7.

k. Liability of foreign ship to be detained—Service of detention order.]—LARSEN v. HART (1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) (J.) 54; 37 Sc. L. R. 924; 8 S. L. T. 146.—SCOT.

detain her for survey & inquiry.—THOMPSON v. FARRER (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 372; 51 L. J. Q. B. 534; 47 L. T. 117; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 562, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Dixon v. Board of Trade Secretary (1887), 3 T. L. R. 478; Howard v. Clarke (1888), 20 Q. B. D. 558.

1603. Powers of Board of Trade—Reasonably satisfied as to condition of ship.]—LEWIS v. GRAY, No. 1601, ante.

1604. —— No power to detain for indefinite period.]—LEWIS v. GRAY, No. 1601, ante.

1605. Action against Board of Trade for unreasonable detention—Place of trial—Right of Crown to change venue.]—By Crown Suits Act, 1865 (c. 104), s. 46, where in any cause in which the A.-G. is entitled on behalf of the Crown to demand as of right a trial at bar, he states to the ct. that he waives that right, " the ct. on the application of the A.-G. shall change the venue to any county he may select " :—Held: an action under 39 & 40 Vict. c. 80, s. 10, against the secretary of the Board of Trade, to recover damages for the detention of a ship for survey without reasonable & probable cause, is within the above sect., the A.-G. is entitled to demand as of right a trial at bar in such an action, & the ct. is bound on his waiving that right to change the venue to any county wherein he elects to have the action tried. —DIXON v. FARRER (1886), 18 Q. B. D. 43; 56 L. J. Q. B. 53; 55 L. T. 578; 35 W. R. 95; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 52; sub nom. DIXON v. SECRETARY OF BOARD OF TRADE, 3 T. L. R. 35, C. A.

Annotations:—Mentd. Graham v. Public Works Comrs., [1901] 2 K. B. 781; Public Works Comrs. v. Pontypridd Masonic Hall Co., [1920] 2 K. B. 233.

1606. —— Damages—Direct damages—Loss of reputation of shipowner.]—39 & 40 Vict. c. 80, s. 6 (1), enacts that the Board of Trade, if they have reason to believe, on complaint or otherwise, that a British ship is unsafe, may provisionally order the detention of the ship for the purpose of being surveyed, & sect. 10 enacts that, if it appears that there was not reasonable & probable cause, by reason of the condition of the ship or the act or default of the owner, for the provisional detention of the ship, the Board of Trade shall be liable to pay to the owner of the ship his costs of & incidental to the detention & survey of the ship, & also compensation for any loss or damage sustained by him by reason of the detention or survey; & that an action under the sect. may be brought against the secretary of the Board of Trade. In an action brought for compensation under sect. 10 of the Act, pltfs. claimed general damages in respect of injury to their reputation as shipowners by reason of the detention of their ship:—Held: such damages were not within the words " compensation for loss or damage " in the sect., & therefore were not recoverable.—DIXON v. CALCRAFT, [1892] 1 Q. B. 458; 61 L. J. Q. B. 529; 66 L. T. 554; 56 J. P. 388; 40 W. R. 598; 8 T. L. R. 397; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 161, C. A.

1607. —— Alternative remedy by petition of right.]—LEWIS v. GRAY, No. 1601, ante.

1608. Liability of foreign ship to be detained—Overloading.]—The provisions contained in 39 & 40 Vict. c. 80, s. 34, as to the detention of ships which are unsafe by reason of overloading, apply to the ships of a foreign state taking in cargo at a port in the United Kingdom, although there has not been any Order in Council under 39 & 40 Vict. c. 80, s. 37, specifically applying such provisions to the ships of such state.—CHALMERS v. SCOPENICH, [1892] 1 Q. B. 735; 61 L. J. M. C. 117; 66 L. T. 348; 56 J. P. 521; 40 W. R. 477; 8 T. L. R. 452; 36 Sol. Jo. 361; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 171, D. C.

Part VI.—Conduct of the Voyage.

SECT. 1.—CLEARANCES.

See 1894 Act, ss. 68, 314-319, 692.

1609. Meaning of " clearance "—Whether including all ship's papers.]—Qu.: whether a clearance be any single document, or the collection of all the papers necessary to enable a ship legally to sail.—MORGAN v. OSWALD (1812), 3 Taunt. 554; 128 E. R. 219.

Annotations:—Mentd. Robinson v. Towray (1813), 1 M. & S. 217; Flindt v. Scott, Flindt v. Crokatt (1814), 5 Taunt. 674; Robinson v. Morris (1814), 5 Taunt. 720; Lemcke v. Vaughan (1824), 1 Bing. 473.

1610. —— Distinguished from sailing.] — A contract for the sale of wheat for shipment from America contained the following clause: " clearance not later than May 31." On May 28 a certificate of clearance was issued to the master of the ship by the customs authorities authorising the ship to proceed to sea. At that time part only of the cargo had been loaded, but the remainder was alongside waiting to be put into the ship. The certificate was granted under these circumstances in accordance with the usual & recognised practice in America. The loading was completed & the ship sailed on June 2:—Held: the provision in the contract as to clearance had been complied with.

The word " clearance " has a well known & definite meaning. It is a certificate issued by the customs showing that the vessel named in it has complied with the customs requirements, & is authorised to proceed to sea; & the acts which have to be done at the customs to procure such a certificate constitute the process of " clearing " the vessel (BIGHAM, J.).

Clearing & sailing are two quite different things, & clearing & being ready to sail are not necessarily the same thing (BIGHAM, J.).—THALMANN FRÈRES & CO. v. TEXAS STAR FLOUR MILLS (1899), 15 T. L. R. 471; 4 Com. Cas. 265; affd. (1900), 82 L. T. 833; 16 T. L. R. 460; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 87; 5 Com. Cas. 321, C. A.

1611. Emigrant ship—Discretion of emigration officer to withhold certificate.]—Action against an emigration officer under 15 & 16 Vict. c. 44, for refusing his certificate to a passenger ship of pltf., on the ground that the vessel was so deeply laden as, in his judgment, to endanger the safety of the ship & passengers, there not being any of the articles enumerated in 15 & 16 Vict. c. 44, s. 26, on board. Plea: Not guilty, by statute. Issue thereon; & demurrer. On the trial, it appeared that the vessel had been surveyed & reported seaworthy: that afterwards she was loaded with a cargo, not objectionable in its nature; but deft., in the bonâ fide belief that the vessel was so deeply laden as to endanger the ship & passengers, refused his certificate unless she was lightened; & that she was accordingly lightened under protest, to pltf.'s damage. The judge directed a verdict for deft., subject to leave to enter a verdict for pltf.:—Held: under 15 & 16 Vict. c. 44, s. 26, deft. was entitled to withhold his certificate, if, in the exercise of a bonâ fide discretion, he thought the quantity of the whole articles on board endangered the ship or passengers, though none of the articles were of the same nature as those enumerated in 15 & 16 Vict. c. 44, s. 26.—STEEL v. SCHOMBERG (1855), 4 E. & B. 620; 3 C. L. R. 302; 24 L. J. Q. B. 87; 24 L. T. O. S. 252; 19 J. P. 500; 1 Jur. N. S. 679; 3 W. R. 204; 119 E. R. 227.

1. Refusal of clearance in time of war.]—BLOM v. AUSTRALIA COMMONWEALTH (1917), 17 S. R. N. S. W. 469.—AUS.

Sect. 1.—Clearances. Sects. 2, 3, 4 & 5. Part VII. Sect. 1: Sub-sect. 1.]

1612. Clearance to be by fixed date—Certificate given before date—& before full cargo loaded.]—THALMANN FRERES & CO. v. TEXAS STAR FLOUR MILLS, No. 1610, ante.

1613. Refusal of clearance in time of war—Acts of belligerent power—Pleading.]—A Russian vessel after discharging a cargo of oil at Melbourne in July, 1916, was refused a clearance to proceed to Chile for a cargo of nitrates. A clearance was offered if the vessel would take wheat to the United Kingdom. This was declined, & the owners claimed from the Commonwealth damages for the detention of the vessel, & alleged in their statement of claim that the master was excused from making any formal application for a clearance by a notification that it would be granted only if he shipped a cargo of wheat. The Commonwealth denied the authority of the persons alleged to have been their agents in refusing the clearance, & pleaded (inter alia) that the ship had failed to comply with certain requirements of law in demanding a clearance, & that the alleged refusal & the restrictive conditions were acts of a belligerent power in right of war & could not be called in question in the High Ct. of Australia:—Held: that part of the defence relating to the failure to comply with the clearance conditions was demurrable as there was no sufficient traverse of the statement amounting to an allegation that the Commonwealth had waived the conditions, but the other defence, that the acts complained of were acts of a belligerent power in right of war, was sufficient, & a demurrer to it was properly overruled.—COMMONWEALTH OF AUSTRALIA v. ZACHARIASSEN (1920), 36 T. L. R. 655, P. C.

SECT. 2.—OFFICIAL LOGS.

See 1894 Act, ss. 239–243.

Admissibility in evidence generally.] — See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 198, 199, Nos. 1151–1159; EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., pp. 317, 318, Nos. 3105–3117.

Use to refresh memory.]—See EVIDENCE. Vol. XXII., p. 470, No. 4941.

SECT. 3.—CONVOY.

1614. Warranty to sail with convoy—Breach of warranty—Defence to action—Ship following & joining convoy.]—On a representation that a ship will sail with convoy, whereby pltf. was induced to put his goods on board; the promise is complied with if she follows the convoy & joins it, so as to prevent pltf. from maintaining an action against the owner for a loss arising from another cause after she has joined. Aliter if by reason of this representation the owner of the goods, in an insurance made thereon, was induced to warrant that she would sail with convoy.—CHRISTIN v. DITCHELL (1797), Peake, Add. Cas. 141; 170 E. R. 223.

1615. —— —— —— Every practical effort made to join convoy.]—In an action against the owner of a ship for breach of an undertaking to sail with convoy it is a sufficient defence to show that the ship was delayed in taking on board pltf.'s goods, & that after receiving them the master having made every practicable exertion to join the convoy with which he ought to have sailed but without effect proceeded on his voyage without convoy.—MAGALHAENS v. BUSHER (1814), 4 Camp. 54; 171 E. R. 18, N. P.

1616. —— —— —— Ship prevented from joining convoy by weather.]—(1) A bill of lading signed by the captain stating the ship to be bound to the port of destination with convoy, amounts to an undertaking binding on the owner, that the ship shall sail with convoy.

(2) Where there is an undertaking to sail with convoy, it is not a sufficient excuse that the ship was prevented from joining the convoy by the state of the weather.—SANDERSON v. BUSHER (1814), 4 Camp. 54, n.; 171 E. R. 18, N. P.

1617. —— What amounts to warranty—Ship put up at Royal Exchange by broker—Distribution of handbills.]—If a ship is put up at the Royal Exchange & at the coffee house by the ship's broker, as a general ship warranted to sail with convoy, & handbills are put about to the same effect, this is such a representation as shall bind the principal.—RUNQUIST v. DITCHELL (1799), 3 Esp. 64; 170 E. R. 539; sub nom. RINQUIST v. DITCHELL, 2 Camp. 555, n., N. P.

Annotations:—Consd. Sanderson v. Busher (1814), 4 Camp. 54, n. Reld. Baldry v. Bates (1885), 52 L. T. 620.

1618. —— —— Ship advertised to sail with convoy—No mention of convoy in bill of lading.]—SNELL v. MARRYATT (1808), cited in Abbott's Merchant Shipping, 14th ed. p. 468.

1619. —— —— Bill of lading signed by captain—Stating ship sailing with convoy.]—SANDERSON v. BUSHER, No. 1616, ante.

—— In insurance cases.]—See INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., p. 179, Nos. 1352–1374.

1620. Necessity for convoy.]—A ship cannot legally proceed without convoy from port to port to join convoy, unless a bond has been given that she shall not sail without convoy. A ship licenced to sail without convoy, provided she is armed with a certain force, must take that force on board before she breaks ground. A ship licenced to sail without convoy with a certain force, & clearing out without giving bond to sail with convoy, & without having the force required, cannot legally go round from her port of clearance to a port of convoy.—HINCKLEY v. WALTON (1810), 3 Taunt. 131; 128 E. R. 52.

Annotations:—Reld. Wilson v. Foderingham (1813), 1 M. & S. 468; Cundell v. Dawson (1847), 4 C. B. 376.

1621. —— Foreign built ship—British owned.]—A foreign built ship, British owned, is not required to be registered, & may therefore sail without convoy, being within the exception of 38 Geo. 3, c. 76, s. 6. If a policy of insurance be effected on such

m. Duty to record ship's draught on leaving port—Leaving foreign port.]—BOARD OF TRADE v. BROWN (1880), 13 R. (Ct. of Sess.) (J.), 58; 23 Sc. L. R. 638.—SCOT a ship, it is not incumbent on the assured to communicate to the underwriter, at the time of making the policy, the circumstance of her being foreign built.—LONG v. DUFF, LONG v. BOLTON (1800), 2 Bos. & P. 209; 126 E. R. 1240.

Annotation :—Mentd. Campbell v. Innes (1821), 4 B. & Ald. 426.

Recovery of payments by insurer—If ship sails with convoy & arrives.]—See INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 301, 302, Nos. 2474-2481.

---

SECT. 4.—DEVIATION AND DELAY.

Deviation.]—See Part VII., Sect. 6, sub-sect. 2, C. (a), post.

Delay.]—See Part VII., Sect. 6, sub-sect. 2, C. (b), post.

---

SECT. 5.—PROTESTS.

See, generally, ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 199 et seq.

1622. Admissibility in evidence—To contradict captain's evidence.]—The protest is of itself evidence only to contradict the captain's evidence; not to show a variance between it & the condemnation.—CHRISTIAN v. COOMBE (1796), as reported in 2 Esp. 489; 170 E. R. 430.

1623. —— In action on insurance policy.]—Pltf.'s agent showed deft., an underwriter, the captain's protest containing an account of the loss of the ship insured, demanding payment :—Held : this did not entitle deft. to read the protest in evidence in an action on the policy.—SENAT v. PORTER (1797), 7 Term Rep. 158; 101 E. R. 908.

1624. —— In collision action.]—In a cause of collision the protest of the master of a foreign vessel, which being in distress was in tow by the vessel run foul of, in res alios acta, & not admissible evidence where no necessity exists.

The smack was performing a very useful service to a foreign vessel, & in the performance of that service was run down & destroyed. If the effect of that collision had been to destroy the persons on board the smack, it would be a reason for admitting evidence not strictly & technically legal; but none of the crew were lost; all survived, all are capable of being witnesses (LORD STOWELL).—THE BETSY CAINES (1826), 2 Hag. Adm. 28; 166 E. R. 154.

Annotations :—Mentd. The Argentino (1888), 13 P. D. 191; Remorquage à Hélice Soc. Anon. de v. Bennetts, [1911] 1 K. B. 243.

1625. —— ——.]—THE OSMANLI (1850), 7 Notes of Cases, 507; sub nom. THE CAPE PACKET, 7 L. T. 866.

1626. —— ——.]—THE JAMES MCQUEEN (1855), 7 L. T. 866; 4 W. R. 91.

1627. Production of protests—In salvage cases.]—Rule laid down by the ct. respecting the production of protests, viz. that in all cases of salvage they ought to be brought in.—THE EMMA (1844), 2 Wm. Rob. 315; 3 Notes of Cases, 114; 4 L. T. O. S. 17; 166 E. R. 774.

Annotations :—Apld. The Ljubica (1870), 23 L. T. 474. Mentd. The Longford (1881), 6 P. D. 60.

1628. Effect of protest—In salvage cases—Check upon statements made on behalf of salvaged vessel.]—In salvage cases, the protest operates as a check upon the statements made on behalf of the vessel to which assistance has been given; but it cannot be referred to as containing a full statement of all the facts as they relate to the salvors.—THE DIAMOND (1845), 9 Jur. 694.

1629. —— ——.]—Protest is of great importance in salvage, but not in collision, cases.—THE ALIWAL (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 96; 18 Jur. 296; 164 E. R. 55; sub nom. THE ANN MOORE v. THE ALIWAL, 7 L. T. 866.

Annotations :—Mentd. The James (1856), Sw. 60; Lawson v. Carr, The James (1856), 10 Moo. P. C. C. 162.

1630. —— In collision cases.]—THE ALIWAL, No. 1629, ante.

1631. East coast coal trade—Whether customary to extend protest.]—THE DOROTHEA ELIZABETH (1849), 7 L. T. 866.

1632. Importance of protest.]—The "protest" is always an important document.—THE HEDWIG (1853), 1 Ecc. & Ad. 19; 164 E. R. 11; sub nom. THE HÆDWIG, 17 Jur. 977.

Annotation :—Mentd. The Racer (1874), 30 L. T. 904.

1633. ——.]—THE JAMES MCQUEEN (1855), 7 L. T. 866; 4 W. R. 91.

1634. When protest should be made.]—THE OSMANLI (1850), 7 Notes of Cases, 507; sub nom. THE CAPE PACKET, 7 L. T. 866.

1635. Omissions in protest—Damage to goods—Liability of shipowners to owners of goods.]—In a cause for damage to goods :—Held : the omission by the master of certain particulars in his protest is not a breach of duty or contract on the part of the shipowner or his servants so as to give the owner of the damaged goods a right of action, even if such omission had been made from improper motives.—THE SANTA ANNA (1863), 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 198; 9 Jur. N. S. 1205.

Annotation :—Refd. The Princess Royal (1870), L. R. 3 A. & E. 41.

---

Part VII.—Carriage of Goods.

SECT. 1.—THE CONTRACT OF CARRIAGE.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

1636. Terms of the contract—Representation made in handbills.]—If a ship is put up at the Royal Exchange & at the coffee house by the ship's broker, as a general ship warranted to sail with convoy, & handbills are put about to the same effect, this is such a representation as shall bind the principal.—RUNQUIST v. DITCHELL (1799), 3 Esp. 64; 170 E. R. 539; sub nom. RINQUIST v. DITCHELL, 2 Camp. 555, n., N. P.

Annotations :—Consd. Sanderson v. Busher (1814), 4 Camp. 54, n. Refd. Baldry v. Bates (1885), 52 L. T. 620.

1637. —— ——.]—Defts., owners of a steam vessel plying between Bristol & London, issued every month handbills of the times of their vessels sailing, & which contained a notice that they "received goods for shipment on the conditions & agreement only that they are not liable for inward condition, leakage & breakage, & that they would not receive any goods for conveyance by their vessels except upon the terms that they should not be responsible for any loss or damage of or to such goods from any cause whatever during the voyage." On Mar. 8, pltfs., who had received these handbills, shipped on board one of n. Terms of the contract—Conditions in sailing bills—Referred to in consignment notes.]—SPENCE v. LAIRD LINE, LTD. (1915), 49 I. L. T. 193.—IR.

Sect. 1.—The contract of carriage: Sub-sects. 1 & 2, A. (a) & (b), & B.] defts.' vessels two casks of brandy to be carried to Falmouth. On Mar. 11, the shipping broker delivered to pltfs. a freight note, at the foot of which was a notice that defts. did not hold themselves liable for leakage of oils, spirits or other liquids, unless from bad stowage. In the course of the voyage one of the casks of brandy was stayed in & nearly all its contents lost:—Held: the notice in the handbills constituted the terms of the contract under which the goods were shipped, & those terms were not qualified by the notice at the foot of the freight note, & consequently defts. were not responsible.—PHILLIPS v. EDWARDS (1858), 3 H. & N. 813; 28 L. J. Ex. 52; 32 L. T. O. S. 147; 157 E. R. 696.

Annotation:—Refd. John v. Bacon (1870), 39 L. J. C. P. 365.

1638. —— Representation in advertisement—Duty to give notice of alteration.]—A general ship having been advertised for a particular voyage, if her destination is in any respect altered, the owner is bound to give specific notice of the alteration to every person who ships goods on board.—PEEL v. PRICE (1815), 4 Camp. 243; 171 E. R. 77.

1639. —— —— Whether shipbroker liable as principal.]—Shipbrokers, not being owners of the particular ship, though they were of others, having issued advertisements & tickets, announcing the times of sailing, & describing the ships as their "line"; evidence being given that if they were owners the announcements would be in the same form, but that it was a form always used by brokers:—Held: it was for the jury, on the whole evidence, whether they had held themselves out as owners, or had acted only as agents.—SIMPSON v. YOUNG (1861), 2 F. & F. 426, N. P.

1640. —— Freight notes.]—Pltf. shipped goods for transit from London to Goole in a ship belonging to defts., & the goods were lost by reason of negligent navigation. It had been a common practice of defts. to stamp upon the advice notes for goods shipped by pltf. a notice stating that "the terms on which goods are accepted are those of the Continental bill of lading in use in this port," but this notice did not appear upon the advice notes given in this case. On the freight notes delivered by defts. to pltf. there was a statement that "bills of lading in the form of the Continental steam bill of lading, will be given when required," but pltf. never required or received a bill of lading. In the Continental bill of lading negligence of owners' servants was excepted:—Held: defts. were exempted from liability for negligence.—LIPTON v. JESCOTT STEAMERS (1895), 11 T. L. R. 539; 1 Com. Cas. 32, C. A.

1641. Carriage of goods destined for alien enemy—Without knowledge or consent of shippers—Breach of duty of shipowner.]—DUNN v. BUCKNALL, BROTHERS, DUNN v. CURRIE (DONALD) & CO., No. 2552, post.

1642. Declaration as to whether contract binding—When parties entitled thereto.]—Where sufficient reason is shown, parties to a mercantile contract are entitled to ask the ct. for a declaration whether they are bound by the contract or not. Therefore where a contract, if it had been binding, would have continued in force for a year & a half & the breach of it would have involved pltfs. in heavy damages, the ct. in an action brought by them claiming a declaration that they were not bound to perform the contract granted the declaration as prayed.—SOCIÉTÉ MARITIME ET COMMERCIALE v. VENUS STEAM SHIPPING CO., LTD. (1904), 9 Com. Cas. 289.

Annotations:—Refd. Chapman v. Michaelson, [1908] 2 Ch. 612; Guaranty Trust of New York v. Hannay, [1915] 2 K. B. 536; Hulton v. Hulton, [1916] 2 K. B. 642; Re Clay, Clay v. Booth, Re Deed of Indemnity, [1919] 1 Ch. 66; Consorzio Veneziano di Armamento e Navigazione v. Northumberland Shipbuilding Co. (1919), 88 L. J. K. B. 1194.

Charterparty.]—See Sect. 2, post.

Bills of lading.]—See Sect. 3, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 2.—CONDITIONS PRECEDENT.

A. What are Conditions Precedent.

(a) In General.

See, generally, CONTRACT, Vol. XII., pp. 409 et seq.

1643. Question for court—Determined on facts found by jury.]—BEHN v. BURNESS, No. 1840, post.

1644. —— ——.]—OPPENHEIM v. FRASER, No. 1842, post.

1645. Must go to root of contract.]—DAVIDSON v. GWYNNE, No. 1882, post.

1646. Depends on intention of parties.]—Pltf., as captain of a South Sea whaler, covenanted with defts., that he would proceed to the fishery & procure a cargo of sperm oil, etc., or as great a proportion as might be, under all circumstances, within his power to obtain; would return to London, & at his own cost deliver the cargo, would obey instructions, be frugal of provisions & not dispose of any of them without accounting for the same, & would not smuggle or trade or permit any on board to do so. Defts. covenanted on the performance of the before-mentioned terms & conditions on the part of pltf. to pay him a certain proportion of the net proceeds of the cargo:—Held: pltf.'s covenants were independent, & the performance of them was not a condition precedent to an action on defts.' covenant.

The question whether covenants are to be held dependent or independent of each other is to be determined by the intention & meaning of the parties as it appears on the instrument (TINDAL, C.J.).—STAVERS v. CURLING (1836), 3 Bing. N. C. 355; 2 Hodg. 237; 3 Scott, 740; 6 L. J. C. P. 41; 132 E. R. 447.

Annotations:—Folld. Oliver v. Fielden (1849), 18 L. J. Ex. 353. Apld. Sibthorp v. Brunel (1849), 3 Exch. 826. Consd. Grey v. Friar (1854), 4 H. L. Cas. 565; Seeger v. Duthie (1860), 8 C. B. N. S. 45. Expld. Bastin v. Bidwell (1881), 18 Ch. D. 238. Apld. Kidner v. Stimpson (1918), 35 T. L. R. 63. Refd. Fishmongers' Co. v. Robertson (1843), 5 Man. & G. 131; Newson v. Smythies (1858), 28 L. J. Ex. 97; Bradford v. Williams (1872), 41 L. J. Ex. 164; Richardson v. Stanton, Stanton v. Richardson (1872), 41 L. J. C. P. 180. Mentd. Parkin v. South Hetton Coal Co. (1907), 97 L. T. 98.

1647. ——.]—TARRABOCHIA v. HICKIE, No. 1836, post.

1648. ——.]—(1) What is or is not a condition precedent, depends, not on merely technical words, but on the plain intention of the parties, to be deduced from the whole instrument.

A. entered into a contract with B., by which A. was "forthwith" to bring a vessel alongside a particular wharf, & within seven days of his doing so, B. was to pay a sum of £1,000; a further sum of £2,000 in twenty-one days afterwards; & another sum of £2,000 on the ship arriving at the Nore. Certain penalties were to be payable by A. for non-performance of specified acts. There were several other stipulations, & after all came a covenant by which "for the true performance of the covenants by A. hereinbefore contained, & for securing any penalties which he might incur under these presents, A. & two responsible sureties were "within ten days from the execution of these presents," to execute a bond to B. in the penal sum of £5,000." There was a covenant in exactly similar terms on the part of B. The giving of the bond was not to prejudice their mutual rights & liabilities under the agreement:—Held: the covenant to give the bonds was a condition precedent, so that on B.'s refusal to allow A. to ship the cable, A., who had not given his bond, could not maintain an action for damages in respect of such refusal.

(2) The covenants to give the bonds were not mutual & dependent; the fulfilment of his own engagement by each was a necessary preliminary to his right to recover on the contract.

(3) "Forthwith," in this contract, meant a reasonable time.

If the ship had been brought alongside on the day after the execution of the contract, & if the £1,000 had thereon been paid, A. would not have been thereby exempted from the obligation to give his bond within the ten days.—ROBERTS v. BRETT (1865), 11 H. L. Cas. 337; 20 C. B. N. S. 148; 34 L. J. C. P. 241; 12 L. T. 286; 11 Jur. N. S. 377; 13 W. R. 587; 2 Mar. L. C. 226; 11 E. R. 1363, H. L.

Annotation:—As to (3) Consd. Hudson v. Hill (1874), 43 L. J. C. P. 273.

1649. ——.]—FOREST OAK STEAM SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. RICHARD & CO., No. 1861, post.

1650. Where breach would frustrate object of contract.]—TARRABOCHIA v. HICKIE, No. 1836, post.

1651. ——.]—A charterparty provided that the ship should load a full & complete cargo of sugar in bags, hemp in compressed bales, &/or measurement goods. It likewise specified different rates of freight for dry & wet sugar. A cargo of wet sugar was provided for her by the charterer. A great deal of moisture drains from wet sugar, & when the cargo had been nearly all shipped it was found that there was such an accumulation of molasses in the hold, the result of drainage from the sugar, that the ship would not be seaworthy for the voyage if she proceeded in her then condition. Owing to the nature of the material & the depth of the hold, the ship's pumps were unable to clear the ship of the drainage from the sugar. The ship was perfectly seaworthy, except with respect to this particular cargo, & the pumps were quite sufficient for all ordinary purposes. The sugar had to be unloaded again, & the charterer then refused to reload it or to provide any other cargo. Cross actions were brought, the one by the shipowner against the charterer for refusing to provide a cargo, & the other by the charterer against the shipowner to recover damages by reason of the ship not being fit to carry the cargo provided for her. At the trial the jury found that the cargo of sugar which was offered was a reasonable cargo to be offered; that the ship was not reasonably fit to carry a reasonable cargo of wet sugar; that the ship could not have been made fit within such a time as would not have frustrated the object of the adventure; & that the ship would not, without new pumps & with a reasonable cargo of wet sugar on board, have been seaworthy:—Held: the shipowner by entering into the charterparty undertook that the ship should be reasonably fit for the carriage of a reasonable cargo of any of the kinds of goods specified in the charterparty & consequently of a reasonable cargo of wet sugar, & upon the findings of the jury she was not so fit & could not be made so in such a time as not to frustrate the object of the voyage the charterer was entitled to succeed in both actions.

I apprehend that a stipulation amounting to a condition is necessarily also a warranty, & there may be circumstances preventing its being treated as a condition, & then it is only available as a warranty as, for instance, when the stipulation is that the ship shall be ready to load within a fixed time, or a reasonable time, & the cargo is loaded & carried; though before loading this might be a condition precedent, inasmuch as the charterer has loaded & derived benefit from the charter, he cannot rely on it as a condition, but must treat it as a warranty (BRETT, J.).—STANTON v. RICHARDSON, RICHARDSON v. STANTON (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 421; 41 L. J. C. P. 180; 27 L. T. 513; 21 W. R. 71; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 449; affd. (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 390, Ex. Ch.; (1875), 45 L. J. Q. B. 78, H. L.

Annotations:—Refd. Kopitoff v. Wilson (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 377; The Maori King v. Hughes, [1895] 2 Q. B. 550; Queensland National Bank v. Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Co., [1898] 1 Q. B. 567; Rowson v. Atlantic Transport Co. (1902), 72 L. J. K. B. 87; Rathbone v. MacIver, [1903] 2 K. B. 378; Paterson Zochonis v. Elder Dempster, [1923] 1 K. B. 420.

1652. Right to insist on performance.]—CENTURY SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. SYMONS & CO. (1904), Times, Mar. 17, C. A.

(b) Particular Instances.

1653. Condition for holding of court martial—In case of loss of ship.]—Covenant on a charterparty, whereby, if the ship should be lost, burnt, or taken, & it should appear to a court martial that the master, etc., had made the best defence they could, the freighters covenanted to pay the value of the ship. The holding of a court martial is a condition precedent.—DAVISON v. MURE (1781), 3 Doug. K. B. 28; 99 E. R. 522.

1654. Covenant by master to procure cargo—Where condition precedent to recovery of share of proceeds.]—STAVERS v. CURLING, No. 1646, ante.

1655. Condition for execution of bond.]—ROBERTS v. BRETT, No. 1648, ante.

Conditions as to ship.]—See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 6, post.

Conditions as to voyage.]—See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 7, post.

Conditions as to cargo.]—See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 8, post.

Conditions as to freight.]—See Part VIII., post.

Conditions as to loading.]—See Sect. 5, post.

Conditions as to unloading.]—See Sect. 7, post.

B. Waiver of Conditions.

1656. What amounts to waiver—Part performance by charterer.]—Assumpsit on charterparty, by which deft. hired a ship from pltfs. to go to Cronstadt, & there take a full cargo of tallow, or of tallow & deals, etc., & proceed thence to London, allowance for laying days & demurrage, averment that the ship went to Cronstadt, breaches, that deft. did not load a cargo as agreed, but shipped deals only & no tallow, & that he detained the ship beyond the time stipulated, whereby pltfs. earned less freight than they otherwise would, & lost the use of the ship during the extra time of detention. Plea, that, at the time of making the charterparty, pltfs. represented to deft. that the ship was at Wyburg in Russia, & deft. entered into the charterparty confiding in such representation, whereas,

o. Condition to take on passengers after discharge of part of cargo.]—GARRICK v. BRADSHAW (1846), 10 I. L. R. 129.—IR.

Sect. 1.—The contract of carriage: Sub-sect. 2, B.; sub-sect. 3, A., B. & C. (a).]

at the time, etc., the ship was not at Wyburg. Replication, that, at the time of making the charterparty, & of the said representation, pltfs. also represented to deft., & it was mentioned in the charterparty, that the ship was bound on a voyage from Wyburg to Hull, & pltfs. did then believe that she was at Wyburg, & about to sail to Hull; & in fact she had just sailed on her voyage from Wyburg to Hull. Rejoinder, that the representation mentioned in the plea was contained in the charterparty, & was parcel thereof, & of the contract thereby made; & that the ship was not, at the time of the making of the charterparty, at Wyburg. On special demurrer:—Held: the mere representation, as alleged in the plea, was no answer to the declaration, & the rejoinder, if it alleged a warranty, was a departure.—ELLIOT v. VON GLEHN (1849), 13 Q. B. 632; 18 L. J. Q. B. 221; 13 L. T. O. S. 117; 116 E. R. 1404.

Annotations:—Refd. Dimech v. Corlett (1859), 33 L. T. O. S. 21; Behn v. Burness (1863), 3 B. & S. 751.

1657. —— User by charterer.]—HAVELOCK v. GEDDES, No. 1834, post.

1658. —— ——.]—STANTON v. RICHARDSON, RICHARDSON v. STANTON, No. 1651, ante.

1659. —— ——.]—Resps., pltfs., in the action, chartered from applts. a steamer which at the date of the charterparty was in fact unseaworthy. The charter was a time charter for nine months from Dec. 19, 1919. The steamer although unseaworthy performed the chartered service satisfactorily for several weeks, but owing to her unseaworthiness she was unable to render any further service after Mar. 8, 1920. Resps. waited until May to give applts. an opportunity of making the steamer efficient, & as applt. failed to make her efficient, resps. on May 22 cancelled the charter. They then brought an action against applts. for breach of their undertaking as shipowners, & the judge before whom the action was tried granted resps. a declaration that the steamer was unseaworthy, & a declaration that applts. had failed to maintain her in an efficient state; & he held that resps. were justified in cancelling the charter. He directed an inquiry before a referee as to damages, & indicated that the damages should be ascertained by treating the charter as one entire contract & estimating the sum which might reasonably be earned under it & deducting from that the freight actually earned while the steamer was able to do its work:—Held: the steamer was unseaworthy & resps. were justified in cancelling the charter; but as regards damages, resps. had had the use of the steamer up to Mar. 8, & therefore must pay hire, & could not recover any damages, for that period; for the period from Mar. 8 until the cancellation on May 22 resps. could recover hire which they had paid in advance for that period, & any expenses which they had incurred in respect of that period, & could also recover the ordinary profits which could have been made if they had had the use of the ship. As to the third period, from the cancellation on May 22 to the end of the charter, resps. were bound to take reasonable steps to minimise the damages.—SNIA SOCIETA DI NAVIGAZIONE INDUSTRIA E COMMERCIO v. SUZUKI & CO. (1924), 29 Com. Cas. 284, C. A.

1660. —— Condition not insisted on before time for performance.]—CENTURY SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. SYMONS & CO. (1904), Times, Mar. 17, C. A.

1661. Effect of waiver—Right to damages.]—HAVELOCK v. GEDDES, No. 1834, post.

1662. —— ——.]—BENTSEN v. TAYLOR, SONS & CO. (2), No. 1843, post.

1663. —— ——.]—CENTURY SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. SYMONS & CO. (1904), Times, Mar. 17, C. A.

---

SUB-SECT. 3.—CONSTRUCTION.

A. In General.

See, generally, DEEDS, Vol. XVII., pp. 242 et seq.

1664. Outward cargo to Bombay—Return cargo either from Bombay or Calcutta—Whether cargo from Bombay to Calcutta included.] — Charterparty to take a cargo to Bombay, there to receive a fresh load with which to proceed to a port in the Thames, the merchant having the privilege on payment of an extra freight to send the ship from Bombay to Calcutta. This held not to include a contract that a cargo be taken from Bombay to Calcutta, & another cargo from Calcutta to the Thames.—COCKBURN v. WRIGHT (1840), 6 Bing. N. C. 223; 8 Dowl. 260; 8 Scott, 489; 9 L. J. C. P. 166; 4 Jur. 293; 133 E. R. 88; sub nom. THE BENGAL, COCKBURN v. WRIGHT, 4 L. T. 656.

1665. Charterparty relating to several consignments—Separate contracts—Effect of abandonment of some.]—A contract made in Apr. 1913, between applt. co. who were shipowners, & resps., provided for the carriage of six consignments of phosphates from a named port in America to a named port in France at dates ranging from Mar. 1918, to Nov. 1920. The contract was in the ordinary form of a charterparty for carriage from the port of loading to the port of discharge, with a note on the back that it applied to the six parcels with their several dates. The rate of freight was the same throughout, but there was not a lump sum freight for the six voyages. The first three voyages were abandoned by consent in consequence of the war between France & Germany:—Held: the contract dealt with six distinct & separate adventures, & the fact that three of them had been abandoned by consent did not disentitle the charterers from insisting on the performance of the remaining three.—LARRINAGA & CO. v. SOCIÉTÉ FRANCO-AMERICAINE DES PHOSPHATES DE MEDULLA (1923), 92 L. J. K. B. 455; 129 L. T. 65; 39 T. L. R. 316; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 133; 29 Com. Cas. 1, H. L.

Annotation:—Refd. Hirji Mulji v. Cheong Yue S.S. Co., [1926] A. C. 497.

1666. Provision in charterparty for cancellation—If survey ordered by Lloyds.]—By a charterparty dated May 17, 1920, applts., owners of a Danish steamship, the Ribe, let her on hire to resps. In a charterparty the vessel was described as "expected ready to load under this charter about the second half of June," & in the margin was a clause which provided as follows:—"Should steamer be ordered by Lloyds to undergo her survey prior to fulfilment of this charter, charterers &/or owners to have the option of cancelling this charter." The Ribe would in the ordinary course have been due for survey in Feb. 1919, but owing to the shortage of tonnage caused by the war Lloyds regulations as to surveys had been relaxed. In Apr. 1920, the Ribe was at Bordeaux, & applts. arranged with Lloyds surveyors there that the survey should be carried out when the vessel arrived in Denmark. On May 20, 1920, before beginning the chartered service the Ribe grounded in the Baltic & was sent to Aalborg, in Denmark, for repairs. The repairs occupied two months, & while they were being executed applts., without further communication from Lloyds took the opportunity of having the survey carried out. On June 14, 1920, resps. gave notice of cancellation on the ground of delay, & on June 16, 1920, they gave a further notice of cancellation on the ground that the Ribe had been ordered by Lloyds to undergo her survey. Applts. brought an action against resps. for breach of the charterparty:—Held: the steamer had been ordered by Lloyds to undergo her survey within the meaning of the clause in the charterparty, & resps. were entitled to cancel the charter.—ACTIES NORD-OSTERSO REDERIET v. CASPER, EDGAR & CO., LTD. (1923), 28 Com. Cas. 222, H. L.

B. Functions of Judge and Jury.

See, generally, DEEDS, Vol. XVII., pp. 243–246, Nos. 576–611.

1667. General rule.]—BENTSEN v. TAYLOR, SONS & CO. (2), No. 1843, post.

1668. Contracts by agents—Whether contract to ship direct or to port of call for orders—Question for jury.]—Defts., having bought wheat of pltfs., chartered a vessel to fetch it. The charterparty contained an option to call at Cork or Falmouth for orders, or to go to Bristol direct. As the vessel did not arrive out in time, pltfs. themselves chartered a vessel to Bristol direct:—Held: whether pltfs. had authority to charter to Bristol direct, or not, was a question of fact which ought to be found by the jury.—CHAPMAN v. ADAMS (1863), 2 New Rep. 243.

1669. What is "safe loading place"—Right of judge to give opinion.]—SMITH v. DART & SON, No. 1875, post.

What is "condition precedent."]—See Sect. 1, sub-sect. 2, ante.

C. Rules of Construction.

(a) In General.

See, generally, DEEDS, Vol. XVII., pp. 246–302, Nos. 612–1143.

1670. Construed according to intention of parties.]—CONSTABLE v. CLOBERIE (1625), Palm. 397; Poph. 161; Lat. 49; 81 E. R. 1141; sub nom. CONUSTABLE v. CLOWBURY, Noy, 75.

Annotations:—Consd. Hall v. Cazenove (1804), 4 East, 477. Distd. Glaholm v. Hays (1841), 2 Man. & G. 257; Oliver v. Fielden (1849), 4 Exch. 135. Reld. Balls & Griffith v. Briard (1628), Lat. 225; Havelock v. Geddes (1809), 10 East, 555; Davidson v. Gwynne (1810), 12 East, 381; Croockewit v. Fletcher (1857), 1 H. & N. 893; Seeger v. Duthie (1860), 8 C. B. N. S. 45; Stanton v. Richardson, Richardson v. Stanton (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 421. Mentd. Wynne v. Wynne (1840), 2 Man. & G. 8.

1671. ——.]—DIMECH v. CORLETT, No. 1858, post.

1672. ——.]—BEHN v. BURNESS, No. 1840, post.

1673. ——.]—By a charterparty, it was stipulated by the charterer & the master, that the vessel should load an outward cargo, proceed to Rangoon, a river port in India, & there load a homeward cargo. The master guaranteed the vessel to carry 3,000 tons dead weight upon a draught of 26 feet; to return to one of the ports mentioned in the charterparty at the charterer's option & there to discharge the cargo. Freight was to be paid in a lump sum, part in advance before sailing from England, part on the voyage, & on arrival at return of port of delivery, & the remainder on the final delivery of the cargo.

The vessel loaded at Rangoon a quantity of rice, as much as she could carry down the river Irrawaddy, but which amounted to less than 3,000 tons dead weight. In consequence of the negligence of a pilot, taken on board by the master, the vessel grounded in that river. She was got off, but afterwards at sea sprang a leak, & to save the vessel, part of the cargo was thrown overboard, & other damaged portions were sold at Mauritius, a port she stopped at to repair on her homeward voyage, where the remaining portion was reshipped. When the vessel arrived at Liverpool, a port of discharge mentioned in the charterparty, the master claimed a sum of money as lump freight, larger than was really due, as well as a sum for general average contribution, & without going the length of refusing to deliver any, he insisted upon keeping in his possession a part of the cargo to cover his demand for freight he considered due. A tender was made by the assignee of the bill of lading of the amount considered by him due, & he undertook to give security for the remainder. The master refused this offer, & took the vessel into a dock, other than that named by the charterer, & the cargo of rice was unladen without assortment, as was customary. In these circumstances the assignee of the bill of lading brought a suit in rem, pursuant to Admiralty Court Act, 1861 (c. 10), in the Admiralty Ct., against the vessel for damages in respect of breaches of contract & duty:—Held: (1) as both parties contemplated that a cargo might be laden in a river, the guarantee that the vessel would carry 3,000 tons dead weight, in a draught of 26 feet, applied alike to fresh & salt water, & there was a breach of contract; (2) with respect to the cargo jettisoned, & the damaged rice sold in Mauritius in the absence of pltf. proving affirmatively the negligence of the pilot, or the want of prudence on the part of the master, there ought to be no deduction from the lump freight, on account of non-delivery, as it arose from the perils of the sea; (3) the demand by the master of a larger sum than was due, & the refusal by him to deliver the cargo was so made that it amounted to an announcement by him that it would be useless to tender any smaller sum, for if tendered it would be refused, & such refusal constituted a constructive waiver of any tender; & a preemptory claim for general average came within the rule as to dispensation of tender; (4) the master was not liable for damages for the non-assortment of the cargo, as the assignee could by complying with the terms of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 63, sect. 67, have landed the rice himself; (5) in estimating the damages for non-delivery of the cargo, the assignee was entitled under the provisions of Admiralty Act, 1861 (c. 10), to be indemnified for the loss of interest for the wrongful withholding of the cargo, & for insurance & interest.

(6) The holder of a bill of lading, comprising the whole cargo, has by custom a right to deduct "Address commission" from the freight.—THE NORWAY (OWNERS) v. ASHBURNER, THE NORWAY (1865), 3 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 245; Brown. & Lush. 404; 13 L. T. 50; 11 Jur. N. S. 892; 13 W. R. 1085; 2 Mar. L. C. 254; 16 E. R. 92, P. C.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. The Figlia Maggiore (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 106. Apld. Merchant Shipping Co. v. Armitage (1873), L. R. 9 Q. B. 99; Robinson v. Knights (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 465. Consd. The Ettrick (1881),

---

PART VII. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 3.—B.

p. "Deck load to be at risk of owners"—Question for court.]—Where a bill of lading stated that the deck load was to be at the risk of the owners:—Held: the construction of the bill was for the ct., not the jury, & the risk was to be that of the owners of the goods, not the owner of the vessel. —MERRITT v. IVES (1840), 3 Ont. Dig. 6444.—CAN.

Sect. 1.—The contract of carriage: Sub-sect. 3, C.

6 P. D. 127; The Xantho (1886), 11 P. D. 170; Harrowing S.S. Co. v. Thomas, [1913] 2 K. B. 171. Reld. Blanchet v. Powell's Llantivit Colliery Co. (1874), 43 L. J. Ex. 50; Pirie v. Middle Dock Co. (1881), 44 L. T. 426; Williams v. Canton Insurance Office, [1901] A. C. 462; London Transport Co. v. Trechmann, [1904] 1 K. B. 635. As to (3) Reld. Campbell v. Commercial Banking Co. of Sydney, Commercial Banking Co. of Sydney v. Campbell (1879), 40 L. T. 137; Huth v. Lamport (1886), 16 Q. B. D. 735. Generally, Reld. The Felix (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 273; The Princess Royal (1870), L. R. 3 A. & E. 41; The Madge Wildfire, Simpson v. Blues (1872), 41 L. J. C. P. 121.

1674. Construed according to plain meaning—To men of sense & understanding.]—CROOCKEWIT v. FLETCHER, No. 1870, post.

1675. —— To fair & reasonable men.]—DAHL v. NELSON, DONKIN & Co., No. 3471, post.

1676. Ambiguous words—Construed in favour of shipper—Exceptions for benefit of shipowner.]—TAYLOR v. LIVERPOOL & GREAT WESTERN STEAM CO., No. 2638, post.

1677. Application of maxim expressio unius exclusio alterius.]—WADE & SONS CO., LTD. v. COCKERLINE & Co., No. 2730, post.

(b) Application of ejusdem generis Rule.

See, generally, DEEDS, Vol. XVII., pp. 273–276, Nos. 882–903.

1678. Application to exempted causes of damage—"Or otherwise."]—A bill of lading contained the following amongst other, exemptions from the shipowner's liability for injury to cargo: "Negligence or default of pilot, master, mariners, engineers, or other persons in the service of the ship, whether in navigating the ship or otherwise, loss or damage arising from rain, storage or contact with other goods being excepted, & the ship not being liable for any consequence of the causes herein excepted, however caused or originated." The shipper's goods, after being placed on board, were injured by reason of persons, for whose acts the shipowner was responsible, negligently exposing them to rain & contact with other wet goods:—Held: the words "or otherwise" in the bill of lading referred to negligence in bringing about excepted loss or damage other than loss or damage caused in negligently navigating the ship, & the shipowner was not liable.—NORMAN v. BINNINGTON (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 475; 59 L. J. Q. B. 490; 63 L. T. 108; 6 T. L. R. 418; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 528, D. C.

Annotations:—Consd. De Clermont & Donner v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1891), 7 T. L. R. 187. Dbtd. Baerselman v. Bailey, [1895] 2 Q. B. 301. Reld. S.S. Knutsford v. Tillmanns (1908), 99 L. T. 399.

1679. —— ——.]—BAERSELMAN v. BAILEY, No. 2703, post.

1680. Application to exempted causes of delay—"Other causes beyond charterer's control."]—A ship was chartered to proceed to Batoum, & there load with oil from a named factory, & at a specified rate per day. The charterparty excepted among other things "strikes, lock outs accidents to railway" & also "other causes beyond charterer's control." Oil is brought to Batoum by a railway which was injured by floods so that no oil could be sent down & the workmen of the factory were discharged, there being no employment for them. Subsequently to the arrival of the ship in port the railway was repaired, & oil arrived in sufficient quantity to load her; but there was delay in doing so because the workmen who had been discharged could not be got together in sufficient numbers, & such men as were there were employed in loading other vessels according to the order of their arrival, as was the practice of shippers at that port. On a claim for damages for detention of the ship:—Held: the general clause excepting "other causes beyond charterer's control" referred to matters ejusdem generis with the antecedent exceptions & the delay in loading the ship after the arrival of the oil could not be attributed to accident to the railway, or to anything ejusdem generis with a lock out which was confined to the dismissal of workmen arising out of a trade dispute.—Re RICHARDSONS & SAMUEL (M.) & Co., [1898] 1 Q. B. 261; 66 L. J. Q. B. 868; 77 L. T. 479; 14 T. L. R. 5; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 330; 3 Com. Cas. 79, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Re Allison & Richards (1903), 20 T. L. R. 29; S.S. Knutsford v. Tillmanns (1908), 99 L. T. 399. Apld. Thorman v. Dowgate S.S. Co., [1910] 1 K. B. 410. Consd. S.S. Magnhild v. McIntyre, [1920] 3 K. B. 321; Ambatielos v. Anton Jurgens Margarine Works, [1922] 2 K. B. 185. Reld. The Torbryan (1903), 9 Com. Cas. 1; Herman v. Morris (1919), 35 T. L. R. 574; Jones v. Oceanic Steam Navigation Co., [1924] 2 K. B. 730; Bunge y Born Co. v. Brightman, [1925] A. C. 799.

1681. —— ——.] — Re ALLISON & Co. & RICHARDS (1904), 20 T. L. R. 584, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Ambatielos v. Anton Jurgens Margarine Works, [1922] 2 K. B. 185.

1682. —— —— "Whatsoever."] — By a charterparty the parties exempted each other from all liability arising from "frosts, floods, strikes . . . & any other unavoidable accidents or hindrances of what kind soever beyond their control delaying the loading of the cargo":—Held: upon the natural & true construction of the clause, the parties, by inserting the words "of what kind soever," intended to exclude the doctrine or rule of ejusdem generis, & the charterers were not liable for delay in loading caused by a block of other ships at the loading port.

"I hope nothing will be deduced from our decision to-day which shakes the soundness of what is called the ejusdem generis system of construction, because it seems to me that both in law, & also as matter of literary criticism, it is perfectly sound—that is to say, that where there are specific specimens given of what are intended, a deduction is to be made from them applicable to other matters. I base my judgment solely upon this: the parties, I think, have realised, or at least may well be held to have realised, the applicability of that rule to such contracts & they insert these words "of what kind soever" simply for the purpose of excluding (LORD ROBERTSON). —LARSEN v. SYLVESTER & Co., [1908] A. C. 295; 77 L. J. K. B. 993; 99 L. T. 94; 24 T. L. R. 640; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 78; 13 Com. Cas. 328, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Leonis S.S. Co. v. Rank (1908), 99 L. T. 513. Distd. Thorman v. Dowgate S.S. Co., [1910] 1 K. B. 410. Apld. France, Fenwick v. Spackman (1912), 108 L. T. 371. Consd. S.S. Magnhild v. McIntyre, [1920] 3 K. B. 321. Reld. Ite Layard, Layard v. Bessborough (1915), 85 L. J. Ch. 505; Herman v. Morris (1919), 35 T. L. R. 574; Diamond Alkali Export Corpn. v. Fl. Bourgeois, [1921] 3 K. B. 443; Jones v. Oceanic Steam Navigation Co., [1924] 2 K. B. 730. Mentd. Pallin v. Northern Employers' Mutual Indemnity Co., [1925] 2 K. B. 73.

1683. —— —— ——.]—FRANCE, FENWICK & Co., LTD. v. SPACKMAN (PHILIP) & SONS, No. 2836, post.

1684. —— —— "Cause or accident."] — A charterparty contained the following clause: "In case of strikes, lock outs, civil commotions, or any other causes or accidents beyond the control of the consignees, which prevent or delay the discharging, such time is not to count unless the steamer is already on demurrage." When the steamer arrived at the port her discharge was delayed on account of shortage of labour in consequence of an outbreak of plague followed by certain sanitary precautions:—Held: the delay was not occasioned by a cause or accident, ejusdem generis with strikes, lock outs, or civil commotions.—MUDIE & Co. v. STRICK (1909), 100 L. T. 701; 25 T. L. R. 453; 53 Sol. Jo. 400; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 235; 14 Com. Cas. 135.

Annotation:—Refd. S.S. Magnhild v. McIntyre (1920), 124 L. T. 160.

1685. —— ——.]—A ship was chartered to proceed to the Alexandra Dock at Hull & there load a cargo of coal in one hundred & twenty hours on conditions of usual colliery guarantee. The colliery guarantee excepted from the loading time Sundays, holidays, strikes, frosts or storms, any accidents stopping the working, leading, or shipping of the cargo, restrictions or suspensions of labour, lock outs, delay on the part of the railway co. either in supplying waggons or leading the coals, "or any other cause beyond the charterer's control." The ship arrived in the dock & gave notice of readiness to load on July 23, but owing to the presence of other vessels which had previously arrived & were waiting to load, the turn of the ship to come under a loading tip was not reached until Aug. 1. On a claim by the owners against the charterer for demurrage:—Held: the lay hours commenced to run on the arrival of the ship in dock; the words "any other cause beyond the charterer's control" must be construed as referring to matters ejusdem generis with the antecedent exceptions; the cause of the delay, namely, the presence of other ships in the dock, was not a matter ejusdem generis with those exceptions, & the charterer was not protected by the exceptions clause & was liable for demurrage.—THORMAN v. DOWGATE S.S. Co., LTD., [1910] 1 K. B. 410; 79 L. J. K. B. 287; 102 L. T. 242; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 481; 15 Com. Cas. 67.

Annotations:—Consd. France, Fenwick v. Spackman (1912), 108 L. T. 371. Apld. Jenkins v. L. Walford (London) (1917), 87 L. J. K. B. 136. Consd. S.S. Magnhild v. McIntyre, [1920] 3 K. B. 321; United States Shipping Board v. Strick, [1926] A. C. 545. Refd. Akt. Frank v. Namaqua Copper Co. (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 36; Jones v. Oceanic Steam Navigation Co., [1924] 2 K. B. 730.

1686. —— ——.]—NORTHFIELD S.S. Co. v. COMPAGNIE L'UNION DES GAZ, No. 3944, post.

1687. —— ——.]—JENKINS v. L. WALFORD (LONDON), LTD., No. 2742, post.

1688. —— ——.]—Defts. chartered a vessel from pltfs. to convey a cargo of coal to Spezia. The charter provided in a printed clause that in case of strikes, lock outs, civil commotion, or any other causes beyond the control of the consignees which should delay discharging such time should not count in the unloading The charter also contained a written clause whereby the charterers guaranteed, notwithstanding congestion caused by the European war, to pay demurrage if a certain number of tons were not discharged per day. The unloading was delayed by congestion owing to the war & the owners brought an action against the charterers for demurrage:—Held: the written clause overruled the printed clause, & even if it did not the rule of ejusdem generis prevented the "other causes" mentioned in the printed clause from including delay caused by too much business, & pltfs. were entitled to recover.—HADJIPATERAS v. WEIGALL (S.) & Co. (1918), 34 T. L. R. 360.

1689. —— —— Meaning of "etcetera."]—A charterparty contained the following clauses: "Cargo to be loaded & discharged in fourteen weather working days reversible. Should the vessel be detained by causes over which the charterers have no control, viz., quarantine, ice, hurricanes, blockade, clearing of the steamer after the last cargo is taken over, etc., no demurrage is to be charged." But for a strike over which the charterers had no control the vessel would have been discharged within the lay days allowed by the charter:—Held: the governing words were "causes over which the charterers have no control," & the causes mentioned were simply enumerated as instances, & as a strike was a cause over which the charterers had no control they were not liable for demurrage in respect of the period of detention caused by the strike.—AMBATIELOS v. ANTON JURGENS MARGARINE WORKS, [1923] A. C. 175; 92 L. J. K. B. 306; 128 L. T. 417; 39 T. L. R. 106; 67 Sol. Jo. 167; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 28; 28 Com. Cas. 285, H. L.

1690. ——.]—By a charterparty the sailing ship Frank, belonging to pltfs., was chartered to defts., in order to load a cargo at Swansea for carriage to Port Nolloth, South Africa. It was provided (inter alia) that the vessel was to be unloaded at an average rate per working day, otherwise charterer to pay demurrage, "except in case of strikes, riots, lockouts, labour disturbances, trade disputes, accidents, or other hindrances beyond charterers' control." Shortly before the arrival of the vessel at Port Nolloth British territory near the port was invaded by the Germans. The Govt. took possession of the port for military purposes; martial law was declared, & all appliances for unloading vessels were under military control, & not available for dealing with vessels carrying commercial cargoes, In an action by the owners claiming damages for demurrage, the charterers contended that they were protected by the terms of the charterparty, as the causes of the demurrage were within the words "accident, or other hindrance beyond charterers' control" in the exception clause:—Held: the demurrage, being due to the conscious & intentional acts of the lawfully authorised officer placed in charge of the port, for the better conduct of the war, was not due to "accident"; by the ejusdem generis rule, the words "or other hindrance" related only to what could be described as accident; & the charterers were not protected.—AKT. FRANK v. NAMAQUA COPPER CO., LTD. (1920), 90 L. J. K. B. 36; 123 L. T. 523; 36 T. L. R. 438; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 20; 25 Com. Cas. 212.

Annotations:—Refd. Akt. General Gordon v. Cape Copper Co. (1921), 26 Com. Cas. 289; Adelaide S.S. Co. v. R. (1924), 93 L. J. K. B. 871.

1691. —— "Or other accident."]—A steamship was chartered for six months at a certain rate of hire per month & was to be employed between safe ports within defined limits. Clause 12 of the charterparty provided that "in the event of loss of time from deficiency of men or owners' stores, breakdown of machinery, or damage to hull or other accident preventing the working of the steamer & lasting more than twenty-four consecutive hours, the hire shall cease from the commencement of such loss of time until she be again in an efficient state to resume her service; but should the steamer be driven into port, or to anchorage by stress of weather, or from any accident to the cargo, or in the event of the steamer trading to shallow harbours, rivers, or ports where there are bars causing detention to the steamer through grounding or otherwise, time so lost & expenses incurred, other than repairs, shall be for charterers' account." During the currency of the charterparty the steamer was ordered to discharge at Marans, which was situated up a river. While proceeding up the river to that port she got aground on soft clay, & remained aground for eight days. She was damaged by the occurrence, & the repairs occupied a substantial time. Marans was a safe port, & there was no bar in the harbour, river, or port. In an arbn. between the owners & charterers the arbitrator awarded that hire ceased (a) during the time the steamer was aground, & (b) during the time occupied while the damage to the steamer consequent upon the grounding was being repaired:—Held: (1) the ejusdem generis rule could not be applied to the words "or other accident" in the first part of clause 12, & those words covered any accident to the steamer preventing her working for more than twenty-four consecutive hours; (2) the words "where there are bars," in the second part of clause 12, which was a qualification of the first part, applied only to "ports," & not to shallow harbours or rivers, & as the grounding which caused the detention took place when the steamer was trading to a river, the time so lost was for charterers' account.—S.S. MAGNHILD v. MCINTYRE BROTHERS & Co., [1921] 2 K. B. 97; 90 L. J. K. B. 527; 124 L. T. 771; 37 T. L. R. 413; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 230; 26 Com. Cas. 185, C. A.

Sect. 1.—The contract of carriage: Sub-sect. 3, C. (b), D. & E.]

Annotation:—As to (1) Apld. Ambatielos v. Anton Jurgens Margarine Works (1922), 38 T. L. R. 294.

1692. Application to exempted causes of non-delivery—"Or any other cause."]—S.S. KNUTSFORD, LTD. v. TILLMANNS & Co., No. 3504, post.

D. Admission of Extrinsic Evidence.

See, generally, DEEDS, Vol. XVII., pp. 302 et seq.

1693. To vary terms of contract—Charterparty under seal—Subsequent parol agreement—When inconsistent with charterparty.]—LESLIE v. DE LA TORRE (1795), cited 12 East, at p. 584; 104 E. R. 228.

Annotations:—Refd. Thomson v. Brown (1817), 1 Moore, C. P. 358; Nash v. Armstrong (1861), 10 C. B. N. S. 259.

1694. —— —— —— ——.]—An obligation by deed cannot be altered but by deed; therefore, in an action of covenant on a charterparty in which pltf. covenanted to sail from London to Gibraltar, & there to deliver an outward cargo, & receive from the agents of deft., as freighter, at Gibraltar, or at Malaga, Cadiz, or Seville, as should be ordered by the agents at Gibraltar, such goods as the agents might load on board for the homeward cargo, & that the vessel should return direct to the port of London, & deliver the homeward cargo, the agents of deft. at Gibraltar, having ordered pltf. to proceed to Cadiz, at which place other agents directed by parol that the homeward cargo should be delivered at Liverpool instead of London:—Held: pltf. having delivered the cargo at Liverpool, & declared in an action of covenant on the charterparty, could not recover the freight, the substitution by parol of Liverpool for London, being inconsistent with the covenant contained in the charterparty.—THOMPSON v. BROWN (1817), 7 Taunt. 656; 1 Moore, C. P. 358; 129 E. R. 261.

Annotations:—Consd. Cordwent v. Hunt (1818), 8 Taunt. 596. Mentd. Sellers v. Bickford (1817), 8 Taunt. 31; West v. Blakeway (1841), 9 Dowl. 846.

1695. —— —— —— When not inconsistent with charterparty.]—Pltfs. having contracted by charterparty sealed to let a ship, then in the Thames, to freight to defts. for eight months, to commence from the day of her sailing from Gravesend, on the voyage there stated, & having covenanted that she should sail from the Thames to any British port in the English Channel, there to load such goods as the freighters should tender, & sail to the West Indies, & bring back a return cargo to London; afterwards agreed by parol with defts. that the ship, instead of loading at some port in the Channel, should load in the Thames, & that the freight should commence from her entry outwards at the custom house:—Held: this subsequent parol contract was distinct from & not inconsistent with the contract by deed, being anterior to it in point of time & execution, & might therefore be enforced by action of assumpsit.—WHITE v. PARKIN (1810), 12 East, 578; 104 E. R. 225.

Annotations:—Refd. Thomson v. Brown (1817), 1 Moore, C. P. 358; Fletcher v. Gillespie (1826), 4 L. J. O. S. C. P. 202. Mentd. Lindley v. Lacey (1864), 13 W. R. 80.

1696. —— Bill of lading.]—LEDUC v. WARD, No. 3172, post.

1697. To construe terms of contract—Meaning of "privilege."]—By the contract between the owners & captain of an India ship the latter is to receive a certain compensation in lieu of privilege & primage; a conversation between the parties previous to the contract is evidence to show in what sense they intended to use the word privilege.—BIRCH v. DEPEYSTER (1816), 4 Camp. 385; 1 Stark. 210; 171 E. R. 449, N. P.

Annotations:—Refd. Luckie v. Bushby (1853), 13 C. B. 864. Mentd. Crampton v. Walker (1860), 3 E. & E. 321.

1698. —— Evidence of broker—As to statement made at time of execution of charterparty.]—If one construction of a charterparty be much in favour of one of the parties, & an opposite construction equally in favour of the other, the evidence of the broker through whom it is entered into, as to what was said at the time of its execution, is of too dangerous a nature to be much relied on.—TAYLOR v. BRIGGS (1827), 2 C. & P. 525; Mood. & M. 28; 172 E. R. 238, N. P.

1699. —— Meaning of "forthwith."]—On a written agreement for the hire of a vessel to be made ready to take on board "forthwith" evidence is inadmissible to show that the parties agreed that the vessel should be ready in two days. But evidence of the known circumstances of the vessel is admissible to show how soon she might reasonably be expected to be ready.—SIMPSON v. HENDERSON (1829), Mood. & M. 300, N. P.

1700. —— Prior charterparty.]—The master of a ship entered into a charterparty with B., by which a lump sum of £240 for freight, & a gratuity of 10 per cent. to himself was to be paid; he afterwards entered into a second charterparty with A., under which freight was to be paid by weight. In the second charterparty no notice was taken of the first, but a memorandum was written at the foot of the second charterparty, signed by the master only, & referring to the sums of £240 & £24 as due for freight & gratuity. A. denied all liability under the first charterparty & memorandum:—Held: evidence was not admissible to vary the instruments & as A. was not named in the first charterparty, he was liable to pay the freight under the second only, which was less in

---

PART VII. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 3.—D.

q. To vary terms of contract—Contemporaneous agreement for conditional suspension of operation of charterparty.]—WATTERS v. MILLIGAN (1883), 22 N. B. R. 622.—CAN.

r. To construe terms of contract—Ambiguous terms.]—DYMENT v. NORTHERN & NORTH-WESTERN RY. CO. (1886), 11 O. R. 343.—CAN.

t. —— Meaning of words.]—Parol evidence will be allowed to prove the usual interpretation to be given to certain words in a charterparty, when without such evidence these words would not have a plain meaning.—CAIRD v. WEBSTER (1883), 9 Q. L. R. 178.—CAN.

a. —— Evidence of subsequent deck cargo agreement.]—In terms in a amount than the lump sum.—THE LADY DOUGLASS (1849), 4 L. T. 656; 13 Jur. 521.

1701. —— Meaning of "freight."] — The words "freight payable in London" in a bill of lading define the place only, not the time, of payment.

Evidence is not admissible to explain the meaning of the word "freight" which is not an ambiguous term.—KRALL v. BURNETT (1877), 25 W. R. 305, D. C.

1702. To show intention of parties—Where clause ambiguous.]—By charterparty it was agreed between pltfs., shipowners, & defts., charterers, that pltfs.' steamer, then trading, but "expected ready to load about Apr. 10, should, "with all convenient speed, sail & proceed to defts.' loading berth, North Dock, Swansea, & there load, always afloat, a full & complete cargo . . . lighterage, if any necessary, to enable steamer to complete loading at North Dock, Swansea, to be at merchants' risk & expense."

The vessel was delayed by stress of weather on her inward voyage, & did not arrive at the North Dock, Swansea, until Apr. 30, at which time the tides were taking off. Though the vessel could have completed her loading "always afloat" in the North Dock, the owners of the vessel, before all the cargo had been taken in, &, to prevent her being delayed a week before she would be able again to get over the sill of the dock, removed her to another dock, & there took in the remainder of the cargo.

In an action by the shipowners for freight admittedly due, the charterers, as defts., counterclaimed for (inter alia) the cost of the carriage of the remainder of the cargo to the other dock:—Held: (1) the clause as to lighterage was ambiguous, & on extrinsic evidence being admitted showing that the intention of the parties was that, if the steamer was not able to complete her loading at the North Dock, defts. were to bear the expense of completing the loading elsewhere; (2) the shipowners were liable for the cost of the carriage to the other dock, as the vessel could, within the meaning of the charterparty, have been loaded in the North Dock, always afloat, & the fear of the detention of the vessel did not justify them in removing her.—THE CURFEW, [1891] P. 131; 60 L. J. P. 53; 64 L. T. 330; 39 W. R. 367; 7 T. L. R. 225; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 29, D. C.

Annotation:—Refd. The Nita, [1892] P. 411.

1703. To prove authority of agent — Agent signing "by telegraphic authority."]—A firm of shipbrokers signed a charterparty in the form "by telegraphic authority" of the charterer "as agent." Owing to a mistake made by the officials in its transmission, the rate of freight offered by the charterer had been misrepresented in the telegram which the shipbrokers had received from him. In an action brought by the owners of the ship against the shipbrokers for breach of warranty of authority:—Held: evidence of persons engaged in the business was admissible to explain the effect of the form of signature, such evidence showed it was commonly adopted in order to negative the implication of any further warranty by the agent than that he had received a telegram, which, if correct, authorised such a charter as that which he was signing & the shipbrokers were therefore not liable.—LILLY, WILSON & Co. v. SMALES, EELES & Co., [1892] 1 Q. B. 456; 40 W. R. 544; 8 T. L. R. 410.

Evidence of custom.]—See Sect. 15, sub-sect. 3, post.

To prove that party contracted as agent.]—See Nos. 1768–1772, 1775, post.

To prove that party contracted as principal.]—See No. 1775, post.

E. Printed Words.

See, generally, DEEDS, Vol. XVII., p. 357, Nos. 1673–1678.

1704. How far binding.]—A charterparty, made in London, between pltf., shipowner, & defts. "as agents to Samuel Ferguson, of Anamaboe, merchants & charterers," was signed "for D.," pltf., "owner, H. G. as agent. For Samuel Ferguson, Esq., of Anamaboe, G. brothers," defts., "as agents." The charterparty was partly written & partly printed, the words "merchants" & "charterers" being printed, & in the plural, throughout it. Defts. merchants in London, acted in England as agents for Ferguson, a native of Africa, & residing at Anamaboe in that country. By the charterparty, pltf.'s ship was chartered for a voyage from London to Africa & back, & freight was made payable on delivery of the return cargo:—Held: defts. were not personally liable, as principals, on the charterparty.—DESLANDES v. GREGORY (1860), 2 E. & E. 610; 30 L. J. Q. B. 36; 2 L. T. 634; 6 Jur. N. S. 651; 8 W. R. 585; 121 E. R. 230, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Refd. Pearson v. Goschen (1864), 10 L. T. 758; Hutchinson v. Tatham (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 482; Universal Steam Navigation Co. v. McKelvie, [1923] A. C. 492.

1705. ——.]—By a charterparty made between pltfs. & deft., master of an Italian vessel, it was agreed that the ship should load a cargo at Glasgow & proceed therewith to San Francisco, where she should be consigned to the charterers' agents "inwards & outwards, paying the usual commissions," . . . & so end the voyage. A final printed clause contained a stipulation that pltfs.' Glasgow agents should report the ship at the Custom House "on her return to her port of discharge in the United Kingdom." The vessel was duly consigned to the charterers' agents at San Francisco, who, on her arrival there, transacted the "inwards" business, & received the usual commission on the "inwards" freight. They tendered to deft. a homeward cargo which he declined, but he offered to take a cargo to the Mexican coast, whither he was going in order to fulfil another charter. A cargo for that destination, however, could not be obtained, & the ship sailed in ballast to Mexico & carried thence a cargo to Europe in pursuance of the other charterparty, with which pltfs. had no concern. Pltfs. having brought an action for breach of contract to recover, as damages, the outwards commission which would have been earned if deft. had accepted a homeward cargo at San Francisco, & brought it to Europe, as pltfs. contended he was bound to do:—Held: no such obligation was created by the above-mentioned clauses of the charterparty, which merely amounted to a proviso that, if the ship were engaged on a voyage "outwards," then the agents should be further employed, & should be paid commission on the "outwards" freight.—CROSS v. PAGLIANO (1870), L. R. 6 Exch. 9; 40 charterparty it was held that the same did not preclude the parties from making a subsequent special arrangement as to deck cargo, but on the contrary rather to contemplate the possibility of such an arrangement. Parol proof of such arrangement was allowed as merely explanatory, not contradictory, of the charterparty itself.—MERROW & FELL v. HUTCHINSON & BROWN (1873), 45 Sc. Jur. 334; 10 Sc. L. R. 338.—SCOT.

---

Sect. 1.—The contract of carriage: Sub-sect. 3, E., F. & G. (a).]

L. J. Ex. 18; 23 L. T. 420; 19 W. R. 159; 3 Mar. L. C. 492.

Annotation:—Refd. Gray v. Carr (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 522.

1706. —— Unintentional omission to strike out—Effect of knowledge of impossibility of performance.]—Although a clause, by way of condition or warranty, contained in a charterparty, cannot be got rid of by reason of its being part of a printed form, not adverted to expressly by the parties, & intended by one of them to be omitted; yet, if the other party was aware at the time that it could not be complied with, & after showing that it was broken, treated the charter as subsisting, it will afford him no defence to an action on the charter.—DIXON v. HERIOT (1862), 2 F. & F. 760.

Annotation:—Refd. Bentsen v. Taylor (1893), 42 W. R. 8.

1707. —— —— Rectification.]—Action by charterer on a charterparty. Defence, that the charterparty was made between deft. & the T. co., & not pltf. Reply, that the agreement was between pltf. & deft.; that in drawing up the charterparty one of the T. co.'s printed forms was used, on which the name of the T. co. appeared as charterers; that by the mistake of pltf. & deft. the T. co.'s name was omitted to be struck out, & remained instead of pltf.'s name; that the charterparty was signed by pltf. & deft., & it was intended & agreed that pltf. should be liable & entitled under it:—Held: on demurrer it was unnecessary that the charterpar y should be rectified, & the reply was good.—BRESLAUER v. BARWICK (1876), 36 L. T. 52; 24 W. R. 901; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 355; 3 Char. Pr. Cas. 56.

1708. —— When inconsistent with specific undertaking.]—By a bill of lading made in England by the master of an English ship certain packages of tea were "to be delivered from the ship's deck, where the ship's responsibility shall cease, at the port of Montreal" . . . "unto the Grand Trunk Railway co., & by them to be forwarded thence per railway to the station nearest to Toronto, & at the aforesaid station delivered to the consignees or to their assigns." The instrument contained, in addition to a long list of excepted special risks, whether arising from negligence or otherwise, the following condition: "No damage that can be insured against will be paid for, nor will any claim whatever be admitted unless made before the goods are removed." In an action in the Superior Ct. of Lower Canada against the shipowner for the value of damage done to the said packages during the voyage, it appeared that the same were landed, placed in certain shipping sheds, removed therefrom to railway freight sheds, in Montreal, & finally delivered to the consignees in Toronto. No notice of damage was given until thirteen days after the delivery was completed:—Held: the condition, though in its first clause limited to insurable damage, clearly applied as regards its second clause to all damage, whether apparent or latent, which could by examination of the packages, conducted with reasonable care & skill at the place of removal, have been discovered. The bill of lading in this case was a contract to be governed & interpreted by English law, & therefore no substantive defence arising from delay in making the claim could be made apart from the express condition contained therein, notwithstanding the provisions of Article 1680 of the Canadian Civil Code.

Where a cargo of grain is found to be heated, a damage which may arise either from its bad condition when shipped, or from some cause existing in the ship, it may be essential to prove the state of the cargo before its shipment. But where, as in this case . . . noxious substances, calculated to produce the peculiar damage actually present, are found to have been used in close proximity to the tea cause & effect are so nearly brought together that a conclusion can be reached without proof of its condition at the time of shipment (SIR MONTAGUE SMITH).

The clause, "The goods to be taken from alongside by the consignee immediately the vessel is ready to discharge, or otherwise they will be landed & stored at the expense of the consignee, & at his risk" is no doubt opposed to the above construction. . . . It is evidently one of the printed clauses & cannot control the specific undertaking to forward the goods to Toronto (SIR MONTAGUE SMITH).—MOORE v. HARRIS (1876), 1 App. Cas. 318; 45 L. J. P. C. 55; 34 L. T. 519; 24 W. R. 887; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 173, P. C.

Annotation:—Refd. Wiener v. Wilsons & Furness-Leyland Line (1910), 11 Asp. M. L. C. 413.

1709. —— When inconsistent with written words—Statement as to weight of cargo.]—Defts. were charterers of a steamship engaged in the Mediterranean trade, & had ship's agents or consignees at the ports of call. It is the custom for a ship's agent or consignee to sign bills of lading instead of the master, & no difference is recognised in trade usage between the efficacy of his signature & that of the master. Defts.' agents at Genoa signed a bill of lading for manganese, shipped in bulk & not weighed at the time of shipment, which described the manganese as of a certain weight, but contained in print the words, "weight, contents, & value unknown." Pltf. was assignee for full value of this bill, & the whole of the manganese shipped was, on the arrival of the ship, delivered to him, but was found to be short of the weight stated in the bill. In an action brought by him to recover damages for non-delivery of the full weight:—Held: (1) the printed words controlled the statement of weight; (2) defts. were not bound by the signature of their agents to a bill of lading for a greater quantity than was actually shipped.

Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), s. 3, applies only to the person actually signing the bill of lading.—JESSEL v. BATH (1867), L. R. 2 Exch. 267; 36 L. J. Ex. 149; 15 W. R. 1041.

Annotations:—As to (1) Followed. Lebeau v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1872), L. R. 8 C. P. 88. Consd. Hogarth Shipping Co. v. Blyth Greene, Jourdain, [1917] 2 K. B. 534. Refd. New Chinese Antimony Co. v. Ocean S.S. Co., [1917] 2 K. B. 664. As to (2) Explained. Brown v. Powell Coal Co. (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 562. Followed. Thorman v. Burt, Boulton (1886), 54 L. T. 349. Generally, Refd. The Ida (1873), 29 L. T. 623, n.; Parsons v. New Zealand Shipping Co., [1900] 1 Q. B. 714.

1710. —— —— Exceptions from liability for damage.]—BRISCOE & Co. v. POWELL & Co., No. 2686, post.

1711. —— —— Stipulation as to time for loading.]—FRANCE, FENWICK & Co., LTD. v. SPACKMAN (PHILIP) & SONS, No. 2836, post.

1712. —— —— ——.]—A charterparty provided that a cargo of pit props was "to be loaded at the rate of 125 fathoms daily & discharged at the rate of 125 fathoms daily reversible with customary steamship dispatch, as fast as the steamer can receive & deliver, during the ordinary working hours of the respective ports, but according to the custom of the respective ports, Sundays, general or local holidays, unless used, in both loading & discharging excepted." The words in italics were interlined in writing: the rest of the clause was printed. "Reversible" signified that any time saved in loading might be added to the time allowed for discharging & vice versa. The daily rate was equivalent to thirteen days for loading & thirteen days for discharging.

When the ship arrived at the port of loading the master of the ship entered into an agreement with the shipper, who was also the vendor, of the cargo that an allowance for "dispatch money" should be made to the shipper for each day saved in loading. The ship was loaded in nine days, & accordingly dispatch money for four days was deducted from the freight. In respect of this purchase of four days by the master the bill of lading contained the statement "thirteen days used for loading." This bill was indorsed to the charterers, & they in knowledge of the transaction between the master & the shipper took delivery of the cargo under the bill. The ship took seventeen & a half days in discharging the cargo, allowing for Sundays & holidays. By the custom of [Newport] the port of discharge, the discharge of pit props was suspended during wet weather & during half of each Saturday, & if the custom of the port applied the ship was discharged in thirteen days. In an action for demurrage incurred in the discharge of the cargo:—Held: (1) the parties intended to contract on the basis of a fixed number of lay days & the reference to the custom of the port was inconsistent with that intention, & consequently the time during which the weather was wet & the half of each Saturday could not be deducted; (2) the shipper had no authority from the charterers to alter the charter-party by selling the four days saved in the loading to the ship, & the charterers were not estopped by the false statement in the bill of lading from claiming on the discharge under the word "reversible" the four days saved in the loading; consequently they were liable for demurrage for one half-day only.—LOVE & STEWART, LTD. v. ROWTOR S.S. CO., LTD., [1916] 2 A. C. 527; 86 L. J. P. C. 1; 115 L. T. 415; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 500, H. L.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. United States Shipping Board v. Strick, [1926] A. C. 545.

1713. —— —— Provision for payment of demurrage.]—By a charterparty the cargo was "to be received from alongside free of expense & risk to the ship according to the customs & laws at the port of destination, with customary dispatch, within thirty-five weather working days after receipt by consignees of captain's written notice that he is ready to discharge. . . . Demurrage in unloading, if any, to be paid by consignees at the rate of 3*d.* per net registered ton per running day, except in cases of unavoidable accidents or hindrances beyond the consignees' control." The words "within thirty-five weather working days" were written in ink, the rest of the clause being in print. At the port of discharge the ship was prevented from unloading within thirty-five days by hindrances beyond their control, & was detained fifty-two days beyond. Upon a claim for fifty-two days' demurrage:—Held: the consignees were not liable.

Parties who altered a printed contract must be presumed to give as much effect to the printed as to the written words which might be inserted (LORD HALSBURY, C.).—AKT. ARGENTINA v. VON LAER (1903), 20 T. L. R. 9, C. A.

1714. —— —— ——.] — HADJIPATERAS v. WEIGALL (S.) & Co., No. 1688, ante.

1715. —— When inconsistent with intention of parties.]—Oranges were shipped on board a steamship under a bill of lading which stated that the ship was then "lying in the port of Malaga, & bound for Liverpool, with liberty to proceed to & stay at any port or ports in any station in the Mediterranean, Levant, Black Sea, or Adriatic, or on the coasts of Africa, Spain, Portugal, France, Great Britain & Ireland, for the purpose of delivering coals, cargo, or passengers, or for any other purpose whatsoever." The bill of lading contained a clause whereby the shipper expressly agreed to all its stipulations whether written or printed. The deviation clause was printed with the name of the port of shipment left blank & filled up in writing.

The ship left Malaga for a port on the East coast of Spain & out of her course for Liverpool, then returned & made for Liverpool, where the oranges were delivered in a damaged condition owing to the delay. In an action by the shipper against the shipowner for damages for breach of contract:—Held: the printed clause must not be construed so as to defeat the main object & intent of the contract, which was to carry the oranges from Malaga to Liverpool; the liberty must be restricted to ports which were in the course of the voyage; the deviation in question was therefore not justified, & the shipowner was liable.—GLYNN v. MARGETSON & Co., [1893] A. C. 351; 62 L. J. Q. B. 466; 69 L. T. 1; 9 T. L. R. 437; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 366; 1 R. 193, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. MARGETSON v. GLYNN, [1892] 1 Q. B. 337, C. A.

Annotations:—Expld. Evans v. Cunard S.S. Co. (1902), 18 T. L. R. 374. Consd. Morrison v. Shaw, Savill & Albion Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 783. Apld. A.-G. v. Smith (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1045. Refd. Burstall v. Grimsdale (1906), 11 Com. Cas. 280; Sanday v. British & Foreign Marine Insce., [1915] 2 K. B. 781; Re Sutro & Hellbut, Symons, [1917] 2 K. B. 348; United States Shipping Board v. Bunge y Born Soc. (1925), 134 L. T. 303; Cunard S.S. Co. v. Buerger, [1927] A. C. 1. Mentd. Naylor, Benzon v. Krainische Industrie Gesellschaft, [1918] 1 K. B. 331; Ruffy-Arnell, etc., Co. v. R., [1922] 1 K. B. 599.

1716. —— Application to particular circumstances.]—GRANT & Co. v. COVERDALE, TODD & Co., No. 2735, post.

1717. Effect of striking out—Construction of charterparty.] — In construing an ambiguous charterparty, the fact that certain words, which were in the printed form of the charterparty, have been struck out is a matter which may be taken into consideration.—ROWLAND & MARWOOD'S S.S. CO., LTD. v. NILSON SONS & Co., LTD. (1897), 13 T. L. R. 459; 41 Sol. Jo. 575; 2 Com. Cas. 198.

F. Conflict of Laws.

See, generally, CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 387 et seq.

Law governing contract.]—See CONFLICT OF LAWS, Vol. XI., pp. 389, 390, 396–398, Nos. 645, 646, 690–700.

—— Jurisdiction of Admiralty Court.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 141, 142, 147, 148, Nos. 494, 495, 543–548.

G. Particular Words and Phrases.

(a) In General.

1718. Primage & average.]—How a covenant to pay "primage & average accustomed" shall be construed.—MARKHAM v. DUTRA (1719), 11 Mod. Rep. 305; 88 E. R. 1055.

---

PART VII. SECT. 1, SUB-SECT. 3.—G. (a).

b. "Generally & without exception" —Indemnity as to claim or time.]—Covenant to indemnify "generally & without exception" against a charter-party, which defts. had assumed:—Held: under the circumstances to mean rather without exception as to the description of claim, than as to time; & defts. would be liable only for moneys accruing due under it

Sect. 1.—The contract of carriage: Sub-sect. 3, G. (a), (b) & (c).]

1719. "As soon as sentence of condemnation should have passed"—Legal sentence.]—In covenant on a charterparty, whereby it was agreed to employ a ship of which pltf. was the captor, as soon as sentence of condemnation should have passed, the sentence must be taken to mean a legal sentence, & the party who sues for the freight must aver that the ship was condemned by a ct. having competent jurisdiction.—UNWIN v. WOLSELEY (1787), 1 Term Rep. 674; 99 E. R. 1314.

Annotations:—Mentd. Allen v. Waldegrave (1818), 8 Taunt. 566; Thompson v. Pearce (1819), 1 Brod. & Bing. 25; Gidley v. Palmerston (1822), 3 Brod. & Bing. 275; Grant v. Secretary of State for India (1877), 2 C. P. D. 445.

1720. "Days"—For purpose of discharge of cargo.]—COCHRAN v. RETBERG, No. 3965, post.

1721. "Cargo."]—LEWIS v. MARSHALL, No. 1897, post.

1722. "Freight."]—LEWIS v. MARSHALL, No. 1897, post.

1723. —— "Payable in London."]—KRALL v. BURNETT, No. 1701, ante.

1724. Foreign words.]—Pltf. by his declaration alleged that he engaged by charterparty to sail from Sundswall with a cargo on account of deft. to Southampton, where the voyage was to terminate, & that deft. thereby engaged to pay for freight "that freight which the captain could prove to have been the highest paid on the same passage by water when the ship passed Elsinore, but not below 90*s.* per" etc.:—Held: (1) this meant freight payable for the same voyage by a ship to Southampton, & it did not extend to freights payable on a passage to the same district of water, which might include London as well as Southampton; & therefore proof by the captain that higher freights than 90*s.* had been earned by vessels on the voyage from Sundswall to London, & the freights to Southampton were at that time 7*s.* 6*d.* higher than the London freights, did not prove that a higher rate than 90*s.* had been earned on the same passage by water as contemplated in the charterparty; (2) the ct. could not decide whether a particular foreign word in a charterparty was correctly translated.—GETHER v. CAPPER (1856), 18 C. B. 866; 25 L. J. C. P. 260; 27 L. T. O. S. 298; 2 Jur. N. S. 789; 4 W. R. 644; 139 E. R. 1613, Ex. Ch.

Annotation:—Generally, Mentd. Abbott v. Middleton, Ricketts v. Carpenter (1858), 7 H. L. Cas. 69.

1725. Place of loading in case of "war."]—AVERY v. BOWDEN, No. 2763, post.

1726. "Addressing" of ship.]—A memorandum in a printed form of a charterparty between two brokers, used by the charterer, "commission to be paid to charterer, to whom the vessel is to be addressed, on her return to London," the charter being only for an outward voyage, & making no mention of a homeward voyage; & the ship not having returned direct from the port of discharge, but taken a cargo elsewhere:—Held: (1) to require evidence that the memorandum was understood by the parties to be part of the contract, & that in mercantile usage it applied in such a case to the return cargo, & meant that the charterer should collect the freight & receive commission on it; (2) the vessel being "addressed" meant that it should be consigned to a certain party, who should transact all the business & collect the freight, for which he would be entitled to charge, by way of commission, on the gross freight.—HIBBERT v. OWEN (1859), 2 F. & F. 502, N. P.

1727. "Forthwith"—In covenant to procure ship.]—ROBERTS v. BRETT, No. 1648, ante.

1728. "Inaccessible"—As to port of discharge.]—S.S. KNUTSFORD, LTD. v. TILLMANNS & CO., No. 3504, post.

1729. "Damage to cargo by improper opening of valves."]—MENDL & CO. v. ROPNER & CO., No. 2708, post.

1730. "Shipment."]—MOWBRAY, ROBINSON & CO. v. ROSSER, No. 4440, post.

1731. Construction of London Clauses—In bill of lading.]—On the construction of a bill of lading:—Held: the shipowners were not entitled to collect charges under the London clauses where the ship discharged not at a quay in dock, but at a riverside wharf.—PRODUCE BROKERS CO., LTD. v. FURNESS, WITHY & CO., LTD. (1912), 106 L. T. 636; 28 T. L. R. 329; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 188; 17 Com. Cas. 165.

Method of unloading cargo.]—See Sub-sect. 5, D., post.

In provisions relating to demurrage.]—See Sect. 8, sub-sect. 3, post.

Construction of negligence clause—In excepted perils.]—See Sect. 4, sub-sect. 14, D., post.

(b) "Port."

Compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., p. 70, Nos. 279–287.

1732. Commercial sense.]—By the terms of a charterparty the owners were entitled to an advance of one-third of the freight within eight days "from final sailing of the vessel from her last port in United Kingdom." The vessel was loaded at Penarth Dock, & was towed by a steam tug seven or eight miles, bringing her out about three miles into the Bristol Channel. She there cast anchor, as the weather was threatening. While she was lying at anchor a storm broke her cables & she ultimately ran ashore on Penarth Beach, & the cargo was spoiled. The vessel had never been beyond the limits of the port of Cardiff as defined for fiscal purposes, but she had left what, for commercial purposes, is considered the port, & had been out at sea. She went ashore within the limits of the port in its commercial sense. The owners sued for one-third of the freight, & the charterers resisted the claim on the ground that the vessel had never sailed from her last port in the United Kingdom:—Held: the word "port" must be taken in its ordinary commercial sense, & as the vessel had got out to sea without any intention of returning, she must be taken to have finally sailed from her last port, her being driven back into it by the weather made no difference, & the one-third of the freight was payable.—PRICE v. LIVINGSTONE (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 679; 53 L. J. Q. B. 118; 47 L. T. 629; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 13, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Garston Sailing Ship Co. v. Hickie (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 580. Reld. Re Goodbody & Balfour, Williamson (1899), 82 L. T. 484; Mersey Mutual Underwriting Assocn. v. Poland (1910), 15 Com. Cas. 205.

1733. —— Not fiscal.]—The word "port" in a charterparty is to be understood in its popular, or during their co-partnership, & thence to the expiration of their charter by defts.—JONES v. WALKER (1852), 9 U. C. R. 136.—CAN.

c. "Summer."] — Where action was brought on a contract for the delivery of timber:—Held: the word "summer" used in such contract meant, under the circumstances disclosed in the case, the season of navigation which begins in the commencement of May & terminates about the end of Nov., & cannot be understood as limiting the time strictly to the three months which form the season of summer, as the year is divided in the calendar.—THIBODEAU & LEE (1857), 7 L. C. R. 430.—CAN.

d. "Owner's risk."]—BRITISH COLUMBIA CANNING CO. v. MCGREGOR (1913), 26 W. L. R. 18; 5 W. W. R. 543; 14 D. L. R. 555; 18 B. C. R. 663.—CAN.

business, or commercial sense; it does not in such a document necessarily mean the port as defined for revenue or pilotage purposes. A charterparty provided that a ship should load a cargo of coals at Cardiff, & then proceed to Bombay, the freight to be paid two-thirds in cash "ten days after the final sailing of the vessel from her last port in Great Britain," & the remainder in cash on delivery of the cargo. The ship loaded the coals in the Bute Docks, at Cardiff, &, having cleared at the custom house, started on her voyage to Bombay. She proceeded down the artificial channel leading from the Docks to the River Taff, & when about 300 yards beyond the junction of the channel with the river, she came into collision with a steamer, & was so much injured that she was compelled to return the next day to the docks for repairs:—Held: at the time of the collision the ship was not outside the limits of the port, in the popular, business, or commercial sense of the word; consequently, she had not finally sailed from her last port; & no freight was payable.—GARSTON SAILING SHIP CO. v. HICKIE (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 580; 53 L. T. 795; 1 T. L. R. 587; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 499, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Hunter v. Northern Marine Insce. (1888), 13 App. Cas. 717; Re Goodbody & Balfour, Williamson (1899), 82 L. T. 484. Reld. Leonis S.S. Co. v. Rank, [1908] 1 K. B. 499; United States Shipping Board v. Strick, [1926] A. C. 545.

1734. —— ——.]—Re GOODBODY & CO. & BALFOUR, WILLIAMSON & CO., No. 3511, post.

1735. —— ——.]—HALL BROTHERS S.S. CO., LTD. v. PAUL (R. & W.), LTD., No. 3515, post.

1736. "Liberty to proceed to any port."]—GLYNN v. MARGETSON & CO., No. 1715, ante.

1737. "Port of Manchester."]—Re GOODBODY & CO. & BALFOUR, WILLIAMSON & CO., No. 3511, post.

1738. "Usual port"—Substantial port in common use.]—The words "usual port" in a charterparty mean one of the substantial ports in common use & do not include ports which are small & little known:—Held: Sharpness is a "usual port," & in view of its character, the mode of access to it, the dangers of the voyage in question, & the character of the vessel, it was also a "safe port" within a particular charterparty.—DOLLAR & CO. v. BLOOD HOLMAN & CO. (1920), 36 T. L. R. 843.

(c) "Dues and Charges."

1739. "Port charges & other expenses at port"—Coal supplied while in port.]—By a charterparty between defts., the owners of a steamer, & the charterers, it was agreed that the owners should maintain her in a thoroughly efficient state during the term of the charterparty, & that the charterers should provide & pay for coals & fuel, port charges, pilotages, agencies, commissions, & all other charges whatsoever not appertaining to the working or efficiency of the steamer. It was also agreed that if in consequence of a breakdown of machinery the vessel put into a port other than that to which she was bound, "port charges, pilotages, & other expenses" should be borne by the owners. The steamer put into Vigo, a port to which she was not bound; in consequence, as was alleged by the master, of the breakdown of the condenser. The master sued defts. in an action for disbursements for the price of coals supplied to him at Vigo:—Held: even assuming that the putting into Vigo was a necessary consequence of the breakdown of the machinery of the steamer, the price of the coals supplied there was not part of the "port charges, pilotages, & other expenses at the port" within the meaning of the charterparty, & defts. were not liable.—THE DURHAM CITY (1889), 14 P. D. 85; 58 L. J. P. 46; 61 L. T. 339; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 411.

Annotation:—Reld. S.S. Arild v. Soc. Anon. De Navigation Hovrani, [1923] 2 K. B. 141.

1740. Foreign tonnage dues.]—TRECHMANN v. HORNE & CO. (1892), 8 T. L. R. 586.

1741. "Port charges"—All charges payable before clearance.]—Upon a voyage from South American ports to Leith the charterers of a ship exercised an option, reserved to them upon payment of port charges, of discharging part of their cargo at Deptford. In consequence of the ship entering the Port of London the whole of the light dues up to & including Leith became payable. But for this deviation the light dues would have been payable at Leith by the shipowners. To avoid detention in the Port of London the charterers paid all the light dues demanded, but claimed to set them off against balance of freight, upon the ground that they were not port charges:—Held: the light dues were port charges, payable by the charterers in the terms of the charterparty.—NEWMAN & DALE v. LAMPORT & HOLT, [1896] 1 Q. B. 20; 65 L. J. Q. B. 102; 12 T. L. R. 18; 1 Com. Cas. 161; sub nom. NEMAN, DALE & CO. v. LAMPORT & HOLT, 73 L. T. 475; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 76.

Annotation:—Consd. The Katherine (1913), 30 T. L. R. 52.

1742. —— Light dues.]—NEWMAN & DALE v. LAMPORT & HOLT, No. 1741, ante.

1743. —— Pilotage dues in shifting ports.]—WHITTALL & CO. v. RAHTKEN'S SHIPPING CO., LTD., No. 3987, post.

1744. —— Dues payable to dock company.]—A charterparty for a voyage from Antwerp to Rio de Janeiro & Santos contained the following clauses:—"The cargo to be dispatched with all possible despatch at Rio f.f.a., at Santos on the quay . . . The charterer paying all dues & duties on the cargo & the steamer all port charges, pilotages, etc., as customary." At Santos dues were payable per kilogramme of cargo discharged, under the following head of the dock co.'s tariff:—"For the use of the quay for loading & discharging goods & any merchandise, & for the dredging & clearing away of obstructions from the port":—Held: the dues paid under this heading were not "dues" & duties on the cargo" within the meaning of the charterparty but were "port charges" & therefore that the amount of those dues was payable by the shipowner & not by the charterer.—SOCIETA ANONIMA UNGHERESE DI ARMAMENTI MARITTIMO v. HAMBURG SOUTH AMERICAN S.S. CO. (1912), 106 L. T. 957; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 228; 17 Com. Cas. 216.

1745. "Customs due on cargo"—Spanish "transport tax."]—By a charterparty a ship was chartered to proceed to a Spanish port & load a cargo of iron rails, "Spanish Customs dues on cargo to be paid by steamer not exceeding 1*s.* per ton." There was a Spanish tax, called a transport tax, levied on goods carried over sea or imported or exported through the land customs houses, & this tax was payable by the shipowner to the Spanish Govt., & was calculated on the weight of the cargo. There was no other tax on iron rails:—Held: the transport tax was not a "customs due on cargo" within the meaning of the charterparty, & therefore the shipowners were bound to pay it, although it exceeded 1*s.* per ton.—LONDON TRANSPORT CO., LTD. v. BESSLER WAECHTER & CO., LTD. (1908), 24 T. L. R. 531; 52 Sol. Jo. 442, H. L.

1746. "Dues & duties on the cargo"—Dues payable to dock company.] — SOCIETA ANONIMA

Sect. 1.—The contract of carriage: Sub-sect. 3, G. (c); sub-sects. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 & 9.]

UNGHERESE DI ARMAMENTI MARITTIMO v. HAMBURG SOUTH AMERICAN S.S. Co., No. 1744, ante.

1747. "Dock dues"—All charges connected with entrance into & use of dock.]—A charter-party provided that, "if the cargo or any part thereof is discharged in one of the docks in the River Thames, each consignee is to pay two-thirds of the dock dues payable in respect of the space occupied by his portion of the cargo to be discharged in such dock":—Held: this provision meant that all proper charges which could & were imposed by the dock authority in respect of entrance into & use of the dock by the vessel were included in the words "dock dues" & therefore these words included payments charged by the Port of London Authority as & for rent.—THE KATHERINE (1913), 30 T. L. R. 52, D. C.

1748. —— Rent payable to Port of London Authority.]—THE KATHERINE, No. 1747, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 4.—EXCEPTED PERILS.

See Sect. 4, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 5.—AUTHORITY OF MASTER.

Authority of master to bind owners generally.]—See Part IV., Sect. 1, ante.

Charterparties.]—See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 3, post.

Bills of lading.]—See Sect. 3, sub-sect. 4, B., post.

Freight.]—See Part VIII., Sect. 2, post.

Transhipment of cargo.]—See Sect. 6, sub-sect. 4, post.

Hypothecation of cargo.]—See Sect. 6, sub-sect. 5, B., post.

Sale of cargo.]—See Sect. 6, sub-sect. 6, A., post.

---

SUB-SECT. 6.—FRUSTRATION OF ADVENTURE.

Excepted perils.]—See Sect. 4, post.

Time charters.]—See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 22, post.

Failure to provide cargo.]—See Nos. 2849–2856, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 7.—REPUDIATION OF CONTRACT.

See CONTRACT, Vol. XII., pp. 341–344, Nos. 2846–2849, 2862–2866.

---

SUB-SECT. 8.—SHIPMENT OF GOODS LIKELY TO CAUSE DAMAGE OR DELAY TO SHIP OR CARGO.

See 1894 Act, ss. 301, 446, 448, 449; Explosives Act, 1875 (c. 17); Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV. (6).

Carriage of explosives & dangerous goods.]—See CARRIERS, Vol. VIII., pp. 135–137, Nos. 894–900.

1749. Necessity for notice to shipowner—Of dangerous character of goods.]—Where the law presumes the affirmative of any fact the negative of such fact must be proved by the party averring it in pleading. So where any act is required to be done by one, the omission of which would make him guilty of a criminal neglect of duty the law presumes the affirmative & throws the burthen of proving the negative on the party who insists on it. Therefore where pltf. declared that defts., who had chartered his ship, put on board a dangerous commodity, by which a loss happened, without due notice to the captain or any other person employed in the navigation it lay upon him to prove such negative averment, & it being shown that the commodity was delivered by defts.' officer & received by the first mate of pltf.'s ship, which first mate was dead & no other person was present to depose to the conversation which passed between them:—Held: the best evidence of the fact could only be given by defts.' officer who delivered the commodity on board to such first mate, & the action could not be sustained by secondary evidence.—WILLIAMS v. EAST INDIA Co. (1802), 3 East, 192; 102 E. R. 571.

Annotations:—Apld. Brass v. Maitland (1856), 6 E. & B. 470. Consd. Farrant v. Barnes (1862), 11 C. B. N. S. 553. Refd. Thornton v. Lance (1815), 4 Camp. 231; R. v. Twyning, Gloucestershire (1819), 2 B. & Ald. 386; Langridge v. Levy (1837), 2 M. & W. 519; Keates v. Cadogan (1851), 15 Jur. 428; Bamfield v. Goole & Sheffield Transport Co., [1910] 2 K. B. 94. Mentd. R. v. Hawkins (1808), 10 East, 211; R. v. Haslingfield (1814), 2 M. & S. 558; Calder v. Rutherford (1822), 3 Brod. & Bing. 302; Pearce v. Whale (1826), 7 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 512; R. v. Whiston (1836), 1 Har. & W. 696; Newman v. Hardwicke (1838), 2 J. P. 328; Stikeman v. Dawson (1847), 1 De G. & Sm. 90; R. v. Lister (1857), 26 L. J. M. C. 196; Aflalo v. Lawrence & Bullen, [1903] 1 Ch. 318.

1750. —— ——.]—First count: That pltfs. were owners of a general ship; that defts. caused a corrosive substance to be packed in casks, & delivered to pltfs., as casks of bleaching powder, to be carried in the ship; that pltfs. & their agents were ignorant that bleaching powder contained a corrosive substance, & the casks outwardly appeared to be sufficient; but that the casks were insufficient, & the contents so improperly packed, that the corrosive contents escaped & destroyed the cargo. Second count: That defts. shipped a dangerous article, knowing it to be such, without notice of its danger; & pltfs. without knowledge of its dangerous nature, received it, & stowed it in the hold, where it did mischief. Pleas (3): to so much of the first count as relates to the insufficiency of the packages; that defts. purchased the goods ready packed from third persons, named, & were not themselves, or by their servants, guilty of negligence. Plea (4) to first count: that the persons employed on the ship knew & had the means of judging of the sufficiency of the casks. Plea (10) to the second count: that the master of the ship knew, or had the means of knowing, the dangerous nature of the goods. On demurrer to the pleas:—Held: (1) (LORD CAMPBELL, C.J., & WIGHTMAN, J.) there is an implied undertaking on the part of shippers of goods on board a general ship that they will not deliver to be carried on the voyage packages of a dangerous nature, which those employed on behalf of the shipowner may not on inspection be reasonably expected to know to be of a dangerous nature, without giving notice; consequently, both counts were good, & the third plea bad. But fourth & tenth pleas, which they construed to amount to an allegation of facts equivalent to notice, were good; (2) (CROMPTON, J.) the implied undertaking of the shipper did not extend beyond an obligation to take proper care not to deliver dangerous goods without notice; & on the first count & third plea, taken together, defts. appeared to be innocent shippers of goods, dangerous in fact, but without any negligence on their parts, &, therefore, defts. should have judgment on the third plea.—BRASS v. MAITLAND (1856), 6 E. & B. 470; 26 L. J. Q. B. 49; 27 L. T. O. S. 249; 2 Jur. N. S. 710; 4 W. R. 647; 119 E. R. 940.

e. Concealment of illegal goods by charterer.]—MESSERVEY v. BESSEN (1838), 9 L. T. 459.—JERSEY.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Farrant v. Barnes (1862), 11 C. B. N. S. 553. Consd. Readhead v. Mid. Ry. (1867), L. R. 2 Q. B. 412. Apld. Bamfield v. Goole & Sheffield Transport Co., [1910] 2 K. B. 94. N.F. Mitchell, Cotts v. Steel, [1916] 2 K. B. 610. Apld. G. N. Ry. v. L. E. P. Transport & Depository, [1922] 2 K. B. 742. Reid. Blower v. G. W. Ry. (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 655. As to (2) Apld. Hutchinson v. Guion (1858), 5 C. B. N. S. 149; Farrant v. Barnes (1862), 11 C. B. N. S. 553. Consd. Readhead v. Mid. Ry. (1867), L. R. 2 Q. B. 412. N.F. Bamfield v. Goole & Sheffield Transport Co., [1910] 2 K. B. 94. Apld. Mitchell, Cotts v. Steel, [1916] 2 K. B. 610. N.F. G. N. Ry. v. L. E. P. Transport & Depository, [1922] 2 K. B. 742. Generally, Reid. Dutton v. Powles (1861), 2 B. & S. 174; Acatos v. Burns (1878), 3 Ex. D. 282; Greenshields, Cowie v. Stephens, [1908] 1 K. B. 51. Mentd. Searle v. Laverick (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 122; Dunn v. Bucknall, Dunn v. Donald Currie, [1902] 2 K. B. 614; Blacker v. Lake & Elliot (1912), 106 L. T. 533.

1751. —— ——.]—HUTCHINSON v. GUION, No. 3029, post.

1752. —— ——.]—Pltf.'s husband was a common carrier of goods, which he conveyed in a keel of which he was the owner & in the working of which he was assisted by pltf. Defts. who carried on business as carriers & forwarding agents on the Aire & Calder Navigation, delivered to pltf.'s husband to be carried from Goole to Sheffield certain goods described by them as general cargo. The goods in question which were packed in casks, consisted of a chemical known as "ferro-silicon," which was always liable to be dangerous by giving off poisonous gases. Pltf.'s husband did not know that the goods delivered to him for carriage on board his keel were of a dangerous character, but defts., who knew that the casks contained ferro-silicon, did not in fact know that ferro-silicon was of a dangerous character, & gave no notice to pltf.'s husband of the contents of the casks. During the carriage of the goods on board the keel of pltf.'s husband, the ferro-silicon gave off poisonous gases in consequence of which the husband died & pltf. suffered from serious illness. In an action by pltf., suing as administratrix & also on her own behalf, to recover damages for the loss of her husband & also in respect of her illness:—Held: (1) (FLETCHER MOULTON & FARWELL, L.JJ.) under the circumstances pltf. was entitled to recover, inasmuch as there was an implied undertaking on the part of defts. that the goods delivered to pltf.'s husband for carriage were goods not of a dangerous character, but such as were fit to be carried by pltf.'s husband as a common carrier; (2) (VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, L.J.) pltf. was entitled to recover upon the ground that defts. owed a duty to pltf.'s husband to communicate such information as they had as to the nature of the goods in question, & through their servants they were guilty of negligence & want of care in not communicating to the carrier the name, which they knew, of the somewhat unusual cargo.—BAMFIELD v. GOOLE & SHEFFIELD TRANSPORT CO., LTD., [1910] 2 K. B. 94; 79 L. J. K. B. 1070; 103 L. T. 201, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. G. N. Ry. v. L. E. P. Transport & Depository, [1922] 2 K. B. 742. Reid. The West Cock, [1911] P. 208. As to (2) N.F. G. N. Ry. v. L. E. P. Transport & Depository, [1922] 2 K. B. 742. Generally, Reid. Transoceanica Soc. Italiana Di Navigazione v. Shipton, [1923] 1 K. B. 31. Mentd. Blacker v. Lake & Elliot (1912), 106 L. T. 533.

1753. —— Of facts liable to cause danger or delay to ship.]—Whatever may be the full extent of the obligation upon a shipper of goods, it amounts at least to an undertaking by him that he will not ship goods likely to involve unusual danger or delay to the ship without communicating to the shipowner facts which are within his knowledge indicating that there is the risk, provided that the shipowner does not & could not reasonably know those facts.

The shippers of a cargo of rice upon a vessel they had chartered for a voyage to Piraeus knew that the rice could not be discharged there without the permission of the British Govt., although they thought that they might obtain the permission. In fact they were unable to procure it, & the ship was in consequence delayed. The shipowner did not & could not reasonably have known that the permission was necessary:—Held: the delay arose from a breach by the charterers of their obligation to the shipowners, & therefore the shipowners had a cause of action against them in respect of the delay so caused.—MITCHELL, COTTS & CO. v. STEEL BROTHERS & CO., LTD., [1916] 2 K. B. 610; 85 L. J. K. B. 1747; 115 L. T. 606; 32 T. L. R. 533; 22 Com. Cas. 63; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 497.

Annotations:—Distd. The Domald, [1920] P. 56; Transoceanica Soc. Italiana Di Navigazione v. Shipton, [1923] 1 K. B. 31. Reid. Akt. Geysir v. Dansk Svovlsyre & Superphosphat Fabrik (1919), 24 Com. Cas. 178; Spanish S.S. Sebastian v. De Vizcaya, [1920] 1 K. B. 332; The Lisa, [1921] P. 38.

1754. Necessity for notice to shipper—That contraband carried as part of cargo.]—DUNN v. BUCKNALL BROTHERS, DUNN v. CURRIE (DONALD) & CO., No. 2552, post.

1755. Effect of notice by agents of shipowner.]—A charterparty dated May 18, 1917, provided that a steamer should proceed to Norfolk, Virginia, & there load a cargo of coal for delivery at Bilbao. On July 9, 1917, the President of the United States issued a Proclamation, which came into force on July 15, prohibiting the export of coal to Spain except under licence from the American Govt. On July 11 a co. which acted as agents at Norfolk for the charterer & also for the shipowners, applied for a licence for the export of the cargo of coal. The steamer arrived at Norfolk on July 14. The cargo was duly loaded, but the steamer was detained at Norfolk while waiting for the licence which, without default on the part of the agents, was not obtained until Aug. 1. The owners claimed damages from the charterer for the detention of the steamer:—Held: as the owners had, through their agents, knowledge at the time the cargo was loaded that it was necessary to obtain an export licence, which might involve delay, the charterer was not liable for the detention of the steamer.—SPANISH S.S. SEBASTIAN (OWNERS) v. DE VIZCAYA, [1920] 1 K. B. 332; 89 L. J. K. B. 385; 122 L. T. 541; 36 T. L. R. 177; 25 Com. Cas. 134; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 568.

Proximity of different kinds of goods—Improper stowage.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 5, C. (a) ii., post.

---

SUB-SECT. 9.—THE SHIPOWNER AS COMMON CARRIER.

See, generally, CARRIERS, Vol. VIII., pp. 8–10, Nos. 21–35.

Liability for loss or damage.]—See CARRIERS, Vol. VIII., pp. 18, 20, 21, 227, Nos. 85, 86, 88, 89, 97, 99, 108, 110, 112, 1460.

—— Limitation of liability.]—See CARRIERS, Vol. VIII., pp. 39–41, 44, 45, 57, Nos. 229–231, 243, 262, 279, 375.

Sect. 1.—The contract of carriage: Sub-sects. 10, 11 & 12. Sect. 2: Sub-sects. 1 & 2, A.]

SUB-SECT. 10.—CHARTERPARTIES.

See Sect. 2, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 11.—BILLS OF LADING.

See Sect. 3, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 12.—FREIGHT.

See Part VIII., post.

---

SECT. 2.—CHARTERPARTIES.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

1756. Derivation of term.]—LEIGHTON v. GREEN & GARRET (1613), Godb. 204; 78 E. R. 124.

1757. Necessity for writing.]—LIDGETT v. WILLIAMS, No. 1792, post.

1758. Assignability—Rights of assignee.]—The assignee of a chose in action, or security of any kind, where there has been no fraud, stands in exactly the same situation as the assignor as to the equities arising upon it. He must be taken to be cognisant of them. It is his duty to make inquiries, &, as a general rule, the creator of the security thus assigned is not bound, on receiving a simple notice of the assignment, to volunteer information. If a loss arises, it falls upon him whose duty it is to make the inquiries & who has not made them.

But if the notice given by the assignee discloses, on the face of it, that which induces the belief that he has been deceived in accepting the assignment, the creator of the security is bound to inform the assignee of the real circumstances, & if he should not do so, he will be bound to perform the stipulations of the security, & cannot be allowed to take advantage of the equities existing as between the assignor & himself.

The performance, by the creator of a security, of any intermediate stipulations in it, after he has received notice of its assignment, being an act done under both a legal & an equitable liability, can never, in itself, be considered as a ground for fixing him with a liability to something beyond that by which he is equitably bound.

A. was the owner of a vessel. B. was to charter it for a particular voyage to seek a particular cargo. Its tonnage was larger than B. required. A. was willing to undertake half the risk, & was to have half the profits. A charterparty was executed, on Apr. 24, 1845, by which the vessel was declared to be let to freight, at 16*s.* a ton per month, to B., & bills were to be given, & payments from time to time made, by B., which, taken together, would cover one-half of the amount stipulated for the freight. On the arrival of the ship at home, B. was to give a bill at ninety days' date for the remainder of the freight. Two other instruments were executed on the same day; by the first of which A. was to join in the adventure, &, "after payment or deduction of the freight, & all incidental expenses, the profit or loss" was to be borne by the parties in equal moieties; & by the other A. gave to B. a guarantee for the due performance, by the clerk, of the stipulations he had entered into. On Dec. 1, 1845, while the ship was on the voyage, A. assigned to C. the charterparty, & wrote on the margin thereof a note addressed to B., requesting him to pay "what is due." C. gave B. notice of this assignment & note. The notice was in the ordinary form, & C. made no inquiries of B. B. continued the payments which, by the stipulations in the charterparty, he was bound to make. The vessel returned in Aug. 1846, & the adventure turned out a loss. B. claimed, as against C., to balance the accounts of profit & loss, as he would have been entitled to do with A. had the charterparty not been assigned:—Held: in equity he was entitled to do so.—MANGLES v. DIXON (1852), 3 H. L. Cas. 702; 19 L. T. O. S. 260; 10 E. R. 278, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Rodger v. Comptoir D'Escompte de Paris (1869), L. R. 2 P. C. 393. Distd. Leask v. Scott (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 376. Refd. Rolt v. White (1862), 3 De G. J. & Sm. 360; Watson v. Mid Wales Ry. (1867), L. R. 2 C. P. 593; Higgs v. Northern Assam Tea Co. (1869), L. R. 4 Exch. 387; Stoddart v. Union Trust (1911), 81 L. J. K. B. 140. Mentd. Watts v. Driscoll, [1901] 1 Ch. 294.

1759. —— ——.]—DIMECH v. CORLETT, No. 1858, post.

1760. Contains contract between shipowner & charterer.]—RODOCANACHI v. MILBURN, No. 3816, post.

1761. ——.]—The charterparty is the contract between the shipowners & the charterers, & the ct. can only look at the terms of the charterparty.

The contract is to load a full & complete cargo of bricks & cement in casks. That does not refer specifically to bricks & cement made at N.'s cement works. The charterparty applies to any brick or cement in casks, & sufficient bricks & cement in casks to load the ship could have been obtained from other sources (LORD ESHER, M.R.).—THE ROOKWOOD (1894), 10 T. L. R. 314, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Bunge y Born Co. v. Brightman, [1925] A. C. 799.

1762. Variation — Subsequent stipulations amounting to new contract.]—The stipulations in a charterparty may be varied by subsequent instructions, which may amount to a new contract pro tanto; & an insurance of the freight upon the new voyage, though different from that described in the charterparty, may be good. Thus, where a British vessel was chartered for a voyage from Odessa to Rotterdam—war having in the meantime broken out between Great Britain & Holland, the master was instructed by the freighter's agents at Odessa, in case he could not get to Rotterdam, to proceed to Hamburgh or Bremen; but to enter at London or Newcastle in the first instance, where he might receive different orders from the freighters,—the difference in the freight to be settled by arbitration. The vessel was captured among the Grecian Islands, & the master made a declaration, attested on oath by three of the crew, of the capture, before the British consul at Patras in the Morea; in which the ship was described as having been, when captured, on her voyage from Odessa to Rotterdam. An insurance had been effected on the freight for the particular voyage from Odessa to England:—Held: the underwriters were bound to settle the loss, on the ground that the instructions formed a new contract, under which the vessel was, at the time of the capture, on her voyage to England, on her arrival, freight would have been earned.—HALL v. BROWN (1814), 2 Dow, 367; 3 E. R. 897, H. L.

---

PART VII. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 1.

1. Whether contract of affreightment requires execution of charterparty for its constitution.]—The contract of affreightment does not require the execution of a charterparty for its constitution.—REDERI AKT. NORDSTJERNAN v. SALVESEN & Co. (1903), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 64.—SCOT.

1763. Provision of ballast—Who liable—Where owners responsible for navigation.]—By a charterparty a ship was let to the charterers for their sole use & benefit for the conveyance of merchandise &/or passengers with liberty to sublet, subject to owner's approval of trade, for two or three round voyages at charterers' option, to be placed by a certain day "with clear holds" at the disposal of the charterers, they "having the whole reach or burthen of the vessel," proper & sufficient room being reserved to the owners for the officers, crew, tackle, etc.; the owners undertaking to maintain her in a thoroughly efficient state during the currency of the charter; the captain to use every reasonable dispatch in prosecuting the voyages, &, though appointed by the owners, to be under the orders & directions of the charterers as regards employment, agency & other arrangements; the freight for the hire of the ship to be paid monthly until she was returned by the charterers to the owners:—Held: upon the true construction of the whole of the charterparty, without deciding whether the contract more nearly resembled one of demise than of carriage, the responsibility for the navigation of the ship was imposed upon the owners, & the owners were therefore liable to provide any ballast that might be necessary for safe navigation.—WEIR v. UNION S.S. CO., LTD., [1900] A. C. 525; 69 L. J. Q. B. 809; 83 L. T. 91; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 111; 5 Com. Cas. 363, H. L.

Annotation:—Refd. The Sarpen, [1916] P. 306.

1764. Avoidance.]—Semble: a charterparty may be avoided by an act of the shipowner.—THE TARTAR (1822), 1 Hag. Adm. 1; 166 E. R. 1.

Annotations:—Mentd. The Atlas (1827), 2 Hag. Adm. 48; Weston v. Foster (1836), 5 L. J. C. P. 242; The Emancipation (1840), 1 Wm. Rob. 124; Stainbank v. Fenning (1851), 11 C. B. 51; The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137.

Charterparty entered into abroad—Admissibility of secondary evidence.] — See EVIDENCE, Vol. XXII., p. 217, No. 1896.

Breach of charterparty—Jurisdiction of Admiralty Court.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., p. 157, Nos. 652, 653.

---

SUB-SECT. 2.—PARTIES.

A. In General.

1765. Right of joint covenantee—Effect of release of non-party.] — SCUDAMORE v. VANDERSTENE (1587), 2 Co. Inst. 673.

Annotations:—Refd. Storer v. Gordon (1814), 3 M. & S. 308; Barford v. Stuckey (1820), 2 Brod. & Bing. 333. Mentd. Vernon v. Jefferies (1740), 7 Mod. Rep. 358; Zouch d. Abbot v. Parsons (1765), 3 Burr. 1794.

1766. Right of non-party—Charterparty by deed poll.]—Indenture of charterparty, not being inter parties, covenants to pay to a stranger to the deed.—COOKER v. CHILD (1673), 2 Lev. 74; 83 E. R. 456; sub nom. COKER v. CHILD, 3 Keb. 115.

Annotations:—Mentd. Gilby v. Copley (1683), 3 Lev. 138; Joddrell v. Heathcot (1709), 11 Mod. Rep. 258; Vernon v. Jefferies (1740), 7 Mod. Rep. 358; Barford v. Stuckey (1820), 5 Moore, C. P. 23; Smith v. Scott (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 771.

1767. Effect of execution by one owner.]—One of the owners alone having executed the charterparty, without the others being made parties to it:—Held: (1) the legal operation of the deed, was that it was the agreement of him alone who executed it; the charterparty was correctly set forth as the agreement of that owner alone, though made on behalf of himself & the other joint owners of the vessel; (2) although all the owners could not sue the freighter jointly upon the charterparty, the deed never having been executed by them, yet it did not follow but that they had a joint right of action against deft., upon a promise of payment of freight to them all; such contract being perfectly collateral to the contract contained in the charterparty.—BUSHELL v. BEAVAN (1834), 1 Bing. N. C. 103; 4 Moo. & S. 622; 3 L. J. C. P. 279; 131 E. R. 1056.

Annotation:—Mentd. Caballero v. Slater (1854), 23 L. J. C. P. 67.

1768. Contract as "owner"—Admissibility of evidence to prove agency only.]—In assumpsit on a charterparty executed, not by pltf., but by a third person who, in the contract, described himself as "owner," of the ship:—Held: evidence was not admissible to show that such person contracted merely as pltf.'s agent.—HUMBLE v. HUNTER (1848), 12 Q. B. 310; 17 L. J. Q. B. 350; 11 L. T. O. S. 265; 12 Jur. 1021; 116 E. R. 885.

Annotations:—Consd. Killick v. Price & Lingfield S.S. Co. (1896), 12 T. L. R. 263; Formby v. Formby (1910), 102 L. T. 116; Drughorn v. Rederiakt. Trans-Atlantic, [1919] A. C. 203. Refd. Schmaltz v. Avery (1851), 16 Q. B. 655; Wake v. Harrop (1862), 1 H. & C. 202; Dunlop Pneumatic Tyre Co. v. Selfridge, [1915] A. C. 847; Rederiakt. Argonaut v. Hani, [1918] 2 K. B. 247. Mentd. Muttyloll Seal v. Dent (1853), 5 Moo. Ind. App. 328; British Waggon Co. v. Lea (1880), 5 Q. B. D. 149; Tolhurst v. Associated Portland Cement Manufacturers (1900), Ltd., Associated Portland Cement Manufacturers (1900), Ltd. v. Tolhurst, [1902] 2 K. B. 660.

1769. Contract as "agents or owners."] — DINHAM, FAWCUS & CO. v. WITHERINGTON & EVERETT, [1916] W. N. 154.

Annotation:—Followed. Cork Gas Consumers' Co. v. Witherington & Everett (1920), 36 T. L. R. 599.

1770. ——.]—Defts. in June, 1914, by a charterparty in which they were described as "agents or owners," agreed with pltfs. to carry a certain quantity of coal from the North East Coast to Cork between July, 1914, & June, 1925. As a result of the outbreak of war & Admlty. requisitions, defts. were left with only two free ships, which could not have carried all the coal required, &, taking the view that they were relieved of their obligations, they made no effect to carry out the contract. In an action for breach of the contract:—Held: the use of the words "agents or owners" did not limit the contract to one for carriage in steamers of which defts. were owners or managers at the date of the contract, but it was a general carrying contract, & as defts. had not chartered other ships they were liable in damages.—CORK GAS CONSUMERS' CO. v. WITHERINGTON & EVERETT (1920), 36 T. L. R. 599.

1771. Contract "as charterers"—Whether term of contract.]—A charterparty was expressed to be made between pltfs., the shipowners, & a limited co. "as charterers." Deft., claiming to be the undisclosed principal of the co. & purporting to act under an arbn. clause in the charterparty, instituted arbn. proceedings by giving pltfs. notice that he had appointed a person to act as his arbitrator. In an action by pltfs for an injunction to restrain deft. from proceeding with the arbn. on the ground that he was not a party to the charterparty:—Held: having regard to the provision of the charterparty as a whole & the duties thereby imposed upon the charterers, the words "as charterers" after the name of the co. were a term of the contract, showing that the co. had contracted as principals; & deft. was not entitled to proceed with an arbn. under the charterparty.—REDERIAKT. ARGONAUT v. HANI, [1918] 2 K. B. 247; 87 L. J. K. B. 991; 118 L. T. 176; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 310.

Annotation:—Distd. Drughorn v. Rederiakt. Trans-Atlantic, [1919] A. C. 203.

1772. —— Admissibility of evidence to prove agency only.]—The description in a charterparty of one of the contracting parties as "charterer" does not, of itself, designate him as the only person to fill that position. Where an action for breach of charterparty was brought by persons claiming to be the undisclosed principals of a party described in the contract as "charterer," & objection was taken to the admission of evidence that pltfs. were in fact the charterers, on the ground that such evidence would contradict the written contract:—Held: the evidence was admissible.—FRED. DRUGHORN, LTD. v. REDERIAKT. TRANS-ATLANTIC, [1919] A. C. 203; 88 L. J. K. B. 233; 120 L. T. 70; 35 T. L. R. 73; 63 Sol. Jo. 99; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 400; 24 Com. Cas. 45, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. REDERI AKT. TRANSATLANTIC v. FRED. DRUGHORN, [1918] 1 K. B. 394.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 2, A. & B. (a) & (b); sub-sect. 3.]

Annotation:—Reld. Ariadne S.S. Co. v. McKelvie, [1922] 1 K. B. 518.

B. Contracts by Agents.

(a) In General.

See, generally, AGENCY, Vol. I., pp. 257 et seq.

1773. Authority to charter—When implied.]—Where a person permits another to act as his general agent, he is bound by a contract made by the agent, although the latter declares himself as acting "by procuration," & has received special instructions which he exceeds.

Deft., who formerly carried on the business of a corn merchant at Limerick, came to reside in London, & left his brother M. to conduct his business in Limerick. Deft.'s name remained over the door. For the space of three years M. purchased large quantities of oats, & chartered numerous ships on account of deft. On these occasions deft. usually sent him special instructions. In the year 1858, a ship in the port of Limerick being about to proceed to Quebec for a cargo of timber, M. chartered her to carry on her return from Quebec, a cargo of oats to London. He signed the charterparty "per procuration." In an action against deft. for not loading a cargo pursuant to the charterparty:—Held: it was properly left to the jury to say whether deft. had allowed M. to act as his general agent, & if so, he was liable although M. might have exceeded his authority.—SMITH v. M'GUIRE (1858), 3 H. & N. 554; 27 L. J. Ex. 465; 31 L. T. O. S. 248; 6 W. R. 726; 157 E. R. 589.

Annotations:—Reld. The Fanny, The Mathilda (1883), 48 L. T. 771. Mentd. Cornish v. Abington (1859), 28 L. J. Ex. 262; Stagg v. Elliott (1862), 12 C. B. N. S. 373; Aitken, Lilburn v. Ernsthausen, [1894] 1 Q. B. 773.

1774. ——— ———.]—CHRISTOFFERSEN v. HANSEN, No. 1953, post.

——— Authority of master.]—See Part IV., Sect. 1, sub-sect. 1.

Authority to vary terms of charterparty—Authority of master.]—See Part IV., Sect. 1, sub-sect. 1.

———.]—See AGENCY, Vol. I., pp. 322, 323, Nos. 401–403.

1775. Admissibility of evidence to prove liability as principal.]—WAKE v. HARROP (1862), 1 H. & C. 202; 31 L. J. Ex. 451; 7 L. T. 96; 8 Jur. N. S. 845; 10 W. R. 626; 1 Mar. L. C. 247, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Reld. Bowman v. Rossel (1864), 3 New Rep. 471; Cowie v. Witt (1874), 23 W. R. 76; Clever v. Kirkman (1875), 33 L. T. 672; Ariadne S.S. Co. v. McKelvie, [1922] 1 K. B. 518; Universal Steam Navigation Co. v. McKelvie, [1923] A. C. 492; Kimber Coal Co. v. Stone & Rolfe, [1926] A. C. 414. Mentd. Reid & Glasgow v. Draper (1861), 4 L. T. 650; Rogers v. Hadley (1863), 11 W. R. 1074; Guardhouse v. Blackburn (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 109; Druiff v. Parker (1868), L. R. 5 Eq. 131; Nicoll v. Bell (1875), 32 L. T. 815; Gadd v. Houghton (1876), 33 L. T. 871.

1776. ———.]—Pltfs. & defts. entered into a charter of the ship R. to load a cargo of deals. In the body of the charter defts. were described as follows: "It is this day mutually agreed between Messrs. J. H. & co., of Newcastle, for owners of the good ship R." Defts. signed the charterparty at the foot, as follows: "For owners. J. H. & co." A cargo was loaded on board the ship R. at H., & the captain signed a bill of lading for the same, stating that he had received it in good condition, etc. The cargo was ultimately delivered to pltfs. at G., & was found on delivery to have been injured to the extent of £50. In an action brought by pltfs. against defts. for the damage, in the county ct. at Gloucester, three letters, which had passed between pltfs. & defts. & their solrs. were admitted in evidence, & as soon as pltfs.' evidence was closed, defts.' solr. objected that there was no evidence against defts. as principals, & applied for a nonsuit, on the ground that it appeared upon the charterparty that defts. were not principals but only agents of the owner. The judge overruled the objection, & decided that defts. were liable as principals:—Held: (1) there was evidence to support the decision of the county ct. judge that defts. were liable as principals; (2) the charterparty was to be construed as explained by the letters, & the letters were properly admitted in evidence.—ADAMS v. HALL (1877), 37 L. T. 70; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 496.

1777. Admissibility of evidence to discharge agent—Where contracting personally.]—Parol evidence cannot be admitted to discharge an agent who has signed an instrument so as to make himself personally liable (BYLES, J.).—WAKE v. HARROP (1862), 1 H. & C. 202; 31 L. J. Ex. 451; 7 L. T. 96; 8 Jur. N. S. 845; 10 W. R. 626; 1 Mar. L. C. 247, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Reld. Bowman v. Rossel (1864), 3 New Rep. 471; Cowie v. Witt (1874), 23 W. R. 76; Clever v. Kirkman (1875), 33 L. T. 672; Ariadne S.S. Co. v. McKelvie, [1922] 1 K. B. 518; Universal Steam Navigation Co. v. McKelvie, [1923] A. C. 492; Kimber Coal Co. v. Stone & Rolfe, [1926] A. C. 414. Mentd. Nicoll v. Bell (1825), 32 L. T. 815; Reid & Glasgow v. Draper (1861), 4 L. T. 650; Rogers v. Hadley (1863), 11 W. R. 1074; Guardhouse v. Blackburn (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 109; Druiff v. Parker (1868), L. R. 5 Eq. 131; Gadd v. Houghton (1876), 33 L. T. 811.

1778. Authority to accept withdrawal of charterparty.]—Pltfs., shipowners in Glasgow, placed their ship, the Holyrood, with S. & co., chartering brokers in London. Defts., who carried on business in London, after certain negotiations with S. & co., agreed to take the ship on charter for Port Said at 7*s.* per ton, the cancelling date being fixed at Mar. 30, at 9 a.m. S. & co. telegraphed to pltfs. that defts. had agreed to charter the ship on these terms, & pltfs. telegraphed to S. & co. confirming the agreement. Before the receipt of pltfs.' confirming telegram, defts. sent a letter to S. & co. saying, "On reconsideration we must adhere to the 28th for cancelling date." S. & co. telegraphed the withdrawal of defts. to pltfs., who

---

PART VII. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (a).

g. Authority to charter—For foreign principal—Personal liability of agent.]—A.-G. v. CHABNOCK (1883), 17 S. A. L. R. 1.—AUS.

h. ——— Authority of shipbroker.]—A shipbroker, employed by a shipowner, has no such general authority as will enable him to charter the ship for a voyage in a manner contrary to instructions expressly given to him by the owner, although such instructions have not been communicated to the parties dealing with him.—SPAIGHT v. BEYERLIEB (1863), 9 L. T. 31.—IR.

k. Authority to receive notice of renewal of charterparty.]—DOMINION COAL CO., LTD. v. KINGSWELL S.S. CO. LTD. (1900), 33 N. S. R. 499.—CAN.

received the telegram after they had sent their confirming wire. Defts. refused to charter the Holyrood, which was chartered elsewhere by pltfs. at a loss:—Held: S. & co. were not principals for the purpose of receiving the withdrawal of defts.' offer, & as the withdrawal of defts. was subsequent to the acceptance by pltfs., pltfs. were entitled to recover the amount of their loss on the recharter of the ship.—RAEBURN & VEREL v. BURNESS (JAMES) & SONS (1895), 11 T. L. R. 399; 1 Com. Cas. 22.

1779. Mutual promises—By shipbroker to procure charter—By shipowner to charter vessel.]—A shipbroker agreed with a shipowner to procure him a charter of a vessel, in consideration of the shipowner chartering the same. In an action by shipowner against shipbroker for breach of contract:—Held: there was a good consideration for the shipbroker's promise.—GLIDDON v. BRODERSEN, VAUGHAN & Co. (1883), 1 Cab. & El. 197.

1780. Signature as agent only—Whether written clause import personal liability.]—The owners of a chartered ship sued the K. Coal co. in the Sheriff's Ct. for demurrage at the port of loading under a charterparty expressed to be entered into "between G. T. G. & co., owners' agents, & A. B. co., Copenhagen, charterers. The charterparty, which was on a printed form, provided for payment of demurrage by "the charterers," & at the end of the charterparty the following stipulation was added in writing: "Freight & demurrage, if any in loading, to be paid in Glasgow by the K. Coal co., Ltd." The charterparty was signed as follows: "For the A. B. co., Copenhagen, J. B. J., of the K. Coal co., Ltd. For & by telegraphic authority of owners, for G. T. G. & co., J. M., as agents only." It was admitted that J. B. J. signed on behalf of the K. Coal co.:—Held: (1) the K. Coal co. were not by reason of the form of the signature made liable upon the charterparty; (2) the clause in writing did not import a promise of liability sufficient to rebut any inference to the contrary from the form of the signature.—KIMBER COAL CO. v. STONE & ROLFE, LTD., [1926] A. C. 414; 95 L. J. K. B. 601; 135 L. T. 161; 42 T. L. R. 430; 17 Asp. M. L. C. 37; 31 Com. Cas. 333, H. L.

Position of sub-agent.]—See AGENCY, Vol. I., p. 392, No. 956.

Liability of agent to be sued.]—See AGENCY, Vol. I., pp. 623, 624, 626, 627, 642, Nos. 2479, 2492–2494, 2510, 2512, 2518, 2626.

—— Breach of warranty of authority.]—See AGENCY, Vol. I., pp. 661–665, Nos. 2768, 2769, 2773, 2774, 2789, 2790, 2793.

Right of agent to sue.]—See AGENCY, Vol. I., p. 681, No. 2911.

Notice of limitation of agent's authority.]—See AGENCY, Vol. I., pp. 617, 662, Nos. 2438, 2439, 2773, 2774.

Construction of contract.]—See AGENCY, Vol. I., pp. 629–640, Nos. 2530, 2532, 2536, 2537, 2539, 2543, 2544, 2548, 2550, 2558, 2565–2568, 2571, 2576, 2603, 2604, 2606, 2607, 2609.

(b) Charterparties under Seal.

1781. Necessity for authority by deed.]—HORSLEY v. RUSH & TOLSON (1788), cited in 7 Term Rep. at p. 209; 101 E. R. 936.

1782. Authority of master to vary—By contract not under seal.]—HUNTER v. PRINSEP, No. 3441, post.

1783. Right of principal to sue.]—Where the master of pltfs.' ship entered into a charterparty, as agent for pltfs., with deft., a partner in the house of M. & co. for the delivery of goods upon a stipulated freight, & the goods were delivered to M. & co., who were the consignees named in the bill of lading:—Held: pltfs. could not maintain assumpsit against deft. for the freight.—SCHACK v. ANTHONY (1813), 1 M. & S. 573; 105 E. R. 214.

Annotations:—Expld. Gardner v. Lachlan (1836), 8 Sim. 123. Reid. Gardner v. Lachlan (1838), 4 My. & Cr. 129. Mentd. Middleditch v. Ellis (1848), 2 Exch. 623.

1784. Liability of principal to be sued.]—Goods conveyed by ship having been spoiled, in consequence of the negligence & unskilfulness of the captain, the freighter sued the owners, one of whom was the captain, for damages, in an action on the case:—Held: the action lay, though the captain had entered into a charterparty, under seal, with the freighter & another, by which he engaged to convey the goods to their destination; it not appearing on the charterparty that the captain was part owner, nor that the freighter knew him to be such when the charterparty was executed.—LESLIE v. WILSON (1821), 3 Brod. & Bing. 171; 6 Moore, C. P. 415; 129 E. R. 1248.

Annotation:—Reid. Priestly v. Fernie (1865), 3 H. & C. 977.

---

SUB-SECT. 3.—AUTHORITY OF MASTER TO BIND OWNERS.

1785. Express authority.]—The master of an American vessel arriving in England, authorised by the owners to sell or charter the ship, entered into a charterparty with pltfs. for a voyage to Ceylon & back. A few days afterwards defts. purchased the ship from a party acting under a power of attorney from one of the owners to sell her. The greater part of the cargo had been put on board under the charterparty. Defts. attempted to stop the sailing of the ship:—Held: the master having authority to charter the ship, which he had done, & defts. knowing of the charterparty, an injunction would lie to restrain the purchasers from interfering with the sailing of the ship, in pursuance of the charterparty.—MESSAGERIES IMPERIALES Co. v. BAINES (1863), 7 L. T. 763; 11 W. R. 322; 1 Mar. L. C. 285.

Annotations:—Reid. Adamson v. Gill (1868), 17 L. T. 464; The Lord Strathcona, [1925] P. 143.

1786. Implied authority — Shipowner in this country.]—LE BLANCH v. GRANGER, No. 1794, post.

1787. —— Ship abroad—Difficulty in communicating with owners.]—(1) G., a shipbroker at G. G., chartered the Finnish vessels F. & M. prior to their arrival at G. G. & without communication with the owners. G. had on several previous occasions chartered the F. & M. under similar circumstances, & all of these charterparties had been carried into effect. After the arrival of the F. & M. at G. G. their masters were on several occasions at G.'s office, & were shown their charterparties. A fortnight after the vessels' arrival at G. G., during which time freights had risen, the masters refused to take up the charterparties:—Held: the masters by their conduct had not ratified the charterparties in such a way as to make the act a complete ratification.

(2) A master has no authority to bind his owners by writing forward to a broker in a foreign port, prior to the ship's arrival therein, authorising the broker to charter his ship.

---

PART VII. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 3.

1. General rule.]—If without fraud the master makes a charterparty the shipowner is not thereby divested of liability, but is still liable for the performance of such duties as are not inconsistent with the stipulations of the charterparty.—TIFFIN v. WEBB (1864), 5 Nfld. L. R. 54.—NFLD.

(3) The authority of a master to bind his owners by charterparty arises when he is in a foreign port, & his owners are not there, & there is difficulty in communicating with them.

(4) A master is not the agent for his owners to hold out a person as authorised to charter his ship, so as to bind the owners.—THE FANNY, THE MATHILDA (1883), 48 L. T. 771; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 75, C. A.

1788. —— To authorise broker to charter.]—THE FANNY, THE MATHILDA, No. 1787, ante.

1789. —— To hold out person as authorised to charter.]—THE FANNY, THE MATHILDA, No. 1787, ante.

1790. —— To dissolve charterparty.]—HOLMES v. RALLI (1849), 7 L. T. 224.

1791. Ratification of act of master.] — THE FANNY, THE MATHILDA, No. 1787, ante.

Provisions relating to freight.]—See Nos. 4525–4532, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 4.—CONSTRUCTION.

See Sect. 1, sub-sect. 3, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 5.—ENFORCEMENT OF CONTRACT.

1792. Performance inconsistent with charterparty—Whether injunction granted.]—(1) A ship was chartered to proceed to such places on the west coast of Africa as the charterers should direct, & there load from their factor a full cargo of guano, & proceed to a port of the United Kingdom, to be paid at a certain freight per ton. The ship was directed to Ichaboe. The factor there, who was one of the charterers, endeavoured to provide a full cargo, but failed to procure more than a small quantity. The master of the ship, who was also a part owner, after waiting thirty-one days, seeing no probability of obtaining a full cargo from the factor, applied himself to complete the cargo by his own exertions & at his own expense, & finally succeeded in doing so, after having been ninety-three days at Ichaboe:—Held: the charterers were not entitled to that part of the cargo which had been procured by the exertions of the master without the assistance of the factor, & which the master claimed to hold as the property of the owners, & not of the charterers.

(2) An agreement, between the owners & the merchants, for the employment of the ship on a certain voyage, not in writing, but acted upon by the parties, is equivalent to a charterparty.

(3) Qu.: whether the ct. will grant an injunction restraining a party from taking a ship to any other than a certain port, thereby, in effect, compelling him to proceed to such port.—LIDGETT v. WILLIAMS (1845), 4 Hare, 456; 14 L. J. Ch. 459; 10 Jur. 42; 67 E. R. 727; affd., 5 L. T. O. S. 169.

1793. —— ——.]—Injunction granted to restrain the owner of a vessel from doing any act inconsistent with the charterparty into which he had entered.—SEVIN v. DESLANDES (1860), 30 L. J. Ch. 457; 3 L. T. 461; 7 Jur. N. S. 837; 9 W. R. 218; 1 Mar. L. C. 1.

Annotation:—Distd. Bucknall v. Tatem (1900), 83 L. T. 121.

1794. —— ——.]—This ct. cannot decree the specific performance of a charterparty, but it can restrain the parties from employing the ship in a manner inconsistent with the rights under a charterparty. Qu.: whether when the ship & owner are both in this country, the captain can, without the special authority of the owner, charter the ship.—LE BLANCH v. GRANGER (1866), 35 Beav. 187; 55 E. R. 866.

Annotation:—Refd. Adamson v. Gill (1868), 17 L. T. 464.

1795. —— ——.]—By a charterparty the shipowner agreed that his vessel should proceed to a named port & there load a cargo for the charterer, & it was provided that if the vessel should not be at that port ready to load by a specified date, the charterer should be at liberty to cancel the charterparty. The vessel was then at another port unloading, & was delayed in doing so for so long that it became impossible for her to arrive at the agreed port by the specified date. The charterer refused to extend the time for cancellation, or to promise to load the vessel if she proceeded to the agreed port, & said that if he did load, the rate of freight must be reduced, & he insisted on the vessel proceeding to the agreed port. The shipowner thereupon refused to send his vessel there:—Held: an injunction ought not to be granted to restrain the shipowner from using the vessel for any purposes other than those of the charterparty.—BUCKNALL BROTHERS v. TATEM & Co. (1900), 83 L. T. 121, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Moel Tryvan Shipping Co. v. Weir, [1910] 2 K. B. 844.

1796. —— ——.]—In consequence of the public announcement of an intended Royal Naval Review at Spithead on June 28, 1902, an agreement in writing was entered into between pltfs. & deft. that pltfs.' steamship Cynthia should be "at the disposal" of deft. on June 28 to take passengers from Herne Bay "for the purpose of viewing the Naval Review & for a day's cruise round the fleet; also on June 29 for similar purposes: price £250 payable, £50 down, balance before ship leaves Herne Bay." On the signing of the agreement deft. paid the £50 deposit. On June 25 the review was officially cancelled, whereupon pltfs. wired to deft. for instructions, stating that the ship was ready to start, & also requesting payment of the balance. Receiving no reply, pltfs., on June 28 & 29, used the ship for their own purposes, thereby making a profit. On June 29 deft. repudiated the contract in toto. During the two days in question the fleet remained anchored at Spithead. In an action by pltfs. to recover the balance less the profits made by their use of the ship during the two days:—Held: (1) pltfs. were entitled to recover, because the venture was deft.'s, the risk being his alone; & the happening of the Naval Review was not the sole basis of the contract, so that there had been no total failure of consideration, nor a total destruction of the subject-matter of the contract; (2) the contract did not operate as a demise of the ship.

I agree that this contract did not amount to a demise of the ship; it was, however, a contract entered into for valuable consideration as to the employment of the ship on the two days in question; & it at least conferred this interest on deft., that, if pltfs. had attempted to violate it, that attempted violation would have been a ground for an injunction at the instance of pltfs. to prevent it (STIRLING, L.J.).

It is very rarely that a charterparty does contain a demise of a ship. Generally speaking, the ship is not demised at all, but remains under the management & control of her owner (VAUGHAN-WILLIAMS, L.J.).—HERNE BAY STEAM BOAT CO. v. HUTTON, [1903] 2 K. B. 683; 72 L. J. K. B. 879; 89 L. T. 422; 52 W. R. 183; 19 T. L. R. 680; 47 Sol. Jo. 708; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 472, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Metropolitan Water Board v. Dick Kerr, [1917] 2 K. B. 1; Blackburn Bobbin Co. v. Allen (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1085. As to (2) Refd. The Lord Strathcona, [1925] P. 143.

1797. —— ——.]—A vessel hired by charterers under a time charter was requisitioned by the Admlty. from the shipowners, & kept for a period in its employment, at a lower hire & on different terms from those in the original charterparty. The charterers refused to pay the hire during this period, & the shipowners claimed the right to withdraw the vessel from the charterers' service. A mutual exceptions clause in the charterparty provided for (inter alia) "the restraint of princes," & a cesser clause for the cessation of hire in certain events, but not for restraint of princes. The charterers brought an action against the shipowners for an injunction to restrain them from withdrawing the vessel, & the shipowners counterclaimed that they were entitled to withdraw the vessel & to recover the hire:—Held: (1) the charterers were liable to pay the hire under the charterparty while the vessel was employed by the Admlty.; (2) the shipowners were not entitled to withdraw the vessel from the charterers' service, as there had been a waiver of their right of withdrawal under the charterparty by a reference of the question of payment of hire to arbn., & they had recovered judgment for hire in respect of a period subsequent to the alleged forfeiture.—MODERN TRANSPORT CO., LTD. v. DUNERIC S.S. CO., [1917] 1 K. B. 370; 86 L. J. K. B. 164; 115 L. T. 535; 33 T. L. R. 55; 61 Sol. Jo. 71; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 490; 22 Com. Cas. 125, C. A.

Annotation:—Generally, Refd. Anglo-Northern Trading Co. v. Emlyn Jones & Williams, [1917] 2 K. B. 78.

1798. —— —— Against mortgagee with notice.]—One of the Vice-Chancellors refused to decree the specific performance of a charterparty, or to grant an injunction at the suit of the charterer to restrain a mtgee. of the ship, who had notice of the charterparty, from making a sale in pursuance of his power of sale contained in the mtge.-deed; but the Lords Justices, considering that where property is contracted to be used in a particular manner, & a purchaser buys that property, with notice of that contract, he is bound not to use it otherwise than in accordance with the contract:—Held: pltf. was entitled to an injunction to restrain the mtgee. from exercising his power of sale, & from interfering with the ship on her voyage, the injunction to continue till the hearing of the cause, & pltf. undertaking to be answerable in damages.—DE MATTOS v. GIBSON (1858), 4 De G. & J. 276; 28 L. J. Ch. 165; 32 L. T. O. S. 268; 5 Jur. N. S. 347; 7 W. R. 152; 45 E. R. 108, L. JJ.

Annotations:—Folld. Sevin v. Deslandes (1860), 30 L. J. Ch. 457; Messageries Imperiales Co. v. Baines (1863), 7 L. T. 763; Adamson v. Gill (1868), 17 L. T. 464. Consd. The Celtic King, [1894] P. 175. Distd. Bucknall v. Tatem (1900), 83 L. T. 121. Consd. The Lord Strathcona, [1925] P. 143. Folld. Lord Strathcona S.S. Co. v. Dominion Coal Co., [1926] A. C. 108. Refd. Peto v. Brighton, Uckfield & Tunbridge Wells Ry. (1863), 1 Hem. & M. 468; Catt v. Tourle (1869), 4 Ch. App. 654; Montague v. Flockton (1873), L. R. 16 Eq. 189; Luker v. Dennis (1877), 7 Ch. D. 227; Piperno v. Harmston (1886), 3 T. L. R. 219; Whitwood Chemical Co. v. Hardman, [1891] 2 Ch. 416; Davis v. Foreman, [1894] 3 Ch. 654; L. C. C. v. Allen (1894), 78 J. P. 449; Formby v. Barker, [1903] 2 Ch. 539; Herne Bay Steam Boat Co. v. Hutton, [1903] 2 K. B. 683; Brigg v. Thornton, [1904] 1 Ch. 386; L. C. C. v. Allen, [1914] 3 K. B. 642; Barker v. Stickney, [1919] 1 K. B. 121; Macdonald v. Eyles, [1921] 1 Ch. 631. Mentd. Wilkes v. Spooner, [1911] 2 K. B. 473.

1799. —— —— Against purchaser with notice.]—MESSAGERIES IMPERIALES CO. v. BAINES, No. 1785, ante.

1800. —— —— ——.]—The purchaser of a ship who has notice of the terms of a charterparty entered into for its employment is in the position of a constructive trustee, & he can be restrained, at the suit of the charterers, from employing the ship in any way inconsistent with the charterparty. It is not material that specific performance cannot be enforced; the ct. can grant an injunction if a negative stipulation is expressed or clearly implied in the charterparty. Notice does not, however, impose upon the purchaser a liability in damages to the charterers for failure to perform the charterparty.—LORD STRATHCONA S.S. CO. v. DOMINION COAL CO., [1926] A. C. 108; 95 L. J. P. C. 71; 134 L. T. 227; 42 T. L. R. 86; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 585; 31 Com. Cas. 80, P. C.

Annotations:—Distd. Ontario Jockey Club v. McBride, [1927] A. C. 916. Mentd. Torbay Hotel v. Jenkins, [1927] 2 Ch. 225.

1801. —— —— Owner declining to reship cargo on ground of dangerous condition—Injunction pending inquiry as to condition of cargo.]—A vessel having been chartered to convey a cargo of coals to China, & having become damaged, the master was forced to discharge the cargo, & the owner declined to reship it on the ground that having become wet it was liable to spontaneous combustion. On a bill by the charterers to restrain the owner from employing the ship in any manner inconsistent with the charterparty, the ct. directed an inquiry as to the state of the cargo, & granted an injunction pending such inquiry.—HERIOT v. NICHOLAS (1864), 12 W. R. 844, L. JJ.

Annotations:—Expld. Adamson v. Gill (1868), 17 L. T. 461. Refd. Adamson v. Gill (1868), 18 L. T. 278.

1802. —— —— Contract impossible of performance.]—Pltfs. chartered deft.'s vessel to carry a cargo of coal from an English port to Bombay, & fulfilled their part of the contract. The ship sailed, but received damage in a storm & was obliged to put into Belfast to repair. Here the coal was unloaded, & deft., being advised that by reloading it in its damaged state he would run the risk of spontaneous combustion, sold the greater part & delivered it to the purchaser. He then entered into another engagement for the employment of his vessel, & pltfs. filed this bill for an injunction. Upon pltf.'s undertaking to supply at the English port a second cargo of coal, & to compensate deft. for his loss of time upon the voyage to Belfast & back as the ct. might direct, the Vice-Chancellor granted an injunction restraining deft. from using the vessel in any manner inconsistent with the charterparty:—Held: the only right in pltfs. was to have the charterparty carried into effect; that had become impossible; there was no right to compel deft. to do what was never in the contemplation of the parties, & the injunction could not be maintained.—ADAMSON v. GILL (1868), 18 L. T. 278; 16 W. R. 639; 3 Mar. L. C. 49, L. J.

1803. —— Whether action lies—Consent of owners.]—If a ship be chartered to the East India co. for the purpose of trade or warfare, & they order her on a voyage of discovery, against the consent of the owners, whereby the ship is lost, the owners may maintain an action on the case. Aliter, if the owners consent to the voyage.—LEWIN v. EAST INDIA CO. (1794), Peake, 318; 170 E. R. 170, N. P.

1804. Specific performance of charterparty—Whether granted.]—A. being equitably entitled to a ship entered into a charterparty with C. & afterwards mortgaged the ship to B., B., the mtgee., having notice of the charterparty. The ship proceeded on its voyage, but shortly afterwards was obliged to put into port for repairs, which were paid for by B., & B. took possession of the ship. C. filed a bill against A. & B., praying specific performance of the charterparty & for an injunction to restrain the use of the vessel for any other purpose than in performance of the contract entered into with C. One of the Vice-Chancellors dismissed the bill; &, on appeal, this decision was affirmed, the Lord Chancellor considering that specific performance of the charterparty could not be decreed, the highest right against B. being to prevent him from actively interfering to stop the performance of the contract, while the contract remained in force, but that under the circumstances of the case the contract was virtually at an end upon B.'s taking possession of the ship.—DE MATTOS v. GIBSON (1859), 4 De G. & J. 276, 284; 28 L. J. Ch. 498; 33 L. T. O. S. 193; 5 Jur. N. S. 555; 7 W. R. 514; 45 E. R. 108, 111, L. C.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sects. 5 & 6, A., B., C., D. & E.]

Annotation:—Refd. Greenhill v. Isle of Wight Newport Junction Ry. (1871), 23 L. T. 885.

1805. —— ——.]—LE BLANCH v. GRANGER, No. 1794, ante.

1806. —— ——.]—LORD STRATHCONA S.S. CO. v. DOMINION COAL CO., No. 1800, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 6.—PROVISIONS AS TO SHIP.

A. Name.

1807. Ship "to be named"—Liability of owner to provide ship—Owners' ships requisitioned.]—DINHAM, FAWCUS & CO. v. WITHERINGTON & EVERETT, [1916] W. N. 154.

Annotation:—Folld. Cork Gas Consumers Co. v. Witherington & Everett (1920), 36 T. L. R. 599.

1808. Charter of named vessel—Vessel already sold.]—Pltfs. chartered a steamer from defts. by a charterparty in which defts. were described "as owners" of a named steamer & which provided that defts. might substitute a reasonably similar steamer. Before the charterparty was signed defts. had sold the named steamer, but pltfs. were unaware of this at the date of signing. In an action for breach of the charterparty:—Held: defts.' primary obligation was to supply the named steamer, & as they were no longer owners of the named steamer at the date of the charter they were liable to pltfs. in damages.—SOCIÉTÉ NAVALE DE L'OUEST v. SUTHERLAND & CO. (1920), 36 T. L. R. 682.

B. Nationality.

1809. Whether condition precedent—In time of war.]—BEHN v. BURNESS, No. 1840, post.

1810. Description of nationality.]—To prove that a ship is British-built, a British register so describing her is by itself no evidence.

A ship was described in a memorandum for charter as "the Swedish ship or vessel called the Maria." In fact, she was British-built, & had a British register, but she had a complete set of Swedish papers & a Treasury licence to sail as a Swedish ship, which particulars were known to the freighter:—Held: in an action against him for not loading & dispatching the ship according to the memorandum for charter, he could not set up as a defence that she was in point of fact a British & not a Swedish ship.—REUSSE v. MEYERS (1813), 3 Camp. 475; 170 E. R. 1451, N. P.

1811. Change of flag during currency of charterparty.]—The owner of a chartered ship commits a breach of the charterparty by causing the flag of the ship to be changed during the currency of the charterparty; but whether any & what damage is thereby sustained by the charterer depends upon the circumstances of the particular case.—ISAACS (M.) & SONS, LTD. v. MCALLUM (W.) & CO., [1921] 3 K. B. 377; 90 L. J. K. B. 1105; 125 L. T. 794; 37 T. L. R. 408; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 411.

C. Nature and Classification.

1812. Nature—"Coppered"—Ship not coppered at date of charterparty.]—DIMECH v. CORLETT, No. 1858, post.

1813. —— "Steamer."]—Goods were shipped by pltfs. on board defts.' vessel, under a bill of lading, "shipped on board the steamship Hibernia . . . from Singapore to London . . . with liberty to call at any ports, in or out of the route, to receive & discharge coals . . . etc., & to tranship the goods by any other steamer":—Held: the contract of defts. was that the goods should be carried on board a ship in which the principal motive power during the voyage should be steam.

The bill of lading . . . must be taken to be the contract under which goods are shipped, & until I am told differently by a ct. of error I shall so hold (BLACKBURN, J.).—FRASER v. TELEGRAPH CONSTRUCTION CO. (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 566; 41 L. J. Q. B. 249; 27 L. T. 373; 20 W. R. 724.

Annotations:—Refd. Leduc v. Ward (1888), 20 Q. B. D. 475; Searle v. Lund (1903), 88 L. T. 863.

1814. Classification—Warranty of class at date of charterparty only.]—By a charterparty between pltf. as shipowner, & deft. as shipper, the vessel, which was therein described as A 1, was to proceed to a port of loading with all convenient speed, & there take on board a cargo of corn. The vessel was delayed, by stress of weather & the necessity of undergoing repairs, from Sept. to the following Apr., when she presented herself for cargo, but deft. then refused to load her. The vessel ran out her letter whilst under repairs:—Held: the warranty, that the vessel was A 1 was not a continuing warranty, but limited to the time when the charterparty was made.—HURST v. USBORNE (1856), 18 C. B. 144; 25 L. J. C. P. 209; 27 L. T. O. S. 80; 4 W. R. 458; 139 E. R. 1321.

Annotations:—Refd. Dimech v. Corlett (1859), 33 L. T. O. S. 21; Gelpel v. Smith (1872), 20 W. R. 332; Rankin v. Potter (1873), L. R. 6 H. L. 83; Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 125; French v. Newgass (1878), 47 L. J. Q. B. 361.

1815. —— ——.]—In a charterparty made at New York between British subjects, a vessel was described as "the A 1 Br. brig Hannah Eastee, of Liverpool":—Held: this description was a warranty by the owners that the vessel was at the time classed A 1 at Lloyd's in London.—ROUTH v. MACMILLAN (1863), 2 H. & C. 750; 3 New Rep. 391; 33 L. J. Ex. 38; 9 L. T. 541; 10 Jur. N. S. 158; 12 W. R. 381; 1 Mar. L. C. 402.

1816. —— ——.]—A description in a charterparty that a vessel is of a particular class is not a continuing warranty, but applies only to the classification at the time the charterparty is made.—FRENCH v. NEWGASS (1878), 3 C. P. D. 163; 47 L. J. Q. B. 361; 38 L. T. 164; 26 W. R. 430; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 574, C. A.

1817. —— Blank left in charterparty—Wrongly filled in by mutual mistake.]—Pltfs. were the owners of a steamship, & defts. agreed to charter her without anything having been said by either party as to the vessel's class. After the bargain had been made defts.' agent took to pltfs.' agents a printed form of charterparty, the space for the vessel's class being left blank, & owing to a clerk of pltfs.' agents being wrongly informed as to the class the words "British Corpn." were inserted. The vessel was in fact unclassed. In an action by the owners against the charterers for rectifica-

tion of the charterparty by striking out the words "British Corpn." on the ground that they had been inserted by mistake, the charterers counterclaimed for damages on the ground that they had had to pay a higher insurance than if the ship had been classed "British Corpn." :—Held: as the bargain was complete before anything was said about the vessel's class & as it was left to one of the parties to fill up the blank, there was a mistake common to both parties & pltfs. were entitled to rectification & the counterclaim must be dismissed.—VERGOTTIS & Co. v. FORD (H.) & Co., LTD. (1918), 34 T. L. R. 233.

D. Tonnage.

1818. Whether description material.]—By a charterparty a ship was described to be of the burden of 261 tons, & the freighter covenanted to load a full & complete cargo :—Held: the loading of goods equal in number of tons to the tonnage described in the charterparty, was not a performance of this covenant; but the freighter was bound to put on board as much goods as the ship was capable of carrying with safety.

The mention of a ship's burden in the description of a ship in the charterparty . . . is an immaterial circumstance; although it may be made material by the allegation of fraud or other matter (ABBOTT, C.J.).—HUNTER v. FRY (1819), 2 B. & Ald. 421; 106 E. R. 420.

Annotations :—Refd. Barker v. Windle (1856), 2 Jur. N. S. 1069; Morris v. Levison (1876), 1 C. P. D. 155; The Resolven (1892), 9 T. L. R. 75.

1819. ——.]—To an action for not loading a ship according to the terms of a charterparty, in which pltf. was described as "of the ship A., of the measurement of 180 to 200 tons, or thereabouts," deft. pleaded that by the said charterparty the ship was warranted to be of the measurement of 180 tons to 200 tons, or thereabouts; & that the said ship was of a measurement greatly & unreasonably exceeding 200 tons, & was not of the measurement of 180 tons to 200 tons or thereabouts; whereupon deft. did not load :—Held: the plea was not proved, inasmuch as the statement of tonnage in the charterparty was matter of description only, & did not amount to a warranty.—BARKER v. WINDLE (1856), 6 E. & B. 675; 2 Jur. N. S. 1069; 4 W. R. 603; 119 E. R. 1015; sub nom. WINDLE v. BARKER, 25 L. J. Q. B. 349; 27 L. T. O. S. 206, Ex. Ch.

Annotations :—Consd. Behn v. Burness (1863), 2 New Rep. 184. Refd. Corkling v. Massey (1873), 42 L. J. C. P. 153. Mentd. Young v. Moeller (1856), 6 E. & B. 681; Wheelton v. Hardisty (1858), 27 L. J. Q. B. 241.

E. Carrying Capacity.

1820. Whether stated capacity condition precedent.]—By a charterparty made at Liverpool for a voyage from Liverpool to Sydney, the charterer agreed to "pay for the use & hire of the vessel, in respect of the voyage, £1,550 in full, on condition of her taking a cargo of not less than 1,000 tons of weight & measurement" :—Held: (1) this was no condition precedent, &, even if it were so originally, deft., having had a substantial part of the consideration for the promise to pay, could not plead it in bar to the action; (2) the "1,000 tons of weight & measurement," meant 1,000 tons at a cargo of goods in the ordinary proportions at the port of lading, viz., one-third weight, & two-thirds measurement, & did not refer to a cargo for the Sydney market, in which the proportions were different.—PUST v. DOWIE (1865), 5 B. & S. 33; 5 New Rep. 338; 34 L. J. Q. B. 127; 13 W. R. 459; 122 E. R. 745, Ex. Ch.; affg. (1864), 5 B. & S. 20.

Annotations :—As to (1) Refd. The Norway (1864), Brown. & Lush. 377. Generally, Refd. Kish v. Taylor (1910), 80 L. J. K. B. 601. Mentd. Sheffield Nickel Co. v. Unwin (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 214.

1821. Whether amounting to warranty.]—During negotiations for the chartering of a vessel the owner's agents represented that the vessel had carried a certain quantity of cargo. The charterer acted on the representation, which, in fact, was untrue, & entered into a charterparty containing no reference to the previous cargo :—Held: the representation being untrue, the charterer could recover as for breach of a collateral verbal warranty.—HASSAN v. RUNCIMAN & Co. & LOHNE (1904), 91 L. T. 808; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 31; 10 Com. Cas. 19.

1822. Guarantee to carry specified dead weight—Construction—From surrounding circumstances.]—THE NORWAY (OWNERS) v. ASHBURNER, THE NORWAY, No. 1673, ante.

1823. —— —— ——.]—By a charterparty made between resps. & applts., it was agreed that applts.' vessel should proceed to Glasgow & there "load all such goods & merchandise as the charterers should tender alongside for shipment not exceeding what she could reasonably stow & carry," etc. It was provided that the freight should be a lump sum of £2,200, & the charterparty contained this guarantee: "Owners guarantee that the vessel shall carry not less than 2,000 tons dead weight," & this provision: "Should the vessel not carry the guaranteed dead weight as above, any expenses incurred from this cause to be borne by the owners, & a pro rata reduction per ton to be made from the first payment of freight." The cargo intended to be carried was a general cargo consisting in part of railway locomotive machinery, & a note was by consent of the parties written upon the margin of the charterparty specifying the "largest pieces" of machinery which were to be included in the cargo by number, weight, & measurement. The charterers tendered a cargo not in excess of 2,000 tons dead weight, consisting of railway machinery, including locomotives & tenders, two parcels of coals, & general goods. The large pieces of machinery were much more numerous than specified in the marginal note. The vessel sailed with only 1,691 tons dead weight. It was not disputed that she contained a carrying capacity up to the guarantee: & it was admitted that 2,000 tons dead weight of the cargo tendered could not have been carried on the vessel unless the coal had been packed with the machinery, which was not done. The charterers claimed a deduction in the freight :—Held: the marginal note amounted to a representation, & the cargo being such a cargo as was not contemplated, & the fact being that the vessel carried less than the guaranteed dead weight because the charterers tendered large machinery in excess of their representation, they were not entitled to the benefit of the stipulation for reduction of the freight, & the whole lump freight was payable :—Held: the stowage of coal among machinery without the consent of the shippers of the machinery & of the coal was not proper stowage, & it was the duty of resps. & not the duty of applts. to obtain such consent.—MACKILL v. WRIGHT BROTHERS & Co. (1888), 14 App. Cas. 106, H. L.

Annotations :—Distd. Millar v. S.S. Freden, [1918] 1 K. B. 611. Consd. Re Thomson & Brocklebank, [1918] 1 K. B. 655.

PART VII. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 6.—D.

1818 1. Whether description material.]—OCEANIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. v. SOONDERDAS DHURUMSEY (1890), I. L. R. 15 Bom. 389.—IND.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 6, E. & F.]

1824. —— —— Carrying capacity.]—A charterparty, which provided that the ship should "load a cargo of creosoted sleepers & timbers," contained the following clauses: "Charterer has option of shipping 100/200 tons of general cargo"; & "Owners guarantee ship to carry at least about 90,000 cubic feet or 1,500 tons dead weight of cargo":—Held: the latter clause did not amount to a warranty that the ship should be able to carry about 90,000 cubic feet of the description of cargo which the charterer was under the previous clauses entitled to tender, but was merely a warranty of the carrying capacity of the ship.—CARNEGIE v. CONNER (1889), 24 Q. B. D. 45; 59 L. J. Q. B. 122; 61 L. T. 691; 6 T. L. R. 12; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 447, D. C.

Annotations:—Distd. Millar v. S.S. Froden, [1917] 2 K. B. 657. Apld. Re Thomson & Brocklebank, [1918] 1 K. B. 655. Refd. Miller v. Borner (1900), 69 L. J. Q. B. 429.

1825. —— —— Lifting capacity.]—By a charterparty it was provided that a steamship described as of about the cubic capacity for cargo of 300,000 feet bale space & of 5,600 tons dead weight cargo capacity as per builders' plan should proceed from Singapore to Calcutta & there load a full & complete cargo of unobjectionable merchandise not exceeding what she could reasonably stow & carry & proceed to certain ports. The vessel's holds were to be sufficiently ventilated as customary & all requisite mats & dunnage were to be found by the steamer. By a guarantee contained in the charterparty the owners guaranteed to place 5,600 tons dead weight cargo capacity & 300,000 cubic feet bale space as per builders' plan at disposal of charterers. If the dead weight or bale space placed at charterers' disposal were less than the above then the lump sum freight was to be reduced pro rata. The charterers did, in fact, load a cargo on board the ship of a kind contemplated by the charterparty but the dead weight cargo capacity placed at their disposal was, owing to various causes not in any way attributable to the charterers, less than 5,600 tons, & was occupied to the extent of 32 tons by dunnage provided & used by the shipowners in stowing the cargo of the ship, & by reason thereof cargo to the extent of 32 tons which the charterers were ready to ship remained unshipped. The dunnage was necessary to enable the shipowners to fulfil their obligations under the charterparty to properly stow & ventilate the cargo in the ship, & the only question which arose was whether or not the lump sum for freight ought to be reduced in respect of the 32 tons:—Held: in the absence of special circumstances the shipowners' guarantee was a guarantee of the abstract lifting capacity of the ship. The shipowners were therefore entitled to the lump sum freight without any deduction in respect of the 32 tons.—Re THOMSON & Co. & BROCKLEBANK, LTD., [1918] 1 K. B. 655; sub nom. THOMSON & Co. v. BROCKLEBANK (T. & J.), LTD., 87 L. J. K. B. 616; 118 L. T. 573; 34 T. L. R. 284; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 253.

1826. —— —— ——.]—A printed form of charterparty provided that the ship should load & the charterers provide a full & complete cargo of maize, the words "wheat & [or flour &] or other lawful merchandise," which were in the printed form being struck out. The ship was then to proceed & discharge at one of a number of ports as ordered by the charterers. The freight was to be payable at & after rates varying according to the port of discharge. Then followed the clause "The owners guarantee the ship's dead-weight capacity to be 3,200 tons & freight to be paid on this quantity." That clause was substituted for a printed clause which made freight payable per ton of wheat & [or flour delivered, or if other cargo was shipped on a full cargo of wheat, &] or flour. The effect of the alteration was to make the charterparty one at a lump sum freight, varying with the port of discharge. The ship in fact had a lifting capacity of 3,200 tons, but she had not cubic capacity to take on board that weight of maize:—Held: the primary meaning of the phrase "ship's dead weight capacity" was not her capacity to carry tons of maize, but her abstract lifting capacity, & the mere fact that maize was mentioned as the cargo to be carried in the earlier part of the charterparty did not change the meaning of the phrase from a designation of the ship's lifting capacity in the abstract to a designation of her combined lifting & cubic capacity applied to the ratio of bulk to weight existing in maize.—MILLAR (W). & Co., LTD. v. FREDEN (OWNERS), [1918] 1 K. B. 611; 87 L. J. K. B. 524; 118 L. T. 522; 34 T. L. R. 234; 62 Sol. Jo. 307; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 247, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Re Thomson & Brocklebank, [1918] 1 K. B. 655.

1827. —— ——.]—By the terms of a charterparty the freight to be paid for the hire of a vessel for a voyage was the lump sum of £10,000, the ship to take on board at the port of loading all such goods & lawful merchandise as the charterers or their agents should tender alongside for shipment, including explosives & deck cargo not exceeding what she could reasonably stow & carry. The charterparty contained the following provision: "The lump sum is based on owners' guarantee that the said steamer shall carry a dead weight of 6,000 tons of cargo when loaded according to Lloyd's rules, exclusive of 1,100 tons of coal, which steamer may carry for steaming purposes, etc., of which about 800 to be carried in the hold, & the necessary stores for steamer's use for the voyage, & also that the steamer shall place at the disposal of the charterers for cargo not less than 8,450 tons of forty cubic feet cargo space grain measurement; failing which, a pro rata reduction shall be made."

The cubic space of 8,450 tons of 40 cubic feet cargo space grain measurement in the vessel was placed at the disposal of the charterers; but if she had taken on board a cargo of 6,000 tons dead weight it would have been necessary to limit the quantity of coals on leaving the port of loading to 728 tons in order to comply with Lloyd's rules as to freeboard. The charterers, in fact, loaded a cargo which filled all the available space but did not weight 6,000 tons, & the master thereupon took on board 1,250 tons of coal for steaming purposes. The charterers deducted from the £10,000 named in the charterparty as the lump sum freight the sum of £523 18*s.* 10*d.*, being the proportion of the £10,000 corresponding to the difference between 7,100 tons (6,000 + 1,100) & 6,728 tons, the total dead weight capacity of the vessel, upon the ground that she was not of the guaranteed dead weight capacity of 6,000 tons when loaded according to Lloyd's rules, exclusive of 1,100 tons of coal for steaming purposes. In an action by the shipowners to recover the £523 18*s.* 10*d.* so deducted:—Held: the deduction had been rightly made by the charterers, & the shipowners were therefore not entitled to recover.—SOCIETA ANONYMA UNGHERESE DI ARMAMENTO MARITTIMO ORIENTE v. TYSER LINE, LTD. (1902), 8 Com. Cas. 25.

1828. —— Breach of guarantee—Measure of damages.]—SCARAMANGA MANOUSSIN & CO. v. ENGLISH & CO., No. 2831, post.

1829. "One thousand tons of weight & measurement"—Meaning of.]—PUST v. DOWIE, No. 1820, ante.

1830. "Two thousand tons or thereabouts"—What margin allowed.]—In a charterparty it was agreed that a vessel was to carry "2,000 tons or thereabouts":—Held: the word "thereabouts" must be taken to qualify the 2,000 to some extent, & 5 per cent. was a fair margin to allow.—THE RESOLVEN (1892), 9 T. L. R. 75.

1831. "About six hundred tons but no guarantee given."]—A steamship was described in a charterparty of Apr. 24, 1917, as being "supposed to carry about 600 tons but no guarantee given deadweight on Board of Trade summer freeboard inclusive of bunkers." The charterers on the same day sub-chartered the vessel describing her in the sub-charter as "carrying about 600 tons deadweight on Board of Trade summer freeboard inclusive of bunkers without guarantee." At all material times the ship had some 100 to 150 tons of hard cement fixed & irremovable in her holds, which reduced her deadweight capacity to about 497 tons:—Held: (1) on giving the whole reach & burthen of the ship as they existed at the date of the contract, the owners had performed their contract that the whole reach & lawful burthen of the ship should be at charterers' disposal; (2) that the words "no guarantee given" relieved the owners of liability in respect of the deadweight capacity being less than 600 tons.—JAPY FRÈRES & CO. v. SUTHERLAND (R. W. J.) & CO., SUTHERLAND (R. W. J.) & CO. v. THOEGER (OWNERS) (1921), 91 L. J. K. B. 19; 125 L. T. 211; 37 T. L. R. 446; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 198; 26 Com. Cas. 227, C. A.

1832. "Not less than six thousand five hundred tons but not exceeding seven thousand tons"—Obligation on charterers to load to full capacity.]—JARDINE, MATHESON & CO. v. CLYDE SHIPPING CO., No. 4764, post.

Amount of cargo.]—See Part VII., Sect. 2, sub-sect. 8, C., post.

F. Fitness.

1833. "Tight, staunch, strong."]—In a declaration on a charterparty, by which the ship was to sail from Hamburgh, being tight, staunch, strong, & every way fitted for the voyage, in the course of the next Nov., & proceed to Lima, & having discharged her outward cargo, forthwith to be made ready & proceed to Costa Rica, & there take on board a cargo, & then proceed to Liverpool—breaches were alleged as follows: That the vessel was not in Nov. or afterwards, until or when she sailed, to wit, on Dec. 20, tight, staunch, strong, or in any way fitted for the voyage; & that though she did then sail from Hamburgh, yet by reason of her not being tight, etc., when she so sailed, she was obliged to, & did, put back into Altona, & was detained there for a long time, to wit, until, etc.; though she did then again set sail on her voyage from Altona, she did not proceed on the voyage according to its due course, or with proper dispatch, but was unnecessarily delayed, & deviated, etc.; by means of which several premises the vessel did not arrive at Lima until, etc., & pltf. lost the benefit of a homeward cargo from Costa Rica, etc. Deft. pleaded, amongst other things, as to so much of the declaration as related to the vessel not being fitted for the voyage, & by reason thereof being obliged to put back into Altona, & being detained there for such time as was necessary to put further ballast on board, payment into ct. of 1*s.*, & no damages ultra; & as to so much as related to her being detained at Altona beyond the time necessary to put the ballast on board, that she was not detained there by reason of her not being tight, staunch, etc., modo et forma:—Held: the latter plea was bad, as answering only a part of the breach to which it applied, viz. the detention at Altona, & the subsequent delay & deviation; even if that was a breach, & was not merely a statement of special damage.—PORTER v. IZAT (1836), 1 M. & W. 381; 2 Gale, 54; Tyr. & Gr. 639; 150 E. R. 481.

1834. ——.]—(1) A covenant in a charterparty of affreightment, that the owner shall at his expense forthwith, make the ship tight & strong, etc., for a voyage for twelve months, etc., & keep her so, is not a condition precedent to the recovery of freight, after the freighter had taken the ship into his service & used her for a certain period, but if the freighter be afterwards delayed or injured by the necessity of repairing her, he has his remedy in damages, but if the owner's neglect to repair in the first instance had precluded the freighter from making any use of the vessel, that would have gone to the whole consideration, & might have been insisted on as a bar to the action.

(2) A ship having been let to freight for twelve months, & for such longer period as the freighters should detain her, for which certain proportions of the freight were to be paid at the end of two, six, ten & fourteen months, etc., it is no answer to a breach for non-payment of six months' freight due at the end of the ten months, that the owner had covenanted to keep the vessel in repair during the time she was freighted, & that she was not in repair when the freighter shipped goods on board her during the twelve months, which made it necessary for him to unload & repair her, whereby she was unserviceable for part of the six months; & that he had paid the freight for all the time she was serviceable; & that she was not in his service for ten months in the whole: for non constat but that after she had been used by the freighter, she wanted repair without any default of the owner, or that he was guilty of any delay in making the repairs; & the freight would still run on during the time of repair.

(3) The freight being reserved at so much per month, was earned at the end of each month, although the stipulated times of payment were from four months to four months, & the ship was lost before the end of fourteen months.

(4) An allowance for extra men being covenanted to be paid by the freighter, the residue of which, after part payment was not to be paid till the ship's discharge or return from her voyage, & the ship having sailed on a voyage to St. Domingo, where she arrived, but was burnt before her return:—Held: such loss was a discharge of her from the freighter's employment, as if by the act of the freighter: on which such extra allowance became payable.—HAVELOCK v. GEDDES (1809), 10 East, 555; 103 E. R. 886.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reid. Clipsham v. Vertue (1843), 5 Q. B. 265; McAndrew v. Chapple (1866), 14 W. R. 891; Stanton v. Richardson, Richardson v. Stanton (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 421; Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1873), L. R.

1828 i. Guarantee to carry specified dead-weight—Breach of guarantee—Measure of damages.]—M'CULLY v. M'DONALD, M'DONALD v. M'CULLY (1870), 22 L. T. 628.—SCOT.

m. About fifty tons not exceeding what she can reasonably stow & carry—What margin allowed.]—DAVIS v. YOUNG (1869), 8 N. S. W. S. C. R. (L.) 259.—AUS.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 6, F. & G.]

8 C. P. 572; The Europa, [1908] P. 84. As to (2) Consd. Tully v. Howling (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 182; Inman S.S. Co. v. Bischoff (1882), 7 App. Cas. 670. As to (3) Distd. Crozier v. Smith (1840), 1 Man. & G. 407. Generally, Refd. Fothergill v. Walton (1818), 2 Moore, C. P. 630; Thompson v. Gillespy (1855), 5 E. & B. 209; Kopitoff v. Wilson (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 377. Mentd. Carpenter v. Cresswell (1827), 4 Bing. 409.

1835. —— Whether condition precedent.]—(1) Declaration stated that a charterparty was made by pltfs., owners of a ship then at Sunderland, & deft. whereby it was agreed that the ship, "being tight, staunch & strong, & every way fitted for the voyage," should at Sunderland load a cargo from the merchant's factor, &, being so loaded, should therewith proceed to Constantinople for orders, to deliver there, or at other places named, being paid freight at rates named; "one-fourth of the freight to be advanced to the owner's agent in London, on the ship having sailed, less 5 per cent. for insurance, interest & commission." That deft. caused the ship to be loaded, & "the ship, being so loaded, sailed, to wit, for Constantinople, pursuant to the said charter party"; that pltfs. did & were ready to do all things necessary on their part, & all things necessary happened & were done, to entitle pltfs., by their agent in London, to receive, & render deft. liable to pay to him, the fourth part of the freight, less 5 per cent., etc., yet deft. had not paid it. Plea: that the ship was not, at the commencement of the voyage, tight, staunch, & strong, & every way fitted for the voyage, & that, by reason of the premises, the ship & the cargo were wholly lost:—Held: a good plea; for that the sailing of the ship in a seaworthy condition was made by the charterparty a condition precedent to the payment of the fourth of the freight. But the plea could not be supported on the ground of avoiding circuity of action.

(2) Deft. also pleaded that pltfs. not only sent the ship to sea in an unseaworthy state, but that, after she was so sent, pltfs. permitted the master to leave the ship & go on shore, & permitted her to be near the shore without a master or sufficient crew; & she, by reason of the premises, sunk & was lost, & the cargo was wholly lost:—Held: a bad plea: inasmuch as it did not traverse the sailing of the ship according to the charterparty; & the subsequent misconduct of pltf. was ground only for a cross action.

(3) Deft. also pleaded that the ship did not sail as alleged; on which issue was joined. On the trial, it appeared that she loaded in Sunderland Dock, &, being duly cleared crossed the bar, came out of Sunderland Harbour [to save a spring tide] into the roads, & there cast anchor 3 miles from Sunderland: The shrouds & cables were not in a proper condition for sailing; the bills of lading not signed; the mate was not on board; & the master soon after left her. There was no intention that she should afterwards return to the harbour. She was lost on the night of the day she so cast anchor, none of the above-mentioned deficiencies having been supplied:—Held: upon these facts, it appeared that the ship had not sailed, but merely gone into the roads to complete her preparation for sailing: & deft. was entitled to the verdict.—THOMPSON v. GILLESPY (1855), 5 E. & B. 209; 3 C. L. R. 1368; 24 L. J. Q. B. 340; 25 L. T. O. S. 174; 1 Jur. N. S. 779; 3 W. R. 505; 119 E. R. 459.

Annotation:—As to (3) Apld. Hudson v. Bilton (1856), 6 E. & B. 565.

1836. —— ——.]—The stipulations in a charterparty that the vessel, being tight, staunch & strong, shall sail with all convenient speed, are not conditions precedent to the charterer's obligation to load, unless by the breach of such stipulations the object of the voyage is wholly frustrated.

In Abbott on Shipping . . . it is said—"Whether or not a particular covenant by one party be a condition precedent . . . or an independent covenant, is a question to be determined according to the fair intention of the parties, to be collected from the language employed by them (POLLOCK, C.B.).—TARRABOCHIA v. HICKIE (1856), 1 H. & N. 183; 26 L. J. Ex. 26; 156 E. R. 1168.

*Annotations:—Refd. Croockewit v. Fletcher (1857), 1 H. & N. 893; Dimech v. Corlett (1858), 12 Moo. P. C. C. 199; Seeger v. Duthie (1860), 8 C. B. N. S. 45; Behn v. Burness (1863), 3 B. & S. 751; Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 125; Stanton v. Richardson, Richardson v. Stanton (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 390.

1837. —— ——.]—THE COLLIER, SYDNEY, ETC. v. NICHOL (1857), 4 L. T. 683.

1838. —— ——.]—Pltf. chartered a ship from defts. for a single voyage. By the charterparty defts. warranted that the vessel was "in every way fitted for the voyage & service, & to be so maintained by the owners." During the currency of the charterparty a stevedore engaged on the ship in the work of unloading sustained injuries by reason of the defective condition of an iron ladder leading to the hold. The stevedore sued the charterer for damages. The charterer defended the action, & in so doing acted reasonably, & judgment was given against him for damages & costs on the ground that he had committed a breach of duty towards the stevedore in not making an inspection of the vessel before inviting the stevedore on board:—Held: the charterer's liability to the stevedore was the natural consequence of defts.' breach of warranty; & the charterer was entitled to recover from defts. the damages & costs paid by him to the stevedore, & his own costs, as between solr. & client, incurred in defending the action.—SCOTT v. FOLEY, AIKMAN & Co. (1899), 16 T. L. R. 55; 5 Com. Cas. 53.

G. Position.

1839. Whether condition precedent.] — To an action for not loading a vessel in pursuance of the terms of a charterparty, deft. pleaded, setting out the whole of the charterparty, which stated, that it was agreed between pltf., "original charterer of the good ship or vessel called The Dove A. I, of the measurement of 149 tons, or thereabouts, now at sea, having sailed three weeks ago, or thereabouts," & deft., that the ship, being tight, staunch, etc., should proceed to M. (after having delivered her cargo at G., & there load certain goods of deft., & therewith proceed to a safe port in the United Kingdom, calling at C. or F. for a certain rate of freight; thirty working days to be allowed, Sundays excepted. The plea then averred, that time was an essential & material part of the contract; & the probable situation of the vessel with reference to the date of her sailing, & the object of her voyage, was also an essential & material

PART VII. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 6.—G.

1839 1. Whether condition precedent.]—By a charter party made between pltf. & deft. it was agreed "that pltf.'s vessel P. now lying at C. should sail for J. direct & load a full cargo of guano, to be supplied by defts. & after loading, the said vessel was to proceed to H. The vessel was not lying at C. at the time the contract was entered into. There was no evidence to show that it was a matter of importance where the ship was at the time the contract was made:—Held: the words "now lying at C." were words of description, & did not constitute a condition precedent.—BECKWOLDT v. COLONIAL GUANO CO. (1890), 16 V. L. R. 166.—AUS.

part of the contract, & that, in point of fact, at the time of the making the charterparty, the vessel had not sailed three weeks, but a materially & unreasonably later time, of which deft. had no notice or knowledge, for which cause deft. neglected & refused to load the vessel:—Held: the time at which the vessel sailed was material; that statement in the charterparty amounted to a warranty; & deft. was entitled to retain his verdict upon the plea, on motion for judgment non obstante veredicto.—OLLIVE v. BOOKER (1847), 1 Exch. 416; 17 L. J. Ex. 21; 154 E. R. 177; sub nom. OLIVE v. BOOKER, 10 L. T. O. S. 137.

Annotations:—Apld. Oliver v. Fielden (1849), 4 Exch. 135. Consd. Seeger v. Duthie (1860), 8 C. B. N. S. 45. Apprvd. Behn v. Burness (1863), 3 B. & S. 751. Reid. Elliot v. Von Glehn (1849), 13 Q. B. 632; Hurst v. Usborne (1856), 25 L. J. C. P. 209; Croockewit v. Fletcher (1857), 1 H. & N. 893; Gorrissen v. Perrin (1857), 2 C. B. N. S. 681; Wheelton v. Hardisty (1858), 8 E. & B. 285; Dimech v. Corlett (1859), 33 L. T. O. S. 21; Corkling v. Massey (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 395; Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 125. Mentd. Bannerman v. White (1861), 10 C. B. N. S. 844.

1840. ——.]—(1) Whether a descriptive statement in a written instrument is a mere representation or a substantive part of the contract is a question of construction which the ct., & not the jury, must determine.

(2) By memorandum of charterparty, dated London, it was agreed between A. B., therein described as "owner of the good ship or vessel called the M., of 420 tons or thereabouts, now in the port of Amsterdam," & C. D., that the said ship, being tight, staunch, strong, & every way fitted & ready for the voyage, should, "with all possible dispatch, proceed direct to N., etc." In an action by the shipowner against the charterer for not loading the agreed cargo:—Held: the words "now in the port of Amsterdam" amounted to a warranty or condition precedent to the contract that the ship was there at the time of making the memorandum of charterparty.

(3) For instance, if it was made in the time of war, the national character of the vessel is of such importance that a statement of it in the charterparty might properly be regarded as part of the shipowner's contract (WILLIAMS, J.).

(4) A charterparty must be construed with reference to the intention of the parties at the time it was made, & irrespective of subsequent events.—BEHN v. BURNESS (1863), 3 B. & S. 751; 2 New Rep. 184; 32 L. J. Q. B. 204; 8 L. T. 207; 9 Jur. N. S. 620; 11 W. R. 496; 1 Mar. L. C. 329; 122 E. R. 281, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reid. Carr v. Montefiore (1864), 5 B. & S. 408; The Resolven (1892), 9 T. L. R. 75; Re Comptoir Commercial Anversois Power, [1920] 1 K. B. 868. As to (2) Apld. Aron v. Comptoir Wegimont, [1921] 3 K. B. 435. Reid. MacAndrew v. Chapple (1866), Har. & Ruth. 745; Bentsen v. Taylor (2), [1893] 2 Q. B. 274. Generally, Reid. Neill v. Whitworth (1865), 18 C. B. N. S. 435; Pust v. Dowie (1865), 5 B. & S. 33; Corkling v. Massey (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 395; Oppenheim v. Fraser (1876), 34 L. T. 524; Vergottis v. Ford (1918), 34 T. L. R. 233. Mentd. Mallan v. Radloff (1864), 17 C. B. N. S. 589; Heilbutt v. Hickson (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 438; Bettini v. Gye (1875), 24 W. R. 551; Sheffield Nickel Co. v. Unwin (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 214; Lodwick v. Perth (1884), 1 T. L. R. 76; Wallis & Wells v. Pratt & Haynes, [1910] 2 K. B. 1003; Westacott v. Hahn, [1918] 1 K. B. 495; Meyrick v. Dyson (1925), 41 T. L. R. 368; British American Continental Bank v. British Bank for Foreign Trade, [1926] 1 K. B. 328.

1841. ——.]—By a charterparty it was mutually agreed between pltf. & deft. that a ship expected to be at A. about Dec. 15, should proceed to A., or as near thereto as she could safely get, & there load a cargo:—Held: the words expected to be at A. about Dec. 15, were a matter of contract for the breach whereof an action is maintainable, also that they mean that the ship is in such a place that she may reasonably expect to be at A. at the time named.—CORKLING v. MASSEY (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 395; 42 L. J. C. P. 153; 28 L. T. 636; 21 W. R. 680; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 18.

Annotation:—Reid. Sanday v. Keighley Maxted (1922), 38 T. L. R. 273.

1842. ——.]—In an action brought by the vendors against their vendees for refusal to accept, evidence was given to show the circumstances under which the contract was made, & that it was of vital importance that the vessel should be in the port named at the time of making the contract. The jury found, that the condition "ship now at Rangoon," had not been fulfilled, & that it was a condition absolutely vital:—Held: (1) it was rightly left to the jury to say under what circumstances the contract was made, & the words "ship now at Rangoon" amounted to a warranty justifying deft. in saying that there had been a failure of performance of a condition precedent & in refusing to carry out the contract; (2) the finding of the jury was rightly taken as an element in enabling the ct. to say that the words amounted to a condition precedent.—OPPENHEIM v. FRASER (1876), 34 L. T. 524; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 146.

Annotation:—As to (2) Reid. Re Comptoir Commercial Anversois & Power, [1920] 1 K. B. 868.

1843. ——.]—A charterparty, dated Mar. 29, between pltf., a shipowner, & defts., described the ship as "now sailed or about to sail from a pitch pine port to the United Kingdom," & provided that the ship should, after discharging homeward cargo, proceed to Quebec, & there load a cargo of timber, & being so loaded should therewith proceed to Greenock, Barrow, or Liverpool, as ordered on signing the bill of lading, & deliver the same on being paid freight. At the date of the charterparty both parties knew that the ship was, or had just been, at Mobile, in America, loading a cargo of timber, which she was to carry to Greenock. She did not, in fact, sail from Mobile until Apr. 23. On May 16, defts. were aware of the date of the sailing, & they then wrote to pltf.'s brokers, asking if they had any proposal respecting the charter. No proposal was made by pltf., & on June 5, the ship arrived at Greenock. Further correspondence took place, & ultimately the defts., on June 16, wrote to pltf.'s brokers, "If you send the ship to load under our charterparty we shall protest against loading & difference of freight & insurance upon goods then shipped."

The ship sailed from Greenock on June 18, & after she had arrived at Quebec, defts. refused to load her:—Held: (1) the description of the ship as "now sailed or about to sail," was of the substance of the contract; it was a condition precedent & not a mere warranty; & on breach of the condition defts. would have been entitled to repudiate the contract.

(2) The conduct of defts., & in particular the letter of June 16, amounted to a waiver of such right to repudiate the contract, & they were liable for the freight under the charterparty, but were entitled as against pltf. to such damages as they could prove that they had sustained by reason of the breach of the condition.

(3) If there is any doubt about the facts it is for the jury to determine upon the evidence what they were & when they have done this it is for the ct. to construe the contract (LORD ESHER, M.R.).—BENTSEN v. TAYLOR, SONS & CO. (2), [1893] 2 Q. B. 274; 63 L. J. Q. B. 15; 69 L. T. 487; 42 W. R. 8; 9 T. L. R. 552; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 385; 4 R. 510, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. Hartley v. Hymans, [1920] 3 K. B. 475. Reid. Panoutsos v. Raymond Hadley Corpn. of New York, [1917] 2 K. B. 473; Ayrey v. British Legal

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 6, G.; sub-sect. 7, A. & B.]

& United Provident Assce., [1918] 1 K. B. 136. Generally, Refd. Compagnie Chemin de Fer Paris-Orleans v. Leeston Shipping Co. (1919), 36 T. L. R. 68. Mentd. Meyrick v. Dyson (1925), 41 T. L. R. 368.

1844. ——.]—A charterparty provided that a ship "now in Finland, bound to London," should proceed to Archangel from London & there load a cargo of timber for Great Yarmouth:—Held: the words "now in Finland, bound to London" were a warranty that the ship was in some port in Finland from which she was under engagement to proceed direct to London.—ENGMAN v. PALGRAVE, BROWN & SON (1898), 15 T. L. R. 113; 4 Com. Cas. 75.

1845. —— "Expected ready to load."]—A clause in a contract that a ship is "expected ready to load" at a given date does not mean that the ship must be in such a position, whether that position be known to the parties or not, that she will, according to all probable reckoning, be able to load by the date indicated. It means that there must be an honest belief, founded on reasonable grounds, in the minds of the sellers making the representation that she will be able to load at that date. Where such a representation was made, & there were no reasonable grounds for making it, & the ship was not ready to load until a long time afterwards, there was a breach of condition entitling the buyers to avoid the contract.—SANDAY & Co. v. KEIGHLEY, MAXTED & Co., SANDAY (S.) & Co. v. HILLERNS & FOX VLER (1922), 91 L. J. K. B. 624; 127 L. T. 327; 38 T. L. R. 561; 66 Sol. Jo. 437; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 596; 27 Com. Cas. 296, C. A.

1846. Whether amounting to warranty.]—ELLIOT v. VON GLEHN, No. 1656, ante.

1847. Failure to be at stated position—Liability of charterers to purchasers of cargo—Recovery over against shipowner.]—PROCTER GARRETT MARSTON, LTD. v. OAKWIN S.S. Co., No. 3479, post.

SUB-SECT. 7.—PROVISIONS AS TO VOYAGE.

A. In General.

1848. Meaning of voyage.]—"Voyage" in the usual exception inserted in charterparties as to enemies, perils of war, etc., does not include the period during which the vessel is being loaded before the commencement of the voyage.——— v. ——— (1846), 6 L. T. O. S. 345.

1849. ——.]—THE CARRON PARK, No. 2680, post.

1850. Charter to ports of particular island—Some ports neutral some hostile—Covenant to procure licence to trade—Breach of covenant.]—If a vessel be chartered to any ports of an island, part of which is hostile, & part neutral, & the freighter covenants to procure a licence; if the ship trades to a neutral port of the island, it is no breach of the covenant that the freighter has procured a licence which would not authorise the like trade to an hostile port.—JOHNSON v. GREAVES (1810), 2 Taunt. 344; 127 E. R. 1111.

1851. Charter for consecutive voyages—Within specified time—Whether completion of all voyages or expiry of time terminates contract.]—In an action for the breach of a charterparty of affreightment by the freighters against the owner of the vessel, the declaration stated, that it was agreed by the parties to the charterparty, that the vessel should proceed with all convenient speed to S., & there load a cargo of coals, & therewith proceed to L., & deliver the cargo at a safe wharf, a certain amount of freight being payable per ton, the act of God, the Queen's enemies, fire, & all & every other dangers & accidents of the seas, rivers, & navigation, of whatever nature & kind, during the said voyage always excepted, that the charterparty should be in force for six successive voyages; & that they should be made not later than the last day of Feb. 1853. The declaration then averred that pltfs. did all things necessary to be done on their part to entitle them to have six successive voyages performed under the charterparty; & that they had always been ready & willing to do all things required, yet the vessel did not make six successive voyages as agreed; & that deft. would not permit the said vessel, for the fourth successive time, or for any time except three times after the making of the charterparty, to proceed to S., & there to load a cargo of coals on board. Plea, that, after the making of the charterparty, & before the alleged breach, the last day of Feb. had expired on demurrer:—Held: the plea was no answer to the action; & the declaration was good, although it did not contain any averment negativing the fact of deft. being within any of the exceptions contained in the charterparty; & if deft. relied upon such fact, he was bound to plead it.—WHEELER v. BAVIDGE (1854), 9 Exch. 668; 2 C. L. R. 1077; 23 L. J. Ex. 221; 156 E. R. 286.

Annotations:—Consd. Munro, Brice v. War Risks Assocn., [1918] 2 K. B. 78. Refd. Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 125. Mentd. Hurst v. Evans (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 305.

1852. —— ——— ———.]—A declaration on a charterparty stated, that it was agreed between deft., the shipowner, & pltf., that the ship should proceed to S. & there take on board from the agents of the freighter a full & complete cargo of coals & therewith proceed to L., & deliver the same at a wharf to the order of the freighter, the act of God, the Queen's enemies, fire, & all & every other dangers & accidents of the seas, rivers, & navigation of whatever nature or kind during the said voyage always excepted; that the charter should be in force for six successive voyages, & that they should be made not later than the last day of Feb. 1853. Breaches that the ship did not make six successive voyages, & that deft. would not permit the ship to make more than three voyages. Plea, that during the three voyages the ship sustained great damage by dangers & accidents of the seas & navigation, which damage was necessary to be repaired before the ship could commence her fourth voyage; that deft. forthwith on the completion of the said three voyages proceeded to repair, & did repair, the damage; but it could not be repaired, nor could the ship be made fit to commence the fourth voyage until after the last day of Feb. 1853, had elapsed:—Held: the plea was bad, inasmuch as the inability to perform the voyages within the time specified did not discharge the contract, or afford any excuse for not commencing the fourth voyage.—POPE v. BAVIDGE (1854), 10 Exch. 73; 156 E. R. 361.

Annotation:—N.F. Dunford v. Cia Anonima Maritima Union (1911), 104 L. T. 811.

1853. ——— ——— ———.]—A charterparty contained the following clause: This charter to remain in force for six or seven, in charterers' option, consecutive voyages during 1910. The ship was ready to load on Jan. 3, 1910, but the charterers were unable to load her at Newcastle in consequence of a strike which lasted until Jan. 11. The ship accordingly went on a voyage to Italy for other charterers with a cargo of coal from South Wales, the judge finding that this was reasonable. She did not get home from her sixth voyage until Jan. 6, 1911, when the charterers purported to exercise their option to load her for a seventh voyage:—Held: on the true construction of the charterparty, the words "during 1910" were words of description & protection for both parties, the one being only bound to load, & the other only bound to supply the ship during 1910, & therefore the charterers were not entitled to exercise the option claimed.—DUNFORD & CO., LTD. v. CIA ANONIMA MARITIMA UNION (1911), 104 L. T. 811; 55 Sol. Jo. 424; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 32; 16 Com. Cas. 181.

B. Proceeding to Port of Loading.

1854. Whether general words condition precedent —To sail with next wind.]—CONSTABLE v. CLOBERIE (1625), Palm. 397; Poph. 161; Lat. 49; 81 E. R. 1141; sub nom. CONUSTABLE v. CLOWBURY, Noy, 75.

Annotations:—Consd. Hall v. Cazenove (1804), 4 East, 477. Distd. Glaholm v. Hays (1841), 2 Man. & G. 257; Oliver v. Fielden (1849), 4 Exch. 135; Croockewit v. Fletcher (1857), 1 H. & N. 893. Refd. Ballo & Griffith v. Briard (1628), Lat. 225; Havelock v. Geddes (1809), 10 East, 555; Davidson v. Gwynne (1810), 12 East, 381; Seeger v. Duthie (1860), 8 C. B. N. S. 45; Stanton v. Richardson, Richardson v. Stanton (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 421. Mentd. Wynne v. Wynne (1840), 2 Man. & G. 8.

1855. —— "Unload & directly sail."]—Covenant on charterparty, that the ship having unloaded her outward cargo at St. T. should directly sail for Dominica, where deft. should load a homeward cargo. Breach, deft. did not load, etc. Plea, the ship did not unload her outward cargo at St. T. Demurrer:—Held: the plea was bad, as the unloading at St. T. was not a condition precedent.—OHLSEN v. DRUMMOND (1785), 4 Doug. K. B. 356; 99 E. R. 920; sub nom. OLHSEN v. DRUMMOND, 2 Chit. 705.

1856. —— "With all convenient speed."]—By charterparty, pltf., owner, agreed to proceed to the Cape, & having discharged goods, thence to proceed with all convenient speed to Bombay. In consideration whereof & of everything beforementioned, deft., the freighter, promised to find a cargo. Pltf. delayed at the Cape, & then sailed out of his course to the Mauritius, & so arrived at Bombay six weeks later than if he had sailed direct from the Cape; in which time, other vessels which had sailed later from England, had arrived. In assumpsit, for not finding a cargo, it was left to the jury, to find whether pltf.'s conduct entirely frustrated deft.'s object in chartering the ship:—Held: the direction was right; & the proceeding to Bombay was a condition precedent, by breach of which deft.'s object was entirely frustrated, &, consequently, pltf. could not recover.—FREEMAN v. TAYLOR (1831), 8 Bing. 124; 1 Moo. & S. 182; 1 L. J. C. P. 26; 131 E. R. 348.

Annotations:—Consd. Tarrabochia v. Hickie (1856), 1 H. & N. 183; MacAndrew v. Chapple (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 643. Refd. M'Andrew v. Adams (1834), 1 Bing. N. C. 29; Behn v. Burners (1863), 2 New Rep. 184; Stanton v. Richardson, Richardson v. Stanton (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 421; Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 125.

1857. —— ——.]—TARRABOCHIA v. HICKIE, No. 1836, ante.

1858. —— ——.]—It is important not to give to mercantile instruments, such as a charterparty, an unnecessary strict construction; but such a construction as, with reference to the context, & the object of the contract, would effectuate the obvious & expressed intention of the parties.

By a charterparty made at Malta, dated Feb. 24, 1854, the chartered ship was described as "coppered, A 1 of Malta," of a certain measurement, "now at anchor at this port," & it was agreed that she being tight, staunch, & strong, & properly manned, & every way fitted for the voyage, should with all convenient speed proceed in ballast to Alexandria, in Egypt, & there load from the charterer, a cargo of beans, wheat, etc. Forty working days were to be allowed for loading & unloading, the lay days to commence when the vessel should be ready to receive her cargo at her port of loading, & ten days on demurrage, over & above the lay days, at £8 sterling, the penalty for non-performance of this agreement to be the amount of freight. At the date of the charterparty the ship was not coppered, nor was she lying at anchor in port, nor had she obtained her register. She was an entire new vessel, still in dry dock, her coppering being in course of completion. The ship was not ready to sail until Mar. 28 following, when, from the state of the weather, she did not sail until Mar. 30, & reached Alexandria on Apr. 12, 1854. No objection was made by the charterer at the time of the delay. On her arrival, the master gave notice to the charterer's agent there, that he would be ready to receive cargo on Apr. 14. Before the ship's arrival at Alexandria the charterer's agent had made a cession of the charterparty, & the agent referred the master to the cessionary, informing him that his principal had nothing more to do with the charterparty than to guarantee the solvency of the cessionary. Freights had fallen considerably below the rates named in the charterparty between the date of the charterparty & the date of the cession. The cessionary sought to invalidate the cession on account of the delay in the arrival of the ship, & on that ground refused to give the captain any cargo. The captain refused to acknowledge the cessionary, or to release the charterer; but at the same time expressed his readiness to receive a cargo from any one under the order of the charterer's agent. The ship lay at Alexandria waiting for cargo the whole of her lay days & the ten demurrage days, but received no cargo from the charterer. The captain afterwards took a small cargo & returned to Malta:—Held: (1) upon the true construction of the charterparty, it was unnecessary to determine, whether the completion of the coppering of the ship was a condition precedent or not to the maintaining an action against the charterer, as it was clear, that that statement had reference to the time of sailing, & not to the date of the charterparty; (2) as to the stipulation, that the ship should sail "with all convenient speed," as the parties had not expressly stated for themselves in the charterparty, that unless the ship sailed on a specified day, the charterparty was to be at an end; & as the charterer resided at Malta, & had made no objection at the time to the delay, or had given evidence that any other loss than that occasioned by the falling of freights had taken place in consequence of the delay, his position not thereby altered, & an action was, therefore, maintainable against the charterer upon the charterparty; (3) as one of the parties to the charterparty had not the power, without the privity or consent of the other, to substitute a third person in his place, simply on condition of being responsible for the solvency of that third person; the change of the party on the one side, even with a guarantee, altering the condition of the other party, as affected the remedy, so as to make the contract a new one; the captain, therefore, was justified in refusing to accept the cessionary in lieu of the charterer.—DIMECH v. CORLETT (1858), 12 Moo. P. C. C. 199; 33 L. T. O. S. 21; 14 E. R. 887, P. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Fratelli Sorrentino v. Buerger, [1915] 3 K. B. 367. As to (2) Expld. Behn v. Burness

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 7, B.]

(1863), 3 B. & S. 751. Generally, Refd. Wilson & Coventry v. Otto Thoresen's Linie, [1910] 2 K. B. 405; Wall v. Rederiakt. Luggude, [1915] 3 K. B. 66.

1859. —— "With all possible dispatch"—Ship delayed by accident.]—Pltf., a shipowner, in Nov. 1871, entered into a charterparty, by which the ship was to proceed with all possible dispatch, dangers & accidents of navigation excepted, from Liverpool to Newport, & there load a cargo of iron rails for San Francisco. Pltf. effected an insurance on the chartered freight for the voyage. The ship sailed from Liverpool on Jan. 2, 1872, & on Jan. 3, got aground in Carnarvon Bay. She was got off by Feb. 18, & repaired, the time necessary for the completion of such repairs extending to the end of Aug. In the meantime, on Feb. 15, the charterers had thrown up the charter & chartered another ship to carry the rails, which were wanted for the construction of a railway, to San Francisco. In an action by pltf. on the policy of insurance on the chartered freight, the jury found that the time necessary for getting the ship off & repairing her was so long as to put an end, in a commercial sense, to the commercial speculation entered upon by the shipowner & the charterers:—Held: the charterers were, by reason of the delay, not bound to load the ship, & there was therefore a loss of the chartered freight by perils of the sea.

If this charterparty be read as a charter for a definite voyage or adventure, then it follows that there is necessarily an implied condition that the ship shall arrive at Newport in time for it (BRAMWELL, B.).

The shipowner . . . impliedly agrees that the ship shall arrive in time for the voyage, that is a condition precedent as well as an agreement; & its non-performance not only gives the charterer a cause of action, but also releases him (BRAMWELL, B.).—JACKSON v. UNION MARINE INSURANCE CO. (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 125; 44 L. J. C. P. 27; 31 L. T. 789; 23 W. R. 169; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 435, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Expld. Hudson v. Hill (1874), 43 L. J. C. P. 273. Consd. Dahl v. Nelson, Donkin (1881), 6 App. Cas. 38. Distd. Inman S.S. Co. v. Bischoff (1882), 7 App. Cas. 670. Consd. The Alps, [1893] P. 109; Re Jamieson & Newcastle Steamship Freight Insce. Assocn., [1895] 2 Q. B. 90; Bensaude v. Thames & Mersey Marine Insce. (1896), 75 L. T. 155. Distd. Turnbull, Martin v. Hull Underwriters' Assocn., [1900] 2 Q. B. 402; Re Carver & Sassoon (1911), 17 Com. Cas. 59. Consd. Dunford v. Cia Anon. Maritima Union (1911), 104 L. T. 811. Expld. Embiricos v. Reid, [1914] 3 K. B. 45. Distd. F. A. Tamplin S.S. Co. v. Anglo-Mexican Petroleum Products Co., [1916] 2 A. C. 397; Inverkip S.S. Co. v. Bunge, [1917] 2 K. B. 193. Apld. Heilgers v. Cambrian Steam Navigation Co. (1917), 33 T. L. R. 348; Scottish Navigation Co. v. Souter, Admiral Shipping Co. v. Weidner Hopkins, [1917] 1 K. B. 222. Consd. Countess of Warwick S.S. Co. v. Nickel Soc. Anon., Anglo-Northern Trading Co. v. Emlyn, Jones & Williams, [1918] 1 K. B. 372. Apld. Akt. Olivebank v. Dansk Svovlsyre Fabrik, [1919] 2 K. B. 162. Expld. Bank Line v. Capel, [1919] A. C. 435. Consd. Larrinaga v. Soc. Franco-Americaine des Phosphates de Medulla (1923), 92 L. J. K. B. 455; Hirji Mulji v. Cheong Yue S.S. Co., [1926] A. C. 497. Refd. De Wolf v. Archangel Bank & Insce. (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 451; King v. Parker (1876), 34 L. T. 887; Poussard v. Spiers & Pond (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 410; Bush v. Whitehaven Town & Harbour Trustees (1888), 52 J. P. 392; Carlton S.S. Co. v. Castle Mail Packets Co. (1898), 78 L. T. 661; Weir v. Pirie (No. 2) (1898), 3 Com. Cas. 271; Nickoll & Knight v. Ashton, Edridge (1900), 69 L. J. Q. B. 640; Manchester Liners v. British & Foreign Marine Insce. (1901), 18 T. L. R. 183; Herne Bay Steam Boat Co. v. Hutton, [1903] 2 K. B. 683; Krell v. Henry, [1903] 2 K. B. 740; Storey v. Fulham Steel Works Co. (1907), 24 T. L. R. 89; Porter v. Tottenham U. C., [1915] 1 K. B. 776; Smith, Coney, & Barrett v. Becker, Gray (1915), 112 L. T. 914; Horlock v. Beal, [1916] 1 A. C. 486; Leiston Gas Co. v. Leiston-cum-Sizewell U. D. C., [1916] 2 K. B. 428; Millar v. Taylor, [1916] 1 K. B. 402; Blackburn Bobbin Co. v. Allen, [1918] 2 K. B. 467; Metropolitan Water Board v. Dick, Kerr, [1918] A. C. 119; Naylor, Benzon v. Krainische Industrie-Gesellschaft, [1918] 1 K. B. 331; Re Comptoir Commercial Anversois v. Power, [1920] 1 K. B. 868.

1860. —— "Forthwith."]—HUDSON v. HILL, No. 1874, post.

1861. —— "Immediately."]—By two charterparties of even date, a steamer was chartered to proceed on successive voyages to a port in America & there load a cargo, & to proceed therewith to Rotterdam. The second charterparty contained a clause, that, on the completion of the first voyage, the steamer should "proceed immediately" to fulfill that charterparty. On the completion of the first voyage the steamer left Rotterdam & went to Cardiff to coal, & thence proceeded to America, where she arrived before the cancelling date provided by the charterparty. The charterers refused to load the steamer under the charterparty on the ground that by reason of the steamer going to Cardiff, there had been a breach of the above clause:—Held: (1) there had been no breach of the charterparty, it being the ordinary course of business for steamers proceeding from Rotterdan to America to go to Cardiff to coal; (2) the above clause was not a condition precedent, the breach of which would entitle the charterers to repudiate the charterparty.

If parties to a contract stipulate that something is to be done at a particular moment of time, as, for example, that a ship shall sail on or before a certain date, they intend that in such a case time shall be of the essence of the contract, & that if the condition is not performed the contract may be put an end to. But when the parties agree in a contract of this kind that something is to be done with all dispatch, or immediately, then there is a certain amount of elasticity introduced into the performance of the agreement, which negatives the idea that the parties have intended to make time the essence of the contract, & therefore if such an agreement is not strictly observed, the only remedy is damages (BIGHAM, J.).—FOREST OAK STEAM SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. RICHARD & CO. (1899), 5 Com. Cas. 100.

1862. To arrive by specified day.]—Pltf. wanted a ship at Winyaw in Carolina, to load with rice, & therefore he covenanted with deft. "to freight his ship there," & deft. covenanted absolutely "to go thither"; & in order to quicken the ship's arrival there, there is a proviso "that if he gets there by Mar. 1, he is to be certain of a freight; but if he does not arrive there before Mar. 1, then pltf. was to declare in forty-eight hours, whether he would freight the ship or not." Deft. therefore thereby became the insuree of the risk of his getting there before Mar. 1, in which event, he was sure of a freight, but he still had a general chance of getting a freight even though he should not arrive there till after that time.

The words are positive & express "that he should go thither." The parties plainly meant

PART VII. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 7.—B.

1859 i. Whether general words condition precedent—"With all possible dispatch"—Ship delayed by accident.]—CARVILL v. SCHOFIELD (1883), 9 S. C. R. 370.—CAN.

n. To arrive "between the opening of navigation"—What amounts to substantial compliance.] — MCSHANE v. HENDERSON (1884), M. L. R. 1 Q. B. 264.—CAN.

o. —— ——.]—MCSHANE v. HALL (1885), M. L. R. 2 Q. B. 42.—CAN.

p. —— ——.]—Where a charterparty provided that a steamer should arrive in the Port of Montreal "between the opening of navigation of 1879," her arrival on May 18, was not a substantial compliance with the stipulation, it being proved that navigation opened about May 1.—MCSHANE v. MILBURN (1885), 29 L. C. J. 274.—CAN.

that the ship was to go thither, & the consideration fails by his not going (LORD MANSFIELD).—SHUBRICK v. SALMOND (1765), 3 Burr. 1637; 97 E. R. 1022.

Annotations:—Consd. M'Andrew v. Adams (1834), 3 L. J. C. P. 236. Apld. Moel Tryvan Shipping Co. v. Weir, [1910] 2 K. B. 844. Reld. Harper v. M'Carthy (1806), 2 Bos. & P. N. R. 258.

1863. ——.]—Where a ship was freighted to go in ballast to Jamaica, & bring home a cargo from thence, & the freighter undertook to provide a full cargo for her, in time for the July convoy provided she arrived out & was ready by June 25:—Held: as she did not arrive out till after June 25, the freighter was entirely discharged from his contract to furnish a cargo.—SHADFORTH v. HIGGIN (1813), 3 Camp. 385; 170 E. R. 1419, N. P.

1864. ——.]—By mutual covenants in a charterparty of affreightment it was agreed on the part of the shipowner, that he should provide a ship, which should proceed to Jamaica, & receive on board, from the agents of the shipper, a cargo to be provided by him, according to his covenant after-mentioned, & should sail with the June convoy, etc., provided the ship arrived out, & was ready to load sixty-five running days before the sailing of the convoy, which were to be accounted from the day of arrival, & being reported ready to receive goods, etc.; & on the part of the shipper, that he would provide 650 casks of produce in time for the ship to load the same, & join the June convoy, provided she arrived out & was ready to load, & notice thereof given by the agents of the shipper sixty-five running days before the sailing of the convoy, etc., & should pay, etc.:—Held: the provision as to the sixty-five running days was not a condition precedent to the obligation of the freighter to furnish a cargo of 650 casks of produce, but applied only to the obligation of the shipowner, that the vessel in such case should sail with the June convoy.—DEFFELL v. BROCKLEBANK (1821), 3 Bli. 561; 4 E. R. 706, H. L.

1865. ——.]—(1) A clause in a charterparty provided that "the charterers or their agents have the option of cancelling this charterparty provided the ship is not arrived as within described at Newcastle, New South Wales, by Dec. 15, 1907." The charterers were informed by the shipowners shortly before Dec. 15, 1907, that the ship was detained, & could not arrive by the cancelling date. Being asked to say whether they would exercise their option to cancel or not, they refused to state whether they would or not, & required the shipowners to send the ship to Newcastle in accordance with the charterparty The ship arrived at Newcastle on June 15, 1908, & thereupon the charterers exercised their right to cancel the charterparty & refused to load. The shipowners being only able to employ the ship at a lower freight than that specified in the charterparty claimed damages from the charterers for breach of contract:—Held: the charterers were not bound to exercise their option under the cancelling clause before the arrival of the ship, & the action therefore failed.

(2) The contractual duty of the shipowner to proceed to the port of loading does not cease because, before the ship arrives there, the day comes after which, if the ship has not arrived, the charterers' contractual duty to load her, when she does arrive, is converted by the special clause of the charterparty, into a matter of their free choice (KENNEDY, L.J.).

(3) The law reads into a contract "a reasonable time" for an act, be it for giving of a notice, or doing a work, or paying money or exercising an option, where the intention of the parties to a contract, which has no fixed time, either expressly or by just implication, must be presumed to have included such an implication. There is no room for it otherwise (KENNEDY, L.J.).—MOEL TRYVAN SHIP CO., LTD. v. WEIR (ANDREW) & Co., [1910] 2 K. B. 844; 79 L. J. K. B. 898; 103 L. T. 161; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 469; 15 Com. Cas. 307, C. A.

1866. To sail on or before specified day—Whether condition precedent.]—HALL v. CAZENOVE, No. 1886, post.

1867. —— ——.]—By a memorandum of charter it is agreed that a vessel shall proceed to Trieste, & there load a full cargo, & being so loaded shall proceed to a port in the United Kingdom, & deliver the same, upon payment of freight at a certain rate; that forty running days shall be allowed the merchants, if not sooner dispatched, for loading at Trieste, & for unloading at the port of discharge; & twelve days on demurrage, at £6 per day; the vessel to sail from England on or before Feb. 4 next, & the vessel shall be addressed to the charterer's agents at the port of loading & discharge:—Held: the sailing on or before Feb. 4 was a condition precedent.—GLAHOLM v. HAYS (1841), 2 Man. & G. 257; Drinkwater, 130; 2 Scott, N. R. 471; 10 L. J. C. P. 98; 8 L. T. 93; 133 E. R. 743.

Annotations:—Apld. Ollive v. Booker (1847), 1 Exch. 416; Oliver v. Fielden (1849), 4 Exch. 135. Distd. Tarrabochia v. Hickie (1856), 1 H. & N. 183. Apld. Croockewit v. Fletcher (1857), 1 H. & N. 893. Distd. Dimech v. Corlett (1858), 12 Moo. P. C. C. 200. Consd. Valente v. Gibbs (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 270. Apld. Seeger v. Duttrie (1860), 8 C. B. N. S. 45; Behn v. Burness (1863), 3 B. & S. 751. Apld. Tidey v. Mollett (1864), 16 C. B. N. S. 298; Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 125. Mentd. Wheelton v. Hardisty (1858), 27 L. J. Q. B. 241.

1868. —— Qualification in subsequent memorandum.]—WILSON v. GADSDEN (1850), 15 L. T. O. S. 522.

1869. —— What amounts to sailing.]—A ship was chartered "to sail & proceed from Amsterdam with all convenient speed to Liverpool, to leave Amsterdam not later than all Mar." On Mar. 30, the ship, having a portion of her ballast on board, left the docks at Amsterdam, & on the same evening got to the entrance of the North Holland Canal. On Mar. 31, she proceeded to Alkmaar, where she remained during Apr. 1 & 2, taking in the remainder of her ballast. On Apr. 3 she proceeded on her voyage, & quitted Nieuve Diep, where she completed her crew, on Apr. 9 & arrived at Liverpool on Apr. 17:—Held: the term "leave Amsterdam" did not mean "sail on her voyage from Amsterdam"; & consequently the stipulation in the charterparty had been complied with.—VAN BAGGEN v. BAINES (1854), 9 Exch. 523; 2 C. L. R. 543; 23 L. J. Ex. 213; 8 L. T. 93; 156 E. R. 223.

1870. —— ——.]—Shipbrokers at Liverpool, as agents for pltf., a merchant at Amsterdam, negotiated with deft., a merchant at Liverpool, for the charter of a ship, then at Amsterdam, belonging to pltf. On Feb. 28, 1856, deft. signed the charterparty, which stipulated that the ship was to sail from Amsterdam to Liverpool on or before Mar. 15 then next; that the vessel being tight, staunch, etc., should with all convenient speed be made ready, as in the usual printed form of charterparty, with the exception, as follows: "restrictions of princes & rulers, the dangers & accidents of the seas & navigation, the act of God, fire, pirates & enemies throughout this charterparty always excepted." It was to be forwarded at once to pltf. for his signature, & was so, but not returned for a few posts afterwards.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 7, B.]

The morning after its return to the shipbrokers, signed, they inserted the following words in the margin, "wind & weather permitting, with cargo or in ballast for ship's benefit." They then took it to deft., explaining how & why they had made this alteration. Deft. objected to it altogether, & then declined the charter, as it was not sent back per return of post, & also because it was altered in form. The ship did not sail from Amsterdam, being delayed by the act of God, stress of weather, until Mar. 18:—Held: the stipulation in the charterparty that the ship was to sail from Amsterdam for Liverpool on or before Mar. 15 was a condition precedent; the word "throughout" made no difference; & notwithstanding she was prevented from doing so "by the act of God" deft. was not bound, under the charterparty, to accept her.

(2) All mercantile contracts ought to be construed according to their plain meaning to men of sense & understanding (MARTIN, B.).—CROOCKEWIT v. FLETCHER (1857), 1 H. & N. 893; 26 L. J. Ex. 153; 28 L. T. O. S. 322; 5 W. R. 348; 156 E. R. 1463.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Roberts v. Brett (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 611; Behn v. Burness (1863), 3 B. & S. 751; Nelson v. Nelson Line (Liverpool) (No. 3), Re Nelson & Nelson Line (Liverpool) (1907), 77 L. J. K. B. 97. Generally, Refd. Re Salomon & Naudszus (1899), 81 L. T. 325. Mentd. Pattinson v. Luckley (1875), L. R. 10 Exch. 330.

1871. —— Exception of unavoidable impediment.]—Proviso in a charterparty, that if the ship do not arrive at her port of loading on or before, etc., unless prevented by stress of weather or other unavoidable impediment, the freighter should not be obliged to ship a cargo:—Held: if ordinary diligence were used in the voyage to reach the port of loading, the owners were within the exception of the proviso though the ship was delayed till after the stipulated time by causes which extraordinary exertion might have counteracted.—GRANGER v. DENT (1829), Mood. & M. 475; L. & Welsb. 270, N. P.

Annotation:—Refd. Glaholm v. Hays (1841), 2 Man. & G. 257.

1872. —— Exception of perils of the sea—Peril occurring before arrival at port of loading.]—By a charterparty it was agreed that the ship, then at Newcastle, "being tight, staunch, & strong, & every way fitted for the voyage," should with all convenient speed "sail & proceed to the usual loading place, guaranteed for cargo in all this month, Oct., or so near thereunto as she might safely get, & there load in the customary manner a full & complete cargo of coal," &, being so loaded, should proceed therewith to Alexandria, & deliver the same on being paid certain freight, "the act of God, the Queen's enemies, restraints of princes & rulers, fire, & all & every other dangers & accidents of the seas, rivers, & navigation of whatever nature & kind soever during the said voyage always excepted." To an action upon this charterparty, alleging for breach that the vessel was not ready to receive, & did not in fact receive the agreed cargo until long after the time stipulated, deft. pleaded that, at the time of the making of the charterparty, the vessel, so being at Newcastle, was at a place there far distant from the usual place there for loading to which she was to sail & proceed, & before reaching such usual place would necessarily be exposed to divers dangers of seas, rivers, & navigation, all which pltfs. & deft. at the time well knew; that the voyage in the charterparty mentioned was a voyage from the place at Newcastle at which the vessel was at the time of making it to the said usual place for loading, & from thence to Alexandria; & that the vessel, during the said voyage, that is to say, during such part of the said voyage as took place before she sailed or proceeded from the said usual place on her way to Alexandria, & after she had received on board part of the said cargo, & before any breach of the charterparty, was hindered & prevented by the dangers of seas, rivers, & navigation then happening, from receiving on board & from being ready to receive on board the residue of the said cargo, etc.:—Held: the plea was a good answer to the action, the exception in the charterparty applying as well to the preliminary transit of the vessel to the place of loading as to the subsequent part of the voyage; the expression in the charterparty, "guaranteed for cargo in all this month," which was admitted to mean "ready to receive cargo within the month" did not take the case out of the exception.—BARKER v. M'ANDREW (1865), 18 C. B. N. S. 759; 6 New Rep. 227; 34 L. J. C. P. 191; 12 L. T 459; 11 Jur. N. S. 637; 13 W. R. 779; 2 Mar. L. C. 205; 144 E. R. 643.

Annotations:—Apld. Harrison v. Garthorne (1872), 26 L. T. 508; Hudson v. Hill (1874), 43 L. J. C. P. 273. Refd. Cohn v. Davidson (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 455; Nottebohn v. Richter (1886), 18 Q. B. D. 63; The Carron Park (1890), 15 P. D. 203.

1873. —— —— ——.]—By a charterparty, pltfs., as owners, agreed with defts., as charterers of a good screw steamship, name to be given up as soon as known, expected to carry from 1,100 to 1,200 tons cargo, that the said ship, being tight, staunch, & strong, & every way fitted for the voyage, should, with all convenient speed, sail & proceed to Alexandria, to arrive within a margin of three weeks from Nov. 15, 1870; & with liberty to take a cargo out for owner's benefit, either direct or from or to any neighbouring ports; & there load a cargo from charterer's agents, & proceed to Hull or London at certain rates in full of all pilotages & port charges during the said voyage, all dangers & accidents of the seas, etc., "during the said voyage always excepted." Pltfs. alleged, as a breach of the charterparty, that the said steamship, although duly named by defts., did not arrive at Alexandria within the stipulated period. Defts. pleaded dangers of the seas after the name of the ship was given up by pltfs., & whilst on her voyage to Alexandria pursuant to the charterparty, which prevented her reaching her destination at Alexandria:—Held: upon demurrer, this plea was good.—HARRISON v. GARTHORNE (1872), 26 L. T. 508; 20 W. R. 722; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 303.

1874. —— —— ——.]—By a charterparty dated Dec. 28, pltfs.' ship was to "forthwith" proceed from England to B., an island in the West Indies, & having there loaded a cargo of sugar for defts., to return to England. The vessel was to be allowed to take an outward cargo of coals to specified places, & the charterparty contained a clause excusing the performance thereof if it could not be complied with owing to perils of the seas. At the time of entering upon the charterparty, the ship was undergoing repairs, but she came out of dock upon Jan. 6, & having taken on board a cargo of coals for R., one of the specified places, she sailed on Feb. 8. Delay on her voyage outwards was occasioned by unfavour-

1871 i. To sail on or before specified day—Exception of unavoidable impediment.]—CANADIAN TRADING CO., LTD. v. CANADIAN GOVERNMENT MERCHANT MARINE, LTD., [1922] 3 W. W. R. 197; 69 D. L. R. 544.—CAN.

q. Delay in arrival — Unreasonable deviation for repairs.]—CASSELS v. BURNS (1887), 14 S. C. R. 256.—CAN.

able winds, & she was injured by a collision with a steamer, which rendered necessary further repairs. She finally sailed for R. on Mar. 9, & reached R. on May 26, having there discharged the cargo of coals, she started on July 1, & reached B. on July 28. The season for exporting sugar from B. begins with the month of Apr. & ends with July in every year, & the agents of defts. declined to provide a cargo of sugar for pltfs.' vessel on the ground that she had arrived at B. too late in the season. They offered to provide a cargo of sugar if pltfs.' vessel would go under protest to V., an island ninety miles off. The captain refused this offer, & remained at B., insisting upon the performance of the charterparty by defts.' agent. The captain at last agreed with other parties for a charter, & left B. on Oct. 14. Pltfs. having sued for a breach of the charterparty in refusing to load a cargo at B., the judge at the trial directed the jury that if the vessel sailed without unreasonable delay, she proceeded "forthwith" within the meaning of the charterparty; the clause excusing performance thereof, on the ground of perils of the seas, applied to the preliminary voyage to R., & the captain might reasonably think that if he shipped a cargo elsewhere than at B., he might put an end to the original charterparty:—Held: a right direction. —HUDSON v. HILL (1874), 43 L. J. C. P. 273; 30 L. T. 555; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 278.

Annotations:—Refd. F. A. Tamplin S.S. Co. v. Anglo-Mexican Petroleum Products Co., [1916] 1 K. B. 485; Scottish Navigation Co. v. Souter, [1916] 1 K. B. 675.

1875. —— —— ——.]—By a charterparty of a steamship it was agreed that she should go to "three safe loading places" between two named ports & there load from the charterers a cargo of oranges & being so loaded proceed to London . . . & deliver the same pursuant to bills of lading . . . (the act of God . . . & all dangers of the seas, rivers, & steam navigation of what nature & kind soever during the said voyage always excepted), & the charterers thereby promised to load the cargo, & stipulated, after a provision for working & lay-days, that "should the steamer not be arrived at first loading port free of pratique & ready to load on or before Dec. 15 next, charterers have the option of cancelling or confirming this charterparty." By dangers of the seas, the steamer, although arrived at the first loading port, was not free of pratique & ready to load on Dec. 15, & the charterers therefore cancelled the charterparty. At the trial of an action against them for not loading the cargo, the judge left to the jury the disputed question whether the port was a "safe loading place," but being asked by them for his opinion thereon, gave it, & they found in the affirmative:—Held: (1) this expression of opinion was under the circumstances no misdirection; (2) the excepted dangers clause applied only to the voyage, & not to the clause giving the option to cancel the charterparty if the ship was not ready to load on the day fixed, & therefore the cancellation was justified.—SMITH v. DART & SON (1884), 14 Q. B. D. 105; 54 L. J. Q. B. 121; 52 L. T. 218; 33 W. R. 455; 1 T. L. R. 99; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 360, D. C.

Annotation:—As to (2) Distd. The Austin Friars (1894), 71 L. T. 27.

1876. —— Exception of restraint of princes—Limited to voyage after loading.]—Pltf. & defts. agreed by charterparty that a ship, then at Liverpool, of which pltf. was master, should, with all convenient speed, be made ready, & should, at L., receive & load from the charterers' agents a full cargo, &, being so loaded, should proceed to Stettin & deliver the same & so end the voyage, restraints of princes, etc., "during the said voyage, always mutually excepted"; & the ship was to be loaded at L. without detention; & defts. thereby agreed to load the vessel at L., as in the charterparty stated, with the said cargo, at L. On general demurrer to a declaration in assumpsit, assigning for breach of the above agreement that defts. did not load the ship at L. without detention, but detained her at L. an unreasonable time, not negativing restraints of princes, etc.:—Held: the exception as to restraints of princes, etc., was applicable only after the ship quitted Liverpool. —CROW v. FALK (1846), 8 Q. B. 467; 15 L. J. Q. B. 183; 10 Jur. 374; 115 E. R. 952.

Annotations:—Dbtd. & Distd. Bruce v. Nicolopulo (1855), 11 Exch. 129. Folld. Hurst v. Usborne (1856), 25 L. J. C. P. 209. Consd. Valente v. Gibbs (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 270. Distd. Barker v. M'Andrew (1865), 18 C. B. N. S. 759. N.F. The Carron Park (1890), 15 P. D. 203. Refd. Munro, Brice v. War Risks Assocn., [1918] 2 K. B. 78. Mentd. Hurst v. Evans (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 305.

1877. To sail to a "safe port."]—A declaration on a charterparty in an action by the charterer against the shipowner, stated that it was agreed that the ship should sail in ballast to a safe port near Cape Town, & there take in a cargo. The declaration then stated, that pltf. was ready & willing to appoint & put on board a supercargo, with instructions to indicate, & which supercargo would have indicated to the master of the ship a safe port near Cape Town, for the receiving on board such cargo, but omitted to state that pltf. named any "safe port." Breach, that deft. would not suffer the ship to sail in ballast on the said intended voyage:—Held: on demurrer to the declaration, the naming of a "safe port" was a condition precedent, & the declaration was bad in omitting to state that pltf. named such "safe port."—RAE v. HACKETT (1844), 12 M. & W. 724; 13 L. J. Ex. 216; 8 Jur. 427; 152 E. R. 1390.

1878. To sail within twenty-one days of arrival at intermediate port—Penalty for failure.]—Pltf. & deft. agreed by charterparty that pltf.'s vessel should sail to Sydney &/or Moreton Bay, & thence proceed to Callao, Peru, where the captain should report his arrival to Messrs. G., who should send the captain orders for loading a cargo of guano at the Chincha Islands, to which place the vessel should at once proceed; & after completing her loading, proceed to any safe port in the United Kingdom: freight to be paid at the rate of £4 sterling per ton weight of guano. "The owners guarantee that for the freight of £4 per ton, the ship shall be dispatched from Australia within twenty-one days after arrival; if detained over twenty-one days, etc., £3 10*s.* per ton to be the rate of freight. If ordered from Sydney to Moreton Bay the time so occupied not to be reckoned in the days as above." The vessel sailed from Liverpool on July 5, 1853, & anchored inside Sydney Heads on Oct. 25, 1853. She was ordered to Moreton Bay, but bad weather & the insubordination of a portion of the crew prevented the vessel from leaving Sydney Harbour until Nov. 4, when she proceeded on her voyage, & on Nov. 12, anchored inside the Flanders Rocks & outside Moreton Bay. She was taken in charge of a pilot up the channel & on Nov. 14, arrived at her anchorage where she remained until Dec. 5. Some of the crew having deserted & others refused to work, the remainder was not sufficient to navigate the vessel safely to Callao, & no addition to the crew could be procured at Moreton Bay. On Dec. 5, the master caused the anchor to be got up & the sails set by the men who were willing to work, with the assistance of the harbour master & pilot's crew, & the vessel proceeded on her voyage to Callao, but shortly afterwards stopped from the wind failing. During the night several of the seamen deserted. On Dec. 6, the vessel proceeded some distance further, when the greater part of the crew refused to proceed to Callao, on the ground that the ship was not sufficiently manned, & they compelled the captain to return to Sydney. The vessel arrived at Sydney on Dec. 12, & remained there until Jan. 6, 1854, when she sailed to Callao, where she ultimately arrived, & brought home a cargo of guano :—Held : under the above circumstances, the ship was not dispatched from Australia within twenty-one days after her arrival, & consequently pltf. was not entitled to the freight of £4 per ton.—SHARP v. GIBBS (1857), 1 H. & N. 801 ; 8 L. T. 93 ; 156 E. R. 1424.

1879. Authority of agent to substitute more distant port.]—An agent at a foreign port to whom a ship is addressed for loading under a charterparty, has no implied authority to vary the contract by substituting another & a distant port of loading, or a different quality or description of cargo.—SICKENS v. IRVING (1859), 7 C. B. N. S. 165 ; 29 L. J. C. P. 25 ; 6 Jur. N. S. 200 ; 141 E. R. 715.

Annotation :—Refd. Pearson v. Göschen (1864), 4 New Rep. 404.

C. Proceeding to Port of Discharge.

(a) In General.

1880. Duty to proceed with all expedition.]—THE WILHELM, No. 3196, post.

1881. —— Whether performance condition precedent—To right to freight.]—By a charterparty between pltf., the captain of a ship, & deft.'s agent abroad, for the carriage of timber from Riga to Portsmouth, at a stipulated rate per load, the former bound himself, after receiving his cargo on board to sail with the first favourable wind direct to the port of Portsmouth. The ship, however, unnecessarily entered the harbour of Copenhagen where she was detained several weeks, by means whereof deft. was put to considerable expense in having fresh insurances done upon her cargo. In an action of indebitatus assumpsit for the freight :—Held : pltf.'s covenant to sail direct to Portsmouth was not a condition precedent ; & the deviation could not be given in evidence, either as a bar to the action, or to diminish the damages.—BORNMANN v. TOOKE (1808), 1 Camp. 377 ; 170 E. R. 991, N. P.

Annotations :—Apld. Havelock v. Geddes (1809), 10 East, 555. Distd. Glaholm v. Hays (1841), 2 Man. & G. 257.

1882. According to directions of charterer or shipper—Power to countermand order—Reversal of countermand by agent.]—Where the master of a vessel covenanted with the freighter (inter alia), that the vessel should proceed with the first convoy from England for Spain & Portugal, or either, as he should be directed by the freighter or his agents, & there make a right & true delivery of the cargo agreeably to the bills of lading signed for the same ; & to take in a home cargo, & return & make a right & true delivery thereof at London, etc. In consideration whereof, & of everything above mentioned, the freighter covenanted (inter alia) to load the vessel out & home, & pay certain freight per ton per month, part before, & the remainder on the right & true delivery of the homeward cargo at London :—Held : (1) the freighter having first ordered the master to proceed to Lisbon, in consequence of which the master had taken in goods & signed bills of lading for that port, could not afterwards countermand that order, & order him to proceed to Gibraltar, without first recalling the bills of lading, or at least tendering sufficient indemnity to the master against the consequence of his liability thereon ; (2) supposing the freighter had such a power, yet his supercargo & agent, who was on board the vessel, had the like authority in the absence of his principal, even before the vessel sailed from his country, to alter again the destination to Lisbon.

From the nature of the appointment of a supercargo, where he is on board the ship & the freighter is absent, it follows that he should have the same power in this respect as the freighter himself ; for he is to take advantage of every circumstance as it arises, to act for the benefit of his employer in the adventure (LE BLANC, J.).

(3) The master having proceeded with the outward cargo to Lisbon under the first order, & brought home a return cargo, & delivered the same of the freighter at London, was entitled to his freight for that voyage, though he had not sailed with the first convoy ; the sailing with the first convoy not being a condition precedent to his recovering freight for the voyage actually performed under the first order, but a distinct covenant, for the breach of which he was liable in damages.

Unless the non-performance alleged in breach of the contract goes to the whole root & consideration of it, the covenant broken is not to be considered as a condition precedent (LORD ELLENBOROUGH, C.J.).

(4) He was entitled to recover such freight as upon a right & true delivery of the cargo, agreeably to the bills of lading, upon proof of having delivered the entire number of chests, etc., for which bills of lading had been signed ; though it appeared that the contents of the chests of fruit were damaged by the negligence of the master & crew on board, in not ventilating them sufficiently ; the party injured having his counter remedy by action for such negligence.—DAVIDSON v. GWYNNE (1810), 12 East, 381 ; 104 E. R. 149.

Annotations :—As to (3) Distd. Glaholm v. Hays (1841), 2 Man. & G. 257. Apld. Tarrabochia v. Hickie (1856), 1 H. & N. 183. Refd. Seegor v. Duthie (1860), 8 C. B. N. S. 45 ; MacAndrew v. Chapple (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 643 ; Bradford v. Williams (1872), 26 L. T. 641. As to (4) Apld Garrett v. Melhuish (1858), 33 L. T. O. S. 25. Refd Gibson v. Sturge (1855), 10 Exch. 622 ; Dakin v. Oxley (1864), 15 C. B. N. S. 646 ; MacAndrew v. Chapple (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 643.

1883. —— Liability of charterer for expenses in particular port named—Ship detained & fine imposed by government at intermediate port—Whether charterer liable.]—Deft. chartered pltf.'s vessel to Puerto Cabello & home from Maracaibo at a fixed freight, & an additional clause was subsequently inserted in the charterparty, giving the charterers the option of sending a part of the outward cargo on to Maracaibo, & stipulating that " any & every expense the vessel may incur in consequence of this additional clause shall be borne by the charterers." Deft. loaded the vessel with a cargo, part for Puerto Cabello & part for Maracaibo, & made out two manifests. On arriving at Puerto Cabello, the custom house authorities insisted on seeing both manifests, & prohibited the discharge of the part of the cargo intended for Puerto Cabello on the false ground that there were contraband goods on board, by which the cargo was confiscated, & they also imposed a fine of 500 dollars on the master for having two manifests, & prohibited the discharge of the cargo or the clearing out until the fine was paid. The master appealed to the tribunals of the country, & made counterclaims for delay. A revolution occurred in Venezuela about the same time, which prevented all commercial & legal proceedings; but eventually the govt. agreed with the master to pay him 5,000 dollars as compensation for the detention of the ship; & after a further delay, she proceeded to Maracaibo. The 5,000 dollars were not paid:—Held: pltf. was not entitled to recover from deft. the damages or expenses he had been put to, either in repairing damage to the vessel occasioned by the delay, or the costs attendant upon the proceedings, or otherwise, such damages not being contemplated by the additional clause.—SULLY v. DURANTY (1864), 3 H. & C. 270; 33 L. J. Ex. 319; 159 E. R. 533.

1884. —— Failure to give directions—Duty of master.]—When a ship at a foreign port is by charterparty to load there, & proceed with the cargo as ordered by the shipper, the master is not bound to wait longer than a reasonable time for orders, & if no orders come within that time, he is not bound to communicate with the shipper before sailing, but may proceed to such a port as a reasonable man would judge, upon the charter, to be advantageous to the parties.—SIEVEKING v. SMITH (1856), 27 L. T. O. S. 79.

1885. —— Implied condition that freight may be earned — Order to proceed to closed port.] — A charterparty provided that pltfs.' vessel should proceed with a cargo of nitrate to one of several ports in the United Kingdom for orders to discharge at a safe port in the United Kingdom or one of several named ports in Denmark, arrest & restraints of princes being mutually excluded. When the vessel arrived at one of the ports for orders, defts., holders of a bill of lading which incorporated the above terms of the charterparty, ordered her to one of the named Danish ports, which had become an impossible port owing to the fact, known to defts., that the further importation of nitrate into Denmark had been prohibited by the British Govt. The master, being unable to go to the port ordered, discharged the cargo in the United Kingdom. In an action against defts. for freight:—Held: it was an implied term of the bill of lading that defts. should order the ship to a possible port & so give pltfs. an opportunity of earning freight, & as defts. had failed to do this, pltfs. were entitled to discharge the cargo where they did & to claim freight.—AKT. OLIVEBANK v. DANSK SVOVLSYRE FABRIK, [1919] 2 K. B. 162; 120 L. T. 629; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 426; sub nom. AKT. GEYSER v. DANSK SVOVLSYRE & SUPHERPHOSPHAT FABRIK, AKT. OLIVEBANK v. SAME, 88 L. J. K. B. 745; 35 T. L. R. 373; 24 Com. Cas. 178, C. A.

1886. Time of departure for port—Covenant fixing date—Whether fulfilment condition precedent to payment of freight.] — One may declare in covenant that the deed was indented, made, & concluded on a day subsequent to the day on which the deed itself is stated on the face of it to have been indented, made, & concluded. Where a charterparty, dated Feb. 6, but averred not to be executed till Mar. 15, contained a covenant by the owner that the ship should & would proceed from D. where she then lay on or before Feb. 12, on her outward bound voyage, & return, etc., & a covenant by the freighter that in consideration of everything above-mentioned, etc., he would pay certain freight for the voyage; the voyage being averred to be performed, & the freight earned, the owner may recover in an action of covenant, without averring that the ship sailed on or before Feb. 12; such covenant that the ship should sail on or before Feb. 12, being either no condition precedent, but only an independent covenant, for breach of which the party had his remedy in damages; or not of the substance of the contract, which was for the performing of the voyage for which the ship was chartered, & earning the freight; or being rendered impossible to be performed by the parties themselves, not having executed the deed till after the time appointed for doing the act, & thereby dispensing with the performance of it.—HALL v. CAZENOVE (1804), 4 East, 477; 1 Smith, K. B. 272; 102 E. R. 913.

Annotations:—Consd. Tarrabochia v. Hickie (1856), 1 H. & N. 183. Refd. Davidson v. Gwynne (1810), 12 East, 381; Reffell v. Reffell (1866), L. R. 1 P. & D. 139. Mentd. Re Slater, Ex p. Slater (1897), 76 L. T. 529.

1887. —— Warranty to sail on or before fixed date—Leaving harbour without sufficient crew.]—A warranty to sail on or before a particular day, is not complied with by leaving the harbour on that day without having a sufficient crew on board, although the remainder of the crew are engaged & ready to sail.—GRAHAM v. BARRAS (1834), 5 B. & Ad. 1011; 3 Nev. & M. K. B. 125; 110 E. R. 1065.

Annotations:—Apld. Sharp v. Gibbs (1857), 1 H. & N. 801. Refd. Roelandts v. Harrison (1854), 2 C. L. R. 995.

1888. Hostile ships in proximity to port of discharge—Refusal to proceed thither—Whether breach of contract.] — By a charterparty, the captain of an Austrian vessel engaged to go to Havana & there load a cargo from the factors of the charterers, & proceed therewith to Falmouth for orders as to his port of ultimate destination, which by a memorandum subsequently indorsed upon the charterparty included Copenhagen. On his arrival at Falmouth on June 18, the captain gave the charterers notice, & was by them ordered, by telegram of June 28, to proceed to Copenhagen. At this time war had broken out between France & Austria, &, there being several French cruisers in the offing, the captain sent a telegram & also a letter apprising the charterers of his danger, & intimating that he awaited their "further decision." On the following day, the charterers sent their clerk down to Falmouth with a letter to deft. directing him to follow the clerk's instructions. The clerk accordingly told the captain that he would direct him to go to Plymouth, but it would be under protest. The captain, however, declined to go without a "clean order": & ultimately, on July 1, the clerk gave him a written order to proceed to Plymouth, & there deliver the cargo; which was done:—Held: upon these facts the jury were warranted in finding that deft. had not been guilty of a breach of contract in refusing to go to Copenhagen.—POLE v. CETCOVICH (1860), 9 C. B. N. S. 430; 30 L. J. C. P. 102; 3 L. T. 438; 7 Jur. N. S. 604; 9 W. R. 279; 1 Mar. L. C. 2; 142 E. R. 169.

Annotations:—Distd. The Patria (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 436. Apld. Duncan v. Köster, The Teutonia (1872), L. R. 4 P. C. 171.

1889. Proceeding with or before other vessel in berth.]—A declaration stated that, in consideration pltf. would ship goods on board a certain vessel, deft. guaranteed that the vessel should sail with, if not before, any other vessel in the berth for Havana, under a penalty of forfeiting one-half the freight of the goods. It then averred that pltf. had performed all conditions precedent, & all things had happened, etc., entitling him to maintain the action; & assigned, as a breach, that the vessel did not sail with or before any other vessel in the berth for Havana, & by reason of the premises pltf. became entitled to the half freight. Deft. pleaded payment into ct. of £10 & pltf. replied damages ultra. At the trial it appeared that the whole freight exceeded £20 but no actual damage was proved :—Held : the half freight was liquidated damage & not a penalty.—SPARROW v. PARIS (1862), 7 H. & N. 594 ; 31 L. J. Ex. 137; 5 L. T. 799 ; 8 Jur. N. S. 391 ; 158 E. R. 608.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 7, C. (a), (b) & (c): sub-sect. 8, A. & B.]

Annotations :—Mentd. Magee v. Lavell (1874), 43 L. J. C. P. 131 ; Wallis v. Smith (1882), 21 Ch. D. 243 ; Willson v. Love, [1896] 1 Q. B. 626.

1890. Telegraphic instructions to master—Mistake in name of port—Confirming letter amounting to warranty—Right of shipowner to damages.]—Resp.'s ship was in a port in Australia under orders to proceed to R. Resp. entered into a contract with applts. in the United Kingdom to purchase a cargo of coal, to be loaded in Australia. Applts. telegraphed to their agents in Australia as to the terms & conditions of the sale, & added instructions as to the destination of the ship. They had no authority from resp. to give any orders as to the destination. By a mistake of a telegraph clerk, C. was given as the destination instead of R. Applts.' agents in Australia informed the master of the ship that they had instructions to direct him to proceed to C. The master hesitated to change his destination, & applts.' agents then gave him a letter "to confirm our verbal instructions as to your destination "—naming C. as his destination, &, continuing, "this letter will be a sufficient guarantee for your proceeding on your voyage ".:—Held : the letter amounted to a warranty upon which resp. could sue for the damages he had sustained through the ship proceeding to C. instead of to R.—BROWN v. LAW (1895), 72 L. T. 779 ; 11 T. L. R. 395 ; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 230, H. L.

Deviation & delay.]—See Sect. 6, sub-sect. 2, C., post.

(b) Delay in Arrival.

See Part VII., Sect. 6, sub-sect. 2, C. (b), post.

(c) Deviation.

See Part VII., Sect. 6, sub-sect. 2, C. (a), post.

SUB-SECT. 8.—PROVISIONS AS TO CARGO.

A. Description.

1891. General rule.]—Pltfs. delivered to defts., for carriage on board defts.' ship, a closed case containing silk goods. The bill of lading, as tendered by pltfs. for signature, described the contents of the case as linen goods ; but before signing it the captain impressed upon it with a stamp the words, "Weight, value, & contents unknown." The freight charged for silk was higher than that for linen goods, & the freight paid for the goods so delivered was that for linen goods; but pltfs. represented the goods to be linen inadvertently & without fraudulent intention. On the ship's arrival at her destination it was found that two pieces of silk had been abstracted from the case. In an action by pltfs. against defts. as common carriers for non-delivery of the silk goods so lost :—Held : the result of the addition of the words "Weight, value, & contents unknown" to the bill of lading was completely to do away with the effect of the description of the goods as linen, & consequently defts.' contract was to carry the case & its contents, whatever they might be ; & pltfs. were entitled to maintain the action. Qu. : whether, even without the additional words, the misrepresentation, having been made without fraud, could have had the effect of avoiding the contract for carriage of the goods by defts. as common carriers.

Where a party entering into a contract for carriage of goods even without fraud describes the goods to be carried as goods of a certain character, the contract is to carry goods of that character, & not of another character (GROVE, J.). —LEBEAU v. GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1872), L. R. 8 C. P. 88 ; 42 L. J. C. P. 1 ; 27 L. T. 447 ; 21 W. R. 146 ; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 435.

Annotation :—Reid. New Chinese Antimony Co. v. Ocean S.S. Co., [1917] 2 K. B. 664.

1892. Produce—Goods ordinarily shipped from port of loading.]—By a charterparty it was agreed that the ship should proceed to Baltimore, & there load a full cargo of produce, & proceed therewith to the United Kingdom, & deliver the same, on being paid freight "at & after the rate of 5*s.* 6*d.* per barrel of flour, meal, & naval stores, & 11*s.* per quarter of 480 pounds for indian corn or other grain" ; that the cargo was not to consist of less that 3,000 barrels of flour, meal, or naval stores ; & that not less flour or meal than naval stores was to be shipped. The vessel arrived here with a cargo consisting of 769 hogsheads of tobacco, 6,047 bushels of bran, 2,000 bushels of oats, 5,000 oak-staves, & 3 barrels of flour. The evidence showed, that a quarter of indian corn or wheat weighing 480 pounds would occupy a space of 10½ cubic feet, & that a quarter of American oats, which weighed upon an average 272 pounds, would occupy a space of 16 cubic feet. It also appeared that oats were not a usual shipment from America :—Held : "other grain," in this charterparty, must be taken to mean such description of grain as would average 480 pounds to the quarter, & therefore to exclude oats ; & the shipowner was entitled to receive freight upon the supposition that 3,000 barrels of flour, meal, or naval stores had been shipped, &, for the rest of the space, at the rate of 11*s.* per quarter of indian corn, or other grain of the average weight of 480 pounds to the quarter.

The cargo the freighter engaged to furnish, was, "a full & complete cargo of produce," which would be satisfied by a shipment of any article of commerce which was usually shipped from the loading port (MAULE, J.).—WARREN v. PEABODY (1849), 8 C. B. 800 ; 19 L. J. C. P. 43 ; 14 L. T. O. S. 417 ; 14 Jur. 150 ; 137 E. R. 722.

Annotations :—Consd. Southampton Steam Colliery Co. v. Clarke (1868), L. R. 4 Exch. 73. Reid. Gether v. Capper (1854), 15 C. B. 39 ; Gether v. Capper (1855), 15 C. B. 696.

1893. Lawful merchandise—Government stores—Evidence of usage.]—VANDERSPAR & CO. v. DUNCAN & CO. (1891), 8 T. L. R. 30.

1894. Misdescription.] — LEBEAU v. GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., No. 1891, ante.

1895. Weight—Evidence of words descriptive of weight.]—DREYFUS & CO. v. ALLEN (1892), 9 T. L. R. 1, C. A.

1896. Cargo intended to be obtained from particular source—Effect of failure of source.]—THE ROOKWOOD, No. 1761, ante.

1897. Whether "cargo" applicable to goods only.]—A., a ship broker, engaged with B., a shipowner, to have "a full cargo for the ship, the rates of freight for which would average 40*s.* per ton, & at least nine cabin passengers, passage money to average £75." The contract was fulfilled as to the cabin passengers, but the average rate of freight for goods put on board by A. amounted to 32*s.* only per ton ; he shipped on board, however, several steerage passengers for the voyage, the passage money paid by whom after deducting the expense of their diet, etc., when added to the freight of the cargo properly so called, made the average earnings of the whole ship per ton, amount to more than 40*s.* :—Held : (1) this was not a performance of the stipulation of the contract, "cargo" & "freight" being terms applicable to goods only; (2) as this was an unusual contract, evidence was not admissible to show that the terms "cargo" & "freight" used with reference to the voyage on which the ship was engaged [voyage to Sydney] would, by the general usage & course of the trade, be considered to comprise steerage passengers, & the net profit arising from their passage money.—LEWIS v. MARSHALL (1844), 7 Man. & G. 729; 8 Scott, N. R. 477; 13 L. J. C. P. 193; 3 L. T. O. S. 261; 8 Jur. 848; 135 E. R. 293.

Annotations :—Generally, Reld. Kirchner v. Venus (1859), 12 Moo. P. C. C. 361; Hutchinson v. Tatham (1873), 42 L. J. C. P. 260. Mentd. Spartali v. Benecke (1850), 10 C. B. 212.

1898. Authority of agent to vary cargo—Agent at foreign port—To whom ship addressed for loading.]—SICKENS v. IRVING, No. 1879, ante.

B. Option to Select Cargo.

1899. General rule—Right of freighter to select.]—A charterparty provided that a ship then at Hong Kong should, after discharging her inward cargo with all proper dispatch, sail to Manilla, & there or at a port named take in a full cargo of sugar &/or other specified goods, & sail therewith with all proper dispatch to a port in Europe. Different freights were to be paid for the different kinds of cargo; for dry sugar £4 2*s.* 6*d.*, for wet sugar £4 5*s.* a ton. The shipowner engaged that the ship before & when receiving cargo should be a good risk for insurance, & that he would provide a survey report declaring her to be so. He also engaged that the master should take proper means to keep the ship tight, staunch, strong, well manned & fit for the voyage. The vessel went with proper dispatch to the port of loading, where she arrived in the rainy season. She was surveyed & reported to be a good risk for insurance, & the master took proper means to keep her tight, etc., during the voyage to the port of loading. At that port a full cargo of wet sugar was provided by the freighter, & it was shipped. But before the vessel left the port the greater part of it had to be unshipped, & the rest was wholly spoilt, because the pumps, though adequate for every other purpose, were found insufficient to pump up the liquid matter which came from the sugar bags in great quantity, owing to the rainy season, & mixed with the ordinary leakage of the vessel. Adequate pumps could not be supplied to the ship within such a time as would not have defeated the object of the venture. The ship was fit in all respects to carry a cargo of dry sugar, or of any of the other articles mentioned in the charterparty, except wet sugar. The shipowner was not, & the freighter was, aware at the time the charterparty was executed that pumps of a very large capacity were requisite in a ship carrying wet sugar loaded in the rainy season. The freighter chartered & put his sugar on board another vessel, & refused to wait or to reship the same or any other cargo on board the vessel first chartered :—Held : under the charterparty the cargo provided was a reasonable cargo, such as the shipowner had contracted to carry if provided; there was an implied warranty on his part that his ship should be reasonably fit to carry such a cargo, & not merely that she should be a good risk, & be tight, etc., during the voyage to the port of loading; the charterer was entitled to expect, & was not bound beforehand to ascertain, that the ship he chartered was fit or suitably provided for a cargo of wet sugar; the shipowner was not, & the freighter was, entitled to select from the various kinds of merchandise mentioned in the charterparty the particular kind of cargo to be carried, & at the option of the latter the cargo might be all of one description; the freighter was entitled to refuse either to reload the sugar which had been unloaded, or to wait while the necessary alterations were made in the ship, & the shipowner was not entitled to recover anything on account of the freight lost by such refusal; & also the freighter was entitled to recover damages for the sugar that was spoilt through the ship not being in a reasonably fit state, nor capable within a reasonable time of being put in a fit state, to carry the cargo provided for her.

These words "and" & "or" are not without some significance, because they appear to show that this specification of different kinds of cargo was to be read either disjunctively or conjunctively. It might be all one kind or it might be a mixture the two kinds mentioned (LORD CAIRNS, C.).—STANTON v. RICHARDSON (1875), 45 L. J. Q. B. 78; 33 L. T. 193; 24 W. R. 324; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 23, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. STANTON v. RICHARDSON, RICHARDSON v. STANTON (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 390, Ex. Ch.

*Annotations :—Reld. Kopitoff v. Wilson (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 377; The Maori King v. Hughes, [1895] 2 Q. B. 550; Queensland National Bank v. Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Co., [1898] 1 Q. B. 567; Rowson v. Atlantic Transport Co. (1902), 72 L. J. K. B. 87; Rathbone v. MacIver, [1903] 2 K. B. 378; Paterson Zochonis v. Elder Dempster, [1923] 1 K. B. 420.

1900. Cargo partly specified—Portion at option insufficient to fill ship—Whether freighter liable for deficiency.]—By the terms of a charterparty, the freighter was to proceed to certain ports, & there load a full & complete cargo of merchandise, the fore-cabin or dining-room included, to be filled with light goods. The instrument then specified a certain scale of payment of freight, for sugar, coffee, rice, pepper, & for all other goods in a just & fair proportion. The freighter was also to ship, previous to any other loading, 100 tons of rice or sugar to ballast the vessel, & keep her in proper trim. The freighter duly complied with the last condition, & then took on board a full cargo of pepper; in consequence of which, the 100 tons of rice were not sufficient to trim the vessel, & the owner was obliged to make up for the deficiency of cargo by ballast.

In an action to recover the amount of freight for merchandise, which should, it was alleged, have been taken on board, so assorted as to render ballast unnecessary :—Held : by the charterparty the freighter was not obliged to put on board a cargo so assorted; & having loaded the vessel with 100 tons of rice, it was optional with him to complete the cargo as he thought proper.—IRVING v. CLEGG (1834), 1 Bing. N. C. 53; 4 Moo. & S. 572; 3 L. J. C. P. 265; 131 E. R. 1037.

*Annotations :—Folld. Ridgway v. Ewbank (1841), 10 L. J. Q. B. 109. Reld. Cockburn v. Alexander (1849), 12 L. T. O. S. 349; Southampton Steam Colliery Co. v. Clarke (1870), L. R. 6 Exch. 53; Weir v. Union S.S. Co., [1900] A. C. 525.

1901. Effect of general words—"Other goods."]—(1) Where by a charterparty the freighter covenanted to provide for the ship a full & complete cargo consisting of copper, tallow, & hides, or other goods, on which separate rates of freight were to be paid, held that having supplied her with as large a quantity of tallow & hides as she chose to take on board, he was not bound to provide any copper, although for the want of it the ship was obliged to keep in her ballast, & did not make so advantageous a freight as she otherwise would have done.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 8, B. & C. (a).]

(2) Under a covenant in a charterparty to pay freight on skins by the pound, net weight at the King's beam, freight is due on the outside skins in which the packages are contained.—MOORSOM v. PAGE (1814), 4 Camp. 103; 171 E. R. 34, N. P.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Irving v. Clegg (1834), 1 Bing. N. C. 53. Folld. Ridgway v. Ewbank (1841), 10 L. J. Q. B. 109. Distd. Cole v. Meek (1864), 15 C. B. N. S. 795. Folld. Southampton Steam Colliery Co. v. Clarke (1870), L. R. 6 Exch. 53. Refd. Weir v. Union S.S. Co., [1900] A. C. 525.

1902. —— "Other legal merchandise."] — A ship was chartered to proceed to Port Phillip, & there load from the freighter's factors "a full & complete cargo of wool, tallow, bark, or other legal merchandise," the quantity of bark not to exceed 100 tons, & the quantity of tallow & hides not to exceed 80 tons, & was to proceed therewith to London, & deliver the same, "on being paid freight as follows: for wool, 1½*d.* per lb. pressed, & 1½*d.* & one-eighth of a penny per lb. unpressed, gross weight; tallow, £3 per ton; bark, £4 per ton; & hides, £2 per ton—the latter not to exceed 20 tons, without consent of the captain, etc.; one-third of the freight to be paid in cash, on unloading & right delivery of the cargo, & the remainder in cash, or by approved bills, at two months following":—Held: (1) the freighter was entitled to load the ship with an assorted cargo of any "legal merchandise"; but the owners were entitled to be paid freight upon the supposition that the loading consisted of the stipulated quantities of the enumerated goods, viz. 100 tons of bark, 60 tons of tallow, & 20 tons of hides, & the residue of wool, pressed or unpressed; (2) parol evidence was not admissible to show, that, by the custom of the place of loading, the cost of pressing wool was to be borne by the shipowner.—COCKBURN v. ALEXANDER (1848), 6 C. B. 791; 18 L. J. C. P. 74; 12 L. T. O. S. 349; 13 Jur. 13; 136 E. R. 1459.

Annotations:—As to (1) Folld. Warren v. Peabody (1849), 8 C. B. 800. Refd. Gether v. Capper (1855), 15 C. B. 696; Southampton Steam Colliery Co. v. Clarke (1868), 38 L. J. Ex. 54. Generally, Mentd. Deverill v. Burnell (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 475; McIlquham v. Taylor, [1895] 1 Ch. 53; County Hotel & Wine Co. v. L. & N. W. Ry., [1918] 2 K. B. 251.

1903. —— ——.]—By a charterparty deft., the charterer, undertook to load at Archangel "a full & complete cargo of oats or other lawful merchandise," & pltfs., the shipowners, to deliver the same on being paid freight as follows: "4*s.* 6*d.* sterling per 320 lbs. weight delivered for oats: & if any other cargo be shipped, in full & fair proportion thereto, according to the London Baltic printed rates." Deft. put on board at Archangel a full & complete cargo of flax, tow, & codilla, being three of the articles mentioned in the Baltic printed rates, & paid to pltfs. the freight earned by the goods thus shipped according to a scale derived from the tables which constitute the Baltic rates. Pltfs. claimed in addition the difference between this amount & the larger amount which would have been earned by a full & complete cargo of oats:—Held: flax, tow, & codilla being "lawful merchandise" within the meaning of the charterparty, deft. had fulfilled his contract by loading a full & complete cargo of those articles, & therefore, was not, on the true construction of the charterparty, liable for the additional freight claimed by pltfs. as upon a full cargo of oats.—SOUTHAMPTON STEAM COLLIERY CO. v. CLARKE (1870), L. R. 6 Exch. 53; 40 L. J. Ex. 8; 19 W. R. 214, Ex. Ch.

*Annotation:—Refd. S.S. Isis Co. v. Bahr, [1899] 2 Q. B. 364.

1904. —— "Other grain."]—WARREN v. PEABODY, No. 1892, ante.

1905. Effect of words "&/or"—Contract left open.]—By charterparty, deft. agreed to load on board a vessel at Trinidad "a full & complete cargo of sugar, molasses &/or other produce": —Held: evidence was admissible of a custom at Trinidad to load sugar in hogsheads, & molasses in puncheons; & therefore a full & complete cargo of sugar & molasses so packed was a compliance with the contract.

The contract on the face of the charterparty was, "to load a full & complete cargo of sugar, molasses, &/or other lawful produce"; so that according to the contract the parties were either to load a full & complete cargo of sugar & molasses & other lawful produce, or a full & complete cargo of sugar & molasses, or a full & complete cargo of other lawful produce, leaving it open in every way by reason of the "&" & "or" being introduced in the charterparty (ALDERSON, B.). —CUTHBERT v. CUMMING (1855), 10 Exch. 809; 3 C. L. R. 401; 24 L. J. Ex. 198; 25 L. T. O. S. 23; 3 W. R. 244; 156 E. R. 668; affd., 11 Exch. 405, Ex. Ch.

*Annotations:—Consd. Greaves v. Legg (1856), 11 Exch. 642; Tancred, Arrol v. Steel Co. of Scotland (1890), 15 App. Cas. 125. Distd. Mikkelsen v. Arcos (1925), 134 L. T. 92. Refd. Kirchner v. Venus (1859), 12 Moo. P. C. C. 361.

1906. —— Read disjunctively or conjunctively.] —STANTON v. RICHARDSON, No. 1899, ante.

C. Amount of Cargo.

(a) In General.

1907. Tonnage of ship stated in charterparty—Whether amount controlled by such tonnage.]—JAMES (LADY) v. EAST INDIA CO. (1789), cited in Abbott's Merchant Shipping, 14th ed. p. 679.

1908. —— ——.]—(1) In an action for not supplying a cargo under a charterparty according to the terms of which, different articles of freight are to be paid for at different rates by weight, & the freighter is at liberty to supply which articles he pleases, an average value of freight, calculated upon the various rates of freight in the proportion of different articles usually carried on such a voyage, is the proper measure of damages.

(2) In an action by the owner against the freighter of a chartered ship for not supplying a cargo according to the terms of the charterparty, the freighter cannot insist upon the precise burthen stated in the charterparty.—THOMAS v. CLARK & TODD (1818), 2 Stark. 450; 171 E. R. 702, N. P.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Capper v. Forster (1837), 3 Bing. N. C. 938. Apprvd. Cockburn v. Alexander (1848), 6 C. B. 791. Refd. Warren v. Peabody (1849), 19 L. J. C. P. 43. As to (2) Refd. Morris v. Levison (1876), 1 C. P. D. 155; The Resolven (1892), 9 T. L. R. 75.

1909. Shortage of tonnage—Conditions governing claim for shortage—Whether performance condition precedent to recovery.] — A covenant in a charterparty "that no claim should be admitted, or allowance made, for short tonnage, unless such short tonnage be found & made to appear on her arrival on a survey to be taken by four shipwrights, to be indifferently chosen by both parties," is not a condition precedent to pltf.'s right of recovering for short tonnage; but is a matter of defence, to be taken advantage of by defts., & the not averring the performance is no ground for arresting the judgment. If defts. prevent the performance of a condition precedent by their neglect & default, it is equal to performance by pltfs.—HOTHAM v. EAST INDIA Co. (1787), 1 Term Rep. 638; 99 E. R. 1295.

Annotations:—Consd. Smith v. Wilson (1807), 8 East, 437. Refd. Worsley v. Wood (1796), 6 Term Rep. 710; Richards v. Bluck (1848), 6 C. B. 437; M'Intosh v. G. W. Ry. (1850), 2 H. & Tw. 250; Weedon v. Woodbridge (1850), 13 Q. B. 470; Edwards v. Aberayron Mutual Ship Insce. Soc. (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 563; The Europa, [1908] P. 84; Colley v. Overseas Exporters, [1921] 3 K. B. 302; British & Benningtons v. North Western Cachar Tea Co., [1923] A. C. 48. Mentd. Egerton v. Brownlow (1853), 4 H. L. Cas. 1; Braunstein v. Accidental Death Insce. (1861), 1 B. & S. 782; Bliss v. Smith (1865), 34 Beav. 508; Re Brighton Club & Norfolk Hotel Co. (1865), 35 Beav. 204.

1910. Cargo as ballast.]—MOORSOM v. PAGE, No. 1901, ante.

1911. ——.]—(1) A shipowner is entitled to take merchandise on board as ballast, provided it occupies no more space than the ballast would have done, & leaves to the charterer the full space of the vessel for his cargo.

(2) There is no undertaking on the part of the shipowner that the vessel which he charters shall be free from suspicion of unseaworthiness or any other matter.—TOWSE v. HENDERSON (1850), 4 Exch. 890; 19 L. J. Ex. 163; 14 L. T. O. S. 400.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Lyderhorn Sailing Ship Co. v. Duncan Fox (1909), 79 L. J. K. B. 105. As to (2) Refd. Cator v. Great Western Insce. of New York (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 552. Generally, Refd. Southampton Steam Colliery Co. v. Clarke (1870), L. R. 6 Exch. 53; Queensland National Bank v. Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Co. (1897), 2 Com. Cas. 228; Weir v. Union S.S. Co., [1900] A. C. 525.

1912. No agreement as to quantity—Rights of charterer.]—A. chartered a vessel, of which B. was master & part-owner, for a voyage from London to Sydney, for a gross sum of £1,600, payable two months after clearance at the custom-house. A. bought goods of C. to be shipped on A.'s own account on board the vessel, & to be paid for before the vessel left the port of London. The goods were accordingly shipped by C., who took from the mate receipts as for goods shipped on C.'s account, & which receipts were still kept by C. Two days after the goods were shipped, A. became insolvent & unable to perform his contract with C., & subsequently agreed with C. to rescind it, & signed an order directing B. to deliver the goods to them. The goods were demanded on behalf of C., both before & after the rescission of the contract, C. offering at the same time to pay all reasonable charges attending such re-delivery, & every lawful claim the owners might have upon the goods. B. refused to deliver the goods to C., on the ground that, they having been shipped for the voyage stated in the charter-party, it was the duty of B. to convey them to their destination:—Held: assuming the property in the goods passed to A. by the shipment, yet, as A. had neither become bkpt. nor taken the benefit of the insolvent Act, but continued sui juris up to the time of making the agreement to rescind the contract—by the operation of that agreement & the delivery order given by A., the property in the goods re-vested in C., either in his original right as vendor, or as a new right derived from the assignment of the vendee; & the refusal of B., upon the ground stated by him, to re-deliver the goods after the demand by C., the contract with A. being rescinded, & the offer then made of the payment of the reasonable charges & all lawful claims, was a wrongful conversion; there being nothing in the terms of the charterparty that could restrain the charterer from dealing with the cargo as he thought proper, or prevent him from taking out the cargo before the sailing of the vessel, or to entitle the master to insist on carrying it to its destination. Qu.: whether or not C. derived a new right from retaining the mate's receipt & the demand made by them before the rescission of the contract?

[The charterer] had the entire use of the ship under the charter; & there was nothing to prevent him from taking out the cargo before the ship sailed . . . & changing such cargo for another; or from sending the ship empty to Sydney . . . there being no agreement on his part to put a full cargo or indeed any cargo on board (TINDAL, C.J.).—THOMPSON v. SMALL (1845), 1 C. B. 328; 14 L. J. C. P. 157; 4 L. T. O. S. 396; 9 Jur. 412; 135 E. R. 566.

Annotations:—Refd. Tindall v. Taylor (1854), 4 E. & B. 219; Pearson v. Goschen (1864), 17 C. B. N. S. 352; Casebourne v. Avery & Houston (1887), 3 T. L. R. 795.

1913. Ship not filled—Although ship down to marks with loaded cargo.]—Ships chartered by pltfs. in their trade loaded nickel ore in New Caledonia & proceeded to New Zealand ports to fill up, under sub-charters, unoccupied space with cargo of a dry & perishable kind. It was contemplated that in the ordinary course of business this cargo would be wool. Under a sub-charter with defts. the s.s. Strathord, proceeded from New Caledonia to New Zealand to take in cargo for London. Pltfs. guaranteed some 5,000 tons space at a freight of 30*s.* per ton of forty cubic feet. Defts. failed to secure an entire cargo of wool in New Zealand, & loaded grain instead, which brought the ship down to her marks, leaving an unoccupied space in her of 901 tons. Defts. denied their liability to pay freight for this space:—Held: a wool cargo had been contemplated which would have filled the ship without putting her down to her marks; it had not been contemplated that she should come home partly empty; & defts. were liable to pay freight for the 901 tons unoccupied space.—POTTER & Co. v. NEW ZEALAND SHIPPING Co., LTD. (1895), 64 L. J. Q. B. 689; 11 T. L. R. 502; 1 Com. Cas. 114.

Annotation:—Apld. Jardine, Matheson v. Clyde Shipping Co. (1910), 79 L. J. K. B. 634.

1914. One half goods shipped to consist of weight—Meaning of "weight."]—By the terms of a charterparty, it was agreed, that the ship should load, from the factors of defts., at Calcutta, a full & complete cargo of the usual East India produce, "one half of which is to be weight," & if any linseed, the same not to exceed 100 tons, or if any paddy, the same not to exceed 200 tons; it being, however, understood that the quantity of linseed & paddy together is not to exceed 250 tons; freight to be at & after the rate of five guineas per ton, delivered; paddy & linseed, if any, to be 20 cwt. to the ton as usual, & all other articles to be computed according to the East India Co.'s scale of tonnage. As to that scale, the principal distinctions were in goods charged by "weight," & goods charged by "measurement." At the trial, the judge put to the jury the meaning of the word "weight," who found that it was not used in the sense of "heavy," as opposed to "light" goods, but in the sense of goods to be charged by the ton "weight," in contradistinction to goods to be charged by the ton "measurement." Upon their finding, the judge ruled, that the words, "one half of which is to be weight," were to be considered as restrictive to that quantity, & that the remainder were to be goods charged by "measurement":—Held: the correctness of this ruling by the judge, was sufficiently doubtful, to induce the ct. to send the case to a new trial, in order, that if necessary, upon a similar direction, the parties might take the opinion of a ct. of error.—RIDGWAY v. EWBANK (1841), 10 L. J. Q. B. 109.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 8, C. (a), (b) & (c).]

Annotation :—Refd. Ashby v. Bates (1843), 15 L. J. Ex. 349.

Carrying capacity of vessel.]—See Part VII., Sect. 2, sub-sect. 6, E., ante.

(b) Full and Complete Cargo.

1915. Cargo loaded to amount of tonnage of ship stated in charterparty—Whether contract performed.]—HUNTER v. FRY, No. 1818, ante.

1916. ——— ———.]—By a charterparty a ship was "guaranteed by owners to carry 2,600 tons dead weight." The charterparty provided that the ship should load "a full & complete cargo" at a certain freight, "all per ton dead weight capacity as above." The charterers refused to load more than 2,673 tons. A full & complete cargo would have been 2,950 tons :—Held : the charterers ought to have loaded a full & complete cargo, & freight was payable accordingly.—S.S. HEATHFIELD CO., LTD. v. RODENACHER (1896), 2 Com. Cas. 53, C. A.

1917. Deficiency due to variation in mode of stowage—Parties present during loading.]—Where the cause of complaint, in an action on a charterparty by the freighters against the owner of a vessel, was, that a full cargo was not taken in, in consequence of arrangements in the stowage varying from those contemplated by the charterparty :—Held : pltfs. were not entitled to recover, as it appeared that one of them & the broker, who managed the business, were present from time to time during the loading & cognisant of the arrangements, but did not make any objection.—HOVILL v. STEPHENSON (1830), 4 C. & P. 469 ; 172 E. R. 785, N. P.

1918. Part of cargo loaded—Destruction by fire—Duty of charterer to load balance on repair of ship.]—A charterparty containing the usual clauses, provided that the ship was, with all convenient speed to proceed to P., & there load from the charterer's agents "a full & complete cargo" of cotton. The ship proceeded to P., a part of the cargo was loaded, & another part was in a lighter alongside, ready to be loaded, the two together not amounting to a full cargo, when a fire occurred. The cargo on board was destroyed, that lying alongside was sent forward, in another ship by the master. The ship was repaired, which took two months, & then tendered to the charterer's agents to load the rest of her cargo ; but the agents refused to furnish any :—Held : deft. was bound to furnish so much cargo as would, with that already furnished, have made up a full & complete cargo.—JONES v. HOLM (1867), L. R. 2 Exch. 335 ; 36 L. J. Ex. 192 ; 16 L. T. 794 ; 16 W. R. 62 ; 2 Mar. L. C. 551.

Annotation :—Refd. Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 572.

1919. Bulk differing as cargo frozen or unfrozen—Loaded frozen.]—By a charterparty made in contemplation of a mid winter loading the charterers agreed to load at a port in the United States "a full & complete cargo of wet wood pulp which contains about 50 per cent. of water." The charterers loaded pulp of that description which was frozen. Frozen pulp is not compressible, & occupies more space than when unfrozen ; consequently the cargo was less in quantity than it would have been in summer. The shipowners having brought an action against the charterers for the loss of freight thus caused, evidence was given that in winter wet pulp was usually loaded in a frozen condition :—Held : the obligation to load a full & complete cargo had been performed by loading as much pulp in a frozen condition as the ship would carry.—ISIS S.S. CO. v. BAHR, [1900] A. C. 340 ; 69 L. J. Q. B. 660 ; 82 L. T. 571 ; 16 T. L. R. 381 ; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 109 ; 5 Com. Cas. 277, H. L.

1920. Deficiency due to faulty loading.]—Under two charterparties of June, 1924, the steamship H. was to proceed to Leningrad & there load a full & complete cargo of Russian timber & convey the same to an English port as specified in the bills of lading. The charterparties provided that the charterers should supply sufficient ends for broken stowage, & clause 5 provided that any dispute arising at the port of loading should be settled before the signing of the bills of lading, otherwise claims were to be endorsed on the bills of lading, & if for any reason the master was prevented from so doing, he was to give notice of the claim & the amount thereof to the charterers by telegraph. The steamship H. performed two voyages, & on each occasion the master complained of the bad & insufficient loading. On the second voyage the ship was directed to proceed to Great Yarmouth, but on arrival the charterers said this was a mistake & the correct destination was Boston. Pltfs. claimed damages for dead freight of the cargoes that should have been carried but were not carried, & for expenses incurred by the change of destination :—Held : (1) the contract was to load a complete & full cargo, & bad loading due to want of supervision or inexperience was no excuse ; (2) clause 5 was an ordinary condition of policies & did not invalidate the claim ; (3) pltf. was entitled to reasonable compensation for the services rendered on account of the change of port of destination.—MIKKELSEN v. ARCOS, LTD. (1925), 134 L. T. 92 ; 42 T. L. R. 3 ; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 576.

1921. Proof of completeness—Insufficient proof by shipowners.]—A charterparty provided that a vessel should load a full & complete cargo of pit props at Petrograd for Granton, freight to be paid at a specified rate "per intaken piled fathom of 216 cubic feet." The charterers having paid freight on 595 fathoms, the figure which had been entered under protest from the shipowners, in the bill of lading, the shipowners, who maintained that the cargo amounted to 653 fathoms, brought an action against the charterers for the balance of the freight. It was proved that the cargo as it was loaded was measured on behalf of the pursuers by the first officer & a tallyman at the fore hatch, & by the second officer & another tallyman at the aft hatch. These measurements, which brought out the figure of 653 fathoms, had not been checked at the time by defenders, who relied on measurements taken in the forest where the timber had been cut. Both the first & second officers, but neither of the tallymen were examined as witnesses, & none of the tally books were produced. For certain short periods daily during the loading the first officer was admittedly absent upon other duties, & for these periods he got the figures from the tallyman. Certain evidence was led by the pursuers with the object of showing that the vessel was fully loaded, & that her average carrying capacity for pit props when fully loaded was 660 fathoms :—Held : the fact that the first officer had been absent during part of the period of loading, & that the tallyman from whom he derived the figures for that period had not been examined as a witness, formed a fatal flaw in the pursuers' evidence, & they had, in consequence, failed to prove that more than the admitted number of 595 fathoms had been shipped.—DAMPSKIBSSELSKABET SVENDBORG v. LOVE & STEWART, LTD., S.S. CHASSIE MAERSK, [1916] S. C. (H. L.) 187.

r. Deficiency due to insufficient depth of water to permit full loading.]—GRAY v. SCHOOLEY (1878), 43 U. C. R. 209.—CAN.

1922. Completeness varying in summer or winter.]—A charterparty provided that a ship should load a "full & complete" cargo of wood goods & thereafter proceed to one of certain specified ports. Provision was made in the charterparty for loading at an agreed rate & for payment of demurrage for delay. The charterers did not load at the agreed rate, with the result that the ship left the port of loading too late to enable her to enter the port of destination lawfully with a full & complete summer cargo, & she was able to carry to that port only a full & complete winter cargo. The shipowners brought an action for "dead freight," which was the difference between the summer & winter cargo. Defts. contended that the cargo carried by the ship was a "full & complete cargo" within the meaning of the charterparty, & further that, if they were not correct in this contention, the damages for which they were liable were included in the amount payable on demurrage:—Held: (1) "full & complete cargo" meant that which would have been a full & complete cargo, if the charterers had fulfilled their obligations to load at the agreed rate, that is, a summer cargo; (2) the provision in regard to demurrage referred only to damage occasioned by the detention of the ship, & the shipowners were not debarred thereby from claiming additional damages for the charterers' breach of their obligation to load a "full & complete cargo."—AKT. REIDAR v. ARCOS, LTD., [1927] 1 K. B. 352; 96 L. J. K. B. 33; 136 L. T. 1; 42 T. L. R. 737; 17 Asp. M. L. C. 144; 32 Com. Cas. 34, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (2) Reid. Re Ropner Shipping Co. & Cleeves Western Valleys Anthracite Collieries (1927), 137 L. T. 221.

Mode of stowage.]—See Sub-sect. 8, C. (c), post.

Failure to provide full cargo.] —See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 3, B., post.

(c) Qualifying Words.

1923. As to maximum.]—A stipulation in a charter to load a cargo of soda, nitrate of soda, guano, or copper ore, etc., not exceeding one-third more than the ship's registered tonnage, old measurement, is intended to protect ship from being overloaded, & does not oblige charterer to ship the full amount. The shipowner's claim for dead freight depends on whether so much cargo has been shipped as the vessel can conveniently carry.—THE BALGOWNIE, NICHOL v. ELLIS (1851), 6 L. T. 229.

1924. ——.]—By a charterparty dated Nov. 16, 1921, the owner of a steamer let her on hire to charterers to carry a grain cargo from the Danube & Black Sea. A minimum of half the cargo, but not exceeding river draft, was to be loaded at one or two Danube ports, & loading was then to be completed at Kustendji. A complete cargo would have amounted to 5,225 tons. The steamer loaded 2,578 tons at Danube ports, but owing to the river becoming frozen, was unable to proceed to Kustendji when ordered by the charterers to do so to complete loading. Owing to ice the steamer was detained at Galatz for several weeks, & the owner claimed demurrage & damages for detention:—Held: by loading 2,578 tons at the Danube ports the charterers had loaded half the cargo of 5,225 tons, the difference between 2,578 tons & half of 5,225 tons being commercially immaterial.—WILLIAMS v. MANISSALIAN FRÈRES (1923), 29 Com. Cas. 42, C. A.

1925. Latitude allowed—"More or less."]—The question is, what contract, if any, the master can make obligatory upon the merchant in regard to the conveyance by the substituted ship when the merchant has an agent, or a house of business, to the knowledge of the master, at the intermediate port into which the ship has put in distress? Can he, without communication with them or giving them the option of receiving the cargo there, put it on board another ship & forward it to the port of discharge? We are not aware of any authority in the English law in which the master is said to have such powers. We are very strongly inclined to be of opinion that the master of a ship has not authority under such circumstances as the present, to charter a ship & bind the merchant to provide a full cargo, or in other words, for the payment of dead freight. If he has such authority, what is the limit to it? Can he, when the goods of the merchant are sufficient to fill the ship to the extent of one-half or three-fourths capacity, enter into a contract obligatory upon the merchant to pay for the unoccupied space? It may be that the master of a disabled ship has power to send forward the cargo to the port of discharge by another ship, & upon that taking place which would be a performance of the contract if the original ship had arrived in safety, the master or owners may be entitled to the freight originally contracted for; the conveyance of the cargo by, & the right & true delivery from the substituted ship being deemed a substantial performance of the voyage, & equivalent to the conveyance by, & right & true delivery from the original ship. But we think in this case that all which by the charterparty was contracted to be loaded was the cargo of the Oriente. The words of the charterparty are, "the cargo put on board the bulk, forming the cargo brought to Valparaiso by the Oriente, being 470 tons of guano, more or less." It is clear from the charterparty itself, & proved beyond all doubt by the evidence, that the cargo was represented to be 470 tons at the least; but we do not think there is a warranty to this effect. If there be no warranty, the only liability which could exist would be for a false, & fraudulent representation; this is not alleged to have been the case, for the statement of the captain of the Oriente is admitted to have been an honest one; but if it were not, defts. would not be responsible for it. There is no authority or principle for holding that the owners of cargo are under such circumstances liable for a false & fraudulent representation by the master (POLLOCK, C.B.).—GIBBS v. GREY, GREY v. GIBBS (1857), 2 H. & N. 22; 26 L. J. Ex. 286; 29 L. T. O. S. 162; 3 Jur. N. S. 543; 5. W. R. 608; 157 E. R. 10.

Annotations:—Reid. Cammell v. Sewell (1858), 3 H. & N. 617; Hickie v. Rodocanachi (1859), 4 H. & N. 455.

1926. —— "About."]—MORRIS v. LEVISON, No. 4013, post.

1927. —— ——.]—Under a charterparty providing that the ship shall load empty petroleum barrels as many as required by the master, say about five thousand; the word "about" entitles the master to require at his option the shipment of 10 per cent. more or less than the amount specified. —ALCOCK v. LEEUW & Co. (1883), Cab. & El. 98.

Annotation:—Reid. The Resolven (1892), 9 T. L. R. 75.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 8, C. (c), (d) & (e); sub-sects. 9 & 10.]

1928. ——— ———.]—By a contract of charterparty the charterer undertook to load "a cargo of ore, say about 2,800 tons." The actual capacity of the ship was 2,880 tons. The charterer loaded 2,840 tons:—Held: he had satisfied his contract.—MILLER v. BORNER & Co., [1900] 1 Q. B. 691; 69 L. J. Q. B. 429; 82 L. T. 258; 48 W. R. 588; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 31; 5 Com. Cas. 175, D. C.

Annotation:—Reld. Jardine, Matheson v. Clyde Shipping Co., [1910] 1 K. B. 627.

(d) Whether Entire Capacity Hired.

1929. "Cargo."]—Pltfs. sold to deft. "a cargo of from 2,500 to 3,000 barrels (seller's option) American petroleum . . . to be shipped from New York . . . & vessel to call for orders off the coast for any safe floating port in the United Kingdom, or on the Continent between Havre & Hamburg, both inclusive (buyer's option)." Pltfs. chartered a vessel, on which were placed 3,000 barrels of petroleum, & a bill of lading was signed making them deliverable to pltfs.; but as this quantity did not constitute a full cargo, 300 additional barrels were placed on board, which were marked with a different mark, & for which a separate bill of lading was signed. Pltfs. gave notice to deft. of the shipment of the 3,000 barrels, & were ready to order the vessel from its port of call to any port of delivery within the contract, & there to deliver to deft. the 3,000 barrels, & to take the 300 barrels themselves, or to deliver to deft. at any such port 2,750 barrels as the mean between 2,500 & 3,000, but deft. refused to accept either the 3,000 barrels or any other quantity. Pltfs. having brought an action for non-acceptance:—Held: on the true construction of the contract, "cargo" meant the entire load of the vessel which carried it; deft. was therefore not bound to accept part of a cargo, & the action was not maintainable.—BORROWMAN v. DRAYTON (1876), 2 Ex. D. 15; 46 L. J. Q. B. 273; 35 L. T. 727; 25 W. R. 194; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 303, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Re Harrison & Micks, Lambert, [1917] 1 K. B. 755. Distd. Paul v. Pim, [1922] 2 K. B. 360. Reld. Caffin v. Aldridge (1895), 1 Com. Cas. 181.

1930. ———.]—By a charterparty which was on a printed form filled in with writing, & which commenced with a statement that the ship was of a dead weight capacity of 125 tons, it was agreed between pltf. & deft., the shipowner, that the ship should load at Rotherhithe from pltf. "a cargo or estimated quantity of 470 quarters of wheat" & proceed with it to Gosport, & there deliver it, on being paid freight at 1*s.* per quarter of 496 lbs. delivered. The words "full & complete" which preceded the word "cargo" in the printed form had been struck out. The charterparty contained the usual exception of sea perils. It was also thereby provided that the ship should have "liberty to call at any ports in any order." Four hundred & seventy quarters of wheat represent 102 tons. The ship, having loaded the wheat, proceeded to Millwall, where she took on board from another shipper some wire torpedo netting for carriage to Portsmouth Dockyard. The ship proceeded to Portsmouth Dockyard, where she discharged the netting, & was crossing the harbour to Gosport when by an accident arising from sea perils she sprang a leak, whereby the wheat was damaged. Pltf. claimed to recover damages for the injury to the wheat on the ground that the ship had deviated in not proceeding direct to Gosport:—Held: the liberty "to call at any ports" included liberty to call for the purpose of loading or discharging other cargo there, for the charterparty, notwithstanding the use of the term "cargo," did not amount to a hiring of the full carrying capacity of the ship, & there had consequently been no deviation, & the pltf. could not recover.—CAFFIN v. ALDRIDGE, [1895] 2 Q. B. 648; 65 L. J. Q. B. 85; 73 L. T. 426; 44 W. R. 129; 12 T. L. R. 27; 40 Sol. Jo. 49; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 233; 1 Com. Cas. 181, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Jardine, Matheson v. Clyde Shipping Co., [1910] 1 K. B. 627.

1931. ———.]—JARDINE, MATHESON & Co. v. CLYDE SHIPPING Co., No. 4764, post.

1932. Use of cabins.]—Deft., a merchant in London, chartered a vessel of pltf.'s to bring from Bombay a full & complete cargo at £3 5*s.* per ton. Deft.'s agents at Bombay filled the carrying part of the vessel, & also the cabin, with their own goods, & consigned them to deft., as their factor, for sale. There was contradictory evidence as to the terms upon which the cabin was filled. The bill of lading was annexed to a bill of exchange, drawn by the agents upon deft., which bill of exchange was sold to a third party. On the arrival of the ship in London, pltf. claimed freight for the cabin at the then current rate of £7 per ton. Deft. insisted that he was entitled to the use of the cabin as well as the other part of the ship at the rate of £3 5*s.* per ton, but he charged his agents for freight at the rate of £7 per ton, & allowed them commission at that rate. The goods were stopped, the bill of exchange not having arrived at maturity, when this action was brought to recover the above rate of freight for the use of the cabin. Deft., after action brought, paid the bill, & obtained possession of the goods:—Held: (1) deft. was not, under the terms of the charterparty, entitled to load the cabin; (2) the judge properly directed the jury, that, although deft.'s agents at Bombay had no authorty from deft. to put goods in the cabin, yet, as deft. adopted their act by accepting the goods & charging his agents freight in respect of them, he was bound to pay pltf. the current rate of freight at the time of loading; (3) the action was not brought too soon since the taking to the goods for the purpose of obtaining freight rendered deft. liable irrespectively of his actual possession after action brought.—MITCHESON v. NICOL (1852), 7 Ex. Ch. 929; 155 E. R. 1228; sub nom. MICHESON v. NICOL, 21 L. J. Ex. 323; 19 L. T. O. S. 229.

1933. ———.]—A charterparty, not amounting to a demise of the ship, provided for the carriage of a full & complete cargo of lawful produce, & merchandise, for payment of a lump freight, but was silent as to the use to which the passengers' cabins might be put:—Held: the charterers were not entitled to carry passengers in the cabins. Under the above circumstances, there is no custom (a) entitling the charterer to carry passengers, or (b) entitling the shipowner to have passengers carried for his benefit.—SHAW, SAVILL & Co. v. AITKEN, LILBURN & Co. (1883), Cab. & El. 195.

1934. Use of deck.]—By charterparty it was "agreed that the cabin & state rooms, & sufficient room for the cables, ships' stores, provisions, water, & crew, throughout this charterparty, being excepted, reserving, however, such room only for that purpose as the owners would, were the ship to be loaded for their exclusive benefit, the vessel shall immediately be made ready, & take on board from the charterers, who are to have the full reach of the vessel's hold from bulkhead to bulkhead, including the half-deck, a full & complete cargo," & thereupon proceed to Halifax:—Held: under this charterparty, the owners of the vessel, & not the charterers, were entitled to the freight for goods loaded on the deck of the vessel.—NEILL v. RIDLEY (1854), 9 Exch. 677; 2 C. L. R. 1017; 6 L. T. 229; 156 E. R. 291.

1935. ——.] — The Anglo-American Cotton charterparty provided that the charterer was to have the option of shipping damaged cotton on deck, consistent with the seaworthiness of the steamer, such to be at the shipper's risk & expense, & that the charterer was to fully insure the freight thereon. The charterparty contained no provision for the payment of freight on such deck cargo:—Held: the shipowner was entitled to a reasonable freight upon cotton so shipped.—URSULA BRIGHT S.S. CO. v. RIPLEY (1903), 8 Com. Cas. 171, C. A.

(e) Mode of Stowage.

1936. Compressed or uncompressed bales.]—Where a practice prevailed of compressing bales of cotton wool by machinery, to improve their stowage, the furnishing a cargo of cotton wool in uncompressed bales, as they came from the grower, was held not to be a compliance with a contract to load a full & complete cargo.

Where the freighter had an option to load a whole ship with one species of goods at a higher rate of freight, or a part with goods at a higher rate, & a part with another species of goods at a lower rate, but the latter, if laden at all, required to be first laden on board, the freighter, by beginning to load with the goods at the higher rate, was deemed to elect to furnish an entire cargo of those goods at the higher rate, & he having so elected, but failing to load a complete cargo thereof:—Held: the jury were warranted in giving damages for the entire complement at the higher rate, without regarding the liberty he once had to load goods at a lower rate.—BENSON v. SCHNEIDER (1817), 7 Taunt. 272; 1 Moore, C. P. 21; 129 E. R. 109.

Annotation:—Reld. Cuthbert v. Cumming (1864), 3 C. L. R. 1301.

1937. Removal of part of boat.]—Deft. agreed to convey on board his ship a boat for pltf., of certain dimensions. Pltf. presented a decked boat, within the size agreed on:—Held: evidence was properly received of a practice to take off the decks of such boats when they were stowed on board ships; & pltf. having declined to permit his deck to be removed, could not sue deft. for breach of agreement.—HAYNES v. HOLLIDAY (1831), 7 Bing. 587; 5 Moo. & P. 572; 9 L. J. O. S. C. P. 179; 131 E. R. 227.

Annotation:—Mentd. Pettitt v. Mitchell (1842), 5 Scott, N. R. 721.

1938. Sugar in hogshead or bags.]—CUTHBERT v. CUMMING, No. 1905, ante.

1939. ——.]—By a charterparty made between pltf., the owner of a steamship, & defts., her affreighters, it was provided that the ship should proceed to a specified port, & there load from the factor of the affreighters a "full & complete cargo of sugar in hogsheads &/or bags, or other lawful merchandise," & being loaded should therewith proceed to another port & deliver the same at such place as the consignees might direct, on being paid freight at the rate therein mentioned.

The cargo of sugar, with which the ship was loaded, was not, pltf. said a "full & complete" one, inasmuch as the parts of the ship known as the "lazarette" & the "alleyways" were not filled with bags of sugar as they ought to have been. The defence was, that the master of the ship did not stow the cargo properly: that defts. tendered more hogsheads of sugar, which were too large to go into the alleyways; & that, if the bags had been put there, there would have been space for more hogsheads in the hold:—Held: defts. were not bound to send the cargo in any particular form: &, as they sent part of it in bags & hogsheads, & the master chose to assume that the remainder would be in bags, & to leave stowage which was only suitable for bags, & not for hogsheads, which defts. had an equal right to send, they could not be made liable for dead freight.—FURNESS v. TENNANT, SONS & CO. (1892), 66 L. T. 635; 8 T. L. R. 336; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 179, C. A.

1940. Molasses in puncheons.]—CUTHBERT v. CUMMING, No. 1905, ante.

1941. Mode governed by usage—At port of loading.]—CUTHBERT v. CUMMING, No. 1905, ante.

1942. Supply of cargo for broken stowage.]—By a charterparty the charterer bound himself to load at Havana "a full & complete cargo of sugar & other lawful produce." Certain goods were enumerated, including timber, & certain rates of freight were mentioned; & the charterparty proceeded, "other goods, if any should be shipped, to pay in proportion to the foregoing rates, except what might be shipped for broken stowage, which should pay as customary" half freight. A full cargo of mahogany logs was shipped, but no broken stowage was supplied to fill up the interstices, & the vessel was in consequence obliged to retain 30 tons of ballast:—Held: it being impossible to ship a "full & complete cargo," without broken stowage, the charterer was bound by his contract to furnish it.—COLE v. MEEK (1864), 15 C. B. N. S. 795; 3 New Rep. 388; 33 L. J. C. P. 183; 9 L. T. 653; 12 W. R. 349; 1 Mar. L. C. 415; 143 E. R. 997.

Annotation:—Reld. Southampton Steam Colliery Co. v. Clarke (1870), L. R. 6 Exch. 53.

1943. ——.]—By a charterparty the merchant contracted to load "a full & complete cargo of sugar in cases, or other lawful merchandise, with sufficient bags for broken stowage," at a certain rate of freight per ton for sugar, "& for other produce a rate proportionate to sugar in casks, with sufficient bags for broken stowage, agreeably to the custom of the port of loading." By the custom of the loading port, a given quantity of cotton was to be taken as equal to a ton of sugar. The charterer filled the ship with cotton, putting on board a reasonable quantity of stone for ballast:—Held: the stipulation for "sufficient bags, of sugar, for broken stowage" was only applicable to a cargo of sugar in cases or casks, & consequently that the engagement to ship a full cargo of lawful merchandise was performed.—DUCKETT v. SATTERFIELD (1868), L. R. 3 C. P. 227; 37 L. J. C. P. 144.

Cargo or ballast.]—See Nos. 1910, 1911, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 9.—FREIGHT.

See Part VII., Sect. 11, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 10.—PROVISIONS AS TO BILLS OF LADING.

See Part VII., Sect. 3, post.

t. Authority of charterer's agent to consent to change in order of loading.]—LINDSAY & SON v. SCHOLEFIELD (1897), 24 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 404; 34 Sc. L. R. 404; 4 S. L. T. 291.—SCOT.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sects. 11, 12, 13 & 14, A., B. & C.]

SUB-SECT. 11.—DEMURRAGE.

See Part VII., Sect. 8, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 12.—DAMAGES FOR DETENTION.

See Part VII., Sect. 9, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 13.—DISPATCH MONEY.

See Part VII., Sect. 10, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 14.—CESSER OF LIABILITY CLAUSE.

A. Future Liabilities.

1944. Balance of freight.]—A charterparty provided for the cesser of liability of B. & co., the charterers of a ship, on loading & payment of advance freight at port of shipment. B. & co. were consignees of the cargo, & the bills of lading made the cargo deliverable " unto order or assigns, he or they paying freight & other conditions as per charterparty." In an action for balance of freight against B. & co. :—Held : they were not liable.—BARWICK v. BURNYEAT, BROWN & CO. (1877), 36 L. T. 250 ; 25 W. R. 395 ; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 376.

1945. Where charterer also consignee.]—BARWICK v. BURNYEAT, BROWN & Co., No. 1944, ante.

1946. ——.]—Goods were shipped on board pltf.'s ship under two bills of lading, by which they were made deliverable at the port of discharge to defts. or their assigns, " they paying freight & all other conditions as per charterparty." The charterparty, which was entered into by defts. as charterers for account of another party, stipulated for payment of freight & demurrage, & also that the liability of defts., as charterers should cease as soon as the cargo was on board, the vessel holding a lien upon the cargo for freight & demurrage. In an action against defts., as consignees of the goods, for demurrage incurred at the port of discharge :—Held : as the cesser clause in the charterparty was inconsistent with the contract contained in the bill of lading, it could not be incorporated into the bill of lading, &, consequently, defts. as consignees were not absolved from liability for demurrage incurred at the port of discharge.—GULLISCHEN v. STEWART BROTHERS (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 317 ; 53 L. J. Q. B. 173 ; 50 L. T. 47 ; 32 W. R. 763 ; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 200, C. A.

Annotations :—Consd. Serraino v. Campbell, [1891] 1 Q. B. 283. Reld. East Yorkshire S.S. Co. v. Hancock (1900), 5 Com. Cas. 266 ; Repetto v. Millar's Karri & Jarrah Forests, [1901] 2 K. B. 306 ; Temperley S.S. Co. v. Smyth, [1905] 2 K. B. 791.

1947. ——.]—(1) A charterparty provided that the vessel should proceed to Malta for orders, which were to be given from London within 24 hours after receipt of notice or lay days to count :—Held : the orders not having been given within the time prescribed, the lay days did not begin to count till the expiration of the 24 hours.

(2) A clause in a charterparty providing for the cesser of the charterer's responsibility on the goods being loaded, does not absolve the charterer, if he be also the indorsee & holder of a bill of lading incorporating the conditions of the charterparty, from liability for damage incurred at an intermediate port.—BRYDEN v. NIEBUHR (1884), Cab. & El. 241.

Cesser clause in time charter.]—See Sub-sect. 22, B. (c) ii., post.

Effect of lien clause.]—See Sub-sect. 14, C., post.

Demurrage at port of discharge.]—See No. 3908, post.

B. Antecedent Liabilities.

1948. Undue detention at loading port.]—LOCKHART v. FALK, No. 3864, post.

1949. ——.]—RESTITUTION S.S. CO., LTD. v. SIR JOHN PIRIE & CO., No. 3849, post.

1950. ——.]—CLINK v. RADFORD & CO., No. 1962, post.

1951. ——.]—DUNLOP & SONS v. BALFOUR, WILLIAMSON & CO., No. 4008, post.

1952. Irregularity or delay in shipment.]—By a charterparty made between pltfs., shipowners, & defts., agents in England for foreign charterers, pltfs.' ship the B. should proceed to J., & there load in regular turn, in the customary manner, from defts., a full & complete cargo of coke. Further, as defts. were acting for foreign principals, " all liability of " defts. " in every respect, & as to all matters & things, as well before & during as after the shipping of the said cargo," should " cease as soon as they " had " shipped the cargo." Defts. having loaded & shipped the agreed cargo, pltfs. afterwards sued them in this action for not having shipped it in regular turn :—Held : the action would not lie, for the charterparty limited defts.' liability to the actual shipment of the cargo, & protected them from responsibility for any irregularity or delay in the shipment.—MILVAIN v. PEREZ (1861), 3 E. & E. 495 ; 30 L. J. Q. B. 90 ; 3 L. T. 736 ; 7 Jur. N. S. 336 ; 9 W. R. 269 ; 1 Mar. L. C. 32 ; 121 E. R. 528.

Annotations :—Consd. Bannister v. Breslauer (1867), L. R. 2 C. P. 497 ; Francesco v. Massey (1873), L. R. 8 Exch. 101 ; Kish v. Cory (1875), L. R. 10 Q. B. 553 ; French v. Gerber (1876), 1 C. P. D. 737. Reld. Christoffersen v. Hansen (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 509 ; Dunlop v. Balfour, Williamson, [1892] 1 Q. B. 507.

1953. ——.]—By a charterparty between pltf. & deft. it was agreed, that pltf.'s ship should, with all convenient speed, proceed to Sunderland, & that deft. should there load the ship in regular turn with a full cargo of coals, & the ship should proceed with it to Kiel, & deliver to freighter or assigns, on payment of certain freight : " & that, the charter being concluded by deft. on behalf of another party resident abroad, all liability of deft. should cease as soon as he had shipped the cargo " :—Held : this clause only exempted deft. from liability accruing after the loading of the cargo ; & he, therefore, remained liable for delay in loading, although he had ultimately loaded a full cargo.

In a charterparty, as in every contract, if the agent chooses to make himself a contracting party, the other contracting party may either sue the agent who has himself contracted, though on behalf of another, or he may sue the principal who has contracted through his agent ; & this, whether the principal was known at the time or not, or whether it was or was not known that there was a principal (BLACKBURN, J.).—CHRISTOFFERSEN v. HANSEN (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 509 ; 41 L. J. Q. B. 217 ; 26 L. T. 547 ; 20 W. R. 626 ; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 305.

Annotations :—Consd. Francesco v. Massey (1873), L. R. 8 Exch. 101 ; French v. Gerber (1876), 1 C. P. D. 737. Reld. Kish v. Cory (1875), L. R. 10 Q. B. 553 ; Lockhart v. Falk (1875), 33 L. T. 96 ; Dunlop v. Balfour, Williamson, [1892] 1 Q. B. 507 ; Rederiact. Superior v. Dewar & Webb, [1909] 2 K. B. 998.

1954. ——.]—A charterparty contained the following clause : " This charter being concluded by defts. for & on behalf of another party, it is agreed that all liability of the former shall cease as soon as the cargo is shipped, loading excepted, the owners & master of the vessel agreeing to rest solely on their lien on the cargo for freight, demurrage & all other claims, which lien it is hereby agreed they shall have " :—Held : the shipowner, pltf., was entitled to recover damages from the defts. for delay in loading, as the exception extended to all liability of the latter connected with the loading, & was not satisfied merely by loading a complete cargo.—LISTER v. VAN HAANSBERGEN (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 269 ; 45 L. J. Q. B. 495 ; 34 L. T. 446 ; 24 W. R. 395 ; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 145.

Annotations :—Refd. French v. Gerber (1876), 1 C. P. D. 737 ; Dunlop v. Balfour, Williamson, [1892] 1 Q. B. 507.

1955. Where charterer also consignee.]—Statement of claim, that defts. chartered pltf.'s ship for a voyage from Cardiff to Callao with a cargo of coals, to be consigned to defts.' agent at Callao. By the charterparty the ship was to be loaded at the rate of 75 tons per day, commencing when she was wholly unballasted ; stiffening coal to be supplied at the ship's expense at the rate of 40 tons per working day, all days on which stiffening coal was taken on board or the ship was detained for the same, to be excluded from the working days allowed for loading ; the vessel to be discharged at the rate of 40 tons per day ; demurrage to be paid for each day beyond the said days allowed for loading & discharging at the rate of 3*d.* per registered ton per day ; the master to have a lien on the cargo for all freight & demurrage ; all liability of the charterers to cease as soon as the cargo was on board ; & all questions, whether of short delivery, demurrage, or otherwise, to be settled with charterer's agent at the port of destination, which settlement to be binding on the owners ; the owners & master to have a lien on the cargo for all freight, dead freight & demurrage. That the ship was detained by the default of defts. in providing stiffening coal ; that the cargo was ultimately loaded ; that pltf. requested defts.' agent at Callao to settle the claims as to demurrage, etc., of pltf., which he refused to do ; but defts.' agent required pltf. to deliver the cargo, which pltf. accordingly did, without enforcing his lien for demurrage. Pltf. claimed £350 from defts. for demurrage or damages for detention. Defts. demurred to so much of the claim as alleged liability under the charterparty, on the ground that the liability of defts. had ceased on the loading of the cargo :—Held : (1) the demurrage clause applied to the loading of the stiffening coal as well as to the loading of cargo proper ; (2) even if it did not, the lien for " demurrage " would extend to damages for detention by not loading stiffening coal, as well as to demurrage proper ; & the cesser of liability clause applied to liability in respect of both ; (3) the fact that defts. were themselves consignees as well as charterers made no difference in the construction of the cesser of liability clause ; (4) the rest of the clause, giving defts.' agent power to settle claims for short delivery & demurrage made no difference in the construction as to cesser of liability ; (5) the facts that defts.' agent refused to settle the demurrage, & that pltf. had delivered the cargo at the request of defts.' agent without enforcing the lien, did not revive defts.' liability under, or give rise to an action on, the charterparty.—SANGUINETTI v. PACIFIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1876), 2 Q. B. D. 238 ; 46 L. J. Q. B. 105 ; 35 L. T. 658 ; 25 W. R. 150 ; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 300, C. A.

Annotations :—As to (2) Consd. Dunlop v. Balfour, Williamson, [1892] 1 Q. B. 507. Refd. Clink v. Radford (1871), 7 T. L. R. 327 ; Harris v. Jacobs (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 247 ; Restitution S.S. Co. v. Pirie (1889), 61 L. T. 330. As to (3) Refd. Barwick v. Burnyeat, Brown (1877), 36 L. T. 250.

1956. Agent empowered to settle claims.]—SANGUINETTI v. PACIFIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO., No. 1955, ante.

Demurrage at port of loading.]—See No. 3907, post.

C. Effect of Lien Clause.

1957. How far cesser clause operative.]—By a charterparty for a voyage from London to Antwerp, the cargo was to be loaded & discharged with all dispatch, & freight to be paid in cash on unloading & right delivery : " the charterers' liability on this charter to cease when the cargo is shipped, provided the same is worth the freight on arrival at the port of discharge ; the captain having an absolute lien on it for freight, dead freight, & demurrage, which he, or owner, shall be bound to exercise " :—Held : a plea setting out the above condition, & averring " that the cargo was shipped, & that the same was worth the said freight on arrival at the port of discharge, & that thereupon defts.' liability as charterers upon & under the charterparty ceased," was a good answer to an action by the shipowner against the charterers for delay in loading the vessel in London.—BANNISTER v. BRESLAUER (1867), L. R. 2 C. P. 497 ; 36 L. J. C. P. 195 ; 16 L. T. 418 ; 2 Mar. L. C. 490 ; sub nom. BANISTER v. BRESLAUER, 15 W. R. 840.

Annotations :—Dbtd. Gray v. Carr (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 522. Consd. Christoffersen v. Hansen (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 509 ; Francesco v. Massey (1873), L. R. 8 Exch. 101 ; Kish v. Cory (1875), L. R. 10 Q. B. 553 ; French v. Gerber (1876), 1 C. P. D. 737 ; Clink v. Radford, [1891] 1 Q. B. 625. Refd. Lockhart v. Falk (1875), L. R. 10 Exch. 132 ; Dunlop v. Balfour, Williamson, [1892] 1 Q. B. 507.

1958. ——.]—Pltf., on Aug. 18, 1866, chartered his vessel, Superior, to R., for a voyage from Sulina to London. By the charterparty the ship was to proceed to Sulina, & there load a full cargo of staves &/or grain, or other lawful merchandise, which the charterer bound himself to ship, & thence proceed to London, & deliver the same on being paid freight at 8*s.* per 100 oak staves, & other merchandise, if shipped, in fair proportion : fifty running days to be allowed for loading & ten days on demurrage over & above the said laying days at £8 per day. The owners to have an absolute lien on the cargo for all freight, dead freight, demurrage, & average ; & the charterer's responsibility to cease on shipment of the cargo, provided it be of sufficient value to cover the freight & charges on arrival at port of discharge. The ship arrived at Sulina, & after considerable delay the loading, as far as it went, was completed on Jan. 5, 1867, & on that day bills of lading were signed by the captain, under protest : " Shipped by R. on the ship Superior, of whom H. is captain, now lying in the port of Sulina, & bound to consign his cargo as per charterparty of Aug. 18, 1866, 283,682 oak

---

PART VII. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 14.—C.

1957 i. How far cesser clause operative.]—A charterparty contained the following clause : " It is agreed that the responsibility of the charterer ceases as soon as the cargo is on board, the vessel holding a lien on the cargo for freight & demurrage." Pltfs. sued defts., the charterer, for the freight, setting out in their declaration that the vessel was loaded & proceeded to sea with her cargo & delivered the cargo : —Held : defts. was not liable.—COOK v. MCLEOD (1873), 9 N. S. R. (3 G. & O.) 307.—CAN.

1957 ii. ——.]—GARDINER v. MACFARLANE, M'CRINDELL & CO. (1889), 16 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 658 ; 26 Sc. L. R. 492.—SCOT.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 14, C.; sub-sects. 15 & 16.]

staves, which are to be delivered at the port of discharge, as per the aforesaid charterparty . . . unto order, or to his or their assigns, he or they paying freight & all other conditions or demurrage, if any should be incurred, for the said goods, as per the aforesaid charterparty." The words " & all other conditions " were added in writing. A full & complete cargo was not shipped, & the vessel sailed from Sulina, & performed her voyage with a short cargo. She was also detained at her port of loading during the ten days on demurrage, & also eighteen days beyond the ten days. The cargo was of value sufficient to cover pltf.'s claims for freight, dead freight, & demurrage. On the ship's arrival in London, pltf. claimed a lien on the cargo for the amount of dead freight, & of demurrage, & for damages for her detention during the eighteen days. Defts. claimed the cargo as the consignees named in the bills of lading; they had no notice until the arrival of the ship in London of the said claim, but a copy of the charterparty had been sent to defts. with the original bill of lading:—Held: (1) there was no lien given for damages for short loading under the term " dead freight " in the charterparty; (2) a lien was given by the charterparty for demurrage proper under the term " demurrage," but not for damages for detention beyond the demurrage days; & this lien for demurrage at the port of loading was retained by the terms of the bill of lading.

(3) Dead freight is an expression having a well-known signification, viz. the freight which would have been payable for that part of the vessel which has not been occupied by merchandise, but ought to have been (CLEASBY, B.).

(4) These claims are, first, £80 for demurrage incurred by the detention of the ship at the port of loading for ten days, during which, according to the terms of the charterparty, the charterer, if he detained the ship, was to pay £8 per day demurrage; secondly, a further claim for damages for the ship's detention for a further period of eighteen days beyond the ten days; & thirdly, a claim for what is called dead freight, which is said to be incurred in consequence of a full cargo not having been loaded. It is clear that the pltf. can only have a lien for any of these claims by express contract, inasmuch as the lien which, as shipowner, he would have independently of any contract would only extend to the actual freight of the goods carried. Further, although the charterparty may contain an express contract giving him such a lien on the goods as against the charterer, yet he could not have the lien as against the indorsee of a bill of lading, unless it is stipulated for in the bill of lading, either by the incorporation of the clause in the charterparty, or by its being expressly mentioned (CHANNELL, B.).—GRAY v. CARR (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 522; 40 L. J. Q. B. 257; 25 L. T. 215; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 115; sub nom. GREY v. CARR, 19 W. R. 1173, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Serraino v. Campbell, [1891] 1 Q. B. 283. N.F. Kish v. Taylor, [1910] 1 K. B. 309. Reld. McLean v. Fleming (1871), 1 Asp. M. L. C. 160; Porteus v. Watney (1878), 3 Q. B. D. 534; Red R S.S. Co. v. Allatini (1909), 100 L. T. 268. As to (2) Reld. Kish v. Cory (1875), 32 L. T. 670; Lockhart v. Falk (1875), 44 L. J. Ex. 105; Dunlop v. Balfour, Williamson, [1892] 1 Q. B. 507; Rederiact. Superior v. Dewar & Webb, [1909] 2 K. B. 998. As to (4) Reld. French v. Gerber (1876), 1 C. P. D. 737; The Lizzie (1918), 34 T. L. R. 421. Generally, Reld. Christoffersen v. Hansen (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 509; Diederichsen v. Farquharson, [1898] 1 Q. B. 150; Hogarth Shipping Co. v. Blyth, Greene, Jourdain, [1917] 2 K. B. 534.

1959. ——.]—A charterparty made by pltf. to deft. contained the following clause: " Charterer's liability to cease when the ship is loaded, the captain having a lien upon the cargo for freight & demurrage." In an action brought for demurrage at the port of loading:—Held: (1) the lien extended to demurrage at the port of loading, as well as at the port of discharge; (2) the ship, having been loaded, the charterer could not be sued for demurrage incurred during the loading.—FRANCESCO v. MASSEY (1873), L. R. 8 Exch. 101; 42 L. J. Ex. 75; 21 W. R. 440.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apprvd. Kish v. Cory (1875), L. R. 10 Q. B. 553. Reld. Rederiact. Superior v. Dewar & Webb, [1909] 2 K. B. 998; Akt. Reidar v. Arcos, [1927] 1 K. B. 352. As to (2) Reld. Lockhart v. Falk (1875), L. R. 10 Exch. 132; French v. Gerber (1876), 1 C. P. D. 737. Generally, Reld. Dunlop v. Balfour, Williamson, [1892] 1 Q. B. 507.

1960. ——.]—KISH v. CORY, No. 4005, post.

1961. ——.]—Defts. chartered pltfs.' ship to carry a cargo of rice to a good & safe port, calling at another port for orders which were to be forwarded within forty-eight hours after notice of her arrival or lay days to count. Twelve working laying days to be allowed the freighters for loading the ship at port of loading & waiting for orders at port of call, & fifteen days on demurrage allowed over & above the laying days, at 4*d.* per ton per day. It was further agreed " that the liability of the charterers shall cease as soon as the cargo is on board, provided the same is worth the freight at port of discharge, but the owners of the ship to have an absolute lien on the cargo for all freight, dead freight, & demurrage, which they shall be bound to exercise." The ship arrived at the port of call with a cargo worth the freight, & notice was given to defts. In an action against the charterers, who had sold the cargo before arrival at the port of call, two breaches of contract were assigned: that defts. did not give orders as to the ship's port of discharge; that they gave orders for the ship to discharge at a port which was not a good & safe port; whereby pltfs. were delayed & put to expense in obtaining payment of the freight:—Held: the exoneration clause discharged defts. from liability for the breaches.—FRENCH v. GERBER (1877), 2 C. P. D. 247; 46 L. J. Q. B. 320; 36 L. T. 350; 25 W. R. 355; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 403, C. A.

*Annotations:—Reld. Barwick v. Burnyeat, Brown (1877), 36 L. T. 250; Sanguinetti v. Pacific Steam Navigation Co. (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 238; Dunlop v. Balfour, Williamson, [1892] 1 Q. B. 507; Hansen v. Harrold (1894), 9 R. 315; Brankelow S.S. Co. v. Canton Insce. Office, [1899] 2 Q. B. 178.

1962. ——.]—By a charterparty the ship was to load a cargo in the usual & customary manner & proceed to the port of discharge, & there deliver the same " to be unloaded at the average rate of not less than 100 tons per working day . . . or charterers to pay demurrage at the rate of 4*d.* per ton register per diem . . . the charterers' liability under this charterparty to cease on the cargo being loaded, the owners having a lien on the cargo for the freight & demurrage." In an action by the shipowner against the charterers to recover damages for detention at the port of loading:—Held: the word " demurrage " in the lien clause did not cover damages for undue detention at the port of loading, & therefore the cesser clause did not exempt the charterers from liability for the delay.

In my opinion the main rule to be derived from the cases as to the interpretation of the cesser clause in a charterparty, is that the ct. will construe it as inapplicable to the particular breach complained of, if by construing it otherwise the shipowner would be left unprotected in respect of that particular breach, unless the cesser clause is expressed in terms that prohibit such a conclusion (LORD ESHER, M.R.).

The rule that we are primâ facie to apply to the construction of a cesser clause followed by a lien clause appears to me to be well ascertained. That rule seems a most rational one, & it is simply this, that the two are to be read, if possible, as co-extensive. If that were not so, we should have this extraordinary result: there would be a clause in the charterparty the breach of which would create a legal liability; there would then be a cesser clause destroying that liability; & there would then come a lien clause which did not recreate that liability in anybody else (FRY, L.J.). —CLINK v. RADFORD & Co., [1891] 1 Q. B. 625; 60 L. J. Q. B. 388; 64 L. T. 491; 39 W. R. 355; 7 T. L. R. 327; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 10, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Hansen v. Harrold, [1894] 1 Q. B. 612; Jenneson, Taylor v. Secretary of State for India, [1916] 2 K. B. 702. Reld. Dunlop v. Balfour, Williamson, [1892] 1 Q. B. 507; Brankelow S.S. Co. v. Canton Insce. Office, [1899] 2 Q. B. 178.

1963. ——.]—HANSEN v. HARROLD BROTHERS, No. 4600, post.

1964. ——.]—Shipowners chartered a ship for a voyage at a lump freight, the charterers' liability to cease upon shipment of the cargo, provided the cargo was worth the freight, dead freight, & demurrage on arrival, & the vessel to have a lien on the cargo for the recovery of all freight, dead freight, demurrage, & all other charges. The shipowners & charterers jointly insured the lump freight "chartered or as if chartered value" at the lump sum "on board or not on board." The charterers loaded the ship with a general cargo, & the master signed bills of lading by which the goods mentioned in each bill were made deliverable upon payment of the bill of lading freight payable in respect of those goods. The aggregate of the bill of lading freight exceeded the chartered freight. On the voyage part of the cargo was lost by jettison upon the ship running aground. The cargo which arrived was worth the freight, dead freight, & demurrage. Owing to the loss of cargo the bill of lading freight payable on the cargo delivered was less than the chartered freight. To recover the difference an action was brought on the policy by the shipowners & charterers jointly:—Held: (1) the action was not maintainable, the loss having been caused not by perils of the seas, but by the master's not having reserved in the bills of lading the lien over the whole cargo for the chartered freight.

(2) A lump sum freight is a definite sum agreed to be paid for the hire of a ship for a specified voyage; &, although only payable on the right & true delivery of the cargo, those words are not taken literally, but are understood to mean right & true delivery having regard to & excluding the excepted perils. In other words, the cargo does not mean the cargo shipped, but the cargo which the shipowner undertakes to deliver. The non-delivery of some of that affords no defence to a claim for the lump sum freight although such non-delivery, if wrongful, will give rise to a cross-action (LORD LINDLEY).—WILLIAMS & Co. v. CANTON INSURANCE OFFICE, LTD., [1901] A. C. 462; 70 L. J. K. B. 962; 85 L. T. 317; 17 T. L. R. 696; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 247; 9 Com. Cas. 256, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. BRANKELOW S.S. Co. v. CANTON INSURANCE OFFICE, [1899] 2 Q. B. 178.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. Scottish Shire Line v. London & Provincial Marine & General Insce., [1912] 3 K. B. 51. As to (2) Consd. Harrowing S.S. Co. v. Thomas, [1913] 2 K. B. 171. Generally, Reld. Thomas v. Harrowing S.S. Co., [1915] A. C. 58.

1965. ——.]—A charterparty provided that the captain should sign bills of lading in a prescribed form without prejudice to the charterparty, that the discharge should be at a specified rate per day, that the captain should have a lien on the cargo for freight, demurrage, & any other lawful claim against the charterer, & that the charterer's liability should cease on completion of shipment provided the cargo was worth the freight & demurrage. The captain signed bills of lading in the prescribed form which did not provide for any rate of discharge & under which no lien was given to the shipowners for demurrage or other claims. The cargo was not discharged within the time provided for in the charterparty:—Held: the cesser clause did not exempt the charterer from liability for the delay at the port of discharge.—JENNESON, TAYLOR & Co. v. SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN COUNCIL, [1916] 2 K. B. 702; 86 L. J. K. B. 283; 116 L. T. 570; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 41; 22 Com. Cas. 1.

1966. —— Delivery without enforcement of lien.]—SANGUINETTI v. PACIFIC STEAM NAVIGATION Co., No. 1955, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 15.—LIEN CLAUSE.

Lien for demurrage.]—See Sect. 8, sub-sect. 4, post.

Lien for freight.]—See Sect. 13, sub-sect. 3, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 16.—PENALTY CLAUSE.

1967. Effect of penalty clause—Whether damages recoverable—In excess of penalty.]—One may recover more than the penalty of a charterparty in damages, by action on the case for breach of contract.—WINTER v. TRIMMER (1762), 1 Wm. Bl. 395; 96 E. R. 225.

Annotations:—Folld. Harrison v. Wright (1811), 13 East, 343. Mentd. Beckham v. Drake (1849), 2 H. L. Cas. 579.

1968. —— —— ——.]—In assumpsit upon a memorandum for a charterparty, describing the agreement of deft., the shipowner, to proceed with all convenient speed to a foreign port, & there load, within twenty running days, a cargo from pltf.'s factors, & therewith return home, & in fifteen running days deliver the same, on payment of certain freight, concluding with a certain penalty for non-performance:—Held: pltf. might recover damages on the breach of the contract, in deft.'s not permitting the vessel to proceed on the voyage, beyond the amount of the penalty.—HARRISON v. WRIGHT (1811), 13 East, 343; 104 E. R. 402.

Annotations:—Consd. Wall v. Rederiakt. Luggude, [1915] 3 K. B. 66. Mentd. Beckham v. Drake (1849), 2 H. L. Cas. 579.

1969. —— —— ——.]—Such a clause [penalty clause] is not the absolute limit of damages on either side; the party may ground his action upon other clauses or covenants & may in such an action recover damages beyond the amount of the penalty if in justice they shall be found to exceed it. On the other hand, if the party sue on such a penal clause he cannot in effect recover more than the damage actually sustained (BLACKBURN, J.).—GODARD v. GRAY (1870), L. R. 6 Q. B. 139; 40 L. J. Q. B. 62; 24 L. T. 89; 19 W. R. 348.

Annotations:—Reld. Thorp v. Hibbard (1887), 4 T. L. R. 54; Wall v. Rederiakt. Luggude, [1915] 3 K. B. 66. Mentd. Schibsby v. Westenholz (1870), L. R. 6 Q. B. 155; Ochsenbein v. Papelier (1873), 8 Ch. App. 695; Copin v. Adamson, Copin v. Strachan (1874), 31 L. T. 242; Meyer v. Ralli (1876), 1 C. P. D. 358; Re St. Nazaire Co. (1877), 36 L. T. 358; Roussillon v. Roussillon (1880), 42 L. T. 679; Abouloff v. Oppenheimer (1882), 10 Q. B. D.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sects. 16, 17, 18, 19 & 20, A. (a) i.] 295; Voinet v. Barrett (1885), 55 L. J. Q. B. 39; Re Trufort, Trafford v. Blanc (1887), 36 Ch. D. 600; Nouvion v. Freeman, Re Henderson (1889), 15 App. Cas. 1; Crozat v. Brogden (1894), 42 W. R. 317; Pemberton v. Hughes, [1899] 1 Ch. 781; Emanuel v. Symon, [1908] 1 K. B. 302; Robinson v. Fenner, [1913] 3 K. B. 835.

1970. —— —— ——.]—WATTS, WATTS & CO., LTD. v. MITSUI & CO., LTD., No. 2549, post.

1971. —— —— ——.]—A charterparty contained the following clause: "Penalty for non-performance of this agreement proved damages, not exceeding estimated amount of freight":—Held: the clause provided a penalty & not a limitation of liability, & did not prevent the party complaining of non-performance from recovering the actual damages though exceeding the estimated amount of freight.—WALL v. REDERIAKT. LUGGUDE, [1915] 3 K. B. 66; 84 L. J. K. B. 1663; 114 L. T. 286; 31 T. L. R. 487; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 271; 21 Com. Cas. 132.

Annotation:—Consd. Watts, Watts v. Mitsui, [1917] A. C. 227.

1972. Whether penalty recoverable as liquidated damages.]—SPARROW v. PARIS, No. 1889, ante.

1973. ——.]—GODARD v. GRAY, No. 1969, ante.

1974. ——.] — THORP v. HIBBARD (1887), 4 T. L. R. 54.

Liquidated damages or penalty generally.]—See DAMAGES, Vol. XVII., pp. 136 et seq.

---

SUB-SECT. 17.—ARBITRATION CLAUSE.

See, generally, ARBITRATION, Vol. II., pp. 305 et seq.

Incorporation in bill of lading.]—See ARBITRATION, Vol. II., pp. 331, 332, Nos. 138–141.

Whether clause in colliery agreement incorporated in charterparty.]—See ARBITRATION, Vol. II., p. 332, Nos. 142, 143.

Appointment of arbitrator within limited time.]—See ARBITRATION, Supp. III., Nos. 165a, 165b, 165d.

Construction of clause.]—See ARBITRATION, Vol. II., p. 347, Nos. 236, 238.

Stay of proceedings.]—See ARBITRATION, Vol. II., pp. 361, 362, Nos. 312–314.

Restraint of arbitration by injunction.]—See ARBITRATION, Vol. II., p. 378, No. 419.

Revocation of agreement to submit to arbitration.]—See ARBITRATION, Vol. II., p. 393, No. 521.

---

SUB-SECT. 18.—PROVISIONS AS TO INSURANCE.

1975. Provision for payment by owners—Effect on liability of charterers—Ship damaged by negligence of charterers' servants.]—A clause in a charterparty, "owners shall pay for the insurance on the vessel":—Held: not to exonerate the charterers from liability for damage to the ship caused by the negligence of their servants.—AIRA FORCE S.S. CO., LTD. v. CHRISTIE & CO. (1892), 8 T. L. R. 104, C. A.

1976. —— Special clause as to war risks—Construction.] — In a time charterparty dated Sept. 17, 1912, & made between the owners of a Dutch steamer & a British firm, who were the charterers, clause 2 provided (inter alia) that the owners should "pay & provide for the insurance on the vessel," & clause 23 that nothing in the charterparty was to be construed as a demise of the ship to the charterers, the owners remaining responsible (inter alia) for the insurance "same as when trading for their own account." At the end of the charterparty was the following special clause: "War risks, if any required for charterers' account. It is understood & agreed that value for war risk at all times to be based on value stated in owners' annual policy." At the outbreak of war between England & Germany the ship was engaged in carrying a cargo of wheat from Portland, Oregon, for delivery to merchants of Belfast & Dublin. The ship was sunk at sea by a German cruiser on Sept. 21, 1914. No insurance against war risk had been effected. The ship was insured by the owners for £20,000 by annual yearly policies in which the value of the ship was stated as £24,000. In addition the owners had effected two yearly p.p.i. policies for sums amounting to some £6,500, on the excess value of the ship. Before the loss of the ship was known, the owners had been pressing the charterers to insure against war risk, & had informed them that the ship's insuring value was £30,500. In an action by the owners claiming damages from the charterers for their breach of the charterparty in failing to insure against war risk:—Held: (1) the special clause of the charterparty did not impose on the charterers the obligation of insuring against war risk, when requisite, but only made them liable to pay the costs of any insurance when effected by the owners; (2) even if the obligation to insure had rested on the charterers, it must be a condition precedent that the owners should correctly inform the charterers as to the "value stated in owners' annual policy"; & this had never been done, as the correct amount was £24,000 & not £30,500.—HOLLAND GULF STOOMVAART MAATSCHAPPIJ v. WATSON, MUNRO & CO. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 451; 114 L. T. 255; 32 T. L. R. 169; 60 Sol. Jo. 174; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 279, C. A.

1977. —— Subsequent agreement for refund of war risk premiums—If vessel trading "in war region."]—By an agreement supplemental to a charterparty it was agreed that if the vessel was ordered by the charterers to trade "in the war region" war risk insurance premiums payable by the owners should be refunded to them by the charterers. In Oct. 1916, the charterers were running the vessel in American waters, & owing to the appearance of a German submarine, which destroyed six vessels in an area proximate to that in which the vessel was trading & was ordered by the charterers to trade in the future, the owners paid an increased insurance premium. In an action by the owners against the charterers to recover the amount:—Held: the vessel had been ordered by the charterers to trade "in the war region," & pltfs. were entitled to recover.—MASKINONGE S.S. CO. v. DOMINION COAL CO. (1917), 33 T. L. R. 340, C. A.; affd. sub nom. DOMINION COAL CO., LTD. v. MASKINONGE S.S. CO., LTD. (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 459, H. L.

---

SUB-SECT. 19.—PROVISIONS AS TO ADVANCES AND OTHER PAYMENTS.

1978. Advances to master—Amount limited by charterparty—Liability of owners for excess payment.]—A charterparty contained a clause that "sufficient money should be advanced to the master for disbursements not exceeding £200." The party to whom it was addressed having advanced to the master when abroad a larger sum for the use of the ship:—Held: he was entitled to recover the full amount against the owners.—VAUGHAN v. FITZHUGH (1839), 3 L. T. 153; 3 Jur. 1002.

1979. —— Construction of clause.]—THE PRIMULA, No. 4935, post.

1980. Payment of port charges by owner—Charge for use of quay—"Port charge" not "due on cargo."]—SOCIETA ANONIMA UNGHERESE DI ARMAMENTI MARITTIMO v. HAMBURG SOUTH AMERICAN S.S. Co., No. 1744, ante.

Advance freight.]—See Part VIII., Sect. 4, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 20.—BROKERAGE AND OTHER COMMISSIONS.

A. Right to Commission.

(a) Brokerage.

i. In General.

See, generally, AGENCY, Vol. I., pp. 488–528, Nos. 1664–1861.

1981. Right by usage—Amount of commission.]—By the usage of trade in London, a broker who acts as such in chartering a ship to the Baltic is entitled to a commission of 5 per cent. upon the amount of the freight.—COHEN v. PAGET (1814), 4 Camp. 96; 171 E. R. 31, N. P.

1982. —— ——.]—Semble: the broker's commission on the freight of a ship is 5 per cent. unless there be a special agreement or the ship be chartered upon a tender.—BROWN v. NAIRNE (1839), 9 C. & P. 204; 4 L. T. 341, N. P.

1983. —— —— Admissibility of evidence.]—Where pltf. relies upon a mercantile custom to support his claim, for commission to a certain amount, deft. may, without any special plea, produce evidence to show that under certain circumstances the custom is to pay but half that amount. The evidence being offered to show that the contingent reduction was part of the original contract, & not that it was a subsequent alteration so as to create a new contract.—BROAD v. M'AYLMER (1835), 1 Har. & W. 532; sub nom. BROAD v. M'CALMAR, 5 Nev. & M. K. B. 413; 5 L. J. K. B. 3.

1984. —— —— Payable only in respect of hire earned.]—In the shipping trade there is an established custom that chartering brokers' commission is only payable in respect of hire actually earned.—HARLEY & Co. v. NAGATA (1917), 34 T. L. R. 124; 23 Com. Cas. 121.

Annotation:—Refd. Les Affréteurs Réunis Soc. Anon. v. Walford (London), [1919] A. C. 801.

1985. —— —— —— Effect of express clause in charterparty.]—A clause in a time charterparty provided that "a commission of 3 per cent. on the estimated gross amount of hire is due to L. W. (London), Limited, on signing this charter, ship lost or not lost." No hire was in fact earned under the charterparty:—Held: (1) the charterers, as trustees for the brokers, could enforce the clause against the shipowners; (2) a custom by which commission was payable only if hire was earned under the charterparty could not be set up by the shipowners as an answer to the brokers' claim, inasmuch as it was inconsistent with the terms of the clause.—LES AFFRÉTEURS RÉUNIS SOCIÉTÉ ANONYME v. LEOPOLD WALFORD (LONDON), LTD., [1919] A. C. 801; 88 L. J. K. B. 861; 121 L. T. 393; 35 T. L. R. 542; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 451; 24 Com. Cas. 268, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. LEOPOLD WALFORD (LONDON) v. LES AFFRETEURS REUNIS SOCIETE ANONYME, [1918] 2 K. B. 498, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (1) Apld. French v. Leeston Shipping Co. (1921), 37 T. L. R. 453.

1986. When right accrues—When charterparty executed—Amount dependent on contingency.]—A broker charters ships, at a commission of 2½ per cent. on their outward freight, & the like on homeward freight: if the charterparty makes it contingent what the amount of freight shall be, the broker cannot sue for any sum till the contingency is determined.—WINTER v. MAIR (1811), 3 Taunt. 531; 128 E. R. 210.

1987. —— ——.]—Commission on freight held to be due when charterparty executed.—THE CORONATION, GOODCLIFFE & SMART v. NICOL (1858), 4 L. T. 528.

1988. Legality of voyage doubtful—Dependent on licences to be obtained by charterer.]—It is no answer to an action by a broker for commission for procuring freight, that the charterparty procured was such, that if the charterer failed to obtain certain licences, the voyage would be illegal.—HAINES v. BUSK (1814), 5 Taunt. 521; 1 Marsh. 191; 128 E. R. 793.

Annotations:—Distd. Hamond v. Holliday (1824), 1 C. & P. 384. Apld. Norwich Corpn. v. Norfolk Ry. (1855), 4 E. & B. 397. Mentd. Gray v. Oxford (1905), 21 T. L. R. 664.

1989. General voyage—Charter for indefinite period—Construction of charter party.]—HOLL v. PINSENT (1821), 6 Moore, C. P. 228.

1990. Lack of skill of broker—No benefit resulting from charter.]—If the duties of a sworn broker are executed in such a manner that no benefit results from them, he is not entitled to recover either his commission or even a compensation for his trouble.—HAMOND v. HOLIDAY (1824), 1 C. & P. 384; 171 E. R. 1241, N. P.

1991. Necessity for insertion of broker's name in charterparty.]—A ship broker must have his name inserted in a charterparty to entitle him to sue for commission on it.—THE TRADE WIND, KIRKHAM v. FERNIE (1851), 4 L. T. 528.

1992. Agreement for reduction of amount—Validity.]—A shipbroker, having effected a home charter for a shipowner, in respect of which he was entitled to 5 per cent. commission on the freight, signed an agreement to allow one-half of that commisson if the vessel discharged her outward cargo at a particular port, the charterer having the option of discharging at several other ports:—Held: the agreement was binding upon him, the giving up of the old & the entering into the new agreement being a sufficient consideration, under the circumstances, to support the new agreement.—WOOLLISCROFT v. WATSON (1858), 31 L. T. O. S. 13.

1993. Agreement for payment by brokers of new owners—In consideration of abandonment of right to receive freight.]—A declaration stated that pltf. was a shipbroker, & that he was employed by the owners of a ship to procure for them a charter of that ship, upon the terms that he should be entitled to receive the freight, & so thereout to satisfy himself his commission: & that he did accordingly procure a charterparty on certain terms; that the ship sailed & performed her voyage, & returned to England; that a change of ownership in some of the shares of the ship had accrued before her return; that, after her return pltf. was about to collect & would have collected the freight, so as thereout to satisfy himself his commission; that defts. were the brokers for the new owners, & it became desirable for them to obtain immediate possession of the ship, & they were therefore anxious that pltf. should abandon

a. Right to commission on new agreement—Negotiations independent of broker.]—DAWSON BROTHERS v. FISHER & SONS 1900), 2 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 941.—SCOT.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 20, A. (a) i., ii. & iii.] his right of receiving the freight that, in consideration of the premises, & that pltf. would relinquish his right to collect the freight, defts. promised to pay him his commission; that pltf. did relinquish his right, but that defts. would not pay him his commission:—Held: this was an agreement by defts. to pay, in consideration of the pltf. abandoning his rights, arising from several matters stated by way of inducement, the inducement, as stated, being material; & the declaration was not supported by proof of an agreement in consideration of the pltf. not asserting any lien on the freight, without its appearing whether or not he was entitled to such lien.—GULL v. LINDSAY & YOUNG (1849), 4 Exch. 45; 18 L. J. Ex. 354; 13 L. T. O. S. 305; 154 E. R. 1118.

1994. Right of managing owner acting as broker.]—In the absence of any special bargain, the managing owner of a ship is not entitled to retain, or to charge against the ship, any profit for himself, either by way of commission or otherwise, for procuring charters or freights, whether he be a ship broker & procures them himself, or employs another broker for the purpose, the procuring of charters & freights being part of the duties incidental to the office of managing owner.—WILLIAMSON v. HINE, [1891] 1 Ch. 390; 60 L. J. Ch. 123; 63 L. T. 682; 39 W. R. 239; 7 T. L. R. 130; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 559.

ii. Charter Not Completed.

See, generally, AGENCY, Vol. I., pp. 508–518, Nos. 1753–1801.

1995. Right to quantum meruit.]—A broker who procures a charterparty for a vessel to Rio Janiero, where a gross sum is to be paid for the voyage out & home, is entitled on a quantum meruit to 5 per cent. on the gross sum although the payment of part be contingent on the arrival of the vessel home.—ROBERTS v. JACKSON (1817), 2 Stark. 225; 171 E. R. 628, N. P.

1996. —— Voyage not commenced.]—A ship broker who has procured a bargain for the hire of a vessel is, by the usage in the City of London, entitled to receive from the owner a certain commission on the amount of freight, if the contract is perfected, but not otherwise:—Held: where a broker had negotiated the hire of a vessel, & a memorandum for a charter was signed by the parties, but the bargain afterwards went off, & the ship was not employed, the broker could not maintain an action against the shipowner to recover the commission or a compensation for his work & labour.—READ v. RANN (1830), 10 B. & C. 438; L. & Welsb. 121; 8 L. J. O. S. K. B. 144; 109 E. R. 513.

1997. —— —— Contract broken off by owner.]—Semble: by the usage of trade a ship broker is not entitled to charge a shipowner for his trouble in procuring a charterer for the ship, where the contract is not completed, though it be broken off by the owner.—BROAD v. THOMAS (1830), 7 Bing. 99; 4 Moo. & P. 732; 9 L. J. O. S. C. P. 32; 131 E. R. 38; previous proceedings, 4 C. & P. 338, N. P.

1998. —— —— Default of broker.]—Where a broker is employed by a shipowner to procure a charterparty, if the negotiation goes off on account of any fault in the broker, he is not entitled to recover anything in the shape of remuneration, nor is he, in such case, entitled to recover for any expenses which he may have been put to, unless such expenses are unusual, & have been incurred in consequence of the shipowners having urged him to extraordinary expedition in the matter. & semble, where the negotiation is not carried into effect, but there is no fault in the broker, he is not entitled to anything, unless the charterparty is actually signed.—DALTON v. IRVIN (1830), 4 C. & P. 289; 172 E. R. 708, N. P.

1999. —— Where no freight earned.]—The actual earning of freight under a charterparty, is not a condition precedent to the right of the shipbroker to his commission for procuring the execution of the charter. A., a shipbroker, procured a charterparty to be made between B., a shipowner, & C., under which the owner contracted to bring home a cargo of guano, & the merchant agreed to pay freight at the rate of £4 15*s.* per ton, to be reduced to £4 12*s.* 6*d.* if the ship did not arrive off Cork or Falmouth on or before a given day. There was no express engagement on the part of C. to ship a cargo:—Held: A. was entitled to recover from B., upon a quantum meruit, for his work & labour in procuring the charter to be executed, without showing the arrival of the vessel on or before the day mentioned, & notwithstanding only a very small quantity of guano had been shipped, & a small amount of freight actually earned.—HILL v. KITCHING (1846), 3 C. B. 299; 15 L. J. C. P. 251; 7 L. T. O. S. 257; 136 E. R. 120.

2000. —— Unsuccessful attempt to procure charter.]—A ship broker is only entitled to commission upon a charterparty, where he has substantially procured the charter; & he cannot recover commission as upon a quantum meruit for his endeavours to procure the charter.—COUSENS v. MITCHESON (1863), 1 New Rep. 240; previous proceedings (1862), 3 F. & F. 236, N. P.

2001. —— Sale of ship to charterers—Where terms expressed in commission note.]—Pltfs., who were shipbrokers, negotiated on behalf of defts., the owners of a steamship, a charterparty of the steamship which was to be in force from Oct. 1920, for five years, & which contained a clause providing that the charterers should have the option of purchasing the steamship at any time between the signing of the charter & the completion of the charter period for £125,000. On the day when the charterparty was signed defts. signed & gave to pltfs. a commission note in these terms: "We hereby agree to pay you . . . 5 per cent. brokerage on hire. . . . Should the option of purchase contained in the charter be availed of, the brokerage on purchase to be 3½ per cent. . . ." The charterparty was acted upon until June, 1921, when defts. sold the steamship to the charterers for £65,000. Pltfs. brought an action against defts., claiming (inter alia) 3½ per cent. commission on £65,000, the price paid by the charterers for the steamship; &, in the alternative, a quantum meruit for their alleged services in effecting the same:—Held: (1) the former of these claims failed, the option of purchase mentioned in the commission note never having been exercised, & the sale effected being a sale at a different price from that upon which alone the brokerage of 3½ per cent. was to become payable; (2) the latter claim also failed inasmuch as, the parties having reduced their bargain into writing in the commission note, there was no scope for the operation of the principle of quantum meruit.—HOWARD HOULDER & PARTNERS, LTD. v. MANX ISLES S.S. CO., [1923]

b. Loss of ship before arrival at port of loading.]—SIBSON & KERR v. SHIP BARCRAIG CO. (1896), 24 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 91; 34 Sc. L. R. 114; 4 S. L. T. 129.—SCOT.

1 K. B. 110; 92 L. J. K. B. 233; 128 L. T. 347; 38 T. L. R. 757; 66 Sol. Jo. 682; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 95; 28 Com. Cas. 15.

2002. Right to whole commission—Charter not used by owner—Contract to pay implied from charterparty.]—SMITH v. BOUTCHER (1845), 4 L. T. O. S. 398; previous proceedings (1844), 1 Car. & Kir. 573, N. P.

2003. —— Charterparties not fulfilled by charterers.]—CROZIER v. HUTCHINSON (1849), 18 L. J. Ex. 316; 5 L. T. 774.

Annotation:—Mentd. Howe v. Pike (1849), 4 Exch. 495.

2004. —— Loss of ship.]—LA BONNE MERE, PROWSE v. WILLIAMS (1854), 5 L. T. 774.

2005. —— Cancellation of charterparty—Construction of contract.]—Pltf., acting as broker for defts., obtained a time charterparty for their ship upon terms of being paid a commission on all hire earned. During the currency of the charterparty litigation arose between defts. & the charterers as to the fitness of the ship for the purpose for which she was chartered, which resulted in the cancellation of the charterparty, there being no wilful act or default on the part of defts. in bringing about this result:—Held: upon the true construction if the contract, the intention of the parties was that pltf. should not be entitled to commission if the earning of hire was prevented by reason of causes such as had in fact put an end to the charterparty.—WHITE v. TURNBULL, MARTIN & Co. (1898), 78 L. T. 726; 14 T. L. R. 401; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 406; 3 Com. Cas. 183, C. A.

Annotation:—Apprvd. French v. Leeston Shipping Co., [1922] 1 A. C. 451.

2006. —— —— Sale of ship to charterers.]—Shipbrokers employed to effect a charter of a steamship procured a charter for eighteen months, but after four months of the charter had run the owner sold the vessel to the charterers & the charterparty was cancelled. The charterparty provided for payment of a commission of 2½ per cent. on the hire paid & earned under the said charterparty & on any continuation thereof.

In an action by the brokers to recover commission for the remainder of the charter period:—Held: it was not an implied term of the contract that the shipowners should not agree to put an end to the charterparty by the sale of the ship to the charterers, & the action failed.—FRENCH (L.) & Co. v. LEESTON SHIPPING Co., [1922] 1 A. C. 451; 91 L. J. K. B. 655; 127 L. T. 169; 38 T. L. R. 459; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 544; 27 Com. Cas. 257, H. L.

Annotation:—Apld. Howard Houlder & Partners v. Manx Isles S.S. Co., [1923] 1 K. B. 110.

2007. Right to recover on commission note—Sale at different price.]—HOWARD HOULDER & PARTNERS, LTD. v. MANX ISLES S.S. Co., No. 2001, ante.

-iii. Several Brokers Negotiating.

See, generally, AGENCY, Vol. I., pp. 493–502, 505, 506, Nos. 1693–1721, 1742–1745.

2008. One broker procuring cargo—Other paying charges for clearing ship.]—Where two brokers are referred to in advertisements by a shipowner, & one procures the cargo & receives the freight, & the other pays the charges for clearing out the ship, etc., the latter must share the commission, etc., with the former, & cannot, by the usage of trade, maintain an action against the shipowner.—HALL v. BENSON (1836), 7 C. & P. 711, N. P.

2009. Right of broker effecting introduction.]—UMM v. ROXBY (1838), 5 L. T. 695.

2010. ——.]—The usage is, that when a broker has introduced the captain of a ship & a merchant together, & they by his means enter into some negotiation as to the intended voyage, the broker is entitled to commission if a charterparty be effected between them for that voyage, even though they may employ another broker to prepare the charterparty, or may write the charterparty themselves.

If a broker be authorised by both parties, & acting as the agent of each, communicates to the merchant what the shipowner charges, & also communicates to the shipowner what the merchant will give, & he names the ship & the parties so as to identify the transaction, & a charterparty be ultimately effected for that voyage, this broker is entitled to his commission; but if he does not mention the names so as to identify the transaction, he does not get his commission to the exclusion of another broker, who afterwards introduces the parties personally to each other.

A., a broker, introduced a merchant & a shipowner together to treat for a charterparty: they finally made the charterparty through B., another broker. In an action, by A. for his commission, the particulars of demand were "for commission due to pltf. for procuring a charter for a vessel called the W., etc.":—Held: sufficient.—BURNETT v. BOUCH (1840), 9 C. & P. 620; 5 L. T. 695, N. P.

Annotation:—Reld. Gibson v. Crick (1862), 6 L. T. 392.

2011. —— Usage—Effect of written agreement—Renewal of charter.]—Pltf., a steamship broker, introduced deft., a steamship broker, to certain shipowners for the purpose of engaging charters for them, & an agreement was come to between the parties. Deft. did engage charters & obtained his commission for it. Pltf. claimed, as introducing broker, 1 per cent. commission thereon from deft. not only as according to custom, but as the terms of the bargain between them, those charters being renewed for the same ships & renewed commission paid to defts. Pltf. also claimed, under such custom, his renewal commission:—Held: evidence of such a custom, & of the agreement, was admissible.—ALLAN v. SUNDIUS (1862), 1 H. & C. 123; 31 L. J. Ex. 307; 6 L. T. 359; 10 W. R. 648; 1 Mar. L. C. 222; 158 E. R. 827.

2012. —— ——.]—Where pltf., a shipbroker, introduced deft., the shipowner, to a person who introduced another broker, & also a merchant, at whose suggestion, for his own interest, another merchant chartered the ship through the second broker:—Held: pltf., the first broker, was not entitled to commission, & a witness could not be asked as to the effect of a supposed custom in such a case to pay the broker originally employed, the result being too remote, so that a custom would not be legal or reasonable.—GIBSON v. CRICK (1862), 1 H. & C. 142; 2 F. & F. 766; 31 L. J. Ex. 304; 6 L. T. 392; 10 W. R. 525; 158 E. R. 835.

2013. ——.]—COUSENS v. MITCHESON, No. 2000, ante.

2014. —— Question for jury.]—Pltf., a shipbroker, introduced one of defts. to another broker, B. B. was also a merchant & shipowner, & through B. defts. were introduced to a third shipbroker, C., & through C. defts.' ship was chartered by S. & co. Pltf. sued defts. for commission in respect of that charter; the question being left to the jury, the jury found a verdict for pltf.:—Held: upon the point reserved at the trial, whether there was any evidence which the judge should have submitted to the jury on the question of commission, it was a question upon the evidence under the circumstances for the jury to decide, & the judge at the trial being not dissatisfied with the verdict, the ct. refused to set it aside.—KYNASTON v. NICHOLSON (1863), 8 L. T. 671; 1 Mar. L. C. 350.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 20, A. (a) iii., (b), & B.; sub-sect. 21, A. & B.]

2015. Broker employed by broker—Admissibility of evidence of custom.]—Where A. employs B., a broker, to procure a charter for a ship, & B. employs C.; another broker, semble, evidence of a custom of trade is admissible, to show which of the brokers is entitled to be paid the commission by A.—SMITH v. BOUTCHER (1844), 1 Car. & Kir. 573, N. P.; subsequent proceedings (1845), 4 L. T. O. S. 398.

2016. Right of broker actually procuring charter.]—Where two brokers are concerned in procuring a charterparty although one of them may have had something to do in procuring the charter, still the broker actually procuring such charter is the party entitled to the commission.—AITKEN v. FAITH (1844), 1 Car. & Kir. 575, N. P.

2017. ——.]—COUSENS v. MITCHESON, No. 2000, ante.

2018. Agreement between brokers—To share commission—Validity.]—B., a shipbroker in Liverpool, & C., a shipbroker in London, entered into a contract to "exclusively correspond" with each other in the ports of Liverpool & London respectively in the matter of freighting vessels with iron for the American market, denoting by the term "exclusive correspondence" that each party should have a reciprocal right of refusal of all ships to be engaged by either of them. The commissions received were to be divided in equal moieties between them. In Feb. 1851, B. & C. appointed D. their agent at Havre for chartering American ships in that port to carry cargoes of iron from South Wales to America. This agreement was to continue in force till Jan. 1, 1852, D. to receive half the usual commission, the other half to be divided between B. & C. This business was carried on till 1855, when the question arose as to the terms upon which it was carried on after Jan. 1852, B. contending that the old agreement still continued, in which case he was entitled to a moiety of the net commission; C. insisting that the agreement was at an end, & that the usual mode must be adopted, & each receive the commission according to the number of ships he had influenced. B. also claimed, under an agreement dated Jan. 1852, half the net amount of commissions on all vessels chartered by C. to the United States from London or any other port in England: —Held: the agreement entered into had been continued to be acted on by both parties, & B. was entitled to half the net amount of all commissions earned since Jan. 1, 1852.—PEARCE v. LINDSAY (1860), 1 L. T. 456, L. JJ.

(b) Other Commissions.

2019. Right of charterer's agent—Admissibility of evidence of usage.]—PHILLIPPS v. BRIARD, No. 4383, post.

2020. —— Commission on outwards freight.]—CROSS v. PAGLIANO, No. 1705, ante.

2021. Right of charterers—When ship lost.]—A charterparty provided that a ship "now at Philadelphia & chartered for Japan" should, after discharging at Japan, proceed to British Columbia, & there load a cargo for London. The charterparty contained the following clause:—"A commission of 3¼ per cent. shall be paid to charterers . . . on amount of this charterparty on the completion of the loading, or should the vessel be lost." The ship was lost on the voyage from Philadelphia to Japan:—Held: the charterers were entitled to the commission payable to them under the charterparty.—WARD & CO., LTD. v. WEIR & CO. (1899), 4 Com. Cas. 216.

2022. —— Commission on demurrage.]—By a charterparty a ship was to load a cargo & proceed to a named port & there deliver her cargo on being paid freight. The cargo was to be received at the port of discharge at a certain rate, in default of which demurrage was to be paid at a certain sum per day. The charterparty contained the following clause: "A commission of 2½ per cent. is due on shipment of cargo to" the charterers, "vessel lost or not lost, whose agents at port of loading are to attend to ship's business on customary terms":—Held: the charterers were not entitled to commission on demurrage at the port of discharge payable by the charterers to the shipowners.—MOOR LINE, LTD. v. DREYFUS (LOUIS) & CO., [1918] 1 K. B. 89; 87 L. J. K. B. 126; 118 L. T. 87; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 185, C. A.

B. Recovery of Commission.

2023. Who may recover—Charterers—As trustees for consignee.]—Pltfs. chartered a vessel of defts. to carry a cargo from Liverpool to Calcutta. The charterparty contained a clause that the vessel was to be consigned to E. & co., merchants at Calcutta, on the usual terms. One of those terms was, that E. & co. might procure the homeward freight at 5 per cent. commission. Defts. consigned the vessel to E. & co. but contracted with another party for the homeward freight. Pltfs., having agreed with E. & co. for a share in the commission, brought an action against defts. for their breach of contract, but failed to prove in what proportion the commission was to be divided:—Held: as the clause was inserted for the benefit of E. & co., pltfs. were entitled to recover as trustees on their behalf, notwithstanding they failed to show their interest in the commission.—ROBERTSON v. WAIT (1853), 8 Exch. 299; 22 L. J. Ex. 209; 1 W. R. 132; 155 E. R. 1360.

Annotations:—Folld. Les Affréteurs Réunis Soc. Anon. v. Walford (London), [1919] A. C. 801. Reld. Phillipps v. Briard (1856), 1 H. & N. 21; Wright v. Chappell (1869), 20 L. T. 369; The Nuova Raffaelina (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 483; The Wilhelm Schmidt (1871), 25 L. T. 34; West v. Houghton (1879), 4 C. P. D. 197.

2024. —— —— As trustees for brokers.]—LES AFFRÉTEURS RÉUNIS SOCIÉTÉ ANONYME v. LEOPOLD WALFORD (LONDON), LTD., No. 1985, ante.

2025. Consignment "free of commission"—Right of shipowner to recover from charterers—Commission paid to brokers for clearing cargo.]—An action maintained by shipowner against charterers, who had agreed that the ship shall be consigned to their agents free of commission, & the cargo cleared free of expense to the shipowner. The ship having been addressed to the consignee, who was not in a position to clear the ship, & the captain having been led by the charterers to have recourse to brokers, who cleared the ship, & charged commission for so doing, which the captain on behalf of pltf. had paid.—RUSSELL v. GRIFFITH (1860), 2 F. & F. 118, N. P.

---

SUB-SECT. 21.—CHARTERPARTIES BY DEMISE.

A. In General.

2026. What amounts to—Locatio navis—Demise of ship with furniture & apparel.]—(1) Where for a lump sum a vessel is chartered in a fit state for mercantile adventure, i.e., where there is a locatio navis et operarum magistri, & the vessel is put up by the charterer as a general ship, although the contract on the bills of lading is with the charterer, the owner is liable to a shipper in respect of a conversion of his goods by the master, especially if it appears that the owner has given instructions to the master in reference to the goods.

(2) Where a mate's receipt for goods shipped has been given, a bill of lading issued without the shipper's knowledge will not, even in the hands of a bonâ fide indorsee for value, give any title to the goods as against the shipper, who has retained the mate's receipt; & the right of the shipper to insist on his title is not affected by a delay in applying for a bill of lading in exchange for the mate's receipt.

(3) The ship had been chartered by him to Von Nolten & co. . . . for a lump sum. The master & crew were employed & paid by the owner, & this certainly cannot be considered locatio navis a demise of the ship itself with its furniture & apparel, it amounts to locatio navis et operarum magistri et nauticorum, a demise of the ship in a state fit for mercantile adventure which is to be distinguished from locatio operis vehendarum mercium, a contract for the carriage of the merchant's goods in the owner's ship & by his servants, where the owner has all the responsibility of a carrier of the goods (LORD CAMPBELL, C.J.).—SCHUSTER v. MCKELLAR (1857), 7 E. & B. 704; 26 L. J. Q. B. 281; 29 L. T. O. S. 225; 3 Jur. N. S. 1320; 5 W. R. 656; 119 E. R. 1407.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. The St. Cloud (1863), Brown. & Lush. 4. Refd. Dalyell v. Tyrer (1858), E. B. & E. 899; Sandeman v. Scurr (1866), L. R. 2 Q. B. 86; Wagstaff v. Anderson (1879), 4 C. P. D. 283; Baumvoll Manufactur Von Scheibler v. Gilchrist & Furness, [1891] 2 Q. B. 310. As to (2) Distd. Hathesing v. Laing, Laing v. Zeden (1873), L. R. 17 Eq. 92. Generally, Refd. Omoa Coal & Iron Co. v. Huntley (1877), 2 C. P. D. 464.

2027. —— Locatio navis et operarum magistri et nauticorum—Demise of ship in fit state for mercantile adventure.]—SCHUSTER v. MCKELLAR, No. 2026, ante.

2028. —— Dependent on construction of charterparty.]—SANDEMAN v. SCURR, No. 2038, post.

2029. —— Hire of services of ship, master & crew.]—By a time charterparty the use of a ship & her master & crew were placed at the disposal of the charterers for twelve months from a certain date. The charterers agreed to pay hire monthly in advance commencing on the day of the vessel's "delivery as aforesaid" & continuing until "her redelivery" at a port in West Italy or the United Kingdom at the charterers' option. Failing punctual & regular payment of the hire the owner had liberty to withdraw the vessel from the service of the charterers without prejudice to any claim he might otherwise have against them.

On Jan. 10, 1917, a month's hire fell due & was not paid. On the following day, while the ship was on her way to Barry under the charterers' orders, the owner wrote to the charterers withdrawing her from their serivce. The ship arrived at Barry on Jan. 23.

In an action by the charterers against the owner for a declaration that the charterparty was still subsisting, the owner counterclaimed for hire of the ship from Jan. 11 to Jan. 23 when, as he contended, the ship was first redelivered to him:—Held: (1) the charterparty not being a demise of the ship but a contract for the hire of services, the word "redelivery" could not be construed literally; (2) the ship was redelivered when the owner was enabled to resume control of her; (3) the owner by withdrawing the ship from the service of the charterers on Jan. 11 had prevented any further action by them in the way of redelivering her after that date; (4) the owner admitting that he could only recover hire for that part of a month during which the ship was at the service of the charterers, he could not recover hire for the use of the ship after Jan. 11.—ITALIAN STATE RYS. v. MAVROGORDATOS, [1919] 2 K. B. 305; 88 L. J. K. B. 1099; 121 L. T. 183; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 504, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (4) Refd. Wye Shipping Co. v. Chemin De Fer Paris Orleans, [1922] 1 K. B. 617.

2030. —— Tug requisitioned by Admiralty—Master & crew servants of Crown.]—A tug was requisitioned by the Admlty. acting under the powers of the Royal Proclamation of Aug. 3, 1914, upon a gross basis of hire, i.e., the owners were to pay the wages of the officers & crew & all the running expenses of the steamer & were to undertake all risks except war risks; & it was agreed that all salvage was to be for the owners' benefit. Subsequently, with the consent or acquiescence of the owners, the basis of hire was changed from gross to net, & thereafter the master & crew became the servants of the Crown & the tug was employed at the sole risk & expense of the Admlty. The tug rendered salvage services to another vessel in respect of which a salvage award was made:—Held: (1) the change in the basis of hire imported a demise of the tug to the Admlty.; (2) in the absence of any express stipulation to the contrary, the Admlty., & not the owners of the tug, were entitled to the salvage award.—ELLIOTT STEAM TUG CO. v. ADMIRALTY COMRS., PAGE v. ADMIRALTY COMRS., [1921] 1 A. C. 137; 89 L. J. K. B. 977; 123 L. T. 754; 64 Sol. Jo. 634; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 81, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. ADMIRALTY COMRS. v. PAGE, [1919] 1 K. B. 299, C. A.; [1918] 2 K. B. 447.

Annotation:—As to (2) Refd. The Matti, [1918] P. 314.

2031. Distinguished from locatio operis vehendarum mercium—Contract for carriage of merchants' goods in owner's ship.]—SCHUSTER v. MCKELLAR, No. 2026, ante.

2032. Distinguished from contract leaving ship in possession & control of owner.]—HERNE BAY STEAM BOAT CO. v. HUTTON, No. 1790, ante.

2033. ——.]—ITALIAN STATE RYS. v. MAVROGORDATOS, No. 2029, ante.

Transfer of ownership.]—See Sub-sect. 21, B., post.

B. Transfer of Ownership to Charterers.

2034. Whether ownership passes.]—JAMES v. JONES (1799), 3 Esp. 27; 170 E. R. 526, N. P.

*Annotations:—*Refd. Hutton v. Bragg (1816), 7 Taunt. 14; Sandeman v. Scurr (1866), L. R. 2 Q. B. 86.

2035. ——.]—HUTTON v. BRAGG, No. 4068, post.

2036. ——.]—Where the owner of a ship appointed G. to the command, & agreed that he should proceed to Calcutta & return to London, & that he might make intermediate voyages, paying a certain sum in consideration thereof; & the owner further agreed to supply the ship with stores, in consideration of which G. agreed to take the command, & receive the ship into his service, for twelve months certain, or for such time as would be necessary to complete the voyage, paying at a certain rate per ton per month for the ship:—Held: although G. was further bound by the agreement to remit the freight bills to London as security, & such bills were to be vested in trustees who were to receive the freight, & hand over the surplus to him, & although the owner was to have an agent on board, who was to have the sole management of the stores, & to have power to displace G. for breach of any covenant in the charterparty, & appoint another commander, G. was the owner of the vessel during the continuance of the charterparty, & was as such alone liable to persons who, knowing its provisions, had shipped goods on board the vessel for the homeward voyage.—COLVIN v. NEWBERRY & BENSON (1832), 1 Cl. & Fin. 283; 6 Bli. N. S. 167; 6 E. R. 923, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. NEWBERRY v. COLVIN (1830), 7 Bing. 190, Ex. Ch.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 21, B.]

Annotations:—Consd. Campion v. Colvin (1836), 3 Bing. N. C. 17. Distd. Gilkison v. Middleton (1857), 2 C. B. N. S. 134. Consd. Sandeman v. Scurr (1866), L. R. 2 Q. B. 86; Wagstaff v. Anderson (1880), 5 C. P. D. 171; Herman v. Royal Exchange Shipping Co. & Patton (1884), Cab. & El. 413; Baumwoll Manufactur von Carl Scheibler v. Furness, [1893] A. C. 8. Distd. Manchester Trust v. Furness, [1895] 2 Q. B. 539. Consd. Weir v. Union S.S. Co., [1900] 1 Q. B. 28. Distd. Turner v. Haji Goolam Mahomed Azam, [1904] A. C. 826. Consd. Associated Portland Cement Manufacturers (1910), Ltd. v. Ashton, [1915] 2 K. B. 1. Refd. Marquand v. Banner (1856), 6 E. & B. 232; Schuster v. McKellar (1857), 7 E. & B. 704; Erichsen v. Barkworth (1858), 5 Jur. N. S. 517; Foster v. Colby (1858), 28 L. J. Ex. 81; The St. Cloud (1863), Brown. & Lush. 4; Sir John Jackson, Ltd. v. S.S. Blanche, [1908] A. C. 126. Mentd. Marshall v. York, Newcastle & Berwick Ry. (1851), 16 Jur. 124.

2037. ——.]—BELCHER v. CAPPER, No. 2046, post.

2038. ——.]—A ship was chartered for a voyage from Oporto to the United Kingdom to load from the factors of the affreighter a full cargo of wine or other merchandise at 18*s.* per ton; the captain to sign bills of lading at any rate of freight without prejudice to the charter: the ship to be addressed to charter's agents at Oporto on usual terms. The ship was accordingly consigned to the charterer's agents at Oporto, & was put up by them as a general ship, without any intimation that she was under charter; pltf. shipped some casks of wine, & received bills of lading in the common form signed by the master. The wine was stowed by a stevedore appointed by the charterer's agents & paid by them, the money being ultimately repaid them by the master. The wine having leaked from improper stowage:—Held: (1) as the charter did not amount to a demise of the ship, & the owners remained in possession by their servants, the master & crew, the shipper was entitled to look to the owners as responsible for the safe carriage of the wine: inasmuch as he had delivered it to be carried in the ship in ignorance that she was chartered, & had dealt with the master, who was still the owner's master, as clothed with the ordinary authority of a master to receive goods & give bills of lading by which his owners would be bound; (2) the employment of the stevedore made no difference, at all events as regarded the shipper, as he was no party to the employment, & had a right to look to the owners for the safe stowage of the goods, as part of the carrier's duty, in the absence of any special agreement; qu.: whether the charterer also would not have been liable to the shipper on the bills of lading signed by the master in furtherance of the charterparty.

In construing a charterparty with reference to the liability of the owners of the chartered ship, it is necessary to look to the charterparty to see whether it operates as a demise of the ship itself, to which the services of the master & crew may or may not be superadded, or whether all that the charterer acquires by the terms of the instrument is the right to have his goods conveyed by the particular vessel, &, as subsidiary thereto, to have the use of the vessel & the services of the master & crew. In the first case, the charterer becomes for the time the owner of the vessel, the master & crew become to all intents & purposes his servants, & through them the possession of the ship is in him. In the second, notwithstanding the temporary right of the charterer to have his goods loaded & conveyed in the vessel, the ownership remains in the original owner, & through the master & the crew, who continue to be their servants, the possession of the ship also (COCKBURN, C.J.).—SANDEMAN v. SCURR (1866), L. R. 2 Q. B. 86; 8 B. & S. 50; 36 L. J. Q. B. 58; 15 L. T. 608; 15 W. R. 277; 2 Mar. L. C. 446.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. The Figlia Maggiore (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 106. Consd. The Patria (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 436; Baumwoll Manufactur von Carl Scheibler v. Furness, [1893] A. C. 8. Refd. Meiklereid v. West (1876), 34 L. T. 353; Hayn, Roman v. Culliford (1879), 27 W. R. 541.

2039. —— Liability of owner—Debts incurred by charterer—Goods supplied.]—The registered owner of a ship, having chartered her to the then captain at a rent for a certain number of voyages, is not liable for stores furnished to the ship by order of the charterer during the charterparty.

To say that the registered owner who divests himself by the charterparty of all control & possession of the vessel for the time being in favour of another, who has the use & benefit of it, is still liable for stores furnished to the vessel by the order of the captain during the time, would be pushing the effect of those Acts (the register Acts] much too far (LORD ELLENBOROUGH, C.J.).—FRAZER v. MARSH (1811), 13 East, 238; 2 Camp. 517; 104 E. R. 362.

Annotations:—Apld. Reeve v. Davis (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 312. Distd. Frost v. Oliver (1853), 2 E. & B. 301; Steel v. Lester (1877), 3 C. P. D. 121. Apld. Baumwoll Manufactur von Carl Scheibler v. Furness, [1893] A. C. 8. Refd. M'Iver v. Humble (1812), 16 East, 169; Hutton v. Bragg (1816), 7 Taunt. 14; Helme v. Smith (1831), 9 L. J. O. S. C. P. 206; Sandeman v. Scurr (1866), L. R. 2 Q. B. 86; Sir John Jackson, Ltd. v. S.S. Blanche, [1908] A. C. 126; Associated Portland Cement Manufacturers (1910), Ltd. v. Ashton, [1915] 2 K. B. 1.

2040. —— —— —— Repairs to ship.]—A steam vessel was let by charterparty for twelve months, the registered owners engaging to keep the engine in repairs, but the charterer binding himself to do all other repairs, to pay all wages & charges of navigating, etc., & to indemnify the owners against all debts, costs, damages, expenses, etc., incurred in respect of the charterparty & employment of the vessel. The owners were to appoint the engineers. The charterer who acted as captain had repairs done to the vessel by persons unacquainted with the above contract:—Held: no action lay, in respect of those repairs against the registered owners.—REEVE v. DAVIS (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 312; 3 Nev. & M. K. B. 873; 110 E. R. 1224.

Annotations:—Consd. Frost v. Oliver (1853), 2 E. & B. 301. Refd. Meiklereid v. West (1876), 34 L. T. 353.

2041. —— —— Allotment note drawn by master on charterer—Owner engaging & paying crew.]—By Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 169, the wife of any seaman in whose favour an allotment note of part of his wages is made, may recover by summary procedure the sum allotted, with costs, from the owner or any agent who has authorised the drawing of the note. Applt. was the registered owner of the ship Sydney Hall, & entered into a charterparty with H., by which he demised the ship to him for a stipulated period, & parted with all control over it. H. took possession of the ship, & appointed a master who engaged resp.'s husband as one of the crew & gave her an allotment note, allotting & requiring the charterer to pay her £6 monthly out of her husband's wages. H. having become insolvent:—Held: the sect. did not, under the circumstances make applt. as registered owner liable to pay the arrears due under the note.—MEIKLEREID v. WEST (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 428; 54 L. J. M. C. 91; 34 L. T. 353; 40 J. P. 708; 24 W. R. 703; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 129, D. C.

Annotations:—Consd. Hughes v. Sutherland (1881), 7 Q. B. D. 160. Reld. Dittmar v. Ship V 593 (1908), 78 L. J. K. B. 523; Sir John Jackson, Ltd. v. S.S. Blanche, [1908] A. C. 126.

2042. —— —— Credit pledged by master.]—The owner of a ship, registered as such & as the managing owner under Merchant Shipping Act, 1876 (c. 80), who has parted with the possession & control of the ship under a charterparty to the charterer, is not liable for the loss of goods shipped under bills of lading signed by the captain who is the servant of the charterer & not of the owner & who has no authority from the owner to pledge his credit, although the shipper of the goods has no notice of those facts.

The owner of a ship, registered as such & also registered as the managing owner under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1876 (c. 80), let her by charterparty for a term of four months. The charterparty provided that the captain, officers & crew should be paid by the charterer, that the captain should be under the orders of the charterer as regards employment, agency or other arrangements; that the charterer should indemnify the owner from all liabilities arising from the captain signing bills of lading; & that the owner should maintain the ship in a thoroughly efficient state in hull & machinery for the service & should pay for the insurance on the ship.

The charterer took possession of the ship & appointed the captain, officers & crew, except the chief engineer who was appointed by the owner in exercise of the option given him by the charterparty. The charterer sent the ship to New Orleans, where goods were shipped under bills of lading, some of which were signed by the captain & some by the agents of the charterer. Neither the captain nor the charterer's agents had any authority in fact from the owner to pledge his credit. The bills of lading contained no reference to the charterparty & the shippers had no notice of its terms. The goods having been lost at sea during the currency of the charter, owing, as was alleged, to the unseaworthiness of the ship, the shippers sued the owner for the loss:—Held: the captain not being the servant or agent of the owner & having no authority to pledge his credit the owner was not liable.—BAUMWOLL MANUFACTUR VON CARL SCHEIBLER v. FURNESS, [1893] A. C. 8; 62 L. J. Q. B. 201; 68 L. T. 1; 9 T. L. R. 71; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 263; sub nom. SCHEIBLER v. FURNESS, 1 R. 59, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. BAUMVOLL MANUFACTUR VON SCHEIBLER v. GILCHREST & Co., [1892] 1 Q. B. 253, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Manchester Trust v. Furness, [1895] 2 Q. B. 539; Associated Portland Cement Manufacturers (1910), Ltd. v. Ashton, [1915] 2 K. B. 1. Reld. Barraclough v. Brown (1896), 65 L. J. Q. B. 333; Rowland & Marwood's S.S. Co. v. Nilson (1897), 13 T. L. R. 459; Sir John Jackson, Ltd. v. S.S. Blanche, [1908] A. C. 126; Kish v. Taylor, [1912] A. C. 604.

2043. —— —— Negligence of master & crew.]—Pltfs. hired from defts. a vessel under a charterparty, by which the vessel was let to pltfs. for a specified time, & they were to have the whole reach of her holds except what was reserved to the owner for the crew; the crew were to assist in loading & discharging, & the captain was to sign bills of lading & to furnish to the charterers a copy of the log. Deft. engaged & paid the master & crew. Whilst the vessel was upon a voyage under the charterparty, with a cargo on board belonging to pltfs., she & her cargo were lost by the negligence of the master & crew:—Held: the master & crew were the servants of deft. for the purpose of navigating the vessel, & he was liable to compensate pltfs. for the loss sustained by them.—OMOA COAL & IRON CO. v. HUNTLEY (1877), 2 C. P. D. 464; 37 L. T. 184; 25 W. R. 675; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 501, D. C.

Annotations:—Apld. Weir v. Union S.S. Co., [1900] A. C. 525. Reld. Paterson Zochonis v. Elder Dempster, [1923] 1 K. B. 420.

2044. —— Liability for lighthouse dues, etc.]—Where deft. chartered his ship to the Commissioners of the Transport Service on behalf of the Crown, to be employed as a transport, & the ship in the course of such employment made several voyages from Deptford to foreign ports & back:—Held: by the terms of the charterparty, coupled with the nature of the service, a temporary ownership passed to the Crown, so that deft. during the time of such service, was not to be considered as owner within the charters granted to the Trinity House, which impose lighthouse duties, & for buoyage & beaconage, on the masters & owners of ships.—TRINITY HOUSE MASTER v. CLARK (1815), 4 M. & S. 288; 105 E. R. 841.

Annotations:—Consd. Saville v. Campion (1819), 2 B. & Ald. 503; Christie v. Lewis (1821), 2 Brod. & Bing. 410; Hamilton v. Stone (1822), 1 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 274; Weir v. Union S.S. Co., [1900] A. C. 525; The Sarpen, [1916] P. 306. Reld. Smithett v. Blythe (1830), 1 B. & Ad. 509; Dean v. Hogg (1834), 3 L. J. C. P. 113; Hodgkinson v. Fernie (1857), 2 C. B. N. S. 415.

2045. —— Effect of words of demise.]—CHRISTIE v. LEWIS, No. 4098, post.

2046. —— ——.]—In construing a charterparty, with the view of ascertaining whether the owner had relinquished possession of the ship to the charterer, or whether he has retained a right of lien upon the cargo, for the payment of the freight agreed on, the ct. will not rely implicitly upon particular expressions of demise, or otherwise, but will collect the intention of the parties from the whole scope of the instrument.

By charterparty, the owner agreed to let, & the charterer to hire, a vessel for six months. The owner gave the charterer the power of appointing his own master, & required him to be responsible for his conduct The charterer appointed a master accordingly. The freight on the goods was to be paid, according to the bills of lading, to the said master, without any stipulation that it should be applied in payment of the price of the hire of the vessel. The charterer agreed to pay at the rate of 22*s.* per ton per month, for so long as she should be employed by him, such payments to be made from month to month, leaving one month's pay in abeyance, & the balance in cash on her final discharge:—Held: possession was given up by the owner to the charterer; the master was in possession of the cargo, as the agent of the charterer; & no lien upon the cargo was intended to be reserved to the owner.—BELCHER v. CAPPER (1842), 4 Man. & G. 502; 5 Scott, N. R. 257; 11 L. J. C. P. 274; 134 E. R. 207.

2047. —— —— Absence of words.]—By charterparty it was covenanted that the owner should receive on board, in London, all such goods as the freighter thought fit to load, & should proceed therewith to Madras, & there, after delivering her outward cargo, receive from the freighter's agents a homeward cargo, & deliver the same in London; & that all the cabins but one, which was reserved for the use of the captain, should be at the disposal of the freighter, who was to appoint a supercargo, to superintend the stowage of the goods. Freight to be paid at so much per ton on the register tonnage of the ship. The captain & crew were employed & paid by the owner:—Held: there being no express words of demise of the ship itself in the charterparty, the freighter did not thereby become the owner for the voyage; but the possession continued in the owner, & he, therefore, had a lien upon the cargo for his freight.—SAVILLE v. CAMPION (1819), 2 B. & Ald. 503; 106 E. R. 449.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 21, B.; sub-sect. 22, A. & B. (a).]

Annotations:—Consd. Christie v. Lewis (1821), 2 Brod. & Bing. 410. Apld. Campion v. Colvin (1836), 3 Bing. N. C. 17.

2048. —— Vessel hired for trip—Power to exclude person on board with permission of master.]—Defts. hired a steam vessel for the day to convey a party to Richmond & back to London. The vessel was navigated by the master, engineer, & crew of the owners, & at their expense:—Held: defts. had not such an exclusive possession of the vessel as to entitle them forcibly to expel pltf., who had come on board, with the permission of the master, for the purpose of being conveyed to Richmond.—DEAN v. HOGG (1834), 10 Bing. 345; 4 Moo. & S. 188; 3 L. J. C. P. 113; 131 E. R. 937.

Annotations:—Reld. Fenton v. City of Dublin Steam Packet Co. (1838), 8 Ad. & El. 835; The Great Eastern (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 88. Mentd. R. v. Sherard (1863), 33 L. J. M. C. 5; Roads v. Trumpington Overseers (1870), L. R. 6 Q. B. 56.

2049. —— Whole scope of instrument considered.]—BELCHER v. CAPPER, No. 2046, ante.

2050. —— Limitation of liability of "owner"—1894 & 1896 Acts.]—The charterer of a ship by demise who has control over her & navigates her by his own master & crew is "owner" of the ship within 1894 Act, ss. 503 & 504, & entitled to the limitation of liability to damages conferred upon "owners" by those sects.—SIR JOHN JACKSON, LTD. v. BLANCHE (OWNERS), THE HOPPER NO. 66, [1908] A. C. 126; 98 L. T. 464; 24 T. L. R. 384; 52 Sol. Jo. 334; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 37; sub nom. THE STEAM HOPPER NO. 66, 77 L. J. P. 84, H. L.; revsg. S. C. sub nom. THE HOPPER NO. 66, [1907] P. 254, C. A.

Annotation:—Reld. Mersey Docks & Harbour Board v. Hay, [1923] A. C. 345.

---

SUB-SECT. 22.—TIME CHARTERS.

A. In General.

2051. Allowance for extra men—Payable by charterer on discharge of ship—Loss before completion of voyage—Loss equivalent to discharge.]—HAVELOCK v. GEDDES, No. 1834, ante.

2052. Failure to deliver ship to charterer—Right to repudiate contract—Failure to deliver on specified day.]—Pltf. agreed to charter a ship for twelve months after the completion of her then present voyage. After the completion of the voyage & when pltf. was ready to load the ship she was detained as unseaworthy; & the repairs were not finished until more than two months after the completion of the voyage:—Held: pltf. was entitled to throw up the charterparty.—TULLY v. HOWLING (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 182; 46 L. J. Q. B. 388; 36 L. T. 163; 25 W. R. 290; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 368, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. F. A. Tamplin, S.S. Co. v. Anglo-Mexican Petroleum Products Co., [1916] 2 A. C. 397. Mentd. Wilson v. Finch Hatton (1877), 2 Ex. D. 336.

2053. —— —— Failure of charterer to take over on specified day.]—A steamship owner at Hastings, with the view of carrying on more effectually passenger traffic during the summer months between that & other ports in the south of England entered into a charterparty with the owner of the steamship Victoria, then being fitted out on the Clyde.

By the charterparty dated July 3, 1891, he agreed "to hire the steamship till Sept. 30, 1891, she being placed at the disposal of the charterers in the part of Greenock or Port Glasgow, in such berths as charterers may direct. Such orders to be given to owner's agents before arrival of the steamer. No date was fixed for delivery of the vessel. The charterparty bore that the charterer should pay the hire at a certain rate per month "commencing the day of delivery in good order & ready for sea in the Clyde, notice whereof to be given to charterers." "Payment of hire to be made in cash monthly, in advance, to owners in Glasgow, first month's hire to be paid before the steamer leaves the Clyde. Charterer agrees to give a banker's guarantee for the due payment of hire-money & in default of such payment or payments as herein specified, the owners or their agents shall have the faculty of withdrawing the steamer from the service of the charterers." On July 13, the charterer received a telegram, that vessel would be handed over at Glasgow on July 15, when banker's guarantee & month's hire must be forthcoming. Charterer, on July 15, sent a telegram, "Leave for Glasgow to-night, am prepared to take Victoria." Charterer did not set out till the following night but sent no explanation of his delay. He reached Glasgow on the morning of July 17, & went to the vessel at 11.30 a.m. There was no one on board to give delivery. He endeavoured to communicate with the deft.'s brokers, but failed to do so till 4.30 p.m. when he was informed that the vessel had been let to another person about 12.30 p.m. of the same day. In answer to an action of damages for breach of contract in failing to deliver the vessel the owner pleaded that pursuer's conduct prior to July 17 was such as to justify deft. in believing that he did not intend to fulfil the contract:—Held: deft. was not entitled to assume from pursuer's conduct that he would not fulfil the contract.—CARSWELL v. COLLARD, THE VICTORIA, [1893] A. C. 635; 20 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 47; 30 Sc. L. R. 939, H. L.

2054. Loss of ship after expiry of charter—While in possession of charterer—Liability in absence of agreement.]—A vessel was lost through stress of weather, & without negligence:—Held: in the absence of express stipulation, there was no liability implied by law on the part of the person in possession for a loss so occasioned.—SMITH v. DRUMMOND (1883), Cab. & El. 160.

2055. Form of charter—Series of ship at intervals—Later ship delayed through detention of earlier one—Damages.]—POTTER (JOHN) & CO. v. BURRELL & SON, No. 3181, post.

2056. —— —— Two voyages per month fortnightly.]—THE MELROSE ABBEY (1898), 14 T. L. R. 202, D. C.

2057. Salvage award to ship under time charter—Apportionment of award as between charterers & shipowners.]—A charterparty provided (clause 2)

e. Failure of owner to continue running of vessel for specified time—Measure of damages.]—THOMPSON v. LEACH (1868), 18 C. P. 141.—CAN.

that the shipowner should maintain the chartered vessel the Pocklington in a thoroughly efficient state for & during the service. Clause 6 provided that if any damage prevented the working of the vessel for more than twenty-four hours the hire should cease. By clause 13 the vessel had liberty to tow & assist vessels in distress, & to deviate for the purpose of saving life or property. By clause 20 all derelicts & salvage were to be " for owners' & charterers' equal benefit." The shipowners obtained an award in the Admlty. Ct. for a large sum for salvage services rendered by the Pocklington in towing another vessel in distress. Through performing those services the hull, engines, & towing gear of the Pocklington were strained & damaged, & she incurred expenses & losses attributable to the salvage services in respect of repairs, the costs of gear used in towage, loss of hire for several days whilst she was under repair, & other matters. In an action by the charterers against the shipowners to recover a moiety of the salvage earned by the Pocklington :—Held : defts. were entitled to deduct from the amount awarded by the Admlty. Ct. all such losses & expenses incurred by them, including loss of hire as were attributable to the salvage services, & the balance only ought to be divided between themselves & the pltfs.—BOOKER & CO. v. POCKLINGTON S.S. CO., LTD., [1899] 2 Q. B. 690 ; 69 L. J. Q. B. 10 ; 81 L. T. 524 ; 16 T. L. R. 19 ; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 22 ; 5 Com. Cas. 15.

2058. Contracts contained in bills of lading—Made with shipowner not charterer—Master under direction & control of charterer.]—WEHNER v. DENE S.S. CO., No. 2496, post.

2059. Liability of owner for default of master—Management or navigation of ship—Sufficiency of proof.]—A charterparty by which applts. agreed to let & resps. agreed to hire a steamship for six calendar months, provided that " 9. The captain shall prosecute his voyages with the utmost dispatch & shall render all customary assistance with the ship's crew . . . " & " 14. Throughout this charter losses or damages whether in respect of goods carried or to be carried or in other respects arising or occasioned by the following causes shall be absolutely excepted, viz. . . . negligence, default or error in judgment of the pilot, master or crew or other servants of the owners in the management or navigation of the steamer." Resps. alleged that the captain had not prosecuted a voyage under the charter with the dispatch required by clause 9. Applts., while disputing that allegation, contended that the breach, if any, of clause 9 was occasioned by the negligence or default of the master in the management or navigation of the steamer, & that they were, therefore, exempted by clause 14 from liability. There was no shortage of coal, & it appeared to be common ground that the lack of speed of the vessel was due to insufficient coal consumption on the voyage :—Held : assuming that a breach of clause 9 was not actionable if caused by negligence within the meaning of clause 14, applts. to succeed in their defence must establish negligence within the meaning of clause 14 to the satisfaction of the judge of fact, here an arbitrator, & that they had failed to do, & they were, therefore, liable to resps. in damages.—SUZUKI & CO. v. BENYON (T.) & CO. (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 397 ; 134 L. T. 449 ; 42 T. L. R. 269 ; 17 Asp. M. L. C. 1 ; 31 Com. Cas 183, H. L.

B. Payment of Hire.

(a) In General.

2060. Hire payable monthly—Meaning of month.]—Where a ship is freighted by the month, the months are calendar not lunar ones.—JOLLY v. YOUNG (1794), 1 Esp. 185 ; 170 E. R. 323, N. P.

Annotations :—Mentd. Simpson v. Margitson (1847), 11 Q. B. 23 ; Bruner v. Moore, [1904] 1 Ch. 305.

2061. —— ——.]—Clause 5 of a time charterparty provided that the charterers should pay as hire a certain sum " per calendar month, commencing from the time the steamer is placed at the disposal of charterers, & pro rata for any fractional part of a month . . . until her redelivery. . . . That the payment of hire shall be made . . . in cash . . . monthly in advance." A further clause provided that in the event of loss of time from various specified causes preventing the working of the steamer & lasting more than twenty-four consecutive hours the hire should cease from the commencement of such loss of time until the steamer should be again in an efficient state to resume her service. The steamer having been placed at the charterers' disposal, one month's hire in advance was paid on Nov. 7, 1915; on Nov. 20, 1915, the vessel went off hire & was not again efficient until Jan. 6, 1916 :—Held : that each payment of hire under clause 5 was a payment for the ensuing calendar month & not for the next thirty or thirty-one days on which the steamer should in fact be on hire ; there had been a failure of consideration in respect of so much of the amount paid in advance on Nov. 7, 1915, as represented hire from Nov. 20, to Dec. 7, 1915; & that the charterers were entitled to recover the amount attributable to those days.—STEWART (C. A.) & CO. v. PHS. VAN OMMEREN (LONDON), LTD., [1918] 2 K. B. 560 ; 88 L. J. K. B. 32 ; 119 L. T. 637 ; 62 Sol. Jo. 739 ; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 359, C. A.

2062. —— Earned at end of each month—Stipulated times of payment every four months.]—HAVELOCK v. GEDDES, No. 1834, ante.

2063. —— Pro rata payment for part of month—Delay in re-delivering ship—On expiry of charterparty.]—A charterparty provided that the hire of a vessel should commence at noon of a certain day, & freight was payable at so much per calendar month, & " at & after the same rates for any part of the month," until her delivery to owners. On the day the hiring terminated she was delivered to her owners at 5.30 p.m. :—Held : the charterers were liable for freight for the whole day, commencing at noon of the day of her delivery.—ANGIER BROTHERS v. STEWART BROTHERS (1884), Cab. & El. 357.

2064. Whether efficiency of vessel condition precedent to payment.]—A ship was chartered for time on monthly hire, the charterers agreeing to pay the freight during employment & efficient performance of the service & the owner covenanting that the ship should be seaworthy during the continuance of the charter ; provided that if at any time it should appear to the charterers that the ship became inefficient it should be lawful for them to put her out of pay, or to make such abatement by way of mulct out of the hire or freight as they should adjudge fit. The owner effected a time policy of insurance " on freight outstanding." During the time the ship became inefficient through perils of the seas & the charterers refused to pay freight after that date. The owner having brought

f. Hire payable monthly—Payment conditional on return to port—Effect of loss of ship.]—HEIMDAL, AKT. v. NOBLE, [1907] S. C. 249 ; 44 Sc. L. R. 209 ; 14 S. L. T. 606.—SCOT.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 22, B. (a), (b) & (c) i.]

an action on the policy:—Held: on the true construction of the charterparty the efficiency of the ship was not a condition precedent to the earning of the freight; the pecuniary loss was caused by the charterers availing themselves of the abatement clause & not by the perils of the seas; & the underwriters were not liable.—INMAN S.S. CO., LTD. v. BISCHOFF (1882), 7 App. Cas. 670; 52 L. J. Q. B. 169; 47 L. T. 581; 31 W. R. 141; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 6, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. & Distd. The Alps, [1893] P. 109. Consd. Asfar v. Blundell, [1896] 1 Q. B. 123. Reid. The Bodouin, [1894] P. 1; Manchester Liners v. British & Foreign Marine Insce. Co. (1901), 18 T. L. R. 183; Williams v. Canton Insce. Office, [1901] A. C. 462; Adelaide S.S. Co. v. A.-G., [1926] A. C. 172.

2065. Extra payment for increased risk—Voyage in danger area.]—MEYER v. SANDERSON (R. F.) & Co., No. 2123, post.

Insurance against loss of freight.]—See INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 209–211, 257–260, Nos. 1677–1690, 2078–2101.

(b) Hire Payable in Advance.

2066. Ship to be re-delivered before expiry of period paid for.]—A charterparty provided that the charterer should pay the hire of a vessel at the rate of £709 " per calendar month," & at the same rate " for any part of a month," " hire to continue until her re-delivery to the owners," " payment of the said hire to be made in cash, in London, monthly, in advance, without deduction ":—Held: the charterer was liable to pay a month's hire to the owners at the beginning of each month, even if it was clear that the ship would be re-delivered to the owners before the month had expired.—TONNELIER v. SMITH (1897), 77 L. T. 277; 13 T. L. R. 560; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 327; 2 Com. Cas. 258, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Stewart v. Phs. Van Ommeren (London), [1918] 2 K. B. 560. Folld. French Marine v. Compagnie Napolitaine d'Eclairage et de Chauffage par le Gaz., [1921] 2 A. C. 494. Reid. S.S. Langford v. Canadian Forwarding & Export Co. (1907), 96 L. T. 559.

2067. Half monthly except last half month—Last half month calculated with reference to date of redelivery of ship.]—By a charterparty, pltfs. agreed to let & defts. to hire pltfs.' steamship for the term of six calendar months on certain conditions. Among these conditions were: the charterers shall pay for the use & hire of the said vessel at the rate of £675 per calendar month . . . & at & after the same rate for any part of a month; hire to continue from the time specified for terminating the charter, until her re-delivery to owners at a port in the United Kingdom. . . . That the payment of hire shall be made as follows: half-monthly in advance in London except for the last half-month, which time to be estimated & paid in advance up to such time as steamer is expected to be re-delivered." The charterers had the option of continuing the charter for two further periods of six calendar months. The charterers contended that they were entitled to re-deliver the vessel during the currency of the last half-month, & that on doing so they were only liable for a proportionate part of the last half-month's hire:—Held: the clause as to the mode of payment of hire did not alter the duration of the hiring, which was for six months certain; the meaning of the clause as to the last half-month's hire was, that the charterers were to pay, along with that instalment, for any extra period beyond the six months till the vessel should be re-delivered; &, therefore, the charterers were not entitled to re-deliver the vessel during the currency of the last half-month & claim an abatement in respect of the hire.—REINDEER S.S. CO., LTD. v. FORSLIND & SON (1908), 24 T. L. R. 529; 52 Sol. Jo. 425; 13 Com. Cas. 214, C. A.

2068. Returnable in event of cesser.]—STEWART (C. A.) & Co. v. PHS. VAN OMMEREN (LONDON), LTD., No. 2061, ante.

2069. —— Detention by British government.]—LLOYD ROYAL BELGE SOCIÉTÉ ANONYME v. STATHATOS, No. 4931, post.

2070. —— Detention by foreign government.]—WEIDNER, HOPKINS & Co. v. ADMIRAL SHIPPING Co., LTD. (1918), 145 L. T. Jo. 192.

2071. —— Ship lost.] — NAEYAERT v. STOTT (T. B.) & Co., No. 2104, post.

2072. —— Unseaworthiness of ship.] — SNIA SOCIETA DI NAVIGAZIONE INDUSTRIA E COMMERCIO v. SUZUKI & Co., No. 1659, ante.

2073. Application to extension of charter term.] —FRENCH MARINE v. COMPAGNIE NAPOLITAINE D'ECLAIRAGE ET DE CHAUFFAGE PAR LE GAZ, No. 2140, post.

(c) Cesser of Right to Payment.

i. In General.

2074. Charterparty providing for two voyages—Completion of first voyage—Loss of vessel on second.]—A charterparty, whereby the owners let a vessel to freight by the month, for such time as she should be taken up in performing a voyage from London to Plymouth, the island of Grenada, & from thence back to London, on the terms that the owners should receive & the freighters should load & unload a cargo at Grenada, on such outward & homeward voyage, is to be construed to mean as two distinct voyages from London to Grenada, & thence back to London, & not as one entire voyage; & the vessel having unloaded a cargo at Grenada, & loaded another, but was on her return to London was, with the cargo, entirely lost:—Held: the owners were entitled to freight for the voyage to Grenada.—MACKRELL v. SIMOND (1776), 2 Chit. 666.

Annotation:—Distd. Gibbon v. Mendez (1818), 2 B. & Ald. 17.

2075. Non-fulfilment of condition precedent—Arrival & discharge at given port—Notwithstanding efforts of owner to complete voyage.]—By a charterparty of affreightment the owner of the ship covenanted to take on board at London the freighter's goods, & proceed therewith to Monte Video, & there to deliver them to the freighter's agent, & receive from him another cargo, &, wind & weather permitting, proceed therewith to his port of discharge in G. B., & there deliver the same to the freighter, & end the said voyage. In consideration whereof the freighter covenanted to pay £670 per month for freight, during the said intended voyage to M. V., & back to her port of discharge; such freight to commence from the day the ship should be ready to receive her outward bound cargo, & to end when she should have finally discharged the whole; & also to pay two-thirds of all pilotage & port charges during the said voyage; such freight, pilotage, & port charges to be paid on the arrival & discharge of the ship at her destined port in G. B. In covenant by the owner for an alleged breach in non-payment of freight, pilotage, & port charges, it is not enough to show that the ship, after having taken in a cargo in G. B. & proceeded part way on the voyage, but before her arrival at M. V., was without the default of the owner or crew, wrongfully seized & brought back to London, & there detained for some time till she was restored to the owner; in consequence of which she required repairs, which were done with all necessary dispatch; & that the owner was then ready & willing to cause the ship to prosecute & complete her voyage, & gave notice thereof to the freighter, & tendered him the ship properly fitted, etc., for that purpose, & requested him to give the necessary instructions in that behalf, & offered to observe the same, etc.: but that the freighter would not give any such instructions, etc., nor permit the ship to prosecute or complete the voyage; but refused to do so, & wholly renounced the charterparty, & the further prosecution of the voyage, & wholly discharged the owner from further prosecuting or completing the voyage, & dispensed therewith. For the freight, qua freight, pilotage, & port charges, are only covenanted to be paid by the freighter on the arrival & discharge of the ship at her destined port in G. B.; & therefore such arrival & discharge, which must be understood after the stipulated voyage performed, are conditions precedent to the owner's right to freight, etc. It is not enough to show that the owner did all in his power towards earning the freight, etc., by the tender of his ship to complete the voyage, & his offer to obey the freighter's instructions; because, though the owner had actually done, as far as lay in his power, all that he offered to do, & which the freighter discharged him from doing, it would only have amounted at most to an endeavour on his part to complete the voyage & earn the freight, etc.: but such completion was still liable to be defeated by the act of God, or the accidents of the voyage; & the performance of the condition which was to entitle the owner to freight, etc., would still have been contingent, although such his offers had been accepted by the freighter. Therefore this is not like the case where a party tendering to do that which he had undertaken, & which he has the immediate power of doing at the time, in order to entitle himself to a correspondent duty from another, is, by a refusal of that other to accept such tender, dispensed with averring performance of it, in an action for a breach in not performing the subsequent or concurrent duty.—SMITH v. WILSON (1807), 8 East, 437; 103 E. R. 410.

Annotations:—Distd. Ritchie v. Atkinson (1808), 10 East, 295. Apld. Gibbon v. Mendez (1818), 2 B. & Ald. 17.

2076. —— Arrival at first destined port.]—By charterparty the freighter covenanted to pay to the owner freight at & after the rate of so much per ton per month, for the term of six months at least, & so in proportion for less than a month, or for such further time than six months as the ship might be detained in the service of the freighter, until her final discharge, or until the day of her being lost, captured, or last seen or heard of; such freight to be paid to the commander of the ship in manner following, viz. so much as might be earned at the time of the arrival of the ship at her first destined port abroad, to be paid within ten days next after her arrival there, & the remainder of the freight at specific periods:—Held: this constituted one entire covenant, & the arrival of the ship at her first destined port abroad was a condition precedent to the owner's right to recover any freight, & that the ship having been lost on her outward voyage, the owner was not entitled to recover freight at so much per calendar month to the day of the loss.—GIBBON v. MENDEZ (1818), 2 B. & Ald. 17; 106 E. R. 274.

2077. Ship out of repair—At beginning of charterparty.]—HAVELOCK v. GEDDES, No. 1834, ante.

2078. —— During running of charterparty.]—HAVELOCK v. GEDDES, No. 1834, ante.

2079. —— ——.]—Where a vessel was chartered for six months certain, the freighter to pay £200 per month, & so in proportion for any longer time she might be employed, the owner to keep the ship in repair during the voyage: & in consequence of perils of the sea the vessel was obliged to be repaired twice in the course of the voyage, which detained her uselessly to the freighter for thirty-eight days:—Held: he was still liable for freight during such detention.—RIPLEY v. SCAIFE (1826), 5 B. & C. 167; 7 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 818; 108 E. R. 62.

Annotation:—Reld. The Leitrim, [1902] P. 256.

2080. Ship unseaworthy—Damages for unexpired portion of charterparty—Measure of damages.]—SNIA SOCIETA DI NAVIGAZIONE INDUSTRIA E. COMMERCIO v. SUZUKI & Co., No. 1659, ante.

2081. Detention of ship—Seizure in blockade.]—A ship let to freight by the month, in attempting to enter a blockaded port by order of the freighters, is seized & her cargo condemned; but being afterwards released, takes in other goods & delivers them to the freighters, according to the charterparty:—Held: there was no suspension of the freight during the detention of the ship.—MOORSOM v. GREAVES (1811), 2 Camp. 627; 170 E. R. 1274, N. P.

2082. Frustration of adventure.]—BRAEMOUNT S.S. Co., LTD. v. WEIR (ANDREW) & Co., No. 2539, post.

2083. ——.]—In the first case pltfs. by a charterparty, headed "Time Charter," let their steamship Dunolly to defts. for "one Baltic round," at a certain rate of hire per month until redelivery unless lost to pltfs. at a coal port in the United Kingdom. Arrests & restraints of princes were mutually excepted. No voyage was to be undertaken that would involve risk of seizure or capture, & in the event of Great Britain or other European power being involved in war affecting the working of the steamer at the commencement or during the currency of the charter defts. had the option of cancelling the charter or insuring the steamer against all war risks for full value. The Dunolly came on hire on July 4, 1914, & the first month's hire was paid; she was sub-chartered by defts., & she proceeded to the Baltic & was loading a cargo for the sub-charterers at a port in Finland when war broke out between Russia & Germany on Aug. 1 & between Great Britain & Germany on Aug. 4. After Aug. 1, in consequence of orders of the Russian authorities, The Dunolly was not allowed to leave the Gulf of Finland & she was still there. She was quite uninsurable against war risks. On Aug. 5, by which date The Dunolly was partly loaded & the master had given bills of lading which were held by the sub-charterers, defts. purported to cancel the charter, reserving certain claims. Pltfs. brought an action on Nov. 6, 1914, to recover the hire of the vessel to Nov. 4, 1914. In the second case the charterparty was in the same form, & the facts were for all material purposes similar to those in the first case except that the steamship Auldmuir was chartered for "two Baltic rounds," & no notice of cancellation was given. A claim by the shipowners to recover the hire of the vessel after her detention by the Russian authorities was referred to arbn. & the arbitrators found in effect that there had been a frustration of the commercial adventure:—Held: both parties to the contract contemplated a commercial adventure, namely a Baltic round; the enforced delay was of such indefinite duration as completely to frustrate the commercial adventure; & the contract was consequently determined, & the shipowners were not entitled to the hire claimed.—SCOTTISH NAVIGATION CO., LTD.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 22, B. (c) i. & ii.]

v. SOUTER (W. A.) & Co., ADMIRAL SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. WEIDNER, HOPKINS & Co., [1917] 1 K. B. 222; 86 L. J. K. B. 336; 115 L. T. 8121; 33 T. L. R. 70; 61 Sol. Jo. 85; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 539; 22 Com. Cas. 154, C. A.; revsg., [1916] 1 K. B. 675; [1916] 1 K. B. 429.

Annotations:—Consd. Lloyd Royal Belge Soc. Anon. v. Stathatos (1917), 33 T. L. R. 390. Refd. F. A. Tamplin S.S. Co. v. Anglo-Mexican Petroleum Products Co., [1916] 2 A. C. 397; Anglo-Northern Trading Co. v. Emlyn Jones & Williams, [1917] 2 K. B. 78; Heilgers v. Cambrian Steam Navigation Co. (1917), 33 T. L. R. 348; Bank Line v. Capel, [1919] A. C. 435; Ite Comptoir Commercial Anversois & Power, [1920] 1 K. B. 868. Mentd. Blackburn Bobbin Co. v. Allen (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1085; Naylor, Benzon v. Krainische Industrie Gesellschaft (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1066.

2084. ——.]—LLOYD ROYAL BELGE SOCIÉTÉ ANONYME v. STATHATOS, No. 4931, post.

2085. ——.]—PACIFIC PHOSPHATE CO., LTD. v. EMPIRE TRANSPORT CO., LTD., No. 2097, post.

2086. —— How far doctrine applicable.]—The doctrine of commercial frustration is applicable to a time charterparty. It does not apply, however, when the time charterer has the use of the vessel for some purpose for which under the terms of the time charterparty he is entitled to use her, even though that purpose is not the particular purpose for which he desired to use her. Whether in a given case the doctrine applies to a particular time charterparty depends upon the circumstances, & in determining this the main consideration is the probable length of the total deprivation of use of the vessel as compared with the unexpired duration of the charterparty. The party desirous of relying upon the doctrine of frustration is in a position to claim his right so to do as soon as the event upon which the claim is based happens. . . . The question then is what estimate a reasonable man of business, on all the materials before him, could make of the probable length of the withdrawal of the vessel from service, & it is immaterial whether his anticipation is justified or falsified by the event.—COUNTESS OF WARWICK S.S. Co. v. LE NICKEL SOCIÉTÉ ANONYME, [1918] 1 K. B. 372; 87 L. J. K. B. 309; 118 L. T. 196; 34 T. L. R. 27; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 242, C. A.; affg. (1917), 33 T. L. R. 291.

Annotations:—Apld. Heilgers v. Cambrian Steam Navigation Co. (1917), 33 T. L. R. 348. Refd. Bank Line v. Capel, [1919] A. C. 435; Larrinaga v. Soc. Franco-Américaine des Phosphates de Medulla (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 160.

2087. —— ——.]—ANGLO-NORTHERN TRADING CO., LTD. v. EMLYN JONES & WILLIAMS, [1918] 1 K. B. 372; 87 L. J. K. B. 309; 118 L. T. 196; 34 T. L. R. 27; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 242, C. A.; affg., [1917] 2 K. B. 78.

Annotations:—Refd. Heilgers v. Cambrian Steam Navigation Co. (1917), 33 T. L. R. 348; Bank Line v. Capel, [1919] A. C. 435; Larrinaga v. Soc. Franco-Américaine des Phosphates de Medulla (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 160.

2088. —— Time for raising plea of frustration—On happening of determining event.]—COUNTESS OF WARWICK S.S. Co. v. LE NICKEL SOCIÉTÉ ANONYME, No. 2086, ante.

2089. —— Whether excluded by terms of charter.]—BANK LINE, LTD. v. CAPEL (ARTHUR) & Co., No. 2136, post.

—— Requisition of ship by Government.]—See Sub-sect. 22, D., post.

2090. What payments affected—Payment for coal consumed while vessel off hire.]—A time charterparty provided that the owner was to maintain the steamship in a thoroughly efficient state for & during the service; that the charterers were to provide & pay for all coal; & that in the event of loss of time through (inter alia) breakdown or other accident preventing the working of the steamer & lasting more than twenty-four consecutive hours the hire should cease until the vessel was again in an efficient state to resume her service.

During the currency of the charterparty the vessel was off hire for repairs, & while so off hire bunker coal to the value of £105 15*s.* was consumed:—Held: notwithstanding the fact that the vessel was off hire the charterers were bound to pay for the coal consumed during that period.—ARILD (OWNER) v. SOCIÉTÉ ANONYME DE NAVIGATION HOVRANI, [1923] 2 K. B. 141; 92 L. J. K. B. 616; 28 Com. Cas. 328.

ii. Special Stipulations.

2091. Ground for cesser of hire—"Break down of machinery"—Towage required.]—(1) The term "efficient," as applied in a charterparty to a ship, must be construed with reference to the several classes of work which she has from time to time to accomplish.

In a charterparty it was stipulated that applts. should provide & pay for the provisions & wages of the captain & crew, & maintain the ship in a thoroughly efficient state in hull & machinery for the service; & that "in the event of loss of time from deficiency of men or stores, breakdown of machinery, want of repairs, or damage whereby the working of the vessel was stopped for more than forty-eight consecutive hours, the payment of hire should cease until she should be again in an efficient state to resume her service." When the vessel was on a voyage under the charterparty, her high-pressure engine broke down, & it was found necessary to employ a tug in aid of the ship's low-pressure engine, to tow the ship to her destination:—Held: applts. had no claim for hire for the voyage on which the tug's assistance was required, the ship not being independently efficient for that purpose.

(2) On the ship's arrival in port, she discharged her cargo, for which her steam winches were available:—Held: applts. were entitled to payment of hire for the full time actually occupied in discharging the cargo, the ship being in an efficient state for that particular employment.—HOGARTH v. MILLER, BROTHER & Co., [1891] A. C. 48; 60 L. J. P. C. 1; 64 L. T. 205; 7 T. L. R. 120; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 1, H. L.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Smailes v. Evans & Reid, [1917] 2 K. B. 54.

2092. —— —— Causing detention by ice.]—By a charterparty a steamer was chartered for about two months, to be employed on a voyage from one of certain ports in South Wales to Spain, thence to the Baltic, & back to a port in the United Kingdom or on the Continent between Bordeaux & Hamburg, at a certain sum per month. The charterparty, which contained the usual exception of perils of the sea, provided, amongst other things, that, in the event of loss of time from deficiency of men or stores, breakdown of machinery, or damage preventing the working of the vessel for more than twenty-four running

---

PART VII. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 22.—B. (c) ii.

g. Ground for cesser of hire—"Breakdown of machinery."]—GIERTSEN v. TURNBULL & Co., [1908] S. C. 1101; 45 Sc. L. R. 916; 16 S. L. T. 250.—SCOT.

h. —— "Restraints of princes"—Detention of ship in quarantine.]—A time charterparty contained a condition that payment of the stipulated hire should cease during loss of time occasioned by certain specified circumstances. Among these circumstances detention in quarantine was not mentioned. By a further clause "restraints of princes & rulers" were mutually excepted. The vessel having been detained for some days in quarantine, the charterers declined to pay the hours, the payment of hire should cease until she should be again in an efficient state to resume her service, but should the vessel be driven into port, or to anchorage by stress of weather, or from any accident to cargo, such detention or loss of time should be at the charterer's risk & expense, & that " detention by ice " was " to be for account of charterers, unless caused by breakdown of steamer." The ship while proceeding from Spain to St. Petersburg under the charter, was stranded in the Baltic, & thereby so much damaged as to be unfit to continue the voyage without repair. She put into Copenhagen for repairs, &, after the necessary repairs had been there effected, she sailed for St. Petersburg; but, on arrival at Reval, she was unable to proceed further towards St. Petersburg by reason of ice, though not herself frozen in, & was detained at Reval awaiting the breaking up of the ice at St. Petersburg. If it had not been for the damage occasioned by the stranding she could have reached St. Petersburg, discharged her cargo, & got away from that port before it was closed by ice:—Held: there had been a detention of the ship by ice caused by breakdown of the steamer within the meaning of the charterparty, & the hire of the ship ceased to be payable by the charterers during that detention.—Re TRAAE & LENNARD & SONS, LTD., [1904] 2 K. B. 377; 90 L. T. 407; 20 T. L. R. 394; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 553; sub nom. Re S.S. RIKARD NORDRAAK & LENNARD & SONS, 73 L. J. K. B. 553; 9 Com. Cas. 235, C. A.

2093. —— " Damage preventing working "—Grounding—Negligence of pilot paid by charterer.]—Pltfs. chartered deft.'s ship for a specified period, the ship to be employed between safe ports of the Continent of Europe where she might always safely lie. By the charterparty the charterers were to pay for pilotages & in the event of loss of time from damage preventing the working of the ship the payment of hire was to cease until the ship should be again in an efficient state to resume her services. While under the charge of a pilot the ship grounded in getting to her berth in a harbour &, in consequence, she was prevented working for a time. The berth was a safe berth, & the grounding was due to the negligence of the pilot:—Held: the pilot, though paid by the charterers, was not their servant, & the charterers were not bound to pay for the hire of the ship during the period she was prevented from working.—FRASER & WHITE v. BEE (1900), 49 W. R. 336; 17 T. L. R. 101; 45 Sol. Jo. 102.

2094. —— —— Stress of weather shifting cargo—Repairs necessitated.]—A ship was chartered for a voyage at a certain sum per calendar month. The charterparty contained the following clause:—" In the event of loss of time from deficiency of men or stores, breakdown of machinery, collision, docking, stranding, or other accident, or damage preventing the working of the vessel for more than twenty-four consecutive hours, the time lost shall be allowed to the charterers, including first twenty-four hours . . .; but should the vessel be driven into port or to anchorage by stress of weather, or from accident to the cargo, such detention or loss of time shall be at the charterers' expense.

The ship was loaded by the charterers with a cargo of lumber including a deck cargo. Soon after starting she encountered heavy weather; the deck cargo shifted & damaged the ship. She was taken into port; the cargo was discharged & repairs were done to the ship. These repairs occupied nine days & twelve hours & were rendered necessary by the combined effect of stress of weather & the shifting of the deck cargo:—Held: the nine days & twelve hours were time lost from " damage preventing the working of the vessel " & were not " detention or loss of time " from the ship being " driven into port by stress of weather, or from accident to the cargo," within the meaning of the above clause, & the ship was off hire for that period.—BURRELL & SONS v. GREEN (F.) & CO., [1914] 1 K. B. 293; 83 L. J. K. B. 499; 109 L. T. 970; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 411; 19 Com. Cas. 81; on appeal, sub nom. BURRELL & SONS v. HIND, ROLPH & CO., [1915] 1 K. B. 391.

2095. —— Hindrance through strikes—Ship ordered to port where strike in existence.]—BROWN v. TURNER, BRIGHTMAN & CO., No. 2758, post.

2096. —— Deficiency in men or stores—Ship ordered to be armed—& gunners provided.]—A charterparty provided that the owners should " maintain the vessel in a thoroughly efficient state in hull & machinery for & during the service," that " in the event of loss of time from deficiency of men or stores . . . for more than twenty-four running hours the payment of hire shall cease until she be again in an efficient state to resume her service," & that nothing done under Govt. orders should be deemed a deviation. By order of the British Admlty. the ship was delayed in order that she might be armed, & owing to an order of the French Govt. she was further delayed in order that she might obtain gunners & ammunition:—Held: (1) the parties never contemplated that the expression " fitted for the service " would apply to the circumstances which had happened; (2) the expression " deficiency in men " could not include men to be provided by the Admlty., & therefore the charterers were not entitled to deduct from the hire a sum representing the time lost & the coal consumed by reason of the delay.—RADCLIFFE & CO. v. COMPAGNIE GÉNÉRALE TRANSATLANTIQUE (1918), 35 T. L. R. 65; 24 Com. Cas. 40, C. A.

Annotations:—Generally, Refd. Denholm v. Shipping Controller (1920), 124 L. T. 378. Mentd. Lake v. Simmons, [1926] 1 K. B. 366.

2097. —— Outbreak of war—Application of doctrine of frustration.]—In 1913 defts. agreed to supply to pltfs. twelve steamers for each year from 1914 to 1918 for the carriage of phosphate to Europe. The contract contained the following suspension clause: " In the event of circumstances beyond the control of the charterers relieving the buyers for whom the shipments were intended from their obligation to take delivery the charterers may give three months' notice to the shipowners to suspend shipments during the continuance of such circumstances, & any period during which this contract remains so suspended shall be added on to the end of the contract period. In the event of a war in which Great Britain is engaged & which is likely to affect the safety of the steamers or their cargoes, shipments may at the option of either party be suspended until the termination of the war, & the period of such suspension shall be added on to the end of the contract hire for that period on the ground that quarantine fell within the exception of " restraints of princes & rulers." In an action by the owners against the charterers:—Held: the charterers were liable for the hire during the period the vessel was in quarantine.—LINA, ART. v. TURNBULL & CO., [1907] S. C. 507; 44 Sc. L. R. 367; 14 S. L. T. 753.—SCOT.

---

k. —— Loss of ship from any other cause than carelessness or bad management of master or crew.]—COUNTER v. HAMILTON (1842), 6 O. S. 612.—CAN.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 22, B. (c) ii., (d), & C.]

period." In Aug. 1914, defts. claimed to suspend the operation of the contract, & in June, 1919, they intimated that they regarded the adventure as frustrated :—Held : the change in circumstances was so great that the doctrine of frustration applied.—PACIFIC PHOSPHATE CO., LTD. v. EMPIRE TRANSPORT CO., LTD. (1920), 36 T. L. R. 750.

Annotation :—Refd. Larrinaga v. Soc. Franco-Américaine des Phosphates de Medulla (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 160.

2098. —— If requisitioned by government.]—By clause 31 of a charterparty it was provided : "Delivery to be given when steamer is released by the British Govt. & permission obtained from them on cessation of hostilities, but if such release is not given within six months of the declaration of peace any further time for which the steamer is requisitioned by the British Govt. shall be deducted from the first three years' period of the charter. In no case, however, shall the time so deducted exceed twelve months. The duration of this charter after steamer has commenced same is not to exceed four years from the first delivery. Any time if requisitioned after first delivery to be added provided, however, as already stipulated that the total time from first delivery is not to exceed four years." The steamer was duly released & delivered to the charterers. She then proceeded to load a cargo of coal for a French port. After she was so loaded the Shipping Controller directed her after carrying & delivering the coal to proceed to Australia to load grain for the Royal Commission on Wheat Supplies. A dispute had arisen between the parties as to the meaning of clause 31 of the charterparty & as to the effect of the directions given by the Shipping Controller :—Held : the steamer had been requisitioned by the Shipping Controller within the meaning of clause 31 of the charterparty with the result that the charterparty was suspended during the period of her voyage to Australia & back.—SUTHERLAND (R. W. J.) & CO. v. COMPAGNIE NAPOLITAINE D'ECLAIRAGE ET DE CHAUFFAGE PAR LE GAZ, STELLA SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. SUTHERLAND (R. W. J.) & CO. (1920), 36 T. L. R. 724, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. France Fenwick v. R., [1927] 1 K. B. 458.

2099. —— Accident necessitating discharge of cargo or bunkers—Meaning of "accident."]—A sub-clause in a charterparty provided that "if through accident any part of the cargo or bunkers have to be discharged, the time occupied in discharging & reloading same to be deducted from the hire" :—Held : the word "accident" in the sub-clause included an accident to the cargo as well as an accident to the ship.—DENHOLME, LTD. v. SHIPPING CONTROLLER (1921), 90 L. J. K. B. 856 ; 125 L. T. 455 ; 37 T. L. R. 656 ; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 277, C. A.

2100. Duration of cesser—Until vessel "efficient"—Meaning of "efficient."]—HOGARTH v. MILLER, BROTHER & CO., No. 2091, ante.

2101. —— From completion of repair—Interval between completion & resumption of voyage.]—A charterparty provided that in the event of loss of time from "detention by average accidents to ship," the payment of hire should cease for the time thereby lost. An average accident having occurred to the ship while on a voyage from Hamburg to New York, she put back to Queenstown for repairs. After being repaired, the voyage was resumed :—Held : the charterer was liable to pay hire during the time occupied after leaving Queenstown in arriving back at the place where the accident had occurred.—VOGEMANN v. ZANZIBAR S.S. CO. (1902), 7 Com. Cas. 254, C. A.

Annotations :—Consd. Smailes v. Evans & Reid, [1917] 2 K. B. 54. Apld. S.S. Arild v. Soc. Anon. De Navigation Hovrani, [1923] 2 K. B. 141.

2102. —— —— ——.]—By a charterparty it was provided that "in the event of loss of time from . . . damage preventing the working of the vessel for more than twenty-four running hours, the payment of hire shall cease until she be again in an efficient state to resume her service." After the vessel had loaded a portion of her cargo, & while she was proceeding from one loading place to another, she went aground, & although, after the discharge of a part of the cargo, she was eventually got off, it was found that she was seriously damaged. The master therefore decided to discharge a further portion of the cargo & he did so at a place some miles distant from where the vessel grounded, & thereupon the vessel proceeded to the nearest port of refuge where the necessary repairs could be effected. At that port the repairs were completed & the vessel left the dry dock on Oct. 18. She then proceeded back to the two places where portions of the cargo had been discharged & reloaded those portions, the reloading being completed on Oct. 30. The charterers contended that after the grounding hire ceased to be payable until the whole of the discharged cargo had been reloaded :—Held : the vessel was "in an efficient state to resume her service" when the repairs were finished, & consequently, hire again became payable from that time.—SMAILES (THOMAS) & SON v. EVANS & REID, LTD., [1917] 2 K. B. 54 ; 86 L. J. K. B. 1072 ; 116 L. T. 595 ; 33 T. L. R. 233 ; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 59 ; 22 Com. Cas. 225.

Annotation :—Refd. Denholme v. Shipping Controller (1921), 90 L. J. K. B. 856.

2103. —— Incapacity "for more than forty-eight hours"—Reckoning includes forty-eight hours.]—A charterparty of a steamer for three years & nine months, under which the hire was payable monthly in advance, provided that "in the event of loss of time through deficiency of men or stores, repairs . . . or damage preventing the efficient working of the vessel for more than forty-eight running hours the payment of hire shall cease until she be again in an efficient state to resume her service" :—Held : in the event of loss of time for a period exceeding forty-eight running hours through any of the specified causes, payment of hire ceased for the whole period including the first forty-eight hours. —MEADE-KING, ROBINSON & CO. v. JACOBS & CO., [1915] 2 K. B. 640 ; 84 L. J. K. B. 1133 ; 113 L. T. 298 ; 31 T. L. R. 316 ; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 105 ; 20 Com. Cas. 288, C. A.

2104. —— Vessel lost while being towed for repair.]—A charterparty provided that hire should be payable monthly in advance, & should not be returnable in the event of the loss of the steamer, & that in the event of loss of time from breakdown of machinery the hire should cease until the steamer should be in an efficient state to resume her service. The vessel broke down, & when she was being towed back to England for repair she was lost. In an action by the charterers against the owners : —Held : as the adventure was frustrated on the date of the loss of the vessel she ceased from that date to "lose time" within the meaning of the charterparty, & the charterers were entitled to recover back hire for the period between the breakdown & the loss of the vessel, as the rights which had vested before her loss were not thereby divested.—NAEYAERT v. STOTT (T. B.) & CO. (1919), 35 T. L. R. 343.

2105. Construction of clause—General words—"Or other accident"—Ejusdem generis rule.]—S.S. MAGNHILD v. MCINTYRE BROTHERS & CO., No. 1691, ante.

2106. —— Harbours, rivers or ports "where there are bars"—Qualification applying only to ports.]—S.S. MAGNHILD v. MCINTYRE BROTHERS & CO., No. 1691, ante.

(d) Withdrawal of Ship in Default of Payment.

2107. Effect of withdrawal—On exercise of lien on sub-freights.]—WEHNER v. DENE S.S. CO., No. 2496, post.

2108. —— On recovery of hire—Between notice of withdrawal & redelivery of ship.]—ITALIAN STATE RYS. v. MAVROGORDATOS, No. 2029, ante.

2109. —— On charterer's powers to redeliver.]—ITALIAN STATE RYS. v. MAVROGORDATOS, No. 2029, ante.

2110. —— On recovery of damages for loss of hire.]—A charterparty, by which a steamship was let for thirty-six months, provided that payment of the agreed hire should be made monthly in advance, & that "In default of such payment . . . the owners shall have the faculty of withdrawing the steamer from the service of the charterers, without prejudice to any claim they, the owners, may otherwise have on the charterers under this charter." The charterer made default in paying the third & fourth months' hire, & the shipowners thereupon withdrew the steamship. The shipowners brought an action against the charterer claiming the hire in arrear at the date of the withdrawal & also damages for loss of hire under the charterparty during the remainder of the chartered period, the damages being based upon the difference between the rate of hire fixed by the charter & the hire that could be got apart from the charter:—Held: pltfs. were entitled to recover, besides the hire in arrear, damages for loss of the future hire measured as aforesaid, inasmuch as these damages were the natural & probable result of the default of deft. in paying the hire, & not of the withdrawal of the steamship by pltfs.—LESLIE SHIPPING CO. v. WELSTEAD, THE RAITHWAITE, [1921] 3 K. B. 420; 91 L. J. K. B. 12; 125 L. T. 858; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 413.

2111. Waiver of notice of withdrawal—Acceptance of cargo by captain—When hire unpaid.]—A steamer was chartered for three months at a monthly hire, payment to be made monthly in advance, &, "failing the punctual & regular payment of the hire," the owners were to be at liberty to withdraw the vessel from the services of the charterers. The second month's hire became due on July 12, but was not then paid. The vessel arrived on that day at Wabana, Nova Scotia, where she loaded a cargo, & sailed on July 14. The owners, on July 14, gave notice to the charterers that they withdrew the ship, the hire not having been paid. The charterers on receipt of the notice tendered the amount of the hire, which the owners refused to accept:—Held: there had been a punctual & regular payment of the hire, &, if not, the act of the captain in taking cargo on board when the hire was due & unpaid amounted to a waiver by the owners of their right to withdraw the steamer.—NOVA SCOTIA STEEL CO. v. SUTHERLAND S.S. CO. (1899), 5 Com. Cas. 106.

Annotations:—Expld. Re Tyrer & Hessler (1901), 84 L. T. 653. Reld. Maclaine v. Gatty, [1921] 1 A. C. 376.

2112. —— Order by captain to hold cargo ready.]—By a charterparty a ship was let for nine months, the charterers to pay for the hire of the ship at an agreed rate, fortnightly in advance, & in default of such payment the owners to have the faculty of withdrawing the ship from the service of the charterers. The owners were to pay the wages of captain & crew, but the charterers were to pay for coals, port charges, etc., & the captain was to be under their orders & directions as regarded employment. After the charterers had had the use of the ship for two months, they made default in making the fortnightly payment due on June 21. The ship was then on a voyage to S. where she arrived on June 25, & while there the captain telegraphed to H. to order the cargo to be ready. After lying two days at S. the ship started on June 27 for H. On June 28 the owners gave notice to the charterers of their withdrawal of the ship by reason of the charterers' default in the payment due on June 21:—Held: upon these facts there was no evidence of any waiver by the shipowners of their right to withdraw the vessel, nor of any conduct on their part estopping them from insisting on their right.—Re TYRER & CO. & HESSLER & CO. (1902), 86 L. T. 697; 18 T. L. R. 589; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 292; 7 Com. Cas. 166, C. A.

Annotation:—Expld. Panoutsos v. Raymond Hadley Corpn. of New York, [1917] 2 K. B. 473.

2113. —— Issue of writ for hire due.]—Under a charterparty a month's hire payable in advance became due on Aug. 8, 1914. On Aug. 13, it being still unpaid, the owners gave notice to the charterers under the terms of the charterparty of withdrawal of the ship, & a few hours later issued a writ against them for the hire due on Aug. 8. The notice reached the charterers a few hours before the issue of the writ:—Held: the issue of the writ did not constitute a waiver of the notice of withdrawal.—WULFSBERG & CO. v. WEARDALE (OWNERS) (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1717; 115 L. T. 146; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 416, C. A.

2114. Notice of withdrawal while ship on voyage—Payment of hire before arrival in port—Subsequent withdrawal breach of contract.]—A charterparty contained a clause providing: "Payment of the hire to be made in cash monthly in advance . . . & in default of such payment or payments as herein specified, the owners shall have the faculty of withdrawing the steamer from the service of the charterers." A month's hire became due on Sept. 11. On Oct. 1 it was still unpaid, & the owners gave notice that they withdrew the ship, which was at that time at sea. On Oct. 2 the month's hire was paid, & on the same day the ship arrived in port. On Oct. 4 the master, under instructions from the owners, withdrew the ship:—Held: that there was a breach of the charterparty for which the owners were liable in damages.—LANGFOND (OWNERS) v. CANADIAN FORWARDING & EXPORT CO. (1907), 96 L. T. 559; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 414, P. C.

Annotation:—Reld. Wulfsberg v. S.S. Weardale (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1717.

C. Duration of Charter and Redelivery of Ship to Owner.

2115. Duration—Option to charterer or owner—To determine.]—Pltfs., on July 29, 1875, chartered their ship G. for a voyage from New York to Odessa. The freight was agreed "during the voyage aforesaid" at £5,500 in cash at Hull,

---

PART VII. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 22.—C.

1. Re-delivery—In original condition reasonable wear & tear excepted—Liability for loss of anchor.]—ANGLIN v. HENDERSON & COEPOYS (1861), 21 U. C. R. 27.—CAN.

m. —— —— Measure of damages.]—COLLINS BAY RAFTING & FORWARDING CO. v. KAINE (1898), 29 S. C. R. 247.—CAN.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 22, C.]

England, on the discharge of the cargo in Odessa. "If the vessel has not arrived at the port of New York on or before Sept. 1, 1875, charterers have option of cancelling this charterparty." Pltfs., on Aug. 7, 1875, effected an insurance with deft. "at & from London to New York while there, & thence to Odessa, via Constantinople," on their chartered freight, including, besides the ordinary ones, all risks "incident to steam navigation." The clause in the charterparty giving the option to cancel was not mentioned to deft.

The ship started from England on Aug. 7, but owing to the failure of her machinery in the British Channel was obliged to put back for repairs, which occupied so much time that she did not reach New York until after Sept. 1, whereupon the charterers cancelled the charter & the freight was lost:—Held: (1) the interest in the chartered freight had commenced at the time when the charter was cancelled; (2) deft. was not liable, for the freight was not lost by any of the perils insured against, but by the exercise of the option to cancel in the charterparty; (3) the withholding from deft. information as to the power to cancel vitiated the policy.—MERCANTILE S.S. Co. v. TYSER (1881), 7 Q. B. D. 73; 29 W. R. 790; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 6, n.

Annotations:—As to (2) Refd. The Alps (1893), 41 W. R. 527. Refd. Manchester Liners v. British & Foreign Marine Insce. (1901), 18 T. L. R. 183.

2116. —— —— To renew—Effect of failure to exercise on contract with sub-charterer.]—Under a charterparty from the owners the charterers were entitled to a steamship until Sept. 29, 1920, with the option on giving thirty days' notice before that date, of continuing the charterparty for three months longer. A sub-charterparty of the steamship granted by the charterers, which would otherwise have continued in force up to Dec. 22, 1920, was, in consequence of a breach by the sub-charterers, terminated on Oct. 2, 1920. The charterers did not exercise their option of renewal & their charterparty accordingly terminated on the date first above mentioned. On Sept. 25, 1920, the owners chartered the steamship to the sub-charterers as from the time when it was delivered to them. On Oct. 2, 1920, the steamship was redelivered by the sub-charterers to the charterers, & by the latter to the owners. The charterers claimed from the sub-charterers as damages for the breach by the latter of their contract the loss of the profits which they would have made during the period from Oct. 2, 1920, when the steamship was redelivered, to Dec. 22, 1920, when but for the breach the sub-charterparty would have expired:—Held: the charterers could not recover the damages claimed, inasmuch as, owing to their not having exercised their option of renewal, they could not have given the sub-charterers the use of the steamship during the above period; & it made no difference that the sub-charterers had themselves obtained a charter of the steamer from the owner.—RUTHERFORD, SENDER & Co. v. GOLDTHORPE, SCOTT & WRIGHT, LTD., THE STARTFORTH, [1922] 1 K. B. 508; 91 L. J. K. B. 493.

2117. —— —— To suspend in event of war—Whether charterparty dissolved or suspended.]—By a charterparty dated Jan. 18, 1913, pltfs., as the owners of the British S.S. Ferngarth, agreed to let, & the Vulcaan co. agreed to hire, the Ferngarth for about five years. The Vulcaan co. was a Dutch co., but all its shares were held by Germans; it was managed by directors who were Germans resident in Holland who were subject to the control of a supervisory committee of Germans resident in Germany; & it existed for the purpose of furthering the operations of certain German cos. The charterparty provided that the vessel should only be employed in lawful trades, & it contained the following clause: "(27) That in the event of war between the nation to whose flag the chartered steamer belongs & any European Power or any other Power operating or likely to operate in European waters, charters, &/or owners shall have the option of suspending this charter for the time during which hostilities are in progress." On the outbreak of war between Great Britain & Germany on Aug. 4, 1914, the Vulcaan co. gave notice suspending the charterparty during the continuance of hostilities. Pltfs. brought an action claiming a declaration that the charterparty was dissolved as being a contract with or on behalf of alien enemies:—Held: the charterparty was dissolved & not merely suspended by the outbreak of war, inasmuch as to keep it alive would on the one hand assure to alien enemies the use of the vessel at the end of the war, thus fortifying their commercial position during the war by enabling them to commit their own shipping without being hampered by the necessity of having it free when peace should be declared, & on the other hand it would prevent pltfs. from committing the vessel on pain of being liable in damages if on the conclusion of peace they should be unable to resume the fulfilment of their contract under the charterparty.—CLAPHAM S.S. Co., LTD. v. HANDELS-EN-TRANSPORT-MAATSCHAPPIJ VULCAAN OF ROTTERDAM, [1917] 2 K. B. 639; 86 L. J. K. B. 1439; 116 L. T. 826; 33 T. L. R. 546; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 104; 23 Com. Cas. 13.

*Annotations:—Refd. Naylor, Benzon v. Krainische Industrie Gesellschaft (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1066; Re Badische Co., Bayer Co., etc., [1921] 2 Ch. 331.

2118. —— Ship employed beyond date of termination—Whether date of termination of essence of contract—Construction of charter as voyage charter.]—GRAY & Co. v. CHRISTIE & Co. (1889), 5 T. L. R. 577.

*Annotation:—Expld. Watson S.S. Co. v. Merryweather (1913), 108 L. T. 1031.

2119. —— —— ——.]—Under a charterparty a ship was hired within certain limits for a "term of about six calendar months" from the date when she was placed at the charterers' disposal. The charterparty provided that should the steamer be upon a voyage at the expiration of the term, the charterers were to have the use of the steamer at the same rate & conditions for such extended time as might be necessary for the completion of the contemplated voyage, & in order to bring the steamer to the port of redelivery. The steamer came on hire on May 12. On Oct. 26 the charterers sent the steamer on a voyage within the prescribed limits, which it was obvious could not be completed so as to permit of the redelivery of the steamer to the owners at the end of the period of about six months, & the steamer was, in fact, delivered to the owners nearly two months after the expiration of that period:—Held: the charterers had not committed a breach of the charterparty.—DENE S.S. Co., LTD. v. BUCKNALL BROTHERS (1900), 5 Com. Cas. 372.

2120. —— —— —— Provision for ship being on voyage at date of termination.]—A charterparty was expressed to be for "about six calendar months"; hire to be paid per month or part of a month, & to continue until redelivery of the steamer to the owner at a port in the United Kingdom or the United States. If the vessel was upon a voyage at the expiration of the named period, the charterers were to have the use of steamer until completion of the voyage & in order to bring her to a port of redelivery. If the charterers redelivered the steamer in the United Kingdom they were to pay a penalty of £500. At the expiration of six calendar months the vessel was on a voyage to a port in the United States :—Held : the owner was entitled to redelivery of the steamer on completion of her voyage to such port, & charterers were not entitled to send her on a fresh voyage to, & to redeliver her in, the United Kingdom.—BUCKNALL BROTHERS v. MURRAY (1900), 5 Com. Cas. 312.

2121. —— —— ——.]—A steamer was chartered for twelve calendar months, payment of hire to be at a certain rate per month, & " at & after the same rate for any part of a month, used to complete a voyage," hire to continue from the time specified for terminating the charterparty until delivery of the steamer to the owners at a port in the United Kingdom in the charterer's option. The twelve months expired on Aug. 12. On Aug. 18, the vessel finished discharging a cargo at Cronstadt, which had been carried under a sub-charterparty for a voyage from Cardiff to that port. The charterer intended that the vessel, after discharging at Cronstadt, should proceed to Lulea in ballast, load a cargo there, & proceed therewith to Rotterdam, & thence to Gravesend, where the vessel would be delivered to the owners, according to reasonable calculations, before Sept. 12 :—Held : to send the ship to Lulea would be to cause her to commence a fresh voyage, & the owners were therefore entitled to have her redelivered to them at Cronstadt.—Re ISTOK (OWNERS) & DRUGHORN (1902), 18 T. L. R. 603 ; 7 Com. Cas. 190, C. A.

2122. —— —— ——.]—By the terms of a charterparty a vessel was chartered from May 15–31, 1912, until Oct. 15–31, 1912, at the rate of £615 per current month, " hire to continue from the time specified for terminating the charter until her redelivery to owners, unless lost, at a port on East coast of United Kingdom between Oct. 15 & 31, 1912.

On Oct. 18, 1912, the vessel was at West Hartlepool, & upon that day she was dispatched by the charterers on a voyage from which to the knowledge of the charterers it was impossible that she could return in time to be redelivered to the owners by Oct. 31. She was in fact redelivered on Nov. 20. The current rate obtainable for the vessel on Oct. 31 was £900 per month, & the owner sought to recover from the charterers damages for twenty days detention of the ship calculated at the difference between the current rate & the chartered rate for the period in question :—Held : the clause in the charterparty set out above indicated an intention on the part of the parties to make the time specified in the charter for the redelivery of the vessel of the essence of the contract, & as she was not redelivered by Oct. 31, the charterers had committed a breach of contract for which they were liable in damages at the rate claimed.—WATSON S.S. CO., LTD. v. MERRYWEATHER & CO. (1913), 108 L. T. 1031 ; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 353 ; 18 Com. Cas. 294.

2123. —— —— ——.]—A steamship was chartered on the terms (inter alia) that the hire was to be " for about six months " & the vessel was to be employed between Wales & part of France, there being a prohibition against trading in waters where military operations were in progress. The owner subsequently agreed with the charterers to enlarge the trading area, so as to include voyages between Liverpool or Manchester & Nantes. On Dec. 18, 1914, the vessel was taken over by the charterers & was employed in carrying coal & steel bars from Manchester to Nantes. In Feb. 1915, Germany issued a decree that every hostile merchant ship in the waters around Great Britain would be destroyed & a number of vessels were sunk by submarines, & the owner informed the charterers that he would consider the charter cancelled unless the vessel was sent to trade where no military operations could be expected. Eventually the parties agreed that she should go on trading between Manchester & Nantes, & that the question whether an agreed extra sum should be paid by the charterers to the owner should be decided by arbn. On June 18, 1915, the six months expired, but the charterers sent the vessel on one more voyage & she did not return till June 30. It was then agreed that if the arbitrators decided that the hire had continued for more than " about six months " the charterers should pay the owner a further sum. The arbitrators decided in favour of the owner on both points :—Held : (1) the arbitrators were justified in finding that the vessel was trading in waters where military operations were in progress ; (2) the charterers had not acted reasonably in sending out the vessel on the day of the completion of the six months, & the award must be affirmed.—MEYER v. SANDERSON (R. F.) & CO. (1916), 32 T. L. R. 428.

2124. —— Until stipulated notice by charterer—Notice by owners ineffective.]—(1) By a charterparty a steamship was hired for one calendar month for a certain sum, the hiring to continue at the same rate until the charterers should determine it by fourteen days' notice. Several months afterwards the owners gave fourteen days' notice purporting to determine the hiring, & later the steamship was requisitioned by the British Govt. : —Held : the charterparty meant that the hiring was to continue indefinitely as long as the steamship continued to exist subject to the right of the charterers to put an end to it at any time by giving the stipulated notice ; & the hiring was not determined either by the owners' notice, or by the requisitioning.

(2) While the owners of a steamship were detaining her from the charterers in breach of the charterparty, she was requisitioned by the British Govt. In an action by the charterers against the owners for damages for their detention of the steamship :—Held : in the absence of proof to that effect, the requisitioning could not be regarded as arising out of the detention of the vessel by the owners, & the damages which the charterers were entitled to recover for the detention by the owners did not include damages in respect of the period of did not include damages in respect of the period of the requisition.—ELLIOTT STEAM TUG CO. v. JOHN PAYNE & CO., [1920] 2 K. B. 693 ; 90 L. J. K. B. 89 ; 123 L. T. 619 ; 36 T. L. R. 401 ; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 78 ; 25 Com. Cas. 208.

Annotation :—As to (2) Refd. Dominion Coal Co. v. Maskinonge S.S. Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 132.

2125. —— Invalid determination by owners—Subsequent requisition by Government—Damages for period of requisition.]—ELLIOTT STEAM TUG CO. v. JOHN PAYNE & CO., No. 2124, ante.

—— Frustration of adventure.]—See Nos. 2083–2086, ante ; Nos. 2129-2140, post.

2126. Redelivery—What amounts to—Owner enabled to resume control.]—ITALIAN STATE RYS. v. MAVROGORDATOS, No. 2029, ante.

2127. —— Tender of redelivery refused pending examination—Examination revealing necessity for repairs—Liability of charterers for repair & loss during repairs.]—A charterparty stipulated that the ship was to be redelivered at the expiration of the charterparty " in same good order as when delivered." She was damaged owing to the charterers' default, & was tendered for redelivery in that state. The redelivery was refused by the owners until the ship was "in same good order as when delivered," & they claimed hire for the period occupied in repairs, at the conclusion of which period they accepted redelivery:—Held: the charterparty involved two obligations on the charterers; (a) to redeliver, & (b) to redeliver in good order; & as the ship was tendered for redelivery at the proper time, no hire was payable in respect of the time subsequent to the tender during which repairs were being executed, but damages only, for detention & cost of repairs, were payable.—WYE SHIPPING CO. v. CHEMIN DE FER PARIS-ORLÉANS, [1922] 1 K. B. 617; 91 L. J. K. B. 553; 38 T. L. R. 274; 66 Sol. Jo. 406.

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 22, C. & D.]

2128. —— —— —— Liability of charterer for hire after tender.]—WYE SHIPPING CO. v. CHEMIN DE FER PARIS-ORLÉANS, No. 2127, ante.

D. Requisition of Ship by Government.

2129. Whether adventure frustrated.]—By a time charterparty a steamship was chartered for sixty months at a fixed sum per month. The charterparty contained an exception of arrests & restraints of princes, & the charterers had the liberty of subletting the steamer on Admlty. or other service. After the outbreak of the war, when the charterparty had nearly three years to run, the steamer was requisitioned by the Admlty., & employed by them in the transport of troops:—Held: the interruption was not of such a character as that the ct. ought to imply a condition that the parties should be excused from further performance of the contract, & that the requisition did not determine or suspend the contract.—F. A. TAMPLIN S.S. CO., LTD. v. ANGLO MEXICAN PETROLEUM PRODUCTS CO., LTD., [1916] 2 A. C. 397; 85 L. J. K. B. 1389; 32 T. L. R. 677; 21 Com. Cas. 299; sub nom. Re F. A. TAMPLIN S.S. CO., LTD. & ANGLO MEXICAN PETROLEUM PRODUCTS CO., LTD., 115 L. T. 315; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 467, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Chinese Mining & Engineering Co. v. Sale, [1917] 2 K. B. 599. Apld. Lloyd Royal Belge Soc. Anon. v. Stathatos (1917), 34 T. L. R. 70; Marshall v. Glanvill, [1917] 2 K. B. 87. Foll. Modern Transport Co. v. Duneric S.S. Co., [1917] 1 K. B. 370. Consd. Scottish Navigation Co. v. Souter, Admiralty Shipping Co. v. Weidner Hopkins, [1917] 1 K. B. 222; Countess of Warwick S.S. Co. v. Le Nickel Soc. Anon., Anglo Northern Trading Co. v. Emlyn Jones & Williams, [1918] 1 K. B. 372; Metropolitan Water Board v. Dick Kerr, [1918] A. C. 119. Apld. Elliott Steam Tug. Co. v. Duncan (1918), 34 T. L. R. 583; Naylor, Benzon v. Krainische Industrie Gesellschaft (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1066. Consd. Bank Line v. Capel, [1919] A. C. 435. Apld. Dominion Coal Co. v. Roberts (1920), 36 T. L. R. 837. Consd. Re Badische Co., Bayer Co., etc., [1921] 2 Ch. 331. Apld. Dominion Coal Co. v. Maskinonge S.S. Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 132. Refd. Clapham S.S. Co. v. Handels-en Transport Maatschappij Vulcan of Rotterdam, [1917] 2 K. B. 639; Heilgers v. Cambrian Steam Navigation Co. (1917), 33 T. L. R. 348; Blackburn Bobbin Co. v. Allen, [1918] 2 K. B. 467; Re Comptoir Commercial Anversois & Power, [1920] 1 K. B. 868; Re Thornett & Fehr & Yuills, [1921] 1 K. B. 219; Larrinaga v. Soc. Franco-Americaine des Phosphates de Medulla (1923), 92 L. J. K. B. 455; Hirji Muljі v. Cheong Yue S.S. Co., [1926] A. C. 497. Mentd. Leiston Gas Co. v. Leiston-Cum-Sizewell U. D. C. (1915), 80 J. P. 95; Nordman v. Rayner & Sturges (1916), 33 T. L. R. 87; Orconera Iron Ore Co. v. Fried Krupp Akt. (1917), 86 L. J. Ch. 613; Hulton v. Chadwick & Taylor (1918), 34 T. L. R. 230; Kensington Electric Lighting Co. v. Notting Hill Electric Lighting Co. (1918), 82 J. P. 197; Schostall v. Johnson (1919), 36 T. L. R. 75; Re Thellusson, Ex p. Abdy, [1919] 2 K. B. 735; Willis v. Willis (1927), 96 L. J. P. 177.

2130. ——.]—DINHAM, FAWCUS & CO. v. WITHERINGTON & EVERETT, [1916] W. N. 154.

Annotation:—Foll. Cork Gas Consumers Co. v. Witherington & Everett (1920), 36 T. L. R. 599.

2131. ——.]—Pltfs. chartered three steamers. The owners were to pay for the insurance of the vessels & maintain them in efficiency. The Admlty., during the course of the war & after the delivery to the charterers, requisitioned each of the steamers:—Held: (1) the charterparties had not been terminated by the requisitions; (2) as the Admlty. charters took effect partly out of the interests of the charterers & partly out of the interests of the shipowners, the Admlty. hire must be divided between the two.—CHINESE MINING & ENGINEERING CO., LTD. v. SALE & CO., [1917] 2 K. B. 599; 86 L. J. K. B. 1465; 117 L. T. 32; 33 T. L. R. 464; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 95; 22 Com. Cas. 352.

Annotations:—As to (2) Apld. Elliott Steam Tug Co. v. Duncan (1918), 34 T. L. R. 583. Generally, Refd. Dominion Coal Co. v. Maskinonge S.S. Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 132.

2132. ——.]—MODERN TRANSPORT CO., LTD. v. DUNERIC S.S. CO., No. 1797, ante.

2133. ——.]—By a charterparty dated Aug. 5, 1914, pltfs. chartered a steamer from defts. for about 15 months, & the steamer entered on the charter in Dec. 1914. In Oct. 1915, the Admlty. requisitioned the steamer at a higher rate than the rate of hire fixed by the charterparty. In an action by the charterers against the owners of a declaration that the charter had not been determined by the requisition & that pltfs. were entitled to the benefit of the difference between the rate fixed by the charter & the rate paid by the Admlty.:—Held: the doctrine of frustration of adventure was applicable, & therefore the action failed.—HEILGERS & CO. v. CAMBRIAN STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1917), 34 T. L. R. 72, C. A.

2134. ——.]—Pltfs. chartered a steamship from defts. for one month, pltfs. to have the option of continuing the hire for any further period. The charter contained an exception of restraints of princes. Pltf. exercised their option to continue the hire after the first month, & while the charter was still in force the vessel was requisitioned by the Admlty. During the period of requisition the vessel was transferred from the gross to the net basis, & was engaged in word more arduous than that contemplated by the charter & at a place not contemplated by the charter:—Held: the requisition did not put an end to the charter, but the question whether the owners were entitled to a share of the sum received by the charterers from the Admlty. for hire was a matter for a referee.—ELLIOTT STEAM TUG CO., LTD. v. DUNCAN (CHARLES) & SONS, LTD. (1918), 34 T. L. R. 583.

Annotations:—Foll. Elliott Steam Tug Co. v. Payne, [1920] 2 K. B. 693. Refd. Dominion Coal Co. v. Maskinonge S.S. Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 132.

2135. ——.]—COUNTESS OF WARWICK S.S. CO. v. LE NICKEL SOCIÉTÉ ANONYME, No. 2086, ante.

2136. ——.]—The principle of frustration of the adventure applies to a time charter.

By a charterparty of Feb. 16, 1915, defts. agreed to let a steamer to pltfs., the charterers, for twelve months from the time the vessel should be delivered & placed at the disposal of the charterers at a coal port in the United Kingdom as ordered by the charterers, to trade between safe ports within certain specified limits. The charterparty excepted loss of damage arising from restraints of princes. It also provided (a) (clause 26) that, should the steamer not have been delivered on Apr. 30, 1915, the charterers should have the option of cancelling the charter, & that, should it be proved that the steamer through unforeseen circumstances could not be delivered by the cancelling date, the charterers, if required, should, within a prescribed time after receiving notice thereof, declare whether they would cancel or take delivery; (b) (clause 31) that the charterers should have the option of cancelling should the steamer be commandeered by the Govt. during the currency of the charter. The steamer was not delivered on Apr. 30, & on May 11, before delivery, the steamer was requisitioned by the Govt., but pltfs. did not exercise their option to cancel. In Aug. defts. agreed to sell the steamer to third parties conditionally on obtaining her release from the Govt., & the Govt. consented to release the steamer on being provided with a substitute. The ship was released in Sept. & the sale was effected. Pltfs. claimed damages for non-delivery of the steamer:—Held: (1) the application of the principle of frustration was not excluded by the special terms of the charterparty; (2) the requisition & detention of the steamer destroyed the identity of the chartered service & entitled defts. to treat the charterparty as an end.—BANK LINE, LTD. v. CAPEL (ARTHUR) & CO., [1919] A. C. 435; 88 L. J. K. B. 211; 120 L. T. 129; 35 T. L. R. 150; 63 Sol. Jo. 177; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 370, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Re Comptoir Commercial Anversois & Power, [1920] 1 K. B. 868; Re Badische Co., Bayer Co., etc., [1921] 2 Ch. 331. As to (2) Apld. Woodfield S.S. Co. v. Thompson (1919), 36 T. L. R. 43; Snia Societa di Navigazione Industria e Commercio v. Suzuki (1924), 29 Com. Cas. 284; Hirji Mulji v. Cheong Yue S.S. Co., [1926] A. C. 497. Generally, Refd. Dominion Coal Co. v. Maskinonge S.S. Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 132; Larrinaga v. Soc. Franco-Americaine des Phosphates de Medulla (1922), 92 L. J. K. B. 455. Mentd. Moriarty v. Regent's Garage & Engineering Co., [1921] 1 K. B. 423; Matthey v. Curling, [1922] 2 A. C. 180; Cohen v. Sellar, [1926] 1 K. B. 536.

2137. ——.]—ELLIOTT STEAM TUG CO. v. JOHN PAYNE & CO., No. 2124, ante.

2138. ——.]—Pltfs. in 1909 chartered a vessel from defts., the owners, by a charterparty which entitled pltfs. to the use of the vessel for seven consecutive St. Lawrence seasons (i.e., during the portion of each year when the water was not liable to be blocked by ice), with an option for three more seasons. The option had been duly exercised. In 1915, just before the vessel should have been tendered for the coming season, the Govt. requisitioned her, & she remained on requisition till 1919:—Held: the contract was not divisible into contracts for 10 separate seasons, &, as the requisition did not destroy it as a whole, defts. were liable to account to pltfs. for the excess of the amount paid to pltfs. by the Govt. over the amount of hire under the charter.—DOMINION COAL CO. v. ROBERTS (1920), 36 T. L. R. 837.

Annotation:—Apld. Dominion Coal Co. v. Maskinonge S.S. Co., [1922] 2 K. B. 132.

2139. ——.]—By a charterparty made in Nov. 1916, resps. agreed to place their steamship at the disposal of applts. at Singapore on Mar. 1, 1917, & applts. agreed to employ her on specified terms for ten months from the date when she was delivered to them. The charterparty contained a clause by which all disputes arising out of the contract were submitted to arbitration in Hong Kong. The ship was requisitioned by the Govt. before Mar. 1, 1917, & was not released until Feb. 1919. Applts. then refused to take delivery of her. An arbitrator awarded resps. damages for breach of contract, & they brought an action upon the award:—Held: there had been in 1917 a frustration of the charterparty which forthwith brought to an end the whole contract, including the submission to arbitration.—HIRJI MULJI v. CHEONG YUE S.S. CO., LTD., [1926] A. C. 497; 95 L. J. P. C. 121; 134 L. T. 737; 42 T. L. R. 359; 17 Asp. M. L. C. 8; 31 Com. Cas. 199, P. C.

Annotation:—Mentd De La Garde v. Worsnop (1927), 96 L. J. Ch. 446.

2140. —— Adjustment of hire pro rata.]—A steamer was chartered for four months by a charterparty which provided for payment of a fixed hire per month & pro rata for any fractional part of a month until redelivery to owners as therein stipulated, payment of hire to be made in London monthly in advance. Redelivery was to be at a United Kingdom coal port. Should the steamer be on a voyage at the expiration of the period fixed by the charter, the charterers were to have the use of the steamer at the rate & on the conditions therein stipulated to enable them to complete the voyage, provided that the voyage was reasonably calculated to be completed about the time fixed for the termination of the charter. Money in dispute to be deposited at a bank in the joint names of the parties at the place of payment of the hire until the settlement of the dispute by arbn. Provision was made for the cesser of hire in the event of a breakdown of machinery or of the steamer being lost or missing. The period fixed by the charter expired on Aug. 10, 1919. In July, 1919, the charterers loaded the steamer at Antwerp with a cargo for Toulon with the intention that she should return to Great Britain with a cargo from Toulon. The steamer arrived at Toulon, but the discharge of her cargo was not completed until Aug. 16, when she was requisitioned by the Shipping Controller & sent to Australia:—Held: (1) the stipulation for payment in advance applied to a case of extension of the charter beyond the charter term, & on Aug. 10 a full month's hire was payable by the charterers; (2) the charterers were not entitled to a pro rata adjustment by reason of the frustration of the adventure.—FRENCH MARINE v. COMPAGNIE NAPOLITAINE D'ECLAIRAGE ET DE CHAUFFAGE PAR LE GAZ, [1921] 2 A. C. 494; 90 L. J. K. B. 1068; 125 L. T. 833; 37 T. L. R. 923; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 358; 27 Com. Cas. 69, H. L.

Annotation:—Refd. Cantiare San Rocco S. A. v. Clyde Shipbuilding & Engineering Co., [1924] A. C. 226.

2141. Government paying hire in excess of charterparty—Title to excess as between owner & charterer.]—CHINESE MINING & ENGINEERING CO., LTD. v. SALE & CO., No. 2131, ante.

2142. —— ——.]—ELLIOTT STEAM TUG CO., LTD. v. DUNCAN (CHARLES) & SONS, LTD., No. 2134, ante.

2143. —— ——.]—In Nov. 1909, pltfs. chartered a steamship from the owners for seven consecutive St. Lawrence seasons commencing with the spring 1912. The charter contained the usual exceptions including "Restraint of Princes." In Oct. 1915, defts. took over from the owners all rights & obligations under the charterparty. In Feb. 1915, the steamship was requisitioned by the Govt. & was employed in Govt. service from May to Sept. 1915. For this period £10,500 was paid to defts. by the Govt. by way of compensation. The amount payable by pltfs. to defts. under the charterparty would have been about £6,000 & pltfs. claimed £4,500, the difference between these two sums, from defts. The ship was again requisitioned in 1916, & pltfs. made a similar claim for £500 in respect of this period. Upon this amount they also claimed interest:—Held: (1) pltfs. were entitled to recover the excess of Govt. payments over charterparty hire for the years 1915 & 1916; (2) in respect of the excess due to pltfs. for 1916, defts. were in the position of quasi-trustees for pltfs. & were liable to them for interest at 5 per cent. thereon as from the end of 1916.—DOMINION COAL CO., LTD. v. MASKINONGE S.S. CO., LTD., [1922] 2 K. B. 132; 91 L. J. K. B. 673; 127 L. T. 307; 38 T. L. R. 591; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 8; 27 Com. Cas. 337.

2144. Sale by owner during requisition—No arrangement with purchaser for performance of

Sect. 2.—Charterparties: Sub-sect. 22, D.; sub-sect. 23, A. & B. Sect. 3: Sub-sect. 1.]

charterparty.]—By a charterparty in 1916 the steamship R., then building, was chartered by deft. to pltfs. for three years from the time she was fit to sail. The charterparty provided that should the steamer that was to carry out the charter be lost either before or during its fulfilment deft. was to provide another steamer of a similar size, class & description on the same terms & conditions; & that should the steamer be requisitioned by the Admlty. the owner & charterers were to be held harmless, & any time during which the steamer might be used by the Admlty. during the existence of the contract should be for owner's account & hire under the contract should cease for such period, the contract to be prolonged by such period as the steamer might be under requisition, so that the full three years' contract between owner & charterers should be carried out. The steamer, when completed, was requisitioned by the Admlty. & still remained under requisition. While the steamer was under requisition deft. sold her free from charter engagements, & the purchasers refused to undertake to carry out the charterparty. Pltfs. claimed damages from deft. for breach of the charterparty, contending that by the sale of the steamer deft. had wrongfully repudiated the charterparty & put it out of his power to perform it:—Held: deft., by the sale of the steamer, had repudiated the charterparty, & was liable in damages.—OMNIUM D'ENTERPRISES v. SUTHERLAND, [1919] 1 K. B. 618; 88 L. J. K. B. 566; 120 L. T. 265; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 402, C. A.

---

SUB-SECT. 23.—STAMPS.

A. In General.

See Stamp Act, 1891 (c. 39), ss. 8, 49 (1) (2), 50, 51, sched. I.

2145. Time for stamping—Charterparty wholly executed abroad.]—A charterparty executed entirely abroad & stamped within two months after it has been received in this country can be received in evidence, since it falls within the provisions of Stamp Act, 1870 (c. 97), s. 15, & not of sects. 67 & 68 of that Act.

Semble, such a charterparty must be stamped with an impressed & not an adhesive stamp.—THE BELFORT (1884), 9 P. D. 215; 53 L. J. P. 88; 51 L. T. 271; 33 W. R. 171; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 291, D. C.

See, now, Stamp Act, 1891 (c. 39), s. 15 (3).

2146. What documents require stamp—Guarantee for performance of charterparty.]—A guarantee for the due performance of a charterparty does not require to be stamped as "charterparty or agreement for the charter of any ship or any memorandum, letter or other writing between the captain or owner of any ship & any other person, for or relating to the freight or conveyance of goods, etc., on board such ship, etc." within 5 & 6 Vict. c. 79, s. 2, & Sched.—REIN v. LANE (1867), L. R. 2 Q. B. 144; 8 B. & S. 83; 36 L. J. Q. B. 81; 15 L. T. 466; 15 W. R. 345; 2 Mar. L. C. 448.

Annotation:—Expld. Horsey v. Graham (1869), L. R. 5 C. P. 9.

2147. Whether impressed or adhesive stamp necessary—Charterparty wholly executed abroad.]—THE BELFORT, No. 2145, ante.

B. Evidence.

2148. Admissibility in evidence of unstamped charterparty.]—Where the declaration alleged that deft. had falsely represented himself as an agent of the master of a vessel, & so entered into a charterparty with pltf.:—Held: under the plea "not guilty," the contract must be proved by pltfs., & not the misrepresentation only, & the charterparty being unstamped could not be read in evidence; though deft. was not an agent of any "master, or captain, or owner" of a vessel.—BRINK v. WINGUARD (1847), 2 Car. & Kir. 656, N. P.

2149. ——.]—MACDONALD v. HIGHFIELD (1847), 4 L. T. 656.

2150. —— Unstamped copy—Evidence as to original being stamped—Sufficiency of.]—(1) In an action on a charterparty against the charterer, a copy of the charter signed by or on his behalf, though that copy is signed by the shipowner, is a copy, & admissible unstamped, notwithstanding 5 & 6 Vict. c. 79, if there is any evidence that the original was stamped.

(2) It is for the objector to a copy, even if a charterparty, on the ground that the original was not stamped under 5 & 6 Vict. c. 79, to make out that fact; at all events, very slight evidence to the contrary will be sufficient to rebut the objection, & a memorandum on the charter "the brokers hold the original stamped," is sufficient.—SMITH v. MAGUIRE (1858), 1 F. & F. 199; subsequent proceedings, 3 H. & N. 554.

2151. —— —— Objection on ground that original not stamped—Onus on objector.]—SMITH v. MAGUIRE, No. 2150, ante.

2152. Presumption as to stamping—Charterparty lost—Admissibility of secondary evidence of contents.]—An unstamped charterparty was within the fourteen days allowed by 5 & 6 Vict. c. 79, s. 21, for stamping such instruments without payment of a penalty, delivered at the office of the sub-distributor of stamps at C., for the purpose of its being transmitted to London to be stamped, the proper amount of stamp duty & postage being left with it. The clerk in that office to whom it was delivered, proved that he sent to London all documents left with him for that purpose, but he had no recollection of the document in question. The clerks in the office in London were unable to say whether or not the document reached their hands; but they said, that, if it did, it would in usual course be returned to the district office in the country. The clerk at C. could not say whether the document was returned to him or not; but he stated, that, on search being made for it, no trace of it could be discovered:—Held: this sufficiently raised a presumption that the document was stamped, so as to let in secondary evidence of its contents.—CLOSMADEUC v. CARREL (1856), 18 C. B. 36; 25

---

PART VII. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 23.—A.

n. Charterparty not under seal.]—An agreement for the hiring of a steam-vessel for a certain period, at a certain sum, payable weekly, for the carriage of passengers & goods, not under seal, is within 5 & 6 Vict. c. 82, although strictly not a charterparty, & requires a 5*s.* stamp.—LONDONDERRY STEAMBOAT CO., LTD. v. MIDDLETON & POLLEXFEN (1857), 7 I. C. L. R. 361; 10 Ir. Jur. 18.—IR.

o. Time for stamping — Charterparty stamped out of time—Whether action maintainable on charterparty.]—GREEN v. JONES (1859), 8 I. C. L. R. 338; 11 Ir. Jur. 27.—IR.

PART VII. SECT. 2, SUB-SECT. 23.—B.

p. Admissibility in evidence of unstamped letter adopting stamped charterparty.]—A regular stamped charterparty was signed by A. as agent for B. A subsequent letter from B. having been tendered as evidence of his adoption of it, was objected to as unstamped & impro-

L. J. C. P. 216; 27 L. T. O. S. 135; 2 Jur. N. S. 474; 4 W. R. 547; 139 E. R. 1276.
Annotations:—Refd. Arbor v. Fussell (1862), 11 W. R. 26; Marine Investment Co. v. Haviside (1872), L. R. 5 H. L. 624.

2153. Document executed wholly abroad.]—THE BELFORT, No. 2145, ante.
See, now, Stamp Act, 1891 (c. 39), s. 15 (3).

---

SECT. 3.—BILLS OF LADING.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22).

2154. What amounts to—Delivery order.]—A., of London, had ordered beans of B. & C. of Leghorn, through D., their agent. B. & C. shipped more than the quantity ordered, & drew two bills upon A., one for the quantity ordered, & the other for the residue; & they transmitted those bills to A. through D., with a letter of advice & an indorsed bill of lading for the whole cargo. The beans were shipped in 3,932 sacks. A. accepted the bill for the beans ordered, but declined to take the residue, amounting to 1,442¾ sacks, or to accept the bill drawn against them. D. consented to take the residue of the beans, & A. thereupon wrote a letter to him, acknowledging such residue to be his, & enclosed an order to the captain to deliver to the bearer the 1,442¾ sacks. D. thereupon handed over the bill of lading to A. D. accepted the bill drawn against the residue of the cargo, & paid it at maturity. Before the arrival of the ship D. sold the residue to E., who accepted a bill for the amount, drawn by B. who happened to be in London, & D. handed to E. A.'s letter & delivery order. E. afterwards applied to F. for an advance of cash, & handed him over as a security (inter alia) such letter & delivery order; & F. gave his acceptance to E. for the amount of cash required: which acceptance was honoured at maturity. Before E.'s acceptance became due, & before the arrival of the ship, E. stopped payment. When the ship arrived, the portion of the cargo which A. had accepted the bill was delivered to him:—Held: (1) the delivery order given by A. was not equivalent to a bill of lading.

(2) The delivery of a bill of lading indorsed . . . puts it in the power of the indorsee to transfer the property . . . but as between the original parties, the consignor & the consignee the question whether the property passed will depend upon what the real contract was (TINDAL, C.J.).—JENKYNS v. USBORNE (1844), 7 Man. & G. 678; 8 Scott, N. R. 505; 13 L. J. C. P. 196; 3 L. T. O. S. 300; 8 Jur. 1139; 135 E. R. 273.
Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Grant v. Norway (1851), 10 C. B. 665. Generally, Mentd. Fuentes v. Montis (1868), L. R. 3 C. P. 268; Cole v. North Western Bank (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 354; Folkes v. King, [1923] 1 K. B. 282; Lowther v. Harris, [1927] 1 K. B. 393.

2155. —— Receipt of goods to be transported.]—SEWELL v. BURDICK, No. 2180, post.

2156. —— —— Admiralty Court Act, 1861 (c. 10), s. 6.]—A document whereby the receipt of goods is acknowledged for shipment on board a named ship, or on some other ship for carriage by sea & delivery to the shipper's order, the document being signed on behalf of the master, is a bill of lading for the purposes of the Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111) & Admiralty Court Act, 1861 (c. 10), s. 6. Parcels of goods were accepted in New York for delivery at Sydney to the shippers' order, there being given to each shipper a document in the above-mentioned character. Upon the named ship arriving at Sydney the goods were not delivered. Resps., twenty firms, each being indorsees of one of the documents, issued a joint writ in rem claiming severally to recover damages. The writ stated that pltfs. claimed as consignees or indorsees of bills of lading for non-delivery of goods agreed to be carried by the named ship, or agreed to be shipped within a reasonable time by some other vessel of the same line. On affidavits sworn separately by pltfs., alleging that the goods were either lost or were not shipped on any other vessel within a reasonable time, the ship was arrested. The owners of the ship took out a summons to set aside the writ & all proceedings thereunder:—Held: the documents in question were bills of lading within the Admiralty Court Act, 1861 (c. 10), s. 6, & the proceedings being to set aside the writ & it not being denied that some of the goods were received on board, the action should proceed.—THE MARLBOROUGH HILL v. COWAN & SONS, [1921] 1 A. C. 444; 90 L. J. P. C. 87; 124 L. T. 645; 37 T. L. R. 190; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 163; 26 Com. Cas. 121, P. C.
Annotation:—Expld. Diamond Alkali Export Corpn. v. Fl. Bourgeois, [1921] 3 K. B. 443.

2157. —— —— Necessity for acknowledgment of shipment.]—Under a contract for the sale of goods to be shipped from American seaboard c.i.f. .Gothenburg, the sellers tendered, with an invoice for the goods, (a) a document purporting to be a bill of lading, in the following form: "Received in apparent good order & condition from D. to be transported by the Anglia now lying in the Port of Philadelphia . . . or failing shipment by steamer in & upon a following steamer, 280 bags Dense Soda," & (b) a certificate of insurance issued by an American insurance corpn., which, as the certificate declared, "represents & takes the place of the policy & conveys all the rights of the signed policy holder . . . as fully as if the property was covered by a special policy direct to the holder of this certificate":—Held: the buyers were entitled to reject upon the ground that proper documents had not been tendered by the sellers in conformity with the contract; for document (a) did not acknowledge shipment, & was therefore not a bill of lading within the c.i.f. contract, & as to (b), a document of insurance is not good tender in England under an ordinary c.i.f. contract unless it be an actual policy, & unless it falls within the provisions of Marine Insurance Act, 1906 (c. 41).—DIAMOND ALKALI EXPORT CORPN. v. FL. BOURGEOIS, [1921] 3 K. B. 443; 91 L. J. K. B. 147; 126 L. T. 379; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 455; 26 Com. Cas. 310.
Annotations:—Apprvd. Scott v. Barclays Bank, [1923] 2 K. B. 1. Refd. Aron (Incorporated) v. Comptoir Wegimont, [1921] 3 K. B. 435; Harper v. Mackechnie, [1925] 2 K. B. 423; Koskas v. Standard Marine Insce. (1927), 137 L. T. 165.

2158. —— "Clean bill"—Bill having no marginal qualifying words.]—RESTITUTION S.S. Co. v. SIR JOHN PIRIE & Co., No. 3849, post.

2159. Whether essential to transfer of property in cargo.]—MEYER v. SHARPE, No. 2328, post.

---

bative.—GRAY v. SUTHERLAND (1849), 12 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 438.—SCOT.

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 1.
2158 1. What amounts to—"Clean bill"—Bill having no marginal qualifying words.]—ARROSPE v. BARR (1881), 8 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 602; 18 Sc. L. R. 411.—SCOT.
q. Construction—Clause exempting shipper from liability.]—Stipulations in contracts for the carriage of goods & in bill of lading, exempting the carrier from liability in certain cases, are construed strictly.—ALEXANDER

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sects. 1 & 2, A. & B. (a).]

2160. ——.]—NATHAN v. GILES, GILES v. NATHAN, No. 2387, post.

2161. ——.]—Where from all the facts it may fairly be inferred that it was the intention of the seller to pass the property in goods shipped to order, the mere circumstance of the bill of lading being taken in the name of the seller, & remaining unindorsed, will not prevent its passing.—JOYCE v. SWANN (1864), 17 C. B. N. S. 84; 144 E. R. 34.

Annotations:—Refd. Moakes v. Nicolson (1865), 19 C. B. N. S. 290; Seagrave v. Union Marine Insce. (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 305; Williams v. Cohen (1871), 25 L. T. 300; Anderson v. Morice (1876), 1 App. Cas. 713; The Parchim, [1918] A. C. 157.

2162. Construction—Of freight clause.]—(1) A bill of lading, in mentioning the freight payable for a cargo, did not use the ordinary words "he or they paying freight for the same," but after giving the names of the consignees to whose order the cargo was to be delivered, employed the words "freight for the goods £4 5*s.* per ton of 20 cwt. net, delivered, with primage & average accustomed," etc.:—Held: that the two forms of expression were in effect the same, & constituted the ordinary condition that the goods were to be deliverable only on paying freight.

(2) Though freight may not be payable in respect of a man's own goods conveyed in his own ship, it becomes so if he makes third persons, who have advanced him money, the consignees of those goods, & the goods are by the bill of lading deliverable to their order. T. & co., who acted as the London bankers for Holm, of Stockholm, consented to open a credit in his favour with merchants at Akyab for the purchase of "rice for the English market, shipped by vessels of my own, the Java, etc., at, etc., f.o.b." The rice was purchased, & shipped on board the Java, & made deliverable to the order of T. & co., who accepted bills to cover the purchase. The bill of lading was indorsed to them; it described the goods "to be delivered in like good order, etc., unto T. & co., or their assigns; freight for the goods £4 5*s.* per ton of 20 cwt. net, delivered, with primage & average accustomed." While the Java was on its voyage, Holm obtained advances from C. & co., to whom he assigned the freight as security:—Held: under these circumstances C. & co. were entitled to the freight, & T. & co. were, like all other consignees of a cargo, liable to pay it under the terms of the bill of lading, although the cargo was, in fact, brought to England in Holm's own vessel, the Java.—WEGUELIN v. CELLIER (1873), L. R. 6 H. L. 286; 42 L. J. Ch. 758; 22 W. R. 26, H. L.

2163. —— Clause as to ports of call.]—GLYNN v. MARGETSON & Co., No. 1715, ante.

2164. —— To be construed as a whole.]—ELDERSLIE S.S. Co. v. BORTHWICK, No. 2800, post.

—— ——.]—See, generally, DEEDS, Vol. XVII., pp. 259-263.

—— Of contract of carriage generally.]—See Part VII., Sect. 1, sub-sect. 3, ante.

2165. Purpose of bill—To provide for rights & liabilities of parties.]—CROOKS v. ALLAN, No. 4294, post.

2166. —— ——.]—GRANGE & Co. v. TAYLOR, No. 3826, post.

2167. Duration of bill.]—MEYERSTEIN v. BARBER, No. 3780, post.

2168. Time for delivery.]—A bill of lading should be delivered as soon after its arrival as possible, without reference to the arrival or unloading of the cargo.

A cargo with the bill of lading, arrived on Apr. 21. On Apr. 24, the bill of lading was offered to the vendee under conditions he was not bound to accept, & was refused. The next day, the vendee not being able to obtain the bill of lading, declared the contract at an end. On May 3, the bill of lading was tendered, duly indorsed, & was refused on the ground that the transaction had been repudiated. The cargo was not discharged from the vessel until May 8, & there was no imputation of delay in unloading:—Held: the vendee was entitled to the bill of lading forthwith, & there had been unreasonable delay in delivering it.—BARBER v. TAYLOR (1839), 5 M. & W. 527; 9 L. J. Ex. 21; 151 E. R. 223.

2169. Introduction of unusual clauses—Necessity for clear expression.]—CROOKS v. ALLAN, No. 4294, post.

2170. Wrongful detainer of bills by custom house agent.]—LIGHTLY v. BUCHANAN (1847), 9 L. T. O. S. 126.

2171. Stamp on bill—When necessary.]—The shipping note of goods put on board ship in a port in Scotland, to be brought to a port in England, is not such a bill of lading of goods to be exported as requires a stamp under 48 Geo. 3, c. 149.—SCOTLAND v. WILSON (1814), 5 Taunt. 533; 1 Marsh. 204; 128 E. R. 798.

See, now, Stamp Act, 1891 (c. 39), s. 40, sched. I.

Through bills.]—See Sub-sect. 6, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 2.—NATURE OF BILL OF LADING.

A. In General.

2172. Symbol of property.]—(1) The property is consigned by the bill of loading, & not by the invoice.

---

v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. Co. (1908), Q. R. 33 S. C. 438.—CAN.

r. —— ——.]—BLACK v. ILLAWARRA STEAM NAVIGATION Co. (1880), 1 N. S. W. L. R. (L.) 258.—AUS.

t. Introduction of unusual clauses—Penalty for.]—DAVIS Co., LTD. v. DOLLAR STEAMSHIP LINES, LTD. (B. C.), [1922] 1 W. W. R. 522.—CAN.

a. Necessity for actual delivery of bill.]—An action on a bill of lading will lie by the consignor against the master of a vessel, although the bill of lading after being signed was not delivered to the consignor, but to the master's agent to be held until called for by the consignor.—HAMILTON v. RITCHIE (1876), 14 N. S. W. S. C. R. (L.) 274.—AUS.

b. Right of shipper to bill.]—Where pltfs. shipped a quantity of flour on board a vessel of which deft. was master, & deft. refused to sign or deliver bills of lading therefor:—Held: according to the usage of trade a shipper was entitled to bills of lading of the goods shipped.—MCCULLOCK & HATFIELD (1863), 7 L. C. J. 229; 13 L. C. R. 321.—CAN.

c. —— When right arises.]—A shipper has no right to ask for a bill of lading, nor has a shipowner any right to force such a bill of lading upon the shipper as evidencing his contract, until the goods are actually on board the ship.—ROSS & GLENDINING, LTD. v. SHAW, SAVILL & ALBION Co., LTD. (1907), 26 N. Z. L. R. 845.—N.Z.

d. How far conclusive of shipment.]—Where a shipper accepts what purports to be a bill of lading, under circumstances which would lead him to infer that it forms a record of the contract of shipment, he cannot usually, in the absence of fraud or mistake, escape from its binding operation merely upon the ground that he did not read it, but that conclusion does not follow where the document is given out of the usual course of business & seeks to vary terms of a prior mutual assent.—NORTH WEST TRANSPORTATION Co. v. MCKENZIE (1895), 25 S. C. R. 38.—CAN.

e. Authority of shipping agent—Receipt of bill after ship sailed.]—A shipping agent cannot bind his principal by receipt of a bill of lading after the vessel containing the goods shipped has sailed, & the bill of lading so received is not a record of the terms on which the goods are shipped.—NORTH WEST TRANSPORTATION Co. v. MCKENZIE (1895), 25 S. C. R. 38.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 2.—A.

1. Whether representation of value to third parties.]—ERB v. GREAT

(2) A bill of lading is assignable.

(3) An action against the master of a vessel for the loss of goods must be brought by the person in whom the property in them is vested.

(4) Upon a general consignment the property vests in the consignee, notwithstanding it appears upon the invoices that he is a trustee only. But on a consignment to A. for the use of B. the property is in B.—EVANS v. MARTELL (OR MARLETT) (1697), 12 Mod. Rep. 156; 3 Salk. 290; 1 Ld. Raym. 271; 88 E. R. 1231.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Lickbarrow v. Mason (1787), 2 Term Rep. 63. As to (2) Refd. Caldwell v. Ball (1786), 1 Term Rep. 205. As to (3) Refd. Martini v. Coles (1813), 1 M. & S. 140; Amos v. Temperley (1841), 8 M. & W. 798; Burdick v. Sewell (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 159. As to (4) Apld. Sargent v. Morris (1820), 3 B. & Ald. 277.

2173. ——.]—GURNEY v. BEHREND, No. 2297, post.

2174. ——.]—A bill of lading is a mere symbol of property (LORD CRANWORTH, C.).—DIXON v. BOVILL (1856), 3 Macq. 1; 28 L. T. O. S. 130; 2 Jur. N. S. 933; 4 W. R. 813, H. L.

Annotations:—Mentd. Mackenzie v. Dunlop (1857), 28 L. T. O. S. 313; Crouch v. Credit Foncier of England (1873), L. R. 8 Q. B. 374; Goodwin v. Robarts (1876), 1 App. Cas. 476; Bechuanaland Exploration Co. v. London Trading Bank, [1898] 2 Q. B. 658.

2175. ——.]—BARBER v. MEYERSTEIN, No. 2371, post.

2176. ——.]—GLYN MILLS & CO. v. EAST & WEST INDIA DOCK CO., No. 2362, post.

2177. ——.]—SANDERS v. MACLEAN, No. 2373, post.

—— Transfer.]—See Sub-sects. 8, 9, post.

2178. How far revocable—As to consignee of goods.]—As between the owner & the shipper of the goods & the captain, it [the bill of lading] fixes & determines the duty of the latter as to the person to whom it is (at the time) the pleasure of the former that the goods should be delivered. But there is nothing final or irrevocable in its nature. The owner of the goods may change his purpose at any rate before delivery of the goods themselves or of the bill of lading to the party named in it (DENMAN, C.J.).—MITCHEL v. EDE (1840), 11 Ad. & El. 888; 3 Per. & Dav. 513; 9 L. J. Q. B. 187; 113 E. R. 651.

Annotations:—Refd. Evans v. Nichol (1841), 4 Scott, N. R. 43; Van Casteel v. Booker (1848), 2 Exch. 691; Turner v. Liverpool Docks Trustees (1851), 6 Exch. 543; Browne v. Hare (1858), 3 H. & N. 484; Berndtson v. Strang (1867), L. R. 4 Eq. 481; Schotsmans v. L. & Y. Ry. (1867), 2 Ch. App. 332.

2179. —— As to shipment—Indemnity to master.]—After goods have been taken on board a general ship to be conveyed on freight, & bills of lading signed by the captain, the owner of the goods cannot, before the sailing of the ship, insist upon the goods being re-delivered to him without paying the freight that might be earned, & indemnifying the master against the consequences of the bills of lading signed by him.—TINDALL v. TAYLOR (1854), 4 E. & B. 219; 3 C. L. R. 199; 24 L. J. Q. B. 12; 24 L. T. O. S. 144; 1 Jur. N. S. 112; 119 E. R. 85.

Annotations:—Apld. Casebourne v. Avery & Houston (1887), 3 T. L. R. 795. Refd. The Bahia (1864), Brown. & Lush. 292; Pearson v. Göscher (1864), 4 New Rep. 404.

Negotiability.]—See Sub-sect. 10, post.

B. Contract of Carriage.

(a) Where Ship Not Chartered.

See Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Art. I.

2180. Whether bill of lading contract or evidence of contract.]—L., S., & co., the correspondents at Rio of B. & co., merchants at Liverpool, purchased a quantity of coffee, on their own credit principally, but in part with funds supplied by B. & co. For the amount of the purchase on their credit, L., S., & co. drew bills on B. & co., & the coffee they shipped on board a vessel of B. & co., bound for "Cork & a market." An invoice was made out, stating the coffee to be shipped by order & on account & risk of B. & co.; but L., S., & co. procured the captain to sign bills of lading, making the coffee deliverable to their order or assigns, "freight free." One of these bills they indorsed in blank, & transmitted by post to B. & co. on Sept. 21. At the end of Sept., A. W., the agent in England of L., S., & co., asked the principal partner in the firm of B. & co. to cause the bill of lading to be placed in third hands, to secure the bills drawn on account of the purchase, to which he agreed, & on Oct. 16, gave a written order to that effect. On Nov. 12, which was after B. & co. had committed an act of bkpcy., the bill of lading arrived, & was, in pursuance of the above-mentioned agreement, delivered to A. W. for the above-mentioned purpose, who, after the fiat, pledged it for a large advance with pltfs., merchants at Rotterdam. The cargo having afterwards arrived, the assignees got possession of it, & trover was brought by pltfs., as indorsees of the bill of lading:—Held: though the contract was primâ facie made on behalf of the vendors, it was a question for the jury looking at the form of the bill of lading & language of the invoice, etc., whether the goods were not really delivered on board, to be carried for & on account & at the risk of the bkpts.; & if they were, the right of stoppage in transitu, & also the power of rescinding by the bkpts., so as to defeat the rights of their creditors, were both at an end; but if the jury should think, from the form of the bill of lading, that it was intended to preserve the rights of the unpaid vendors until some further act was done, by transferring the bill of lading, the right to stop the goods in transitu, & also the power of rescinding, would continue until the bill of lading, indorsed, reached the hands of the bkpts.; in which latter case it was competent for them to give the unpaid vendors a lien on the whole for the part not paid.—VAN CASTEEL v. BOOKER (1848), 2 Exch. 691; 18 L. J. Ex. 9; 12 L. T. O. S. 65; 154 E. R. 668.

Annotations:—Consd. Berndtson v. Strang (1867), L. R. 4 Eq. 481. Apld. Colonial Insce. Co. of New Zealand v. Adelaide Marine Insce. (1886), 12 App. Cas. 128. Refd. Jenkyns v. Brown (1849), 14 Q. B. 496; Turner v. Liverpool Docks Trustees (1851), 6 Exch. 543; Sheridan v. New Quay Co. (1858), 4 C. B. N. S. 618; Browne v. Hare (1859), 4 H. & N. 822; Gumm v. Tyrie (1864), 4 B. & S. 680; Joyce v. Swann (1864), 17 C. B. N. S. 84; The Marie Joseph (1866), Brown. & Lush. 449; Schotsmans v. L. & Y. Ry. (1867), 2 Ch. App. 332; Shepherd v. Harrison (1869), 17 W. R. 609; Gabarron v. Kreeft, Kreeft v. Thompson (1875), L. R. 10 Exch. 274; Ogg v. Shuter

---

WESTERN RY. CO. (1879), 3 A. R. 446.—CAN.

g. Receipt for freight.]—Where a bill of lading, dated at the port of shipment, contains the words "freight for the said goods being paid here," it operates as a receipt for the freight.—SOOMAR JAFFER v. ABDOOL KURREEM (1866), 1 Ind. Jur. N. S. 230.—IND.

h. Receipt for goods shipped.]—A bill of lading as known to merchants is a receipt for goods actually delivered over & shipped on board the ship named therein & signed by the captain or his representative.—NISSIM ISAAC BEKHOR v. HAGI SULTANALI SHASTARY & CO. (1916), I. L. R. 40 Bom. 11.—IND.

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 2.—B. (a).

2180 i. Whether bill of lading contract or evidence of contract.]—A bill of lading is, at first, a written acknowledgment by the owners of a ship or their agents, of the receipt of certain goods entrusted to them, & of their undertaking to transport & deliver them to the consignee or his assigns; but it becomes a binding contract, if it be accepted by the shipper, or his representative, without any objection, as he is then presumed to have agreed to its terms, & in the absence of fraud or mistake, he cannot plead that he did not read it & did not know its contents.—DEANS v. FURNESS WITHY & CO., LTD. (1899), Q. R. 9 Q. B. 81.—CAN.

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 2, B. (a) & (b); sub-sects. 3 & 4, A. & B.; sub-sect. 5.]

(1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 159; Mirabita v. Imperial Ottoman Bank (1878), 3 Ex. D. 164; The Parchim, [1918] A. C. 157. Mentd. Edwards v. Glyn (1859), 2 E. & E. 29; Graham v. Candy (1862), 3 F. & F. 206; Bills v. Smith (1865), 11 Jur. N. S. 155; Moakes v. Nicholson (1865), 34 L. J. C. P. 273; Smith v. Hudson (1865), 6 B. & S. 431.

2181. ——.]—FRASER v. TELEGRAPH CONSTRUCTION CO., No. 1813, ante.

2182. ——.]—HAYN v. CULLIFORD, No. 2699, post.

2183. ——.]—CROOKS v. ALLAN, No. 4294, post.

2184. ——.]—GLYN, MILLS & CO. v. EAST & WEST INDIA DOCK CO., No. 2362, post.

2185. ——.]—CHARTERED MERCANTILE BANK OF INDIA v. NETHERLANDS INDIA STEAM NAVIGATION CO., No. 2648, post.

2186. ——.]—(1) The mere indorsement & delivery of a bill of lading by way of pledge for a loan does not pass "the property in the goods" to the indorsee, so as to transfer to him all liabilities in respect of the goods within Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), s. 1. Goods were shipped to a foreign port under bills of lading making the goods deliverable to the shipper or assigns. After the goods had arrived & been warehoused the shipper indorsed the bills of lading in blank & deposited them with the indorsees as security for a loan. The indorsees never took possession of or dealt with the goods:—Held: "the property" in the goods did not "pass" to the indorsees within the meaning of the Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), so as to make them liable in an action by the shipowner for the freight.

(2) Take, for instance, goods shipped under a charterparty, & a bill of lading differing from the charterparty; as between shipowner & shipper at least the charterparty is binding (LORD BRAMWELL).

(3) To my mind there is no contract in it [the bill of lading]. It is a receipt for the goods, stating the terms on which they were delivered to & received by the ship, & therefore excellent evidence of those terms, but it is not a contract (LORD BRAMWELL).

(4) LORD HARDWICKE (in Snee v. Prescott (1743), 1 Atk. 249), thought that there was a difference between an indorsement of a bill of lading in blank & a personal indorsement, &, for some purposes, I think there is much reason for that opinion. . . . So long as it remains in blank it may pass from hand to hand by mere delivery, or it may be redelivered to the shipper without any new transfer or indorsement, which would not be the case if there were a personal indorsement (LORD SELBORNE, C.).

(5) At common law the remedy of the shipowner under a bill of lading was by enforcing his lien upon the goods, & by bringing an action on the contract against any one who, at the time when the goods were shipped, was a party to the bill of lading, either as being on the face of it a contracting party, or as being an undisclosed principal of such a party (LORD BLACKBURN).—SEWELL v. BURDICK (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74; 54 L. J. Q. B. 156; 52 L. T. 445; 33 W. R. 461; 1 T. L. R. 128; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 376, H. L.; revsg. S. C. sub nom. BURDICK v. SEWELL, 13 Q. B. D. 159, C. A.; restg. (1883), 10 Q. B. D. 363.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Allen v. Coltart (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 782; The Rona (1884), 51 L. T. 28; Rodoconachi v. Milburn (1886), 18 Q. B. D. 67; Bristol & West of England Bank v. Mid. Ry., [1891] 2 Q. B. 653; Montgomery v. Hutchins (1905), 94 L. T. 207; Burgos v. Nascimento, McKeand Claimant (1907), 100 L. T. 71; The Odessa, The Woolston, [1916] 1 A. C. 145; Brandt v. Liverpool, Brazil & River Plate Steam Navigation Co., [1924] 1 K. B. 575. As to (3) Refd. Armour v. Leopold Walford (London), [1921] 3 K. B. 473. Generally, Refd. Rew v. Payne, Douthwaite (1885), 53 L. T. 932; Temperley S.S. Co. v. Smyth, [1905] 2 K. B. 791; Calcutta S.S. Co. v. Weir, [1910] 1 K. B. 759. Mentd. Inglis v. Robertson, [1898] A. C. 616; Rimmer v. Webster, [1902] 2 Ch. 163.

2187. ——.]—The bill of lading was the contract between the shipowner & the holder of the bill. It was a contract dealing with goods loaded, not with goods which never came on board. Supposing that the stipulations were parts of the effective bill of lading, they were beyond the authority of the master to make, not because they contravened any secret instructions of which the bill of lading holder had no notice, but because they contravened thoroughly established law by affecting to make the ship liable for goods never shipped.—THIN v. LIVERPOOL, BRAZIL & RIVER PLATE STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1901), 18 T. L. R. 226.

2188. —— How far conclusive—Incorporation of unusual clauses—Without protest.]—A bill of lading is not conclusive of the true contract between shipper & shipowner; but if a shipper chooses to accept from the shipowner a bill of lading in a certain form without protest he is ordinarily bound by it. A booking slip relating to shipment by defts. of a quantity of candles belonging to pltfs. from London to Antwerp contained the words "All engagements are made subject to the conditions, terms &/or exceptions of our bills of lading. . . . No insurances of any description are booked without special instructions. No cargo shipped unless Walford bills of lading are used: no other bills of lading are accepted." This booking slip was approved by pltfs., & defts. then sent their usual bill of lading, which contained the words, clause 11, "The co. has the right to carry the goods below deck &/or on deck . . . & shall not be liable for any loss, damage or injury within the exceptions in this bill of lading whether due to negligence or not." The goods were placed on deck by defts., & although carefully protected & arranged they were injured on the voyage by sea water through the ordinary perils of the sea:—Held: (1) pltfs. had accepted the booking slip & bill of lading as being in proper form & were bound by them; (2) the effect of clause 11 of the bill of lading was not limited to goods which by usual practice would be placed on deck, but extended to the goods in question, which were actually named in the bill of lading; (3) defts. owed no duty to pltfs. under the contract to inform them that the goods were about to be or had been placed on deck & not below deck.—ARMOUR & CO. v. LEOPOLD WALFORD (LONDON), LTD., [1921] 3 K. B. 473; 91 L. J. K. B. 26; 125 L. T. 860; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 415; 27 Com. Cas. 37.

(b) Where Ship Chartered.

See Sub-sect. 11, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 3.—FORM AND CONTENTS OF BILL OF LADING.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22).

2189. Value of contents—Failure to insert—Limitation of shipowner's liability—To specific k. Words or conditions in margin at time of acceptance.]—Words or conditions stated in the margin of a bill of lading, & which appeared there at the moment of acceptance, form part of the contract.—NICHOLSON v. HAMBURG AMERICAN PACKET CO. (1904), Q. R. 25 S. C. 34.—CAN.

l. Amount of cargo in blank—Whether validity as negotiable instrument affected.]—COWDENBEATH COAL CO., LTD. v. CLYDESDALE BANK (1895), 22 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 682.—SCOT.

sum.]—PENDLE & RIVETT, LTD. v. ELLERMAN LINES, LTD., No. 2724, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 4.—SIGNATURE OF BILLS OF LADING.

A. In General.

2190. By whom signed—Broker.]—Evidence was given . . . & admitted subject to objection, that in the case of steamships it is uniformly the custom for the broker of the ship, & not the master, to sign the bills of lading (DENMAN, J.).—HAYN v. CULLIFORD (1878), 3 C. P. D. 410; 47 L. J. Q. B. 755; 39 L. T. 288; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 48; on appeal (1879), 4 C. P. D. 182, C. A.

Annotations:—Mentd. Foulkes v. Met. Dist. Ry. (1880), 49 L. J. Q. B. 361; Norman v. Binnington (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 475; Baumvoll Manufactur von Scheibler v. Gilchrest & Furness, [1893] A. C. 8; The Ferro, [1893] P. 38; Meux v. G. E. Ry., [1895] 2 Q. B. 387; Dunn v. Bucknall, Dunn v. Donald Currie, [1902] 2 K. B. 614; Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522; Standard Oil Co. of New York v. Clan Line Steamers, [1924] A. C. 100.

2191. —— Agent.] — THORMAN v. BURT, BOULTON & CO., No. 2272, post.

2192. —— Charterers.]—S.S. KNUTSFORD, LTD. v. TILLMANNS & CO., No. 3504, post.

—— Master.]—See Sub-sect. 4, B., post.

Where ship chartered.]—See Sub-sect. 11, C. (a), post.

B. Authority of Master to Bind Owners.

2193. General rule.]—SANDEMAN v. SCURR, No. 2038, ante.

2194. ——.] — MCLEAN & HOPE v. FLEMING, No. 2949, post.

2195. In respect of goods not shipped.]—EVANS v. NICHOLSON (1842), 9 L. T. 238.

2196. ——.]—GRANT v. NORWAY, No. 4524, post.

2197. To sign second bill of lading—Cargo under first bill actually on board.]—75 quarters of wheat having been shipped, pltfs. made an advance thereon, & a bill of lading was signed. 70 quarters more were then shipped, & a bill of lading made & pledged in the same manner to pltfs. The captain had also been fraudulently induced to sign another bill of lading for the whole 145 quarters:—Held: when a captain has once signed bills of lading for cargo on board his vessel his power is exhausted; & pltfs. were entitled to recover.—HUBBERSTY v. WARD (1853), 8 Exch. 330; 22 L. J. Ex. 113; 20 L. T. O. S. 279; 155 E. R. 1374.

Annotation:—Reld. Coleman v. Riches (1855), 16 C. B. 104.

2198. Change of ownership—Authority to bind new owners—By contracts pursuant to original authority.]—F. & co., shipowners at Liverpool, requested defts. to purchase for them, through defts.' Calcutta house, a quantity of cotton to be shipped on board two ships of F. & co., which were then on their way to Calcutta consigned to defts.; &, as the goods were to be shipped on owners' account, they consented to a nominal rate of freight being inserted in the bill of lading. Before the execution of the order, one of the ships, The Royal Sovereign, was transferred to pltfs. Defts., through their Calcutta house, executed the order, &, having no notice of the transfer to pltfs., shipped part of the cotton on board The Royal Sovereign, the master, who also had no notice of the transfer, signing bills of lading to defts.' order "freight for the goods free on owners' account." Before the arrival of the ship in England, F. & co. stopped payment, & defts. claimed to stop the goods in transitu. On her arrival pltfs. immediately took possession of the ship & claimed freight. On a case stated, raising the question whether pltfs. were entitled as against defts. to freight, or to a sum equivalent to freight, for the carriage of the goods:—Held: (1) pltfs. were not so entitled; (2) the master, until he received notice of the change of ownership, retained the powers which had been conferred upon him by the original owners, so far as to bind the new owners by contracts for the carriage of goods entered into by him pursuant to his original instructions.—MERCANTILE BANK v. GLADSTONE (1868), L. R. 3 Exch. 233; 37 L. J. Ex. 130; 18 L. T. 641; 17 W. R. 11; 3 Mar. L. C. 86.

Annotation:—As to (1) Apld. Keith v. Burrows (1877), 2 App. Cas. 636.

2199. To sign for greater quantity of goods than actually shipped.]—MCLEAN & HOPE v. FLEMING, No. 2949, post.

2200. Onus of falsifying bills.]—MCLEAN & HOPE v. FLEMING, No. 2949, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 5.—MATE'S RECEIPT.

2201. Exchange of mate's receipt for bill of lading—Duty of master—To deliver bill of lading only to holder of mate's receipt.]—If this verdict disturbed any rule of law, the ct. would be very desirous that it should go to a further inquiry; but it went on a question of fact as to the custom; viz. that the bill of lading is never delivered, except to the party who is in a condition to give the receipt in exchange (PARK, J.).—CRAVEN v. RYDER (1816), as reported in 2 Marsh. 127.

Annotations:—Reld. Cowas-Jee v. Thompson (1845), 5 Moo. P. C. C. 165; Schuster v. M'Kellar & Young (1857), 3 Jur. N. S. 1320. Mentd. Fragano v. Long (1825), 6 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 283; Dixon v. Yates (1833), 5 B. & Ad. 313; Scott v. England (1844), 4 L. T. O. S. 141; Re Cock, Ex p. Rosevear China Clay Co. (1879), 11 Ch. D. 560.

2202. —— —— —— On delivery up of receipt.]—Where the master of a ship gives a receipt for goods put on board, it behoves him not to sign a bill of lading till that receipt is given up.—THOMPSON v. TRAIL (1826), 2 C. & P. 334; 172 E. R. 150, N. P.; subsequent proceedings, 6 B. & C. 36.

Annotations:—Reld. Thompson v. Small (1845), 1 C. B. 328; Tindall v. Taylor (1854), 4 E. & B. 219; The Bahia (1864), 11 Jur. N. S. 90.

2203. —— —— —— ——.]—SCHUSTER v. MCKELLAR, No. 2026, ante.

---

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 4.—A.

2191 i. By whom signed—Agent.]—ROYAL CANADIAN BANK v. GRAND TRUNK RY. CO. (1873), 23 C. P. 225.—CAN.

m. —— Purser.]—A bill of lading is valid, though signed by the purser & not by the master.—ROYAL CANADIAN BANK v. CARRUTHERS (1870), 28 U. C. R. 578; affd., 29 U. C. R. 283.—CAN.

n. Necessity for signature—Where bill recognised & acted on.]—ROUNE v. MONTREAL S.S. CO. (1886), 19 N. S. R. (7 R. & G.) 312; 7 C. L. T. 375.—CAN.

o. Conclusiveness of signature.]—The bill of lading in the hands of the consignee, is conclusive evidence against the party signing it.—HART v. PEARSON & BANK OF MONTREAL (1897), Q. R. 12 S. C. 540.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 4.—B.

2195 i. In respect of goods not shipped.]—The master of a ship, by signing a bill of lading, does not bind the owner for of greater quantity of goods than is actually shipped.—M'LEAN & HOPE v. MUNCK (1867), 5 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 893; 39 Sc. Jur. 504.—SCOT.

2195 ii. ——.]—GRIEVE, SON & CO. v. KONEG & CO. (1880), 17 Sc. L. R. 825.—SCOT.

p. In respect of time allowed for discharge of cargo.]—ALLAN v. JOHNSTONE, THE ARCHDRUID (1892), 19 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 364; 29 Sc. L. R. 311.—SCOT.

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 5.

q. Duty to secure receipt before delivery of goods.]—NATCHEAPPA CHETTY v. IRRAWADDY FLOTILLA CO. (1913), I. L. R. 41 Calc. 670.—IND.

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sects. 5 & 6.]

2204. —— Improper refusal of bill of lading—Conversion.]—Pltf., a salt merchant at Liverpool, was in the habit of shipping cargoes of salt there for M., a merchant in London, on board vessels chartered by M., charging him a commission in addition to the price, & getting bills of lading making the salt deliverable to his order, which bills of lading he sent with the invoice & a draft at four months to M. In Nov. 1863, M. chartered the ship S. F., belonging to deft., to carry a cargo of salt from Liverpool to Calcutta, freight to be paid one-third by freighter's acceptance at four months from the sailing of the vessel, the remainder on delivery of the cargo at Calcutta. Pursuant to instructions from M., pltf. proceeded to load the S. F., & had shipped 1,007 tons, for which he took the mate's receipts in his own name, when he learned that M. had stopped payment. He thereupon refused to load any more, & defts. filled up the loading themselves. Pltf. then produced to defts. the mate's receipts for the 1,007 tons, & demanded a bill of lading for that quantity, making it deliverable to his order. This defts. refused, & the vessel sailed with the salt on board: —Held: it was properly left to the jury to say whether or not pltf. put the salt on board the S. F. with the intention of passing the property therein to M.; & the jury having found that pltf. did not intend to pass the property to M., the sailing from Liverpool without giving pltf. a bill of lading in exchange for the mate's receipts, as demanded, was a conversion; & the proper measure of damages was, the value of the salt at Liverpool at the time of sailing.—FALK v. FLETCHER (1865), 18 C. B. N. S. 403; 5 New Rep. 272; 34 L. J. C. P. 146; 11 Jur. N. S. 176; 13 W. R. 346; 144 E. R. 501.

Annotations:—Reld. Gabarron v. Kreeft, Kreeft v. Thompson (1875), L. R. 10 Exch. 274; Jones v. Hough (1879), 5 Ex. D. 115. Mentd. Cassaboglou v. Gibb (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 797.

2205. Duty of shipper—To deliver receipt to consignee—After receipt of payment.]—Goods contracted to be sold & delivered "free on board," to be paid for by cash or bills, at the option of the purchasers, were delivered on board, & receipts taken from the mate by the lighterman, employed by the sellers, who handed the same over to them. The sellers appraised the purchasers of the delivery, who elected to pay for the goods by a bill, which the sellers having drawn, was duly accepted by the purchasers. The sellers retained the mate's receipts for the goods, but the master signed the bill of lading in the purchasers' names, who, while the bill they accepted was running, became insolvent:—Held: trover would not lie for the goods, for that on their delivery on board the vessel, they were no longer in transitu, so as to be stopped by the sellers; & the retention of the receipts by the sellers was immaterial, as after their election to be paid by a bill, the receipts of the mate were not essential to the transaction between the seller & purchaser.—COWAS-JEE v. THOMPSON (1845), 5 Moo. P. C. C. 165; 3 Moo. Ind. App. 422; 13 E. R. 454, P. C.

Annotations:—Reld. Browne v. Hare (1859), 4 H. & N. 822; Meyer v. Dresser (1864), 16 C. B. N. S. 646; Berndtson v. Strang (1867), L. R. 4 Eq. 481; Schotsman v. L. & Y. Ry. (1867), 2 Ch. App. 332.

2206. —— To obtain bill of lading—Mate's receipt only obtained.]—Pltfs. wrote to their agents, defts., regarding certain goods which S. had proposed to purchase—"Les informations sur S. sont. telles que nous ne pouvons lui livrer les 2,500 caisses que contre connaissement. Si vous voulez nous vous enverrons les connaissements, et vous ne les lui delivrerez que contre payement." Pltfs., who carried on business in Holland, consigned the goods to defts., with bill of lading of Dutch ship, & defts. put them on board of a ship named by S., & they received & kept the mate's receipt, but no bills of lading of export ship were made up, nor was the price paid by S. when the ship sailed. In an action for delivering the goods without obtaining the price:—Held: the instructions to defts. were not carried out by obtaining the mate's receipt; "connaissement" meant bill of lading; & as the control over the goods had been lost without payment of the price, defts. were liable.—STEARINE KAARSEN FABRICK GONDA CO. v. HEINTZMANN (1864), 17 C. B. N. S. 56; 11 L. T. 272; 10 Jur. N. S. 881; 144 E. R. 22.

2207. Negotiability of mate's receipt—Local custom—Whether binding elsewhere.]—A local custom of trade was alleged to exist at Bombay by virtue of which the mate's receipts for goods shipped on board a vessel are negotiable instruments, & pass the property in the goods in the same manner as bills of lading, & that masters of ships are bound to have the mate's receipt returned to them before signing any bill of lading for the goods mentioned in that receipt, & that if a captain signed a bill of lading without production & delivery to him of the mate's receipt for the goods he would be bound, on the production of that receipt, to sign a fresh bill of lading, & to deliver the same to the person producing the mate's receipt, & that the goods mentioned in the receipt ought to be delivered to the person who produced the second bill of lading:—Held: such a custom if proved to exist, would be inoperative as against the captain & the shipowners.

A local custom making mate's receipts negotiable would not bind the goods elsewhere.—HATHESING v. LAING, LAING v. ZEDEN (1873), L. R. 17 Eq. 92; 43 L. J. Ch. 233; 29 L. T. 734; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 170.

2208. Receipt given subject to condition to be contained in bill of lading to be issued—Loss of goods before bill of lading issued—Operation of exceptions in bill of lading.]—DE CLERMONT & DONNER v. GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., No. 2682, post.

2209. Whether conclusive evidence as to quantity shipped.]—Pltfs. having verbally chartered the ship of deft. to carry iron from Glasgow to Swansea, the ship was loaded with iron bought by pltfs. from W. & co. The iron was weighed by the agents of W. & co., to whom the mate gave a receipt signed by him for 330 tons, but there was no bill of lading. On delivery at Swansea, the quantity of iron was discovered to be 326½ tons only, but the mate deposed, & was not contradicted, to the delivery of all that had been shipped. Pltfs. having paid on the full amount of 330 tons to W. & co., who refused to repay them the difference, sued deft. for short delivery:—Held: there was no evidence of negligence in defts., & if there had been, it would not be negligence causing loss to pltfs.—BIDDULPH v. BINGHAM (1874), 30 L. T. 30; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 225.

2210. "Clean receipt" to be given—Condition in shipping note—Refusal to give clean receipt or redeliver goods.]—Pltfs., N. & co., engaged with defts., who were shipowners, for the shipment of a large quantity of oil to Montreal during the season, & it was arranged that defts. were to receive no goods on board unless a clean receipt were given. Pltf. A. sold fifty barrels of oil to N. & co. & delivered them to defts. Defts. received the oil, but refused to give a clean receipt for it. Pltf. A. demanded redelivery, which defts. refused, as other cargo had been stowed on the top of it. N. & co. having agreed to pay A. for the oil in cash in exchange for mate's receipt, refused to pay for the fifty barrels. A. brought an action against defts. for conversion, & afterwards amended the writ by adding N. & co. The consignees at Montreal accepted the oil & paid N. & co., who thereupon paid A.:—Held: A. had waived the right of saying that the property in the goods had not passed to N. & co., & therefore, since the goods were not his at the time that redelivery was refused, no action lay for conversion; & further, no action lay for his loss of interest through the delay in payment to him of the price of the goods.—ARMSTRONG v. ALLAN BROTHERS (1892), 67 L. T. 738; 9 T. L. R. 38; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 293; 4 R. 107, C. A.

2211. Delivery of goods to consignee named in mate's receipt—No bill of lading executed.]—A. has a sufficient property in goods shipped by B. for the specific purpose of placing funds in the hands of A. to meet a bill drawn by B. upon A., to entitle A. to maintain trover, although no bill of lading is executed, & A. holds merely a receipt signed by the mate of the vessel, acknowledging the shipment of the goods—to be delivered to A. —EVANS v. NICHOL (1841), 3 Man. & G. 614; 4 Scott, N. R. 43; 11 L. J. C. P. 6; 5 Jur. 1110; 133 E. R. 1286.

Annotation:—Refd. Kerford v. Mondel (1859), 28 L. J. Ex. 303.

---

SUB-SECT. 6.—THROUGH BILLS OF LADING.

2212. What amount to—Whole transit must be covered.]—A Swedish merchant agreed to sell to an English co. a quantity of guano in bags c.i.f. Norway to Kobe or Yokohama, terms net cash against documents in London; time of shipping as to the first instalment Mar.–Apr. 1920. The seller, in anticipation of his obligations under the contract, agreed with L., the agent at Hamburg of a Japanese co., which ran a line of steamers from Hamburg to Japan but ran no steamers from Norway, for the conveyance of the guana from Hamburg to Japan on the terms that L. should sign through bills of lading as soon as the goods were in his possession. Between Apr. 20 & 22 the guano was shipped by the sellers in several lots from various Norwegian ports, including B., on the steamship K. to Hamburg. On the arrival of the goods at Hamburg L. signed several documents in identical terms called through bills of lading bearing date May 5. The bill of lading relating to the B. consignment stated that the goods were shipped in apparent good order & condition on board the K. lying at B., & bound for Hamburg, for transhipment into the Japanese co.'s steamer A., to be delivered in the like good order & condition at the port of Yokohama unto "order," & the margin contained the statement: "Shipped from B. according to bill of lading on Apr. 22, 1920." On May 12 the seller tendered to the buyers documents relating to the first instalment including the ocean bills of lading but the buyers rejected the documents & refused to take up the goods. In an action for the price of the goods:—Held: (1) the ocean bills of lading were not through bills of lading, inasmuch as they afforded no protection to the buyers on the initial voyage, & did not satisfy the conditions of the contract; (2) on a sale on c.i.f. terms the contract of affreightment must be procured on shipment, & a bill of lading issued thirteen days after the original shipment at another port in another country was not procured on shipment. Therefore the action failed.—HANSSON v. HAMEL & HORLEY, LTD., [1922] 2 A. C. 36; 91 L. J. K. B. 433; 127 L. T. 74; 38 T. L. R. 466; 66 Sol. Jo. 421; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 546; 27 Com. Cas. 321, H. L.

2213. Liability for loss during transit—Loss of ship—Whether whole freight apportioned.]—Pltfs. shipped goods at Liverpool on board deft.'s ship, to be carried & conveyed as stated by the bill of lading, "via Colon (Aspinwall) & Panama to San Francisco; that is to say, by arrangement between the West India & Pacific Steamship co. (Ltd.) the Panama Ry. co., & the Pacific Mail Steamship co., to be carried to Colon (Aspinwall) by the packets of the West India & Pacific Steamship co. from Colon (Aspinwall) to Panama, by the Panama Railroad co., & thence to the port of destination by the Pacific Mail Steamship co. . . . freight & primage to be considered as earned ship lost or not lost"; the freight being £14 5*s.* per ton, payable in Liverpool. The whole freight at the aforesaid rate was paid to defts.' agent at Liverpool, & the bill of lading was signed by him "for the service from London to Colon (Aspinwall)," & by the agent of the two other cos., "for the service from Colon (Aspinwall) to San Francisco." The private arrangement entered into between the three cos. for the division of the freight between themselves was set forth in the case, to which was added also a copy of the handbook published by defts. containing the rates of freight charged for the carriage of goods from Liverpool to Colon (Aspinwall), to Panama, & to San Francisco, but not the charges for conveyance from one to another of the three last-mentioned places.

The ship having sailed from Liverpool, was lost with all her cargo, before reaching Colon (Aspinwall) & defts, after receiving notice of the loss paid over to the two other cos. their proportion of the freight, which had been paid by pltfs. Pltfs. having brought an action against defts. for money had & received to recover the proportion of freight so paid over to the two other cos., viz. for the carriage of the goods from Colon (Aspinwall) to Panama, & from Panama to San Francisco:—Held: the bill of lading formed one contract between pltfs., & defts. for the conveyance of pltfs.' goods from Liverpool to San Francisco, for one entire consideration, viz. the amount of freight paid & not several contracts between pltfs. & each of the cos.; & therefore, as the consideration for which the freight was paid had not wholly failed, pltfs. could not maintain the action against defts.—GREEVES v. WEST INDIA & PACIFIC S.S. CO., LTD. (1870), 22 L. T. 615; 3 Mar. L. C. 426, Ex. Ch.

2214. —— Land & sea transit—Loss at sea—Lien for inland freight.]—Goods were carried under a through bill of lading at a through rate to include land & sea transit. Some of the goods were lost during the sea transit, & on delivery of the remainder the shipowner claimed, & was held entitled—to add to the through freight on the quantity delivered the inland charges paid by him to the railway co. on the portion not delivered, r. Liability for loss during transit—Land & sea transit—Whether whole freight apportioned.]—HAYES v. SOUTH WALES RY. (1859), 9 I. C. L. R. 474.—IR.

---

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sects. 6 & 7, A. (a).]

for the joint effect of the through bill of lading, & of the shipowner's regular form of bill of lading incorporated therewith, was to subject the goods not only to a lien in favour of the shipowner in respect of the sea transit, but also to a lien, arising prior to shipment, in favour of the railway co. for the land transit of the whole parcel, which lien, on payment by the shipowner of the proper inland charges to the railway co., was transferred to the shipowner, & could be enforced by him against the goods actually delivered.—THE HIBERNIAN, [1907] P. 277; 76 L. J. P. 122; 97 L. T. 363; 23 T. L. R. 519; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 501, C. A.

Annotation:—Mentd. County Hotel & Wine Co. v. L. & N. W. Ry., [1918] 2 K. B. 251.

2215. —— Bills signed "on behalf of carriers severally but not jointly"—Whether excess freight paid recoverable from all carriers.]—Certain parcels of hay of which pltf. was consignee were respectively delivered to railway cos. at certain places in the United States of America to be carried to New York, & thence by defts. to London under through bills of lading signed by an agent "on behalf of carriers severally but not jointly." By the terms of the through bills of lading, with respect to the service until delivery at New York all liability under the contract terminated on delivery of the property to the steamship at New York, & the inland freight was a first lien, due & payable by defts.: & with respect to the service after delivery at New York, & until delivery at London, payment of freight was to be made on the gross weight landed from ocean steamship unless otherwise agreed or so provided in the bill of lading, or unless the carriers elected to take the freight on the bill of lading weight. The through freight was made up by the railway cos. in America after the transport rates of defts. had been ascertained:—Held: (1) upon the construction of the bills of lading if there was no election to take the bill of lading freight, & defts. demanded too much before the goods could be obtained by pltf., they would be liable to be sued for the return of the excess of freight paid, & would not be entitled to say to pltf. that he must recover from the land carriers in America so much as represented the overcharge for the inland carriage. (2) Upon the facts as pltf. although he objected, had paid the bill of lading, through freight, & had accepted a rebate of the ocean freight only, in all cases where the bill of lading freight was greater than the quantity delivered, he was not entitled to recover the overpayment for inland freight as having been made under a mistake of fact.—KITTS v. ATLANTIC TRANSPORT CO., LTD. (1902), 18 T. L. R. 739; 7 Com. Cas. 227.

Annotation:—Refd. The Hibernian (1906), 95 L. T. 395.

2216. —— —— Estoppel by conduct.]—KITTS v. ATLANTIC TRANSPORT CO., LTD., No. 2215, ante.

2217. —— ——.]—CRAWFORD & LAW v. ALLAN LINE S.S. CO., LTD., No. 2290, post.

2218. —— When liability attaches—Damage on barge conveying goods to vessel.]—A through bill of lading provided for the shipment of certain goods from London to Gloversville, United States, & contained a clause of exceptions which included (inter alia) damage arising from "rain . . . boilers, tanks, pipes, & steam machinery . . . submerging or sinking of ship or admission of water into the vessel . . . unseaworthiness or unfitness of the vessel at commencement of or before or at any time during the voyage, perils of the sea, rivers, navigation or land transit of whatever nature or kind, & all damage, loss, injury arising from the perils or things above mentioned." At the end of the bill of lading was the following clause: "All the above exceptions & conditions shall apply from the time when the goods come into the possession or custody of the carriers or their agents in warehouse, on wharf, in craft, in course of land or water transit or in any other situation." In an action by the shippers for damage to the goods caused by the unseaworthiness of a barge in which the cargo was conveyed from the wharf to the carrying steamer:—Held: the barge was a "vessel" within the meaning of that expression in the bill of lading; the last clause of the bill of lading applied to the barge the earlier provision regarding unseaworthiness; & the shipowners were protected from liability.—WIENER & CO. v. WILSONS & FURNESS-LEYLAND LINE, LTD. (1910), 103 L. T. 168; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 413; 15 Com. Cas. 294, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Bank of Australasia v. Clan Line Steamers, [1916] 1 K. B. 39; Atlantic Shipping & Trading Co. v. Dreyfus, [1922] 2 A. C. 250; Paterson, Zochonis v. Elder, Dempster, [1923] 1 K. B. 420.

2219. —— —— Damage on lighter.]—Pltfs. shipped a parcel of machinery at New York on board defts.' steamship under a through bill of lading for carriage to Norrköping in Sweden via Hull. By the bill of lading the goods were "to be delivered in like good order & condition at the port of Hull & to be thence transhipped at ship's expense & shipper's risk to the port of Norrköping"; & it was thereby mutually agreed that the carrier should have "liberty to convey goods in craft &/or lighters to & from the steamer at the risk of the owners of the goods" & that he should not be liable "for risk of craft, hulk, or transhipment."

On the arrival of the steamship in Hull defts. hired a lighter & placed the goods therein whilst waiting to be transhipped in another of defts.' steamships for conveyance to Norrköping. The lighter was left unattended in a crowded harbour & part of its planking was rotten, & next day it was found sunk with a hole in its side, apparently made by a boat hook from a neighbouring lighter, with the result that pltfs.' goods were damaged:—Held: the damage was caused by the negligence of defts. in placing the goods in an unattended lighter without seeing that it was fit for the purpose, & defts. were not exempted from liability by the terms of the bill of lading.—WILSON (THOMAS) SONS & CO., LTD. v. S.S. GALILEO, (CARGO EX), THE GALILEO, [1915] A. C. 199; 83 L. J. P. 102; 111 L. T. 656; 30 T. L. R. 612; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 534; 19 Com. Cas. 459, H. L.

Annotations:—Refd. Pyman S.S. Co. v. Hull & Barnsley Ry., [1914] 2 K. B. 788; Reed v. Page & East, [1927] 1 K. B. 743.

2220. —— Proviso exonerating shipowner after transhipment—Loss during transhipment.]—Goods shipped on board the V., bound from A. to B., were "to be forwarded at ship's expense & owner's risk" to C. Part was damaged by negligent

---

2217 i. —— Bills signed "on behalf of carriers severally but not jointly."]—HATELY v. MERCHANTS DESPATCH TRANSPORTATION CO. (1885), 12 A. R. 201.—CAN.

t. —— Proviso exonerating shipowner after transhipment.]—PERKINS v. MISSISSIPPI & DOMINION S.S. CO., LTD. (1884), 10 P. R. 198.—CAN.

s. —— Limitation of liability of shipowner during sea transit.]—COYLE v. GRAND TRUNK RY. CO., MATTHEWS v. GRAND TRUNK RY. CO., [1926] 4 D. L. R. 360; 59 O. L. R. 252.—CAN.

b. Bill of lading for part only of route—Admissibility of parol evidence to extend.]—Where a co. agreed to carry from Victoria to Yale, & gave a bill of lading for part of the route, viz., from Victoria to New Westminster, parol evidence was admitted to prove handling in transhipment & part by negligent stowage on the vessels in which the goods were carried to C.:—Held: the owners of the V. were liable for the first part of the damage & not for the second.—ALLAN BROTHERS & Co. v. JAMES BROTHERS & Co. (1897), 3 Com. Cas. 10.

Annotation:—Distd. The Galileo, [1914] P. 9.

2221. —— —— Loss after transhipment.]—ALLAN BROTHERS & Co. v. JAMES BROTHERS & Co., No. 2220, ante.

2222. What terms inconsistent with through bill—Liability to cease before completion of transit.]—MOORE v. HARRIS, No. 1708, ante.

2223. —— Notification of arrival clause.]—A through bill of lading contained the clause "Party to be notified; E. Clemens Horst":—Held: (1) the words were words of contract; (2) notification by post would have been sufficient even though the letter did not arrive; (3) a "notification clause" in an ocean bill of lading incorporated by the through bill of lading to the effect that "no claim shall, under any circumstances whatever, attach to the steamer, her owners or agents, for failure to notify consignees of arrival of goods" does not contradict the through bill of lading containing the contract to notify, but relieves the shipowner from liability to pay damages if he fails to carry out the obligation to notify.

(4) Where there is no express contract for a lien for interest on freight it cannot be implied.—E. CLEMENS HORST Co. v. NORFOLK & NORTH AMERICAN S.S. Co., LTD. (1906), 22 T. L. R. 403; 11 Com. Cas. 141.

2224. Notification clause—Amounting to words of contract.]—E. CLEMENS HORST Co. v. NORFOLK & NORTH AMERICAN S.S. Co., LTD., No. 2223, ante.

2225. —— Sufficiency of compliance—Notification by post.]—E. CLEMENS HORST Co. v. NORFOLK & NORTH AMERICAN S.S. Co., LTD., No. 2223, ante.

2226. Contract to carry "all sugar which shippers shall have for shipment" from named port—Effect of issue of through bills of lading.]—Defts., who owned sugar estates on the river Zambesi, were in the habit of sending sugar from one of their estates down the river in barges to the port of Chinde. It being impossible for ocean-going steamers to load at Chinde owing to a bar, the sugar was carried thence by lighters or coasting steamers to Beira, where it was loaded into ocean-going steamers for carriage to Europe, & bills of lading were issued from that port. By an agreement made between defts., therein called "the shippers," & pltfs., a steamship co., therein called "the owners," the shippers bound themselves to ship & the owners agreed to carry "all the sugar which the shippers shall have for shipment from Beira" to certain specified European ports for a year from the date of the agreement at a certain rate per ton, & the owners undertook to provide a minimum tonnage per month for the shipment, if required. During the currency of the agreement defts. proceeded to send sugar from the estate by a German line to European ports covered by the agreement. The sugar was sent from Chinde to Beira by lighters belonging to the German line, & it was then transhipped into the ocean-going steamers of that line & through bills of lading were issued for the carriage of the sugar from Chinde to the European port. In an action for breach of the agreement:—Held: this sugar was sugar which defts. had for shipment from Beira within the meaning of the agreement, notwithstanding the issue of through bills of lading.—UNION CASTLE MAIL S.S. Co. v. SENA SUGAR ESTATES, LTD., [1925] A. C. 782; 94 L. J. K. B. 877; 133 L. T. 707; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 542, H. L.

C.i.f. contract—Necessity to tender bill of lading to cover whole transit—Custom.]—See SALE OF GOODS, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 577, 578, Nos. 1811–1814.

---

SUB-SECT. 7.—HOW FAR CONCLUSIVE OF RECEIPT OF CARGO.

A. Quantity Shipped.

(a) In General.

See Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), s. 5, Article III.

2227. Primâ facie evidence.]—The evidence of the bill of lading would go against the owner, & the larger amount appearing in the bill of lading was strong evidence against him, & the onus probandi lay upon him to show that the cases were not shipped, & to discharge the primâ facie presumption arising from his own document (KENNEDY, J.).—HARROWING v. KATZ & Co. (1893), 10 T. L. R. 115; affd. (1894), 10 T. L. R. 400, C. A.; (1895), 12 T. L. R. 66, H. L.

Annotation:—Consd. Sanday v. Strath S.S. Co. (1921), 90 L. J. K. B. 1349.

2228. ——.]—SMITH & Co. v. BEDOUIN STEAM NAVIGATION Co., No. 2246, post.

2229. ——.]—Where a bill of lading states that certain goods have been shipped, the shipowner is liable for their non-delivery, unless he can show conclusively that the goods were not shipped in fact.

The shipowner is liable for short delivery to the holder of a bill of lading, unless he can show to the satisfaction of the tribunal trying the case that his agent has signed a bill of lading for goods which were not put on board the ship. The whole burden of proof lies upon the shipowner. Pltf. proves his case by putting in the bill of lading & showing that there was a non-delivery of the quantity mentioned in the bill of lading when he asked for it at the port of destination (LORD ESHER, M.R.).—BENNETT & YOUNG v. JOHN BACON, LTD. (1897), 13 T. L. R. 204; 2 Com. Cas. 102, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Hine v. Free, Rodwell (1897), 2 Com. Cas. 149; Sanday v. Strath S.S. Co. (1921), 90 L. J. K. B. 1349.

2230. ——.]—SANDAY v. STRATH S.S. Co., No. 2248, post.

2231. Goods or some of them not in fact shipped.]—GRANT v. NORWAY, No. 4524, post.

2232. ——.]—JESSEL v. BATH, No. 1709, ante.

2233. ——.]—MCLEAN & HOPE v. FLEMING, No. 2949, post.

2234. ——.]—BROWN v. POWELL COAL Co., No. 2271, post.

2235. ——.]—LEDUC v. WARD, No. 3172, post.

2236. ——.]—SMITH & Co. v. BEDOUIN STEAM NAVIGATION Co., No. 2246, post.

---

the agreement to carry as far as Yale.—HAMILTON v. HUDSON'S BAY Co. & IRVING & BRIGGS (1884), 1 B. C. R. pt. 2, 1, 176.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 7.—A. (a).

2227 i. Primâ facie evidence.]—The bill of lading is not conclusive evidence as to the amount of cargo shipped.—THE IMMANUEL (OWNERS) v. DENHOLM & Co. (1887), 15 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 152; 25 Sc. L. R. 112.—SCOT.

2227 ii. ——.]—HARROWER WELSH & Co. v. M'WILLIAM & SONS, [1928] S. C. 326.—SCOT.

2231 i. Goods or some of them not in fact shipped.]—HOWLAND v. BETHUNE (1856), 13 U. C. R. 270.—CAN.

2231 ii. ——.]—DODS v. STEWART (1871), 8 B. L. R. 340; 17 W. R. 49.—IND.

c. Shipment exceeding quantity given in bill of lading—Mistake.]—MURTON v. KINGSTON & MONTREAL FORWARDING Co. (1882), 32 C. P. 366.—CAN.

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 7, A. (a) & (b), & B.]

2237. ——.]—Where a bill of lading states that certain goods have been shipped, the shipowner is not liable for their non-delivery if he can show that the goods were not shipped in fact.—HINE BROTHERS v. FREE, RODWELL & CO., LTD. (1897), 2 Com. Cas. 149.

2238. —— Fraud of shipper's agent.]—A bill of lading is not conclusive between the shippers of the goods, & the owners of the ship; but the owners may show that less goods than specified in the bill of lading were shipped, the master, who signed the bill of lading, having been misled by the fraud of the agent of the shippers.—BATES v. TODD (1831), 1 Mood. & R. 106, N. P.

2239. —— Knowledge of shipper's agent.]—Declaration, in assumpsit, stated that defts. W. & N. were owners of a ship; that, in consideration that pltf. at their request shipped goods on board to be delivered to him, W. & N. promised to deliver: breach, non-delivery. N. pleaded separately, & traversed the shipment. On the trial, pltf. produced a bill of lading, signed by the captain of the ship, transmitted to pltf. by W., stating the goods to be shipped by W., to be delivered to pltf. or his assigns. Proof also was given to show that pltf. held the bill for value. W. was the managing owner:—Held: N. might produce evidence that the goods were not shipped in fact, & was not estopped by the bill of lading, supposing such estoppel to exist in general, inasmuch as pltf. could support his issue only by making W. his agent, & if W. was so, pltf. was cognisant, through him, of the fact.—BERKLEY v. WATLING (1837), 7 Ad. & El. 29; Will. Woll. & Dav. 429; 2 Nev. & P. K. B. 178; 6 L. J. K. B. 195; 1 Jur. 378; 112 E. R. 382.

Annotations:—Reld. Thompson v. Dominy (1845), 14 M. & W. 403; Grant v. Norway (1851), 10 C. B. 665.

2240. —— Loss at time of loading.]—A charterparty provided that the bill of lading should be conclusive evidence against the owners of the quantity of cargo received. The cargo, timber, was floated alongside the vessel, & receipts by the mate then given for the same. Part of the cargo was lost by perils of the sea before shipment. The loss was notified by the master to the agent of the charterer; but, at the latter's request, the master was induced to sign bills of lading for the whole quantity of timber received alongside:—Held: the charterer had no claim against the shipowner in respect of the difference between the amount of cargo received alongside, & the amount shipped on board.—PYMAN v. BURT (1884), Cab. & El. 207.

Annotations:—Dbtd. & Distd. Lishman v. Christie (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 333. Expld. Crossfield v. Kyle Shipping Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 885.

2241. —— ——.]—THORMAN v. BURT, BOULTON & CO., No. 2272, post.

2242. —— Signature by ship brokers.]—Ship brokers who signed a false bill of lading for goods not shipped, found liable in damages.—FOURCHON v. REDHEAD (1839), 4 L. T. 341.

Effect of qualification of statement as to cargo.]—See Sub-sect. 7, D., post.

(b) Onus of Proof.

See Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), s. 5, Article III.

2243. On shipowner.]—If a cargo weighing a certain weight be delivered to a carrier to be carried & when the cargo arrives at its destination, the weight be deficient, this is evidence from which a jury may infer negligence in the carrier; & if the deficiency did not arise from the negligence of the carrier it is incumbent on him to show that.—HAWKES v. SMITH (1842), Car. & M. 72, N. P.

2244. ——.]—ELLIOTT, LOWREY & CO. v. DOBELL (1887), 3 T. L. R. 691, C. A.

2245. ——.]—HARROWING v. KATZ & CO., No. 2227, ante.

2246. ——.]—A shipowner is bound to deliver the full amount of goods signed for by the master in a bill of lading, unless he can prove that the whole or some part of it was in fact not shipped.

In an action for freight for the conveyance of 1,000 bales of jute against applts., onerous indorsees of the bills of lading, applts. claimed to retain the value of 12 bales short delivered of the 1,000 shown by the bills of lading signed by the master to have been shipped at the port of loading. There was no clear evidence as to how or where the missing bales had disappeared:—Held: there was nothing to displace the evidence supplied by the bills of lading that the missing bales had been received on board the vessel, & applts. were entitled to the deduction claimed by them.

The bill of lading founded on the other documents . . . was primâ facie evidence in favour of applt. which threw upon the resp. the onus of displacing it by evidence that the full quantity of the goods was not in fact shipped (LORD DAVEY).—SMITH & CO. v. BEDOUIN STEAM NAVIGATION CO., [1896] A. C. 70; 65 L. J. P. C. 8; 12 T. L. R. 65, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Bennett & Young v. Bacon (1896), 13 T. L. R. 16. Distd. New Chinese Antimony Co. v. Ocean S.S. Co., [1917] 2 K. B. 664. Consd. Sanday v. Strath S.S. Co. (1921), 90 L. J. K. B. 1349. Folld. North Shipping Co. v. Rank (1926), 136 L. T. 415. Reld. Hine v. Free, Rodwell (1897), 2 Com. Cas. 149; Hogarth Shipping Co. v. Blyth, Greene, Jourdain, [1917] 2 K. B. 534.

2247. ——.]—BENNETT & YOUNG v. JOHN BACON, LTD., No. 2229, ante.

2248. ——.]—In an action against a shipowner for short delivery of cargo the owner of the cargo must succeed if he proves the delivery of a less number, weight, or measure of goods than that admitted on the bill of lading unless the shipowner can establish that the number, weight, or measure admitted on the bill of lading is wrong. The shipowner can discharge the onus which is upon him either by direct evidence showing that a mistake has been made in the tallies from which the bill of lading is made out, or by indirect evidence showing beyond reasonable doubt that none of the goods were lost or stolen after receipt by him & that he has delivered all received.—SANDAY v. STRATH S.S. CO. (1921), 90 L. J. K. B. 1349; 125 L. T. 557; 37 T. L. R. 665; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 280; 26 Com. Cas. 277, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. North Shipping Co. v. Rank (1926), 136 L. T. 415.

2249. ——.]—A charterparty contained clauses which provided that bills of lading should be signed in accordance with mate's receipts, & "quantity stated on bills of lading to be conclusive evidence as to number of bags shipped unless error or fraud can be proved." The ship loaded a full & complete cargo of sugar in bags including a parcel of sugar marked "San Lino," in respect of which the mate gave a receipt for 2,860 bags in accordance with the tallies & the captain signed a bill of lading for 2,860 bags. When the ship was discharged the out turn tallies showed only 2,677 bags of sugar of the "San Lino" mark, & claimants, who were

2243. On shipowner.]—JONES & CO., LTD. v. NEW ZEALAND SHIPPING CO. (1916), 12 Tas. L. R. 113.—AUS.

4. On party claiming for deficiency.]—WAH LEE v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. CO. (B. C.) (1927), 33 Can. Ry. Cas. 77.—CAN.

the charterers & consignees of the sugar, claimed against the shipowners in respect of the shortage of 183 bags. On reference to arbn. no attempt was made to prove by direct evidence that any error had arisen in making out the bill of lading, or that the tallies were inaccurate, or that they had been wrongly cast, or that entries had been duplicated, or that they contained mistakes of any kind. The arbitrator found that all the bags of sugar shipped under the mark "San Lino" were discharged & that there was no evidence to show how the discrepancy between the bill of lading number & the out turn number arose. The shipowners contended that an "error," within the meaning of the conclusive evidence clause, had been proved by, or might be inferred from, evidence that all the sugar shipped had been discharged:—Held: it was for the shipowners to prove that they came within the condition or limitation in the conclusive evidence clause upon which they relied, & in order to do so it was not enough for them to give evidence from which it might be inferred that a mistake had been made in the bill of lading; there must be actual proof of a mistake to show how the discrepancy arose.—SUGAR SUPPLY COMMISSION v. HARTLEPOOLS SEATONIA S.S. Co., [1927] 2 K. B. 419; 96 L. J. K. B. 959; 137 L. T. 791; 43 T. L. R. 542; 32 Com. Cas. 300.

2250. Discharge of onus—Direct evidence—Mistake in tallies.]—SANDAY v. STRATH S.S. Co., No. 2248, ante.

2251. —— Indirect evidence—No goods lost or stolen.]—SANDAY v. STRATH S.S. Co., No. 2248, ante.

2252. —— —— —— Natural shrinkage.]—Shipowners are bound to deliver their cargo according to weights & quantities specified in the bills of lading, but where they claim for freight & there is a counterclaim for short delivery, they can avoid the weights & quantities specified in the bills of lading by showing that what was shipped was delivered & that no loss occurred in transit other than what can be accounted for by natural shrinkage.—NORTH SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. RANK (JOSEPH), LTD., (1926) 136 L. T. 415; 43 T. L. R. 82; 17 Asp. M. L. C. 189.

2253. —— Necessity for conclusive proof of mistake.]—SUGAR SUPPLY COMMISSION v. HARTLEPOOLS SEATONIA S.S. Co., No. 2249, ante.

B. Quality and Condition.

See Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article III.

2254. Quality—Distinguished from condition.]—(1) The words "shipped in good order & condition" in a bill of lading are not words of contract in the sense of a promise, but are in the nature of an affirmation of fact.

(2) Where goods are shipped in apparent damaged condition, & the bill of lading states that they are "shipped in good order & condition," though the incorrect statement cannot be sued upon directly as a breach of contract, the shipowner, who is bound by the master so signing the bills of lading, is estopped from denying the condition of the goods so stated if, on the strength of such statement, the indorsee of the bill of lading has acted to his prejudice.

(3) The addition of the words "quality & measure unknown" in the bill of lading do not in effect strike out the words "good order & condition."

(4) "Condition" refers to external & apparent condition; "quality" to that which is not usually apparent, at any rate, to an unskilled person.

(5) A master of a ship is expected to notice the apparent condition, though not the quality, of goods shipped on his vessel.

(6) Though a charterparty provides a form of the bill of lading to be used which contains the words "shipped in good order & condition" & "quality & measure unknown," the master is not bound to make an untrue statement in the bills of lading.

(7) Where an indorsee, who has acted on the strength of such an untrue statement in the bill of lading, has taken delivery of damaged goods not in accordance with his contract with the shippers, a foreign solvent firm, & has obtained an award against them in respect of the depreciation of the goods, it is not necessary for the indorsee to sue on the award before suing the shipowner.—COMPANIA NAVIERA VASCONZADA v. CHURCHILL & SIM, SAME v. BURTON & Co., [1906] 1 K. B. 237; 75 L. J. K. B. 94; 94 L. T. 59; 54 W. R. 406; 22 T. L. R. 85; 50 Sol. Jo. 76; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 177; 11 Com. Cas. 49.

Annotations:—As to (2) Folld. Martineaus v. Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. (1912), 106 L. T. 638. Apprvd. Brandt v. Liverpool, Brazil & River Plate Steam Navigation Co., [1924] 1 K. B. 575. Reid. Hogarth Shipping Co. v. Blyth, Greene, Jourdain, [1917] 2 K. B. 534; New Chinese Antimony Co. v. Ocean S.S. Co., [1917] 2 K. B. 664. As to (4) Consd. The Tromp, [1921] P. 337.

2255. Duty of master to notice condition.]—COMPANIA NAVIERA VASCONZADA v. CHURCHILL & SIM, SAME v. BURTON & Co., No. 2254, ante.

2256. Insertion of wrong quality marks—Whether binding on owners.]—A bill of lading signed by the captain of a ship in respect of a shipment of bales of jute contained the following provision: "If quality marks are used, they are to be of the same size as the leading marks & contiguous thereto, &, if such quality marks are inserted in the shipping notes, & the goods are accepted by the mate, bills of lading in conformity therewith shall be signed by the captain, & the ship be responsible for the correct delivery of the goods." The bill of lading described the bales as marked in proportions, specified with different quality marks, indicating different qualities of jute, which marks corresponded with those inserted in the shipping notes made out by the shippers. When the ship was discharged, however, it was found that there had in fact been shipped fewer bales marked with one of such quality marks & more marked with another of such marks indicating an inferior quality than stated in the bill of lading:—Held: on the above facts, an indorsee of the bill of lading for value, without notice of the incorrectness of the description of the marks therein, had no right of action against the shipowners either for breach of contract or upon the ground that they were estopped by the representation contained in the bill of lading.—COX v. BRUCE (1886), 18 Q. B. D. 147; 56 L. J. Q. B. 121; 57 L. T. 128; 35 W. R. 207; 3 T. L. R. 167; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 152, C. A.

Annotations:—Reid. Parsons v. New Zealand Shipping Co., [1901] 1 K. B. 548; Compania Naviera Vasconzada v. Churchill & Sim, Same v. Burton, [1906] 1 K. B. 237.

2257. Goods stated to be in apparent good order & condition.]—A number of bags of zinc ashes

---

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 7.—B.

2255 1. Duty of master to notice condition.]—MADHUR CHUNDER DEY v. LAW (1874), 13 B. L. R. 394.—IND.

2257 1. Goods stated to be in apparent good order & condition.]—COURT (GEO.) & SON, LTD. v. THE PIAKO, [1923] N. Z. L. R. 911.—N.Z.

e. Condition—Prima facie evidence.]—CHAPMAN v. ZEALAND (1874), 24 C. P. 421.—CAN.

f. —— ——.]—RONNE v. MON-

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 7, B. & C. (a) & (b).]

were shipped on board a vessel at Buenos Aires for carriage to Liverpool. Some of the bags had been wetted by rain before shipment & the upper layers of bags in one of the holds became heated. The shipowners gave a bill of lading stating that the bags were shipped in apparent good order & condition.

The master of the vessel, fearing damage to the ship & other cargo, discharged most of the bags at Buenos Aires & placed them in a warehouse; & after unnecessary delay they were reconditioned & reshipped on another vessel & forwarded to their destination at an expenditure of £748. The goods arrived at Liverpool three months after the arrival of the first vessel. In the meantime the value of zinc ashes had fallen. The bill of lading was indorsed to pledgees, who on the faith thereof made an advance to the shipper. When the second vessel arrived the indorsees presented the bill of lading, & paid the freight &, under protest, the £748, for which the shipowners claimed a lien on the cargo. In an action by the indorsees against the shipowners for damages for delay in forwarding the good & for repayment of the £748:—Held: (1) although pltfs., not being indorsees of the bill of lading to whom the property in the goods passed within Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), s. 1, could not sue on the contract contained therein, yet from the acts of presentation of the bill of lading, payment of the freight, & delivery & acceptance of goods specified in the bill of lading, there might & ought to be inferred a contract between the parties to deliver & accept the goods according to the terms of the bill of lading; (2) defts. were estopped from denying that the goods were shipped in apparent good order & condition, &, as the wetting which caused the delay did not occur after shipment, they were liable in damages for the delay unless they were excused by the conditions in the bill of lading; (3) pltfs. were entitled to recover the amount paid to defts. under protest, inasmuch as they were precluded by the estoppel from showing the only cause there was for discharging, warehousing, & reconditioning the goods.—BRANDT v. LIVERPOOL, BRAZIL & RIVER PLATE STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD., [1924] 1 K. B. 575; 93 L. J. K. B. 646; 130 L. T. 392; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 262; 29 Com. Cas. 57, C. A.

Effect of qualification of statement as to cargo.]—See Sub-sect. 7, D., post.

C. Provision that Bill be Conclusive.

(a) Provision in Charterparty or Bill of Lading.

See Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article V.

2258. Loss before shipment—Signature at charterer's request.]—PYMAN v. BURT, No. 2240, ante.

2259. —— Signature at request of agent of ship's broker.]—Defts. chartered pltf.'s ship for the carriage of a cargo of timber from Memel. The charterparty provided that the ship should there load from the agents of the said affreighters as customary a full cargo of fir sleepers, that the cargo should be brought to & taken from alongside the ship at merchants' risk & expense, & that the bill of lading should be conclusive evidence against the owners of the quantity of cargo received as stated therein. There was a custom at Memel, which, however, did not apply to charterparties in the form of the above-mentioned charterparty, that the captain should take delivery of the timber to be shipped at timber ponds up the river at some distance from the ship, the timber being then rafted down by fishermen to the ship, but being at the shipowner's risk during the process. The captain of pltf.'s ship, on her arrival at Memel, not being aware of the provisions of the charterparty, allowed the mate to give receipts for the cargo at the timber ponds. Part of the timber included in such receipts was lost during the process of rafting the timber down to the ship, owing to the force of the current. The captain, having become aware of such loss & of the provisions of the charterparty, stated to the agent at Memel of the shippers, who had sold the timber to defts., that he did not see his way to signing clean bills of lading for the full quantity mentioned in the mate's receipts, a portion of the timber having been lost; but on being told by such agent & a clerk of the ship's brokers that he was bound to sign clean bills of lading for the full quantity, he did so. The bills of lading stated that such quantity was shipped in good order & well conditioned to be delivered on payment of freight & all other conditions as per charterparty. In an action for balance of chartered freight defts. counterclaimed in respect of short delivery of cargo:—Held: the bills of lading estopped pltf. from denying that the full amount of cargo stated therein was shipped.—LISHMAN v. CHRISTIE (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 333; 56 L. J. Q. B. 538; 57 L. T. 552; 35 W. R. 744; 3 T. L. R. 710; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 186, C. A.

Annotations:—Followed. Crossfield v. Kyle Shipping Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 885. Distd. Hogarth Shipping Co. v. Blythe, Greene, Jourdain, [1917] 2 K. B. 534. Refd. The Nifa, [1892] P. 411; Akt. Helios v. Eckman (1897), 2 Com. Cas. 70.

2260. ——.]—By a charterparty it was agreed that the bills of lading should be "conclusive evidence against the owners of the quantity of cargo shipped on board as stated therein." The master signed bills of lading for a quantity of cargo which included not only the cargo actually shipped but also cargo which had been received by the shipowners' agents alongside the vessel & had been lost before being put on board. In an action by the consignees against the shipowners for the value of the cargo so lost:—Held: the consignees were entitled to recover.—FISHER, RENWICK & CO. v. CALDER & CO. (1896), 1 Com. Cas. 456.

Annotation:—Consd. Crossfield v. Kyle Shipping Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 885.

2261. ——.]—THIN v. LIVERPOOL, BRAZIL & RIVER PLATE STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD., No. 2187, ante.

2262. ——.]—The sellers of timber in New Brunswick chartered defts.' ship for the carriage of a cargo of timber to Manchester. The charterparty provided that "all responsibility of charterers hereunder ceases as soon as the cargo is alongside . . . captain or agent to sign bills of lading as per surveyors' return for the cargo . . . bills of lading shall be conclusive evidence against the owners as establishing the quantity delivered to the ship as stated therein." The charterparty contained an exception of perils of the sea. The timber was brought down to the ship on lighters, &

---

TREAL S.S. Co. (1886), 19 N. S. R. 7 R. & G.) 312; 7 C. L. T. 375.—CAN.

f. —— ——.]—A clean bill of lading is prima facie evidence that the goods were shipped in the condition therein described.—BIBBY BROTHERS v. COWIE (C. R.) & CO. (1923), I. L. R. 1 Ran. 146.—IND.

h. Omission of usual words "in good order"—Whether receipt in good order & condition implied—By undertaking to deliver "in like good order."]—MADSEN v. SCOTT (1899), 16 S. C. 385.—S. AF.

through rough weather a portion of it was washed overboard from the lighters & lost. The captain's agent signed bills of lading for the timber, in which the full quantity as per surveyors' return was described as "shipped on board." All the timber actually placed on board was delivered at Manchester. Pltfs., who were the indorsees of the bills of lading, sued defts. for short delivery:—Held: the bills of lading estopped defts. from denying that the full amount of cargo stated therein was shipped.—CROSSFIELD & Co. v. KYLE SHIPPING CO., LTD., [1916] 2 K. B. 885; 85 L. J. K. B. 1310; 115 L. T. 285; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 410; 22 Com. Cas. 67, C. A.

2263. Different classes of goods—Short delivery of one class—Over delivery of another.]—MEDITERRANEAN & NEW YORK S.S. CO. v. MACKAY, No. 4904, post.

2264. Goods in bags—Whether conclusive as to weight or contents—As well as to number.]—SIMMONDS v. ROSE (1893), 10 T. L. R. 125, D. C.

2265. —— —— ——.]—By charterparty, it was provided that a steamer should load a cargo of sugar in bags & proceed to one of several named ports & there deliver it. A clause of the charterparty provided: "The captain to sign eastern trade bills of lading, which are to be deemed conclusive proof of cargo shipped, & their conditions to form part of this charterparty." The captain signed a bill of lading for a specified number of bags of sugar, one of the exceptions & conditions of the bill of lading being "weight, measure, quality, contents & value unknown"; the bill of lading also contained the clause "freight & all other conditions & exceptions as per charterparty." At the port of discharge there was a shortage in the number of bags of sugar, but evidence was given that all the bags placed on board had been delivered. The judge held that the bill of lading was conclusive only as to the number of bags in the sense of skins or receptacles & not as to their contents:—Held: the conclusive evidence clause of the charterparty was not incorporated in the bill of lading, & the shipowners were not estopped from showing that all the bags of sugar shipped on board had been in fact delivered.—HOGARTH SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. BLYTH, GREENE, JOURDAIN & CO., LTD., [1917] 2 K. B. 534; 86 L. J. K. B. 1426; 117 L. T. 290; 33 T. L. R. 429; 61 Sol. Jo. 544; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 124; 22 Com. Cas. 334, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. New Chinese Antimony Co. v. Ocean S.S. Co., [1917] 2 K. B. 664.

2266. Whether sufficiently incorporated in bill of lading.]—LOHDEN (J.) & CO. v. CALDER (C.) & CO. (1898), 14 T. L. R. 311.

Annotation:—Consd. Crossfield v. Kyle Shipping Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 885.

2267. ——.]—HOGARTH SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. BLYTH, GREENE, JOURDAIN & CO., LTD., No. 2265, ante.

2268. —— Express incorporation.]—A bill of lading was signed in respect of 284, 690 pieces of pitprops measuring 55,782·32 cubic feet to be delivered in right number of pieces, on payment of freight at 9*s.* 6*d.* "for every load of 50 English cubic feet & all other conditions as per charterparty." The bill of lading contained the following clause: "responsible for number of pieces, but not for quality & measure." By the charterparty it was provided that the cargo was to be delivered at the rate of 9*s.* 6*d.* "for every intaken load of 50 English cubic feet," & that bills of lading were to be conclusive evidence against the owners as to the quantity of cargo shipped. At the port of discharge an excess number of pieces beyond that specified in the bill of lading was delivered. In a question between the consignees of the cargo & the shipowners:—Held: the conditions in the charterparty as to freight being payable at 9*s.* 6*d.* on every intaken load were incorporated in the bill of lading, & therefore freight was only payable on the number of pieces specified in the bill of lading.—OOSTZEE STOOMVART MAATS v. BELL & HARRISON (1906), 22 T. L. R. 643; 11 Com. Cas. 214.

(b) Statutory Provision.

See Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), s. 3; Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article III. (5).

2269. Application restricted to person signing.]—JESSEL v. BATH, No. 1709, ante.

2270. —— Master part owner.]—MEYER v. DRESSER, No. 4366, post.

2271. —— Or on whose behalf signed.]—By a charterparty for the conveyance of a cargo of coal from Cardiff to Buenos Ayres, it was stipulated that the master should "sign bills of lading for the cargo put on board as presented to him by the charterers, without prejudice to the terms of the charterparty." On arrival at the port of discharge it was found that the coal delivered to the consignees was less by thirty-two tons than the quantity mentioned in the bills of lading, & the owners were called upon to pay, & paid, the difference of value to the consignees. In an action by the owners against the charterers to recover the amount paid:—Held: (1) inasmuch as the owners were under no legal liability, either at common law or under the Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), to pay for such deficiency, the action was not maintainable. (2) A shipowner is not estopped by the signature of the bill of lading by the master from showing that the goods or some of them were never actually put on board.—BROWN v. POWELL COAL CO. (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 562; 44 L. J. C. P. 289; 32 L. T. 621; 23 W. R. 549; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 578.

2272. —— ——.]—To an action for freight by a shipowner against the indorsees of the bill of lading, defts. counterclaimed in respect of short delivery. All the goods that were actually put on board had been delivered to them; but the bill of lading acknowledged the receipt of a larger quantity. All the goods mentioned in the bill of lading had been floated alongside the ships in rafts, & mate's receipts given for them; but some of them were lost before they were shipped. The bill of lading was signed, "By authority of the captain, G. as agent." G. was the ship's broker at the shipping port:—Held: apart from Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), a bill of lading is not conclusive against a shipowner, & he is not liable in respect of any goods not actually shipped; &, in the present case, he was not liable under that

---

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 7.—C. (b).

2271 i. Application restricted to person signing—Or on whose behalf signed.]—Goods Act, 1915, s. 72, provides that "Every bill of lading in the hands of a consignee or indorsee for valuable consideration representing goods to have been shipped shall be in all civil proceedings conclusive evidence of such shipment against the master or other person signing the same notwithstanding that such goods or some part thereof were not so shipped":—Held: the sect. operates only against the person who has actually signed a bill of lading or the person in whose name & with whose authority it has been signed & does not make a bill of lading which has been signed by the agent of the shipowner in his own name conclusive evidence against the shipowner.—ROSENFELD, HILLAS & CO., PROPRIETARY, LTD. v. THE FORT LARAMIE (1922), 31 C. L. R. 56.—AUS.

k. Application restricted to masters & consignees.]—33 Vict. c. 19, s. 3, making a bill of lading conclusive

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 7, C. (b) & D.]

Act, as the bill of lading was not signed by or for him.—THORMAN v. BURT, BOULTON & Co. (1886), 54 L. T. 349; 2 T. L. R. 367; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 563, C. A.

2273. Exclusion of provision—Fraud of shipper.]—A bill of lading represented a larger number of bales to have been shipped on board a vessel than were really shipped. This arose from the mistake of the mate, which there was some evidence to show was caused by the fraud of the person who put the goods on board. The latter was either agent of the person named as shipper in the bill of lading or his vendor:—Held: there was evidence to go to a jury that the misrepresentation was caused "wholly by the fraud of the shipper or of the holder, or some person under whom the holder claimed," within the meaning of the Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), s. 3.—VALIERI v. BOYLAND (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 382; 35 L. J. C. P. 215; 14 L. T. 362; 12 Jur. N. S. 566; 14 W. R. 637; 2 Mar. L. C. 336.

Annotation:—Refd. Pyman v. Burt (1883), Cab. & El. 207.

2274. —— Mistake in bill of lading.]—BLANCHET v. POWELL'S LLANTIVIT COLLIERIES Co., No. 4839, post.

2275. —— Incorrect marking—"Goods marked as in margin"—Delivery of goods otherwise marked.]—By a bill of lading signed by the shipowners' agents goods shipped for carriage from New Zealand to London were described as a certain number of frozen carcases of lambs "marked & numbered as in the margin." The carcases were described in the margin of the bill of lading as bearing a certain mark & a number consisting of three figures. The mark indicated the quality of the carcase as being of a particular brand; one figure of the number indicated approximately its weight; & the other two figures of the number were private marks of the shippers which indicated certain particulars with regard to the carcase for their own purposes, but had no bearing on the nature, quality or commercial value of the goods. The bill of lading contained a clause stating that the ship would not be responsible for correct delivery unless each package was distinctly, correctly & permanently marked by the merchant before shipment with a mark & number or address. The mark & number mentioned in the margin in the bill of lading were inserted by the shippers. On the discharge of the ship in London it was found that a portion of the carcases in fact shipped under the bill of lading bore a mark & number which corresponded with the description in the margin of the bill of lading as regards the mark, & the figure indicating weight but which differed from that description as regards one of the figures forming the private marks of the shippers. An indorsee of the bill of lading for valuable consideration refused to take delivery of these carcases as forming part of his shipment, & sued the shipowners' agents for short delivery, relying on the provisions of Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), s. 3:—Held: the action was not maintainable.

The case came within the clause of the bill of lading which exonerated the ship from responsibility for correct delivery unless the goods were correctly marked & numbered (A. L. SMITH, M.R.).—PARSONS v. NEW ZEALAND SHIPPING Co., [1901] 1 K. B. 548; 70 L. J. K. B. 404; 84 L. T. 218; 49 W. R. 355; 17 T. L. R. 274; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 170; 6 Com. Cas. 41, C. A.

D. Effect of Qualifications of Statements as to Cargo.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22).

2276. Bill of lading no longer conclusive.]—A bill of lading, signed by a master of a vessel, since deceased, for goods to be delivered to a consignee or his assigns, he paying freight, is admissible as evidence of the consignee having an insurable interest in the goods. But if the master guards his acknowledgment by saying, "contents unknown," so that he does not charge himself with the receipt of any goods in particular, the bill of lading alone is not evidence, either of the quantity of the goods, or of property in the consignee.—HADDOW v. PARRY (1810), 3 Taunt. 303; 128 E. R. 120.

Annotations:—Refd. The Ida (1873), 29 L. T. 623, n.; Tully v. Terry (1873), 29 L. T. 36. Mentd. Middleton v. Melton (1829), 10 B. & C. 317.

2277. ——.]—JESSEL v. BATH, No. 1709, ante.

2278. ——.]—A bill of lading for antimony oxide ore stated that 937 tons had been shipped on board; in the margin was a typewritten clause: "A quantity said to be 937 tons," & in the body of the bill of lading was printed in ordinary type the clause: "weight, measurement, contents & value, except for the purpose of estimating freight, unknown":—Held: the bill of lading was not even primâ facie evidence of the quantity of ore shipped, & in an action against the shipowners for short delivery the onus was upon pltfs. of proving that 937 tons had in fact been shipped.—NEW CHINESE ANTIMONY Co., LTD. v. OCEAN S.S. Co., LTD., [1917] 2 K. B. 664; 86 L. J. K. B. 1417; 117 L. T. 297; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 131; 23 Com. Cas. 1, C. A.

Annotation:—Folld. North Shipping Co. v. Rank (1926), 136 L. T. 415.

2279. Qualification relating to weight & contents—Specific statement as to weight & contents.]—Bags of meal, 1,670 in number, all marked S.S.C.M., some weighing 12 stones, some 8 stones, were shipped on board deft.'s ship, & stowed indiscriminately. Deft., the master, signed two bills of lading in respect of two different portions of this cargo, one of which described the property intended to pass under it thus: "467 bags meal, gross 35 tons 9 cwt., under the subjoined marks, S.S.C.M." It also added, "Contents unknown, & not responsible for weight," etc.:—Held: under this bill of lading the defendant was bound to deliver 467 of the 12 stone bags, as the description of the evidence of the shipment of goods as represented therein, does not apply to cases between masters of vessels & owners of goods, but only between masters & consignees or indorsees for value.—ALLEN v. CHISHOLM (1873), 33 U. C. R. 237.—CAN.

---

1. Whether statutory provision renders bill conclusive.]—Notwithstanding Mercantile Law Act, 1880, s. 23 (sect. 15 of Act of 1908), a representation contained in a bill of lading that the goods therein specified have been shipped is not conclusive evidence of the fact, & the shipowner is entitled to show that the goods were not in fact shipped.—ROWE & SONS, LTD. v. UNION S.S. Co. OF NEW ZEALAND, LTD. (1909), 29 N. Z. L. R. 97.—N.Z.

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 7.—D.

2276 i. Bill of lading no longer conclusive.]—A bill of lading purporting to be for fifty tons of coal & containing a printed clause, "weight, contents, & value unknown," & similar words written above the signature of the master, does not amount to an admission by the master that he has received fifty tons of coal on board. Upon the true construction of Bills of Lading Act, 1856, s. 3, a bill of lading in the above form is not, in the hands of a consignee for value, conclusive evidence against the master of the shipment of fifty tons.—NICOL & Co. v. CASTLE (1872), 9 Bom. 331.—IND.

2276 ii. ——.]—CRAIG LINE S.S. Co. v. NORTH BRITISH STORAGE & TRANSIT Co., S.S. CRAIGFORTH, [1921] S. C. 114; 58 Sc. L. R. 132; [1920] 2 S. L. T. 418.—SCOT.

2279 i. Qualification relating to weight & contents—Specific statement as to weight & contents.]—Where a bill of lading contained the words, "weight & contents unknown":—Held: the owner of the goods covered by it had weight given in the bill of lading could only be satisfied by all the bags delivered being of the larger size.

It may be that the weight of those bags would not be exactly that mentioned in the bill of lading, & that the provision in the memorandum would protect the captain from being responsible if the bags were not full weight; but the mention of the weight in the contract is important, for the purpose of indicating to which bags the contract applied (WIGHTMAN, J.).—BRADLEY v. DUNIPACE (1862), 1 H. & C. 521; 32 L. J. Ex. 22, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Consd. Parsons v. New Zealand Shipping Co., [1901] 1 K. B. 548. Mentd. Spence v. Union Marine Insce. (1868), 37 L. J. C. P. 169.

2280. —— —— Effect of qualification on erroneous statement.]—LEBEAU v. GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., No. 1891, ante.

2281. —— Liability for loss—Necessity for proof of shipment.]—THE LEITH, BRIDREGOS v. GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1854), 3 L. T. 481.

2282. Qualification relating to quantity & quality—Right to freight on invoice quantity.]—The Avoca was chartered to ship a cargo of grain at Ibraila & deliver at a port in the United Kingdom on being paid freight, "7*s.* per imperial quarter delivered," & in event of any part of the cargo being delivered in a damaged condition, the freight should be payable "on the invoice quantity taken on board as per bill of lading, or half freight on the damaged or heated portion, at the captain's option." The cargo was shipped under a bill of lading, describing the quantity as 1,021 kilos., & the captain before signing the bill of lading added a memorandum, "quantity & quality unknown." The captain, on his arrival at a port in England, having experienced bad weather, gave notice to the indorsee of the bill of lading that he claimed to exercise the option given to him by the charter-party, & requested to be paid freight on the invoice quantity:—Held: the addition of the memorandum to the bill of lading, "quantity & quality unknown," did not take away the captain's right to be paid freight on the invoice quantity taken on board.—TULLY v. TERRY (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 679; 42 L. J. C. P. 240; 29 L. T. 36; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 61.

2283. —— Statement that cargo shipped in good order & well conditioned—Onus of proof as to damage.]—In a suit against shipowners for damage to cargo the onus is upon pltfs. to show in the first instance that the goods were shipped in good order & condition before they can call upon the shipowners to show excuse for the injury done to the goods.

A bill of lading stating that goods were shipped in good order & condition, but also containing an indorsement by the master, "quantity & quality unknown," does not admit, as against the shipowners, that the goods were shipped in good order & condition.

Evidence of the condition of goods on delivery tending to show that the damage sustained could not be accounted for by any damage existing at the time of shipment, & that such damage, had it existed, must have been noticed by the master or officer in charge of the ship at the time of shipment, will not, where goods are shipped under a bill of lading indorsed "quantity & quality unknown," satisfy the onus cast upon pltfs. seeking to recover against shipowners for damage to the goods. Positive evidence of the condition of the goods when shipped must be given.—THE PROSPERINO PALASSO (1873), 29 L. T. 622; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 158.

Annotation:—Dbtd. & N.F. The Ida (1875), 32 L. T. 541.

2284. —— —— ——.]—A bill of lading, stating goods to have been shipped in good order & condition, but indorsed by the master with the words "quality & quantity unknown" does not admit as against the shipowner that the goods were shipped in good order & condition.

There is no rule of law by which the consignee of goods under a bill of lading, stating goods to have been shipped in good order & condition, but containing the words "quantity & quality unknown" is bound to show that the goods were shipped in good order & condition, or fail in his suit against the shipowner for damage done to the cargo; but failing proof of the condition of the cargo when shipped, the consignee is bound to show that the damage which it sustained is traceable to causes for which the shipowner is responsible.—THE IDA (1875), 32 L. T. 541; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 551, P. C.

Annotations:—Reld. Compania Naviera Vasconzada v. Churchill & Sim, Same v. Burton, [1906] 1 K. B. 237; New Chinese Antimony Co. v. Ocean S.S. Co. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1417.

2285. —— ——.]—COMPANIA NAVIERA VASCONZADA v. CHURCHILL & SIM, SAME v. BURTON & CO., No. 2254, ante.

2286. —— ——.]—A master signing a bill of lading in which it is stated that the goods were "shipped in good order & condition" but which contained a memorandum of "weight, contents condition & if they arrive damaged the onus lies upon the shipowner to excuse himself from the damage.—THE PETER DER GROSSE (1876), 34 L. T. 749; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 195, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Crawford & Law v. Allan Line S.S. Co., [1912] A. C. 130.

2287. —— ——.]—A cargo of sugar in bags was shipped at a Mexican port for carriage to London. At the time of shipment the bags were in such a state that the mate made the following note on the receipt given by him:—"Very wet & stained by contents." The bills of lading signed by the master stated that the goods were "shipped in apparent good order & condition"; they also contained the following clause: "Weight, contents . . . unknown." When the vessel arrived in London it was found that the bags were much stained & the contents damaged, partly by moisture, partly by the leakage of moisture, through red marks on the bags which had, because of the moisture, stained the sugar. This damage was due, the judge found, to the sugar having been externally damaged before shipment, by water both fresh & salt. Pltfs., who were the indorsees of the bills of lading & had acted on them to their prejudice, sued the shipowners in respect of the damage:—Held: as the master had signed clean bills of lading, the shipowners were estopped from proving, in accordance with the fact, that the bags of sugar were in bad condition externally when shipped, & as, acco[illegible] to the bills of lading, the sugar was shipped apparently in good order & condition, & was in no right to require them to be weighed to ascertain if the weight agreed with the quantity stated in the bill of lading.—DOMVILLE v. FERGUSON (1877), 17 N. B. R. (1 P. & B.) 40.—CAN.

---

m. —— Statement that cargo shipped in good order & well conditioned.]—NEW ZEALAND SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. LEWIS'S, LTD., [1920] N. Z. L. R. 243.—N.Z.

n. —— ——.]—SESE v. TURNBULL, MARTIN & CO., [1927] N. Z. L. R. 476.—N.Z.

2285 i. Qualification relating to quantity & quality—Statement that cargo shipped in good order & well conditioned.]—THE BRITISH YEOMAN v. HUNT, LEUCHARS & HEPBURN, LTD. (1912), 33 N. L. R. 418.—S. AF.

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 7, D.; sub-sect. 8, A., B. & C.] fact delivered damaged by an external cause, the shipowners were liable to pltfs. for the difference between the value of sound sugar & the sugar as delivered.—MARTINEAUS, LTD. v. ROYAL STEAM PACKET CO., LTD. (1912), 106 L. T. 638; 28 T. L. R. 364; 56 Sol. Jo. 445; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 190; 17 Com. Cas. 176.

Annotation:—Refd. Brandt v. Liverpool, Brazil & River Plate Steam Navigation Co., [1924] 1 K. B. 575.

2288. —— ——.]—Pltfs. were the indorsees of a bill of lading for a cargo of potatoes shipped on board the defts.' vessel. Under the bill of lading the potatoes were described as "shipped in good order & condition," but at the foot of the bill of lading there were the qualifying words, "weight, quality, condition & measure unknown." The potatoes, to the knowledge of defts.' master who signed the bill of lading, were shipped in wet bags & in a damaged condition:—Held: (1) although defts. had guarded themselves by the qualifying words from making any representation as to the internal condition or quality of the potatoes, they had represented the external condition of the bags & were estopped from denying that the bags were dry when shipped; (2) as the main cause of the rotting of the potatoes was the wetness of the bags, the damage must be attributed to the treatment of the cargo by defts.' servants after shipment.—THE TROMP, [1921] P. 337; 90 L. J. P. 379; 125 L. T. 637; 37 T. L. R. 752; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 338.

2289. Qualification as to condition—Statement that cargo "shipped in good order & well conditioned"— Internal & external condition distinguished.]—THE TROMP, No. 2288, ante.

2290. Qualification "save as noted"—Statement that goods received in apparent good order & condition.]—In an action for damages to flour carried in defenders' steamship from New York to Glasgow, it appeared that the flour was dispatched under a through bill of lading from Minneapolis to Glasgow via New York, signed by an agent "on behalf of carriers severally & not jointly," & stating that the goods had been received at Minneapolis "in apparent good order except as noted." This bill of lading was subject to conditions dealing with the service up to the port of New York, which provided that no carrier should be liable for loss or damage not occurring on its own road or its portion of the through route nor after the property was ready for delivery to the next carrier or to consignee, & also that claims for loss or damage must be made to the agent at point of delivery promptly after arrival of the property, & if delayed for more than thirty days after the delivery of the property or after due time for the delivery thereof no carrier should be liable thereunder, & provided that the contract was executed & accomplished & all liability thereunder terminated on the delivery of the property to the steamer, her master, agents, or servants. Another part of the bill of lading dealing with the service after delivery at New York & until delivery at Glasgow provided that the steamer should not be liable for inland damage & should "only be responsible for such part of the goods as had been actually delivered to her at the port" of New York, & should not be liable for any loss or damage that might have occurred before such delivery, & also that the shipment until delivery at Glasgow should be subject to the American statute called the Harter Act. The receipts signed by defenders' agent & given to the inland carriers stated that 110 bags of flour were damaged by "caking." The flour was contained in over 41,000 bags. The flour after its arrival at Glasgow was found to be damaged by "caking" to the extent of 4,132 bags:—Held: defenders were bound by the statement contained in the bill of lading that the goods were received by them in "apparent good order & condition" save as noted, i.e., save as to 110 bags, & were therefore subject to the onus of proving that the damage, except so far as they had notified the inland carrier, was in fact done before they had possession of the flour; this onus had not been discharged; & defenders were liable.—CRAWFORD & LAW v. ALLAN LINE S.S. CO., LTD., [1912] A. C. 130; 81 L. J. P. C. 113; 105 L. T. 964; 28 T. L. R. 168; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 100; 17 Com. Cas. 135, H. L.

SUB-SECT. 8.—TRANSFER OF BILLS OF LADING.

A. In General.

2291. Whether transferable.]—EVANS v. MARTELL (OR MARLETT), No. 2172, ante.

2292. ——.]—Bills of lading are transferable & negotiable by the custom of merchants.—LICKBARROW v. MASON (1794), 5 Term Rep. 683; 101 E. R. 380; subsequent proceedings, 6 Term Rep. 131.

Annotations:—Expld. Thompson v. Dominy (1845), 14 M. & W. 403. Consd. Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74. Expld. Diamond Alkali Export Corpn. v. Bourgeois, [1921] 3 K. B. 443. Refd. Morison v. Gray (1824), 9 Moore, C. P. 484; Gurney v. Behrend (1854), 3 E. & B. 622; Griffiths v. Perry (1859), 1 E. & E. 680; Goodwin v. Robarts (1875), L. R. 10 Exch. 337; Glyn, Mills v. East & West India Dock Co. (1882), 7 App. Cas. 591; Bristol & West of England Bank v. Mid. Ry. (1891), 65 L. T. 234; Smith v. Prosser, [1907] 2 K. B. 735. Mentd. Slubey v. Heyward (1795), 2 Hy. Bl. 504; Brown v. Clarke (1843), 7 Jur. 1043; Cassaboglou v. Gibb (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 797.

2293. Bill a living instrument—Until shipowner's engagement fully completed.]—BARBER v. MEYERSTEIN, No. 2371, post.

2294. Assignment in part payment of debt—Debt due from assignor to assignee—Whether assignment for valuable consideration.]—(1) An assignee of a bill of lading may have a better right against the shipowner to recover for breach of the contract of carriage than the assignor.

(2) A bill of lading assigned in part payment of a debt already due from assignor to assignee is assigned for valuable consideration.

(3) The rights of an innocent holder of a bill of lading are not affected by the fact that the master signed as agent for the charterers, unless the holder has notice of the charterparty, or that the master signed in that capacity.

(4) An assignee of a bill of lading who has given valuable consideration without notice of any arrangement between the shipper & the various consignees giving priority to the holders of the other bills of lading in the case of short shipment may claim from the shipowner full delivery of the cargo specified in his bill of lading, even though the arrangement has been made without the privity of the shipowner & the master has indorsed

2289 i. Qualification as to condition—Statement that cargo "shipped in good order & well conditioned"—Internal & external condition distinguished.]—ARNDT & COHEN v. D. A. DAMPSCHIFFS GESELLSCHAFT (1906), 23 S. C. 324.—S. AF.

o. —— —— Condition apparent to master.]—BLAINE & CO. v. MOLLER (1882), 2 S. C. 133.—S. AF.

p. —— ——.]—A shipping co. is not estopped, by the recital in a bill of lading that the goods were received in good order & condition, from showing that damage sustained in transit was caused by the insufficient protection provided by the cases in which the goods were conveyed.—KOCH v. UNION CASTLE S.S. CO., LTD., [1913] E. D. L. 286.—S. AF.

the bill of lading with the words "weight unknown."

(5) An indorsee of a bill of lading has the same rights & liabilities as if the original contract had been made with him.

(6) When a ship is sub-chartered the ct. generally will not conclude that the master has signed as agent for the sub-charterers, unless he signs in terms as agent for them or gives notice of the sub-charter.

(7) A letter written by an assignor of a bill of lading to his assignee, informing the latter that the bankruptcy of the shipper & consignor (who has indorsed to the assignor) may possibly interfere with the proceeds of the shipment, so far as the assignor is concerned, & that he thinks it best to prevent the possibility of a hitch to send the bill of lading for the assignees to deal with, the latter having advanced money thereon, is not such a notice as will oblige the assignee to make inquiries as to the quantity of & the various rights to the cargo, so as to bind the assignee with constructive notice of any arrangement between the shipper & various consignees, giving priority to the holders of other bills of lading in the case of short shipment.—THE EMILIEN MARIE (1875), 44 L. J. Adm. 9; 32 L. T. 435; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 514.

Annotation:—Generally, Refd. Parsons v. New Zealand Shipping Co. (1900), 69 L. J. Q. B. 419.

Sufficiency of delivery by bill of lading.]—See SALE OF GOODS, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 575–578, Nos. 1801–1803, 1809–1814.

B. Mode of Transfer.

2295. Distinction between indorsement in blank & special indorsement.]—There is no distinction between a bill of lading indorsed in blank & an indorsement to a particular person.—LICKBARROW v. MASON (1793), 4 Bro. Parl. Cas. 57; 6 East, 22, n.; 2 E. R. 39, H. L.; revsg. S. C. sub nom. MASON v. LICKBARROW (1790), 1 Hy. Bl. 357, Ex. Ch.; subsequent proceedings (1794), 5 Term Rep. 683.

Annotations:—Consd. Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74. Refd. Salomons v. Nissen (1788), 2 Term Rep. 674; Coxe v. Harden (1803), 4 East, 211; Walley v. Montgomery (1803), 3 East, 585; Newsom v. Thornton (1805), 6 East, 17; Christy v. Row (1808), 1 Taunt. 300; Martini v. Coles (1813), 1 M. & S. 140; Patten v. Thompson (1816), 5 M. & S. 350; Re Westzynthius (1833), 2 Nev. & M. K. B. 644; Grant v. Norway (1851), 10 C. B. 665; Gurney v. Behrend (1854), 3 E. & B. 622; Griffiths v. Perry (1859), 1 E. & E. 680; Re North British Australasian Co. & Joint Stock Cos. Acts, 1856 & 1857, Ex p. Swan (1859), 7 C. B. N. S. 400; Swan v. North British Australasian Co. (1863), 2 H. & C. 175; The Tigress (1863), Brown. & Lush. 38; The Marie Joseph (1866), Brown. & Lush. 449; The Freedom (1871), L. R. 3 P. C. 594; Goodwin v. Robarts (1875), L. R. 10 Exch. 337; Leask v. Scott (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 376; Glyn, Mills v. East & West India Dock Co. (1882), 7 App. Cas. 591. Mentd. Slubey v. Heyward (1795), 2 Hy. Bl. 504; Bloxam v. Sanders (1825), 4 B. & C. 941; Giles v. Grover (1832), 9 Bing. 128; Gibson v. Carruthers (1841), 8 M. & W. 321; Brown v. Clarke (1843), 7 Jur. 1043; Taylor v. Great Indian Peninsular Ry. (1859), 28 L. J. Ch. 285; The Figlia Maggiore (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 106; Rodger v. Comptoir D'Escompte de Paris (1869), L. R. 2 P. C. 393; Chartered Bank of India, Australia & China v. Henderson (1874), L. R. 5 P. C. 501; Arnold v. Cheque Bank, Arnold v. City Bank (1876), 1 C. P. D. 578; Re Knight, Ex p. Golding Davis (1880), 42 L. T. 270; Cassaboglou v. Gibb (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 797; Nahmaschinen Fabrik Act. v. Pickford & Lee & Harris (1888), 4 T. L. R. 617; Bank of England v. Vagliano, [1891] A. C. 107; Nash v. De Freville, [1900] 2 Q. B. 72; Farquharson v. King, [1902] A. C. 325; Rimmer v. Webster, [1902] 2 Ch. 163; Booth S.S. Co. v. Cargo Fleet Iron Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 570; London Joint Stock Bank v. Macmillan & Arthur, [1918] A. C. 777; McDonald v. Nash, [1924] A. C. 625; Commonwealth Trust v. Akotey, [1926] A. C. 72; Jones v. Waring & Gillow, [1926] A. C. 670.

2296. ——.]—SEWELL v. BURDICK, No. 2186, ante.

2297. Whether mere delivery sufficient.]—(1) The bonâ fide transferee, for value, of a bill of lading, indorsed by the shipper or his consignee, & put into circulation by the authority of the shipper or consignee, has an absolute title to the goods, freed from the equitable right of the unpaid vendor to stop in transitu, as against the purchaser.

(2) A bill of lading is not, like a bill of exchange or promissory note, a negotiable instrument, which passes by mere delivery to a bonâ fide transferee for valuable consideration, without regard to the title of the parties who make the transfer. . . . The bill of lading only represents the goods; &, in this instance, the transfer of the symbol does not operate more than a transfer of what is represented (LORD CAMPBELL, C.J.).—GURNEY v. BEHREND (1854), 3 E. & B. 622; 23 L. J. Q. B. 265; 23 L. T. O. S. 89; 18 Jur. 856; 2 W. R. 425; 118 E. R. 1275.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. The Argentina (1867), L. R. 1 A. & E. 370. Consd. Coventry v. Gladstone (1867), L. R. 4 Eq. 493. Refd. The Tigress (1863), Brown. & Lush. 38; Leask v. Scott (1877), 46 L. J. Q. B. 576; Glyn, Mills v. East & West India Dock Co. (1882), 47 L. T. 309. As to (2) Consd. Pease v. Gloahec, The Marie Joseph (1866), L. R. 1 P. C. 219. Generally, Refd. Shepherd v. Harrison (1869), L. R. 4 Q. B. 196.

2298. Indorsement & delivery.]—SANDERS v. MACLEAN, No. 2373, post.

2299. Nature of indorsement in blank.]—SEWELL v. BURDICK, No. 2186, ante.

C. Bills in a Set.

2300. Who is holder of bill of lading—First indorsee.]—(1) Where several bills of lading have been signed of different imports, no reference is to be had to the time when they were signed by the captain; but the person who first gets one of them by a legal title from the owner or shipper, has a right to the consignment.

(2) Where such bills of lading, though different upon the face of them, are constructively the same, & the captain has acted bonâ fide, a delivery according to such legal title will discharge him from them all.—CALDWELL v. BALL (1786), 1 Term Rep. 205; 99 E. R. 1053.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Hibbert v. Carter (1787), 1 Term Rep. 745. Refd. Lickbarrow v. Mason (1793), 6 East, 21, n.

2301. —— —— Shipowner's contract to deliver not completed—Goods remaining subject to lien for freight.]—BARBER v. MEYERSTEIN, No. 2371, post.

2302. —— —— Indorsee having notice of defect in assignor's title—Indorsed till inadvertently sent to consignee.]—Corn merchants in California agreed to send cargoes of wheat to a miller in England, the reimbursement to be by his acceptance against bill of lading. The corn merchants shipped a cargo, & made out the bill of lading in six parts. Three parts, with corresponding bills of exchange drawn on the miller for the price of the cargo, were indorsed by the corn merchants, & transferred to

---

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 8.—B.

2297 i. Whether mere delivery sufficient.]—In an action for freight in which the question of liability arose:—Held: a bill of lading could be transferred by mere delivery without indorsement.—FOWLER v. MEIKLEHAM (1858), 7 L. C. R. 367.—CAN.

2297 ii. ——.]—FOWLER v. STIRLING (1858), 3 L. C. J. 103.—CAN.

q. Whether indorsement in blank sufficient.]—Indorsement of the bill of lading in blank is sufficient, without specifying that it is indorsed to secure the note discounted.—ROYAL CANADIAN BANK v. CARRUTHERS (1870), 28 U. C. R. 578; affd., 29 U. C. R. 283.—CAN.

r. Retransfer by cancellation of indorsement.]—Goods assigned in transitu by indorsement of a bill of lading may be revested in the assignor by cancelling the indorsement on the bill of lading.—STALKER v. WIER (1854), 2 N. S. R. (James) 248.—CAN.

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 8, C., D., E. & F.]

a Californian bank for valuable consideration. These bills of exchange were, with the bills of lading annexed, accepted by the miller. One indorsed part of the bill of lading was inadvertently sent by the corn dealers to the miller, & by him transferred to an English bank for valuable consideration. The bills of exchange were not met by the miller:—Held: (1) the corn merchants were entitled to deal as they did with the cargo by transferring the bills of lading; (2) the English bank could not, under the circumstances, claim as holders of the bill of lading without notice; & the English bank had no priority; (3) qu.: whether the miller might not have refused to accept the bills of exchange unless the bills of lading were delivered to him.

In no other way can the vendor protect himself, under these circumstances, against the contingency of the acceptance even of the bills of exchange being refused. The contract that he is to be reimbursed by acceptances against bills of lading cannot possibly disable him from dealing in the ordinary course of mercantile business with the bills of lading for his own protection so as to secure himself against liabilities upon the bills that he draws, at all events before they are accepted (LORD SELBORNE, C.).—GILBERT v. GUIGNON (1872), 8 Ch. App. 16; 27 L. T. 733; 21 W. R. 281; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 498, L. C.

2303. —— Variation in parts of bill—Whether time of captain's signature considered.]—CALDWELL v. BALL, No. 2300, ante.

2304. Indorsement & delivery of one bill—Whether indorsement of all.]—THE TIGRESS, No. 2368, post.

To whom delivery may be made.]—See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 4, B., post.

D. Transfer by Agent.

2305. Factor.]—WRIGHT v. CAMPBELL (1767), 4 Burr. 2046; 1 Wm. Bl. 628; 98 E. R. 66.

Annotations:—Consd. Salomons v. Nissen (1738), 2 Term Rep. 674. Apld. Lickbarrow v. Mason (1793), 6 East, 21, n. Distd. Newsom v. Thornton (1805), 6 East, 17. Reld. Caldwell v. Ball (1786), 1 Term Rep. 205; Kinloch v. Craig (1790), 3 Term Rep. 783; Pickering v. Busk (1812), 15 East, 38; Glyn, Mills v. East & West India Dock Co. (1882), 7 App. Cas. 591; Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74.

2306. —— Indorsee not knowing that agent is factor.]—A factor cannot pledge the goods of his principal by indorsement & delivery of the bill of lading, any more than by the delivery of the goods themselves; though the indorsee knew not that he was factor, & where goods were consigned on the joint account of the consignors & consignee & a bill of lading was sent to deliver the goods to the consignee or his assigns, who afterwards indorsed & delivered it to defts. upon condition of their making an advance to him on it, which they failed to do, but claimed to retain it as a security for prior advances:—Held: such indorsement & delivery of the bill of lading did not devest the consignors' right to stop the goods in transitu upon the insolvency of the consignee, who had not paid for them.—NEWSOM v. THORNTON (1805), 6 East, 17; 2 Smith, K. B. 207; 102 E. R. 1189.

Annotations Apprvd. Rodger v. P. C. 393.

2307. —— ——.]—A factor cannot pledge the goods of his principal: therefore where goods were consigned from abroad to a factor to be sold on account of the consignor, & a bill of lading was sent to deliver the goods to the factor or his assigns, & the factor afterwards indorsed & delivered the bill of lading, together with the goods, to defts., as brokers, with instructions to do the needful, & defts. made advances to him on the credit of those & other goods, without knowing that he was not the owner of them:—Held: defts. could not retain the goods against the consignor until payment of the debt due to them from the factor on account of these advances.—MARTINI v. COLES (1813), 1 M. & S. 140; 105 E. R. 53.

Annotations:—Apld. Guichard v. Morgan (1819), 4 Moore, C. P. 36. Consd. Fielding v. Kymer (1821), 2 Brod. & Bing. 639. Apld. Mellish v. Cattley (1826), 5 L. J. O. S. K. B. 74. Reld. Wilson v. Moore (1834), 1 My. & K. 337

2308. —— Indorsement by way of pledge.]—VAN CASTEEL v. BOOKER, No. 2180, ante.

2309. Agent for management of property consigned from abroad.]—Where sugars were shipped from abroad under a bill of lading, which expressed that they were on account of pltfs. & were to be delivered to assigns & W. who were the agents of pltfs. for the management of their property consigned from abroad, indorsed the bill of lading together with the other bills of lading comprising the rest of the cargo to defts. & drew bills upon them for the amount of the whole cargo, which defts. accepted & paid, & sold the sugars at two months' credit, at the expiration of which they carried the amount of the proceeds to the account of W. who in the interval between the sale & the expiration of the credit had become bkpts.:—Held: pltfs. were entitled to recover the proceeds of such sale from defts.—SHIPLEY v. KYMER (1813), 1 M. & S. 484; 105 E. R. 181.

Annotation:—Consd. Graham v. Dyster (1817), 6 M. & S. 1.

2310. ——.]—An assignee of a bill of lading is entitled to the goods therein named if he is a bonâ fide assignee for value, without notice of fraud or insolvency on the part of the person to whom the goods were consigned. G., jun., a merchant of New York, shipped for Bristol in the Argentina, three parcels of oilcake, two parcels for G., sen., his correspondent there, & the third for S. The bills of lading for all three parcels, in triplicate, he sent to G., sen., strictly enjoining him not to part with the bill of lading of S.'s parcel to him "without first receiving payment." G., jun., drew a bill of exchange for the whole value of the parcels on G., sen., which was discounted. S. subsequently induced G., sen., to deliver to him his bill of lading, on giving a bill of exchange on one B., & a promise of immediate payment of the cash. S., having indorsed the bill of lading to R. for value, became bkpt., as also did B. On the arrival of the vessel, R. had notice served on the master not to deliver the goods but to his order. G., sen., presented one of the copies of the bill of lading, which he had retained, & demanded the delivery of the third parcel shipped for S., as well as the other two, to which his title was undisputed. The master refused to deliver the third parcel, & retained thirty-two barrels out of the other parcels for the alleged non-payment of freight, & also refused to deliver the third parcel to R. Two suits were brought against the vessel, one by G., sen., for the non-delivery of the third parcel & the thirty-two barrels retained for freight; & the other by R., for the non-delivery of the third parcel to his order. The two suits having been heard together, the ct. dismissed the claim of G., sen., with costs:—Held: R. was a bonâ fide assignee for value, without notice of fraud; G., sen., had authority to deliver the bill to S., as the words in the instruction from G., jun., were ambiguous; R. was entitled to the goods, & to the costs of his suit against the owners of the vessel.—THE ARGENTINA (1867), L. R. 1 A. & E. 370; 16 L. T. 743; 2 Mar. L. C. 529.

E. Transfer to Agent.

2311. Whether property passes—Transfer to enable agent to receive goods on behalf of principal.]—The consignor of goods abroad upon receipt of orders from a correspondent here, ships goods on account & at the risk of the consignee & takes bills of lading from the captain making the goods deliverable to the consignor's own order & transmits one of such bills unindorsed with the invoice to the consignee, inclosed in a letter informing him that he had drawn upon him for the amount; which he doubted not would meet due honour & close the account; & the consignor by way of precaution, also sent another bill of lading indorsed to his own agent:—Held: upon the shipment on account & at the risk of the consignee the property in the goods vested in him, subject only to be divested by the consignor's stopping them while in transitu; & upon the arrival of the goods the consignee having obtained possession of them from the captain by the production of his unindorsed bill of lading, the property became absolute in the consignee, however wrongfully parted with by the captain without a competent authority from the shipper & however answerable the captain might be to the shipper on that account. Qu.: whether the mere indorsement of a bill of lading to an agent to enable him to receive the goods on account of his principal without any consideration will enable such agent to maintain trover in his own name for the goods. Semble: not.—COXE v. HARDEN (1803), 4 East, 211; 1 Smith, K. B. 20; 102 E. R. 811.

Annotations:—Distd. Morison v. Gray (1824), 2 Bing. 260; Brandt v. Bowlby (1831), 2 B. & Ad. 932; Mitchel v. Ede (1840), 11 Ad. & El. 888. Expld. Turner v. Liverpool Docks Trustees (1851), 6 Exch. 543. Consd. Shepherd v. Harrison (1871), L. R. 5 H. L. 116; Burgos v. Nascimento (1908), 100 L. T. 71. Reld. Seagrave v. Union Marine Insce. (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 305.

2312. —— Agent authorised to stop goods in transitu.]—The indorsement of a bill of lading without consideration, does not transfer any property in the goods; & therefore the mere indorsement of a bill of lading by the consignor to an agent to authorise him to stop the goods in transitu on account of the principal, will not enable such agent to maintain assumpsit or trover for the goods in his own name.—WARING v. COX (1808), 1 Camp. 369; 170 E. R. 989, N. P.

Annotations:—Distd. Morison v. Gray (1824), 2 Bing. 260. Consd. Thompson v. Dominy (1845), 14 M. & W. 403; Burgos v. Nascimento (1908), 100 L. T. 71. Mentd. Johnston v. Orr Ewing (1882), 7 App. Cas. 219.

2313. —— ——.]—H. shipped goods at Dundee to the order of, & for P. in London. H. having ascertained shortly after the goods had been forwarded that P. had stopped payment, indorsed & forwarded the bill of lading to pltf., who demanded the goods of defts., wharfingers, in whose custody they were. Defts. having refused to deliver the goods to pltf.:—Held: he had a sufficient title to sue for them in trover.—MORISON v. GRAY (1824), 2 Bing. 260; 9 Moore, C. P. 484; 3 L. J. O. S. C. P. 261; 130 E. R. 305.

Annotation:—Expld. Burgos v. Nascimento (1908), 100 L. T. 71.

2314. —— Instruction to sell goods for consignor.]—Pltf. consigned to E. F. certain goods under a bill of lading. E. F. on receiving the bill of lading, & before he had taken physical possession of the goods, indorsed it to G. his clerk, & directed him to sell the goods & account for the proceeds to pltf.; he then executed a deed of assignment to G. for the benefit of his creditors, & was subsequently adjudged bkpt. Pltf. & the trustee in bkpcy., deft. in the action, both claimed the proceeds of the sale, & an interpleader issue was directed. At the trial the jury found that the property in the goods had passed to E. F. & that he had acted as he had done, because he believed the goods were pltf.'s & not because he wished to prefer the latter:—Held: the indorsement of the bill of lading to G. did not pass the property to G. as agent for pltf. or otherwise, & the goods were still part of E. F.'s estate at the moment of executing the deed of assignment, & under Bankruptcy Act, 1883 (c. 52), s. 43, the trustee in bkpcy. was entitled to recover the proceeds of the sale.—LAURITZEN v. CARR (1894), 72 L. T. 56; 11 T. L. R. 164.

2315. —— Transfer to enable agent to warehouse goods for consignee.]—BURGOS v. NASCIMENTO, MCKEAND, CLAIMANT, No. 2358, post.

2316. Factor entrusted with bill of lading—For purpose of selling goods—Whether factor entrusted with dock warrant.]—A party entrusted with the bill of lading for the purpose of selling the goods mentioned in it, is not, in consequence of being so entrusted, to be considered as entrusted with the dock warrant, notwithstanding that his possession of the bill of lading, & of the goods under it, enables him to obtain the dock warrant.

A., residing abroad, being the owner of goods, consigned them by a bill of lading, making them deliverable in London to the consignee or his assigns; & having indorsed the bill of lading in blank, transmitted it to his factor, with instructions to receive & sell the goods. The factor received the goods, entered them in his own name at the custom house, & obtained, without the privity or express consent of the owner, a dock warrant in his own name, it being the usage at the docks to give such document to the person in whose name they are entered, & pledged such dock warrant for advances beyond the charges for which the factor had a lien:—Held: under these circumstances, the factor was not entrusted with a dock warrant, within 6 Geo. 4. c. 94, s. 2.—HATFIELD v. PHILLIPS (1845), 14 M. & W. 665; 12 Cl. & Fin. 343; 10 Jur. 189; 153 E. R. 642, H. L.; affg. (1842), 9 M. & W. 647, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Reld. Bonzi v. Stewart (1842), 4 Man. & G. 295; Sheppard v. Union Bank of London (1862), 7 H. & N. 661; Baines v. Swainson (1863), 8 L. T. 536; Cole v. North Western Bank (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 354.

F. Transfer by Way of Mortgage or Pledge.

2317. What constitutes pledge—Delivery of bill to secure advances—Necessity for transfer of possession of goods.]—BARBER v. MEYERSTEIN, No. 2371, post.

2318. —— Sale of draft to banker—Bill of lading indorsed & attached.]—A shipper of goods deliverable to his order who sells to bankers a draft on the buyers for the price in a foreign currency, with the bill of lading & policy indorsed & attached,

---

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 3.—E.

t. Whether property passes.]—BLAKE v. BELFAST DISCOUNT CO. (1880), 5 L. R. Ir. 410.—IR.

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 3.—F.

a. Effect of indorsement—Transfer of property—Valid against execution creditor.]—LANARK & RENFREW CORPNS. v. CAMERON (1859), 9 C. P. 109.—CAN.

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 8, F. & G. (a)

does not thereby indicate an intention to pass the property in the goods to the bankers.

The claimant . . . was intending to describe the usual transaction, in which he would retain the general property & transfer to the bank only a special property by way of security (LORD SUMNER).—THE ORTERIC, [1920] A. C. 724; 123 L. T. 448; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 10; sub nom. NEWING v. PROCURATOR-GENERAL, ORTERIC (PART CARGO EX), 89 L. J. P. 209, P. C.

2319. Effect of indorsement—Whether valid against assignees in bankruptcy—Act of bankruptcy committed by assignor—Between assignment of goods & indorsement of bill of lading.]—An assignment of goods at sea as a collateral security for a debt, & a subsequent indorsement of a bill of lading, are good as against the assignees of the assignor, who committed an act of bkpcy. between the assignment of the goods & the indorsement of the bill of lading. Goods delivered to a person claiming them wrongfully, who pays freight & other charges, cannot be detained for those expenses against the rightful owner.—LEMPRIÈRE v. PASLEY (1788), 2 Term Rep. 485; 100 E. R. 262.

Annotations:—Refd. Walley v. Montgomery (1803), 3 East, 585; Lucas v. Dorrien (1817), 7 Taunt. 278; Nichols v. Clent (1817), 3 Price, 547; Burn v. Carvalho (1834), 1 Ad. & El. 883; Belcher v. Oldfield (1839), 6 Bing. N. C. 102; Belcher v. Capper (1842), 4 Man. & G. 502; Peruvian Guano Co. v. Dreyfus (1887), [1892] A. C. 170, n. Mentd. Re Severn, Ex p. Tennyson (1832), Mont. & B. 67.

2320. —— Whether pledge operates as pledge of freight—Shipowner part owner of goods specified in bill—Pledge with shipowner's consent.]—The owner of a vessel & part owner of the cargo sanctioning a pledge by his partners of the bills of lading, which were signed for the delivery of the goods on payment of freight, pledges the goods & the freight of them together, unless the freight be expressed to be excepted.—GROTE v. MILNE (1811), 4 Taunt. 133; 128 E. R. 279.

2321. —— Transfer of property—Intention to operate by way of pledge.]—SEWELL v. BURDICK, No. 2186, ante.

2322. —— —— What title conferred on indorsee.]—SEWELL v. BURDICK, No. 2186, ante.

2323. —— —— How indorsee assumes title—Claiming & taking delivery of goods by virtue of title.]—SEWELL v. BURDICK, No. 2186, ante.

2324. —— —— Sale of draft to banker—Bill of lading indorsed & attached.]—THE ORTERIC, No. 2318, ante.

2325. —— —— Under Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), s. 1.]—BRANDT v. LIVERPOOL, BRAZIL & RIVER PLATE STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD., No. 2257, ante.

2326. —— Whether pledgor divested of all interest in goods.]—Where pltfs. in an action for damage to cargo had indorsed their bills of lading to the bank to secure advances:—Held: they retained an interest in the cargo sufficient to enable them to maintain their suit, the money recovered to be for the benefit of the parties shown to be entitled thereto.—THE GLAMORGANSHIRE (1888), 13 App. Cas. 454; 59 L. T. 572; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 344, P. C.

Annotation:—Apld. The Joannis Vatis, [1922], P. 92.

2327. Improper detention of bill of lading—Right of pledgee to recover.]—Pltf. was in the habit of receiving goods consigned to him by L. for sale upon commission, & in order to place L. in funds for the purchase of the goods, agreed to allow L. to draw upon him. The documents of title of the goods were hypothecated to pltf. to enable him to provide funds to meet the bills so drawn by L. Pltf. accordingly, & at the request of L., arranged for the sale of a parcel of goods, to be shipped by a vessel chartered by the buyers, & L., having drawn upon pltf. for that purpose, purchased & shipped the goods. The bill of lading was handed to L., but never forwarded to pltf., & L.'s affairs being put in liquidation, the liquidator placed the bill of lading in the hands of defts. with instructions not to part with it until they were paid the value of the goods, & they accordingly refused to give it up to pltf.:—Held: pltf. had an equitable right to the bill of lading, & was entitled to sue defts. for the wrongful detention of it.—LUTSCHER v. COMPTOIR D'ESCOMPTE DE PARIS (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 709; 34 L. T. 798; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 209, D. C.

2328. Pledge by principal—Security substituted by agent for goods sold by him—Recovery of substituted goods by assignees in bankruptcy of principal—Against pledgees.]—(1) A merchant pledges for value the bills of lading of an expected cargo, his property, in the profits of which his agents abroad were interested in a certain proportion. His agents without the knowledge of the owner or the pawnees, disposed of part of the cargo abroad, after which the owner becomes a bkpt.; he induces the agents to replace the goods disposed of, by others, of which the agents give him bills of lading, & he sends them to the pawnees, to make good their security:—Held: the assignees of the bkpt. might recover the substituted goods against the pawnees.

(2) A bill of lading is not a necessary instrument of the transfer of property in goods consigned to the owner. An agent who is paid by a proportion of the profits of the adventure, is not therefore a partner in the goods.—MEYER v. SHARPE (1813), 5 Taunt. 74; 128 E. R. 614.

2329. Who are pledgees — Transferees of pledgees.]—BRISTOL & WEST OF ENGLAND BANK v. MIDLAND RY. CO., No. 2435, post.

G. Protection of Seller.

(a) Reservation of Right of Disposal.

See, generally, SALE OF GOODS, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 512–521, Nos. 1302–1365.

(b) Drawing on Consignees for Price.

i. In General.

See, generally, SALE OF GOODS, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 518–521.

2330. Transmission of bills of exchange for acceptance with bills of lading—Transaction based on genuine character of bill of lading.]—H. drew a bill of exchange on pltf., & induced him to accept it, by sending with it a forged bill of lading. H. then indorsed the bill of exchange to defts. for value without notice of the forgery. Pltf. filed a bill against the indorsees to restrain them from suing him at law, & praying that the bill might be delivered up to be cancelled:—Held: the fraud practised on the acceptor was no defence against the indorsees for value.—THIEDEMANN v. GOLDSCHMIDT (1859), 1 De G. F. & J. 4; 1 L. T. 50; 8 W. R. 14; 45 E. R. 260, L. C. & L. JJ.

Annotations:—Consd. Leather v. Simpson (1871), L. R. 11 Eq. 398. Mentd. G. W. Ry. v. London & County Banking Co., [1900] 2 Q. B. 464; Guaranty Trust Co. of New York v. Hannay, [1918] 2 K. B. 623.

2331. —— Representation that bill of lading authentic.]—THIEDEMANN v. GOLDSCHMIDT, No. 2330, ante.

2332. —— Forged bill of lading—Enforcement of payment restrained.]—THIEDEMANN v. GOLDSCHMIDT, No. 2330, ante.

2333. Agreement to accept at ninety days' sight—At what period shipper may draw bill.]—A. & B., merchants in London, being applied to on behalf of C., resident at Demerara, to give him a letter of credit for £30,000 to enable him to purchase produce to load certain vessels for the port of London, & to accept his drafts at ninety days' sight on receiving invoice, bill of lading, & orders for insurance to the extent of certain fixed prices for various kinds of produce, wrote to C., stating that they consented to make the advances required upon the terms described; & that upon receiving the documents before mentioned, & no irregularity appearing, they would accept his drafts at the usual date to the extent of £30,000. C. shipped produce to the value of £800 on board one vessel, & to the value of £1,600 on board another, & sent the necessary documents to B. & C., & directed the surplus of the proceeds of the first cargo, after repaying the advances of A. & B., should be paid to D. in London, & that the surplus of the second should be held by them to abide by his future advice. C. afterwards drew a bill upon A. & B. for £500 at six months' sight, & did not specify to the account of which cargo it was to be charged. A. & B. refused to accept it, & C. having thereupon brought an action against them:—Held: (1) C. was not bound to draw at ninety days, but might draw at any usual date, & that six months could not be considered unusual, the jury not having found it to be so; (2) C. was not bound to specify to which cargo the bill was to be charged; for, in the absence of any direction by him, A. & B. might charge it to either at their election.—LAING v. BARCLAY (1823), 1 B. & C. 398; 2 Dow. & Ry. K. B. 530; 1 L. J. O. S. K. B. 135; 107 E. R. 148.

2334. Whether drawer must specify cargo to which bill is to attach.]—LAING v. BARCLAY, No. 2333, ante.

2335. Right to refuse bills of exchange—No privity of contract—Necessity for express contract between parties—Effect of indorsement of bill of lading.]—Pltfs., merchants at New York, by direction & on account of B., forwarded to deft., a commission agent at Hull, employed by B., the invoices & bills of lading of two cargoes, against which they drew upon deft. bills, which he accepted & paid. Deft. sold the cargoes, which did not realise enough to cover the amount of his acceptances. Pltfs. afterwards by direction of B., forwarded to deft. the invoice & bill of lading of another cargo, which had been purchased by B. with money supplied by pltfs. & the bills of lading of which had been specially indorsed to them as a security, & were by them specially indorsed to deft.; pltfs. at the same time stating that they had, by direction of B. drawn upon deft. for part of the price. Deft., without knowing that pltfs. had made advances to B. took the bill of lading, disposed of the cargo, & placed the proceeds to the credit of B.:—Held: deft. was not bound, as between himself & pltfs., to accept the bills drawn against the last cargo, because no privity could arise between pltfs. & deft. except by express contract; & the indorsement of the bill of lading by pltfs. to deft. & his receiving it & disposing of the cargo, did not, under the circumstances, create such a contract.—DEPPERMAN v. HUBBERSTY (1852), 17 Q. B. 766; 117 E. R. 1474.

2336. —— Objection to bill of lading—Inclusion of other goods—Waiver of objection.]—Pltfs., a continental bank, having contracted to sell & ship to defts. 1,400 quarters of rye, to be paid for by an acceptance at three months, put the rye on board the Agatha. The vessel proved to be capable of containing from 200 to 300 quarters more grain than the quantity shipped, & therefore pltfs. filled up the vacant space with maize. One bill of lading only was given for the cargo, & pltfs. wrote on Apr. 24 to defts., with the invoices & drafts: "The maize is on the same bill of lading as the rye . . . as there would, no doubt, be a loss on the maize, we presume you will wish to leave it for account of shippers; but if you will accept the bill we will get an undertaking from the bank to hold you harmless for so doing." Defts., who had made a subsale of the cargo, replied: "The drafts & invoices of this cargo are to hand, & we observe that the bills of lading are in the hands of the . . . bank. We think . . . we are entitled to ask a guarantee from the bank that the Agatha shall deliver the weight specified in the invoice. Would you have the kindness to ask the bank for this, & telegraph to us . . . their acquiescence, or the contrary. We would be obliged also by a copy, or the original, of the charterparty, & copy of the bill of lading for our Govt. We leave, as you suggest, the maize to the shippers; the transaction in rye is a very bad one. We return you enclosed draft invoices of maize." On May 8 defts. refused to accept the bill of exchange for the rye, upon the ground that pltfs. had not given them a proper bill of lading. In an action for such non-acceptance:—Held: defts. had, by a new agreement, waived any objection to the bill of lading in respect of the maize being included therein, & were therefore liable.—IMPERIAL OTTOMAN BANK v. COWAN (1874), 31 L. T. 336; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 418, Ex. Ch.

2337. —— Unless bill of lading delivered.]—GILBERT v. GUIGNON, No. 2302, ante.

2338. Right to bills of lading after acceptance.]—The agent & manager of the business of a London firm who resided in Sweden, gave to a merchant there about to draw bills on that firm an assurance that the bills would be accepted; whereon bills of lading of cargoes of timber were transmitted to the London firm, & bills of exchange were drawn against them:—Held: this assurance, though thus made & acted on, was not as between the London firm & the foreign merchants to be treated as equivalent to an acceptance of the bills, so as to vest in the London firm legal rights from the time of such assurance given.—HOARE v. DRESSER (1859), 7 H. L. Cas. 290; 28 L. J. Ch. 611; 33 L. T. O. S. 63; 5 Jur. N. S. 371; 7 W. R. 374; 11 E. R. 116, H. L.; revsg. S. C. sub nom. DRESSER v. HOARE (1856), 26 L. J. Ch. 51, L. JJ.

Annotation:—Consd. Ite Wait, [1927] 1 Ch. 606.

2339. Assurance of acceptance by consignee—Whether equivalent to acceptance.]—HOARE v. DRESSER, No. 2338, ante.

2340. Appropriation of cargo to bill of exchange.]—A direction by consignor to consignee to place the invoice price of goods to his credit & the bills drawn against him to his debit does not amount to an appropriation of the goods to protect the bills.

A firm of merchants in England employed a firm of merchants in South America as their agents to purchase goods & send them to England. The foreign firm drew bills on the English firm & sold them in South America, & with the proceeds purchased goods which they shipped to England, sending the bills of lading directly to the English firm, & at the same time advising them of the drawing of the bills, by means of which they had purchased the goods, & requesting them to carry the invoice price of the goods to their account. The English firm went into liquidation, & the foreign firm also became bkpt. When the English firm stopped payment a cargo of goods was in transitu, & some of the bills drawn for purchasing them had been accepted by the English firm, but not paid, & others had not been accepted. The trustee in the liquidation took possession of the cargo on its arrival. The creditors of the foreign firm claimed to have the goods appropriated to meet the bills drawn in respect of them :—Held : the foreign firm, whether regarded as the agents of the English firm or as vendors, had parted with all property in the goods, & had no power to direct the appropriation of the proceeds ; &, therefore, no equity arose on the insolvency of the two firms in favour of the holders of the bills to have the proceeds applied in payment of the bills.—Re TAPPENBECK, Ex p. BANNER (1876), 2 Ch. D. 278 ; 45 L. J. Bcy. 73 ; 34 L. T. 199 ; 24 W. R. 476, C. A.

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 8, G. (b) i. & ii.]

Annotations :—Apld. Phelps, Stokes v. Comber (1884), 26 Ch. D. 755. Refd. König v. Brandt (1901), 84 L. T. 748 ; The Hilding (1920), 37 T. L. R. 199 ; The Kronprinsessan Margareta, The Parana, [1921] 1 A. C. 486.

—— Lien of holders of bills of exchange.]—See Nos. 2344–2350, post.

2341. Whether passing of property suspended—Presumption of passing on acceptance—Rebuttal of presumption—Rules arising from existence of state of war.]—When shippers of goods discount a draft upon the consignee & authorise the discounters to hand to him a bill of lading, to the order of, & indorsed by, the shippers, upon his acceptance of the draft, the intention to be inferred, according to general mercantile understanding, is that the ownership of the goods is to pass to the consignee when he accepts the draft. That inference may be modified, or rebutted, by particular arrangements between the shippers & the consignee, & is subject to the rules which arise out of a state of war existing, or imminent at the beginning of the transaction. The transfer of the property upon the acceptance of the draft is consistent with the consignee being either a purchaser from the shippers or their agent for the sale of the goods.

When a shipper takes his draft, not as yet accepted, but accompanied by a bill of lading, indorsed in this way, & discounts it with a banker, he makes himself liable on the instrument as drawer, & he further makes the goods, which the bill of lading represents, security for its payment (LORD SUMNER).—THE PRINZ ADALBERT, [1917] A. C. 586 ; 86 L. J. P. C. 165 ; 116 L. T. 802 ; 33 T. L. R. 490 ; 61 Sol. Jo. 610 ; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 81, P. C.

Annotations :—Refd. The Zaanland, [1918] P. 303 ; The Frogner, [1919] P. 127 ; The Palm Branch, [1919] A. C. 272 ; The Orteric, [1920] A. C. 724.

2342. —— —— —— Special arrangement between shipper & consignee.]—THE PRINZ ADALBERT, No. 2341, ante.

2343. —— —— Consignee being agent for sale.]—THE PRINZ ADALBERT, No. 2341, ante.

.]—See, also, SALE OF GOODS, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 518–521, Nos. 1345–1364.

ii. Lien of Holders of Bills of Exchange.

2344. Transmission of letter of advice—Whether equivalent to indorsed bill of lading.]—Letters advising of a consignment of goods to a party who has accepted bills on the faith of such consignment are not equivalent in effect to bills of lading indorsed.—NICHOLS v. CLENT (1817), 3 Price, 547 ; 146 E. R. 348.

Annotation :—Refd. Bryans v. Nix (1839), 4 M. & W. 775.

2345. —— Whether amounting to appropriation of cargo—To meet bill of exchange.]—B. S. & co. of Calcutta having consigned certain goods to G. B. in England, on which they had a lien for the price, wrote him word that they intended to draw in favour of G. K. & co. for the balance of such shipments, & that they inclosed on bills of lading & policies of insurance for the goods in question ; & they also drew a bill for the amount on G. B. in favour of G. K. & co. which they directed G. B. to " place to account of shipments per ' Gardner.' " Before the goods reached England G. B. became bkpt., & the goods came into the possession of his assignees :—Held : the above expressions in the bill & the letter amounted to a specific appropriation of the goods for the payment of the bill, & the assignees were bound to account to G. K. & co. for the proceeds.—Re GARDNER BOGGS, Ex p. GLEDSTANES (1842), 3 Mont. D. & De G. 109.

Annotations :—Distd. Re Boggs, Ex p. Gemmell (1843), 3 Mont. D. & De G. 199. Consd. Frith v. Forbes (1862), 31 L. J. Ch. 793. Refd. Inman v. Clare (1858), John. 769.

2346. —— —— ——.]—The general lien of a consignee cannot be set up against the express directions of the consignor given to him at the time when the cargo is accepted.

B. & co. consigned a cargo to defts. & sent to them the bill of lading in a letter saying : " The present serves to cover bill of lading for, etc., shipped per China against which we have valued on you at six months in favour of F. S. & co. for £1,200, which please kindly protect." On the same day B. & co. sent to F. S. & co. the bill of exchange which was drawn on defts. to the order of F. S. & co., & concluded " place the same with or without advice to account consignment per China." After the bill of lading arrived F. S. & co. presented the bill, but defts. refused to accept it. Shortly afterwards B. & co. stopped payment, & afterwards the cargo arrived :—Held : it was effectually appropriated to meet the bill, & that F. S. & co. had a lien upon it in priority to the claim of defts. for the balance due to them on their general account as consignees.—FRITH v. FORBES (1862), 4 De G. F. & J. 409 ; 32 L. J. Ch. 10 ; 7 L. T. 261 ; 8 Jur. N. S. 1115 ; 11 W. R. 4 ; 1 Mar. L. C. 253 ; 45 E. R. 1242, L. JJ.

Annotations :—Consd. Robey's Perseverance Ironworks v. Ollier (1872), 7 Ch. App. 695. The decision in Frith v. Forbes turned upon special circumstances, & can hardly be treated as governing any other case (JAMES, L.J.). Expld. Re Entwistle, Ex p. Arbuthnot (1876), 3 Ch. D. 477. Distd. Ranken v. Alfaro (1877), 5 Ch. D. 786 ; Re Suse, Ex p. Dever (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 766. Consd. Brown, Shipley v. Kough (1885), 29 Ch. D. 848. N.F. Phelps, Stokes v. Comber (1885), 29 Ch. D. 813.

2347. —— —— ——.]—Bills of exchange were drawn by the vendor & shipper of goods upon the purchaser for the invoice prices of the goods, with a direction to place the same to account of the shipments. On the acceptance of the bills by the purchaser the bills of lading were handed over to him. The bills of exchange were dishonoured at maturity, & the purchaser became bkpt. :—Held : there was no specific appropriation of the proceeds of sale of the goods to meet the bills of exchange.—Re ENTWISTLE, Ex p. ARBUTHNOT (1876), 3 Ch. D. 477 ; 25 W. R. 238, C. A.

Annotation :—Refd. Brown, Shipley v. Kough (1885), 29 Ch. D. 848.

2348. —— —— ——.]—Bankers in London, at the request of M., who was acting as the agent in London of S., a merchant at Shanghai, on Mar. 16, 1883, granted to S. a letter of credit for £20,000. The letter authorised S. " to draw on us four months' sight for any sums not exceeding £20,000, such draft or drafts to be accompanied by bills of lading & invoices of tea, purchased according to order of M., & shipped by steamers to London, & marine insurance policies relating thereto, & these documents to be surrendered to us against our acceptances, & we hereby agree with you, & also as a separate engagement with the bonâ fide holders respectively of the bills drawn in compliance with the terms of this credit, that the same shall be duly accepted on presentation & paid at maturity, if drawn & negotiated on or before Dec. 31, 1883." It was agreed that a commission of 1 per cent. should be paid to the bankers on all drafts drawn under the credit, & M. agreed that he would meet all the acceptances on or before their due dates, "the usual rate of 2½ per cent. being allowed on all prepayments." Bills were drawn by S. under this credit against various parcels of tea consigned by him to M. for sale. In each case the bill mentioned the parcel of tea against which it was drawn, & purported to be drawn under the letter of credit, the date of which was mentioned, & the bills of lading & other shipping documents were in each case attached to the bill. S., in each case, advised the bankers of the drawing of the bill, mentioning the tea against which it was drawn & the name of the vessel by which it was shipped. S. discounted the bills with a Chinese bank, & their agent in London presented the bills for acceptance, & in exchange for the acceptance delivered the bills of lading & other documents attached to the London bankers, in whose name the tea was then warehoused with a dock co. As M. from time to time required portions of the tea for delivery to purchasers the bankers handed to him warrants or delivery orders, he paying them the value of the tea comprised therein. The moneys thus received were paid to the credit of the general current account of the bankers with their own bankers. In an account in their books with M., they debited him with the amounts of the acceptances & credited him with the amounts received by the sales & with 2½ per cent. according to the agreement. The London bankers suspended payment & filed a liquidation petition before their acceptances matured:—Held: (1) having regard to the terms of the letter of credit, the bill holders could not claim any specific appropriation of the teas to meet the acceptances; (2) S. was entitled to have the teas which remained in specie at the date of the suspension, but not the proceeds of the sale of the teas which were sold before the suspension applied in payment of the acceptances.

The form of the bill of exchange & of the letter of advice, written at the time by the drawer to the acceptors, did not give the bill holders any lien on the goods. We must have regard to the terms of the letter of credit, which the bill holders saw, & they are conclusive on this point. The bills of exchange were to be accompanied by the bills of lading, but the bills of lading were to be surrendered to the acceptors of the bills of exchange against their acceptances. What is the meaning of that? So long as the bill of lading is annexed to the bill of exchange, the bill holder has a lien on the goods. But the bill of lading is to be surrendered to the acceptor on his acceptance of the bill of exchange. That must mean that it is to be delivered up free from the lien of the bill holder. If the bill of exchange & the letter of advice are ambiguous, they must be taken subject to the terms of the letter of credit which was shown to the person who discounted the bill. In my opinion, the terms of the letter of credit are conclusive against the claim of the bill holders (COTTON, L.J.).—Re SUSE, Ex p. DEVER (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 766; 51 L. T. 437; 33 W. R. 290, C. A.

Annotation:—Generally, Refd. Phelp, Stokes v. Comber (1885), 29 Ch. D. 813.

2349. —— —— ——.]—A firm at Liverpool & a firm at Pernambuco employed B. as their agents at New York. According to their course of business the firm at Pernambuco received orders from persons there to purchase goods at New York. The firm instructed the Liverpool firm who instructed B. B., then purchased the goods in New York & shipped them to the firm at Pernambuco with the bills of lading. B. drew bills on the Liverpool firm to pay for the goods, but not for the precise amount of the shipments, & sold the bills in New York. B. advised the Liverpool firm of the bills & with the advice forwarded a statement of his account with them. To each bill was attached a counterfoil headed "Advice of draft" & containing a memorandum of amount of the bill & the name of the drawer, with the words "Against shipments per, naming the vessel, please protect the draft as advised above." The Liverpool firm on the bills being presented to them for acceptance detached the counterfoils & kept them in their own possession. Pltfs. were the holders for value of bills drawn on the Liverpool firm in accordance with this course of dealing, the goods having been shipped by B. to the Pernambuco firm & the bills of lading being also sent to that firm. On June 10, 1879, the Liverpool firm stopped payment, & on the same day B. telegraphed to the Pernambuco firm as follows: "Having pledged documents & shipments, naming the vessel, hold proceeds for P. & co., pltfs." The ship arrived on June 11, but the bills of lading had been previously delivered to the purchasers of the goods. The three bills having been dishonoured by the Liverpool firm pltfs. brought an action against the Pernambuco firm claiming to have the bills paid out of the proceeds of the goods as having been specifically appropriated to meet the bills; & also relying on the telegram as having stopped the goods in transitu:—Held: there was no specific appropriation of the goods either by the course of dealing or by the "advice of draft" attached to the bills.

I am by no means satisfied that merely saying that the bill is drawn against a certain cargo, even when that notice is sent to the person to whom the cargo is consigned, will give a lien or charge on the cargo (COTTON, L.J.).—PHELPS, STOKES & CO. v. COMBER (1885), 29 Ch. D. 813; 54 L. J. Ch. 1017; 52 L. T. 873; 33 W. R. 829; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 428, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Booth S.S. Co. v. Cargo Fleet Iron Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 570.

2350. —— —— ——.]—A. purchased from B. & co. in America a bill of exchange dated Aug. 5, 1875, payable sixty days after sight, for £2,500 drawn upon K. in London, on the face of which was a direction "to charge the same on account of cheese per Britannic & lard per Greece as advised," & on the same day B. & co. wrote to K. a letter of advice, inclosing bills of lading for the cheese & lard, & informing K. that as against these they valued on his at sixty days' sight for £2,500 favour A. The bill was not accepted, K. having heard that B. & co. had suspended payment on Aug. 7; but, on the arrival of the consignments in England, K. took possession of them & realised them, receiving the proceeds, out of which he claimed to retain a balance due to him on the general account between him & B. & co. From the evidence as to the course dealing between A. & B. & co. it appeared that B. & co. had for many years previously been in the habit of consigning American produce to K., & drawing bills on him in a similar form to that of Aug. 5, but that there had not been any practice of specifically appropriating the remittances to meet any particular bills. A. brought an action against

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sect. 8, G. (b) ii. & (c), H. & J.; sub-sect. 9, A.]

K. & the trustee in bkpcy. of B. & co., claiming to be entitled to a charge on the proceeds of the cheese & lard in priority to all other persons. No question was raised as between K. & the trustee in bkpcy. as to their respective rights:—Held: A. was not entitled to the charge claimed, either (a) on the ground that the direction on the face of the bill of exchange operated as an equitable assignment; or (b) that on the authority of Frith v. Forbes, No. 2346, ante, the letter of advice created a specific appropriation of the remittances to meet the bill in favour of B. & co., the benefit of which was transferred to A. by the direction on the bill of exchange.—BROWN, SHIPLEY & CO. v. KOUGH (1885), 29 Ch. D. 848; 54 L. J. Ch. 1024; 52 L. T. 878; 34 W. R. 2; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 433, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. König v. Brandt (1901), 84 L. T. 748. Reid. Guaranty Trust Co. of New York v. Hannay, [1918] 2 K. B. 623.

2351. —— Bill of exchange not operating as equitable assignment.]—BROWN, SHIPLEY & CO. v. KOUGH, No. 2350, ante.

(c) Indorsement of Bill to Bank.

2352. General rule.]—GILBERT v. GUIGNON, No. 2302, ante.

2353. How far goods are security for bill of exchange—Conditional acceptance.]—R. & co. consigned goods to H. for sale, drew bills on him which they indorsed to B., to whom they handed the bills of lading as a security, & wrote to H., asking him to accept the bills as against the goods. H. gave an acceptance "Accepted, payable at the I. Bank on the delivery up of the bills of lading." At the time when the bills became payable the affairs of H. were in course of liquidation by arrangement:—Held: the conditional acceptance made the security of B. virtually a security on property of H., & B. could not prove against the estate of H. without deducting the value of the security.—Re HOWE, Ex p. BRETT (1871), 6 Ch. App. 838; 40 L. J. Bcy. 54; 25 L. T. 252; 19 W. R. 1101, L. JJ.

Annotation:—Apld. Re Baumann, Ex p. Oriental Bank Corpn. (1874), 30 L. T. 803.

2354. —— Bankruptcy of seller & buyer—Rights of bank against seller.]—A Bombay firm drew bills upon a London firm, who accepted them against certain consignments. The Bombay firm pledged the bills & shipping documents with a bank under a letter of hypothecation to which the London firm was not a party. The Bombay & London firms both became bkpt. The bank thereupon sold the goods, & sought to prove against the estate of the London firm for the balance due after deducting the proceeds of sale less one-half per cent. broker's commission & two & a half per cent. merchant's commission:—Held: the London firm was not bound by the terms of the letter of hypothecation, the bank was in the position of a mtgee. or pledgee of the goods, & was entitled only to deduct from the purchase-money the bare expense of realisation, namely, the broker's commission, & to prove for the balance of the bills after deducting the proceeds of the goods, less the broker's commission.—Re BAUMANN & CO., Ex p. ORIENTAL BANK CORPN. (1874), 30 L. T. 803, C. A.

2355. —— Policy of insurance transferred to bank—& letter of hypothecation.]—A shipper at Bombay having consigned goods to merchants in England, drew on them for £1,200, & insured the goods for £1,700. He sold the draft to defts., a bank, & handed them at the same time the policy of insurance & the bills of lading, with a letter of hypothecation signed by him. This letter stated that the shipper, having sold the bills to the bank, & having at the same time handed to them, "as collateral securities for the due payment of" the bill, "the bills of lading & shipping documents of the several goods stated at foot," thereby authorised the bank, "on default being made in acceptance on presentment, or in payment at maturity" of the bill, to sell the goods & apply the proceeds in payment of the bill; "the balance, if any, to be placed against any other of my bills which may at the time be in the hands of the said bank, or any other liability of me to the said bank." The only documents stated at foot were the bill of exchange & the bill of lading. The ship was burnt at sea & the cargo lost. The draft for £1,200 was duly accepted, but the acceptors failing, it was dishonoured at maturity. The bank recouped themselves out of the policy moneys which had been paid to them by the insurance office, & had a balance in their hands. This balance having been claimed by pltfs., who were assignees for value of it from the shipper, the bank claimed it as a collateral security for a debt due to them from the shipper on another account. He had shipped goods to other consignees, & had drawn against the goods bills, which were also in the hands of the same bank. When the bills fell due, the drawees had requested the bank to defer presentment of the bills. The bills had not been presented, but the goods had been sold at a loss, & the bank had redrawn upon the shipper for the deficiency; but he had failed:—Held: the letter of hypothecation did not extend to any other liability of the shipper to the bank than that arising upon the £1,200 bill; the bank, having, at the request of the drawees, refrained from presenting the bills, had practically given them time, & had thus released the drawer, & the shipper was not indebted to the bank on this account; pltfs. were entitled to the surplus in the hands of the bank.

The contract is clear, plain, usual, ordinary, open to no doubt or question. Nobody has questioned the right of the bank to have the bills which were mentioned in this memorandum satisfied, & they have been satisfied, not exactly in the mode here contemplated, but by means of the delivery to them of the policy of insurance, which was so delivered to them, only that they might have the bills paid when they arrived at maturity. It would be putting a construction upon these words wholly at a variance, not only with the intention of the parties, but with the very expressions themselves, if I were to hold that, by means of this transaction, this letter of hypothecation, & the policy of insurance which accompanied it, the bank were entitled to any more than the very sum which was expressed in the bills of exchange (BACON, V.-C.).—LATHAM v. CHARTERED BANK OF INDIA (1874), L. R. 17 Eq. 205; 43 L. J. Ch. 612; 29 L. T. 795; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 178.

2356. Agreement not to present bills of exchange—Whether shipper discharged.]—LATHAM v. CHARTERED BANK OF INDIA, No. 2355, ante.

b. Duty of bank to preserve value of security.]—SALTER (JOSEPH) SONS, LTD. v. BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA, [1926] 1 D. L. R. 581; 58 N. S. R. 389.—CAN.

2357. Whether bank entitled to seller's lien—Bill of lading in buyer's name.]—A contract provided for a sale of certain oil to P. & co. on the terms of cash against documents. P. & co.'s name was inserted in the bill of lading at their request as shippers, & the bill of lading provided for the oil to be delivered to them or their order. A draft attached to a bill of lading was then sold by the vendors of the oil to certain bill brokers, & they subsequently sold the same to a bank at Amsterdam, who had an account with pltfs. On the arrival of the oil in London on May 2, 1910, P. & co. obtained delivery of it from defts., who were the agents of the shipping co. by whose vessel the oil was carried, without tendering the bill of lading. P. & co. merely giving an indemnity. P. & co. then approached pltfs. who had credited in their books the amount of the draft to the Amsterdam bank, & were holding the bill of lading as against the draft, & on May 4 arranged with them for an advance of the money to take up the draft. The loan was then arranged, pltfs. retaining the bill of lading, which P. & co. thereupon indorsed. On pltfs. subsequently applying to defts. for the oil, they were then informed that it had been delivered to P. & co. on May 2. In an action for wrongful conversion & non-delivery of the oil:—Held: P. & co. were not entitled to possession of the bill of lading until they had paid the draft; pltfs. took over the rights of the Amsterdam bank on crediting them with the amount of the draft, which rights were perfected by the indorsement by P. & co. of the bill of lading; & the delivery of the oil to P. & co. being wrongful, pltfs. were entitled to succeed.—LONDON JOINT STOCK BANK, LTD. v. BRITISH AMSTERDAM MARITIME AGENCY, LTD. (1910), 104 L. T. 143; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 571; 16 Com. Cas. 102.

Acceptance of bill of exchange—Failure of consideration—Bill of lading not genuine.]—See BILLS OF EXCHANGE, Vol. VI., p. 161, Nos. 1035–1037.

H. Stoppage in transitu.

See SALE OF GOODS, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 612–631, Nos. 2097–2289.

What sellers can exercise right.]—See, generally, SALE OF GOODS, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 606, 607, Nos. 2030–2046.

Effect of disposition by buyer.]—See, generally, SALE OF GOODS, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 632–636, Nos. 2290–2324.

Effect of exercise of right by seller.]—See, generally, SALE OF GOODS, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 636–638, Nos. 2325–2345.

Agent's right of stoppage in transitu.]—See AGENCY, Vol. I., pp. 556–558, Nos. 2055–2070.

J. Effect of Transfer.

See Sect. 3, sub-sect. 9, post.

SUB-SECT. 9.—EFFECT OF TRANSFER OF BILLS OF LADING.

A. In General.

See Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111).

2358. General rule.]—The effect of the indorsement of a bill of lading depends upon the intention of the parties. Accordingly where a bill of lading is indorsed to an agent it confers no property in the goods, but only clothes the agent with authority to take possession for the consignees.—BURGOS v. NASCIMENTO, MCKEAND, CLAIMANT (1908), 100 L. T. 71; 53 Sol. Jo. 60; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 181.

2359. Effect of transfer at common law.]—The possession of bills of lading or other documents of title to goods did not at common law confer on the holder of them any greater power than the possession of the goods themselves. The transfer of a bill of lading for goods in transitu had the same effect in defeating the unpaid vendor's right to stop in transitu that an actual delivery of the goods themselves under the same circumstances would have had. But the transfer of the document of title by means of which actual possession of the goods could be obtained had no greater effect at common law than the transfer of the actual possession (BLACKBURN, J.).—COLE v. NORTH WESTERN BANK (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 354; 44 L. J. C. P. 233; 32 L. T. 733, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Refd. Johnson v. Credit Lyonnais Co. (1877), 3 C. P. D. 32; City Bank v. Barrow (1880), 5 App. Cas. 664; Mildred v. Maspons (1883), 8 App. Cas. 874; Cahn v. Pockett's Bristol Channel Steam Packet Co., [1899] 1 Q. B. 643. Mentd. Hellings v. Russell (1875), 33 L. T. 380; Colonial Bank v. Whinney (1886), 11 App. Cas. 426; Nähmaschinen Fabrik Act. v. Pickford & Lee & Harris (1888), 4 T. L. R. 617; Williams v. Colonial Bank, Williams v. London Chartered Bank of Australia (1888), 38 Ch. D. 388; London Joint Stock Bank v. Simmons, [1892] A. C. 201; Tremoille v. Christie (1893), 69 L. T. 338; Brocklesby v. Temperance Bldg. Soc., [1895] A. C. 173; Farquharson v. King, [1901] 2 K. B. 697; Oppenheimer v. Attenborough (1906), 12 Com. Cas. 88; Oppenheimer v. Frazer & Wyatt, [1907] 2 K. B. 50; Folkes v. King, [1923] 1 K. B. 282; Lowther v. Harris, [1927] 1 K. B. 393.

2360. Whether original contract transferred.]—THOMPSON v. DOMINY, No. 2462, post.

2361. ——.]—THE EMILIEN MARIE, No. 2294, ante.

2362. ——.]—(1) When goods are shipped under a bill of lading drawn in parts, to be delivered to the consignee "or his assigns, the one of which bills being accomplished, the others to stand void," the master, or the warehouseman who has the custody of the goods under 25 & 26 Vict. c. 63, ss. 66–78, is justified in delivering to the consignee on production of one part, although there has been a prior indorsement for value to the holder of another part; provided the delivery be bonâ fide & without notice or knowledge of such prior indorsement. Goods having been shipped for London consigned to C. & co. the shipmaster signed a set of three bills of lading marked "First," "Second," & "Third," respectively, making the goods deliverable to C. & co., or their assigns, freight payable in London, the one of the bills being accomplished, the others to stand void. During the voyage C. & co. indorsed the bill of lading marked "First" to a bank in consideration of a loan. Upon the arrival of the ship at London the goods were landed & placed in the custody of a dock co. in their warehouses; the master lodging with them notice under 25 & 26 Vict. c. 63, s. 68, etc., to detain the cargo until the freight should be paid. C. & co. then produced to the dock co. the bill of lading marked "Second" unindorsed, & the dock co. entered C. & co. in their books as proprietors of the goods. The stop for freight being afterwards removed, the dock co. bonâ fide & without notice or knowledge of the bank's claim delivered the goods to other persons upon delivery orders signed by C. & co.:—Held: the dock co. had not been guilty of a conversion, & the bank could not maintain any action against them.

(2) Every one claiming as assignee under a bill of lading must be bound by its terms, & by the contract between the shipper of the goods & the shipowner therein expressed. The primary office & purpose of a bill of lading, although by mercantile law & usage it is a symbol of the right of property in the goods, is to express the terms of the contract between the shipper & the shipowner (LORD SELBORNE, C.).

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 9, A. & B. (a).]

(3) I further think that a warehouseman taking the custody of the goods . . . is under an obligation . . . to deliver the goods to the same person to whom the shipowner was by his contract bound to deliver them, & is justified or excused by the same things as would justify or excuse the master (LORD BLACKBURN).

(4) Where he has notice or probably even knowledge of the other indorsement, I think he must deliver at his peril, to the rightful owner or interplead (LORD BLACKBURN).

(5) The master appears to have been in a hurry to get his vessel empty, & to have resolved to avail himself of the provisions of 25 & 26 Vict. c. 63, ss. 66–78. He had not, in strictness, any right to do so till default had been made in making entry (LORD BLACKBURN).

(6) If there were only one part of the bill of lading, the obligation of the master under such a contract would be clear; he would fulfil the contract if he delivered to C. & co. on their producing the bill of lading unindorsed; he would also fulfil his contract if he delivered the goods to any one producing the bill of lading with a genuine indorsement by C. & co. He would not fulfil his contract if he delivered them to any one else, though if the person to whom he delivered was really entitled to the possession of the goods, no one might be entitled to recover damages from him for that breach of contract (LORD BLACKBURN).—GLYN, MILLS & Co. v. EAST & WEST INDIA DOCK CO. (1882), 7 App. Cas. 591; 52 L. J. Q. B. 146; 47 L. T. 309; 31 W. R. 201; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 580, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Sanders v. Maclean (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 327; Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74. As to (2) Consd. Leduc v. Ward (1888), 20 Q. B. D. 475. Generally, Mentd. National Mercantile Bank v. Rymill (1881), 44 L. T. 767.

2363. To whom rights & liabilities pass—Consignee of indorsee.]—Under Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), the rights & liabilities of the consignee or indorsee of the bill of lading pass from him by indorsement over to a third person.—SMURTHWAITE v. WILKINS (1862), 11 C. B. N. S. 842; 31 L. J. C. P. 214; 5 L. T. 842; 7 L. T. 65; 10 W. R. 386; 1 Mar. L. C. 198; 142 E. R. 1026.

*Annotations:—Consd. Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74. Refd. The Felix (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 273; The Wilhelm Schmidt (1871), 25 L. T. 34; Fowler v. Knoop (1878), 40 L. T. 180.

2364. —— Assignee of unindorsed bill—Bill indorsed to assignor.]—SHORT v. SIMPSON, No. 2439, post.

Right to sue.]—See Sub-sect. 9, C. (b) ii., post.

Liabilities.]—See Sub-sect. 9, D. (b), post.

Rights & liabilities depending on incorporation of charterparty.]—See Sub-sect. 11, E. (b), post.

B. Transfer of Property in Goods.

(a) In General.

2365. Whether property passes—General rule.]—The indorsement & delivery of a bill of lading to a creditor primâ facie conveys the whole property in the goods from the time of its delivery. But if the intention of the parties appears to have been only to bind the net proceeds in case of the arrival of the goods, then an insurance made on account of the indorser, after such indorsement, is good.—HIBBERT v. CARTER (1787), 1 Term Rep. 745; 99 E. R. 1355.

*Annotations:—Expld. Mason v. Lickbarrow (1790), 1 Hy. Bl. 357. Consd. Burdick v. Sewell (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 159.

2366. —— ——.]—THOMPSON v. DOMINY, No. 2462, post.

2367. —— ——.]—GURNEY v. BEHREND, No. 2297, ante.

2368. —— ——.]—(1) Though the indorsement of a bill of lading passes the property in the goods, yet the indorsement to the consignee of one bill of a triplicate set is not such a negotiation as to prevent the right of stoppage.

(2) If bills of lading are presented to the master by two different holders, & he delivers to one, no right of action against him accrues thereby to the disappointed holder, as it is not for the master to inquire who has the best right.—THE TIGRESS (1863), Brown. & Lush. 38; 32 L. J. P. M. & A. 97; 8 L. T. 117; 9 Jur. N. S. 361; 11 W. R. 538; 1 Mar. L. C. 323; 167 E. R. 286.

Annotations:—As to (2) Refd. The Patria (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 436; Gaudet v. Brown, Argos (Cargo Ex), Geipel v. Cornforth, The Hewsons (1873), 28 L. T. 77; Glyn Mills v. East & West India Dock Co. (1882), 7 App. Cas. 591. Generally, Refd. The Princess Royal (1870), L. R. 3 A. & E. 41; Booth S.S. Co. v. Cargo Fleet Iron Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 570.

2369. —— ——.]—PEASE v. GLOAHEC, THE MARIE JOSEPH, No. 2465, post.

2370. —— ——.]—In an action upon a bill of lading by an indorsee against the shipowners, for not delivering the goods, pltf. put in the bill of lading, & proved that the consignors had indorsed & delivered it to A., & that A. had indorsed & delivered it to pltf. for value:—Held: evidence to go to the jury of such an indorsement & delivery of the bill of lading as to vest the property in the goods in pltf.; & so to transfer to him the right of action, under 18 & 19 Vict. c. 111, s. 1.—DRACACHI v. ANGLO-EGYPTIAN NAVIGATION CO. (1868), L. R. 3 C. P. 190; 37 L. J. C. P. 71; 17 L. T. 472; 16 W. R. 277; 3 Mar. L. C. 27.

*Annotation:—Refd. Burdick v. Sewell (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 159.

2371. —— ——.]—(1) Where goods are at sea, the parting with the bill of lading, which is the symbol of the goods, is parting with the ownership of the goods themselves. (2) The same principle applies to goods which, for the convenience of parties, have been landed at a sufferance wharf. (3) As long as the engagement of the shipowner has not been completely fulfilled, the bill of lading is a living instrument, & the transfer of it for value passes the absolute property in the goods. (4) It has not been fulfilled when the goods, though actually landed at a wharf, are subject to a stop order. (5) The person who first gets the bill of lading (though only one of a set of three) gets the property which it represents, he need not do any act to assert his title, which the transfer of the bill of lading of itself renders complete, & any subsequent dealings with the others of the set are subordinate to the rights passed by that one. (6) Though the shipowner or wharfinger, having no notice of the transfer of one bill of lading, may be excused for delivering the goods to a person who produces to him another bill of lading which has in reality been subsequently taken, that does not affect the legal ownership of the goods as between the

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 9.—B. (a).

2365 i. Whether property passes General rule.]—A bill of lading is not conclusive proof of the change of property, like a bill of sale; it is a question of evidence whether such an operation should be given to it.—KYLE v. BUFFALO & LAKE HURON RY. CO. (1865), 16 C. P. 76.—CAN.

c. —— Property in goods remaining in vendor until paid for.]—BATEMAN v. GREEN (1867), I. R. 2 C. L. 607.—IR.

holders of the two bills of lading. (7) The Acts relating to landing goods at a sufferance wharf were intended for the protection of the shipowner. (8) Goods shipped from India having been landed & warehoused at a bonded sufferance wharf in London were under a stop put upon them by the master for freight:—Held: the transfer of the bill of lading operated as a transfer of the goods so as to constitute a valid pledge of them for an advance without the necessity of the pledgee getting actual possession of them, inasmuch as the bill of lading remained in full force so long as complete delivery of the goods had not been made to some person claiming under it.—BARBER v. MEYERSTEIN (1870), L. R. 4 H. L. 317; 39 L. J. C. P. 187; 22 L. T. 808; 18 W. R. 1041; 3 Mar. L. C. 449, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. MEYERSTEIN v. BARBER (1867), L. R. 2 C. P. 661, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Glyn Mills v. East & West India Dock Co. (1882), 7 App. Cas. 591. As to (5) Consd. Glyn Mills v. East & West India Dock Co. (1882), 7 App. Cas. 591. Reld. The John Bellamy (1870), L. R. 3 A. & E. 129. As to (7) Reld. Furness, Withy v. White, [1894] 1 Q. B. 483; As to (8) Reld. Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74. Generally, Reld. Young v. Lambert (1870), L. R. 3 P. C. 142; Mors-Le-Blanch v. Wilson (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 227; The Rona (1884), 51 L. T. 28. Mentd. Hilton v. Tucker (1888), 39 Ch. D. 669; Mills v. Charlesworth (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 421; Morris v. Delobbel Flipo (1892), 66 L. T. 320; Dublin City Distillery v. Doherty, [1914] A. C. 823.

2372. —— ——.]—CHARTERED BANK OF INDIA, AUSTRALIA, & CHINA v. HENDERSON, No. 2402, post.

2373. —— ——.]—A cargo at sea while in the hands of the carrier is necessarily incapable of physical delivery. During this period of transit & voyage, the bill of lading by the law merchant is universally recognised as its symbol & the indorsement & delivery of the bill of lading operates as a symbolical delivery of the cargo (BOWEN, L.J.).—SANDERS v. MACLEAN (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 327; 52 L. J. Q. B. 481; 49 L. T. 462; 31 W. R. 698; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 160, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Biddell v. E. Clemens Horst Co., [1911] 1 K. B. 934; Arnhold Karberg v. Blythe, Green Jourdain, Theodor Schneider v. Burgett & Newsam, [1916] 1 K. B. 495. Reld. Cederberg v. Borries, Craig (1885), 2 T. L. R. 201; Cahn v. Pockett's Bristol Channel Steam Packet Co., [1899] 1 Q. B. 643; Landauer v. Craven & Speeding, [1912] 2 K. B. 94; Orient Co. v. Brekke & Howlid, [1913] 1 K. B. 531; Sharpe v. Nosawa, [1917] 2 K. B. 814; Guaranty Trust Co. of New York v. Hannay, [1918] 2 K. B. 623; Manbre Saccharine Co. v. Corn Products Co., [1919] 1 K. B. 198. Mentd. Glasgow Assce. Corpn. v. Symondson (1911), 104 L. T. 254.

2374. —— ——.]—DANISH DAIRIES CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY v. MIDLAND RY. CO. (1892), 8 T. L. R. 212, D.C.

2375. —— ——.]—MONTGOMERY v. HUTCHINS, No. 3828, post.

2376. —— Different intention of parties.]—HIBBERT v. CARTER, No. 2365, ante.

2377. —— As between consignor & consignee—Consignee a trustee.]—EVANS v. MARTELL (OR MARLETT), No. 2172, ante.

2378. —— —— Dependent on terms of contract.]—JENKYNS v. USBORNE, No. 2154, ante.

2379. —— Transfer of bill with contract of sale.]—It has even been contended that a mere delivery of the bill of lading is a transfer of the property. But it might be more correctly expressed, perhaps, if said that it transfers only the right of delivery; but that a transfer of a bill of lading, with a contract of sale accompanying it, may transfer the property in the ordinary course of things, so as effectually to bind the parties, & all others, cannot well be doubted (SIR WILLIAM SCOTT).—THE VROW MARGARETHA (1799), 1 Ch. Rob. 336; 1 Eng. Pr. Cas. 149; 165 E. R. 197.

Annotations:—Consd. The Southfield (1915), 85 L. J. P. 78. Reld. The Soglasie (1854), 2 Eco. & Ad. 101; Sorensen v. R., The Baltica (1857), 11 Moo. P. C. C. 141; The Miramichi, [1915] P. 71; The United States, [1917] P. 30; The Bawean, [1918] P. 58; The Hilding (1920), 37 T. L. R. 199; The Kronprinsessan Margareta, The Parana, [1921] 1 A. C. 486; The Vesta, etc., [1921] 1 A. C. 774.

2380. —— As between indorsee & third party.]—JENKYNS v. USBORNE, No. 2154, ante.

2381. —— Notice of defect in assignor's title—Prior equitable title.]—If A. has an equitable title to goods on board a ship, & B. knowing of such title gets an indorsement of the bill of lading, he cannot recover such goods in an action of trover, but the captain will be justified in delivering the goods to A.—DICK v. LUMSDEN (1793), Peake, 250; 170 E. R. 146, N. P.

2382. —— —— Fraud.]—THE ARGENTINA, No. 2310, ante.

2383. —— —— Insolvency.]—THE ARGENTINA, No. 2310, ante.

2384. —— No consideration.]—WARING v. COX, No. 2312, ante.

2385. —— Valuable consideration.] — CHARTERED BANK OF INDIA, AUSTRALIA & CHINA v. HENDERSON, No. 2402, post.

2386. —— —— Without collusion with consignee—Knowledge of indorsee that consignor not paid.]—The property of goods passes by the indorsement & delivery of the bill of lading by the consignee to another bonâ fide for a valuable consideration & without collusion with the consignee although the indorsee knew at the time that the consignor had not received money payment for his goods, but had taken the consignee acceptances payable at a future day not then arrived.—CUMING v. BROWN (1808), 9 East, 506; 103 E. R. 666.

Annotation:—Reld. Jones v. Jones (1841), 8 M. & W. 431.

2387. —— —— Previous transfer of goods without indorsement of bill of lading.]—The property in a cargo for which the master of a ship has signed bills of lading may be transferred by delivery without indorsement of the bill of lading; & the transfer will be good against all the world, except subsequent indorsees of the bill of lading for a valuable consideration.—NATHAN v. GILES, GILES v. NATHAN (1814), 5 Taunt. 558; 1 Marsh. 226; 128 E. R. 808.

Annotations:—Mentd. Smidt v. Ogle (1815), 6 Taunt. 74; Giles v. Hutt (1848), 1 Exch. 701; Dearie v. Ker (1849), 4 Exch. 82.

2388. —— Conditional transfer.] — MITCHEL v. EDE, No. 2178, ante.

2389. —— —— Transfer dependent on payment of balance of freight.]—TAMVACO v. SIMPSON, No. 4101, post.

2390. —— Intent to defraud consignor.]—TOULMIN v. JOHNSON (1851), 10 L. T. 791.

2391. —— Transfer after loss of goods—Jettison.]—TRUMPLER v. LOCKETT (1850), 3 L. T. 448.

2392. —— Transferor having no property in goods.]—FINLAY v. LIVERPOOL & GREAT WESTERN S.S. CO., LTD., No. 2553, post.

2393. —— ——.] — GABARRON v. KREEFT, KREEFT v. THOMPSON, No. 3572, post.

2394. —— Where goods at sea.]—BARBER v. MEYERSTEIN, No. 2371, ante.

2395. —— Goods landed at wharf—Sufferance wharf.]—BARBER v. MEYERSTEIN, No. 2371, ante.

2396. —— —— Subject to stop order.]—BARBER v. MEYERSTEIN, No. 2371, ante.

2397. Evidence — Indorsement.]—DRACACHI v. ANGLO-EGYPTIAN NAVIGATION CO., No. 2370, ante.

2398. —— —— & acts of ownership done by indorsee.]—DRACACHI v. ANGLO-EGYPTIAN NAVIGATION CO., No. 2370, ante.

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 9, B. (a), (b), (c), (d) & (e), C. (a) & (b) i. & ii.]

2399. Averment of indorsement in statement of claim—Whether sufficient to show property in indorsee.] — FINLAY v. LIVERPOOL & GREAT WESTERN S.S. CO., LTD., No. 2553, post.

Transfer operating as delivery of goods.]—See SALE OF GOODS, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 575–581.

(b) Transfer to Agent.

See Sub-sect. 8, D., ante.

(c) Transfer by Mortgage or Pledge.

See Nos. 2321–2325, ante.

(d) What Title Conferred.

2400. Equitable title—Indorsement & delivery.] —Applts., a firm in Manchester, purchased goods, shipped from London to Hong Kong, pledging their own credit on behalf of L. & co., a firm in London, having a branch at Hong Kong. By the invoice for these goods, L. & co., of Hong Kong, were to realise the goods & to transmit the proceeds to L. & co., in London, for the purpose of meeting their acceptances to applts. The bill of lading for the goods was in the usual form, except that the words " or order, or assigns," were omitted. L. & co., at Hong Kong, having received the invoice & bill of lading, indorsed the latter to the respondents, bankers at Hong Kong, as a security for payment of a loan due on a promissory note. On the arrival of the goods they were delivered to the respondents, who then gave up the bill of lading to L. & co., who gave a receipt for it, engaging to pay the proceeds of the goods as collected on account of the promissory note, it being understood that the goods belonged to the respondents until such proceeds were paid. In accordance with the terms of the receipt, L. & co. sold the goods, & remitted the proceeds to the resps. in part payment of the promissory note:—Held: (1) resps. had, under the circumstances stated, an equitable title to the goods by the indorsement & delivery to them of the bill of lading, & a legal title to the goods, the transaction amounting to an actual delivery of the goods to them; (2) the mere omission of the words " or order, or assigns," in the bill of lading, did not affect resps. with constructive notices of the trust existing under the arrangements between applts. & L. & co., & was not such an omission as ought to have excited the suspicion of resps., & put them on inquiry as to the said arrangements. (3) Semble, that in order to make bills of lading negotiable, some such words as " or order, or assigns," ought to be in them.—HENDERSON & CO. v. COMPTOIR D'ESCOMPTE DE PARIS (1873), L. R. 5 P. C. 253; 42 L. J. P. C. 60; 29 L. T. 192; 21 W. R. 873; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 98, P. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Folld. Chartered Bank of India, Australia & China v. Henderson (1874), L. R. 5 P. C. 501. Generally, Mentd. Hogarth v. Wherley (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 630.

2401. Legal title.]—HENDERSON & CO. v. COMPTOIR D'ESCOMPTE DE PARIS, No. 2400, ante.

2402. ——.]—A., a merchant in London & in Hong Kong, purchased goods for shipment from B., & paid for them by his acceptance of B.'s draft against the shipment, on the terms that A. should send them to his firm at Hong Kong, & that the proceeds should be remitted to A. in bills specially to meet such acceptance. A's firm at Hong Kong owed a large sum to C., & were under engagement to secure the debt by depositing shipping documents with him. Being threatened by C. with immediate legal proceedings, they promised him that if he would forbear to take such proceedings, & would release them from their obligation to deposit shipping documents they would deposit with him a bill of lading for goods of a certain value, upon the understanding that the bill of lading, or the goods represented therein, should be returned to them upon payment of a sum equivalent to the value thereof. The bill of lading of the goods purchased from B. was accordingly indorsed to C. who had no knowledge of the terms made with B., & it was returned by C. according to agreement, on receipt of an equivalent sum:—Held: (1) C. by such forbearance & release gave valuable consideration; (2) the legal interest in the goods passed by the indorsement of the bill of lading, & B. could not enforce his claim against the proceeds of sale received by C. in respect thereof.—CHARTERED BANK OF INDIA, AUSTRALIA & CHINA v. HENDERSON (1874), L. R. 5 P. C. 501; 30 L. T. 578, P. C.

Annotation:—As to (2) Consd. Leask v. Scott (1879), 46 L. J. Q. B. 329.

(e) When Passing of Property Suspended.

Bill of lading taken to seller's order.]—See SALE OF GOODS, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 512–515, Nos. 1305–1319.

Delivery in exchange for payment.] — See, generally, SALE OF GOODS, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 516–518, Nos. 1326–1344.

Delivery of bill of exchange with bill of lading.]—See SALE OF GOODS, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 518–521, Nos. 1345–1364.

C. Transfer of Rights.

(a) In General.

See Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111).

2403. Right to take delivery.]—THE VROW MARGARETHA, No. 2379, ante.

2404. ——.]—A cargo of potatoes was shipped from Dunkirk to London under a charterparty by which the charterer contracted to pay certain freight, & was to have sixteen days for loading & unloading, & to pay £2 per day for any detention of the vessel beyond that period. By the bill of lading, the cargo was deliverable to the consignees in London, or order, " he or they paying freight as per charterparty." In the margin of the bill of lading was the following memorandum:—" There are eight working days for unloading in London ":—Held: the consignees, by accepting the cargo under this bill of lading, incurred no liability for demurrage, although the vessel was detained for four days beyond the time mentioned.

If a bill of lading is signed by the master, & that bill of lading comes to the hands of an assignee for value, the latter is entitled to have the goods delivered to him on the terms mentioned in the bill of lading, & properly speaking he is not bound to refer to the charterparty at all (WILLES, J.).—CHAPPEL v. COMFORT (1861), 10 C. B. N. S. 802; 31 L. J. C. P. 58; 8 Jur. N. S. 177; 9 W. R. 694; 142 E. R. 669; sub nom. CAPEL v. COMFORT, 4 L. T. 448; 1 Mar. L. C. 78.

*Annotations:—Apld. The Norway (1864), Brown. & Lush. 226; Fry v. Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London & China (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 689. Consd. Gray v. Carr (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 522. Expld. Porteus v. Watney (1878), 3 Q. B. D. 534. Reld. Cawthorn v. Trickett (1864), 12 W. R. 311; Ohrloff v. Briscall, The Helene (1866), L. R. 1 P. C. 231; Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 54 L. J. Q. B. 156.

2405. —— Arrangement between shipper & other consignees—Made without privity of shipowner.]—THE EMILIEN MARIE, No. 2294, ante.

2406. Lien—Consignor & consignee partners—Endorsement of bill of lading to consignee—Lien for advances to consignor.]—One of several partners in a contract with Govt. cannot pledge goods consigned to him by another partner for the purpose of performing the contract. The indorsing of the bill of lading by such consignor to the consignee does not constitute a lien in favour of the latter for his advances to the consignor.—SNAITH v. BURRIDGE (1812), 4 Taunt. 684; 128 E. R. 499.

Annotation :—Mentd. Heilbut v. Nevill (1870), 39 L. J. C. P. 245.

— Indorsement to bank—Whether bank entitled to seller's lien.]—See No. 2357, ante.

2407. Right to transfer property—To bonâ fide purchaser for value.]—JENKYNS v. USBORNE, No. 2154, ante.

2408. —— —— Responsibility to consignor.]—At common law it may be very true that, by a bill of lading, property may be so vested in the consignee that he may be capable of selling it, though he would be responsible to the consignor (DR. LUSHINGTON).—THE ABO (1854), Ecc. & Ad. 347; Spinks, 42; 24 L. T. O. S. 5; 18 Jur. 965; 164 E. R. 200.

Annotation :—Refd. The Miramichi, [1915] P. 71.

2409. Master signing bill as agent for charterers—Whether rights of innocent holder affected—Necessity for notice—Of charterparty.]—THE EMILIEN MARIE, No. 2294, ante.

2410. —— —— —— Of master's agency.]—THE EMILIEN MARIE, No. 2294, ante.

(b) Right to Sue.

i. In General.

See Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111); Admiralty Court Act, 1861 (c. 10).

2411. General rule—Right follows property in goods.]—EVANS v. MARTELL (OR MARLETT), No. 2172, ante.

2412. —— ——.]—C., a merchant at Waterford, who had been in the habit of consigning cargoes of grain to B., a corn factor at Bristol, wrote to latter stating that he was about to ship him a cargo of oats, & that he had drawn on him for £550, & desiring him to effect an insurance on the cargo. B. accepted the bill. Before the vessel sailed, C. stopped payment, & he then sent the bill of lading, indorsed in blank to H., not informing him of his engagement with B. On the arrival of the vessel, H. sent the bill of lading to B., desiring him to act for him. B. paid the freight, & took possession of the cargo, which was afterwards seized by defts.', creditors of C. under a foreign attachment :—Held : B. had not such a property in the goods as to enable him to maintain trover against defts.—BRUCE v. WAIT (1837), 3 M. & W. 15; Murp. & H. 339; 7 L. J. Ex. 17; 150 E. R. 1036.

Annotations :—Distd. Evans v. Nichol (1841), 3 Man. & G. 614. Refd. Bryans v. Nix (1839), 4 M. & W. 775.

2413. —— ——.]—THE FREEDOM, No. 2600, post.

2414. —— ——.]—BRISTOL & WEST OF ENGLAND BANK v. MIDLAND RY. CO., No. 2435, post.

2415. Whether payment of freight condition precedent—Trover against agent of consignor.]—The consignor's agent having obtained possession of the cargo under another bill of lading, & having refused to deliver it up unless the consignee would make immediate payment, which he declined doing, but offered his acceptances at three months in the manner before stipulated :—Held : the consignee might maintain trover against such agent without having tendered payment of the freight either to him or the captain, deft. having possessed himself of the goods wrongfully.—WALLEY v. MONTGOMERY (1803), 3 East, 585; 102 E. R. 721.

Annotations :—Consd. Mitchel v. Ede (1840), 11 Ad. & El. 888. Refd. Wilmshurst v. Bowker (1841), 2 Man. & G. 792; Shepherd v. Harrison (1871), L. R. 5 H. L. 116.

2416. Action for non-delivery.]—HOWARD v. SHEPHERD, No. 3782, post.

2417. —— Mistake in drawing up bill of lading.]—A c.i.f. contract provided for the sale of goods by defts. to pltfs., shipment to be from Calcutta to Tripoli. There are two ports called Tripoli, one in Africa & the other in Syria. The contract was intended to refer to the former. Defts. made arrangements with a shipping co. for the carriage of the goods to Tripoli in Africa, but the goods were shipped under a bill of lading, drawn in such a form that it was on its face a bill of lading for Tripoli in Syria, & the goods were delivered at that port. Defts. were not guilty of negligence, &, without knowing that it was not a bill of lading for Tripoli in Africa, indorsed it to pltfs. :—Held : pltfs. had a right of action against defts. under the contract of sale for non-delivery of the goods.—LECKY & CO., LTD. v. OGILVY, GILLANDERS & CO. (1897), 3 Com. Cas. 29, C. A.

Annotation :—Mentd. Sanders v. Sadler (1906), 95 L. T. 872.

2418. Contents of bill unauthorised—Bill signed for goods not received on board.]—GRANT v. NORWAY, No. 4524, post.

2419. —— Quality marks different from marks on goods shipped.]—COX v. BRUCE, No. 2256, ante.

2420. Action for cause arising out of original contract.]—THOMPSON v. DOMINY, No. 2462, post.

2421. ——.]—THE EMILIEN MARIE, No. 2294, ante.

2422. Right independent of Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111).]—SHORT v. SIMPSON, No. 2439, post.

2423. ——.]—BRISTOL & WEST OF ENGLAND BANK v. MIDLAND RY. CO., No. 2435, post.

2424. ——.]—BRANDT v. LIVERPOOL, BRAZIL & RIVER PLATE STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD., No. 2257, ante.

2425. Right under Admiralty Court Act, 1861 (c. 10).]—THE WILHELM SCHMIDT, No. 3199, post.

——.]—See, also, ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 146, 147, Nos. 534-541.

ii. To Whom Right Transferred.

See Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111).

2426. Indorsee having notice of prior equitable title.]—DICK v. LUMSDEN, No. 2381, ante.

2427. Holder by way of security.]—A. of Liverpool wishing to draw upon the banking house of B. in London to a large amount, agreed among other securities given, to consign goods to a mercantile house consisting of the same partners as the banking house, though under the firm of B. & C.; accordingly he remitted the invoice of a cargo & the bill of lading indorsed in blank to B. & C. but the cargo was prevented from leaving Liverpool by an embargo; A. then became bkpt., being considerably indebted to B. & the cargo was delivered to his assignees by the captain :—Held : B. & C. might maintain trover for it against the captain.—HAILLE v. SMITH (1796), 1 Bos. & P. 563; 126 E. R. 1066, Ex. Ch.

Annotations :—Distd. Patten v. Thompson (1816), 5 M. & S. 350. Consd. Mitchel v. Ede (1840), 11 Ad. & El. 888.

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 9.—C. (b) i.

2411 i. General rule—Right follows property in goods.]—DELAURIER & Co. v. WYLLIE (1889), 17 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 167.—SCOT.

d. Action for non-delivery — Right of indorsee to sue.]—WINCHESTER v. BUSBY (1889), 26 S. C. R. 336.—CAN.

e. Right of action by indorser over against shipowner—When sued by indorsee.]—HATELY v. MERCHANTS DESPATCH CO. (1883), 2 O. R. 385.—CAN.

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 9, C. (b) ii., & iii., & D. (a).]

Reld. Bruce v. Wait (1837), Murp. & H. 339; Bryans v. Nix (1839), 4 M. & W. 775; Leask v. Scott (1877), 25 W. R. 654; Burdick v. Sewell (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 159.

2428. ——.]—A. having accepted bills of exchange for B.'s accommodation, B., by way of collateral security, lodges in his hands a bill of lading of certain goods deliverable to C., who had no interest in them. A. pays his acceptances, & B., being indebted to him to that amount, becomes bkpt. D. gets possession of the goods, & sells them:—Held: A. might maintain an action for money had & received against D., to recover the proceeds.—FAVENC v. HULLET (1808), 1 Camp. 554; 170 E. R. 1055, N. P.

2429. ——.]—Deft. shipped at Liverpool on board pltfs.' vessel certain goods, & the master signed a bill of lading which stated that the goods were shipped by deft. "as agent," & were to be delivered at the port of Colombo "unto order or assigns, he or they paying freight for the goods." Before the shipment, pltfs. advanced to E., on whose account the goods were shipped, £400, upon an undertaking by E. that he would indorse to them as a security a bill of lading of the goods, wherein the freight should be payable by E. in this country. Deft. indorsed the bill of lading to E. who indorsed it to pltfs. as a security for the said advance & a further advance made upon an estimate between pltfs. & E. of the value of the goods freight free. E. not having paid the freight:—Held: (1) deft. was liable under the bill of lading to pay the freight to pltfs.; (2) Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), did not vest the property in the goods in pltfs., as indorsees of the bill of lading, so as to deprive them of their right to sue deft. for the freight.—FOX v. NOTT (1861), 6 H. & N. 630; 30 L. J. Ex. 259; 7 Jur. N. S. 663; 158 E. R. 260.

Annotations:—As to (2) Expld. The Figlia Maggiore (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 106; The Freedom (1871), 8 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 29. Reld. Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74.

2430. Indorsee without consideration.]—COXE v. HARDEN, No. 2311, ante.

2431. ——.]—WARING v. COX, No. 2312, ante.

2432. Agent.]—MORISON v. GRAY, No. 2313, ante.

2433. ——.]—BURGOS v. NASCIMENTO, McKEAND, CLAIMANT, No. 2358, ante.

2434. Pledgee.]—VAN CASTEEL v. BOOKER, No. ]—In an action for wrongfully depriving pltfs. of goods, it appeared that the goods had been consigned to England from a colony. The bills of lading provided that the goods were to be delivered to the order of the consignor or his assigns. The consignor drew bills of exchange on the consignee against the consignment, & sold the bills of exchange, with the bills of lading annexed, which he had indorsed in blank to a colonial bank, who sent them to a bank in London, with a hypothecation note empowering the London bank to sell the goods if the bills of exchange were not accepted or not paid at maturity. The goods arrived in England, & were delivered to defts., who were a railway co., to be delivered to the order of the shipowners. The consignee paid the freight & other shipping charges & accepted the bills of exchange, but before the bills became due, he induced defts. wrongfully to deliver the goods to him without producing a delivery order from the shipowners. When the bills became due the consignee requested pltfs. to advance the money & take up the bills. They did so, & received the bills of exchange & the bills of lading from the London bank, & ultimately obtained delivery orders from the shipowners in exchange for the bills of lading. When they presented the delivery orders to defts. they found that the goods had been already given up to the consignee, & they thereupon commenced the present action:—Held: (1) pltfs. must be taken to be pledgees of the goods, & had therefore a property sufficient to entitle them to maintain the action independently of the Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111); (2) pltfs.' right of action was not affected by the fact that at the date of the wrongful delivery they had not acquired their title to the goods.—BRISTOL & WEST OF ENGLAND BANK v. MIDLAND RY. CO., [1891] 2 Q. B. 653; 61 L. J. Q. B. 115; 65 L. T. 234; 40 W. R. 148; 7 T. L. R. 627; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 69, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (2) Distd. London Joint Stock Bank v. British Amstordam Maritime Agency (1910), 104 L. T. 143.

2436. ——.]—BRANDT v. LIVERPOOL, BRAZIL & RIVER PLATE STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD., No. 2257, ante.

2437. Shipper to whom bill re-indorsed.]—SHORT v. SIMPSON, No. 2439, post.

2438. Indorsees suing as trustees for consignees.]—THE WILHELM SCHMIDT, No. 3199, post.

iii. When Right Must Accrue.

2439. After indorsement.]—Goods were shipped for Bombay under a bill of lading making them deliverable "to order or assigns." The consignor indorsed the bill of lading in blank, & deposited it with a banker as security for an advance of money, &, on his repaying the sum advanced, the bill of lading was re-indorsed & delivered back to him:—Held: such re-indorsement of the bill of lading to him remitted the consignor to all his rights as against the shipowners under the original contract: & consequently he was entitled to sue them for a breach, whether occurring before or after such re-indorsement.

Qu.: whether one who takes a bill of lading by indorsement after a breach by a wrongful delivery of the goods to a stranger, can maintain an action by virtue of Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111).—SHORT v. SIMPSON (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 248; Har. & Ruth. 181; 35 L. J. C. P. 147; 13 L. T. 674; 12 Jur. N. S. 258; 14 W. R. 307; 2 Mar. L. C. 307.

*Annotations:—Apld. The Nepotor (1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 375. Consd. Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74; Bristol & West of England Bank v. Mid. Ry., [1891] 2 Q. B. 653. Reld. Meyerstein v. Barber (1866), 36 L. J. C. P. 48. Mentd. Kitson v. Hardwick (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 473.

2440. Before indorsement.]—SHORT v. SIMPSON, No. 2439, ante.

2441. ——.]—BRISTOL & WEST OF ENGLAND BANK v. MIDLAND RY. CO., No. 2435, ante.

D. Transfer of Liabilities.

(a) In General.

See Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111).

2442. Demurrage.]—If a consignee accept goods under a bill of lading, at the bottom of which is a memorandum that the ship is to be cleared in sixteen days, & £8 per day, demurrage to be paid after that time, the master, upon delivery of the goods, may recover demurrage against the con-

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 9.—D. (a).

1. Transfer by indorsement & delivery to bank—& transfer from bank to common carrier.]—Where goods were shipped at Liverpool for Montreal, to be delivered to deft. or his assignees on payment of freight, & deft., before delivery of the goods to him, transferred the bill of lading by indorsement & delivery to the Bank of Montreal, & the latter signee.—JESSON v. SOLLY (1811), 4 Taunt. 52; 128 E. R. 247.

Annotations:—Distd. Evans v. Forster (1830), 1 B. & Ad. 118. Consd. Scaife v. Tobin (1832), 3 B. & Ad. 523; Smith v. Sieviking (1855), 4 E. & B. 945. Distd. Chappel v. Comfort (1861), 10 C. B. N. S. 802. Refd. Moeller v. Young (1855), 5 E. & B. 7; Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74.

2443. ——.]—If a bill of lading be assigned, the assignee is liable to pay not only the freight of the goods, but also demurrage, according to the terms of the bill of lading.—STINDT v. ROBERTS (1848), 5 Dow. & L. 460; 2 Saund. & C. 212; 17 L. J. Q. B. 166; 12 Jur. 518.

Annotations:—Expld. Young v. Moeller (1855), 5 E. & B. 755. Distd. Chappel v. Comfort (1861), 10 C. B. N. S. 802; Cawthron v. Trickett (1864), 15 C. B. N. S. 754. Apprvd. Brandt v. Liverpool, Brazil & River Plate Steam Navigation Co., [1924] 1 K. B. 575. Refd. Allen v. Coltart (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 782; Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74.

2444. ——.]—ALLEN v. COLTART, No. 3542, post.

2445. —— Necessity for express stipulation.]—OLIVER v. MUGGERIDGE, No. 2521, post.

2446. —— —— Whether stipulation implied.]—WEGENER v. SMITH, No. 3843, post.

2447. —— Agreement of freighter to pay demurrage—Bill of lading assigned before arrival of ship.]—The freighter of goods who has entered into a contract with the shipowner to pay demurrage, the goods being deliverable by the bill of lading to him or his assignees on paying freight, is not relieved from his liability to pay demurrage, although the bill of lading has been assigned before the arrival of the ship, & the goods are parted with by the shipowner to the assignee without satisfaction of the shipowner's lien.—HARRISON v. SPAITH (1854), 23 L. T. O. S. 155.

2448. Whether liability divested by indorsement—Liability to prior holder.]—Merchants in London receive from a mere stranger residing abroad a bill of lading of certain goods in a letter requesting them to effect insurance. They declining to do business for the consignor, but acting bonâ fide with a view to his interest, indorse the bill of lading to a friend of his, who receives the goods, & afterwards sails with the proceeds in his hands:—Held: the merchants by indorsing the bill of lading were liable to the consignor for the amount.—CORLETT v. GORDON (1813), 3 Camp. 472; 170 E. R. 1450, N. P.

2449. —— Liability for freight.]—The consignee named in a bill of lading being sued for freight, pleaded that he indorsed the bill before arrival of the ship in the words "Deliver to W. & K. or order, looking to them for all freight, dead freight, & demurrage, without recourse to us;" & that pltfs. accepted the indorsement, & in pursuance of it delivered the goods to W. & K., & not to deft. It was admitted that deft. would have been liable to W. & K. for any freight paid by them. There was a conflict of evidence as to whether the indorsement was or was not on the bill when it was shown to the captain, but the captain swore he did not see it. The judge directed the jury that it was immaterial whether the indorsement was or was not on the bill unless the captain saw it, & that the onus lay on deft. of proving that the captain saw & assented to it. The jury found a verdict for pltfs.; & deft. obtained a rule for a new trial on the ground of misdirection, which was discharged:—Held: deft. having been at the time of the alleged indorsement liable for the freight, & admitting that he still remained substantially liable, he was bound to prove an assent on the part of pltfs. discharging him from that liability, & that assent would not be proved by showing that the indorsement was on the bill when it was presented to the captain, without proving that the captain in fact assented to it.—LEWIS v. M'KEE (1868), L. R. 4 Exch. 58; 38 L. J. Ex. 62; 19 L. T. 522; 17 W. R. 325; 3 Mar. L. C. 174, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Refd. Fowler v. Knoop (1878), 47 L. J. Q. B. 473; Armour v. Leopold Walford (London), [1921] 3 K. B. 473. Mentd. Parker v. S. E. Ry., Gabell v. The Same (1877), 2 C. P. D. 416; Watkins v. Rymill (1883), 10 Q. B. D. 178.

2450. Lien—For freight.]—By a charterparty the cargo was made deliverable "on being paid freight as follows: The ship to have a lien on cargo for freight; £3 10*s.* per ton of 50 cubic feet to be paid to captain or his agents on right & true delivery at port of discharge." The charterer shipped a portion of the cargo under a bill of lading which stated freight to be payable as per charterparty:—Held: the rate of freight only, & not the terms as to the lien mentioned in the charterparty, was incorporated in the bill of lading, &, therefore, the shipowner had no lien as against a bonâ fide indorsee for value of such bill of lading for the whole chartered freight, but only for the freight due on the goods mentioned in the bill of lading.—FRY v. CHARTERED MERCANTILE BANK OF INDIA (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 689; Har. & Ruth. 858; 35 L. J. C. P. 306; 14 L. T. 709; 14 W. R. 920; 2 Mar. L. C. 346.

Annotations:—Consd. Gray v. Carr (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 522; Porteus v. Watney (1878), 3 Q. B. D. 534; Gardner v. Trechmann (1884), 15 Q. B. D. 154; Manchester Trust v. Furness, [1895] 2 Q. B. 539. Expld. Turner v. Haji Goolam Mahomed Azam, [1904] A. C. 826. Refd. Diederichsen v. Farquharson, [1898] 1 Q. B. 150; The Northumbria (1906), 95 L. T. 618; Hogarth Shipping Co. v. Blyth Greene, Jourdain, [1917] 2 K. B. 534; United States Shipping Board v. Durrell, [1923] 2 K. B. 739.

2451. —— For demurrage.]—GRAY v. CARR, No. 1958, ante.

2452. —— For detention.]—GRAY v. CARR, No. 1958, ante.

2453. —— Storage changes.]—A co. imported into England frozen meat purchased by them in Australia. For the purpose of financing the co. in the business pltfs. paid the price owing by the co. to the persons from whom the co. had bought the meat, & reimbursed themselves out of the proceeds of bills of exchange discounted by a bank, which bills had been drawn to the bank's order by pltfs. & accepted by the co. The bills of lading for the meat were deposited with the bank as security that the bills of exchange would be met. On the arrival of the meat in England the co. with the assent of the bank placed the meat in defts.' cold store to be delivered by defts. to the bank's order or against bills of lading. Defts.' terms of storage, which were the terms usual in the trade, provided that defts. should have a general lien on the meat for all charges accruing against the storer or for any other money due from the owners of the goods. The co. having failed to meet their acceptances pltfs. paid the bank & received the bills of lading from the bank & demanded delivery of the meat from defts. Defts. claimed to exercise a lien on the meat for charges due to them from the co. for the storage of other goods:—Held: the meat having been placed in defts.' store with the assent of the bank on the terms of defts. having a general lien, defts. were entitled to enforce the general lien against pltfs., who had succeeded to the rights of the bank as regards the meat.—JOWITT & SONS v. UNION COLD STORAGE CO., [1913] 3 K. B. 1; 82 L. J.

---

indorsed the bill of lading to H., a common carrier:—Held: deft. was not liable for the payment of the freight notwithstanding that H., as such common carrier, carried the goods in question from Montreal to Toronto for deft.—BICKFORD v. KERR (1873), 18 L. C. J. 169.—CAN.

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 9, D. (a) & (b); sub-sects. 10 & 11, A., B. & C. (a).]

K. B. 890; 108 L. T. 724; 29 T. L. R. 477; 57 Sol. Jo. 560; 18 Com. Cas. 185.

Annotations:—Refd. Cassils & Sassoon v. Holden Wood Bleaching Co. (1914), 84 L. J. K. B. 834; Pennington v. Reliance Motor Works, [1923] 1 K. B. 127.

2454. —— Necessity for express stipulation.]—GRAY v. CARR, No. 1958, ante.

2455. —— ——.]—MCLEAN & HOPE v. FLEMING, No. 2949, post.

2456. Duty to take delivery—Implied term—Where no express stipulation.]—(1) Where there is no express stipulation in a bill of lading it is an implied term of the contract contained in it that the consignee named in the bill of lading, or his assigns, will take delivery of the goods within a reasonable time, & the person to whom the property in the goods has passed by reason of such consignment is, by Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), s. 1, subject to the liability so to take them.

(2) Where the charterers & the shippers are the same persons, such contract will still be implied in the bill of lading, notwithstanding the existence of an express stipulation in the charterparty between the charterers & the shipowner in reference to the same matter.—FOWLER v. KNOOP (1878), 4 Q. B. D. 299; 48 L. J. Q. B. 333; 40 L. T. 180; 27 W. R. 299; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 68, C. A.

Freight.]—See Sect. 11, post.

(b) To Whom Liabilities Transf rred.

See Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111).

2457. Consignee.]—JESSON v. SOLLY, No. 2442, ante.

2458. Holder by way of security.]—ALLEN v. COLTART, No. 3542, post.

2459. Indorsee.]—THE FREEDOM, No. 2600, post.

2460. ——.]—SEWELL v. BURDICK, No. 2186, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 10.—NEGOTIABILITY.

2461. Whether negotiable.]—LICKBARROW v. MASON, No. 2295, ante.

2462. ——.]—A bill of lading is not negotiable like a bill of exchange, so as to enable the indorsee to maintain an action upon it in his own name; the effect of the indorsement being only to transfer the right of property in the goods, but not the contract itself.—THOMPSON v. DOMINY (1845), 14 M. & W. 403; 14 L. J. Ex. 320; 5 L. T. O. S. 268.

Annotations:—Consd. Tindall v. Taylor (1854), 4 E. & B. 219. Refd. Grant v. Norway (1851), 10 C. B. 665; Crouch v. Credit Foncier of England (1873), L. R. 8 Q. B. 374; Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74. Mentd. Bechuanaland Exploration Co. v. London Trading Bank, [1898] 2 Q. B. 658.

2463. Whether negotiable instrument.]—GREEN v. DIROM (1848), 3 L. T. 448.

2464. ——.]—GURNEY v. BEHREND, No. 2297, ante.

2465. ——.]—A bill of lading for the delivery of goods to order & assigns, is a negotiable instrument, which by indorsement & delivery passes the property in the goods to the indorsee, subject only to the right of the unpaid vendor to stop them in transitu.

The indorsee may deprive the vendor of this right by indorsing the bill of lading for valuable consideration, although the goods are not paid for; even if bills have been given which are certain to be dishonoured, provided the indorsee for value has acted bonâ fide & without notice.

A firm, M. & D., in France, sold, through their agent in England, to S. & T. a lot of linseed cake, payable by bill at three months' date & shipped the same. A bill of lading, signed by the master & indorsed by M. & D., was delivered to S. & T. in exchange for their acceptance at three months' date. Afterwards the bill of lading was redelivered to M. & D.'s agent to hold as security against the acceptance. T., a member of the firm of S. & T., subsequently obtained the bill of lading from M. & D.'s agent, by fraudulent misrepresentation, & indorsed & delivered it to P. & co. for value without notice of the fraud. Before the goods arrived in England, S. & T. became insolvent:—Held: the firm of S. & T. acquired no new title to the goods by the fraud of T., as it merely invested them with the temporary power of transferring their property in the goods; &, the right of M. & D., the vendors, to stop in transitu was gone, as the transfer to P. & co. was bonâ fide, & for a valuable consideration, in ignorance of T.'s fraud.—PEASE v. GLOAHEC, THE MARIE JOSEPH (1866), L. R. 1 P. C. 219; 3 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 556; Brown. & Lush. 449; 35 L. J. P. C. 66; 15 L. T. 6; 12 Jur. N. S. 677; 15 W. R. 201; 2 Mar. L. C. 394; 16 E. R. 210, P. C.

Annotations:—Apld. The Argentina (1867), L. R. 1 A. & E. 370. Mentd. Re Overend, Gurney, Ex p. Oakes & Peck (1867), L. R. 3 Eq. 576; Cundy v. Lindsay (1878), 26 W. R. 406.

2466. —— Omission of "or order or assigns."]—HENDERSON & CO. v. COMPTOIR D'ESCOMPTE DE PARIS, No. 2400, ante.

2467. Liability of assignee to equities affecting assignor—What amounts to notice—Of prior agreement—Omission of "or order or assigns."]—HENDERSON & CO. v. COMPTOIR D'ESCOMPTE DE PARIS, No. 2400, ante.

2468. —— —— —— Letter from assignor informing assignee of bankruptcy of shipper.]—THE EMILIEN MARIE, No. 2294, ante.

2469. Whether assignee may take better right than assignor.]—THE EMILIEN MARIE, No. 2294, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 11.—WHERE SHIP CHARTERED.

A. In General.

See Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article 5.

2470. Liability as between shipowner & charterer—Dependent on facts of particular case.]—Where a ship has been hired on a time charter not amounting to a demise & goods have been placed

---

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 10.

g. Notice of outstanding interest by absence of indorsement.]—The absence of the indorsement on bills of lading by the consignee therein named is notice of an outstanding interest in the goods represented by the bills, & places persons proposing to make advances upon the security of those bills upon inquiry in respect to the circumstances affecting them. On failure to take proper measures in order to ascertain these facts & obtain a clear title to the bills & goods, any pledge thereof must be assumed to have been made subject to all rights of such consignee.—GOSSELIN v. ONTARIO BANK (1905), 36 S. C. R. 406.—CAN.

h. Whether holder of bill can give valid discharge.]—Mere possession of a bill of lading in the hands of a person who has intervened between the original shipper & the consignee & is in no way identified with the transaction except by possession of the document, does not give him any authority to give a valid discharge of the money payable by the consignee.—STEWART v. RICHARDSON SONS & CO., LTD., [1920] 3 W. W. R. 134; 53 D. L. R. 625; 30 Man. L. R. 481.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 11.—A.

k. Operation of bill as receipt for cargo.]—Where goods are shipped by the charterer himself & the bill of on board the ship for carriage upon the terms of a bill of lading, the question whether the contract made by the bill of lading with the owner of the goods is a contract of the shipowner or of the charterer must in every case be decided upon the facts & documents of the particular case.—WILSTON S.S. CO., LTD. v. WEIR (ANDREW) & CO. (1925), 31 Com. Cas. 111.

2471. —— Shipper having no notice of charterparty.]—THE FIGLIA MAGGIORE, No. 2990, post.

2472. —— Express contract with charterer.]—WAGSTAFF v. ANDERSON, No. 3452, post.

2473. —— Company owning line of steamers—"Extra ship"—Estoppel.]—A co. owned a line of steamers called the "Monarch Line," running between New York & London. A. was in the habit of shipping goods on steamers running on this line. A. shipped goods in a steamer at New York, & received a bill of lading made out in the ordinary form given by the co. for goods shipped on their steamers, save that it had the words "extra steamer" added after the words "Monarch Line of steamships." At London an overside release for the goods was signed & given by the co.'s agents to A., & the freights received by them from A. In an action by A. against the co. for non-delivery of the goods:—Held: the co. were estopped from saying that the contract of shipment was not made with them.—HERMAN v. ROYAL EXCHANGE SHIPPING CO. & PATTON, JUNR. & CO. (1884), Cab. & El. 413.

2474. —— Negligence.]—THE ST. CLOUD, No. 2490, post.

2475. ——.]—OHRLOFF v. BRISCALL, THE HELENE, No. 2989, post.

2476. ——.]—SANDEMAN v. SCURR, No. 2038, ante.

2477. ——.]—HAYN v. CULLIFORD, No. 2699, post.

2478. —— Effect of charterer taking bill of lading—On charterparty contract—Position of holder of bill not in charterer distinguished.]—The distinction between the position of a charterer who ships & takes a bill of lading & an ordinary holder of a bill of lading is that in the former case the underlying contract of the charterparty remains until it is cancelled, & taking a bill of lading does not cancel it in whole or in part, unless it can be inferred from the inconsistency of the terms of the two documents that it was intended to do so; while, in the case of a holder of a bill of lading who is not the charterer, there is no presumption that he contracts in any terms but those of the bill of lading, &, if the bill of lading purports to import the charterparty, the presumption is that it incorporates only those clauses which relate to the conditions to be performed by the receiver of the goods.—TEMPERLEY STEAM SHIPPING CO. v. SMYTH & CO., [1905] 2 K. B. 791; 74 L. J. K. B. 876; 93 L. T. 471; 54 W. R. 150; 21 T. L. R. 739; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 123; 10 Com. Cas. 301, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. The Portsmouth, [1911] P. 54.

2479. Reference to charterparty in bill of lading—Constructive notice to holders of bills—Of contents of charterparty.]—A charterparty contained a proviso that the captain & crew, although appointed & paid by the owners, should be the servants of the charterers, & that in signing bills of lading the captain should only do so as the agent of the charterers, & that the charterers would indemnify the owners against all liabilities arising from the captain signing the bills of lading. The captain signed bills of lading in the ordinary form for goods to be delivered to the holders of the bills of lading, they paying freight & other conditions as per charterparty. The goods were misdelivered, & an action was brought by the holders of the bills of lading against the shipowners for the loss:—Held: (1) the special clause in the charterparty was binding only between the owners & the charterers, & did not affect the liability of the owners to the holders of the bills of lading, who were entitled to consider the captain as the agent of the owners; (2) the reference to the charterparty in the bills of lading did not give the holders constructive notice of the contents of the charterparty, the equitable doctrine of constructive notice of contents of documents not being applicable to mercantile transactions.—MANCHESTER TRUST v. FURNESS, [1895] 2 Q. B. 539; 73 L. T. 110; 44 W. R. 178; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 57; 1 Com. Cas. 39; 14 R. 739; sub nom. MANCHESTER TRUST, LTD. v. TURNER, WITHY & CO., LTD., 64 L. J. Q. B. 766; 11 T. L. R. 530, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Howden v. Nutfield S.S. Co. (1898), 14 T. L. R. 172; The Northumbria (1906), 95 L. T. 618; Associated Portland Cement Manufacturers (1910), Ltd. v. Ashton, [1915] 2 K. B. 1. As to (2) Consd. Diederichsen v. Farquharson, [1898] 1 Q. B. 150; Hogarth Shipping Co. v. Blyth, Greene, Jourdain, [1917] 2 K. B. 534. Apld. Greer v. Downs Supply Co., [1927] 2 K. B. 28. Refd. East Yorkshire S.S. Co. v. Hancock (1900), 5 Com. Cas. 266; Molyneux v. Hawtrey, [1903] 2 K. B. 487; The Draupner, [1909] P. 219; Lloyds Bank v. Swiss Bankverein, Union of London & Smiths Bank v. Swiss Bankverein (1913), 108 L. T. 143. Generally, Refd. Roderiakt. Superior v. Dewar & Webb (1909), 101 L. T. 371.

B. Charterparty amounting to a Demise.

2480. Liability of charterer.]—COLVIN v. NEWBERRY, No. 2036, ante.

2481. ——.]—SAMUEL, SAMUEL & CO. v. WEST HARTLEPOOL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., No. 4629, post.

What amounts to charterparty by demise.]—See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 21, ante.

Authority of master.]—See Nos. 2498, 2499, post.

C. Authority of Master.

(a) In General.

2482. Authority to sign bills.]—GABARRON v. KREEFT, KREEFT v. THOMPSON, No. 3572, post.

2483. —— Refusal to sign—Sum payable on refusal—Whether penalty or liquidated damages.]—It was stipulated by a charterparty made between pltfs. & defts. that the master of the ship should sign bills of lading as presented, or pay a named penalty. He refused to do so, & sailed from the port of loading without having signed any bills of lading. He proceeded to the port of discharge, delivered a portion of the cargo to the consignees, but ceased doing so & warehoused the remainder, as they, acting under instructions from the charterers, claimed to deduct from the freight an amount equal to the penalty named in the charterparty. In an action by the charterers against the shipowners for conversion & for penalties:—Held: (1) pltfs. could recover nominal damages for the breach of contract in not signing bills of lading as presented; (2) there had been no conversion by defts. of the cargo, as they had carried it for pltfs., had intended to deliver the whole of it to the consignees of the pltfs., & had been prevented by the acts of pltfs. from completing the delivery.—JONES v. HOUGH (1879), 5 Ex. D. 115; 49 L. J.

lading is taken by him in his own name, the bill of lading, in the absence of anything to show a contrary intention, is an acknowledgment only of the receipt of the goods & the contract of carriage is to be found in the charterparty alone.—OYLER v. MERRIAM, [1923] 1 D. L. R. 602; 56 N. S. R. 61.—CAN.

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 11, C. (a) & (b), & D.]

Q. B. 211; 42 L. T. 108; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 248, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Folld. The Princess (1894), 70 L. T. 388. Expld. Rayner v. Rederiakt. Condor, [1895] 2 Q. B. 289. As to (2) Refd. Armstrong v. Allan (1892), 67 L. T. 417.

2484. —— —— —— ——.]—A charterparty entered into between pltfs. & defts. contained a clause in the following terms: "Captain to sign bills of lading (at pltfs.' office) without responsibility as to weight, & as presented to him, without prejudice to the tenor of this charterparty, within twenty-four hours after the cargo is on board, or pay 4*d.* per register ton per day (the first day's payment being due on the expiration of the said twenty-four hours) for each day's delay." The captain refused to sign for seventeen days, but the owners offered to sign on his behalf within twenty-four hours. In an action by the charterers against the owners:—Held: (1) the signature of the owners was not sufficient to satisfy the provision in the charterparty; (2) the clause was one for a penalty, & not for liquidated damages. —THE PRINCESS (1894), 70 L. T. 388; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 432; 6 R. 723.

Annotation:—Refd. Rayner v. S.S. Ornen (1895), 64 L. J. Q. B. 540.

2485. —— —— —— ——.]—RAYNER v. REDERIAKT. CONDOR, No. 3912, post.

2486. —— —— Whether amounting to conversion of cargo.]—JONES v. HOUGH, No 2483, ante.

2487. —— —— Signature by owners.]—THE PRINCESS, No. 2484, ante.

2488. —— Bills manifestly inconsistent with charterparty.] — KRÜGER & CO., LTD. v. MOEL TRYVAN SHIP CO., LTD., No. 2503, post.

——.]—See, generally, Sect. 3, sub-sect. 4, ante.

2489. Form of bill in charterparty—As to order & condition of goods—Master not bound to make untrue statement.]—COMPANIA NAVIERA VASCONZADA v. CHURCHILL & SIM, COMPANIA NAVIERA VASCONZADA v. BURTON & CO., No. 2254, ante.

Authority to vary stipulations in charterparty—Stipulations as to freight.]—See Part VIII., Sect. 2, post.

(b) For Whom Master Agent.

2490. Shipowner—Charterparty not amounting to demise.]—(1) Whenever, through the neglect or misconduct of those on board the vessel, goods shipped have received damage, primâ facie the shipowner is responsible.

(2) In the absence of notice to the contrary, & when the charterparty does not amount to a demise of the ship, a shipper of goods is justified in supposing that the master is the agent of the shipowner alone, for the purpose of agreement as to the carriage of goods.

A shipowner who charters his vessel to another, but not so as to give up possession, is liable for a breach of the contract contained in a bill of lading, signed by the master, such as injury to the goods by improper stowage, if it is not proved that at the time of shipment the shipper had notice of the charter.

(3) In case of injury to goods by improper stowage, loss upon a contract of resale entered into before delivery, & of which deft. had no notice at the time of making the original contract, is not to be allowed.—THE ST. CLOUD (1863), Brown. & Lush. 4; 1 New Rep. 244; 8 L. T. 54; 1 Mar. L. C. 307; 167 E. R. 269.

Annotations:—As to (2) Folld. Sandeman v. Scurr (1866), L. R. 2 Q. B. 86. Consd. Baumvoll Manufactur von Scheibler v. Furness, [1891] 2 Q. B. 310. Refd. The Figlia Maggiore (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 106; Hayn, Roman v. Culliford (1879), 27 W. R. 541; Baumwoll Manufactur von Carl Scheibler v. Furness, [1893] A. C. 8. Generally, Refd. The Ella A. Clark (1863), Brown. & Lush. 32; The Norway (1864), Brown. & Lush. 226; The Felix (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 273; The Nepotar (1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 375; Simpson v. Blues (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 290; Argos (Cargo Ex), Gaudet v. Brown, The Hewsons (1873), L. R. 5 P. C. 134; Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74; The Mecca, [1895] P. 95; The Cap Blanco, [1913] P. 130.

2491. —— ——.]—SANDEMAN v. SCURR, No. 2038, ante.

2492. —— ——.]—THE JOSEPH (1888), 4 T. L. R. 693, D. C.

2493. —— As well as of charterer.]—(1) The master signed bills of lading to deliver at Hamburg, "dangers of the seas only excepted":—Held: though the charterparty contained other exceptions, the master was the agent of the owner, as well as the charterer, &, therefore, the terms of the bill of lading were binding.

(2) The ship arrived at Falmouth on Aug. 23, during the war between France & Germany. Hamburg was blockaded till Sept. 18. The consignees offered to take their cargo at Falmouth & pay full freight, but were refused. The suit was commenced on Nov. 1:—Held: the master was bound to have delivered the cargo at Hamburg or at Falmouth.—THE PATRIA (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 436; 41 L. J. Adm. 23; 24 L. T. 849; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 71.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Baumvoll Manufactur von C. Scheibler v. Gilchrest & Furness (1891), 60 L. J. Q. B. 605. Generally, Refd. The San Roman (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 583; Giovanni Dapueto v. Wyllie, The Pieve Superiore (1874), L. R. 5 P. C. 482.

2494. —— Ship sub-chartered.]—THE EMILIEN MARIE, No. 2294, ante.

2495. —— ——.]—Under a time charter with power to sub-let the shipowners retained legal possession of the ship through the captain appointed & paid by themselves, who was to be the agent in several respects for the charterers, & in particular to sign bills of lading at any rates of freight that they might direct "without prejudice to this charter," & they also were entitled to a lien upon all cargoes for freight or charter money due under the charter:—Held: (1) bills of lading granted by the captain to resp., a sub-charterer from the charterers with notice of the time charter, were not mere receipts for goods, but contracts which bound the shipowners, & resp., having paid his bill of lading freight, was entitled to his goods free of lien for the time charterer's dues; (2) the words "without prejudice to this charter" mean that the time charter remains unaltered as between the owners & the charterers, notwithstanding the bills of lading, they do not limit the power of the captain to issue bills of lading at different rates of freight, or entitle the shipowners to a lien on the goods comprised therein for freight payable under the time charter.—TURNER v. HAJI GOOLAM MAHOMED AZAM, [1904] A. C. 826; 74 L. J. P. C. 17; 91 L. T. 216; 20 T. L. R. 599; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 588, P. C.

2496. —— ——.]—(1) When a ship is chartered, the charterparty being in the ordinary form & not amounting to a demise of the ship, & subsequently the ship is sub-chartered for a single voyage & bills of lading are signed by the captain in respect of cargo carried on that voyage, the contract contained in the bills of lading is a contract with the owner of the ship. The owner, or the captain as his agent, is entitled to collect the bills of lading freight, & to deduct from it any charterparty hire then owing, accounting for the balance, if any, to the sub-charterers. The rights of the parties are the same if the freight is collected by the ship's agent, appointed by the sub-charterers, he being for this purpose either the agent of the owner or the agent of all parties.

(2) A shipowner is not entitled to exercise a lien on freight in the hands of the ship's agent for charterparty hire not due but accruing due at the time the lien purported to have been exercised.

(3) Where a charterparty provides that hire is to be paid half-monthly in advance, & that in default of payment the owner may withdraw the ship from the service of the charterer without prejudice to any claim the owner may otherwise have against the charterer, if the owner withdraws the ship in the middle of a half-month, he is only entitled to be paid hire in respect of that portion of the half-month during which the ship was in the service of the charterer.—WEHNER v. DENE STEAM SHIPPING CO., [1905] 2 K. B. 92; 74 L. J. K. B. 550; 21 T. L. R. 339; 10 Com. Cas. 139.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Limerick S.S. Co. v. Coker (1916), 33 T. L. R. 103; Wilston S.S. Co. v. Weir (1925), 31 Com. Cas. 111; Molthes Rederi Akt. v. Ellerman's Wilson Line, [1927] 1 K. B. 710. Refd. The Okehampton, [1913] P. 173. As to (2) Refd. Green v. All Motors, [1917] 1 K. B. 625. As to (3) Refd. Italian State Rys. v. Mavrogordatos, [1919] 2 K. B. 305.

2497. —— Master not entitled to sue charterer.]—By a charterparty, containing the usual exceptions, freight was made payable on the unloading & right delivery of the cargo, which was to be provided by the charterers; the master was to sign bills of lading at the port of loading, & upon the completion of the loading the charterers' liability under the charterparty was to cease. The charterers having placed the cargo on board at the port of loading, bills of lading were signed by the master, whereby the cargo was made deliverable to the shippers or their assigns at the port of discharge, "they paying freight for the same as per charterparty." In an action by the master against the charterers for freight:—Held: the master, in signing the bills of lading, had done so merely as agent for the shipowner, & was therefore not entitled to maintain the action.—REPETTO v. MILLAR'S KARRI & JARRAH FORESTS, LTD., [1901] 2 K. B. 306; 70 L. J. K. B. 561; 84 L. T. 836; 49 W. R. 526; 17 T. L. R. 421; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 215; 6 Com. Cas. 129.

——.]—See, generally, Sub-sect. 4, B., ante.

2498. Charterer—Charterparty amounting to demise.]—JAMES v. JONES (1799), 3 Esp. 27; 170 E. R. 526, N. P.

Annotations:—Refd. Hutton v. Bragg (1816), 7 Taunt. 14; Sandeman v. Scurr (1866), L. R. 2 Q. B. 86.

2499. —— ——.]—BAUMWOLL MANUFACTUR VON CARL SCHEIBLER v. FURNESS, No. 2042, ante.

2500. —— As well as of shipowner.]—THE PATRIA, No. 2493, ante.

2501. —— Agency for shipowner excluded by charterparty—Right of transferee of bill of lading to sue shipowner.]—MANCHESTER TRUST v. FURNESS, No. 2479, ante.

2502. —— —— —— Master signing "as agent for time charterers."]—HARRISON v. HUDDERSFIELD S.S. CO., LTD. (1903), 19 T. L. R. 386.

D. Inconsistency between Bill of Lading and Charterparty.

2503. Duty of charterer to prepare bill consistent with charterparty.]—(1) A charterparty contained a clause exempting the shipowner from liability for stranding & other accidents of navigation, even when occasioned by the negligence of the master; the master to sign clean bills of lading without prejudice to the charter. In mistake, & bonâ fide, the master signed bills of lading presented by the charterers which did not give the shipowner the exemption given by the charterparty. Owing to the negligent navigation of the master there was a total loss of the cargo, & the holders of the bills of lading recovered damages against the shipowner:—Held: since the contract between the shipowner & the charterers was that the shipowner was not to be liable for the master's negligence, the charterers were bound to indemnify the shipowner against the claims of the holders of the bills of lading.

(2) It is the charterer's duty both to prepare & to present for signature the bill of lading, but then he must present such a bill of lading to the master as is not inconsistent with & not to the prejudice of the charterparty (LORD HALSBURY).

(3) When it is said that the master must sign any bill of lading submitted to him, I cannot agree. If the bill of lading tendered is manifestly inconsistent with the charterparty, I think it would be his duty to refuse (LORD HALSBURY).—KRÜGER & CO., LTD. v. MOEL TRYVAN SHIP CO., LTD., [1907] A. C. 272; 76 L. J. K. B. 985; 97 L. T. 143; 23 T. L. R. 677; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 465; 13 Com. Cas. 1; sub nom. MOEL TRYVAN SHIP CO., LTD. v. KRUGER & CO., LTD., 51 Sol. Jo. 623, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. MOEL TRYVAN SHIP CO. v. KRUGER & CO., [1907] 1 K. B. 809, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Groves v. Webb & Kenward (1916), 114 L. T. 1082. Refd. The Devonshire & St. Winifred, [1913] P. 13; Guaranty Trust Co. of New York v. Hannay, [1918] 2 K. B. 623; Pyman S.S. Co. v. Admiralty Lords Comrs. (1918), 119 L. T. 735. As to (2) Consd. Nolisement (Owners) v. Bunge & Born, [1917] 1 K. B. 160. Generally, Mentd. Re Auchmuty (1908), 99 L. T. 462.

2504. Effect as between shipper & shipowner.]—SEWELL v. BURDICK, No. 2186, ante.

2505. Effect as between charterer & shipowner—Exception in bill of lading—No exception in charterparty.]—RODOCANACHI v. MILBURN, No. 3816, post.

2506. —— —— ——.]—Where an agreement in special terms & for a special purpose has been entered into between a shipper of goods & shipowner, such special terms cannot be modified by reading into them the general words of a bill of lading under which the goods have been shipped.

By an agreement of the nature of a charterparty it was provided that shipowners should fix, in a suitable place on board their ship, proper refrigerating machinery & insulated chambers, & should, during the voyage, keep the chambers below a certain fixed temperature, any accident to the machinery or cause beyond the owner's control not preventing; & it was further provided that the performance of the agreement was to be subject to the exceptions mentioned in the bill of lading, & the agreement was to be read as if such clauses & conditions were repeated therein, & all cargo was to be "received & carried subject to the terms & conditions in the said bill of lading except as altered by these presents." By the terms of the bill of lading any loss or damage was excepted which might result from "the consequence of any damage, breakdown, or injury to, or defect in hull, tackle, boilers, or machinery, or their appurtenances, refrigerating engines or

---

PART VII. SECT. 3, SUB-SECT. 11.—D.

2504 i. Effect as between shipper & shipowner.]—THE MARGA v. SEARLE (1903), 20 S. C. 485; 13 C. T. R. 713. —S. AF.

l. Effect as between charterer & shipowner—Admissibility of parol evidence—To show variation of terms of bill from charterparty.]—DAVIDSON v. BISSET & SON (1878), 5 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 706; 15 Sc. L. R. 397.—SCOT.

m. Effect as between shipper & charterer—Onus of proof of notice to shipper of terms of charterparty.]—COLONIAL UNION CO., LTD. v. COMMON (1890), 8 N. Z. L. R. 528.—N.Z.

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 11, D. & E. (a), (b) & (c), i., ii., iii. & iv.] chambers, or any part thereof, however such damage, etc., might have been caused, & notwithstanding that the same might have existed at, or at any time before, the loading or sailing of the vessel, or by unseaworthiness of the ship at the beginning or any period of the voyage, provided all reasonable means had been taken to provide against such unseaworthiness." The refrigerating engines proved to be unfit & insufficient, & the insulated chambers were not kept at the agreed temperature, whereby the cargo was damaged:—Held: the exceptions in the bill of lading were not incorporated with the agreement so as to lessen or qualify the obligation of the owners to provide proper machinery, & to keep the chambers at the agreed temperature, & they were liable for the loss so caused.—HOUSTON & Co. v. SANSINENA & Co. (1893), 68 L. T. 567; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 311; 1 R. 203, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. SANSINENA & Co. v. HOUSTON (R. P.) & Co. (1892), 66 L. T. 246, C. A.

2507. —— —— ——.]—A clause in a charterparty provided: "The captain to sign bills at any rate of freight without prejudice to this charterparty, but not below charterparty rate." The charterparty also contained an exceptions clause which did not protect the shipowners under the circumstances. A cargo of dates was shipped by a third party for delivery in London under a bill of lading which contained an exceptions clause which it was admitted protected the shipowners from liability if the contract of carriage was governed by the bill of lading. Subsequently to the shipping of the dates the charterers made an advance to the shipper & took the bill of lading duly indorsed, & thus became pledgees of the dates. When the ship arrived in London the charterers presented the bill of lading & took delivery of the dates, a portion of which was found to be seriously damaged. The charterers claimed to recover damages for this loss from the shipowners, they alleging that the dates were shipped under the charterparty:—Held: the charterers had no rights in respect of the dates except under the bill of lading, & therefore the shipowners were protected from liability by the exceptions clause in the bill of lading.

Semble: a ship does not become unfit to carry a particular cargo merely because it is stowed in a portion of a compartment which is less suitable for the carriage of that cargo than another portion of the same compartment. Such impropriety would only amount to improper stowage.—CALCUTTA S.S. Co., LTD. v. WEIR (ANDREW) & Co., [1910] 1 K. B. 759; 79 L. J. K. B. 401; 102 L. T. 428; 26 T. L. R. 237; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 395; 15 Com. Cas. 172.

Annotations:—Refd. Hogarth Shipping Co. v. Blyth, Greene, Jourdain, [1917] 2 K. B. 534; Paterson, Zochonis v. Elder, Dempster, [1923] 1 K. B. 420.

2508. —— Exception in charterparty—No exception in bill of lading—Indemnity of shipowner.]—Where a contract for carriage of goods by sea contains an exception of negligence of the master & crew, the shipowner is entitled to a contribution from the owner of the goods to general average expenses, though the necessity for the same has been occasioned by the negligence of the master.

A charterparty, which contained an exception of the negligence of the master & crew, provided that the captain should sign bills of lading at any rate of freight the charterers or their agents might choose without prejudice to the stipulations of the charterparty, & that the charterers should indemnify the shipowners from any consequences which might arise from the captain following the charterers' instructions & signing bills of lading.

The captain, upon the instructions of the charterers, signed bills of lading for goods shipped by a third person, which did not contain a negligence clause. The ship coming into collision with another ship through the negligence of the captain, general average expenses were incurred in putting back for repairs:—Held: the charterers were liable to indemnify the shipowners against the loss sustained by them through their not being able to obtain a general average contribution from the owner of the goods by reason of the bills of lading not containing a negligence clause.—MILBURN & Co. v. JAMAICA FRUIT IMPORTING & TRADING Co. OF LONDON, [1900] 2 Q. B. 540; 69 L. J. Q. B. 860; 83 L. T. 321; 16 T. L. R. 515; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 122; 5 Com. Cas. 346, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Moel Tryvan Ship Co. v. Kruger [1906] 2 K. B. 792. Refd. The Duc D'Aumale (No. 2), [1904] P. 60; Greenshields, Cowie v. Stephens, [1908] 1 K. B. 51.

2509. —— —— —— ——.]—By a charterparty the shipowners were not to be liable for perils of the sea or other accidents of navigation even when occasioned by the negligence, default, or error in judgment of the master, mariners, or other servants of the shipowners. By another clause in the charterparty the captain, although appointed by the owners, was to be under the orders & direction of the charterers as regards employment, agency, or other similar arrangements; bills of lading to be signed at any rate of freight the charterers or their agents might direct without prejudice to the charter, the charterers indemnifying the owners from all consequences or liabilities that might arise from the captain doing so. Corn was shipped under a bill of lading by which the shipowners were not exempted from the same liabilities as under the charterparty. The corn was damaged on the voyage, & the endorsees of the bill of lading sued the shipowners, alleging that the damage was caused by negligent loading. The shipowners served a third party notice on the charterers claiming indemnity from them under the above clause in the charterparty:—Held: the shipowners were entitled to serve the third party notice.—THE ARROYO (1900), 16 T. L. R. 255.

2510. —— —— —— ——.]—KRÜGER & Co., LTD. v. MOEL TRYVAN SHIP Co., LTD., No. 2503, ante.

E. Incorporation of Charterparty in Bill of Lading.

(a) In General.

2511. When terms incorporated—"All other conditions as per charterparty."]—PORTEUS v. WATNEY, No. 3880, post.

2512. —— ——.]—By a charterparty a vessel was to load a full cargo of timber, including a deck cargo at merchant's risk. Timber was loaded under a bill of lading which contained no reference to deck cargo, but in which there was a clause "freight & all other conditions as per charterparty." In an action for freight by the shipowner against the consignees of a part of the cargo which had been carried on deck, defts. counterclaimed for damage to their cargo:—Held: the conditions of the charterparty incorporated into the bill of

n. When terms incorporated—Allusion in bill of lading to terms of charterparty.]—HOWITT v. PAUL, SWORD & Co. (1877), 5 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 321.—SCOT.

lading were limited to such as were to be performed by the consignee, & did not include the exemption of the shipowner from liability in respect of deck cargo. — DIEDERICHSEN v. FARQUHARSON BROTHERS, [1898] 1 Q. B. 150; 67 L. J. Q. B. 103; 77 L. T. 543; 46 W. R. 162; 14 T. L. R. 59; 42 Sol. Jo. 65; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 333; 3 Com. Cas. 87, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Hogarth Shipping Co. v. Blyth Greene, Jourdain, [1917] 2 K. B. 534. Refd. East Yorkshire S.S. Co. v. Hancock (1900), 5 Com. Cas. 266; Moel Tryvan Ship Co. v. Kruger, [1906] 2 K. B. 792; The Northumbria (1906), 95 L. T. 618.

2513. What terms incorporated—All conditions not inapplicable.]—PORTEUS v. WATNEY, No. 3880, post.

2514. —— ——.]—Goods, forming part of a cargo loaded under a charterparty of pltfs.' ship, were shipped under a bill of lading to be delivered to the order of M. or assigns, "he or they paying freight for the goods . . . all other terms, conditions, & clauses as per charterparty." The charterparty contained the following clause: "The ship to discharge in such berth or dock as ordered by charterers or their agents." On the arrival of the ship at the port of discharge deft., the indorsee of the bill of lading, he being also the charterers' agent, ordered her to discharge in a certain dock, but she discharged in a different dock from that ordered, whereby deft. suffered damage:—Held: the clause in the charterparty was incorporated into the bill of lading, & pltfs. were liable to deft. for the damage suffered by him.

The place where the ship is to discharge is a matter relevant to the delivery of the cargo, & the consignee is therefore entitled to the benefit of the clause in the charterparty dealing with that matter. Where a bill of lading contains words such as these the only provisions of the charterparty, which are not incorporated into the bill of lading are those which are not clearly relevant to conditions which have to be performed by the consignee on the arrival of the ship (MATHEW, J.). —EAST YORKSHIRE S.S. CO., LTD. v. HANCOCK (1900), 5 Com. Cas. 266.

Annotations:—Refd. The Portsmouth, [1911] P. 54; Hogarth Shipping Co. v. Blyth, Greene, Jourdain, [1917] 2 K. B. 534.

2515. —— —— Not conditions altering express stipulations in bill of lading.]—A charterparty contained a stipulation in the usual form for payment of freight at the rate of £1 11*s.* 3*d.* per ton; it also contained a clause that the shipowner should have "an absolute lien on the cargo for freight, dead freight, demurrage, lighterage at port of discharge, & average"; & a further clause that the captain was to sign bills of lading at any rate of freight; "but should the total freight as per bills of lading be under the amount estimated to be earned by this charter, the captain to demand payment of any difference in advance." Certain goods were put on board the chartered ship, & were made deliverable to pltfs., who were not the charterers, by a bill of lading, whereby freight was made payable at 22*s.* 6*d.* per ton; the bill of lading contained also a clause whereby it was provided that extra expenses should be borne by the receivers & "other conditions as per charterparty." Upon the arrival of the ship at the port of discharge deft., who was the shipowner, claimed & compelled payment of freight at the rate mentioned in the charterparty. Pltfs. having sued to recover back the difference between the freight as specified in the charterparty & the freight as specified in the bill of lading:—Held: the bill of lading did not incorporate the stipulation in the charterparty as to the payment of freight, no right of lien existed for the freight mentioned in the charterparty, & pltfs. were entitled to delivery of the goods upon payment of the freight specified in the bill of lading.

There are many cases as to what is brought into the bill of lading by this general reference to the charterparty. It brings in only those clauses of the charterparty which are applicable to the contract contained in the bill of lading; & those clauses of the charterparty cannot be brought in which would alter the express stipulations in the bill of lading (BRETT, M.R.).—GARDNER v. TRECHMANN (1884), 15 Q. B. D. 154; 54 L. J. Q. B. 515; 53 L. T. 518; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 558, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Serraino v. Campbell, [1891] 1 Q. B. 283; Diederichsen v. Farquharson, [1898] 1 Q. B. 150. Distd. Rederiact. Superior v. Dewar & Webb, [1909] 2 K. B. 998; Kish v. Taylor, [1912] A. C. 604. Refd. Margetson v. Glynn (1892), 61 L. J. Q. B. 186; Turner v. Haji Goolam Mahomed Azam, [1904] A. C. 826; Red R. S.S. Co. v. Allatini (1909), 101 L. T. 510.

2516. —— Conditions to be performed by party taking delivery.]—TAYLOR v. PERRIN (1883), cited in Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XXVI., at p. 176.

Annotations:—Refd. Serraino v. Campbell, [1891] 1 Q. B. 283; Diederichsen v. Farquharson, [1898] 1 Q. B. 150; The Northumbria (1906), 95 L. T. 618; The Portsmouth, [1911] P. 54.

2517. —— ——.]—SERRAINO & SONS v. CAMPBELL, No. 2526, post.

2518. —— ——.]—DIEDERICHSEN v. FARQUHARSON BROTHERS, No. 2512, ante.

2519. —— ——.]—TEMPERLEY STEAM SHIPPING CO. v. SMYTH & CO., No. 2178, ante.

2520. —— Ship sub-chartered—Terms of original charter not incorporated.]—A shipper who has loaded on the terms of a sub-charter is not affected by notice of a stipulation in the original charterparty, that the owner is to have "a lien on the cargo for arrears of hire." He has a right to have bills of lading signed on the terms of the sub-charter.—THARSIS SULPHUR & COPPER MINING CO. v. CULLIFORD (1873), 22 W. R. 46.

—— Particular terms.]—See Sub-sect. 11, E. (c), post.

(b) As against Assignees.

2521. Transferee only bound by terms expressly incorporated.]—The indorsee of a bill of lading is only liable to be sued on so much of the contract in the charterparty as is expressly incorporated in the bill of lading.—OLIVER v. MUGGERIDGE (1859), 32 L. T. O. S. 254; 7 W. R. 161.

2522. —— Right to delivery on terms of bill of lading.]—CHAPPEL v. COMFORT, No. 2101, ante.

Transfer of bills of lading.]—See Sub-sect. 8, ante.

(c) What Terms Incorporated.

i. Acknowledgment of Receipt of Cargo.

See Sect. 3, sub-sect. 7, C. (a), ante.

ii. Arbitration Clauses.

See ARBITRATION, Vol. II., pp. 331, 332, Nos. 138–141.

iii. Cesser Clauses.

Future liabilities.]—See Nos. 1944, 1946, ante.

Antecedent liabilities.]—See No. 1955, ante.

Effect of arbitration clause.]—See ARBITRATION, Vol. II., p. 331, No. 140.

iv. Demurrage Clauses.

See Nos. 3841, 3842, 3880, post.

Sect. 3.—Bills of lading: Sub-sect. 11, E. (c) v. & vi. Sect. 4: Sub-sect. 1.]

v. Exceptions from Liability.

2523. Whether incorporated.] — (1) The excepted perils mentioned in the charterparty were more numerous than those in the bill of lading: —Held: under the circumstances, both instruments together contained the contract.

(2) The S. R., a German ship with an English cargo, being in need of repairs, put into V. in the month of Aug., & then ascertained the existence of the war between France & Germany. The repairs were completed on Sept. 21, but the master, under the advice of his consul, did not set sail till Dec. 23:—Held: under the circumstances, the risk of capture was such that the delay was justifiable.

According to both English & German law, an apprehension of capture, founded upon circumstances calculated to affect the mind of a master of ordinary courage, judgment, & experience, would justify delay.—THE SAN ROMAN (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 583; 41 L. J. Adm. 72; 26 L. T. 948; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 347; affd. sub nom. ANDERSON v. SAN ROMAN (OWNERS) (1873), L. R. 5 P. C. 301, P. C.

Annotation:—Generally, Refd. Brunner v. Webster (1900), 5 Com. Cas. 167.

2524. ——.]—TAYLOR v. PERRIN (1883), cited in Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XXVI., at p. 176.

Annotations:—Refd. Serraino v. Campbell, [1891] 1 Q. B. 283; Diederichsen v. Farquharson, [1898] 1 Q. B. 150; The Northumbria (1906), 95 L. T. 618; The Portsmouth, [1911] P. 54.

2525. —— Restraint of princes.]—RUSSELL v. NIEMANN, No. 2544, post.

2526. —— Negligence.]—Goods were shipped under a charterparty & bill of lading, the bill of lading providing that the goods were to be delivered at the port of discharge, "the act of God, the Queen's enemies, fire, & all & every other dangers & accidents of the seas, rivers, & navigation, of what nature & kind soever, excepted, unto order or to assigns, they paying freight for the said goods, & all other conditions as per charter, with average accustomed." In the charterparty were the same exceptions, followed by these words: "Negligence clause, as per Baltic Bill of Lading, 1885." Amongst the perils excepted by the Baltic Bill of Lading, 1885, were "strandings & collisions, & all losses & damages caused thereby, even when occasioned by the negligence, default, or error in judgment of the pilot, master, mariners, or other servants of the shipowners." Owing to the negligence of the master, the ship was stranded & the goods were lost. Pltfs., who were indorsees of the bill of lading, but strangers to the charterparty, sued the shipowners for the loss of the goods:—Held: the words "all other conditions as per charter" did not incorporate into the bill of lading the exception of "stranding occasioned by the negligence of the master," & the shipowners were liable to pltfs.—SERRAINO & SONS v. CAMPBELL, [1891] 1 Q. B. 283; 60 L. J. Q. B. 303; 64 L. T. 615; 39 W. R. 356; 7 T. L. R. 174; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 48, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Diederichsen v. Farquharson, [1898] 1 Q. B. 150. Consd. Moel Tryvan Ship Co. v. Kruger, [1906] 2 K. B. 792; Hogarth Shipping Co. v. Blyth, Greene, Jourdain, [1917] 2 K. B. 534. Distd. Van Liewen v. Hollis, [1920] A. C. 239. Refd. Manchester Trust v. Furness, Withy, [1895] 2 Q. B. 539; East Yorkshire S.S. Co. v. Hancock (1900), 5 Com. Cas. 266; The Northumbria (1906), 95 L. T. 618; The Portsmouth, [1911] P. 54.

2527. —— ——.]—THE PATRIA, No. 2493, ante.

2528. —— —— Express reference in bill of lading.]—THE NORTHUMBRIA, No. 2606, post.

2529. —— ——.]—By the terms of a charterparty the shipowners were exempted from liability in respect of loss occasioned by (inter alia) "accidents of navigation even when occasioned by negligence, default, or error in judgment of the master, mariners, or other servants of the shipowners." The bill of lading signed by the master, so far as it referred to the charterparty, contained only the words "all other conditions as per charterparty." Pltfs. were the receivers of the cargo shipped under the bill of lading. In their contract of purchase they had stipulated with the sellers, "tonnage to be engaged on conditions of charterparty attached," which form contained the negligence clause. When the cargo arrived there was a shortage due to the negligence of those on board the vessel, in respect of which pltfs. sued the shipowners for damages:—Held: the proper inference from the facts was that pltfs. knew that the charterparty contained the negligence clause, & therefore the shipowners were not liable.—DRAUPNER (OWNERS) v. DRAUPNER (OWNERS OF CARGO), [1910] A. C. 450; 79 L. J. P. 88; 103 L. T. 87; 26 T. L. R. 571; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 436, H. L.

2530. —— Indemnity clause.]—MANCHESTER TRUST v. FURNESS, No. 2479, ante.

—— ——.]—Compare Nos. 2508–2510, ante.

2531. —— "At charterer's risk."]—Under a bill of lading which contained the words ". . . all other conditions & exceptions as per charterparty . . ." 900 barrels of tar were shipped on board defts.' steamship M. The charterparty was a chamber of shipping wood charter, Scandinavia & Finland, under which the M. was to load a cargo of deals, battens, or boards & the barrels of tar were shipped by arrangement in part substitution of the wood. At the request of the master of the M., a clause was inserted in the bill of lading that the ship was "not liable for leakage & breakage," & on the margin of the charterparty itself the master made the following endorsement: "The master of the M. agrees to load 900 barrels of tar on deck for London at a freight of 2*s.* 2*d.* per barrel intaken." The charterparty contained the following clause: "The steamer to be provided with a deck load, at full freight, at charterers' risk." The barrels arrived in a damaged condition owing to a quantity of heavy timber being stowed on top of them, with the result that a large number were crushed & broken & their contents wholly or partially lost. In an action by the indorsees of the bill of lading against the shipowners:—Held: on the proper construction of the agreement between the parties, the words "at charterers' risk" were not incorporated into the contract under the bill of lading, & defts. were liable for the damage caused by the negligence of their servants.—THE MODENA, CHIESMAN & CO. v. MODENA (OWNERS) (1911), 27 T. L. R. 529; 16 Com. Cas. 292, D. C.

vi. Stipulations as to Freight.

Right to payment.]—See Part VIII., Sect. 3, sub-sect. 3, B., post.

Rate of payment.]—See Part VIII., Sect. 3, sub-sect. 3, F. (b), post.

2526*i*. Whether incorporated—Negligence.]—DELAURIER & CO. v. WYLLIE (1889), 17 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 167.—SCOT.

SECT. 4.—EXCEPTED PERILS.

SUB-SECT. 1.—IN GENERAL.

See, generally, CARRIERS, Vol. VIII., pp. 21–25, 38–68, Nos. 107–140, 210–462.

2532. When exceptions apply—"Save risk of boats."]—By bill of lading, a shipowner undertook, that goods should be delivered safe, "the act of God, the King's enemies, fire, & all & every other dangers & accidents of the seas, rivers, & navigation of whatever nature & kind soever, save risk of boats, so far as ships are liable thereto, excepted." The goods having been dispatched from the ship, in her boat, according to the usual course of trade in the West Indies, were, together with the boat, lost in a hurricane:—Held: the shipowner was not liable, under the terms of the bill of lading, to make good the loss.—JOHNSTON v. BENSON (1819), 1 Brod. & Bing. 454; 4 Moore, C. P. 90; 129 E. R. 798.

2533. —— "At ship's risk."]—By a charterparty a vessel was to proceed to a port, & there to load a cargo from the shore by the ship's boats & crew at ship's risk & expense. A part of the cargo was lost, after delivery from the shore & before it was loaded on board through one of the perils enumerated in the exceptions in the charterparty. In an action by the charterer for the non-delivery of this part of the cargo:—Held: the expression "at ship's risk" did not mean at the absolute risk of the shipowner, but at such risk as would attach if the goods were loaded on board, & the exceptions applied, & the shipowner was not liable for the non-delivery.

If this charterparty had been in the ordinary form it would have been the duty of the charterer to bring his goods alongside so as to deliver them into the ship. The provisions of the charterparty would not be applicable to these goods during the transit from the shore to the ship, because they are not at that time brought within the purview of the charterparty. If it were not for this exceptional clause the shipowner would have nothing to do with the goods during transit from the shore to the ship (LORD ESHER, M.R.).—NOTTEBOHM v. RICHTER (1886), 18 Q. B. D. 63; 56 L. J. Q. B. 33; 35 W. R. 300; 3 T. L. R. 30, C. A.

2534. —— ——.]—A clause in a charterparty provided as follows: "The cargo to be ordered by the captain as required, & when signed for to be at ship's risk until shipped on board . . . but in all other respects, the act of God, perils of the sea . . . are always mutually excepted." The cargo, which consisted of sleepers, was brought alongside the vessel in rafts. A number of the sleepers were lost after being signed for on behalf of the shipowner, & before they were shipped on board, through perils enumerated in the exceptions:—Held: the expression "at ship's risk" meant that the sleepers were at the absolute risk of the shipowner during the period between their being signed for & their being shipped on board, the excepted perils not applying to that period owing to their being prefaced by the words "but in all other respects."—DAMPSKEBSSELSKABET SKJOLDBORG & HANSEN v. CALDER (CHARLES) & CO. (1911), 106 L. T. 263; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 156; 17 Com. Cas. 97.

2535. Onus of proof.]—In 1920, applts., the General Steam Navigation co., Limited, who were shipowners, received from resps., 1,775 cases of dried eggs for carriage to Havre under a bill of lading dated Aug. 28, 1920. Out of these 1,775 cases so received by applts., only 1,767 cases were delivered at Havre. Resps. claimed damages for the loss of the balance of 8 cases. The bill of lading contained a large number of clauses printed in small print, & applts. relied on (inter alia), clause (a) which provided (inter alia), that it was agreed the ship, her owners, charterers, or master, are not liable in any event "for any loss, breakage, damage or injury in respect of animals, coin, jewellery pictures, statutory, china, earthenware, glass, looking glass, or glass ware of any description, plate, baggage, private effects & furniture, liquids, or any other goods packed in glass exceeding in value £2 per dozen bottles & similar articles of value, nor for any other article, package or parcel exceeding £10 in value, unless previous arrangements in writing have been made in which latter event the shipowners' &/or charterers' liability if any, is not to exceed the proved market value of such goods, or £10 per package or parcel at the shipowners' &/or charterers' option. All glass, looking glass & other heavy articles . . . are only to be carried at shipper's risk." Applts.' case was that the parcels of eggs exceeded £10 in value, & that no previous arrangements in writing had been made in regard to them, & that therefore they, applts., were not liable. Resps.' case was that the words "any other article, baggage, or parcel exceeding £10 in value must be construed according to the ejusdem generis rule, & that these words only referred to the sort of articles which were mentioned before, namely, "animals, coin, jewellery," & so forth. It was contended that the eggs did not come within the clause at all, & that they were not in the class of goods to which the clause applied. Applts. also relied on clause (b) of the bill of lading which excepted "The act of God, the King's enemies, pirates, robbers, restraint of princes, rulers & people . . . defects in hull, fittings, equipment, tackle, apparatus, machinery, boilers, or from perils of the sea . . . or from any act, neglect or default whatsoever, of the pilot, master, officers, engineers":—Held: (1) the onus was on applts., the shipowners, to show clearly that the words of clause (a) of the bill of lading applied to the circumstances of this case, & having regard to the ambiguity of the language of clause (a) applts. had failed to discharge that onus; (2) applts. had also failed to prove that the loss of the 8 cases of eggs was caused by one of the perils excepted by clause (b) of the bill of lading. They were liable for the loss.—LAYTON (J.) & CO., LTD. v. GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1923), 130 L. T. 662; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 335, D. C.

2536. How far exceptions mutual—Each case dependent on particular facts.]—In deciding whether a particular provision in an exceptions clause in a charterparty applies in favour of both shipowner & charterer, or applies only in favour of one or other party to the exclusion of the other, regard must be had to the exact wording of the clause in question & to the construction of the charterparty as a whole; & no assistance can be obtained from the decisions of other cases unless the circumstances in those other cases were substantially identical.—AKT. GENERAL GORDON v. CAPE COPPER CO. (1921), 91 L. J. K. B. 112; 26 Com. Cas. 289, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Williams v. Manissalian (1923), 29 Com. Cas. 42. Apld. Cantiere Navale Triestina v. Russian Soviet Naphtha Export Agency, [1925] 2 K. B. 172.

---

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 1.

o. Owner not liable—Where peril of sea proved.]—THE VILLE DE L'ORIENT (1860), 2 L. T. 62.—IR.

p. Ship lost by peril excepted in charterparty—Duty of shipowners to supply substitute vessel.]—By a charterparty defts. described therein as the owners of The Kilcoan (or substitute at owner's option), chartered The Kilcoan to pltfs. for a period of twelve months to carry 25,000 tons of

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sects. 1, 2, 3, 4, & 5.]

2537. —— "Act of God."]—A charterparty contained clauses relating to the obligations of shipowner & charterers respectively, & the usual exceptions, " act of God, perils of the sea," etc. :—Held: the exceptions were intended for the protection of the charterers as well as the shipowner.—BARRIE v. PERUVIAN CORPN., LTD. (1896), 13 T. L. R. 101 ; 2 Com. Cas. 50.

Annotations:—Apld. Re Newman & Dale S.S. Co. & British & South American S.S. Co., [1903] 1 K. B. 262. Distd. Braemount S.S. Co. v. Weir (1910), 102 L. T. 73. Consd. Embiricos v. Reid, [1914] 3 K. B. 45 ; Ralli v. Compania Naviera Sota y Aznar (1920), 123 L. T. 375 ; Akt. General Gordon v. Cape Copper Co. (1921), 91 L. J. K. B. 112. Refd. Cantiere Navale Triestina v. Russian Soviet Naphtha Export Agency, [1925] 2 K. B. 172.

2538. —— "Fire."]—The exception of fire in a charterparty enures for the protection of the charterer as well as the shipowner.—Re NEWMAN & DALE S.S. CO. & BRITISH & SOUTH AMERICAN S.S. CO., [1903] 1 K. B. 262 ; 72 L. J. K. B. 110 ; 87 L. T. 614 ; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 351 ; 8 Com. Cas. 87.

Annotations:—Consd. Embiricos v. Reid, [1914] 3 K. B. 45. Apld. Ralli v. Compania Naviera Sota y Aznar (1920), 123 L. T. 375. Refd. Braemount S.S. Co. v. Weir (1910), 102 L. T. 73 ; Akt. General Gordon v. Cape Copper Co. (1921), 91 L. J. K. B. 112 ; Cantiere Navale Triestina v. Russian Soviet Naphtha Export Agency, [1925] 2 K. B. 172.

2539. —— "Strikes."]—By a charterparty, headed " Time Charterparty," the owners agreed to let & the charterers agreed to hire a steamship for the term of one trip from Newcastle, New South Wales, to the west coast of South America, the charterers to pay hire at & after the rate of £1,000 per calendar month, the hire to commence 24 hours after the vessel was placed at the charterers' disposal & to continue until the hour of her redelivery to the owners. There were provisions for the cessation of hire & for the cancellation of the charter on the happening of various enumerated events, but in that enumeration strikes were not included. Clause 26 provided as follows : " The act of God, perils of the seas, fire, barratry of the master & crew, enemies, pirates, robbers, arrests, & restraints of princes, rulers & people, strikes, collisions, strandings, & accidents of navigation, & all losses & damages caused thereby are always excepted, even when occasioned by the negligence, default or error in judgment of the pilot, master, mariners, or other persons employed by the owners, or for whose acts they are responsible, but nothing herein contained shall exempt the owners from liability to pay for damage to cargo occasioned by bad stowage . . . & all the above exceptions are conditional on the vessel being seaworthy when she enters on the charter, but any latent defects in the machinery shall not be considered unseaworthiness, provided the same do not result from want of due diligence of the owners. . . . This clause is not to be construed as in any way affecting or cancelling the provisions for cessation of hire as provided in this charterparty. Charterers are not answerable for any negligence, default, or error in judgment of trimmers or stevedores employed in loading or discharging the cargo." When the vessel, on Dec. 18, 1909, was placed at the disposal of the charterers, who intended to load her with coal, there was a strike in operation at Newcastle, which prevented the loading of coal. The strike was still in operation on Jan. 12, 1910, when a dispute between the owners & charterers as to the right of the former to the payment of hire was referred to the decision of an umpire :—Held: (1) the exception of " strikes " in clause 26 of the charterparty was not mutual, but was for the owners' benefit only ; (2) the commercial object of the charterparty had not been frustrated ; consequently, the vessel was on hire to the charterers as from the date when she was placed at their disposal on Dec. 18, 1909.—BRAEMOUNT S.S. CO., LTD. v. WEIR (ANDREW) & CO. (1910), 102 L. T. 73 ; 26 T. L. R. 248 ; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 345 ; 15 Com. Cas. 101.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Ralli v. Compañia Naviera [illegible] Bank Line v. Capel, [1919] A. C. 435. Generc. Akt. General Gordon v. Cape Copper Co. (1921), 91 L. J. K. B. 112.

2540. Construction of exception clause—Exceptions in own favour—Strict construction.]—BURTON v. ENGLISH, No. 4218, post.

2541. —— Insertion of words by Court.]—In Nov. 1914, after the outbreak of war, defts., a Spanish co. controlled by a Spanish firm, contracted to sell to pltfs., Bolckow, Vaughan & co., a quantity of iron ore to be delivered at Middlesbrough during 1915. The contract contained the following proviso : " In case of strikes, combinations of workmen, accidents, war, or any unavoidable total or partial stoppage of works or mines, the supply of minerals now contracted for may be wholly or partially suspended during the continuation thereof, & the time for delivery extended proportionately. In case of partial stoppage of works or mines, delivery to be pro rata with other then existing engagements." The Spanish firm then entered into a freight contract with defts. to carry iron ore from Spain to Middlesbrough during 1915 at 5*s.* 9*d.* a ton, the contract containing an exceptions clause of " restraint of princes." After this contract freights rose rapidly, & on Dec. 1, 1914, the British Admlty. issued regulations which caused delays to shipping. Defts. delivered cargoes under their contract in Dec. 1914, & Feb. 1915. On Feb. 4, 1915, the German Govt. threatened to sink all British & Allied ships in the waters round Great Britain & Ireland after Feb. 18, intimating that neutral ships might unavoidably suffer ; & the Spanish firm relied on this threat as a reason for claiming relief from their contract with defts. The threat caused a rise in war insurance premiums, but did not affect freights ; & no more neutral vessels were sunk in the first three months of 1915 than in the last three months of 1914. In Mar. 1915, defts. refused to make further deliveries until after the war ; & pltfs. treated this as a repudiation of their contract, & sued defts. for breach thereof :—Held: the words of the proviso should be read as if they were " In case of strikes, combinations of workmen, accidents, war, or any other unavoidable cause, occasioning total or partial stoppage of works or mines," & there was no exception on which defts. could rely as excusing them from the performance of the contract.

The clause is one in which . . . some words must be inserted in order to make it intelligible (BANKES, L.J.).—BOLCKOW, VAUGHAN & CO., LTD. v. COMPANIA MINERA DE SIERRA MENERA (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 439 ; 115 L. T. 745 ; 33 T. L. R. 111 ; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 533, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Tennants (Lancashire) v. Wilson (1917), 23 Com. Cas. 41.

2542. Operation of exceptions clause—How far shipowner expected to prevent operation.]—PHOSPHATE MINING CO. v. RANKIN, GILMOUR & CO., No. 2782, post.

coal in weekly voyages. While engaged in carrying out the contract The Kilcoan was lost by a peril excepted in the charterparty :—Held: the owners were not obliged to supply a substitute vessel to carry the remaining cargoes specified in the charterparty.—KING (ALEXANDER), LTD. v. HOWDEN BROTHERS (1915), 50 I. L. T. 27.—IR.

Implied warranty of seaworthiness.]—See Sect. 6, sub-sect. 1, B., post.

Incorporation of exceptions in charterparty in bill of lading.]—See Sect. 3, sub-sect. 11, E. (c) v., ante.

Inconsistency between charterparty & bill of lading.]—See Nos. 2505–2510, ante.

SUB-SECT. 2.—APPLICATION OF EJUSDEM GENERIS RULE.

See Sect. 1, sub-sect. 3, C. (b), ante.

SUB-SECT. 3.—ACT OF GOD.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Acticle 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 2 (d).

What amounts to.]—See CARRIERS, Vol. VIII., p. 21, Nos. 107–113; NEGLIGENCE, Vol. XXXVI., pp. 100–106, Nos. 670–706.

2543. Exception as mutual protection.]—BARRIE v. PERUVIAN CORPN., LTD., No. 2537, ante.

SUB-SECT. 4.—KING'S ENEMIES.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 2 (f).

2544. Who are—Goods shipped on foreign ship—Enemies of country to which ship belongs.]—(1) A bill of lading for goods shipped in a Russian port on board a Mecklenburgh ship for a port in this country, contained an exception of "the King's enemies":—Held: "the King's enemies" meant, or at all events included, the enemies of the sovereign of the person who made the bill of lading, viz. the Duke of Mecklenburgh, & consequently the exception protected the captain against the consequences of a hostile seizure by the Danes, then at war with Mecklenburgh. (2) By a bill of lading the goods were made deliverable to order or assigns, "paying freight for the said goods, & all other conditions as per charterparty":—Held: this did not incorporate an exception in the charterparty as to "acts of enemies" & "restraints of princes."

The words "restraints of princes & rulers" . . . include all cases of restraint or interruption by lawful authority; leaving the case of pirates to be ranked with other dangers of the sea (BYLES, J.). —RUSSELL v. NIEMANN (1864), 17 C. B. N. S. 163; 5 New Rep. 190; 34 L. J. C. P. 10; 10 L. T. 786; 13 W. R. 93; 2 Mar. L. C. 72; 144 E. R. 66.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The Wilhelm Schmidt (1871), 25 L. T. 34; The Industrie, [1894] P. 58. As to (2) Apld. Taylor v. Perrin (1883), cited in [1891] 1 Q. B. p. 294; Serraino v. Campbell, [1891] 1 Q. B. 283; Diederichsen v. Farquharson, [1898] 1 Q. B. 150. Consd. The Northumbria (1906), 95 L. T. 618. Refd. The Felix (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 273; The Heinrich (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 424; Temperley S.S. Co. v. Smyth, [1905] 2 K. B. 791; The Portsmouth, [1911] P. 54. Generally. Refd. Krüger v. Moel Tryvan Ship Co., [1907] A. C. 272.

SUB-SECT. 5.—RESTRAINT OF PRINCES.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 2 (g), & compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 218, 219, Nos. 1740–1758.

2545. Restraint or interruption by lawful authority.]—RUSSELL v. NIEMANN, No. 2544, ante.

2546. —— Whether specific act of interference necessary.]—NOBEL'S EXPLOSIVES CO. v. JENKINS & Co., No. 3501, post.

2547. —— —— Reasonable probability of capture.]—THE SAN ROMAN, No. 2523, ante.

2548. —— —— ——.]—By a charterparty made between pltfs., the owners of a Greek ship, & defts. as charterers, pltfs.' ship was to proceed to the Sea of Azoff, there load a cargo of grain, & carry it to a port in the United Kingdom. The charterparty contained an exception of restraints of princes. The ship arrived at the loading port on Oct. 1, 1912, just before the war between Greece & Turkey broke out. She commenced to load, & on the following day, after she had loaded a small portion of the cargo, defts. stopped further loading owing to the fact that the Turkish authorities were then seizing & detaining Greek ships arriving at the Dardanelles. War was declared on Oct. 18. The lay days under the charterparty expired on Oct. 22. On Oct. 21 defts. purported to cancel the charterparty upon the ground that the war had brought the adventure to an end, but pltfs. refused to accept such cancellation. The ship was unable to leave the Black Sea until Sept. 1913, when the war ended. In an action to recover damages for breach of the charterparty:—Held: the probability of the capture of the ship, if she attempted to pass through the Dardanelles, & the consequent inability of pltfs. to perform their duty under the contract of carrying the cargo to its destination, justified defts. in treating the adventure as frustrated & throwing up the charterparty; & defts. were none the less so justified because at the time of the alleged breach the contract was in part executed by reason of a portion of the cargo having been already loaded.—RICOS v. REID (SYDNEY) & Co., [1914] 3 K. B. 1348; 111 L. T. 291; 30 T. L. R. 451; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 513; 19 Com. Cas. 263.

Annotations:—Refd. Scottish Navigation Co. v. Souter, [1916] 1 K. B. 675; Anglo-Northern Trading Co. v. Emlyn Jones & Williams, [1917] 2 K. B. 78; Heilgers Cambrian Steam Navigation Co. (1917), 33 T. L. R. 34 Watts, Watts v. Mitsui, [1917] A. C. 227; Bank Line v. Capel, [1919] A. C. 435; Snia Soc. di Navigazione Industria e Commercio v. Suzuki (1924), 29 Com. Cas. 284; Cantiere Navale Triestina v. Handelsvertretung der Russe Soz. Fod. Naphtha Export (1925), 94 L. J. K. B. 579.

2549. —— —— ——.]—Pltfs. chartered a vessel for defts., who were shipowners, to proceed to M. & to load & carry to Japan a cargo of sulphate of ammonia which pltf. had bought. The charterparty excepted "arrests & restraints of princes." Defts. refused to provide a ship which by the charterparty they agreed to provide, on the ground that there was reasonable apprehension that if they fulfilled the charter the ship would be seized by the King's enemies. In these circumstances pltfs. were compelled to repudiate their contract with their sellers, & paid them, as the result of arbn. proceedings, £4,500 for so doing.

In an action by pltfs. against defts., for damages for breach of charter, the judge held that the shipowners were guilty of a breach of the charterparty, & that pltfs. could not recover from them £4,500, such damage being too remote, but that they were entitled to recover £3,800, the amount of profit they would have insured. This amount was the difference between the price at which they had

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 3.

q. Heavy rain.]—A bill of lading stated goods to have been received by a steamer on the River Murray in good order & condition, to be delivered in like good order & condition, acts of God excepted. It was the custom to protect cargo in such steamers by tarpaulins, as pltf. knew, & the usual tarpaulins were on this occasion used, but an extraordinary rain injured a portion of the cargo. On action brought for not delivering in good condition:—Held: the damage was within the exception, being the act of God.—ACRAMAN v. JOHNSTON (1871), 5 S. A. L. R. 65.—AUS.

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sect. 5.]

purchased the goods & the market price of the goods in Japan on the date at which the goods might have been expected to arrive. The Ct. of Appeal were agreed that defts. were guilty of a breach of charterparty in not sending a vessel to load, but that as regards the amount of damage the proper amount to fix was the difference between the price which would have been realised by the sale of the goods in Japan at or about the time the vessel should, under the ordinary circumstances, have arrived, & the cost price of the goods at the port of loading at the time of the shipment, together with the cost of freight & insurance:—Held: (1) the mere apprehension of seizure was insufficient to justify deft.'s failure to supply a steamer, as to make the exception operative there must be such a declaration of war as to cause an actual restraint of princes; (2) on the main point, the measure of damages, their lordships were of opinion that the judge had proceeded on a right basis & his order would be restored, subject to correcting the omission to deduct the amount of insurance premium, which, taking the premium to be 6 per cent., would reduce the amount of damages to £800.—WATTS, WATTS & CO., LTD. v. MITSUI & CO., LTD., [1917] A. C. 227; 86 L. J. K. B. 873; 116 L. T. 353; 33 T. L. R. 262; 61 Sol. Jo. 382; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 580; 22 Com. Cas. 242, H. L.; varying S. C. sub nom. MITSUI & CO., LTD. v. WATTS, WATTS & CO., LTD., [1916] 2 K. B. 826, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. The Svorono (1917), 33 T. L. R. 415. As to (2) Refd. Russian Bank for Foreign Trade v. Excess Insce., [1918] 2 K. B. 123; Montevideo Gas & Drydock Co. v. Clan Line Steamers (1921), 37 T. L. R. 544. Generally, Mentd. Hackney B. C. v. Doré, [1922] 1 K. B. 431.

2550. —— —— ——.] — Pltfs. were the indorsees of the bills of lading of a cargo of rice loaded in June, 1914, at Saigon for Dunkirk.

The bills of lading incorporated the conditions & exceptions contained in the charterparty, namely (inter alia), that the vessel was to discharge at good & safe ports as specified or as near thereto as she could safely get, & the acts of the King's enemies & restraints of princes were excepted. About the end of Aug. 1914, the vessel, instead of going to Dunkirk, went to London, & discharged the cargo there in spite of pltfs.' protests, the reason given by the shipowners' representatives being that the French & British Admlty. would not allow steamers into Dunkirk, but this was not the fact, & the port was quite free & accessible although the German land forces were not very far off & were endeavouring to reach Paris.

In an action against the shipowners for damages defts. contended that the exception of restraint of princes applied on the ground that the position of the enemies forces was a menace to the port on its land side:—Held: the port was not unsafe & there was no restraint of princes, & defts. did not act under any apprehension thereof, & even if they did the apprehension was not reasonable in the circumstances, & therefore pltfs. were entitled to recover.—THE SVORONO (1917), 33 T. L. R. 415; 61 Sol. Jo. 594.

2551. —— —— Risk of being sunk by submarine.]—A Norwegian vessel was hired for a term of five years by a charterparty, made in 1912, which provided that "no voyage be undertaken & no documents, goods, or persons shipped that would involve risk of seizure, capture, repatriation, or penalty by rulers or govts." An arbitrator found as a fact that a particular voyage would involve the risk of the vessel "being attacked & sunk by German submarines":—Held: a voyage which involved the risk of the vessel being attacked & sunk by German submarines was one which would involve risk of "seizure" or "capture" within the meaning of the charterparty.—Re TONNEVOLD & FINN FRIIS, [1916] 2 K. B. 551; 85 L. J. K. B. 1758; 115 L. T. 311; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 439; sub nom. TONNEVOLD v. FINN FRIIS, 21 Com. Cas. 354.

2552. —— Negligence of shipowner causing restraint — Carriage of enemy goods.]—Pltfs. during a time of war shipped goods on defts.' vessel under a bill of lading containing an exception of liability for loss or damage occasioned by restraint of princes. Defts. took on board other goods which, as they knew, were intended for the Queen's enemies. The vessel was arrested by the British authorities before the goods were landed, & a suit was instituted in the Prize Ct. In the result, the goods intended for the enemy were confiscated, but the ship was released. In an action brought by pltfs. for consequent delay in the delivery of their goods:—Held: (1) even supposing that defts. had not intended to land the goods without the consent of the proper authorities, they were not entitled to rely on the exception to excuse themselves, from the consequences of a peril which their own negligence had contributed to bring about; (2) the measure of damages to which pltfs. were entitled was the difference between the market value of their goods at the time when they ought to have been delivered & the market value at the time when they were in fact delivered.

There can be no absolute peremptory rule taking voyages by sea out of the principles which regulate the measure of damages on breach of other contracts. It is only because the possible length of voyages & the consequent uncertainty as to the time of arrival, may in many cases eliminate the supposition of any reasonable expectation as to the state of the market at the time of arrival that as a general rule damages for loss of market by late delivery are not recoverable from the carrier by sea (COLLINS, M.R.).—DUNN v. BUCKNALL BROTHERS, DUNN v. CURRIE (DONALD) & CO., [1902] 2 K. B. 614; 71 L. J. K. B. 963; 87 L. T. 497; 51 W. R. 100; 18 T. L. R. 807; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 336; 8 Com. Cas. 33, C. A.

Annotation:—As to (2) Refd. Monte Video Gas & Dry Dock Co. v. Clan Line Steamers (1921), 37 T. L. R. 866.

2553. —— Not act or decision of foreign tribunal.]—(1) Declaration stated that M. caused to be shipped & loaded, at New York, upon a vessel of which defts. were owners, certain goods, & thereupon defts. through their agents in New York, executed & delivered to M. a bill of lading, by the terms whereof defts. promised M. that the said goods of M. so shipped as aforesaid should be carried to & delivered at Liverpool, certain perils, etc., only excepted, to the order of M. on payment of freight, etc.; & M. indorsed the said bill of lading to pltfs., to whom the property in the goods thereby passed; & the goods were carried to L., according to the terms of the bill of lading; & pltfs. then & still being the holders of the bill of lading, & entitled to the delivery of the said goods to themselves, were ready, etc., to pay freight, etc., & demanded the delivery of the goods. Averment of performance of all conditions, yet the goods were not delivered to pltfs., whereby the same were wholly lost to them.

Plea 12, equitable, that the goods were shipped as in the declaration mentioned, & the bill of lading provided (inter alia) that defts. should not be answerable for non-delivery provided delivery were prevented by the acts or restraints of princes & rulers; & after the execution & delivery of the bill of lading, & the shipment on board at New York, certain persons claimed the property in & right to the possession of the goods & alleged that they had been fraudulently deprived of the possession thereof, & thereupon such persons proceeded in due course of law, in the recognised & established judicial tribunals of the place, such tribunals having authority & jurisdiction in the premises, to enforce their claim to, & to the possession of, the said goods; & thereupon all due & regular steps being taken, & all due & regular notices having been given, the said judicial tribunals adjudged & determined that such alleged true owners were, in fact, the owners of the said goods, & entitled to the same & to the possession thereof as against all persons; & thereupon it was, by the judicial tribunals, adjudged & determined that defts.' agents being then in possession of the goods, should hold possession thereof for, & deliver them to, the order of the true owners. Averment, that the judgment, order, & determination were duly & regularly made, & were legally enforceable upon & against the goods & against the defts. & their said agents & the said ship; & thereupon defts. & their agents, in obedience thereto, & for no other cause or reason delivered the goods to the order of the person so adjudged to be the true owners thereof; & that the non-delivery to pltfs. in the declaration complained of is the non-delivery of the goods, & not otherwise, & such non-delivery was caused & occasioned as in this plea mentioned, & not otherwise:—Held: the plea was bad. The "acts or restraints of princes & rulers" provided against in the bill of lading refer to the forcible interference of a state, or the govt. of a country taking possession of the goods manu firti, & do not extend to legal proceedings in the cts. at New York; nor, in an action founded on contract, can the act of any ct. of law, or judicial tribunal, deciding that defts. should hold possession of the goods to the order of the true owner, relieve defts. from performing their contract, such act or decision not having been expressly excepted against in the bill of lading.

(2) Plea 13, equitable, that the goods, before & at the alleged shipping & lading thereof on board the said ship, were not the goods of M. nor had he any right, authority, or title so to ship or load them, & that he had obtained them by fraud from the real owner thereof, & that the shipping or lading was with the consent of P., & against his will, & was made by M. by fraud & with intent to defraud & deprive P. of the goods, & defts. were all along ignorant of the fraud & of the premises, & that the bill of lading & the promise by defts. were obtained by M. by fraud & not otherwise, & that the bill was fraudulently indorsed by M. to pltfs.; & further, that after the goods were so shipped & loaded on defts.' ship, & before the ship left New York, P. demanded the goods from defts.' agent in New York, that is to say, the master of the ship, & sued the master in the New York Supreme Ct., such ct. having jurisdiction, etc., for the return & delivery of the said goods to P., & thereupon the master was adjudged & compelled by law by the Supreme Ct., having jurisdiction, etc., to deliver the goods to the order of P., & the master then did accordingly, deliver the goods to the order of P., & duly ordered defts. to deliver the goods to certain other persons not being pltfs., & defts. duly delivered the said goods accordingly to the order of P., whereby they were prevented delivering to pltfs.:—Held: to be a good plea.

The plea, which is good to a common intent, is an argumentative traverse of the averment in the declaration of property having passed, if the words of the declaration amount to an allegation that the goods were never, in fact, his property, & never ceased to be the property of P.

(3) Unless the indorser of a bill of lading really & bonâ fide has property in the goods at the time of indorsing it, 18 & 19 Vict. c. 111, passes no property to the indorsee, & upon the intervention of the true owner the latter is entitled to receive the goods from the shipowner, who is thereupon relieved from the liability of delivering them according to the bill of lading.—FINLAY v. LIVERPOOL & GREAT WESTERN S.S. CO., LTD. (1870), 23 L. T. 251; 3 Mar. L. C. 487.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Miller v. Law Accident Insce., [1903] 1 K. B. 712; British & Foreign Marine Insce. v. Sanday, [1916] 1 A. C. 650.

2554. —— ——.]—CREW, WIDGERY & CO. v. GREAT WESTERN S.S. CO. (1887), 4 T. L. R. 148, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Robinson Gold Mining Co. v. Alliance Insce., [1901] 2 K. B. 919.

2555. —— Restraint by army commander.]—BRUCE v. NICOLOPULO, No. 2556, post.

2556. —— Embargo.]—Pltf. & deft. agreed by charterparty that pltf.'s ship should, after discharging her outward cargo, proceed to Galatz or Ibraila, as ordered at Constantinople by charterer's agents, & there receive a full cargo of wheat; & being so loaded should therewith proceed to Cork for orders to discharge at a safe port in the United Kingdom, & deliver the same agreeable bills of lading, & so end the voyage, restraints of princes & rulers, the dangers of the seas, etc., during the said voyage, always mutually excepted. The vessel, after discharging her outward cargo, proceeded to Constantinople; & in consequence of orders there given by deft.'s agent, the master took the vessel to Ibraila. Before her arrival there, a proclamation had been promulgated by the Russians, who had invaded Wallachia, prohibiting the exportation of wheat:—Held: (1) the exception of the restraint of princes & rulers, etc., applied whilst the vessel was at Ibraila; (2) a copy of a printed placard, with the name of the Russian commander attached to it, & posted on the walls of Ibraila, was admissible as evidence of the prohibition.—BRUCE v. NICOLOPULO (1855), 11 Exch. 129; 3 C. L. R. 775; 24 L. J. Ex. 321; 7 L. T. 803; 3 W. R. 483; 156 E. R. 773.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Barker v. M'Andrew (1865), 18 C. B. N. S. 759; The Carron Park (1890), 15 P. D. 203. Refd. Valente v. Gibbs (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 270; Cohn v. Davidson (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 455.

2557. —— —— No embargo in fact existing.]—BRUNNER v. WEBSTER & BARRACLOUGH (1900), 16 T. L. R. 217; 5 Com. Cas. 167.

2558. —— Blockade.]—Declaration: that by a charterparty it was agreed that defts.' vessel should with all convenient speed sail to a spot as directed by pltfs., & there load a full cargo of coals; & then, as soon as wind & weather should permit, should proceed to Hamburg, & there deliver the same, the restraint of princes & rulers (inter alia) excepted. That pltfs. did, & were ready to do, all that was necessary on their parts; but defts., before any breach by pltfs. of the charterparty, refused to carry out the charterparty, & to let their ship take or carry any goods of pltfs. to the port of Hamburg, & gave notice to pltfs. that they renounced the charterparty. Pleas: 5. that before any breach of the charterparty, war broke out between France & Germany, wherein the port of Hamburg was situate; that the said port was blockaded by the

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sect. 5.]

French fleet; that the Queen, by proclamation, enjoined her subjects to a strict neutrality, & not to commit any violation of the law of nations; that defts. were British subjects, & their ship was a British ship, & the cargo being a cargo to be carried to Hamburg, the further performance of the charterparty became illegal, & defts., as they lawfully might, refused to carry out the same. 6. Repeating the above allegations, defts. having notice of the premises, refused to allow the ship to receive a cargo for the purpose of running the blockade & delivering the cargo, which was the breach complained of. 7. Repeating the same allegations, that defts. were ready to perform the charterparty so far as they were not prevented by any of the excepted causes, but that the charterparty could not have been carried out within a reasonable time, except by running the blockade, wherefore defts. refused to carry out the charterparty. On demurrer:—Held: the pleas disclosed substantially a good defence; for the charterparty being for one single adventure to commence at once, & the contract being still executory, defts. were justified in throwing up the contract & refusing to load the ship, when the further performance of the contract within a reasonable time was prevented by an excepted cause, viz. the blockade, which was a "restraint of princes."

A state of war must be presumed to be likely to continue so long & so to disturb the commerce of merchants as to defeat & destroy the object of a commercial adventure like this (LUSH, J.).—GEIPEL v. SMITH (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 404; 41 L. J. Q. B. 153; 26 L. T. 361; 20 W. R. 332; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 268.

Annotations:—Consd. Rodocanachi v. Elliott (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 649; Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 125; Dahl v. Nelson, Donkin (1880), 6 App. Cas. 38. Apld. Embiricos v. Reid, [1914] 3 K. B. 45. Consd. Sanday v. British & Foreign Marine Insce., [1915] 2 K. B. 781; Millar v. Taylor, [1916] 1 K. B. 402. Refd. Duncan v. Koster, The Teutonia (1872), 8 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 411; Nobel's Explosives Co. v. Jenkins, [1896] 2 Q. B. 326; Carlton S.S. Co. v. Castle Mail Packets Co. (1898), 78 L. T. 661; Horlock v. Beal, [1916] 1 A. C. 486; Tamplin S.S. Co. v. Anglo-Mexican Petroleum Products Co., [1916] 2 A. C. 397; Scottish Navigation Co. v. Souter, Admiral Shipping Co. v. Weidner, Hopkins, [1917] 1 K. B. 222; Watts, Watts v. Mitsui, [1917] A. C. 227; Countess of Warwick S.S. Co. v. Le Nickel Soc. Anon., Anglo-Northern Trading Co. v. Emlyn Jones & Williams, [1918] 1 K. B. 372; Russian Bank for Foreign Trade v. Excess Insce., [1918] 2 K. B. 123; Bank Line v. Capel, [1919] A. C. 435; Fried Krupp Akt. v. Orconera Iron Ore Co. (1919), 88 L. J. Ch. 304; Cantiere Navale Triestina v. Handelsvertretung der Russe Soz. Fod. Naphtha Export (1925), 94 L. J. K. B. 579; Hirji Mulji v. Cheong Yue S.S. Co., [1926] A. C. 497. Mentd. Leiston Gas Co. v. Leiston-cum-Sizewell U. C., [1916] 1 K. B. 912; Metropolitan Water Board v. Dick, Kerr, [1917] 2 K. B. 1.

2559. —— ——.] — Defts. chartered pltfs.' vessel to load a cargo of nitrate at Iquique in Chili at the rate of 200 tons per working lay day, to be reckoned from the day the vessel was ready to receive cargo to the day of her despatch, "restraints of princes & rulers, political disturbances or impediments during the said voyage always mutually excepted." The charterparty gave the ship liberty to call at any ports in any order. There was at Iquique only storage for a small quantity of nitrate, & the customary mode of loading there was to send the nitrate down direct by rail from the mines to the port, & there put it on board ship as required.

When pltfs.' vessel arrived at Iquique, a civil, war had broken out in Chili, & delay occurred in loading the vessel, in consequence of the railway from the mines to Iquique being in the hands of the troops, so that nitrate could not be sent down from the mines to the port. That state of things subsequently ceasing, the cargo was loaded & the vessel sailed upon her voyage. Being short of coal, which was very dear at Iquique, she put into another Chilian port for it. The Chilian govt. in power there demanded payment of export duties, such duties having already been paid to the de facto govt. in power at Iquique, & the ship was detained there for ten days in default of payment of such duties. An action having been brought by pltfs. for demurrage:—Held: both the above-mentioned delays fell within the exception clause in the charterparty.—SMITH & SERVICE v. ROSARIO NITRATE CO., [1894] 1 Q. B. 174; 70 L. T. 68; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 417; 9 R. 776, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Furness v. Forwood (1897), 77 L. T. 95.

2560. —— ——.]—NOBEL'S EXPLOSIVES CO. v. JENKINS & CO., No. 3501, post.

2561. —— Civil War.]—SMITH & SERVICE v. ROSARIO NITRATE CO., No. 2559, ante.

2562. —— Detention for non-payment of port dues.]—SMITH & SERVICE v. ROSARIO NITRATE CO., No. 2559, ante.

2563. —— Ships requisitioned.]—By an agreement made in 1910, which was to be in force till 1916, defts. agreed to carry cement for pltfs. by sea from the Thames to the Forth at a certain rate per ton, subject to an exception in the case of "perils of the seas, enemies, pirates, arrests & restraints of princes, rulers & peoples." The freight was fixed at a low rate in view of the fact that defts. did a large trade in carrying coal by sea from the Forth to the Thames. After the outbreak of war many of defts.' ships were requisitioned by the Govt., the ports from which they usually carried coal were closed, restrictions causing delay were placed on ships going from the Thames to the Forth, & the voyage was dangerous. Defts. therefore contended that the contract was suspended, & they declined to carry the cement at the agreed rate. They also contended that they were absolved from liability under the above exception & by Defence of the Realm (Amendment), No. 2 Act, 1915 (c. 37), s. 1 (2):—Held: as the Govt. had not prevented the voyage from being made at all the exception as to restraints of princes did not apply, the exception as to perils of the seas only applied when a ship had been declared under the contract, the return coal trade did not lie at the root of the contract, the parties had not impliedly stipulated for the continuance of peace, & the above enactment did not relieve defts. from their obligation to carry out the contract as a whole, & therefore the contract was not suspended.—ASSOCIATED PORTLAND CEMENT MANUFACTURERS (1900) LTD. v. CORY (WILLIAM) & SON, LTD. (1915), 31 T. L. R. 442.

Annotation:—Refd. Larrinaga v. Soc. Franco-Américaine des Phosphates de Medulla (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 160.

2564. —— ——.]—DINHAM, FAWCUS & CO. v. WITHERINGTON & EVERETT, [1916] W. N. 154.

Annotation:—Folld. Cork Gas Consumers' Co. v. Witherington & Everett (1920), 36 T. L. R. 599.

2565. —— ——.]—CORK GAS CONSUMERS' CO. v. WITHERINGTON & EVERETT, No. 1770, ante.

2566. —— Restrictions on shipping.]—ASSOCIATED PORTLAND CEMENT MANUFACTURERS (1900), LTD. v. CORY (WILLIAM) & SON, LTD., No. 2563, ante.

2567. —— ——.]—NORTH-EASTERN STEEL CO., LTD. v. COMPANIA MINERA DE SIERRA MENERA (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 439; 115 L. T. 745; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 533, C. A.

2568. —— Danger from minefields.] — Pltfs. were the holders of a bill of lading, dated before the war, & containing the exception "restraint of princes," & relating to a parcel of soya beans which formed part of the cargo of a steamship belonging to defts. By the terms of the bill of lading the vessel was to call at Port Said for orders & to deliver the beans at the port there ordered or so near thereto as she might safely get. Orders were duly given for Amsterdam in Oct. 1914. The vessel had other cargo for Hull, & on her arrival there defts., owing to danger from minefields, declined to let her go on to Amsterdam, claiming that they had performed their bill of lading obligations, & on non-payment of the freight they lightered & warehoused the beans. Meantime the authorities ordered the beans to be detained pending inquiry & ultimately they prohibited their export. In an action by pltfs. for failure to carry the beans to Amsterdam, defts. counterclaimed for freight & lighterage & warehouse charges:—Held: though the passage from Hull to Amsterdam was not so attended with danger from minefields as to make Amsterdam not a safe port, & defts. broke their contract by not sending the vessel there, yet as the exception "restraint of princes" excused their failure to carry to Amsterdam, they were immune from resultant damages, but they could not recover the freight & lighterage & warehouse charges.—EAST ASIATIC CO., LTD. v. TRONTO S.S. CO., LTD. (1915), 31 T. L. R. 543.

Annotation:—Refd. Gans S.S. Line v. Celtic Shipping Co. (1918), 34 T. L. R. 282.

2569. —— Delay due to decree of foreign government—Compulsory disinfecting of ship.]—Lemons belonging to pltf. were loaded on defts.' steamship at Naples for carriage to London under a bill of lading which contained the exceptions "restraints of princes" & "any circumstances beyond the shipowner's control" & gave the ship liberty to call at any ports in the course of the voyage. The ship had come to Naples from Mombassa. After leaving Naples the ship proceeded to Marseilles, at which port, by reason of the fact that Mombassa was a plague contaminated port, & that the ship had a foul bill of health, the ship, in accordance with a decree of the French Govt. in force since 1906, was subjected by the port authorities to a process called dératisation which involved the pumping of sulphurous fumes into the ship's holds, in consequence of which the lemons arrived at their destination in a damaged condition:—Held: (1) defts. were not protected from liability for the damage by the above exceptions in the bill of lading; (2) the fact that the ship would inevitably have to undergo at Marseilles the process of dératisation, which would damage the lemons, caused her to be not reasonably fit at Naples for the carriage of the lemons, & she was, therefore, unseaworthy.—CIAMPA v. BRITISH INDIA STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD., [1915] 2 K. B. 774; 84 L. J. K. B. 1053; 20 Com. Cas. 247.

Annotation:—As to (2) Refd. Paterson, Zochonis v. Elder, Dempster, [1923] 1 K. B. 420.

2570. —— Ship commandeered.]—The owner of a Greek ship chartered her to pltfs. under a charterparty which provided that if she should be "commandeered" by the Greek Govt. the charterparty should be cancelled. While the ship was lying at Marseilles discharging coal for the charterers, the Greek Govt. on Sept. 25, 1915, sent an order to the captain requiring him to proceed at once to Piraeus for the purpose of placing the ship at their disposal if they should desire to use it. On Oct. 11, while the ship was still at Marseilles, the Greek Govt. withdrew their order & released the ship:—Held: the ship had been "commandeered" & the charterparty was cancelled.—CAPEL v. SOULIDI, [1916] 2 K. B. 365; 85 L. J. K. B. 1169; 114 L. T. 921; 32 T. L. R. 508; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 361, C. A.

2571. —— Proposed voyage prohibited by country to which ship belongs—Although ship not within jurisdiction of own country.]—By a charterparty made in the United Kingdom in 1916 defts., as owners of a Swedish ship, chartered her to pltfs. for a period of six months for trading between certain ports, all of which were outside Sweden. Losses by restraints of princes were excepted. The owners & the master were Swedish subjects ordinarily resident in Sweden. The ship being at Cardiff pltfs. proposed to send her with a cargo of coals to Genoa, one of the charterparty ports. Defts. refused to allow her to go there on the grounds that under the Swedish emergency legislation the ship was prohibited from carrying goods for freight between ports outside the Swedish kingdom, the owners & master being rendered liable to imprisonment for any breach of that prohibition. In an action to restrain defts. from using the ship otherwise than in accordance with the charterparty defts. relied on the exception of restraints of princes:—Held: the fact of the ship being outside Swedish territorial limits, & of the Swedish Govt. consequently not being in a position to enforce the restraint directly upon the ship, did not prevent the prohibition from operating as a restraint of princes; it was enough for that purpose that the Swedish Govt. was capable of enforcing the restraint upon the persons having the custody of the ship.—FURNESS, WITHY & CO. v. REDERIAKT. BANCO, [1917] 2 K. B. 873; 87 L. J. K. B. 11; 117 L. T. 313; 62 Sol. Jo. 25; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 137.

Annotation:—Refd. Manbre Saccharine Co. v. Corn Products Co., [1919] 1 K. B. 198.

2572. —— Foreign ship detained in United Kingdom—Failure to obtain licence required by country to which ship belongs.]—In chartering a Swedish vessel to convey resin through Sweden to Russia, the regulations issued by the Swedish Govt. forbidding, to the knowledge of the parties, the export of resin from Sweden, & also its transit within that kingdom without a licence, arrests & restraints of princes, rulers, & people were excepted. The vessel was detained by the British Customs authorities in the United Kingdom for ten weeks, having failed to procure a licence from the Swedish authorities to take the cargo through Sweden. The owners brought a claim against the charterers in respect of such detention. The Prize Ct. decided in the owner's favour & awarded

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 5.

2570 i. Restraint or interruption by lawful authority—Ship commandeered.]—Where a bill of lading provided that the shipowner should not be liable for loss or damage occasioned, inter alia, by "arrest & restraint of princes, rulers or people":—Held: the requisition of the ship by the Govt. of India fell within the exception.—KRISHNA NAIK & SONS v. CAYZER, IRWINE & CO., LTD. (1920), I. L. R. 44 Mad. 145.—IND.

r. Confiscation—Omission of master to enter goods in ship's manifest.]—Goods shipped under a bill of lading containing an exception of loss from any default of the master in navigating the ship, "or under any other circumstances," were confiscated at a foreign port by reason of the omission of the master to insert an entry of them in the ship's manifest, as required by the law of the port. In an action on the bill of lading by the shipper against the shipowner:—Held: this exception was not a defence; & such confiscation could not be considered a restraint of princes.—AH KANG v. AUSTRALASIAN STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1883), 9 V. L. R. (L.) 171.—AUS.

t. —— Shortage of delivery waggons on wharf—Waggons commandeered.]—CAZALET v. MORRIS & CO., S.S. CRONSTADT, [1916] S. C. 952-3.—SCOT.

a. —— Refusal of permit to land goods.]—TAYLOR v. JOHN LEWIS, LTD., [1927] S. C. 891.—SCOT.

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sects. 5 & 6, A. & B. (a), (b) & (c).]

them damages for ten weeks' detention.—THE LISA (1924), 40 T. L. R. 252, P. C.

---

SUB-SECT. 6.—PERILS OF THE SEA.

A. In General.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 2 (c), & compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 197–204, Nos. 1566–1641.

2573. Same meaning as in insurance policy.]—(1) Foundering caused by collision with another vessel is within the exception "dangers & accidents of the sea" in a bill of lading: & excuses the shipowner for non-delivery of the goods if it occurs without fault in the carrying ship.

(2) The term "perils of the sea" does not cover every accident or casualty which may happen to the subject-matter. . . . It must be a peril "of" the sea . . . [the words] do not protect, for example, against that natural & inevitable action of the winds & waves which results in what may be described as wear & tear. There must be some casualty, something which could not be foreseen as one of the necessary incidents of the adventure (LORD HERSCHELL).

(3) I certainly must not be understood as deciding that the mere proof of loss by collision, under circumstances as consistent with its resulting from the negligence of the carrying ship as from any other cause, would exonerate defts. (LORD HERSCHELL).

(4) Whatever the expression "perils of the sea" means in a policy of insurance, it means neither more nor less in a bill of lading (LORD MACNAGHTEN).—WILSON, SONS & CO. v. XANTHO (CARGO OWNERS), THE XANTHO (1887), 12 App. Cas. 503; 56 L. J. P. 116; 57 L. T. 701; 36 W. R. 353; 3 T. L. R. 766; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 207, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Expld. Stott Baltic Steamers v. Marten, [1914] 3 K. B. 1262. Refd. Hamilton, Fraser v. Pandorf (1887), 12 App. Cas. 518. As to (2) Apld. Sasson v. Western Assce., [1912] A. C. 561. Consd. Grant, Smith & McDonnell v. Seattle Construction & Dry Dock Co., [1920] A. C. 162; Samuel v. Dumas, [1924] A. C. 431. Refd. Blackburn v. Liverpool, Brazil & River Plate Steam Navigation Co., [1902] 1 K. B. 290. As to (3) Expld. The Glendarroch, [1894] P. 226. As to (4) Refd. Trinder, Anderson v. Thames & Mersey Marine Insce., Trinder, Anderson v. North Queensland Insce., Trinder, Anderson v. Weston, Crocker, [1898] 2 Q. B. 114; Leyland Shipping Co. v. Norwich Union Fire Insce. Soc., [1918] A. C. 350. Generally, Refd. Dunn v. Bucknall, Dunn v. Donald Currie, [1902] 2 K. B. 614; Jackson v. Mumford (1902), 8 Com. Cas. 61; The Torbryan, [1903] P. 35; Baxter's Leather Co. v. Royal Mail Steam Packet Co., [1908] 1 K. B. 796; Travers v. Cooper (1914), 20 Com. Cas. 44; British & Foreign S.S. Co. v. R., [1918] 2 K. B. 879. Mentd. Trim Joint District School Board of Management v. Kelly, [1914] A. C. 667.

2574. ——.]—(1) Rice was shipped under a charterparty & bills of lading which excepted "dangers & accidents of the seas." During the voyage rats gnawed a hole in a pipe on board the ship, whereby sea water escaped & damaged the rice, without neglect or default on the part of the shipowners or their servants:—Held: the damage was within the exception, & the shipowners were not liable.

I think the idea of something fortuitous & unexpected is involved in both words, "peril" or "accident" (LORD HALSBURY, C.).

(2) I am of opinion that "perils of the seas" is a phrase having the same meaning in bills of lading & charterparties as in policies of insurance (LORD BRAMWELL).—HAMILTON, FRASER & CO. v. PANDORF & CO. (1887), 12 App. Cas. 518; 57 L. J. Q. B. 24; 57 L. T. 726; 52 J. P. 196; 36 W. R. 369; 3 T. L. R. 768; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 212, H. L.; revsg. S. C. sub nom. PANDORF v. HAMILTON (1886), 17 Q. B. D. 670.

Annotations:—As to (1) Expld. Ballantyne v. Mackinnon, [1896] 2 Q. B. 455. Apld. Hensey v. White, [1900] 1 Q. B. 481; Blackburn v. Liverpool, Brazil & River Plate Steam Navigation Co., [1902] 1 K. B. 290. Consd. Fenton v. Thorley, [1903] A. C. 443; Leyland Shipping Co. v. Norwich Union Fire Insce. Soc., [1918] A. C. 350; Samuel v. Dumas, [1924] A. C. 431. Refd. Trinder, Anderson v. Thames & Mersey Marine Insce., Trinder, Anderson v. North Queensland Insce., Trinder, Anderson v. Western, Crocker, [1898] 2 Q. B. 114; Walker v. Lilleshall Co. (1899), 69 L. J. Q. B. 192; The Torbryan, [1903] P. 35; Steel v. Cammell, Laird, [1905] 2 K. B. 232; Ingram & Royle v. Services Maritimes du Treport, [1913] 1 K. B. 538; Stott Baltic Steamers v. Martin, [1914] 3 K. B. 1262; Denholm v. Shipping Controller (1920), 124 L. T. 378. Generally, Refd. Thames & Mersey Marine Insce. v. Hamilton, Fraser (1887), 12 App. Cas. 484; The Bedouin, [1894] P. 1; The Northumbria (1906), 95 L. T. 618; Morrison v. Shaw, Savill & Albion Co., [1916] 1 K. B. 747; Becker, Gray v. London Assce. Corpn., [1918] A. C. 101; British & Foreign S.S. Co. v. R., [1918] 2 K. B. 879.

2575. Fortuitous accidents—Occurring in course of voyage.]—HAMILTON, FRASER & CO. v. PANDORF & CO., No. 2574, ante.

2576. —— —— Not mere wear & tear.]—WILSON, SONS & CO. v. XANTHO (CARGO OWNERS), THE XANTHO, No. 2573, ante.

2577. Applicable only to voyage.]—SMITH v. DART & SON, No. 1875, ante.

2578. Burden of proof.]—BECKFORD v. CLERKE (1665), 1 Keb. 830; 1 Sid. 236; 82 E. R. 1079.

2579. —— Of shipowner's negligence.] — WILSON, SONS & CO. v. XANTHO (CARGO OWNERS), THE XANTHO, No. 2573, ante.

2580. —— ——.]—Plts. brought an action against defts. for non-delivery of goods shipped under a bill of lading containing the usual exceptions, but not excepting negligence. The goods had been damaged by sea water through the stranding of the vessel, & defts. claimed exemption from liability on the ground that the loss was occasioned by perils of the sea; but the judge ruled that in order to excuse themselves for the damage to the goods it lay on defts. to show not only a peril of the sea, but a peril of the sea not occasioned by their negligence:—Held: as the loss apparently fell within the exception, the burden of showing that defts. were not entitled

---

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 6.—A.

2578 i. Burden of proof.]—In an action on a bill of lading for damages in respect of goods lost or damaged while on the sea, it is for deft. who relies on the exception of perils of the sea to make out a primâ facie case of loss by perils of the sea, & for plff. to prove that that loss could have been avoided by the exercise of reasonable care on the part of deft.—VACUUM OIL CO. PTY., LTD. v. COMMONWEALTH & DOMINION LINE, LTD., [1922] V. L. R. 693; 44 A. L. T. 46.—AUS.

2578 ii. ——.]—The onus is on deft. to bring himself within the exception in the bill of lading.—HARRINGTON v. BOUDROT (1888), 21 N. S. R. (9 R. & G.) 97.—CAN.

2578 iii. ——.]—In a suit for damage caused to the plff.'s goods entrusted for carriage by the defts.' ship, it is for the deft. to plead & prove "perils of the sea." If he makes out a primâ facie case, the plff. can rebut it by proving defts.' negligence. The mere fact that the accident might have been avoided by greater foresight does not prove negligence.—ESUFATI MAHAMMEDBHAY ALLIBHOY v. THAHA UMMAL (1924), I. L. R. 47 Mad. 610.—IND.

2578 iv. ——.] — Where produce shipped at New York, U.S., to be delivered to St. John's, Newfoundland, in good order & condition, dangers of the sea excepted, was on arrival found to be unmerchantable, the ct. was of opinion that the onus of proof was on the shipowner to show that the injury arose from the dangers of the seas & from them alone.—HARVEY v. ELLIE (1877), 6 Nfld. L. R. 128.—NFLD.

2579 i. —— Of shipowner's negligence.]—THE COMMONWEALTH, ETC., [1928] N. Z. L. R. 141.—N.Z.

b. Ice.]—In a charterparty les avaries de la mer et de la saison were excepted from a general covenant of responsibility for the chartered vessel:—Held: the charterer was not to be answerable for her loss by ice.—

to the benefit of the exception, by reason of negligence, lay upon pltfs.—THE GLENDARROCH, [1894] P. 226; 63 L. J. P. 89; 70 L. T. 344; 10 T. L. R. 269; 38 Sol. Jo. 362; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 420; 6 R. 686, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Ashton v. L. & N. W. Ry., [1918] 2 K. B. 488. Apld. Rowett, Leakey v. Scottish Provident Institution, [1927] 1 Ch. 55. Refd. Asiatic Petroleum Co. v. Leonard's Carrying Co., [1914] 1 K. B. 419; Munro, Brice v. War Risks Assocn., [1918] 2 K. B. 78; S.S. Matheos v. Dreyfus, [1925] A. C. 654; Stoney v. Eastbourne R. D. C., [1927] 1 Ch. 367. Mentd. Hurst v. Evans, [1917] 1 K. B. 352.

2581. Loss attributable as well to negligence as to perils of sea—Right of plaintiff to recover.]—In an action against the proprietors of a steam vessel, to recover compensation for damage done to goods sent by them as carriers, if on the whole it be left in doubt what the cause of the injury was, or, if it may as well be attributable to perils of the seas as to negligence, pltf. cannot recover; but if the perils of the seas required that more care should be used in the stowing of the goods on board than was bestowed on them, that will be negligence, for which the owners of the vessel will be answerable.—MUDDLE v. STRIDE (1840), 9 C. & P. 380, N. P.

2582. Exception as mutual protection.]—BARRIE v. PERUVIAN CORPN., LTD., No. 2537, ante.

B. Particular Instances.

(a) Collision.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 2 (c) & compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 203, 204, Nos. 1626–1641.

2583. Whether within exception.]—Where there is an exception in a charterparty of "perils of the sea," a loss from the ship's running foul of another by misfortune is within the exception, & is a loss by perils of the sea.—BULLER v. FISHER (1799), 3 Esp. 67; Peake, Add. Cas. 183; 170 E. R. 540, N. P.

Annotations:—Refd. Lloyd v. General Iron Screw Collier Co. (1861), 3 H. & C. 284; Chartered Mercantile Bank of India v. Netherlands India Steam Navigation Co. (1883), 10 Q. B. D. 521; Pandorf v. Hamilton (1885), 16 Q. B. D. 629.

2584. —— Effect of negligence.]—A collision between two vessels brought about by the negligence of either of them, without the waves or wind or difficulty of navigation contributing to the accident, is not "a peril of the sea" within the terms of that exception in a bill of lading.—WOODLEY v. MICHELL (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 47; 52 L. J. Q. B. 325; 48 L. T. 599; 31 W. R. 651; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 71, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Pandorf v. Hamilton (1885), 16 Q. B. D. 629. Distd. Garston Sailing Ship Co. v. Hickie Borman (1886), 18 Q. B. D. 17. Overd. Wilson v. The Xantho (1887), 12 App. Cas. 503. Refd. Pyman v. Burt (1883), Cab. & El. 207; Leyland Shipping Co. v. Norwich Union Fire Insce. Soc., [1917] 1 K. B. 873.

2585. —— ——.]—WILSON, SONS & CO. v. XANTHO (CARGO OWNERS), THE XANTHO, No. 2573, ante.

(b) Damage by Rats.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 2 (c); & compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., p. 203, No. 1623.

2586. Whether within exception—Rats proximate cause of damage.]—(1) Where goods put on board a ship to be carried by sea, for hire, under a bill of lading which contains only the usual exception, viz. "the act of God, the Queen's enemies, fire, & all other dangers & accidents of the seas, rivers, & navigation, etc., excepted," are damaged by rats during the voyage, it is no defence to an action by the owner of the goods that the master had kept cats on board.

(2) Semble: it would be a defence that rats had made a hole in the ship through which water came in & injured the goods.—LAVERONI v. DRURY (1852), 8 Exch. 166; 22 L. J. Ex. 2; 16 Jur. 1024; 1 W. R. 55; 155 E. R. 1301; sub nom. LEVERONI v. DRURY, 20 L. T. O. S. 178.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Kay v. Wheeler (1867), L. R. 2 C. P. 302; Hamilton, Fraser v. Pandorf (1887), 12 App. Cas. 518. As to (2) Apprvd. Hamilton, Fraser v. Pandorf (1887), 12 App. Cas. 518. Refd. The Chasca (1875), 32 L. T. 838. Generally. Mentd. Carstairs v. Taylor (1871), L. R. 6 Exch. 217; Nugent v. Smith (1875), 1 C. P. D. 19.

2587. —— ——.]—Goods were shipped under a bill of lading containing the usual exceptions of "the act of God, the Queen's enemies, fire, & all & every other dangers & accidents of the sea, rivers, & navigation, of what kind & nature soever." The goods were injured during the voyage by rats, though the shipowner had taken all possible precaution to prevent it:—Held: the cause of injury did not come within the exception, & that the shipowner was liable.—KAY v. WHEELER (1867), L. R. 2 C. P. 302; 36 L. J. C. P. 180; 16 L. T. 66; 15 W. R. 495; 2 Mar. L. C. 466, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Refd. The Duero (1869), 38 L. J. Adm. 69; The Freedom (1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 346; The Chasca (1875), 32 L. T. 878; Pandorf v. Hamilton (1886), 17 Q. B. D. 670. Mentd. The Patria (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 436.

2588. —— Rats not proximate cause of damage—Sea water entering through hole gnawed in ship.]—LAVERONI v. DRURY, No. 2586, ante.

2589. —— —— ——.]—HAMILTON, FRASER & CO. v. PANDORF & CO., No. 2574, ante.

(c) Pirates.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 2 (c).

2590. General rule.]—Pirates are perils of the sea (ROLL, J.).—PICKERING v. BARKLEY (1648), Sty. 132; 82 E. R. 587.

Annotations:—Distd. Cullen v. Butler (1815), 1 Stark. 138. Consd. Russell v. Niemann (1864), 17 C. B. N. S. 163. Refd. Pandorf v. Hamilton (1886), 17 Q. B. D. 670.

2591. ——.]—Piracy is one of the dangers of the sea (per CUR.).—BARTON v. WOLLIFORD (1686), Comb. 56; 90 E. R. 341.

Annotations:—Refd. Russell v. Niemann (1864), 17 C. B. N. S. 163; Pandorf v. Hamilton (1886), 17 Q. B. D. 670.

2592. ——.]—RUSSELL v. NIEMANN, No. 2544, ante.

---

FOUGÈRE v. BOUCHER, 2 R. de L. 78.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 6.—B. (b).

2586 i. *Whether within exception—Rats proximate cause of damage.]—According to English law damage by rats is not damage by "Act of God or dangers & accidents of the seas," & a shipowner is liable for such damage, where there is no special exception in the bill of lading, even though he prove that he took every precaution for the extermination of rats.

Semble: Roman-Dutch law does not differ from English law in this respect.—MUTER'S EXECUTORS v. JONES (1860), 3 S. 356.—S. AF.

c. —— Rats not proximate cause of damage.]—P. Bros. shipped some galvanised iron by the German barque Stephanie at Liverpool for the Cape. On the voyage, two of the scupper pipes were gnawed through by rats, with the result that the iron was much damaged by the action of the sea water which had flowed from the scupper pipes into the hold. It was proved that, by an inexpensive contrivance, the scupper pipes could have been protected against rats, and that rats have a propensity to gnaw through leaden pipes conveying water, but some of the defendant's witnesses stated that it was unusual so to protect leaden pipes. In an action for the damage by P. Bros. against the shipowner:—Held: the exception of damage by vermin did not apply, as the gnawing of the rats was not the proximate cause of the damage; & there was sufficient evidence of negligence on the part of the shipowner to deprive him of the benefit of the exception.—PHILIP BROTHERS v. KOOP (1885), 4 S. C. 53.—S. AF.

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sect. 6, B. (d); sub-sect. 7.]

(d) Other Perils.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 2 (c).

2593. Damage to cargo by escape of water from boiler—Negligence of captain.]—Where damage was done to a cargo by water escaping through the pipe of a steamboiler, in consequence of the pipe having been cracked by frost:—Held: this was not an act of God, but negligence in the captain, in filling his boiler before the time for heating it, although it was the practice to fill overnight when the vessel started in the morning. The owners are liable for damage occasioned thereby to the cargo. —SIORDET v. HALL (1828), 4 Bing. 607; 1 Moo. & P. 561; 6 L. J. O. S. C. P. 137; 130 E. R. 902.

Annotations:—Refd. The Norway (1864), Brown. & Lush. 377. Mentd. Fenton v. Thorley, [1903] A. C. 443.

2594. Unauthorised seizure by government officials.]—In assumpsit upon an undertaking to carry goods in defts.' ship to Canton, & to deliver them to pltfs.' agents at Canton, dangers & accidents of the seas & navigation excepted; defts. pleaded that the ship arrived with the goods on board, near to the port of Canton; that certain persons exercising the powers of Her Majesty's govt., to wit, E. & S., did for lawful causes forcibly prevent, & still did prevent defts. from delivering the goods at Canton:—Held: the plea was bad, for not sufficiently disclosing that E. & S. had authority to act in the manner alleged.—EVANS v. HUTTON (1842), 4 Man. & G. 954; 2 Dowl. N. S. 600; 5 Scott, N. R. 670; 12 L. J. C. P. 17; 6 Jur. 1042; 134 E. R. 391.

2595. Damage by wind while in dock.]—LAURIE v. DOUGLAS, No. 2642, post.

2596. Confiscation by order of court.]—Assumpsit by shipper on a contract of affreightment. Declaration stated that pltf. had shipped on board deft.'s ship then in the bay of Gibraltar, bound for London, calling at Cadiz, certain goods to be safely conveyed to London, & there delivered in good order, the act of God, the Queen's enemies, fire, all & every other dangers & accidents of the seas, rivers, & navigation, of whatever nature or kind soever, save risk of boats, etc., excepted, pltf., paying freight: promise by deft. so to convey & deliver the cargo, saving the above exceptions: breach, that he failed to do so. Plea, that the ship in the course of her voyage called at Cadiz, & was then within the jurisdiction of the officer of Customs there & of a certain ct. of Spain: that, while the ship was there, the goods were, according to the law of Spain, lawfully taken out of the ship by the officers, against the will & without the default of deft., on a charge of suspicion of their being contraband according to the law of Spain, & were confiscated by a decree of the said ct.:—Held: the plea alleged no excuse within the express exceptions in the contract; the decree of confiscation was in itself no answer; & it did not appear by the plea to have been incurred through any fault of pltf.—SPENCE v. CHODWICK (1847), 10 Q. B. 517; 16 L. J. Q. B. 313; 9 L. T. O. S. 101; 11 Jur. 872; 116 E. R. 197.

Annotations:—Refd. The Newport (1858), Sw. 335; Geipel v. Smith (1872), 41 L. J. Q. B. 153. Mentd. Jacobs v. Crédit Lyonnais (1884), 12 Q. B. D. 589; Blackburn Bobbin Co. v. Allen, [1918] 1 K. B. 540; Matthey v. Curling, [1922] 2 A. C. 180.

2597. Hypothecation—Consequent on perils of the sea.]—Where the master of a ship, damaged by perils of the seas, hypothecated at a foreign port, by one bottomry bond, for necessary repairs, the ship, freight, & cargo amongst which were pltf.'s goods, & the ship & freight having realised less than the sum borrowed, pltf. was obliged to contribute towards the difference, & also to pay his proportion of the costs of a suit instituted in the Ct. of Admlty. by the obligee of the bond:—Held: (1) pltf. might maintain an action against the owner of the ship on an implied promise to indemnify him; (2) the non-delivery of the goods was not, under the above circumstances, occasioned by "perils of the seas," so as to be within the exception of the bills of lading.

(3) In ordering the repairs of the ship, the master acts exclusively as agent of the owner of the ship. No other person but the owner of the ship, or his agent, can have any authority to order the repairs. The owner of the cargo cannot insist on such repairs being made, for the shipowner is absorbed from his contract to carry, if prevented by the perils of the seas, & he is bound by it if prevented by inherent defects in the ship; in either case, if he does repair, he does so for the sake of earning freight, which the master is bound to enable him to do if he can (PATTERSON, J.).—BENSON v. DUNCAN (1849), 3 Exch. 644; 18 L. J. Ex. 169; 12 L. T. O. S. 516; 14 Jur. 218; 154 E. R. 1003, Ex. Ch.; affg. S. C. sub nom. DUNCAN v. BENSON (1847), 1 Exch. 537.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Hallett v. Wigram (1850), 9 C. B. 580. Refd. The Olivier (1862), Lush. 484; Lloyd v. Guibert (1865), 6 B. & S. 100; The Lizzie (1868), 19 L. T. 71; The Eugénie (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 123; Miedbrodt v. Fitzsimon, The Energie (1875), 32 L. T. 579. As to (3) Consd. Atwood v. Sellar (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 342. Refd. Gibbs v. Grey, Grey v. Gibbs (1857), 2 H. & N. 26. Generally, Refd. Atkinson v. Stephens (1852), 7 Exch. 567; Stainbank v. Shepard (1853), 13 C. B. 418; The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137. Mentd. The Union (1860), 30 L. J. P. M. & A. 17; The Onward (1873), L. R. 4 A. & E. 38.

2598. "Dangers of the roads"—Dangers of roads where ships anchor.]—DE ROTHSCHILD v. ROYAL MAIL STEAM PACKET CO., No. 2636, post.

2599. Worms attacking ship.]—THE JESSIE MILLER, HEYDORN v. BIBBY (1855), 7 L. T. 102; subsequent proceedings, 25 L. T. O. S. 199.

2600. Damage due to stowage.]—(1) The right of suing upon a contract under a bill of lading follows the property in the goods therein specified, that is, the legal title to the goods as against the indorsee.

(2) A cause of damage to cargo, instituted under Admiralty Court Act, 1861 (c. 10), s. 6, by the consignees, who were also assignees of the bills of lading, to recover damages on account of breaches of contract & duty with respect to certain parcels of oil cake, which in the bills of lading were agreed to be delivered in the like good order & condition as when shipped, the dangers of the seas only excepted; but the oil cake, when delivered, was in a greatly damaged & deteriorated condition, occasioned by the packing & stowage:—Held: as the proximate cause of damage arose from the nature & collocation of the cargo, consisting of animal, vegetable, & to some extent putrescible matter, & the want of due ventilation,

---

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 6.—B. (d).

d. Accident to rudder.] — Pltf. shipped cattle on a steamship of defts., the latter agreeing to supply them with water. On the 9th day of the voyage from Portland to Liverpool, the ship's rudder broke, & the vessel only reached Liverpool after 49 days' voyage. The captain to economise coal stopped condensing water for use of cattle, & a large part of pltf.'s cattle died in consequence, the remainder were rendered of little value:—Held: the accident to the rudder was caused by perils of the seas, & in the circumstances, the stoppage of water & pltf.'s consequent loss were the result of inevitable accident, force majeure, & defts. were not liable therefor.—KELLY v. MISSISSIPPI & DOMINION S.S. CO. (1886), 39 L. C. J. 42.—CAN.

e. "Loss of carrying ship."]—DADABHAI HORMUNJI DUBASH v. KHAMBATTA (1896), I. L. R. 22 Bom. 89.—IND.

f. Cattle injured in heavy weather.]

it was not brought within the legal exception of "dangers of the seas."—THE FREEDOM (1871), L. R. 3 P. C. 594; 8 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 29; 24 L. T. 452; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 28; 17 E. R. 224, P. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74. As to (2) Consd. The Chasca (1875), L. R. 4 A. & E. 446. Generally, Refd. Lebeau v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1872), 21 W. R. 146.

2601. ——.]—Damage to cargo occasioned by salt water does not come within the excepted perils when by reason of the place in which it is stowed it is exceptionally liable to such damage in severe weather.—THE OQUENDO (1877), 38 L. T. 151; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 558.

2602. Oozing from casks strained by bad weather.]—Damage to cargo caused by the oozing of wine from casks through straining in bad weather is damage occasioned by perils of the seas, & the shipowners are, under the usual exceptions, exempt from liability therefor, where the cargo is, properly stowed, or is stowed in such a manner that the master is not responsible for bad stowage.

Where a charterparty, stipulates that a vessel is "to be stowed by charterers' stevedore, at risk & expense of vessel," & a cargo is supplied by the charterers & is stowed by their stevedore, the shipowner is not responsible for damage occasioned by bad stowage.—THE CATHARINE CHALMERS (1874), 32 L. T. 847; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 598.

2603. Holes feloniously bored by crew.]—A shipowner signed bills of lading for the due delivery of cargo at the port of discharge, the dangers of the seas & fire only excepted:—Held: the exceptions in the bills of lading did not operate to protect him from liability for damage done to the cargo by sea water, let into the hold in consequence of the barratrous act of the crew in boring holes in the ship during her voyage, for the purpose of scuttling her.—THE CHASCA (1875), L. R. 4 A. & E. 446; 44 L. J. Adm. 17; 32 L. T. 838; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 600.

Annotations:—Refd. Scaramanga v. Stamp (1879), 4 C. P. D. 316; Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, v. Netherlands India Steam Navigation Co. (1883), 10 Q. B. D. 521; Pandorf v. Hamilton (1885), 16 Q. B. D. 629; Samuel v. Dumas, [1924] A. C. 431.

2604. Damage through closing of ventilators during storm.]—A cargo of maize & oats shipped on defts.' steamship was damaged by heat proceeding from the bulkheads inclosing the engine & boiler space, which was unable to escape owing to the necessary closing of the ventilators for a period of seven days during a storm of exceptional severity & duration:—Held: the loss was occasioned by "accidents of the seas."—THE THRUNSCOE, [1897] P. 301; 66 L. J. P. 172; 77 L. T. 407; 46 W. R. 175; 13 T. L. R. 566; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 313, D. C.

2605. Seacock imperfectly closed.]—MCFADDEN v. BLUE STAR LINE, No. 2796, post.

2606. Deck plate strained through bad weather.]—Pltfs.' goods were carried under a bill of lading containing the words "all other conditions as per charterparty including negligence clause." A clause in the charterparty stated that "the steamer is in no way liable for the consequences of . . . perils of the seas. . . . Neither is the steamer answerable for losses occasioned by . . . unseaworthiness, or latent defect in hull, machinery or appurtenances whether existing or not before or after the commencement of the voyage, not resulting from want of due diligence by the owner of the steamer, or by the ship's husband or manager . . . & by a further clause in the charterparty, the above clause was to be embodied in the bill of lading.

During the voyage damage was done to pltfs.' goods owing to a small crack in a deck plate which let the water through, & pltfs. alleged, & established in the ct. below, unseaworthiness not covered by the exceptions incorporated in the bill of lading:—Held: (1) the evidence showed that bad weather was met with involving straining of the vessel sufficient to account for the crack in question, &, therefore, a primâ facie case of perils of the seas had been made out, which pltfs. upon whom the burden of proof rested, had failed to rebut; (2) the bill of lading incorporated by reference the whole of the clause in the charterparty, including the exemption as to unseaworthiness, unless resulting from want of due diligence, of which there was no evidence.—THE NORTHUMBRIA, [1906] P. 292; 75 L. J. P. 101; 95 L. T. 618; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 314, D. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. S.S. Matheos v. Dreyfus, [1925] A. C. 654. As to (2) Refd. Hogarth Shipping Co. v. Blyth, Greene, Jourdain, [1917] 2 K. B. 534.

SUB-SECT. 7.—FIRE.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 2 (b), &, compare, INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 215, 216, Nos. 1717-1719.

2607. Meaning of damage by fire—Damage by smoke.]—Owing to the negligence of the crew in overheating a stove, a fire broke out on board deft.'s ship, & pltfs.' cargo was damaged. Pltfs. alleged that the ship was unseaworthy in that the stove was placed too near to a bulkhead without any means of insulation, &, as deft. must be taken to be "privy" to the position of the stove, he could not rely upon 1894 Act, s. 502 (1), by which the owner of a British seagoing ship is not liable to make good any loss or damage happening "without his actual fault or privity" to goods damaged "by reason of fire on board the ship." Pltfs. contended that a great part of the damage was due to smoke & to water used to extinguish the fire, which was not damage included in the statute:—Held: (1) deft. could claim the statutory exemption from liability, for the stove was perfectly safe if properly used, &, therefore, the vessel was seaworthy, & deft. not in fault or "privy" to the negligence of the crew; (2) damage by smoke & by water used in putting out a fire is damage "by reason of" fire within the statute.—THE DIAMOND, [1906] P. 282; 75 L. J. P. 96; 95 L. T. 550; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 286.

Annotation:—As to (1) Consd. Asiatic Petroleum Co. v. Lennard's Carrying Co., [1914] 1 K. B. 419.

2608. —— Damage by water.]—THE DIAMOND, No. 2607, ante.

2609. —— Explosion of goods due to rough weather.]—By 1894 Act, s. 502, the owner of a British sea going ship is not liable to make good any loss or damage happening without his actual default or privity where any goods, merchandise, or other things taken in or put on board his ship are lost or damaged by reason of fire on board the ship. Pltfs. shipped on defts.' vessel certain goods for carriage from Le Tréport to London on the terms of a bill of lading which contained the following exemptions from liability: (a) "Fire on board . . . & all accidents, loss, & damage whatsoever from . . . perils of the seas . . . or from any act, —If cattle are shipped in a small ship & are injured through being knocked about in heavy weather more than they would have been in a larger ship, they are injured by a peril of the sea, for which the shipowner is not responsible, provided he has used reasonable precautions to prevent them being knocked about.—FLEMING v. RAMSAY (1906), 25 N. Z. L. R. 596.—N.Z.

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 7.

g. General rule.]—If a fire takes place in a ship from a notorious defect in the mode of fitting her up or from any other gross & culpable neglect on neglect, or default whatsoever of the master, officers, crew, stevedores, servants, or agents of the owners . . . in the management, loading, stowing . . . or otherwise . . ."; (b) "It is agreed that the maintenance by the shipowners of the vessel's class . . . shall be considered a fulfilment of every duty, warranty, or obligation whether before or after the commencement of the said voyage." Defts. also took on board at Le Tréport certain cases of metallic sodium saturated with petrol. The sodium was insufficiently packed & stowed with insufficient care. The vessel started in rough weather; the cases broke loose, & coming into contact with water caused a series of explosions & fire on board, as the result of which the ship went down & pltfs.' goods were lost.

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sects. 7 & 8.]

In an action to recover damages for the loss of the goods the judge at the trial found that the ship was not seaworthy at the commencement of the voyage; that the goods were lost by fire caused by the unseaworthiness without the actual fault or privity of defts. within 1894 Act, s. 502; but he held that the protection afforded by that sect. was excluded by the exceptions in the bill of lading, & therefore defts. were liable:—Held: neither of the above exceptions in the bill of lading excluded the operation of 1894 Act, s. 502, & therefore defts. were entitled to rely upon the protection of that sect., & were not liable for the loss.—INGRAM & ROYLE, LTD. v. SERVICES MARITIMES DU TRÉPORT, [1914] 1 K. B. 541; 83 L. J. K. B. 382; 109 L. T. 733; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 387; 19 Com. Cas. 105, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Royal Exchange Assce. v. Kingsley Navigation Co., [1923] A. C. 235. Reld. Travers v. Cooper, [1915] 1 K. B. 73; The Thorsa, [1916] P. 257; Paterson, Zochonis v. Elder Dempster, [1923] 1 K. B. 420.

2610. Application of statutory exception—Fire on lighter.]—A "gabbert" (a lighter) is not "a ship or vessel" with 26 Geo. 3, c. 86, s. 2. If goods on freight are shipped on board such a vessel & destroyed by fire accidentally, or through the negligence of the master, etc., the owners, etc., are not protected by that statute, but are responsible as at common law.—HUNTER v. M'GOWN (1819), 1 Bli. 573; 4 E. R. 210, H. L.

Annotation:—Reld. Morewood v. Pollok (1853), 1 C. L. R. 78.

2611. ——.]—MOREWOOD v. POLLOK (1853), 1 E. & B. 743; 1 C. L. R. 78; 22 L. J. Q. B. 250; 21 L. T. O. S. 87; 17 Jur. 881; 1 W. R. 304; 118 E. R. 614.

2612. —— Negligence of crew.]—THE DIAMOND, No. 2607, ante.

2613. —— Ship unseaworthy.]—1894 Act, s. 502, provides that "the owner of a British sea going ship" shall not be liable for "any loss or damage happening without his actual fault or privity" where goods on board his ship are lost or damaged by reason of fire on board the ship.

A bill of lading contained a clause providing that the shipowner was not responsible for any loss of or damage to the goods received thereunder for carriage occasioned by (inter alia), fire or unseaworthiness, provided all reasonable means had been taken to provide against unseaworthiness:—Held: a shipowner was not deprived of the protection of 1894 Act, s. 502, merely by reason of the fact that the fire was caused by the unseaworthiness of the ship, but the effect of a bill of lading containing the above clause was to preclude the shipowner from setting up the section as an answer to a claim for the loss of goods, shipped under the bill of lading, by reason of fire on board the ship caused by the unseaworthiness of the ship.—VIRGINIA CAROLINA CHEMICAL CO. v. NORFOLK & NORTH AMERICAN STEAM SHIPPING CO., [1912] 1 K. B. 229; 81 L. J. K. B. 129; 105 L. T. 810; 28 T. L. R. 85; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 82; 17 Com. Cas. 6, C. A.; on appeal, sub nom. NORFOLK & NORTH AMERICAN STEAM SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. VIRGINIA CAROLINA CHEMICAL CO., [1913] A. C. 52, H. L.; subsequent proceedings, sub nom. VIRGINIA CAROLINA CHEMICAL CO. v. NORFOLK & NORTH AMERICAN SHIPPING CO. (1912), 107 L. T. 320.

Annotations:—Expld. Asiatic Petroleum Co. v. Lennard's Carrying Co., [1914] 1 K. B. 419. Distd. Ingram & Royle v. Services Martimes du Tréport, [1914] 1 K. B. 541.

2614. —— ——.]—The Ct. of Appeal having decided as a preliminary question of law that 1894 Act, s. 502, which exempts the owner of a sea-going ship from liability for loss or damage to goods by fire where the loss or damage happens without his actual fault or privity, applies to protect the shipowner, even although there has been a breach by him of the warranty of seaworthiness; but that the parties to a contract for carriage of goods by sea may, by the terms of their contract, exclude the operation of this sect., & that on the construction of a bill of lading the parties had excluded the operation of the sect., the House of Lords, on appeal thereto from the Ct. of Appeal decision, directed that the facts should be ascertained before the preliminary question of law could be decided. On the rehearing:—Held: the vessel in question was not unseaworthy when she started on her voyage, & the fire which caused the damage to pltfs.' goods was occasioned by an act of negligence on the part of one of the ship's engineers, for which act of negligence the shipowners were exempt from liability by the terms of the bill of lading.—VIRGINIA CAROLINA CHEMICAL CO. v. NORFOLK & NORTH AMERICAN SHIPPING CO. (1912), 107 L. T. 320; 28 T. L. R. 513; 56 Sol. Jo. 722; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 233; 17 Com. Cas. 277.

2615. —— ——.]—INGRAM & ROYLE, LTD. v. SERVICES MARITIMES DU TRÉPORT, No. 2609, ante.

2616. —— ——.]—By 1894 Act, s. 502, the owner of a British sea-going ship shall not be liable to make good to any extent whatever "any loss or damage happening without his actual fault or privity" where any goods or merchandise taken in or put on board his ship are lost or damaged by reason of fire on board the ship. A cargo of benzine on board ship was lost by fire caused by the unseaworthiness of the ship in respect of the defective condition of her boilers. The shipowners were a limited co. & the managing owners were another limited co. The managing director of the latter co. was the registered managing owner & took the active part in the management of the ship on behalf of the owners. He knew or had the means of knowing of the defective condition of the boilers, but he gave no special instructions to the captain or the chief engineer regarding their supervision & took no steps to prevent the ship putting to sea with her boilers in an unseaworthy condition:—Held: the owners had failed to discharge the onus which lay upon them of proving that the loss happened without their actual fault or privity.—LENNARD'S CARRYING CO., LTD. v. ASIATIC PETROLEUM CO., LTD., [1915] A. C. 705; 84 L. J. K. B. 1281; 113 L. T. 195; 31 T. L. R. 294; 59 Sol. Jo. 411; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 81; 20 Com. Cas. 283, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. ASIATIC the part of the owners to adopt the ordinary & necessary means of preventing it, the exception to "fire" in the bill of lading will not protect them from a liability to answer for the damage occasioned by such fire to goods on board the vessel.—HUNTER & CO. v. THE MORNING STAR (OWNERS) (1821), 1 Nfld. L. R. 239.—NFLD.

PETROLEUM CO., LTD. v. LENNARD'S CARRYING CO., LTD., [1914] 1 K. B. 419, C. A.

Annotations :—Consd. Ingram & Royle v. Services Maritimes du Tréport, [1914] 1 K. B. 541. Apld. Royal Exchange Assce. Corpn. of London v. Kingsley Navigation Co., [1923] A. C. 235. Refd. Ashton v. L. & N. W. Ry., [1918] 2 K. B. 488; The Bristol City, [1921] P. 444; La Compañia Martiartu v. Royal Exchange Assce. Corpn., [1923] 1 K. B. 650. Mentd. Baker v. James, [1921] 2 K. B. 674.

2617. Application of exception in contract—Statutory exception excluded.]—VIRGINIA CAROLINA CHEMICAL CO. v. NORFOLK & NORTH AMERICAN SHIPPING CO., No. 2613, ante.

2618. —— ——.]—INGRAM & ROYLE, LTD. v. SERVICES MARITIMES DU TRÉPORT, No. 2609, ante.

2619. —— Negligence of crew.] — VIRGINIA CAROLINA CHEMICAL CO. v. NORFOLK & NORTH AMERICAN SHIPPING CO., No. 2614, ante.

2620. —— ——.]—By a clause in a time charter of a ship "fire" (inter alia) was "always mutually excepted." Besides other cargo the charterers loaded in the hold a quantity of benzine &/or petrol in tins in cases. During the voyage the tins leaked, & in consequence there was a considerable quantity of petrol vapour in the hold. At one of the ports of call it became necessary for the stevedores, who were employed by & were the servants of the charterers, to shift some of the cases of benzine, & for that purpose the stevedores placed a number of heavy planks at the forward end of the hatchway, which they used as a platform for transferring the cases from the lower hold to the 'tween deck. When the sling containing the cases of benzine was being hoisted up, owing to the negligence of the stevedores the rope by which the sling was hoisted or the sling itself came in contact with the boards, causing one of the boards to fall into the hold, & the fall was immediately followed by a rush of flames, the result being the total destruction of the ship. The shipowners claimed from the charterers as damages the value of the ship. The charterers disputed liability, & the dispute was referred to arbn. under a clause in the charterparty. The arbitrators found that the ship was lost by fire; that the fire arose from a spark igniting the petrol vapour in the hold; that the spark was caused by the falling board coming into contact with some substance in the hold; & that the causing of the spark could not reasonably have been anticipated from the falling of the board, though some damage to the ship might reasonably have been anticipated. The charterers contended: (a) that they were protected from liability by the exception of "fire" in the charterparty; (b) that the damages were too remote, as it could not reasonably have been anticipated that the falling of the board would have caused a spark:—Held (1) the exception clause did not protect the charterers against loss by fire caused by the negligence of their servants, there being no express stipulation to that effect; & (2) as the fall of the board was due to the negligence of the charterers' servants, the charterers were liable for all the direct consequences of the negligent act, even though those consequences could not reasonably have been anticipated; & they were therefore liable for the loss of the ship by fire.—Re POLEMIS & FURNESS, WITHY & CO., LTD. [1921] 3 K. B. 560; sub nom. POLEMIS v. FURNESS, WITHY & CO., LTD., 90 L. J. K. B. 1353; 126 L. T. 154; 37 T. L. R. 940; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 398; 27 Com. Cas. 25, C. A.

Annotations :—Consd. Fagan v. Green & Edwards, [1926] 1 K. B. 102. Refd. Adelaide S.S. Co. v. R., [1923] 1 K. B. 59; Britannia Hygienic Laundry Co. v. Thornycroft (1925), 94 L. J. K. B. 858; Hambrook v. Stokes, [1925] 1 K. B. 141. Mentd. Harnett v. Bond, [1924] 2 K. B. 517.

Liability to general average contribution.]—See Sect. 14, sub-sect. 2, C., post.

---

SUB-SECT. 8.—BARRATRY.

Compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 221–224, Nos. 1767–1814.

2621. What amounts to—Act of wrong by master against ship & goods.]—LEWEN v. SWASSO (1742), 1 Postlethwayt's Dictionary of Trade & Commerce, 147, L. C.

Annotation :—Refd. Earle v. Rowcroft (1806), 8 East, 126.

2622. —— ——.]—Barratry is every species of fraud or knavery in the master or mariners of a ship, by which the owners or freighters are injured; & a deviation, if such, is barratry; whether the loss happen during such fraudulent voyage, or after. Otherwise, if the deviation be with their privity or consent.—VALLEJO v. WHEELER (1774), 1 Cowp. 143; Lofft, 631; 98 E. R. 1012.

Annotations :—Apld. Nutt v. Bourdieu (1786), 1 Term Rep. 323. Consd. Phyn v. Royal Exchange Assce. (1798), 7 Term Rep. 505; Earle v. Rowcroft (1806), 8 East, 126. Apld. Soares v. Thornton (1817), 7 Taunt. 627. Consd. Cory v. Burr (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 463. Refd. Lockyer v. Offley (1786), 1 Term Rep. 252; Trinity House Master, etc. v. Clark (1815), 4 M. & S. 288; Hutton v. Bragg (1816), 7 Taunt. 14; Christie v. Lewis (1821), 2 Brod. & Bing. 410. Mentd. Frazer v. Marsh (1810), 13 East, 238; Tate v. Meek (1818), 8 Taunt. 280; Saville v. Campion (1819), 2 B. & Ald. 503.

2623. —— ——.]—GRILL v. GENERAL IRON SCREW COLLIER CO., No. 2617, post.

2624. —— —— Without consent of owner.]—Barratry can only be committed against the owner of the ship, & without his consent.—NUTT v. BOURDIEU (1786), 1 Term Rep. 323; 99 E. R. 1119.

Annotations :—Consd. Earle v. Rowcroft (1806), 8 East, 126; Samuel v. Dumas, [1924] A. C. 431.

2625. —— —— Motive immaterial.]—Barratry is any fraudulent or criminal conduct against the owners of ship or goods by the master or mariners in breach of the trust reposed in them, & to the injury of the owners; although it may not be done with intent to injure them, or to benefit at their expense the master or mariners; & therefore, where a master had general instructions to make the best purchases with dispatch, this would

---

2619 i. Application of exception in contract—Negligence of crew.]—HAMILTON v. HUDSON'S BAY CO. & IRVING & BRIGGS (1884), 1 B. C. R., pt. 2, 176.—CAN.

h. Meaning of damage by fire—Accidental fire—Not occasioned by lightning.]—Where deft. had agreed to return a steamer chartered by him on a certain day in good repair, "dangers of the lake excepted":—Held: damage to the steamer by an accidental fire, not occasioned by lightning, did not come under the exception.—LARNED v. MCRAE (1843), 1 U. C. R. 99.—CAN.

k. —— ——.] — HONG-KONG & SHANGHAI BANKING CORPN. v. BAKER (1870), 7 Bom. O. C. 186.—IND.

l. —— Unseaworthiness.] — Applts. sued resps. to recover for the loss of lime in barrels shipped in resps.' barge for carriage, & destroyed by fire in the course thereof. The carriage was subject to Water Carriage of Goods Act, 1909, of Canada. The barge was unseaworthy to the knowledge of resps.' manager, & leaked badly in consequence. A possible cause of the fire was heat generated by the action on the lime of the water which thus entered the barge:—Held: the loss was directly, though not proximately, attributable to the unseaworthiness, & therefore was not a "loss arising from fire" within sect. 7 of the Act.—ROYAL EXCHANGE ASSURANCE v. KINGSLEY NAVIGATION CO., [1923] A. C. 235, P. C.—CAN.

m. Whether wharfingers exempted by exception.]—CHIN HONG & CO. v. SENG MOH & CO. (1879), I. L. R. 4 Calc. 736; 3 C. L. R. 585.—IND.

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 8.

n. What amounts to—Deviation.]—SPINNEY v. OCEAN MUTUAL MARINE INSURANCE CO. (1890), 21 N. S. R. 244; 17 S. C. R. 326.—CAN.

o. —— Two seawater valves allowed

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sects. 8, 9 & 10.]

not warrant him in going into an enemy's settlement to trade, which was permitted by the enemy, though his cargo could be more speedily & cheaply completed there; but such act, in consequence of which the ship was seized & confiscated, is barratrous.

I conceive that the trust reposed in the captain of a vessel obliges him to obey the written instructions of his owners where they give any: & where his instructions are silent, he is at all events to do nothing but what is consonant to the laws of the land, whether with or without a view to their advantage (LORD ELLENBOROUGH, C.J.).—EARLE v. ROWCROFT (1806), 8 East, 126; 103 E. R. 292.

Annotations:—Consd. Wilson v. Rankin (1865), 6 B. & S. 208. Distd. Grill v. General Iron Screw Collier Co. (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 600. Consd. Australasian Insce. v. Jackson (1875), 33 L. T. 286. Apprvd. Cory v. Burr (1883), 8 App. Cas. 393. Refd. Westport Coal Co. v. McPhail, [1898] 2 Q. B. 130.

2626. —— Deviation—Whenever loss occurs.]—VALLEJO v. WHEELER, No. 2622, ante.

2627. —— —— Unless with consent of owners or freighters.]—VALLEJO v. WHEELER, No. 2622, ante.

2628. —— Trading with alien enemy.]—EARLE v. ROWCROFT, No. 2625, ante.

2629. —— Improper treatment of vessel—Master acting against own judgment.]—Improper treatment of the vessel by the captain will not constitute barratry, although it tend to the destruction of the vessel, unless it be shown that he acted against his own judgment.—TODD v. RITCHIE (1816), 1 Stark. 240; 171 E. R. 459, N. P.

2630. —— Vessel run on shore—Collusion between owner & master.]—If the owner of a vessel, fully laden by the freighters, collude with the captain to run her on shore:—Held: this amounted to barratry, although by the terms of a charterparty entered into between such owner & the freighters, the former was entitled to put goods on board during a previous part of the voyage.—SOARES v. THORNTON (1817), 7 Taunt. 627; 1 Moore, C. P. 373; 129 E. R. 250.

Annotations:—Consd. Samuel v. Dumas, Graham Joint Stock Shipping Co. v. Merchants Marine Insce. Co. (No. 2), [1923] 1 K. B. 592. Refd. Christie v. Lewis (1821), 2 Brod. & Bing. 410.

2631. —— Production of forged papers.]—The captain of a vessel, in the due course of his voyage, put into port for the purpose of repairing damage, & while the repairs were proceeding, was absent, & continued absent for a much longer time than was necessary to finish the repairs; & during his absence, procured forged papers. He afterwards returned to the vessel, & instead of proceeding on the voyage, carried the vessel to a foreign port. On the trial of the cause the jury found that the act of barratry was committed during the absence of the captain, while the vessel was repairing:—Held: the verdict was right.—ROSCOW v. CORSON (1819), 8 Taunt. 684; 129 E. R. 550.

2632. —— Secret & fraudulent act—Against which shipowner cannot guard.]—LLOYD v. GENERAL IRON SCREW COLLIER CO., No. 2646, post.

2633. —— Theft by crew.]—TAYLOR v. LIVERPOOL & GREAT WESTERN STEAM CO., No. 2638, post.

2634. —— Reckless conduct.]—BRISCOE & CO. v. POWELL & CO., No. 2686, post.

2635. —— Holes bored in ship by crew.]—THE CHASCA, No. 2603, ante.

SUB-SECT. 9.—PIRATES, ROBBERS AND THIEVES.

Compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 219–221, Nos. 1759–1766.

2636. Definitions — "Robbers" — Robbers by violence.]—Defts. received from pltf. at Panama certain goods to be delivered in London, "the act of God, the Queen's enemies, pirates, robbers, fire, accidents from machinery, boilers, & steam, the dangers of the seas, roads, & rivers, of what or kind soever, excepted." The goods were carried by defts. across the Isthmus of Panama to Chagres, where they were shipped to Southampton, & there placed in a railway truck, from whence they were secretly stolen in the course of their transit to London:—Held: this was not within the exception, a loss by "robbers" or by "dangers of the roads"; since the word "robbers" meant, not "thieves" but robbers by violence; & "dangers of the roads" meant dangers of marine roads; or, if of land roads, such dangers as are immediately caused by roads, as the overturning of carriages in rough & precipitous places.—DE ROTHSCHILD v. ROYAL MAIL STEAM PACKET CO. (1852), 7 Exch. 734: 21 L. J. Ex. 273; 19 L. T. O. S. 229.

Annotations:—Refd. Phillips v. Clark (1857), 2 C. B. N. S. 156; Wilton v. Atlantic Royal Mail Steam Navigation Co. (1861), 10 C. B. N. S. 453.

2637. —— —— ——.]—STEINMAN & CO. v. ANGIER LINE, No. 2639, post.

2638. —— "Thieves"—Persons external to ship.]—Pltfs. shipped at Liverpool, on board defts.' ship for New York, a box of diamonds under a bill of lading by which were excepted (inter alia) "pirates, robbers, thieves, vermin, barratry of master & mariners. . . ." The box was stolen during the voyage or on the ship's arrival in port, before the time for delivery; but there was no evidence to show whether it was stolen by one of the crew or by a passenger, or, after her arrival, by some person from the shore:—Held: (1) "thieves" must be interpreted as in a policy of insurance, & only applied to thieves external to the ship; (2) assuming theft by one of the crew to be "barratry," it lay on defts., the shipowners, to bring the loss within one of the exceptions, by showing by whom the theft had been committed, & pltfs. were therefore entitled to recover for the loss.

(3) The bill of lading also contained a clause "the shipowner is not to be liable for any damage done to any goods which is capable of being covered by insurance":—Held: "damage" would include damage to the goods amounting to a total loss or destruction of them, but did not apply to the case of the abstraction of the goods.

(4) The word is ambiguous &, being of doubtful meaning, it must receive such a construction as is most in favour of the shipper, & not such as is most in favour of the shipowner, for whose benefit the exceptions are framed (LUSH, J.).—TAYLOR v. LIVERPOOL & GREAT WESTERN STEAM CO.

---

to flow into ballast tank.]—WOODHEAD, PLANT & CO. v. GULLY (1897), 14 S. C. 102; 7 C. T. R. 75.—S. AF.

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 9.

p. Onus of proof.]—Pltf. shipped forty cases of oranges from A. to P. as deck cargo under a bill of lading which contained the following exemptions: "That the co. would not be responsible for any loss occasioned by robbers or thieves on board or on shore, & whether the servants of the co. or not: & that the goods shipped as deck cargo were to be carried at the owners' risk." Upon arrival at F., three of the cases were found to be empty. Pltf. sued for the value of the goods lost, & obtained judgment:—Held: the onus of proving that the cause of damage was not covered by the exemptions in the bill of lading was upon pltf.—SEMPER v. AUSTRALIAN UNITED STEAM (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 546; 43 L. J. Q. B. 205; 30 L. T. 714; 22 W. R. 752; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 275.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Steinman v. Angier Line, [1891] 1 Q. B. 619. As to (2) Refd. The Xantho (1886), 11 P. D. 170; The Glendarroch, [1894] P. 226. As to (4) Apld. Hayn v. Culliford & Clark (1879), 27 W. R. 541. Consd. Norman v. Binnington (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 475. Generally, Refd. Chartered Mercantile Bank of India v. Netherlands Steam Navigation Co. (1882), 52 L. J. Q. B. 220; The Prinz Heinrich (1897), 14 T. L. R. 48; Price v. Union Lighterage Co., [1904] 1 K. B. 412; Ashton v. L. & N. W. Ry., [1918] 2 K. B. 488.

2639. —— —— ——.]—Goods were shipped under a bill of lading which provided that the shipowner should not be liable for any loss or damage caused by (inter alia) "thieves of whatever kind, whether on board or not, or by land or sea." The goods were stolen during the stowage by some of the stevedore's men, who were paid by & in the service of the shipowner:—Held: the words "thieves of whatever kind" did not relieve the shipowner from liability for thefts committed by persons in his service.

Robbery imports violence, but "theft" . . . properly speaking, does not (BOWEN, L.J.).—STEINMAN & CO. v. ANGIER LINE, [1891] 1 Q. B. 619; 60 L. J. Q. B. 425; 64 L. T. 613; 39 W. R. 392; 7 T. L. R. 398; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 46, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. The Prinz Heinrich (1897), 14 T. L. R. 48; Dunn v. Bucknall, Dunn v. Donald Currie, [1902] 2 K. B. 614; Price v. Union Lighterage Co., [1903] 1 K. B. 750; Baxter's Leather Co. v. Royal Mail Steam Packet Co., [1908] 2 K. B. 626. Mentd. Re Polemis & Furness, Withy, [1921] 3 K. B. 560; Fagan v. Green & Edwards, [1926] 1 K. B. 102.

Whether piracy a peril of the sea.]—See Nos. 2590, 2591, ante.

Meaning of piracy.]—See CRIMINAL LAW, Vol. XV., pp. 724, 725, Nos. 7838–7854.

---

SUB-SECT. 10.—COLLISIONS, STRANDINGS AND ACCIDENTS OF NAVIGATION.

Compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 241–243, Nos. 1939–1969.

2640. Collision—Through negligence of shipowners' servants—Both ships property of same owner.]—CHARTERED MERCANTILE BANK OF INDIA v. NETHERLANDS INDIA STEAM NAVIGATION CO., No. 2648, post.

2641. —— Necessity for seaworthiness.]—THE GLENFRUIN, No. 2655, post.

—— Whether an accident of navigation.]—See Nos. 2646–2649, post.

—— Whether a peril of the sea.]—See Subsect. 6, B. (a), ante.

—— Effect of exception of war risks.]—See Nos. 2763–2765, post.

2642. "Accidents of navigation"—Accident while in dock—Shipping water to damage of cargo.]—A vessel laden with goods arrived in the port of London, & was taken into the C. Dock to discharge her cargo. For this purpose she was fastened by tackle, on the one side to a loaded lighter lying outside her, & on the other to a barge lying between her & the wharf. The crew were discharged, except the mate, & lumpers were being employed in unloading her, when the tackle broke [by force of the wind] whereby she was fastened to the lighter, & in consequence she canted over, water got in through her ports, & the goods still on board were damaged:—Held: this was a loss within the exception in the bill of lading, of "all & every the dangers & accidents of the seas & navigation."—LAURIE v. DOUGLAS (1846), 15 M. & W. 746; 4 L. T. 588.

Annotations:—Dbtd. The Accomac (1890), 15 P. D. 208 Refd. Notara v. Henderson (1872), 26 L. T. 412; The Warkworth (1884), 53 L. J. P. 65.

2643. —— —— ——.]—THE SOUTHGATE, No. 2709, post.

2644. —— —— ——.]—THE GLENOCHIL, No. 2683, post.

—— ——.]—Compare No. 2700, post.

2645. —— Failure to enter port owing to insufficient depth of water.]—SCHILIZZI v. DERRY, No. 2788, post.

2646. —— Collision—Through negligence of owners.]—(1) Pltf. shipped goods on board defts.' vessel to be safely & securely carried from Genoa to London & there delivered, "barratry of master or mariner," "accidents," "damage of the sea," etc., excepted. Defts.' vessel when at sea by the gross carelessness, negligence, mismanagement & improper conduct of defts.' servants & mariners, ran foul of & struck against another vessel, whereby pltf.'s goods on board were sunk & lost:—Held: defts. were liable to pltf. for such loss.

I do not think the fair meaning of the word "accident" extends to a loss caused by the negligence of the crew (BRAMWELL, B.).

(2) Barratry is a wrong done to the owners themselves, & a secret & fraudulent act, so that it is not so easy to guard against it in the selection of the crew as against negligence (BRAMWELL, B.).—LLOYD v. GENERAL IRON SCREW COLLIER CO. (1864), 3 H. & C. 284; 4 New Rep. 298; 33 L. J. Ex. 269; 10 L. T. 586; 10 Jur. N. S. 661; 12 W. R. 882; 2 Mar. L. C. 32.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. The Norway (1864), Brown. & Lush. 377; Grill v. General Iron Screw Collier Co. (1868), 37 L. J. C. P. 205. Refd. Chartered Mercantile Bank of India v. Netherlands India Steam Navigation Co. (1883), 10 Q. B. D. 521; Woodley v. Michell (1883), 48 L. T. 599. Generally, Refd. The Freedom (1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 316; The Chasca (1875), L. R. 4 A. & E. 446.

---

NAVIGATION CO. (1904), 6 W. A. L. R. 63.—AUS.

q. Right to except thefts by master or crew.]—MATHYS v. MANCHESTER LINERS (1904), Q. R. 25 S. C. 426.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 10.

r. Necessity for evidence of negligence to be very clear.]—Where exception against loss by dangers of navigation is in a bill of lading, & the vessel is in fact lost in a storm, the evidence of negligence or improper conduct must be very clear in order to make the shipowner liable; & although it lies upon defft. in the first place to bring himself within the exception, yet this is sufficiently done by showing a shipwreck from stress of weather; & pltf. is then called upon to establish that the loss would not have happened but from negligence or want of skill.—HARNDEN v. PROCTOR (1852), 9 U. C. R. 592.—CAN.

t. Goods carried at plaintiff's risk.]—STEVENSON v. GILDERSLEEVE (1853), 2 C. P. 495.—CAN.

s. Vessel striking sunken rock.]—Under a contract to that effect, pltf., during Jan. 1875, loaded defts.' vessel, which was frozen in the ice in Port Hope harbour, with a cargo of peas, to be carried in the vessel on the opening of navigation to Kingston or Oswego. While the goods were so on board, the vessel struck a sunken rock, unknown to all parties at the bottom of the harbour, which broke a hole in the vessel's bottom, causing her to sink & damaging the cargo:—Held: assuming defts.' liability to be that of carriers, this was a loss caused by the "dangers of navigation," within 37 Vict. c. 25, s. 1, so as to exempt defts. from liability.—CLUXTON v. DICKSON (1876), 27 C. P. 170.—CAN.

b. ——.]—DHAUNSEE v. INDIA GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1862), 1 Ind. Jur. O. S. 125; 1 Hyde, 283.—IND.

c. "Accidents of navigation"—Onus of proof that carrier blameworthy.]—RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO. v. FORTIER (1889), 18 R. L. O. S. 83.—CAN.

d. Inclement weather—Hatches closed—Damage to cargo by heat.]—A cargo of maize was shipped on deft.'s steamship under a bill of lading excepting "accidents of the seas." Owing to inclement weather & for the safety of the ship, ventilators were closed on a number of occasions during the voyage, with the result that the air in the holds became heated & a portion of the cargo was damaged:—Held: the case came within the exception "accident of the seas," & the shipowners were not liable, as the heating of the maize was caused by the stoppage of ventilation which, as a matter of good seamanship, was necessitated by the state of the weather.—DONKIN,

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sects. 10 & 11.]

2647. —— —— ——.]—Merchant Shipping Act, 1854 (c. 104), s. 296, requires that when ships are meeting each other, each shall port its helm, & by s. 299 it is enacted that loss arising from the non-observance of the regulations laid down by the Act shall be deemed to have been occasioned by the "wilful default" of the person in charge of the deck:—Held: (1) the effect of the statute was only to make the act wilful as between the shipowners, & not as between the master & shipowner, so as to make it an act of barratry; (2) loss by a collision brought about by the negligence of the crew was not a loss by "dangers or accidents of the seas or navigation" within the exceptions of the bill of lading.

(3) In an action on a bill of lading by the shipper of goods against the shipowners to recover the value of goods lost in a collision, the jury found that the collision was caused by the negligence of the crew of deft.'s ship, & there was no want of care on the part of the crew of the other ship which contributed to the collision. It appeared that if the other ship had backed, the collision would have been less violent, & deft.'s ship might not have sunk, but there was no evidence as to whether this would have been the most prudent course under all the circumstances:—Held: the judge was not bound to leave the question to the jury whether the loss of the goods, & not the collision might not have been avoided by care on the part of the crew of the other ship.—GRILL v. GENERAL IRON SCREW COLLIER CO. (1868), L. R. 3 C. P. 476; 37 L. J. C. P. 205; 18 L. T. 485; 16 W. R. 796; 3 Mar. L. C. 77, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—As to (2) Reld. Notara v. Henderson (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 225; The Chasca (1875), L. R. 4 A. & E. 446; Chartered Mercantile Bank of India v. Netherlands India Steam Navigation Co. (1882), 10 Q. B. D. 521; Wilson v. The Xantho (1887), 12 App. Cas. 503; Steinman v. Angier Line, [1891] 1 Q. B. 619; Price v. Union Lighterage Co., [1904] 1 K. B. 412. Generally, Reld. Leuw v. Dudgeon (1867), 17 L. T. 145; Gibbin v. M'Mullen (1869), 38 L. J. P. C. 25; Scaramanga v. Stamp (1880), 28 W. R. 691; The Glendarroch, [1894] P. 226; Johnson v. Wainwright (1894), 38 Sol. Jo. 362; Trinder, Anderson v. Thames & Mersey Marine Insce., Trinder, Anderson v. North Queensland Insce., Trinder, Anderson v. Weston, Crocker, [1898] 2 Q. B. 114; Fenton v. Thorley, [1903] A. C. 443; Re Etherington & Lancashire & Yorkshire Accident Insce., [1909] 1 K. B. 591; Leyland Shipping Co. v. Norwich Union Fire Insce. Soc., [1917] 1 K. B. 873; Becker, Gray v. London Assce. Corpn., [1918] A. C. 101; Re City Equitable Fire Insce., [1925] Ch. 407. Mentd. Oppenheim v. White Lion Hotel Co. (1871), L. R. 6 C. P. 515; Newman v. Bourne & Hollingsworth (1915), 31 T. L. R. 209.

2648. —— —— Purely accidental.]—Pltfs. shipped goods on board defts.' vessel, the Crown Prince, under a bill of lading, which contained exceptions of, among other things, "collision," & "accidents, loss, or damage, from any act, neglect, or default whatsoever of the pilots, master, or mariners, or other servants of the co., in navigating the ship." In the course of the voyage the Crown Prince came into collision with another vessel of defts., the Atjeh. Pltfs.' goods were in consequence lost. The collision was due to negligence, for which the Atjeh was mainly in fault; but the Crown Prince also was in some degree to blame:—Held: (1) defts. had not committed a breach of the contract created by the bill of lading, & no action could be maintained against them on the ground of failure to perform the undertaking therein contained to carry the goods safely upon the voyage. No stipulation on the part of defts. could be implied as to the conduct of those on board the Atjeh, & although the negligence of the Atjeh was not within the exceptions, nevertheless it was not within the contract created by the bill of lading. The exception "collision," although it did not cover the negligence of the Crown Prince, covered the negligence of the Atjeh, & defts. were expressly relieved from liability for the negligence of the Crown Prince by the other exceptions in the bill of lading.

A collision at sea may arise from mere accident, that is, without any default on the part of those who are navigating either ship, & if a collision of that kind occurs it is within the exception of accidents of the sea (BRETT, L.J.).

(2) By the first part of the bill of lading an absolute contract is entered into to carry the goods safely & deliver them safely (BRETT, L.J.).—CHARTERED MERCANTILE BANK OF INDIA v. NETHERLANDS INDIA STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1883), 10 Q. B. D. 521; 52 L. J. Q. B. 220; 48 L. T. 546; 47 J. P. 260; 31 W. R. 445; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 65, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. Woodley v. Michell (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 47; Wilson v. The Xantho (1887), 12 App. Cas. 503; Leduc v. Ward (1888), 20 Q. B. D. 475. Generally, Reld. Jacobs v. Crédit Lyonnais (1884), 12 Q. B. D. 589; The August, [1891] P. 328; The Englishman & The Australia, [1894] P. 239; The Industrie, [1894] P. 58; The Drumlanrig (1910), 80 L. J. P. 9. Mentd. Davidson v. Hill, [1901] 2 K. B. 606; British South Africa Co. v. De Beers Consolidated Mines, [1910] 1 Ch. 354.

2649. —— —— Attributable to negligence of other ship.]—SAILING SHIP GARSTON CO. v. HICKIE, BORMAN & CO., No. 4833, post.

2650. Stranding.]—BROKEN HILL PROPRIETARY CO., LTD. v. P. & O. STEAM NAVIGATION CO., No. 3281, post.

——.]—See, also, INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 241–243, Nos. 1939–1964.

Effect of negligence clause.]—See Sub-sect. 14, D., post.

---

SUB-SECT. 11.—LATENT DEFECTS IN, AND ACCIDENTS TO HULL OR MACHINERY.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Art. IV., r. 2 (p); & compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., p. 225, Nos. 1827–1830.

2651. Accident to machinery—Salvage services

---

CREEDEN & AVERY, LTD. v. THE CHICAGO MARU (1917), 23 B. C. R. 551; 33 D. L. R. 38.—CAN.

e. ——.]—DONALDSON BROTHERS v. LITTLE & CO., LITTLE & CO. v. HAY & SONS (1882), 10 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 413; 20 Sc. L. R. 275.—SCOT.

f. Stranding of ship.]—HAWTHORNE v. HATRICK & CO. (1903), 23 N. Z. L. R. 208.—N.Z.

g. Failure of steam power.]—The charterparty of a steamship freed the owners from liability for "the act of God, the Queen's enemies, fire, & all & every other dangers & accidents of the seas, rivers, & errors or negligence of navigation of whatsoever nature & kind, during the said voyage." The vessel was lost through failure of steam power, in consequence of which she drifted on a lee shore. In an action at the instance of the charterers against the owners for damages for the loss of the cargo:—Held: (1) the failure of steam power was attributable to the water having been allowed to run too low in the boiler, so that the metal surfaces of the crowns of the wing furnaces & some of the boiler tubes were denuded of water, with the result that they contracted unevenly & consequently leaked when cold water was admitted into the boiler; & (2) the loss fell under the exception of "errors or negligence of navigation" in the charterparty & therefore the owners were not liable in damages.—CUNNINGHAM v. COLVILS, LOWDEN & CO. (1888), 16 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 295; 26 Sc. L. R. 249.—SCOT.

h. Omission to shut seacock—Negligence of engineer.]—ADAM v. MORRIS (1890), 18 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 153; 26 Sc. L. R. 149.—SCOT.

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 11.

k. Latent defect—Defective tackle.]—VINTINER v. HUDDART, PARKER & CO. (1897), 18 N. S. W. L. R. (L.) 20; 13 N. S. W. W. N. 150.—AUS.

l. ——.]—CHARLTON & BAGSHAW v. LAW & CO., [1913] S. C. 317; 50 Sc. L. R. 214; [1912] 2 S. L. T. 459.—SCOT.

consequent on breaking of engine shaft.]—" Accidents from machinery," among the accepted perils in a bill of lading, include salvage services rendered necessary by the sudden breaking of the crank shaft of an engine.—THE MIRANDA (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 561 ; 41 L. J. Adm. 82 ; 27 L. T. 389 ; 21 W. R. 84 ; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 440.

2652. Latent defect—Accumulation of rust.]—Applts. sued for damage to a cargo of cotton seed shipped under a bill of lading by the terms of which the shipowner's warranty of seaworthiness was not to extend to damage caused by " latent defect in hull provided such latent defect did not result from want of due diligence of the owners or by the ship's husband or managers. . . ." The damage was caused by sea water entering the hold through the fracture of certain rivets by which the plates were attached to the ship's frames. Rust had been allowed to accumulate between the plates & the frames, thus subjecting the rivets to undue stress, which ultimately caused them to break. The damage occurred during a voyage in Aug. 1921. In 1920 the vessel had passed Lloyd's special survey, & in July, 1921, she had been surveyed for fire damage, when the condition of the rivets was satisfactorily reported upon ; but certain cleaning & recoating of steel work in the holds which was then recommended had not been carried out at the time when the cargo was damaged. The damage was augmented by the failure of the master, who was a part owner, to have the bilges properly pumped. The judge gave judgment for resps. on the ground that although a careful examination would have disclosed the existence of the rust which caused the defect, the surveyors' reports indicated no lack of diligence in the owner or his advisors. The damage was therefore caused by a latent defect in respect of which the owner was protected by the bill of lading :—Held : the defect was such that it could have been discerned by a reasonably careful & diligent examination, & extraordinary care was not necessary to make it apparent. The judge had treated the question whether a defect was or was not latent as being the same as whether the person charged with the care of the vessel was or was not negligent.

By the exercise of ordinary care by a competent person the rust on the plates would have been found, & it was common ground that something should have been done to remedy it ; if the ship sailed without anything being done there was a breach of the warranty of seaworthiness.—THE DIMITRIOS RALLIAS (1922), 128 L. T. 491 ; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 62 ; 13 Lloyd, L. R. 363, C. A.

Annotations :—Reid. The Christel Vinnen, [1924] P. 61 ; Angliss (Australia) Proprietary v. Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Co., [1927] 2 K. B. 456.

2653. —— Corroded valve.]—Pltfs. chartered from defts. a steamer to carry sugar from Java to the United Kingdom, a clause in the charter-party providing that defts. should not be answerable for any loss or damage arising from any latent defects in machinery or hull not resulting from want of due diligence by the owners of the ship. Before the voyage defts. sent the ship to repairers for overhaul, & a representative of defts. watched the repairs, but on the voyage water got into the hold through a corroded valve & damaged the sugar. In an action for damages owing to unseaworthiness :—Held : in fact the ship was unseaworthy, the defect was not latent within the meaning of the above clause, & even if it was latent, it could have been discovered by due diligence, & the clause was no protection, but defts. were entitled to have their liability limited under 1894 Act, s. 503.—LONDON RANGOON TRADING CO., LTD. v. ELLERMAN LINES, LTD. (1923), 39 T. L. R. 284 ; 14 Lloyd, L. R 497.

Annotation :—Reid. Angliss (Australia) Proprietary v. Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Co., [1927] 2 K. B. 456.

2654. —— Defective rivet.]—Pltfs.' cargo of maize was carried in defts.' vessel under a bill of lading containing the following clause : " The steamer shall not be liable for loss or damage occasioned by . . . perils of the sea . . . or any latent defects in hull . . . or by other accidents arising in the navigation of the steamer, even when occasioned by the negligence . . . of the servants of the shipowner."

A defective rivet allowed water to flow into the vessel. Had the pumps been duly sounded the leakage would have been discovered & the inflow of water kept under. The cargo was damaged by the sea water :—Held : the vessel was unseaworthy ; the exception of " latent defects in hull " did not qualify the implied warranty of seaworthiness ; &, although the damage to the cargo was increased by the negligent failure to pump, the dominant cause of the damage was the unseaworthiness. It followed, therefore, that the shipowner was responsible for the whole of the damage & not only for the proportion of the damage done before the time when but for the negligence the inflow of water would have been checked.—THE CHRISTEL VINNEN, [1921] P. 208 ; 93 L. J. P. 138 ; 132 L. T. 337 ; 40 T. L. R. 845 ; 69 Sol. Jo. 89 ; 30 Com. Cas. 32 ; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 413, C. A.

2655. Whether implied warranty of seaworthiness excluded.]—(1) The warranty of seaworthiness implied in a bill of lading is an absolute warranty that the ship shall be in fact fit for the voyage, & not merely that the shipowner shall take all reasonable care to make her so fit ; & hence a latent defect in the screw shaft existing prior to the commencement of the voyage, & resulting in the breaking of the shaft, is a breach of the shipowner's warranty of seaworthiness, although the shipowner may have taken all reasonable precaution in the selection of the shaft

(2) The excepted perils in a bill of lading have no application to the case of a ship sailing in an unseaworthy condition ; & hence they are no defence to an action brought for loss or damage to the charterer's goods occasioned by such unseaworthiness.

(3) Where a screw steamship carrying cargo under a bill of lading containing the exception " accidents of the seas & of navigation," becomes disabled through her main shaft breaking in consequence of a latent defect in existence prior to the sailing of the vessel, & another vessel belonging to the same owners renders salvage services, such owners are precluded from recovering salvage against the cargo by reason of the services becoming necessary through the breach of their warranty of seaworthiness. In these circumstances the right of the crew of the salving ship to recover for the services is not affected by such unseaworthiness ; but the owners of the cargo, having to pay such salvage, are entitled to recover by way of counterclaim, from such of pltfs. as are owners of the salved ship, the full amount which they, the owners of cargo, have to pay to the crew for salvage.—THE GLENFRUIN (1885), 10 P. D. 103 ; 54 L. J. P. 49 ; 52 L. T. 769 ; 33 W. R. 826 ; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 413.

Annotations :—As to (1) Reid. The Northumbria (1906), 95 L. T. 618 ; The Europa, [1908] P. 84 ; The Christel Vinnen, [1924] P. 61. As to (2) Reid. The Maori King v. Hughes (1895), 73 L. T. 141 ; Nelson v. Nelson Line

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sects. 11, 12, 13 & 14, A.]

(Liverpool) (1907), 96 L. T. 402; Ingram & Royle v. Services Maritime Du Tréport (1913), 82 L. J. K. B. 374. As to (3) Refd. The Duc D'Aumale (No. 2), [1904] P. 60; The Leon Blum, [1915] P. 90.

2656. ——.]—The L., having been disabled in her machinery owing to a latent defect in the welding of her flywheel shaft, existing at the commencement of the voyage, but not discoverable by the exercise of reasonable care, was towed by the A., a vessel belonging to the same owners, into a port of safety. The cargo on board the L. was shipped under three different bills of lading. The first of these contained the clause, "Warranted seaworthy only so far as ordinary care can provide"; the second, "Warranted seaworthy only so far as due care in the appointment or selection of agents, superintendents, pilots, masters, officers, engineers, & crew can ensure it"; & the third, "Owners not to be liable for loss, detention, or damage, if arising directly or indirectly from latent defects in boilers, machinery, or any part of the vessel in which steam is used, even existing at the time of shipment, provided all reasonable means have been taken to secure efficiency." In a salvage action brought by the owners, master, & crew of the A. against the owners of cargo on board the L.: —Held: the exceptions in the bills of lading limited the implied warranty of seaworthiness, & such limited warranty having been satisfied, there had been no breach by the owners of the L. of their contract of carriage.—THE LAERTES (CARGO EX) (1887), 12 P. D. 187; 56 L. J. P. 108; 57 L. T. 502; 36 W. R. 111; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 174.

Annotations:—Consd. The Maori King v. Hughes (1895), 73 L. T. 141. Refd. McFadden v. Blue Star Line (1905), 74 L. J. K. B. 423; The West Cock, [1911] P. 23; The Christel Vinnen, [1924] P. 208.

2657. ——.]—MAORI KING (OWNERS OF CARGO) v. HUGHES, No. 2797, post.

2658. ——.]—A bill of lading contained among other exceptions, one by which the shipowner was not to be liable for loss or damage arising from "defects latent on beginning voyage or otherwise" in hull, tackle, boilers, or machinery, or their appurtenances:—Held: the exception did not cover a defect which was obvious at the commencement of the voyage.—WAIKATO (CARGO OWNERS) v. NEW ZEALAND SHIPPING CO., [1899] 1 Q. B. 56; 68 L. J. Q. B. 1; 79 L. T. 326; 15 T. L. R. 33; 43 Sol. Jo. 41; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 442; 4 Com. Cas. 10, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Borthwick v. Elderslie S.S. Co., [1904] 1 K. B. 319. Refd. Cordey v. Cardiff Pure Ice & Cold Storage Co. (1903), 19 T. L. R. 256; Rathbone v. MacIver, [1903] 2 K. B. 378; The Torbryan, [1903] P. 35; The West Cock, [1911] P. 208; Infram & Royle v. Services Maritimes du Tréport, [1913] 1 K. B. 538; The Christel Vinnen, [1924] P. 208.

2659. ——.]—THE DIMITRIOS RALLIAS, No. 2652, ante.

2660. ——.]—LONDON RANGOON TRADING CO., LTD. v. ELLERMAN LINES, LTD., No. 2653, ante.

2661. ——.]—Pltfs. consigned goods from Liverpool to Australia by defts.' steamship under a bill of lading containing the following exceptions clause: "The act of God, . . . & loss or damage resulting from any of the following causes or perils are excepted, viz. . . . loss or damage from rust, accidents to, or defects in hull, tackle, or machinery or their appurtenances, . . . perils of the sea . . . or navigation . . . of whatsoever nature or kind & howsoever caused."

When the goods arrived they were found to have been damaged by sea water. In an action to recover the amount of the damage defts. contended that the damage was due to the fracture of a water pipe, which fracture was caused by stormy weather or by a latent defect covered by the exception with regard to defects:—Held: (1) the word "defects" in the exceptions clause referred only to defects which might develop during the voyage in a ship which at the beginning of the voyage was seaworthy; (2) on the evidence the ship was unseaworthy from the start, & therefore pltfs. were entitled to recover.—TUDOR ACCUMULATOR CO., LTD. v. OCEANIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1924), 41 T. L. R. 81.

2662. ——.]—THE CHRISTEL VINNEN, No. 2654, ante.

2663. Liability for patent defects.]—WAIKATO (CARGO OWNERS) v. NEW ZEALAND SHIPPING CO., No. 2658, ante.

Effect of negligence clause.]—See Sub-sect. 14, D., post.

---

SUB-SECT. 12.—RUST, LEAKAGE AND BREAKAGE.

2664. Scope of exception—Liability of shipowner for negligence.]—A stipulation in a bill of lading, that the shipowner is "not to be accountable for leakage or breakage," does not exempt him from responsibility for a loss by these means, arising from gross negligence.—PHILLIPS v. CLARK (1857), 2 C. B. N. S. 156; 26 L. J. C. P. 168; 29 L. T. O. S. 181; 3 Jur. N. S. 467; 5 W. R. 582; 140 E. R. 372.

Annotations:—Apld. Leuw v. Dudgeon (1867), 17 L. T. 145; Grill v. General Iron Screw Collier Co. (1868), L. R. 3 C. P. 476; Price v. Union Lighterage Co., [1904] 1 K. B. 412. Refd. Wilton v. Atlantic Royal Mail Steam Navigation Co. (1861), 10 C. B. N. S. 453; Ohrloff v. Briscall, The Helene (1866), L. R. 1 P. C. 231; Czech v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1867), L. R. 3 C. P. 14; The Duero (1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 393; Kopitoff v. Wilson (1876), 24 W. R. 706; Steel v. State Line S.S. Co. (1877), 3 App. Cas. 72; Chartered Mercantile Bank of India v. Netherlands India Steam Navigation Co. (1883), 10 Q. B. D. 521; Steinman v. Angier Line, [1891] 1 Q. B. 619; The Glendarrach, [1894] P. 226; The Modena (1911), 27 T. L. R. 529. Mentd. Gill v. Manchester Ry. (1873), L. R. 8 Q. B. 186; M. S. & L. Ry. v. Brown (1883), 8 App. Cas. 703.

2665. —— ——.]—OHRLOFF v. BRISCALL, THE HELENE, No. 2989, post.

2666. —— —— Negligence question for jury.]—Where wines were shipped on board a vessel, &

---

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 12.

2664 i. Scope of exception—Liability of shipowner for negligence.]—In an action by pltfs., merchants, to recover from the owners of a vessel, damage suffered in consequence of the breakage of an iron boiler, lined with enamel, & deft. set up the bill of lading by the which they were not to be liable for breakage, leakage or rust:—Held: notwithstanding, they were liable for damage arising from any of these causes by reason of their neglect.—HARRIS v. EDMONSTONE (1859), 4 L. C. J. 40.—CAN.

2664 ii. —— ——.]—Piece-goods were carried from London to Bombay under a bill of lading, the exceptions in which protected the master from "leakage, breakage, rust, decay, loss, or damage from machinery, boilers . . . misfeasance, error in judgment, negligence or default of . . . persons in the service of the ship . . . & the ship not being liable for any consequences of causes therein excepted, however originating." The piece-goods, on their arrival in Bombay, were found to be damaged by oil & by chafing—i.e. by rubbing against other goods in the hold; but there was no evidence to show how such damage was occasioned:—Held: the term "leakage" did not include leakage from other goods on to the piece-goods, nor did "breakage" include damage caused by chafing, & as no negligence was proved, the master was not protected by the exception "damage from negligence."—GRAHAM v. HILLE (1873), 10 Bom. 60.—IND.

2664 iii. ——.]—CRAIG & ROSE v. DELARGY (1879), 6 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 1269; 16 Sc. L. R. 750.—SCOT.

2668 i. —— —— Negligence of servants.] — FRAZER & CO. v. PORT ELIZABETH HARBOUR BOARD (1900), 17 S. C. 231; 10 C. T. R. 292.—S. AF.

m. Damage to iron by salt.]—STEVENS v. HUGHES (1873), 1 N. Z. Jur. 45.—N.Z.

n. Collision causing damage to plates—Cargo damaged by leakage.]—PARRATT & CO. & HIND, ROLFE & CO. v. THE NOTRE DAME D'AVOR (1911), 16 B. C. R. 381; 13 Exch. C. R. 456.—CAN.

sustained damage by leakage, the bill of lading containing, besides the usual clauses, these words, "contents unknown & free of leakage"; in an action against the owner for the damage, it was left to the jury to say, whether or not the leakage had been occasioned by the negligence of deft., & they gave a verdict for pltf. The ct. refused to set it aside, or grant a new trial.—STRAHAN v. M'QUEEN (1827), 6 L. J. O. S. C. P. 4.

2667. —— —— Negligence of servants—Onus of proof.]—Goods were shipped in a steamer under a bill of lading which contained an exception from liability for "breakage, leakage, or damage." The goods were found at the end of the voyage to be injured by oil. It was proved that there was no oil in the cargo, but that there were two donkey engines on deck, near the place where the goods were stowed, in lubricating which oil was used; there was no direct evidence of how the injury to the goods occurred. In an action against the shipowners:—Held: (1) the exception did not protect the shipowners from liability for damage accruing through the negligence of their servants, but it did shift the onus of proof, & it was incumbent upon pltfs. to prove affirmatively the negligence of defts.' servants; (2) the above facts were evidence upon which a jury were justified in finding the existence of negligence.—CZECH v. GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1867), L. R. 3 C. P. 14; 37 L. J. C. P. 3; 17 L. T. 246; 16 W. R. 130; 3 Mar. L. C. 5.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. The Glendarroch, [1894] P. 226. Refd. The Figlia Maggiore (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 106; The Freedom (1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 346; Taylor v. Liverpool & Great Western Steam Co. (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 546; Hayn, Roman v. Culliford (1879), 27 W. R. 541; Chartered Mercantile Bank of India v. Netherlands India Steam Navigation Co. (1883), 10 Q. B. D. 521; The Xantho (1886), 55 L. J. P. 65; Steinman v. Angier Line, [1891] 1 Q. B. 619; Price v. Union Lighterage Co., [1904] 1 K. B. 412.

2668. —— —— ——.]—THE MODENA, CHIESMAN & CO. v. MODENA (OWNERS), No. 2531, ante.

2669. —— Quantity of leakage immaterial.]—OHRLOFF v. BRISCALL, THE HELENE, No. 2989, post.

2670. —— Damage to cargo—From other portions of cargo.]—C. & M. had been in the habit of receiving consignments of goods from N. & accepting his bills, & there was an account current between them. A cargo of sugar so consigned at a time N. was debtor in the account between them having suffered damage C. & M. brought a suit in this ct.:—Held: sugar injured by drainage from other sugar improperly stowed was not damaged by "leakage" as named in the excepted perils.—THE NEPOTER (1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 375; 38 L. J. Adm. 63; 22 L. T. 177; 18 W. R. 49; 3 Mar. L. C. 355.

Annotations:—Refd. The Freedom (1870), 22 L. T. 175; Simpson v. Blues (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 290; Thrift v. Youle (1877), 2 C. P. D. 432; Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74.

2671. —— —— ——.]—The clause in a bill of lading by which the shipowner is "not accountable for rust, leakage or breakage," is limited to the rust, leakage or breakage of the goods themselves, & does not protect the shipowner from liability for damage done to other goods in consequence of such rust, leakage or breakage.—THRIFT v. YOULE & CO. (1877), 2 C. P. D. 432; 46 L. J. Q. B. 402; 36 L. T. 114; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 357, D. C.

2672. —— —— ——.]—BARROW v. WILLIAMS & CO. (1890), 7 T. L. R. 37.

2673. —— Breakage during re-stowing—General ship.]—Pltfs. shipped in London certain mining machinery on board deft.'s steamer Denby Grange, for carriage to Buenos Aires via Newport under a bill of lading which gave the steamer liberty to proceed to & stay at other ports for loading or discharging cargo. The bill of lading excepted liability for loss or damage arising from (inter alia) breakage. The Denby Grange was a general ship carrying cargo for various ports in the River Plate. She loaded cargo at Antwerp & proceeded to London where she took on board pltfs.' machinery & other cargo. She then proceeded to Newport where she was to load a large quantity of cargo. It was found necessary at Newport for the safe stowage of the cargo & for the proper trim of the ship that two large cylinders, part of pltfs.' mining machinery, should be taken out of the hold in which they were stowed & re-stowed in another hold, & for this purpose they were placed temporarily on the quay. The evidence showed that such a dealing with a portion of the cargo in the case of a general ship like the Denby Grange, which was intended to load & discharge cargo at various ports was quite usual. One of the cylinders while on the quay was damaged:—Held: in removing the cylinders from the hold in which they had been stowed with a view to stowing them in another hold, & in the meanwhile temporarily placing them on the quay, defts. did not commit any breach of their contract of carriage, & were therefore protected by the exceptions in the bill of lading.—BRUCE, MARRIOTT & CO. v. HOULDER LINE, LTD., [1917] 1 K. B. 72; 86 L. J. K. B. 509; 115 L. T. 846; 61 Sol. Jo. 98; 22 Com. Cas. 116; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 550, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Buerger v. Cunard S.S. Co., [1925] 2 K. B. 616.

Effect of negligence clause.]—See Sub-sect. 14, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 13.—"DAMAGE CAPABLE OF BEING INSURED AGAINST."

2674. What amounts to—Theft—Bill of lading containing warranty against theft.]—TAYLOR v. LIVERPOOL & GREAT WESTERN STEAM CO., No. 2638, ante.

2675. —— Latent damage.]—MOORE v. HARRIS, No. 1708, ante.

—— Loss through negligence.]—See CARRIERS, Vol. VIII., p. 44, Nos. 265–267.

Effect of negligence clause.]—See Sub-sect. 14, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 14.—NEGLIGENCE.

A. In General.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 2 (a), &, generally, NEGLIGENCE, Vol. XXXVI., pp. 6 et seq.

2676. Necessity for express exception of negligence.]—Cattle were shipped in deft.'s vessel under a bill of lading, which contained, amongst others, the following exceptions: "Ship free in case of mortality, & from all damage arising from dangers of the seas. . . . The owner will not be liable for any loss arising from suffocation or other causes. . . . The ship not liable for accident, injury, mortality or jettison, whether shipped on deck or in the hold":—Held: these exceptions did not exempt deft. from liability in respect of

---

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 14.—A.

2676 i. Necessity for express exception of negligence.]—Exemption of shipowners from liability for negligence must be provided for in clear & unambiguous terms & must not be left to inference from general words.—RAVUTHER (SHEIK MAHAMAD) v. BRITISH INDIA STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1908), I. L. R. 32 Mad. 95. —IND.

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sect. 14, A. & B.]

cattle lost by his culpable negligence.—LEUW v. DUDGEON (1867), 37 L. J. C. P. 5, n.; 17 L. T. 145; 16 W. R. 80; 3 Mar. L. C. 3.

Annotation:—Refd. Czech v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1867), L. R. 3 C. P. 14.

2677. ——.]—Goods were loaded on a barge under a contract for carriage by which the barge owner was exempt from liability "for any loss of or damage to goods which can be covered by insurance." The barge was sunk owing to the negligence of the servants of the barge owner, & the goods were lost. In an action to recover damages for the loss of the goods:—Held: the exemption being in general terms not expressly relating to negligence, the barge owner was not exempt from liability for loss or damage caused by the negligence of his servants.—PRICE & CO. v. UNION LIGHTERAGE CO., [1904] 1 K. B. 412; 73 L. J. K. B. 222; 89 L. T. 731; 52 W. R. 325; 20 T. L. R. 177; 48 Sol. Jo. 207; 9 Com. Cas. 120, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. The Pearlmoor, [1904] P. 286. Apld. Nelson v. Nelson Line (Liverpool) (No. 2), [1907] 1 K. B. 769. Consd. Rosin & Turpentine Import Co. v. Jacob (1909), 101 L. T. 56; The Modena (1911), 27 T. L. R. 529; Pyman S.S. Co. v. Hull & Barnsley Ry., [1914] 2 K. B. 788; Travers v. Cooper, [1915] 1 K. B. 73; Forbes, Abbott & Lennard v. G. W. Ry. (1927), 44 T. L. R. 97. Refd. Denholm v. Shipping Controller (1920), 124 L. T. 378; Lebeaupin v. Crispin, [1920] 2 K. B. 714; Fagan v. Green & Edwards, [1926] 1 K. B. 102; Turner v. Civil Service Supply Assocn., [1926] 1 K. B. 50. Mentd. Rutter v. Palmer, [1922] 2 K. B. 87.

2678. ——.]—In an action by indorsees of bills of lading, for damage, through negligent stowage, to a cargo of grain, part of which had become heated during the voyage, & the remainder otherwise deteriorated, deft. shipowners relied on a series of exceptions, set out in numbered paragraphs, by which they were not to be responsible for (paragraph (a)) "loss, damage, or injury arising from sweating . . . decay . . . explosion, heat, fire at sea or on shore . . ."; nor for (paragraph (b)) "any loss or injury to the said goods, occurring from any of the causes above mentioned or for any loss or injury arising from the perils or accidents of the seas . . . whether any of the perils, causes, or things above mentioned or the loss or injury arising therefrom be occasioned by or from any act or omission, negligence, default, or error in judgment of . . . stevedores . . . or other persons in the service of the shipowners." They further relied on a marginal note, stamped on the bill of lading under which a large quantity of maize was carried, stating that "In no case is the steamship to be held liable for heating or any other damage accruing to the within-mentioned goods . . .":—Held: defts. were liable for, a shipowner must indicate by express words his intention to relieve himself from liability for the negligence of his servants, & the exemption of negligence in paragraph (b) could not be incorporated so as to refer to the matters excepted in paragraph (a) or in the marginal note; &, further, the words "sweating" & "decay" were inapplicable to cover the damage to the maize through improper stowage, whilst the collocation of the words showed that "heat" referred to heat arising from some extraneous cause, such as heat from the engine room.—THE PEARLMOOR, [1904] P. 286; 73 L. J. P. 50; 90 L. T. 319; 20 T. L. R. 199; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 540.

Annotation:—Refd. Travers v. Cooper, [1915] 1 K. B. 73.

2679. ——.]—Defts., who were lightermen, lightered certain goods for pltfs. upon the terms of the following clause: "The rates charged by B. are for conveyance only, & every reasonable precaution is taken for the safety of goods whilst in craft; they will not be liable for any loss or damage, including negligence, which can be covered by insurance, & the shipper in taking out the policy should effect same "without recourse to lighterman, as B. do not accept responsibility for insurable risks." The goods were damaged by the negligence of defts.:—Held: the clause was clear & unambiguous & protected defts. from liability for negligence.—ROSIN & TURPENTINE IMPORT CO. v. JACOB & SONS (1910), 102 L. T. 81; 26 T. L. R. 259; 54 Sol. Jo. 268; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 363; 15 Com. Cas. 111, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Ambatielos v. Anton Jurgens Margarine Works, [1922] 2 K. B. 185. Refd. Rutter v. Palmer, [1922] 2 K. B. 87.

2680. Duration of exception,.]—By a charter-party it was agreed that defts.' steam vessel should go to New Fairwater, & there load from the agents of pltfs. a cargo of sugar & proceed therewith to Greenock, defts. not to be responsible "for any act, neglect, or default whatsoever of their servants during the said voyage." The agents commenced loading the vessel with sugar belonging to pltfs., & during the loading the cargo was damaged by water through a valve in the engine room having been negligently left open by one of the engineers of the vessel:—Held: (1) the term "voyage" included the period of time during which the vessel was being loaded, & consequently the damage was within the exception & defts. were not liable.

Defts. counterclaimed for a general average contribution from pltfs.:—Held: (2) their right to contribution was not affected by the negligence of their servants, for which by the terms of the exception they were not responsible, & they were entitled to recover.—THE CARRON PARK (1890), 15 P. D. 203; 59 L. J. P. 74; 63 L. T. 356; 39 W. R. 191; 6 T. L. R. 474; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 543.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Rathbone v. MacIver, [1903] 2 K. B. 378. Refd. De Clermont & Donner v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1891), 7 T. L. R. 187; The Glenochil, [1896] P. 10. As to (2) Apprvd. Milburn v. Jamaica Fruit & Trading Co. of London, [1900] 2 Q. B. 540. Consd. Greenshields, Cowie v. Stephens, [1908] 1 K. B. 51. Refd. The Mary Thomas, [1894] P. 108.

2681. ——.]—THE ACCOMAC, No. 2700, post.

2682. ——.]—The mate's receipt for pltfs.' goods shipped on defts.' steamship was endorsed "Received subject to the conditions contained in bill of lading to be issued for the same." Before the bill of lading had been exchanged for the mate's receipt pltfs.' goods were lost from causes against which the shipowners were protected by exceptions in the bill of lading. Pltfs. sought to recover for the loss of their goods on the ground that they were led to believe by defts.' conduct that the bills of lading referred to in the mate's receipt were in a different form without the exceptions which exempted the shipowners from liability for the loss:—Held: this case was not made out & pltfs. could, with ordinary & reasonable care, have informed themselves of the terms of the bills of lading.

The exception is intended to protect defts. as from the commencement of the time at which but for the exception they would have become liable, viz. from the time of receipt of the goods on board & not merely from the time of sailing (WRIGHT, J.).—DE CLERMONT & DONNER v. GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1891), 7 T. L. R. 187.

2683. ——.]—Goods were shipped under a bill of lading incorporating the Act of Congress known as "the Harter Act," by which the owner of the vessel is not to be "held responsible for damage or loss resulting from faults or errors in navigation or in the management of" the vessel. After the arrival of the vessel at her port of destination, & during the discharge of the cargo, it became necessary to stiffen the ship. For this purpose the engineer ran water into a ballast tank, but negligently omitted first to ascertain the condition of the sounding pipe & casing, which had, owing to heavy weather during the voyage, become broken. The owner of the goods damaged by the water getting to the cargo, sought to render the shipowner liable:—Held: the shipowner was exempt from liability, as the damage resulted from a fault in the "management" of the vessel, & the operation of the exception as to "management" was not limited to the period during which the vessel was at sea, but extended to the period during which the cargo was being discharged.—THE GLENOCHIL, [1896] P. 10; 65 L. J. P. 1; 73 L. T. 416; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 218.

Annotations:—Apld. The Rodney, [1900] P. 112; Rowson v. Atlantic Transport Co., [1903] 2 K. B. 666. Consd. Brown v. Harrison (1927), 96 L. J. K. B. 1025.

2684. ——.]—Pltfs. delivered three hundred & twelve baskets of plums to be carried by defts. from Hamburg to London under a bill of lading by which they were "to be delivered subject to the exceptions & conditions hereinafter mentioned . . . at the port of London unto the order of defts. to be forwarded . . . for delivery to M. . . . subject to all clauses & conditions in the bill of lading." By clause 1 of the exceptions defts. were exempted from liability for "all . . . loss . . . from any act, neglect, or default whatsoever of the . . . crew, stevedores, servants, or agents of the owners in the . . . discharging or navigation of the ship . . . or otherwise." When the ship arrived at the wharf at London only ninety-nine baskets were delivered to the carman of M., who had come to the wharf for them. The jury found that all the three hundred & twelve baskets were discharged out of the ship on to the wharf, but that two hundred & thirteen of these baskets were delivered to the wrong people by the fault of those who had the control of the goods at the wharf:—Held: the baskets were lost through an "act, neglect, or default of the agents" of defts., & the latter were therefore protected by the exception in the bill of lading.—SMACKMAN v. GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1908), 98 L. T. 396; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 14; 13 Com. Cas. 196, D. C.

Annotation:—Distd. Buerger v. Cunard S.S. Co., [1925] 2 K. B. 646.

2685. Parties within exception—Damage partly caused by negligence of stranger.]—THE ACCOMAC, No. 2700, post.

2686. Scope of exception—Damage caused by recklessness.]—Goods were shipped under a contract which contained exceptions of liability for damage or loss, whether on shore, or ship, lighter, or hulk, arising from negligence, barratry, or error of judgment of the master, mariners, engineers, or any other persons in the employment of the shipowner. In the margin of the contract the words, "Carried entirely at merchant's risk," were written. The goods were damaged through the reckless conduct of the stevedores, who were employed by the shipowner, in discharging the goods into lighters:—Held: the words "at merchant's risk" did not cut down the special exceptions; damage caused by recklessness, which was an error of judgment or negligence of a bad kind, came within the exceptions; & therefore the shipowner was not liable.

There was substantial damage done in the mode in which the packages were delivered into the lighters. They were delivered in a careless manner. [But] the exception as to barratry did not apply (CHANNELL, J.).—BRISCOE & Co. v. POWELL & Co. (1905), 22 T. L. R. 128.

2687. —— Effect of words "at merchant's risk."]—BRISCOE & Co. v. POWELL & Co., No. 2686, ante.

2688. Goods carried by railway company—Application of Railway Clauses Act, 1863 (c. 92), & Railway & Canal Traffic Act, 1854 (c. 31)—Clause void for unreasonableness.]—By Railways Clauses Act, 1863 (c. 92), s. 31, the provisions of Railway & Canal Traffic Act, 1854 (c. 31), are extended to the steam vessels of the railway co., & to the traffic carried on thereby. Therefore a railway co., whose private Act incorporates Railways Clauses Act, 1863 (c. 92), is not protected by a condition in a bill of lading in respect of goods carried by them by sea only that they shall not be liable for the negligence of the master or mariners navigating their steam vessels, as such a condition is not reasonable.—JENKINS v. GREAT CENTRAL RY. Co., [1912] 1 K. B. 1; 81 L. J. K. B. 24; 106 L. T. 565; 28 T. L. R. 61; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 154; 17 Com. Cas. 32; subsequent proceedings, cited in Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XXVI., p. 614, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Western Electric Co. v. G. E. Ry., [1913] 3 K. B. 15.

Effect of personal negligence of shipowner.]—See Sub-sect. 14, B., post.

Effect of unseaworthiness of ship.]—See Sub-sect. 14, C., post.

Construction of negligence clauses.] — See Sub-sect. 14, D., post.

B. Personal Negligence of Shipowner.

See Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV. (q).

2689. Exception does not apply.] — ANGLO-ARGENTINE LIVE STOCK & PRODUCE AGENCY,

---

2686 i. Scope of exception—Damage caused by recklessness.]—TOUGH v. AUSTRALASIAN STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1870), 2 Q. S. C. R. 75.—AUS.

2686 ii. —— ——.]—JELLICOE v. BRITISH INDIA STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1884), I. L. R. 10 Calc. 489.—IND.

2686 iii. —— ——.]—WOOD & Co. v. BURNS (1893), 20 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 602; 30 Sc. L. R. 561.—SCOT.

o. Shipper bound — Where negligence excepted.]—Whether provision in bills of lading as to excluding the liability of shipowners for damage done to articles of special value or for any negligence of their servants are reasonable or not, a consignee accepting such a bill of lading is bound by them, & cannot recover for damage caused by the negligence of the shipowners' servants.—BROOKS, ROBINSON & Co. v. HOWARD SMITH & SONS (1890), 16 V. L. R. 245.—AUS.

p. Validity of exception—Contrary to statute.] — INDIA GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. v. JOYKRISTO SHAHA (1889), I. L. R. 17 Calc. 39.—IND.

q. —— ——.]—A railway co. contracted to carry goods "through" partly by railway, & partly by sea, & to an action for loss & injury to the goods, pleaded a special condition exempting the defts. from liability in respect of the negligence of the captain & crew of a steamer (the property of & worked by a steam-packet co. who had made arrangements with defts. for through booking) which was lost through the negligence of either the captain or crew:—Held: through the operation of 31 & 32 Vict. c. 119, s. 16, & 34 & 35 Vict. c. 78, s. 12, the Railway & Canal Traffic Act, 1854, applied, & the condition, being unreasonable, was null & void.—MOORE v. MIDLAND RY. (1875), I. R. 9 C. L. 20.—IR.

r. —— ——.]—The effect of Mercantile Law Act, 1880, ss. 25-27, is to make common carriers by sea in New Zealand subject to the same rules which govern carriers by land in England. Therefore a condition in the contract of affreightment purporting to except the carrier from responsibility for the negligence of his servant is, primâ facie, unjust & unreasonable; & it is not enough to show that it is usual to insert such a condition, & that it has been acquiesced in by the shipper.—STAPLES v. JOSEPH (1888), 6 N. Z. L. R. 236.—N.Z.

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sect. 14, B. & C.]

LTD. v. WESTALL (circa 1890), cited [1904] A. C. at p. 255, H. L.

Annotation:—Refd. The City of Lincoln v. Smith, [1904] A. C. 250.

2690. ——.]—Unless the conditions of a charter-party relieve the owner as distinct from his servants & agents from the consequences of personal negligence, he is liable if his ship. in other respects seaworthy, is rendered unseaworthy in being so laden under his orders as to become topheavy at starting, with the result that her deck cargo was partly jettisoned & partly swept overboard in a gale which otherwise could have been weathered in safety.—THE CITY OF LINCOLN (MASTER & OWNERS) v. SMITH, [1904] A. C. 250; 73 L. J. P. C. 45; 91 L. T. 206; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 586, P. C.

2691. —— Failure to order special precautions.]—A ship of the "turret" type was chartered for a voyage from New York to China under a charter-party which incorporated the Harter Act of the United States. That Act provided that if the owners exercised due diligence to make the vessel in all respects seaworthy & properly manned they should not be held responsible for loss resulting from faults or errors in navigation or in the management of the ship. The charterers shipped a cargo under bills of lading which incorporated the Harter Act & also contained a clause exempting the owners from loss occasioned by "accidents of navigation of whatsoever kind even when occasioned by the negligence, default, or error in judgment of the . . . master . . . not resulting, however, in any case from want of due diligence by the owners of the ship."

Shortly after leaving New York the master ordered two water tanks to be emptied, with the result that the ship capsized & sank. Nine years previously, after the loss of a sister ship by capsizing, the builders had sent to the owners a series of instructions for loading the ship, including an instruction that when she was loaded with a homogeneous cargo, as on the voyage in question, the water ballast tanks were to be filled. The owners had never communicated these instructions to the master, who was a competent seaman with long experience of turret ships:—Held: (1) the ship was inherently unseaworthy in certain not improbable conditions unless special precautions were taken, which it was the duty of the owners to enjoin as being required by the structure of their ship, & the owners were therefore liable for the loss of the cargo; (2) the owners were not entitled to the limitation of liability prescribed by 1844 Act, s. 503, as they had failed to prove that the loss occurred without their actual fault or privity.—STANDARD OIL CO. OF NEW YORK v. CLAN LINE STEAMERS, LTD., [1924] A. C. 100; 93 L. J. P. C. 49; 130 L. T. 481; 40 T. L. R. 148; 68 Sol. Jo. 234; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 273; 29 Com. Cas. 75, H. L.

Annotation:—Generally, Refd. Rio Tinto Co. v. Seed Shipping Co. (1926), 134 L. T. 764.

2692. —— Master also part owner—Negligence as master only.]—A bill of lading was signed by deft., who was master & part owner of the ship, on behalf of himself & his co-owners. It contained an exception in respect of "the neglect & default of master in navigating the ship." The cargo was lost by the stranding of the ship through the negligence, but not the wilful negligence, of deft. ' In an action by the owners & shippers of the cargo:—Held: the negligence which caused the loss was that of deft. exclusively as master & not as part owner, & was within the exception.—WESTPORT COAL CO. v. MCPHAIL, [1898] 2 Q. B. 130; 67 L. J. Q. B. 674; 78 L. T. 490; 46 W. R. 566; 14 T. L. R. 388; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 378; 3 Com. Cas. 140, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. The Dimitrios Rallias (1922), 128 L. T. 491; Samuel v. Dumas, Graham Joint Stock Shipping Co. v. Merchants Marine Insce. (No. 2), [1923] 1 K. B. 592.

C. Seaworthiness of Ship.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 1.

Seaworthiness, generally, see Sect. 6, sub-sect. 1, post.

2693. Effect of unseaworthiness—Exception does not apply.]—Where special clauses in a bill of lading exonerate the shipowner from the liability of even the perils induced by the negligence of his servants, it is necessary that the jury should find whether the vessel was or was not seaworthy when starting on the voyage.

A cargo of wheat was shipped at the port of New York for conveyance to Glasgow, & a specially worded bill of lading contained clauses excepting "peril of the seas of whatever nature or kind soever & howsoever caused," including negligence of the crew. On the voyage the sea burst through an insufficiently fastened port hole, damaging the cargo. A jury found by special verdict that this port hole had been insufficiently fastened, but did not find whether this happened before starting on the voyage:—Held: there was an implied engagement to supply a seaworthy ship.

Whether the ship was seaworthy was a question of fact which lay at the very root of this case; but no answer to this question was found in the special verdict; therefore there is no finding on which the judgment can be entered either way.

A shipowner who accepts goods, which he is to deliver in good condition, impliedly contracts to perform the voyage in a ship which is seaworthy.

All the perils which are excepted are perils subsequent to the loading of the wheat on board.

This is a contract which not merely engages the shipowner to deliver the goods in the condition mentioned, but that it also contains in it a representation & an engagement, a contract, by the shipowner that the ship on which the wheat is placed is at the time of its departure reasonably fit for accomplishing the service which the shipowner engages to perform. . . . By "seaworthy" I do not desire to point to any technical meaning

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 14.—C.

2693 i. Effect of unseaworthiness—Exception does not apply.]—The following condition in a bill of lading, viz.: "The steamer not to be responsible for loss of or damage to any parcel or package exceeding the sum of two pounds (£2) sterling in value unless booked as of more than that value & paid for 'accordingly,'" does not protect the carriers from liability occasioned (1) by their gross & wilful default; (2) by the negligence of their servants in transhipment; (3) or by the unseaworthiness of the barge into which the goods were transhipped.—LEA v. HOWARD SMITH & SONS (1883), 1 Q. L. J. 157.—AUS.

2693 ii. —— ——.]—Whatever risks may be excepted in a bill of lading are always subject to an implied engagement that the vessel shall be seaworthy.—PEYTON, DOWLING & CO. v. HOULDER BROTHERS (1890), 16 V. L. R. 812.—AUS.

2693 iii. —— ——.]—CONNOLLY v. GRENIER, CONNOLLY v. MARTEL (1909), 42 S. C. R. 242.—CAN.

2693 iv. —— ——.]—VITHULDAS GOBER v. BOMBAY & PERSIA STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1895), I. L. R. 19 Bom. 639.—IND.

2693 v. —— ——.]—A charterparty of a steamship freed the owners from liability through "the act of God, the Queen's enemies, fire, & all & every other dangers & accidents of the seas, rivers, & for errors or negligence of navigation, of whatsoever nature & kind, during said voyage." The vessel was lost in consequence of the breakdown of her boiler through the presence of muddy water in it. In an action by the charterers against the shipowners for damages on account of the term, but to express that the ship should be in a condition to encounter whatever perils of the sea a ship of that kind, & laden in that way, may be fairly expected to encounter (LORD CAIRNS, C.).

Where there is a contract to carry goods in a ship whether that contract is in the shape of a bill of lading, or any other form, there is a duty on the part of the person who furnishes or supplies that ship, or that ship's room, unless something be stipulated which should prevent it that the ship shall be fit for its purpose (LORD BLACKBURN).—STEEL v. STATE LINE S.S. Co. (1877), 3 App. Cas. 72; 37 L. T. 333; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 516, H. L.

Annotations:—Apld. The Marathon (1879), 40 L. T. 163; The United Service (1883), 8 P. D. 56; Tattersall v. National S.S. Co. (1884), 12 Q. B. D. 297; The Glenfruin (1885), 10 P. D. 103. Distd. The Laertes (1887), 12 P. D. 187. Apld. Gilroy v. Price, [1893] A. C. 56. Consd. Hedley v. Pinkney S.S. Co., [1894] A. C. 222; Dobell v. S.S. Rossmore Co., [1895] 2 Q. B. 408. Apld. The Maori King v. Hughes, [1895] 2 Q. B. 550; Queensland & National Bank v. Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Co. (1898), 67 L. J. Q. B. 402. Consd. Rathbone v. MacIver, [1903] 2 K. B. 378; The Schwan, [1909] A. C. 450; Kish v. Taylor, [1912] A. C. 604; The Christel Vinnen, [1924] P. 61; Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522. Refd. Hyman v. Nve (1881), 6 Q. B. D. 685; The Undaunted (1886), 55 L. J. P. 24; Hamilton, Fraser v. Pandorf (1887), 12 App. Cas. 518; The Carron Park (1890), 15 P. D. 203; The Vortigern, [1899] P. 140; Morris & Morris v. Oceanic Steam Navigation Co. (1900), 16 T. L. R. 533; Ajum Goolam Hossen v. Union Marine Insce., Hajee Cassim Joosub v. Ajum Goolam Hossen, [1901] A. C. 362; Rowson v. Atlantic Transport Co. (1902), 72 L. J. K. B. 87; Upperton v. Union-Castle Mail S.S. Co. (1903), 89 L. T. 289; The Northumbria (1906), 95 L. T. 618; Nelson v. Nelson Line (Liverpool) (1907), 96 L. T. 402; The Europa, [1908] P. 84; The West Cock, [1911] P. 208; Virginia Carolina Chemical Co. v. Norfolk & North Americans S.S. Co., [1912] 1 K. B. 229; Ingram & Royle v. Services Maritimes du Treport (1913), 109 L. T. 733; Liebigs Extract of Meat Co. v. Mersey Docks & Harbour Board & Nelson, [1918] 2 K. B. 381.

2694. —— ——.]—GILROY SONS & CO. v. PRICE & Co., No. 3121, post.

2695. —— ——.]—RATHBONE BROTHERS & CO. v. MACIVER (D.) SONS & CO., No. 2794, post.

2696. —— ——.]—VIRGINIA CAROLINA CHEMICAL CO. v. NORFOLK & NORTH AMERICAN STEAM SHIPPING CO., No. 2614, ante.

2697. —— —— Express provision for due diligence—Necessity for due diligence by servants of shipowner.]—Goods were shipped under a bill of lading which incorporated by reference an Act of Congress by which, if the owner of a ship shall exercise due diligence to make the vessel in all respects seaworthy, & properly manned, equipped, & supplied, neither the vessel, her owner, agent nor charterers shall become liable or be held responsible for damage or loss resulting from faults or errors in navigation or in the management of the vessel. The owner of a vessel supplied proper equipment & appointed a competent ship's carpenter, but by the negligence of the carpenter the ship was allowed to go to sea in an unseaworthy condition, by reason whereof a part of the cargo was damaged during the voyage. In an action by the owner of the damaged goods against the shipowner:—Held: to exempt the shipowner from liability it was not sufficient merely to show that he had personally exercised due diligence to make the vessel seaworthy, but it must be shown that those persons whom he employed to act for him in this respect had exercised due diligence; & therefore the negligence of the ship's carpenter prevented the exemption from applying, & the shipowner was liable.—DOBELL & Co. v. S.S. ROSSMORE Co., [1895] 2 Q. B. 408; 64 L. J. Q. B. 777; 73 L. T. 74; 44 W. R. 37; 11 T. L. R. 501; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 33; 14 R. 558, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. The Glenochil, [1896] P. 10; Rowson v. Atlantic Transport Co., [1903] 2 K. B. 666; McFadden v. Blue Star Line, [1905] 1 K. B. 697; Hordern v. Commonwealth & Dominion Line, [1917] 2 K. B. 420; The Dimitrios Rallias (1922), 128 L. T. 491; Angliss (Australia) Proprietary v. Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Co., [1927] 2 K. B. 456.

2698. —— —— ——.]—By the terms of a bill of lading the owners of a vessel undertook to obtain the certificate of Lloyd's surveyor at United Kingdom, Montevideo, that the machinery, insulated spaces, etc., had been properly inspected by him, & were in a fit & proper condition for the carriage of a cargo of frozen meat. Such certificate to be accepted by the shippers as conclusive evidence that the machinery, insulated spaces, & appurtenances were at the time of shipment in fit & proper condition, & seaworthy for the voyage, & as full & complete fulfilment by the owners or charterers of any duty, warranty or obligation they might be under in relation to or in respect of the machinery, insulated spaces or appurtenances. The bill of lading also provided that "the owners or charterers are not to be responsible for any breakdown if machinery during the voyage even when occasioned by any act, neglect, default or error in judgment of any of the servants of shipowners," & were also exempted from liability for any damage occasioned by "the act of God . . . sweating, evaporation or decay, resulting from bad stowage or otherwise . . . insufficient ventilation; or heat of holds, . . . perils of the seas, rivers, or navigation of whatsoever nature or kind, & however caused; whether or not any of the perils, causes or things above mentioned, or the loss or injury arising therefrom be occasioned by or arise from any act of omission, negligence, default or error in judgment of the master, pilot, . . . engineers refrigerating or otherwise . . . or other persons whomsoever . . . whether such act, omission, negligence, default or error in judgment shall have occurred before or after the commencement of or during the voyage; or any other cause beyond the control of the owners or charterers &/or by or from any accidents or defects, latent or otherwise, in hull, tackle, boilers, or machinery, refrigerating or otherwise, or from unseaworthiness . . . provided reasonable means have been taken to provide against such defects & unseaworthiness." The ship loaded two parcels of frozen meat, one at Rio Seco & the other at Montevideo. In an action against the shipowners for damage done to the cargo, the jury found that the ship was unseaworthy in respect of its refrigerating apparatus at the commencement of the voyage; that the damage was caused by this unseaworthiness; & that the unseaworthiness was due to the neglect by the ship's agents at Durban & the chief refrigerating engineer:—Held: the owners could not avail themselves of the exceptions in the bill of lading as they had not taken reasonable means to provide against unseaworthiness.—SOUTH AMERICAN EXPORT SYNDICATE, LTD. v. FEDERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1909), 100 L. T. 270; 25 T. L. R. 272; 53 Sol. Jo. 270; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 195; 14 Com. Cas. 228.

---

of the loss of the cargo:—Held: (1) it was proved that the muddy water had been put in the boiler before the commencement of the voyage; (2) the presence of muddy water in the boiler when the ship started rendered her unseaworthy; & consequently (3) the clause of exemption in the charter-party did not apply.—SEVILLE SULPHUR & COPPER CO. v. COLVILS, LOWDEN & Co. (1888), 15 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 616; 25 Sc. L. R. 437.—SCOT.

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sect. 14, D.]

D. Construction of Negligence Clauses.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 2 (a).

2699. Negligence in navigation — Improper stowage.]—Bags of sugar shipped by pltfs. were carried in defts.' steamship from H. to L. at an agreed freight. The vessel was chartered for the voyage by P. & K., who signed the bill of lading as agents. It contained a clause that the owners of the ship should not be liable for the default of the pilot, master, or mariners in navigating the ship, & a further clause that the captain, officers, & crew in the transmission of the goods should be considered the servants of the shipper, owner or consignee. The sugar was negligently stowed under oxide of zinc, & was consequently damaged. It did not appear how the sugar came to be shipped nor with whom pltfs. made the contract of carriage:—Held: defts. were liable to compensate pltfs. for the damage done to the sugar; for either defts. had contracted to carry the sugar upon the terms set out in the bill of lading, which did not relieve them from responsibility for negligent stowage; or if they had not contracted with pltfs., they were liable for misfeasance, that is, for stowing the goods in such a manner as to come into contact with a mischievous substance.

If there was a contract between them, it is the one contained in or evidences by the bill of lading (BRAMWELL, L.J.).—HAYN v. CULLIFORD (1879), 4 C. P. D. 182; 48 L. J. Q. B. 372; 40 L. T. 536; 27 W. R. 541; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 128, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. Norman v. Binnington (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 475. Apld. The Ferro, [1893] P. 38. Distd. Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522. Refd. Baumvoll Manufactur Von Carl Scheibler v. Furness, [1893] A. C. 8; Dunn v. Bucknall, Dunn v. Donald Currie, [1902] 2 K. B. 614; Standard Oil Co. of New York v. Clan Line Steamers, [1924] A. C. 100. Mentd. Foulkes v. Met. Dist. Ry. (1880), 49 L. J. Q. B. 361; Meux v. G. E. Ry., [1895] 2 Q. B. 387.

2700. —— Removal of bilge pump while in dock.]—By charterparty it was agreed that defts.' vessel should carry a cargo of rice for pltfs. to London. The charterparty excepted defts. from liability "for any act, negligence, or default of master or crew in the navigation of the ship in the ordinary course of the voyage." The vessel, on her arrival in London, went into the Victoria Dock to discharge her cargo. While this was being done, the cargo was damaged by water which got into the vessel through negligence in the removal of a bilge-pump:—Held: assuming that the negligence which caused the damage was negligence on the part of the crew, it was not "negligence in the navigation of the ship in the ordinary course of the voyage" within the exception, & defts. were liable.—THE ACCOMAC (1890), 15 P. D. 208; 59 L. J. P. 91; 63 L. T. 737; 39 W. R. 133; 6 T. L. R. 482; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 579, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. The Glenochil, [1896] P. 10. Refd. De Clermont & Donner v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1891), 7 T. L. R. 187.

——.]—Compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., p. 439, Nos. 3396–3398.

2701. —— "Or otherwise"—Not construed ejusdem generis.]—BAERSELMAN v. BAILEY, No. 2703, post.

2702. —— —— Improper stowage.]—NORMAN v. BINNINGTON, No. 1678, ante.

2703. —— —— ——.]—A bill of lading contained, among other exemptions, one by which the shipowner was not to be liable for "any act, negligence, default, or error in judgment of the pilot, master, mariners, or other servants of the shipowner in navigating the ship or otherwise." A part of the cargo was damaged by being negligently stowed by a stevedore employed by the shipowner. In an action by the owner of the cargo so damaged:—Held: the shipowner was not liable for the words "or otherwise" in the bill of lading were general, & did not limit the exemption to loss or damage arising from negligence in matters akin to navigation or to loss or damage arising from negligence in relation to the other excepted perils of the bill of lading.—BAERSELMAN v. BAILEY, [1895] 2 Q. B. 301; 64 L. J. Q. B. 707; 72 L. T. 677; 43 W. R. 593; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 4; 14 R. 481, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. The Torbryan (1903), 9 Com. Cas. 1; S.S. Knutsford v. Tillmanns (1908), 99 L. T. 399.

2704. —— —— Loss of animal on board.]—A dog was shipped under a bill of lading which excepted the shipowner from liability for loss or damage arising from any act, neglect, or default of the master, officers, crew, or any servant of the shipowner "in providing, dispatching, & navigating the vessel or otherwise." The dog was lost on the voyage owing to the negligence of the shipowner's servants in letting it loose:—Held: the words "or otherwise" protected the shipowner from liability.—PACKWOOD v. UNION-CASTLE MAIL S.S. Co., LTD. (1903), 20 T. L. R. 59.

2705. —— —— Damage to cargo by stevedores.]—Sugar in bags was shipped under a charterparty excepting the shipowner from liability for loss or damage arising from the usual perils "& all other accidents even though caused by negligence, fault or error of judgment on the part of the pilot, captain, sailors or other servants of the owner in the management or navigation of vessel or otherwise."

In the process of discharge stevedore's men, employed by the ship, recklessly used hooks which tore the bags, & carelessly allowed the bags to be cut by the slings & to burst through striking against the hatch-coamings whilst being lifted out of the hold. In an action by the charterer for damage to & short delivery of the sugar:—Held: the shipowner was not liable, as the loss was covered by the exception "accidents . . . caused by negligence . . . of the servants of the owner" "otherwise" than "in the management or navigation of the vessel."—THE TORBRYAN, [1903] P. 194; 72 L. J. P. 76; 89 L. T. 265; 52 W. R. 40; 19 T. L. R. 625; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 450; 9 Com. Cas. 1, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Briscoe v. Powell (1905), 22 T. L. R. 128. Consd. Denholme v. Shipping Controller (1920), 124 L. T. 378. Refd. Mudie v. Strick (1909), 100 L. T. 701; Leyland Shipping Co. v. Norwich Union Fire Insce. Soc., [1917] 1 K. B. 873; Samuel v. Dumas, Graham Joint Stock Shipping Co. v. Merchants Marine Insce. (No. 2), [1923] 1 K. B. 592.

2706. Negligence causing damage by "perils of the sea & other accidents of navigation"—Failure to stop leak.]—A cargo of wheat was shipped by charterers on board defts.' vessel, under a charterparty & bill of lading both of which excepted ". . . perils of the sea . . . & other accidents of navigation, even when occasioned by the negligence . . . of the . . . master."

The charterparty, referred to in the bill of lading under the words, "all other conditions as per charterparty," contained the condition, "Vessel to be properly stowed & dunnaged, & certificate thereof, & of good general condition, draft of water & ventilation, to be furnished to charterers

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 14.—D.

t. Construction of negligence & gross negligence.]—SOUTHCOTT v. MONTREAL S.S. Co. (1881), 6 Nfld. L. R. 273.—NFLD.

from W., surveyor." Under this condition a certificate was furnished by the surveyor which did not specially mention dunnage, but stated that the vessel " is entitled to full confidence, can carry a dry & perishable cargo, & is a good risk for underwriters."

During the voyage, in consequence of heavy weather, a rivet in the foot of a bulwark stanchion worked loose, &, through the leak thereby occasioned, the cargo was damaged by sea water. After the weather improved, the master negligently omitted to take sufficient steps to stop the leak, & the cargo was further damaged by sea water. Owing to the dunnage of the waterways in the 'tween decks being insufficient to allow the water coming from the leak to escape to the bilges, the cargo in the lower hold was still further damaged by sea water. In an action for damage to cargo, brought by the pltf., who had purchased the cargo in transit, against the shipowner:—Held: (1) the shipowner was not liable either for the original source of damage to the cargo, or for the damage arising from the continuance of the leakage not being prevented; for, the inflow of water being a peril of the sea & an accident of navigation, the negligence of the master in respect of it was covered by the exception in the bill of lading; (2) the shipowner was liable for the additional damage caused by the dunnage being insufficient, as the certificate of the surveyors was not conclusive.—THE CRESSINGTON, [1891] P. 152; 60 L. J. P. 25; 64 L. T. 329; 7 T. L. R. 208; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 27, D. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The Torbryan (1903), 9 Com. Cas. 1; The Dimitrios Kallias (1922), 128 L. T. 491.

2707. —— Opening valve.]—Goods were shipped under a bill of lading which excepted loss or damage arising from perils of the seas or navigation, whether arising from the negligence, default, or error in judgment of the engineers or otherwise howsoever. When the ship was off the port of discharge the engineer, intending to fill the ballast tank with water for boiler use whilst discharging, opened the sea cock, & then by mistake opened the valve of the tank in which the goods were being carried instead of the valve of the ballast tank, & the goods were damaged by sea water:—Held: the damage was caused by a peril of the seas arising from negligence of the engineer, within the exception, & the shipowner was not liable.—BLACKBURN v. LIVERPOOL, BRAZIL & RIVER PLATE STEAM NAVIGATION CO., [1902] 1 K. B. 290; 71 L. J. K. B. 177; 85 L. T. 783; 50 W. R. 272; 18 T. L. R. 121; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 263; 7 Com. Cas. 10.

Annotation:—Refd. The Torbryan (1903), 9 Com. Cas. 1.

2708. —— —— Improper opening of valves expressly excluded from exception.]—Under a charterparty pltfs. became the charterers of a steamship of which defts. were owners. By the charterparty the steamship was to proceed to Sulina & there load a cargo of grain &, being so loaded, was to proceed to a port in the United Kingdom or Continent, which in the event was Belfast, with a cargo of grain. The charterparty & bill of lading, of which pltfs. were indorsees, for the cargo contained the following exceptions: " The act of God, perils, dangers, & accidents of the sea or other waters of what nature & kind soever; . . . & all other accidents of navigation, & all losses & damages caused thereby are excepted, even when occasioned by negligence, default or error in judgment of the pilot, master, mariners, or other servants of the shipowners, but unless stranded, sunk or burnt nothing herein contained shall exempt the shipowner from liability to pay for damage to cargo occasioned by . . . improper opening of valves . . ." The vessel accordingly went to Sulina & proceeded to load a cargo of maize. When the loading of the vessel had proceeded so far that the circulating pump discharge valve became submerged, the engineers negligently omitted to close the discharge valve. They also negligently omitted to close the condenser doors, which had been opened for the purpose of draining the pipes. The consequence was that there was an incursion of water through the open valve & condenser doors into the engine room & thence into the holds, whereby the cargo was damaged:—Held: defts. were not protected by the exceptions from liability for the damage so caused, inasmuch as the words " improper opening of valves " must be construed as including the case of improperly leaving the valves open.—MENDL & CO. v. ROPNER & CO., [1913] 1 K. B. 27; 82 L. J. K. B. 75; 29 T. L. R. 37; 57 Sol. Jo. 130; 18 Com. Cas. 29; sub nom. MERAL & CO. v. ROPNER & CO., 107 L. T. 699; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 268.

2709. —— —— —— " Unless stranded, sunk or burnt."]—By charterparty & bill of lading defts. were exempted from liability for damage to pltf.'s cargo arising from " . . . perils, dangers, & accidents of the sea or other waters of what nature & kind soever; . . . strandings . . . & all other accidents of navigation, & all losses & damages caused thereby . . . even when occasioned by negligence, default, or error in judgment of the pilot, master, mariners, or other servants of the shipowners, but unless stranded, sunk or burnt nothing herein contained shall exempt the shipowner from liability to pay for damage, to cargo occasioned by . . . improper opening of valves, sluices, & ports, or by causes other than those above excepted. . . ." Whilst defts.' steamship was lying at her moorings, loading pltfs.' cargo of grain, under the above charterparty & bill of lading, the circulating pump delivery valve in the side of the ship was reasonably & properly opened by defts.' engineer, but was negligently & improperly left open, whereby a quantity of sea water entered the ship & damaged pltfs.' cargo. To prevent the vessel foundering at her moorings, where the water was deep, the master had her towed into shallower water, where she settled on the ground, & the water was subsequently pumped out. For the loss so sustained pltfs. sued defts.:—Held: (1) defts. were not liable as the negligence clause applied to " dangers & accidents of the sea or other waters, ' as well as to " accidents of navigation," & the words " unless stranded, sunk or burnt," constituted a condition preventing liability attaching to the shipowner for the damage occasioned by the valve being improperly open.

(2) Semble: defts. were also protected because the damage resulting from the incursion of water into the ship—caused by the use of the valve, whilst she had cargo in her, though she was still at her moorings & not in motion was an " accident of navigation " within the exception in the first part of the clause in question.—THE SOUTHGATE, [1893] P. 329.

Annotations:—As to (2) Refd. McFadden v. Blue Star Line (1905), 74 L. J. K. B. 423; The Glenochil, [1896] P. 10.

2710. Error in management—Incorporation of Harter Act—Failure to ascertain condition of sounding pipe.]—THE GLENOCHIL, No. 2683, ante.

2711. —— —— Injury to drainage pipe leading through cargo.]—Cargo was shipped at a port in the United States under a bill of lading incorporating the Act of Congress known as " the Harter Act," by which the owner of the vessel is not to be " held responsible for damage or loss resulting from faults or errors in navigation or in the management of the vessel."

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sect. 14, D.]

During the voyage the vessel met with heavy weather, &, the forecastle becoming flooded, the boatswain, whilst endeavouring, with the aid of a poker, to clear a pipe used to carry off the drainage, drove a hole through it, thereby admitting water into the forehold, & damaging a portion of the cargo. The owner of the cargo sought to render the shipowner liable:—Held: the shipowner was exempt from liability, as the damage resulted from a fault in the "management" of the vessel, the act having been done for the purpose of rendering the forecastle habitable, that is, with the object of rendering the ship proper for the purpose for which she was intended.—THE RODNEY, [1900] P. 112; 69 L. J. P. 29; 82 L. T. 27; 48 W. R. 527; 16 T. L. R. 183; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 39, D. C.

Annotations:—Consd. Rowson v. Atlantic Transport Co., [1903] 2 K. B. 666. Apld. Brown v. Harrison (1927), 96 L. J. K. B. 1025.

2712. —— —— Defective refrigerating apparatus.]—Butter was shipped on board defts.' steamship at New York for carriage to London under bills of lading which incorporated the Act of Congress known as the "Harter Act" by s. 3 of which it is provided that, subject to the conditions therein named, the owner of the ship shall not be "held responsible for damage or loss resulting from faults or errors . . . in the management of said vessel." The butter was carried in four out of six insulated chambers forming part of refrigerating apparatus bolted to the ship & connected with her engines, the other two chambers being used for the ship's provisions during the voyage. The butter was delivered in London in a damaged condition, resulting from the negligence of one of the ship's engineers in the management of the refrigerating apparatus, whereby in the course of the voyage the temperature of the chambers was allowed to rise too high:—Held: upon the facts, & especially as the refrigerating apparatus was used for the ship's provisions & not exclusively for the butter, the apparatus must be regarded as being part of the ship & therefore the mismanagement of the apparatus was mismanagement of the ship, so that the neglect to keep the chambers sufficiently cooled during the voyage was a fault or error "in the mangement of vessel" within the meaning of the bills of lading, & defts. were consequently excused.—ROWSON v. ATLANTIC TRANSPORT CO., [1903] 2 K. B. 666; 72 L. J. K. B. 811; 89 L. T. 204; 52 W. R. 85; 19 T. L. R. 668; 47 Sol. Jo. 738; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 458; 9 Com. Cas. 33, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Brown v. Harrison (1927), 96 L. J. K. B. 1025. Consd. Gosse Millard v. Canadian Government Merchant Marine, American Can Co. v. Same, [1927] 2 K. B. 432.

2713. —— —— Failure to check marks on cargo.]—Pltfs., who were the owners of the steamship Foxton Hall, chartered her to defts. to proceed to Galveston to load a full & complete cargo for a European port as ordered. By the charterparty, which provided that the shipment was to be subject to the provisions of the Harter Act, & that bills of lading were to be issued in conformity with that Act, the charterers were to load, stow & trim the cargo at their own expense, under the direction of the master, & the captain was to sign bills of lading as presented, without prejudice to the charterparty, any difference between the amount of freight by the bills of lading & the charterparty to be paid at port of loading before sailing. The cargo to be loaded on the Foxton Hall consisted mainly of 7,797 bales of cotton, which were all supposed to be marked, although not all with the same marks. During the loading, which was at defts.' wharf, the mate kept a tally of the number of bales, & by the captain's instructions he kept a look out for bales which were unmarked. A considerable number being found to be unmarked, marks supplied by defts.' servants were then placed upon them. The mate did not keep or attempt to keep any tally of the marks upon the various bales, & the captain in his evidence stated that it would have been utterly impossible to do so. At the conclusion of the loading, defts. produced to the mate & asked him to sign, & he did sign, a number of sheets containing particulars of the bales said to have been shipped on the Foxton Hall, with particulars of the marks upon them, the total number of bales shown thereon agreeing with the number taken by his own tally. On the same day defts. presented to the captain for signature, & he signed bills of lading for the 7,797 bales, after having checked the numbers & marks in these with those shown in the sheets signed by the mate. By each of those bills of lading, which stated that the cargo was to be delivered at the port of Havre, it was provided that the shipment was subject to the provisions of the Harter Act, & further, that "in the absence of fraud, clerical, or obvious error, this bill of lading signed by the master or agent shall be conclusive evidence that the abovementioned cargo has been received if the number of bales agrees with the mate's &/or tally clerk's receipts." All the bales put on board the Foxton Hall were delivered at Havre, but it was there found that 124 bales had either no marks or marks other than those specified in the bills of lading, & in consequence the consignees refused to accept those bales, & claimed for their value. As by French law a bill of lading is conclusive evidence against the shipowners of the receipt of the goods mentioned in it, even although it contains no conclusive evidence clause, pltfs., without prejudice to their rights against defts., paid the consignees' claims, sold the 124 rejected bales, & sued defts. to recover the amount of the net loss:—Held: (1) the Harter Act did not impose upon the shipowners any obligation as between them & the charterers to check the marks on the bales; (2) as the obligation of loading the ship lay upon the charterers, it was their duty to check the marks on the bales; & (3) as the loss occurred by reason of the charterers' failure to perform this duty, the pltfs. were entitled to recover.—ELDER, DEMPSTER & Co. v. DUNN & Co. (1909), 101 L. T. 579; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 337; 15 Com. Cas. 49, H. L.

2714. —— Improper stowage—Stevedore not included in exception.]—Pltf. shipped a quantity of oranges on board defts.' vessel, under a bill of lading, excepting (inter alia), "damage from any act, neglect, or default of the pilot master, or mariners in the navigation or management of the ship." The oranges were damaged by the negligent stowage of the stevedore:—Held: defts. were not protected by the exception in the bill of lading, as the stevedore was not included in the list of persons whose acts, etc., were excepted & the words "management of the ship" did not include improper stowage.—THE FERRO, [1893] P. 38; 62 L. J. P. 48; 68 L. T. 418; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 309; 1 R. 562.

Annotations:—Consd. The Glenochil, [1896] P. 10; Brown v. Harrison (1927), 96 L. J. K. B. 1025.

2715. Negligence or error in navigation or management—Delay for reasons of safety.]—THE RENÉE HYAFFIL, No. 3197, post.

2716. —— Error as to route while in port.]—

A clause in a charterparty exempted the owners from liability for loss or damage caused by the negligence, default, or error of judgment of the pilot, master or crew "in the management or navigation of the steamer":—Held: an error of judgment by the master while in harbour as to the route he should pursue to his port of destination was not an error of judgment "in the management or navigation of the ship."

The word "navigation" as used in the clause refers to a ship which is in motion or is being cast off.—LORD (OWNERS) v. NEWSUM, SONS & CO., [1920] 1 K. B. 846; 89 L. J. K. B. 449; 123 L. T. 63; 36 T. L. R. 291; 15 Asp. M. L. C. 19; 25 Com. Cas. 200.

2717. —— Failure to keep steam up while awaiting a berth.]—Defts., the charterers, hired a steamer from pltfs., the owners, by a charterparty, which provided (inter alia), that the master should prosecute his voyages with the utmost dispatch & that the owners should not be liable for loss occasioned by negligence, default or error of judgment of the master in the management or navigation of the steamer. Defts. sent the steamer to Galatz to load a cargo of grain. She arrived at the port in due course but was unable to obtain a berth & had to lie at anchor in the outer harbour to wait until a berth should be available. Defts. instructed the master to keep steam up so that he might be able to move to a berth whenever one should become available. A death occurred aboard the steamer & the master had to go ashore to make certain arrangements relating to it & he omitted to order steam to be kept up in his absence. The result was that the steamer was unable to move to a berth when one became available & defts. suffered loss owing to the delay in her finally reaching a berth. Arbn. took place upon a number of matters in dispute arising out of the charter & the umpire stated a case for the opinion of the ct. under Arbitration Act, 1889 (c. 49), s. 19. Upon this head of dispute defts. claimed damages on the ground that the master had failed to prosecute the voyage with the utmost dispatch & pltfs. contended they were not liable because they were protected from liability for loss occasioned by the negligence, default or error of judgment of the master in the management of the steamer:—Held: the failure of the master to have steam kept up while the steamer was waiting for a berth was not an act of negligence, default or error of judgment in the management of the steamer & pltf. were therefore liable to defts. for the delay.—TOYOSAKI KISSEN KAISHA v. SOCIÉTÉ LES AFFRÉTEURS REUNIS (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 157; 10 Lloyd, L. R. 147, D. C.

Annotation:—Dbtd. Suzuki v. Benyon (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 397.

2718. —— Failure to prosecute voyage with dispatch.]—SUZUKI v. BENYON, No. 2059, ante.

2719. —— Incorporation of Hague Rules—Theft during voyage—Failure of shipowner to discharge onus of proof.]—Pltfs. were the holders & indorsees of a bill of lading issued by defts. in respect of 66 cases of bristles shipped on defts.' steamer for carriage from Tsing-tao to London. The bill of lading contained a provision that the carrier should not be liable for robberies or thefts on sea or on land, & it was subject to the Hague Rules, 1921, which provided by Article III., r. 2, that the carrier should be bound to provide for the proper & careful handling, loading, stowage, carriage, custody, care, & unloading of the goods, & by Article IV., r. 2, that neither the carrier nor the ship should be responsible for loss arising from any neglect or default of the master mariner or the servants of the carrier in the management of the ship, from act or omission of the shipper or owner of the goods . . . from insufficiency of packing, or from any other cause arising without the actual fault or privity of the carrier, or without the fault or neglect of the agents, servants, or employees of the carrier.

The steamer called at several ports, & when the cases were unloaded in London it was found that 21 of them had been broken open & were empty.

In an action for breach of contract &/or duty in relation to the carriage of goods by sea, defts. contended that the loss was occasioned by thieves without the actual fault or privity of defts. & without the fault or neglect of their agents or servants:—Held: the onus was on defts. to show that the theft was not due to the fault of their servants, &, as they had not discharged this onus, & as there was a duty on defts., not only to provide watchmen, but also to see that the watching was vigilantly carried out, pltfs. were entitled to recover.—CITY OF BARODA (CARGO OWNERS) v. HALL LINE, LTD. (1926), 42 T. L. R. 717; 70 Sol. Jo. 877; 17 Asp. M. L. C. 27.

2720. —— Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), sched. Article IV., r. 2 (a), (q)—Theft by stevedores.]—Pltfs. shipped a case of cotton goods on defts.' steamer at Liverpool for carriage to Tampico, under a bill of lading issued by defts., acknowledging the receipt of the goods in good order & condition, & agreeing to carry the goods to Tampico & there deliver them. When delivered the case was found to have been broken into & the goods had disappeared. It transpired that in spite of the vigilance of the ship's officers & without the fault or the privity of defts., the goods were stolen by the stevedore's men who were employed by the ship's agents to discharge cargo at another Mexican port where the ship had called before going to Tampico.

In an action claiming damages for non-delivery the defts. relied on Article IV., rule 2 (a) & (q) of the Schedule to above Act, which exempted them from responsibility for loss or damage arising or resulting from (a) act, neglect, or default of the master, mariner, pilot, or the servants of the carrier in the navigation or in the management of the ship . . . (q) & any other cause arising without the actual fault or privity of the carrier, or without the fault or neglect of the agents or servants of the carrier, but the burden of proof shall be on the person claiming the benefit of this exception to show that neither the actual fault or privity of the carrier nor the fault or neglect of the agents or servants of the carrier contributed to the loss or damage:—Held: (1) defts. were not protected by rule 2 (a) of the Schedule to above Act, because the theft of the goods was not an act in the management of the ship within the meaning of sub-rule (a); (2) they were not protected by rule 2 (q), because they had failed to discharge the burden of proving that neither the actual fault or privity of the carrier nor the fault or neglect of the agents or servants of the carrier had contributed to the loss of the goods within the meaning of the exception contained in that sub-rule, & therefore defts. were liable; (3) the word "or" in rule 2 (q) must be read in a conjunctive sense.—BROWN & CO. v. HARRISON (1927), 96 L. J. K. B. 1025; 43 T. L. R. 633; sub nom. BROWN & CO., LTD. v. HARRISON, HOURANI v. HARRISON, 137 L. T. 549; 32 Com. Cas. 305, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (3) Follds. Gosse Millard v. Canadian Government Merchant Marine, American Can Co. v. Same, [1927] 2 K. B. 432. Reld. Green v. Premier Glynrhonwy Slate Co. (1927), 20 B. W. C. C. 563.

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sect. 14, D.; sub-sect. 15.]

2721. —— —— Negligence in repairing ship during voyage.]—A steamship, with a cargo of tinplates on board carried under a bill of lading under above Act, sustained damage during the voyage which necessitated her being kept for some weeks in dock for repairs. While the repairs were being executed, workmen had frequently to be in & out of the hold where the tinplates were stored, & the hatches in consequence were often left open. Owing to the negligence of the shipowners' servants the hatches were not protected when rain was falling, & the rain having penetrated the hold damaged the tinplates. In an action by the owners of the tinplates in respect of the damage so caused :—Held : the negligence in the management of the hatches was " negligence in the management of the ship " within Article IV., r. 2 (a), of the Schedule to above Act, & therefore by virtue of that Article the shipowners were not liable for the damage.—GOSSE MILLARD v. CANADIAN GOVERNMENT MERCHANT MARINE, LTD., [1928] 1 K. B. 717 ; 44 T. L. R. 143 ; sub nom. GOSSE MILLARD v. CANADIAN GOVERNMENT MERCHANT MARINE, LTD., AMERICAN CANNING CO. v. SAME, 97 L. J. K. B. 193 ; 138 L. T. 421, C. A.

2722. —— —— Injury to drainage pipe leading through cargo.]—Pltfs.' bales of opossum skins were shipped on board defts.' steamship under bills of lading incorporating the Sea-Carriage of Goods Act, 1924, of the Commonwealth of Australia, by which the carrier is not responsible for damage arising from " act, neglect or default of the . . . servants of the carrier in the navigation or in the management of the ship " ; but the Act also provides that the carrier is at liberty to surrender in whole or in part any of his rights & immunities thereunder, provided such surrender is embodied in the bill of lading. The bills of lading contained a clause providing that " the carriers are not to be responsible for faults or errors of navigation."

The skins were damaged by water which entered the compartment where they were stowed through a fractured waste-pipe leading from the seamen's washhouse. The fracture was caused after the voyage commenced by a seamen negligently using an iron rod to clear the pipe from obstruction in order to put the washhouse floor in a proper state : —Held : (1) the act of clearing the pipe was " neglect in the management of the ship " ; (2) by retaining the exception of " faults or errors of navigation " defts. had not impliedly surrendered the immunity in respect of neglects in management, & accordingly they were relieved from liability.—THE TOURAINE, [1928] P. 58 ; 97 L. J. P. 60 ; 138 L. T. 492.

2723. —— —— Exception clause in bill of lading against " errors of navigation."]—THE TOURAINE, No. 2722, ante.

2724. —— —— Failure of shipowner to discharge onus of proof.]—The contents of a case shipped for carriage between London & Piraeus were lost in transit. In an action by the shippers for damages for their value :—Held : (1) the carriers had failed to discharge the onus laid upon them by Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), sched. Article IV., r. 2 (q), to show that the loss did not result from their fault or privity, or from the fault or neglect of their agents or servants ; (2) by reason of the failure of the shippers to insert the value of the contents of the case in the bill of lading, the carrier's liability was limited to £100 as provided by Article IV., r. 5, of the Act.—PENDLE & RIVETT, LTD. v. ELLERMAN LINES, LTD. (1928), 72 Sol. Jo. 15.

2725. —— —— Failure of refrigerating machinery.]—A parcel of frozen beef from Australia was found to be damaged on arrival. The ship in which it was carried had visited several Queensland ports in the height of the Australian summer & the master decided to proceed to England by the south of Australia instead of the north. The voyage was considerably protracted owing chiefly to the effects of a recent strike & the " ca' canny " attitude adopted by the stokers. The ship had two refrigerating plants but only one was used throughout the voyage :—Held : (1) on the facts there had been no unreasonable deviation. Above Act permitted " reasonable " deviation. Deviation would not be reasonable merely if it was convenient to the shipowner ; it must be reasonable having regard to all the circumstances of the case ; (2) on the facts the damage was due to an insufficiently low temperature being kept in the holds, especially at time of shipment, an error of judgment on the part of the engineers. The word " default in the navigation or in the management of the ship " in Article IV., 2 (a), did not cover default in the management of the refrigerating machinery. The words in the exception referred to matters relating to a ship as a ship, & not to matters relating to refrigerating machinery which could not come under the head " navigation or management of a ship."—FOREMAN & ELLAMS, LTD. v. FEDERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1928), 97 L. J. K. B. 525 ; 138 L. T. 582 ; 44 T. L. R. 250.

2726. Clause limiting liability—Unless value of goods declared—Inconsistency with Harter Act.]—Goods were shipped under a bill of lading expressed to be subject to all the terms & exceptions of the Harter Act, an Act of Congress of the United States which makes it unlawful for the owner of any vessel to insert in any bill of lading any clause whereby he is relieved from liability for loss or damage arising from negligence, fault, or failure in proper loading, stowage, custody, care, or proper delivery of merchandise, & makes null & void & of no effect all clauses of such import inserted in bills of lading. The bill of lading contained a clause to the effect that the shipowner would not be accountable for any one package which was of a value of more that £100, unless the value thereof was declared & extra freight agreed upon & paid. The shipowner failed to deliver one package worth more than £100. The value thereof had not been declared, nor had extra freight been agreed upon or paid. In an action by the owner of the package to recover its value from the shipowner, who relied upon the clause :—Held : the clause was inconsistent with the Harter Act & must be treated as null & void.—HORDERN (A.) & SONS, LTD. v. COMMONWEALTH & DOMINION LINE, LTD., [1917] 2 K. B. 420 ; 86 L. J. K. B. 1048 ; 116 L. T. 501 ; 33 T. L. R. 344 ; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 51 ; 22 Com. Cas. 315.

Annotations :—Reid. Australasian United Navigation Co. v. Hunt, [1921] 2 A. C. 351 ; Gosse Millard v. Canadian Government Merchant Marine (1927), 43 T. L. R. 544.

2727. Negligence of master & crew.]—A cargo, through the careless stowage of the master & crew, was damaged in the course of the voyage. The bill of lading, which was not signed until after the cargo was stowed, but before the voyage commenced, contained a clause exempting the ship from liability to make good loss from (inter alia), " negligence, or default of master or mariners, or others performing their duties " :—Held : assuming the shipowner to be, which, semble, he is not, in the category of a common carrier, the clause was not unreasonable ; the damage came within it, & the shipowner was, therefore, not liable.—THE DUERO

(1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 393; 38 L. J. Adm. 69; 22 L. T. 37; 3 Mar. L. C. 323.

2728. ——.]—THE CARRON PARK, No. 2680, ante.

2729. ——.]—RAYNES v. BALLANTYNE (1898), 14 T. L. R. 399, H. L.

2730. Accidents to hull—Damage by stevedores.]—(1) A charterparty provided that the steamer was "to be provided with a deck load at full freight at charterers' risk . . . accidents to hull . . . always excepted, even when occasioned by the negligence . . . of the pilot, master, mariners, or other persons employed by the shipowner, or for whose acts he is responsible." While the vessel was lying at anchor taking in the cargo, through want of proper care on the part of the stevedores, a quantity of cargo on the bridge deck pressed so severely on the uprights which were placed against the stanchions to keep the cargo in position that the stanchions gave way & a part of cargo was lost:—Held: the loss was not due to the unseaworthiness of the ship, but to an accident to the hull occasioned by the negligence of persons for whose acts but for the exceptions clause the owners would be responsible, & the owners were, therefore, protected by that clause. Semble: the owners were also protected by the words "at charterers' risk."

(2) In construing ordinary contracts, it is impossible to apply the "expressio unius" rule to cases where the "expressio unius" is to be found in one clause only, & where in another clause in the same contract there is no "expressio unius" that is to operate as an "exclusio alterius" (VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, L.J.).

(3) There is always a presumption of a warranty of seaworthiness by the shipowner in favour of those who use the ship for carriage (VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, L.J.).—WADE & SONS CO., LTD. v. COCKERLINE & CO. (1905), 53 W. R. 420; 21 T. L. R. 296; 49 Sol. Jo. 313; 10 Com. Cas. 115, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Reed v. Page & East, [1927] 1 K. B. 743. Reid. Calcutta S.S. Co. v. Weir (1910), 79 L. J. K. B. 401; Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522.

2731. Negligent stowage.]—Fruit was shipped under a bill of lading which excepted (inter alia), loss or damage from decay resulting from bad stowage, insufficiency of ventilation or temperature of holds, whether occasioned by any act or omission, negligence, or error in judgment of the master, officers, engineers, crew, stevedores, or other persons in the service of the shipowners, & whether before or after the commencement of or during the voyage, or from defects, latent or otherwise, in hull, tackle, machinery, refrigerating or otherwise, whether or not existing at the time of the goods being loaded or at the commencement of the voyage, or from failure or breakdown of machinery, insulation, or other appliances, refrigerating or otherwise, or from any other cause whatsoever, whether arising from a defect existing at the commencement of the voyage or at the time of shipment of the goods or not, nor for the consequences of any act, neglect, default, or error of judgment of the master, officers, refrigerating engineers, crew, or other persons in the service of the owners, nor from any other cause whatsoever. On the voyage the fruit was damaged owing to the cases having been stowed by persons, for whose acts the shipowners were responsible, too close to the top of the hold, which made it impossible for the refrigerating machinery to ventilate the hold & to keep it at the proper temperature:—Held: the damage was caused by bad stowage within the exceptions, & therefore the shipowners were not liable.—BOND, CONNOLLY & CO. & WOODALL & CO. v. FEDERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1906), 22 T. L. R. 685, C. A.

Annotation:—Reid. Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522.

2732. ——.]—Chocolate was put on board a steamship for carriage from Genoa to London. The chocolate was shipped in good condition, but was delivered in a damaged state owing to the chocolate having been stowed in a hold in which cheeses were stowed. The consignees of the chocolate brought an action to recover the damage they had sustained. The shipowners pleaded as a defence an exception in the bill of lading relieving them from liability for negligent stowage. The consignees by their reply alleged that the shipowners could not rely on the exception, as the ship was unfit to carry the chocolate when the ship was loaded or when the voyage began:—Held: the ship was not unseaworthy; the damage was caused by improper stowage; & resps. were protected by the exception in the bill of lading & were entitled to rely on the exception.—THE THORSA, [1916] P. 257; 85 L. J. P. 226; 116 L. T. 300; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 592; 22 Com. Cas. 218, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522. Reid. Werner v. Det Bergenske Dampskibsselskaft (1926), 134 L. T. 573; Reed v. Page & East, [1927] 1 K. B. 743.

---

SUB-SECT. 15.—FROST AND ICE.

2733. Port open—Lighters delayed by frost.]—HUDSON v. EDE, No. 2880, post.

2734. —— ——.]—By the terms of a charterparty the ship was to proceed to Cardiff, East Bute Dock, & there load in the customary manner from the agents of the freighters a cargo of rail iron, the cargo to be loaded as fast as ship could take on board & stow within the customary working hours of the port, commencing when ship was in berth & ready to load, "detention by frost, floods, etc., not to be reckoned as lay days." At Cardiff there are two docks, the East Bute Dock & the West Bute Dock, connected by a canal, & the West Bute Dock is connected by a junction canal with the Glamorganshire Canal. The shipowner, when the charterparty was made, did not know who were the freighters' agents at Cardiff. There were about six manufacturers of rail iron there, & all of them, with the exception of the freighters' agents, had wharves in the East or West Bute Dock. The agent's wharf was on the Glamorganshire Canal, nearly opposite the junction canal, & their rail iron was loaded on ships berthed in the East Bute Dock by means of lighters passing down the junction canal, through the West Bute Dock, & from thence through the connecting canal to the East Bute Dock. The other manufacturers loaded ships in the East Bute Dock, either from the quay or by lighters coming from their wharves. The ship on arrival was berthed in the East Bute Dock, & the loading was commenced, but it was delayed

---

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 15.

a. Hatch opened to unload other cargo—Consignment of fruit frozen.]—VIPOND v. FURNESS, WITHY & CO. (1916), 54 S. C. R. 521; 35 D. L. R. 278.—CAN.

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sect. 16, B.] received at the dock during the continuance of the strike, & after its termination none was ready for shipment until Apr. 11, a period of more than six days after the vessel was ready to load. On Apr. 10, the charterers gave notice to the shipowners that, a stoppage having continued for six running days within the meaning of the charterparty, such charterparty was null & void. In an arbitration between the shipowners & the charterers the learned arbitrator held that the charterparty was void by reason of a stoppage arising from the specified causes or some of them, viz., a colliers' strike & causes beyond the control of the charterers within the meaning of clause 3 of the charter:—Held: the decision of the umpire was right; although the actual strike was over before the six running days had expired, the effects of the strike continued beyond that time, & consequently the stoppage was a stoppage due to the strike, although the actual stoppage continued for a few days beyond the time at which the strike itself, as a matter of dispute between masters & men, had come to an end.—GORDON S.S. Co., LTD. v. MOXEY SAVON & Co., LTD. (1913), 108 L. T. 808; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 339; 18 Com. Cas. 170.

2749. Strike at port.]—THE ALNE HOLME, No. 3766, post.

2750. ——.]—By a charterparty a ship was to discharge as fast as she could deliver during ordinary working hours according to the custom of the port. There was an exception in the case of a strike. At the port it was customary to discharge cargo into lighters or on to the quay. When the ship arrived, owing to a strike & other causes, there was a scarcity of lighters, & the cargo was discharged on to the quay, the ship being thereby delayed. In an action by the shipowners claiming demurrage:—Held: as it was not practicable in the existing circumstances for the consignee to obtain lighters, he was not liable for the delay caused by discharging on to the quay.—REID v. LEE & SONS (1901), 17 T. L. R. 771.

Annotation:—Apld. Hulthen v. Stewart (1902), 71 L. J. K. B. 624.

2751. ——.]—AKT. SHAKESPEARE v. EKMAN & Co., No. 2755, post.

2752. Strike at coal mine.]—CLAY v. WORMS (1857), 29 L. T. O. S. 196.

2753. ——.]—Defts. chartered pltf.'s ship to proceed to Ardrossan, the charterparty providing that the ship should there load "in the customary manner, say in twelve colliery working days" a cargo of coals, "to be loaded according to the custom of the port"; "strikes & lock outs of pitmen & others" being excepted perils. The following written clause was added: "It is understood that vessel is to be loaded at once, & lay days to count when vessel ready & notice given." The ship arrived at Ardrossan, & gave notice that she was ready to load; but before twelve working days had elapsed a strike broke out at the pit, in consequence of which the ship did not load the cargo of coal till twenty-three ordinary working days had gone by. By the charterparty demurrage was to be paid at the rate of 4*d.* per registered ton per day. Pltf. claimed for fifteen days' demurrage:—Held: the written clause only fixed the time when the lay days began, & the delay was caused by an excepted peril.—PETERSEN v. DUNN & Co. (1895), 43 W. R. 349; 1 Com. Cas. 8.

2754. ——.]—By a charterparty dated Feb. 29, 1912, the Adalands was to proceed to Hull & there load a complete cargo of coal. No particular colliery was specified. Clause 5 provided that the cargo was to be loaded in seventy-two running hours, "time to count when notice of readiness to receive the entire cargo is given to the staithman or colliery agent or handed in to his office between the hours of 6 a.m. & noon. The loading date to be not before 6 a.m. on Apr. 7, but seven clear days' written notice of definite loading date to be given by owners. . . ." Clause 6 provided that "the parties hereto mutually exempt each other from all liability, except under the strike rules, arising from or for time lost through riots, strikes, lock outs of workmen, or disputes between masters & men, or by reason of accidents to mines or machinery, obstructions on railways or in harbours, not including congestion of ships or traffic, or by reason of frosts, floods, fogs, storms, & any unavoidable accidents & hindrances, beyond their control, either preventing or delaying the working, leading, or shipping of the said cargo, occurring on or after the date of this charter until the expiration of the loading time. . . . In the event of any stoppage or stoppages arising from any of these causes, other than a 'strike' as defined in the strike rules, continuing for the period of five days from the time of the steamer being ready to load at the colliery or collieries for which she is stemmed, this charter shall become null & void, provided, however, that no cargo shall have been shipped on board the vessel previous to such stoppage or stoppages." The shipowners notified the charterers that the vessel would be ready to load on Apr. 22, 1912. On Apr. 16, 1912, the charterers refused to load as they said they could not get coal from a particular colliery owing to a stoppage at the colliery such as was contemplated by clause 6. On Apr. 19, 1912, the shipowners notified the charterers that the vessel was in Hull roads on that date ready for loading & at their disposal. The charterers not having loaded any cargo on the Adalands the shipowners claimed damages:—Held: (1) the five days mentioned in clause 6 must be counted from Apr. 22, although the vessel was in fact ready to load on Apr. 19; & (2) the word "stoppage" in clause 6 meant an entire stoppage of work, &, that as the charterers had failed on the evidence to show that there was an entire stoppage which prevented any loading for five days from Apr. 22, they were liable in damages for refusing to load.—AKT. ADALANDS v. WHITAKER (1913), 18 Com. Cas. 229.

2755. Strike of specified class of workmen.]—An exception in a charterparty of "general strikes of lightermen" preventing the discharge of the cargo means a general strike of lightermen of the class & kind who would in the ordinary course of

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 16.—B.

2755 i. Strike of specified class of workmen.]—A charterparty contained a "strike" clause: "If the cargo cannot be discharged by reason of a strike or lock out of any class of workmen essential to the discharge of the cargo, the days of discharging shall not count during the continuance of such strike or lock out." On the arrival of the ship at the port of discharge, a strike of carters was in existence, in consequence of which the docks had become congested; this condition of affairs rendered it impossible for deft., who was consignee, to accept delivery of the cargo, there being neither space for the cargo in the docks nor means of taking it away when tendered over the ship's rail:—Held: (1) the carters were not a "class of workmen essential to the discharge" within the clause, & deft. was not protected by the clause, as discharge was not made impossible by the strike; (2) "discharge" is a joint act, necessitating co-operation on the part of the ship & the receiver of the cargo, & the obligation of the ship under this term is fulfilled when its crew or its stevedore's men are in a position to offer, & do offer, delivery to the consignee over the ship's side.—LANGHAM S.S. Co., LTD. v. GALLAGHER (1911), 12 Asp. M. L. C. 109.—IR.

2755 ii. ——.]—SCHELE v. LUMSDEN & Co., [1916] S. C. 709.—SCOT.

business be employed in discharging a cargo such as that carried by the ship.—AKT. SHAKESPEARE v. EKMAN & Co. (1901), 17 T. L. R. 330; affd. (1902), 18 T. L. R. 605, C. A.

2756. Stoppage contemplated at beginning of loading—Stoppage in fact occurring later.]—By a charterparty it was agreed that a ship of applts. should load a cargo of coal for the charterers "to be loaded in one hundred & forty running hours, commencing when written notice is given of steamer being completely discharged of inward cargo & ballast in all her holds, & ready to load." The charterparty also provided that in the event of a stoppage caused by a strike "continuing for a period of six running days from the time of the vessel being ready to load, this charter shall become null & void, provided, however, that no cargo shall have been shipped on board the steamer previous to such stoppage." Due notice was given that the ship was ready to load, &, after the expiration of the time allowed for loading, a stoppage caused by a strike commenced, & continued for six days. No cargo had been shipped, & the charterers gave notice that the charterparty was cancelled:—Held: the charterparty contemplated a stoppage in existence at the beginning of the loading time, & the charterers were not entitled to cancel the charter on the occurrence of a stoppage at a later period.—STEEL, YOUNG & Co. v. GRAND CANARY COALING CO. (1904), 90 L. T. 729; 20 T. L. R. 542; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 584; 9 Com. Cas. 275, H. L.

2757. Ship sent to strike area.]—A charterparty, which contained an exception of any delay occasioned by strikes, provided that the vessel, when loaded with coal, should proceed to one of certain named places on the Thames, as ordered, & there unload. The charterers ordered her to proceed to R., one of such places. After the voyage commenced, & before the arrival of the vessel at the mouth of the Thames, the charterers became aware of a strike among the coal porters at R., which did not extend to the other places named in the charterparty. In consequence of the strike it was impossible for the vessel to unload at R. within the time allowed by the charterparty. In an action by the shipowners for demurrage:—Held: there was no obligation upon the charterers to change the order for the vessel to proceed to R. on the strike coming to their knowledge; &, the delay being covered by the exception, no demurrage was payable.—BULMAN & DICKSON v. FENWICK & Co., [1894] 1 Q. B. 179; 63 L. J. Q. B. 123; 69 L. T. 651; 42 W. R. 326; 10 T. L. R. 45; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 388; 9 R. 227, C. A.

Annotations:—Distd. The Fox (1914), 83 L. J. P. 89. Apld. Michalinos v. Dreyfus (1924), 131 L. T. 177. Apprvd. S.S. Matheos v. Dreyfus, [1925] A. C. 654. Apld. Lewis v. Dreyfus (1926), 31 Com. Cas. 239. Refd. Leonis S.S. Co. v. Rank, [1908] 1 K. B. 499.

2758. ——.]—By a time charterparty a steamship was let at a monthly hire for a certain period to be employed in such lawful trades as the charterers should direct within certain geographical limits, & the charterparty contained an exemption clause, which provided that "the owners & charterers shall be mutually absolved from liability in carrying out this contract in so far as they may be hindered or prevented" by, among other things, strikes. During the currency of the charter the charterers ordered the ship to a port where, to their knowledge, a strike of colliers was in operation, for the purpose of loading a cargo of coal. On the arrival of the ship, she was prevented by the strike from loading for several weeks. A dispute arose between the owners & the charterers as to whether under the charterparty the hire was payable during this period:—Held: (1) upon the construction of the exempton clause the words "carrying out this contract" meant merely performing the obligations imposed upon the respective parties by the contract & did not include exercising the rights bestowed upon them by the contract; (2) upon any construction of the clause the charterers were not prevented by the strike from carrying out the contract, inasmuch as they could have withdrawn the ship from the strike area; consequently the hire was payable.—BROWN v. TURNER, BRIGHTMAN & Co., [1912] A. C. 12; 81 L. J. K. B. 387; 105 L. T. 562; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 79; 17 Com. Cas. 171, H. L.

Annotations:—Generally, Refd. Admiral Shipping Co. v. Weidner, Hopkins, [1916] 1 K. B. 429; Modern Transport Co. v. Duneric S.S. Co., [1916] 1 K. B. 726; Anglo-Northern Trading Co. v. Emlyn Jones & Williams, [1917] 2 K. B. 78; Countess of Warwick S.S. Co. v. Le Nickel Soc. Anon. (1917), 34 T. L. R. 27; Denholm v. Shipping Controller (1920), 124 L. T. 378; Diamond Alkali Export Corpn. v. Bourgeois, [1921] 3 K. B. 443.

2759. Where loading not prevented.] — The principle which entitles a charterer to refuse to load a vessel if he has reasonable ground for believing that she will not be able to proceed to her destination with the cargo on board within a commercially reasonable time owing to the existence of a war cannot be applied to a case where a vessel may be delayed in starting on her voyage through a strike in this country, which, however, does not prevent the loading of the cargo.—ROPNER & Co. v. RONNEBECK (1914), 84 L. J. K. B. 392; 112 L. T. 723; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 47; 20 Com. Cas. 95.

Annotations:—Refd. Countess Warwick S.S. Co. v. Le Nickel Soc. (1917), 87 L. J. K. B. 309; Metropolitan Water Board v. Dick, Kerr, [1917] 2 K. B. 1.

2760. Strike of crew—Refusal to risk voyage—Belligerent threat to sink neutrals.]—WILLIAMS, BROTHERS (HULL), LTD. v. NAAMLOOZE VENNOOTSCHAP W. H. BERGHUYS KOLENHANDEL, No. 2744, ante.

2761. Computation of time — Time during which work actually prevented or delayed.]—A charterparty contained the following clause: "Time to commence when steamer is ready to unload & written notice given, whether in berth or not. In case of strikes, lock outs, civil commotions, or any other causes or accidents, beyond the control of the consignees which prevents or delays the discharging, such time is not to count unless the steamer is already on demurrage":—Held: the clause did not mean that time was not to count at all if a strike delayed the discharging, but that time should not count to the extent of any delay caused by a strike.—LONDON & NORTHERN S.S. Co., LTD. v. CENTRAL ARGENTINE RY., LTD. (1913), 108 L. T. 527; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 303.

Annotation:—Folld. Central Argentine Ry. v. Marwood, [1915] A. C. 981.

2762. —— ——.]—A steamer was chartered to carry a cargo of coal by charterers who were also consignees of the cargo to a specified port under a charterparty which provided that the cargo should be taken from alongside by consignees at port of discharge, free of expense & risk to the steamer, at the average rate of 200 tons per day, weather permitting, Sundays & holidays excepted, provided steamer could deliver at that rate; if longer detained consignees to pay demurrage at the rate of fourpence per ton per running day. "Time to commence when steamer is ready to unload & written notice given, whether in berth or not. In case of strikes, lock outs, civil commotions or any other causes or accidents beyond the control of the consignees which prevents or delays the discharging, such time is not to count, unless the steamer is already in demurrage." On the arrival of the steamer at the port of discharge she gave notice of readiness to discharge, but all the berths at the port were occupied & there was at the time a strike of stokers at the port. For the first fortnight after her arrival no work of discharging was done at all, but for the next ensuing nineteen days, after which period the strike came to an end, there was a partial resumption of work, & there were discharged from the other ships in the port 6,000 tons of coal, which was equal to six days' normal work. The steamer was unable to get into berth until after the termination of the strike owing to the delay in discharging the other ships by reason of the strike. Upon a claim for demurrage by the shipowner:—Held: "such time" meant the time for which the discharging was actually prevented or delayed by the strike & the shipowner was entitled to count the six days as lay days.—CENTRAL ARGENTINE RY., LTD. v. MARWOOD, [1915] A. C. 981; 84 L. J. K. B. 1593; 113 L. T. 786; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 153, H. L.

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sect. 16, B.; sub-sects. 17 & 18.]

SUB-SECT. 17.—WAR RISKS.

2763. Port of loading becoming hostile port.]—(1) A charterparty stipulated for pltf.'s, a British, ship proceeding to Constantinople & thence to Odessa, & there loading a cargo from def., a British subject; & that in case of war having commenced previous to & continuing on the ship's arrival at Constantinople, deft. was to load the ship at the latter port:—Held: the war contemplated was such a war as would render the voyage of a British ship from Constantinople to Odessa unlawful, that is, a war between England & Russia; &, therefore, a war between Russia & Turkey existing at the time of the ship's arrival at Constantinople, no war having been then declared between Great Britain & Russia, was not within the provision.

(2) In a second count upon another charterparty between pltf. & deft., both British subjects, the declaration stated that it was agreed that pltf.'s, a British, ship should proceed to & load a cargo from deft. at Odessa, forty-five running days being allowed for loading & unloading; that the ship proceeded to Odessa, & remained there a great part of the forty-five running days, & was ready to remain for the residue thereof, but that deft. dispensed with her doing so, & requested her to depart from Odessa without remaining for the rest of the running days, & without a cargo; & alleged as a breach, that deft. had not provided a cargo. Deft. pleaded that before deft. dispensed, etc., & before breach by deft., war was declared between Great Britain & Russia, & that it thereby became impossible for deft. to load a cargo without trading with the enemy. Issue thereon. The evidence was that the ship arrived at Odessa on Mar. 11, that the declaration of war between England & Russia was known there on Apr. 1, that on several occasions previous & subsequent to Apr. 1, pltf.'s captain repeatedly asked deft.'s agent for a cargo, whose answer was, that he had none for him, & on Apr. 16 he added, that the ship had better go away. The ship sailed from Odessa without a cargo on Apr. 17, before the expiration of the running days. A verdict was found for pltf., but leave was reserved to deft. to move to enter a verdict for him, if the ct. should be of opinion that there was no evidence to go to the jury of any dispensation by him before the declaration of war was known at Odessa:—Held: on such a motion the verdict could not stand, unless there was reasonable evidence on which the jury were justified in finding it, & a mere scintilla of evidence, or evidence leading only to a conjecture, was insufficient; there was no reasonable evidence of any dispensation by deft. of the ship's remaining the running days at Odessa.—AVERY v. BOWDEN (1856), 6 E. & B. 953, 962; 26 L. J. Q. B. 3; 28 L. T. O. S. 145; 3 Jur. N. S. 238; 5 W. R. 45; 119 E. R. 1119, 1122, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. Croockewit v. Fletcher (1857), 1 H. & N. 893. Apld. Barrick v. Buba (1857), 2 C. B. N. S. 563; Pole v. Cetcovich (1860), 30 L. J. C. P. 102. Consd. Danube & Black Sea Ry. & Kustendjie Harbour Co. v. Xenos, Xenos v. Danube & Black Sea Ry. & Kustendjie Harbour Co. (1862), 31 L. J. C. P. 284; Akt. Reidar v. Arcos, [1927] 1 K. B. 352. Refd. Esposito v. Bowden (1857), 7 E. & B. 763; Frost v. Knight (1872), L. R. 7 Exch. 111; Roper v. Johnson (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 167; Hudson v. Hill (1874), 43 L. J. C. P. 273; Gueret v. Audouy (1893), 62 L. J. Q. B. 633; Naylor, Benzon v. Krainische Industrie Gesellschaft, [1918] 1 K. B. 331. Generally, Refd. Hall v. Wright (1859), 29 L. J. Q. B. 43; Roberts v. Brett (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 611; Byrne v. Van Tienhoven (1880), 5 C. P. D. 344; Johnstone v. Milling (1886), 16 Q. B. D. 460. Mentd. McMahon v. Lennard (1858), 6 H. L. Cas. 970; Dawes v. Hawkins (1860), 8 C. B. N. S. 848; Bartholomew v. Markwick (1864), 15 C. B. N. S. 711; Unwin v. Clark (1866), 7 B. & S. 400; Webber v. G. W. Ry. (1866), 4 H. & C. 582; Phillipson v. Hayter (1870), L. R. 6 C. P. 38; Wilkinson v. Verity (1871), L. R. 6 C. P. 206; Curtis v. B. U. R. T. (1912), 28 T. L. R. 353; Veithardt & Hall v. Rylands (1917), 86 L. J. Ch. 604.

2764. ——.]—Declaration charged that, by a memorandum for charter, it was agreed between pltf., owner of a ship then in a British port, & deft., that the ship should proceed to Odessa, & there load from the freighter's factors a complete cargo of specified goods, & proceed therewith to a port of discharge, the act of the Queen's enemies & all accidents of the seas, navigation, etc., excepted; thirty-five running days to be allowed for loading & unloading, to commence at the port of loading, & £4 per day for demurrage above the running days. Breach (a) that, although a reasonable time for loading the cargo had elapsed, deft. made default in loading the agreed cargo; (b) deft. detained the ship on demurrage ten days above the laying days, & did not pay for such demurrage. Plea, that deft. was always a subject of the Queen, & Odessa was a port within the dominions of the Emperor of Russia; & that, after the making of the charter party, & before the ship arrived at Odessa, & before deft. provided a cargo, the Queen declared war against the Emperor; since which time war had existed between them, & Odessa had been a hostile port in the possession of the Queen's enemies. That, from the time war was so declared, it became impossible for deft. to perform his agreement without dealing & trading with the Queen's enemies, of which pltf. had notice before the expiration of the laying days, & the charterparty, by reason of the premises, was wholly rescinded. Replication that the Queen, by order of council, waived, except in the case of contraband of war, the seizure or confiscation of enemies' property on board neutral ships & of neutral property on board enemies' ship; &, by a second order in council, allowed a certain time for Russian ships to load their ships in British ports, & allowed Russian merchant vessels, which should have sailed before the date of the order for any British port, to discharge at such port; &, by a third order, made before the expiration of the running days, & while there was time to load the cargo, ordered that neutral or friendly vessels might import into any British port all goods, not being contraband of war or requiring a special permission, to whomsoever belonging, & that the subjects of the Queen or of any neutral or friendly state might trade with all ports not blockaded, except that British vessels might not enter enemies' ports. That the ship was a neutral vessel, & pltf. the subject of a neutral state that Odessa was not blockaded during any part of the time during which the cargo ought to have been loaded; & no part of the agreed cargo was contraband of war or requiring special permission for importation; & the cargo might have been loaded notwithstanding the hostilities. On demurrer:—Held: the plea was good, as showing a dissolution of the contract before the time for performance had expired, & an impossibility of legally performing the contract, as the shipment of a cargo from an enemy's port, even in a neutral vessel, was an act, primâ facie at least, involving a trading & dealing with the enemy, & therefore forbidden by law to a British subject; & if such a shipment could under peculiar facts be legal, it lay on pltf. to show the facts, which on this record he had not done.—ESPOSITO v. BOWDEN (1857), 7 E. & B. 763; 8 State Tr. N. S. 807; 27 L. J. Q. B. 17; 29 L. T. O. S. 295; 3 Jur. N. S. 1209; 5 W. R. 732; 119 E. R. 1430, Ex. Ch.; revsg. (1855), 4 E. & B. 963.

Annotations:—Apld. Barrick v. Buba (1857), 2 C. B. N. S. 563. Consd. Danube & Black Sea Ry. & Kustendjie Harbour Co. v. Xenos, Xenos v. Danube & Black Sea Ry. & Kustendjie Harbour Co. (1862), 31 L. J. C. P. 284; The Teutonia (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 394; Arnhold Karberg v. Blythe, Green, Jourdain, Theodor Schneider v. Burgett & Newsam, [1916] 1 K. B. 495. Distd. Clapham S.S. Co. v. Handels-en-Transport-Maatschappij Vulcann of Rotterdam, [1917] 2 K. B. 639. Consd. Ertel Bieber v. Rio Tinto, [1918] A. C. 260; Naylor, Benzon v. Krainische Industrie Gesellschaft, [1918] 1 K. B. 331. Distd. Sargant v. Paterson (1923), 129 L. T. 471. Consd. Akt. Reidar v. Arcos, [1927] 1 K. B. 352. Refd. Reid v. Hoskins (1855), 4 E. & B. 979; Tamvaco v. Lucas (1861), 1 B. & S. 185; Janson v. Driefontein Consolidated Mines, [1902] A. C. 484; Jager v. Tolme & Runge (1915), 31 T. L. R. 381; British & Foreign Marine Insce. v. Sanday, [1916] 1 A. C. 650; Halsey v. Lowenfeld, [1916] 2 K. B. 707; Horlock v. Beal, [1916] 1 A. C. 486; Millar v. Taylor, [1916] 1 K. B. 402; Zinc Corpn. v. Hirsch, [1916] 1 K. B. 541; Metropolitan Water Board v. Dick, Kerr, [1917] 2 K. B. 1; Orconera Iron Ore Co. v. Fried Krupp Akt. (1917), 86 L. J. Ch. 613; Stevenson v. Akt. Für Cartonnagen Industrie, [1917] 1 K. B. 842; Tingley v. Müller, [1917] 2 Ch. 144; Blackburn Bobbin Co. v. Allen (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1085; Dynamit Act. v. Rio Tinto Co., [1918] A. C. 292; Jebara v. Ottoman Bank, [1927] 2 K. B. 254. Mentd. Santos v. Illidge (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 841; Porter v. Freudenberg, [1915] 1 K. B. 857; Daimler Co. v. Continental Tyre & Rubber Co. (Great Britain), [1916] 2 A. C. 307; Leiston Gas Co. v. Leiston-cum-Sizewell U. C. (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1759; Re Badische Co., Bayer Co., etc., [1921] 2 Ch. 331.

2765. Ship sunk while under convoy.]—MAZARAKIS BROTHERS v. FURNESS, WITHY & CO. (1923), 156 L. T. Jo. 362.

Ship requisitioned by government.] — See Part XXV., Sect. 3, post.

Compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 226–230, Nos. 1836–1861.

SUB-SECT. 18.—OTHER EXCEPTIONS.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 2 (q).

2766. "Ship damage."]—In a charterparty between the co. & the owners of a ship taken into their service, was the following clause: "But nevertheless the said part owners shall not be charged with any sum of money in respect of goods damaged on board the said ship, either in her outward or homeward-bound voyage, but such as shall, by the condition & appearance of the package thereof, or by some other reasonable proof, appear to be ship damage." Part of the homeward-bound cargo was damaged in a storm:—Held: this was not ship damage, within the meaning of the clause, which is imputable only to such damage as happens by insufficiency of the ship, or the neglect of those who have the charge of her.—EAST INDIA CO. v. TOD (1788), 1 Bro. Parl. Cas. 405; 1 E. R. 652, H. L.

2767. "Accident."]—FENWICK v. SCHMALZ, No. 2884, post.

2768. Stoppage of navigation.]—Where it was agreed by charterparty that the charterer should not be liable for delay in loading caused by neaps & stoppage of navigation & the lay days were exceeded in consequence of the lighters which were bringing the cargo (one of salt) down the rivers Weaver & Mersey to Birkenhead, the place of loading, being delayed by neaps of exceptional lowness at the junction of the Mersey & Weaver, & it was proved that it is the invariable practice for all salt intended for foreign exportation to be brought to Birkenhead from the Weaver by water; that there are no storehouses for salt at Birkenhead & that it is never kept there to await the arrival of vessels:—Held: the charterer was relieved from liability under the above exceptions, upon the ground that they must be taken to apply to bringing the cargo to Birkenhead for loading purposes.—ALLERTON SAILING SHIP CO., LTD. v. FALK (1888), 6 Asp. M. L. C. 287.

Annotation:—Refd. Smith & Service v. Rosario Nitrate Co., [1893] 2 Q. B. 323.

2769. "Hindrance."]—Defts. chartered pltf.'s ship to proceed to R. with a cargo "& there, in any anchorage ground as ordered by charterers, to deliver the same . . . where she can safely lie afloat, as may be directed by the said charterers"; all unavoidable accidents or hindrances, in procuring, loading &/or discharging the cargo . . . excepted." When the ship arrived at R. a rebellion was in progress, by which defts.' arrangements for unloading ships were & continued to be seriously disorganised. In an action for demurrage:—Held: rebellion constituted an "unavoidable hindrance in discharging the cargo," defts. were not liable.—CRAWFORD & ROWAT v. WILSON, SONS & CO. (1896), 12 T. L. R. 170; 1 Com. Cas. 154, 277, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Blythe v. Richards, Turpin (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1425. Refd. Phosphate Mining Co. v. Rankin, Gilmour (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 358; Scheepvaart Maatschappy Gylsen v. North African Coaling Co. (1916), 85 L. J. K. B. 1386; Tennants (Lancashire) v. Wilson (1917), 23 Com. Cas. 41; Produce Brokers Co. v. Weis (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 472; Stewart v. Rank (1920), 36 T. L. R. 728.

2770. ——.]—A charterparty provided that a ship should proceed to a port, "or so near thereunto as she may safely get," & deliver her cargo "according to the custom of the A. dock, alongside any craft, steamer, floating depot, wharf or pier." The charterers were not to be liable for demurrage due to "hindrance beyond charterers' control." When the ship arrived at the port the A. dock was full of vessels, & the authorities would not allow her to go to a berth for a considerable time. There was no wharf or pier except in the A. dock, & only a small supply of lighters:—Held: the charterers were not liable for demurrage, because it was clear that the discharge could not have been expedited by the use of lighters, & because the delay was due to a "hindrance beyond charterers' control."

The fact that the authorities would not allow the ship to enter the dock was clearly a "hindrance beyond the charterers' control" (MATHEW, J.).—MILVERTON SAILING SHIP CO., LTD. v. CAPE TOWN & DISTRICT GAS LIGHT & COKE CO., LTD. (1897), 13 T. L. R. 548; 2 Com. Cas. 281.

Annotation:—Consd. Larsen v. Sylvester (1908), 99 L. T. 94.

2771. "Heating."]—THE PEARLMOOR, No. 2678, ante.

Sect. 4.—Excepted perils: Sub-sect. 18. Sect. 5: Sub-sect. 1, A., B. & C. (a).]

2772. Sweating.]—THE PEARLMOOR, No. 2678, ante.

2773. Decay.]—THE PEARLMOOR, No. 2678, ante.

2774. Surf.]—BENNETTS & CO. v. BROWN, No. 3976, post.

2775. "Intervention of constituted authority"—Delay caused by railway company.] —WATSON BROTHERS v. MYSORE MANGANESE CO., LTD., No. 3966, post.

2776. Obstruction on railways.]—In charter-parties the charterer's obligation to have a cargo ready for loading at the place of loading is primâ facie an absolute one, & is not affected by clauses of exception as to lay days unless by express language or necessary implication.

A ship was chartered to proceed to one or two safe ports in the River Parana & there load a full cargo. The charterparty provided for a daily loading rate, & it contained the following clause: "If the cargo cannot be loaded by reason of . . . a strike or lock-out of any class of workmen essential to the loading of the cargo, or by reason of obstruction or stoppages beyond the control of the charterers on the railways, or in the docks, or other loading places . . . the time for loading . . . shall not count during the continuance of such causes." The ship was ordered to Rosario, & on her arrival the charterers had not provided any cargo ready at the port, but, having decided to load wheat only, had bought a supply of wheat up-country, & this was conveyed to the port by the C. railway, the most important of several up-country railways by which grain was carried to the port. The employees of the C. railway co. carried out a ca' canny strike, which produced a general retardation of the regular traffic, & as a result the charterers had not sufficient wheat forthcoming by railway to load the ship within the lay days apart from the exceptions clause. The port was divided into two sections. In the old section the grain was loaded direct out of the railway wagons of the up-country cos. In the new section a port railway co. owned a railway within the limits of the port, & at the boundary of the port took over with its own locomotives the loaded wagons from the up-country railways for distribution to the various consignees. Shortly after the charterers began to load wheat the Government prohibited the export of wheat: —Held: an obstruction, to come within the exceptions clause, must be an obstruction preventing the loading, & not one preventing the bringing of the cargo to the port, & in the context the word "railways" was referable to the railways in the port; there was therefore no obstruction on the railways within the meaning of the clause.—BUNGE Y BORN CO. v. BRIGHTMAN (H. A.) & CO., [1925] A. C. 799; 94 L. J. K. B. 840; 133 L. T. 738; 41 T. L. R. 652; 69 Sol. Jo. 795; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 545; 31 Com. Cas. 27, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. BRIGHTMAN & CO. v. BUNGE Y BORN, [1924] 2 K. B. 619, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Bassa (Owners) v. Royal Commission on Wheat Supplies (1924), 132 L. T. 634. Refd. Lewis v. Dreyfus (1926), 31 Com. Cas. 239.

2777. Inherent vice of goods.]—(1) Apples were shipped from Hobart to the United Kingdom on board defts.' steamship N. under bills of lading, each of which contained the following overriding provision: "This bill of lading is to be read & construed as if every clause therein contained which is rendered illegal or null & void by the Sea-Carriage of Goods Act, 1904, had never been inserted therein or had been cancelled & eliminated therefrom prior to the execution thereof & is issued subject to all the terms & provisions of & to all the exceptions from liability contained in such Act." When the apples, after their arrival in the United Kingdom, were distributed to the trade, extensive damage was found by reason of the fact that a large proportion of the apples were proved to be affected with a species of internal browning. An action was accordingly brought by the indorsees of the bills of lading against the shipowners claiming damages for breach of contract: for negligence & unseaworthiness; & pltfs. alleged that although the apples were good shipping apples, suitable for the voyage in kind, in ripeness & in packing, they were damaged on account of the faulty ventilation of the ship. Defts.' case was that the N. was a seaworthy ship & they relied on Sea-Carriage of Goods, 1904, s. 8 (2) (D), as exonerating them:—Held: the damage was caused to the apples not because of the ship or of the sea, or of the route, but because they were apples which were not fit to make the voyage in an ordinary way; this was not the kind of risk

---

PART VII. SECT. 4, SUB-SECT. 18.

2772 i. Sweating.]—HORSLEY v. BAXTER BROTHERS & CO. (1893), 20 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 333; 30 Sc. L. R. 387.—SCOT.

b. "Goods at owner's risk."]—Pltf. shipped certain cases of fruit by defts.' steamship, under a bill of lading in which, amongst others, was the following clause:—"Fruit, & all kinds of perishable property, to be carried on deck or below, at owner's risk." The goods were lost in a collision occasioned entirely by the negligent navigation of deft.'s servants:—Held: deft. was protected from liability by the terms of the bill of lading.—JOYCE v. ELLIS (1890), 11 N. S. W. L. R. (L.) 68; 6 N. S. W. W. N. 134.—AUS.

c. ——.]—A charterparty contained the usual exceptions of the act of God, the Queen's enemies, fire, & all other dangers & accidents of the seas & navigation of all kinds during the voyage, & also a clause "cargo carried on deck, & live-stock, whether on deck or below, to be at charterer's risk for all loss, including mortality": —Held: this clause would not cover the risk of loss or damage arising from the negligence or improper acts or omissions of the master & crew.—FLEMING v. RAMSAY (1906), 25 N. Z. L. R 596.—N.Z.

d. Improper & negligent stowage.]—TRAINOR v. BLACK DIAMOND S.S. CO. (1888), 16 S. C. R. 156.—CAN.

e. ——.]—Under the law of England, a stipulation in a charterparty, that the owner or charterer of the vessel shall not be liable for damages to the goods carried caused by improper & even negligent stowage, is valid & binding.—CANADA SUGAR REFINING CO., LTD. v. FURNESS WITHY CO., LTD. (1905), Q. R. 27 S. C. 502.—CAN.

f. No liability for "insufficiency of address or package."]—PENINSULAR & ORIENTAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. v. SOMAJI VISHRAM (1868), 5 Bom. O. C. 113.—IND.

g. "Reshipped or re-exported goods."]—A clause in a bill of lading exempted the shipowner from liability for any loss in respect of "reshipped or re-exported goods":—Held: the reshipment or re-exportation need not be in the course of the voyage covered by the bill of lading.—HAJI SHAKOOR GANI SAIT v. B. I. S. N. CO., LTD. (1927), I. L. R. 50 Mad. 804.—IND.

h. "Accidents in landing stock."]—UNION S.S. CO. v. HOBBS (1894), 12 N. Z. L. R. 98.—N.Z.

k. Clause exempting from "injurious effects of other goods"—Reasonableness of.]—NEW ZEALAND SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. TYREE (1912), 31 N. Z. L. R. 825.—N.Z.

l. Damage to sugar.]—MOES, MOLIERE & TROMP v. LEITH & AMSTERDAM SHIPPING CO. (1867), 5 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 988; 39 Sc. Jur. 546.—SCOT.

m. "Detention by railways."]—LETRICHEUX & DAIRD v. DUNLOP (JAMES) & CO. (1891), 19 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 209; 29 Sc. L. R. 182.—SCOT.

n. ——.]—MEIN v. OTTMANN (1904), 6 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 276; 41 Sc. L. R. 144.—SCOT.

o. ——.]—I. O. co., Ltd., chartered the Maroon from G. co. to carry iron ore to Ayr, & there to discharge it as customary, the charterparty exempting the charterers from liability for delay in discharging due to "stoppage on railway," or time lost by any cause "beyond the personal control of the charterers or their agents." The cargo was sold & consigned by the I. O. co. to D. I. co. On arrival at Ayr discharging was delayed by the railway co. refusing, although an ample supply of wagons was available, to allow them to be loaded, owing to it being impossible to get them into D. I. co.'s works, which were blocked with wagons filled with ore from cargoes which the Act called on the shipowners to bear, & it was well within the words " resulting from . . . inherent quality or vice."

(2) In the law of carriage by sea neither seaworthiness nor due diligence is absolute. Both are relative among other things to the state of knowledge & the standards prevailing at the material time (LORD SUMNER).—BRADLEY (F. O.) & SONS, LTD. v. FEDERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1927), 137 L. T. 266; 27 Lloyd, L. R. 395, H. L.

Annotations :—As to (2) Apld. Angliss (Australia) Proprietary v. P. & O. Steam Navigation Co. (1927), 96 L. J. K. B. 1084. Generally, Refd. Gosse Millard v. Canadian Government Merchant Marine, American Canadian Co. v. Same, [1927] 2 K. B. 432.

SECT. 5.—THE LOADING.

SUB-SECT. 1.—THE READINESS OF THE SHIP.

A. In General.

2778. Duty of shipowner—To bring ship to port of loading.]—ATKINSON v. BUCKLE (1615), 3 Bulst. 152; 1 Roll. Rep. 312; Jenk. 324; 81 E. R. 130.

2779. —— ——.]—MOEL TRYVAN SHIP CO., LTD. v. WEIR (ANDREW) & CO., No. 1865, ante.

2780. —— ——.]—Defts. contracted with pltfs. that a specified ship should be at Northfleet on May 25, 1916, to receive a consignment of cement from barges belonging to pltfs. for conveyance to Buenos Aires. Pltfs. sent their barges with the cement to Northfleet on the named date; but defts.' ship was not there then, & on the following day the ship was sunk at sea through no default of defts. The cement was subsequently taken on board another ship, but before it could be loaded pltfs.' barges had been detained at Northfleet for several days. Pltfs. claimed damages for the detention of the barges :—Held : defts. had broken their contract by not having the ship at Northfleet on the date fixed, but the contract came to an end on the following day when the ship was sunk, & pltfs. were therefore only entitled to damages for detention of the barges from the time of the breach of contract to the time of the sinking of the ship.—ASSOCIATED PORTLAND CEMENT MANUFACTURERS (1900), LTD. v. HOULDER BROTHERS & CO., LTD. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1495; 118 L. T. 94; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 170; 22 Com. Cas. 279.

2781. Promise of shipowner to provide ship—Interdependent on shipper's promise to provide cargo.]—VERGOTTIS v. CORY (WILLIAM) & SON, LTD., No. 3899, post.

2782. —— Ship to be nominated—Whether nomination confined to ships of owner.]—(1) In 1913 defts., steamship owners, contracted to provide a steamship, to be nominated in Aug.-Sept. 1915, to carry phosphate from Florida to Delfzyl, in Holland, up the river Ems. The exceptions clause included " public enemies & restraint of princes." In Aug.-Sept. 1915, during the continuance of a state of war between Great Britain & Germany, the Germans had assumed full control of the fairways of the Ems. All vessels bound for Delfzyl were boarded by them & compelled to take a German pilot. The ship's papers were overhauled or liable to be overhauled, & the channel was mined. Freights had risen since 1913 from about 13*s.* 6*d.* to three or four times as much. Defts. in these circumstances refused to tender a vessel, maintaining that they need only nominate one of their own vessels &, having done so, to rely upon the exceptions clause in the contract as they were prevented from performing the contract by " public enemies & restraint of princes." Pltfs., in an action for breach of the contract, argued that the exceptions clause did not come into operation until a steamer was nominated :—Held : as the deft. contracted not as owners, but as contractors, it was not sufficient for them merely to nominate one of their own vessels & not to try to procure another steamer in the market; but on the other hand, it was not necessary that a steamer should have been nominated for the exceptions clause to come into operation, since such a conclusion would leave defts. without excuse if the operation of the exception were such that it was impossible to procure any steamer which could, or would, undertake the voyage.

(2) The German control of the Ems shut out from the market not only defts.' own steamers, but also the ships of Great Britain & her allies, amounting probably to more than three-quarters of the tonnage available but for the excepted peril. Neutral shipowners would have been very reluctant of getting their ships under German control when proceeding under an English charterparty, & the cargo would probably have been seized by the Germans with the result that no freight would have been earned. The rate of insurance, if insurance had been possible, would have been extremely high. Defts. would have had to prepay the freight, or pay the premium, or run the risk themselves, or to have paid the shipowner such a freight as would have enabled him to cover the risk or induce him to run it :—Held : even leaving out of consideration the general & enormous rise in freights, it would be wholly unreasonable to expect defts. to pay large sums of money, or to run big risks, or both, in order to deprive themselves of the protection of an exception inserted in the contract on their behalf.—PHOSPHATE MINING CO. v. RANKIN, GILMOUR & CO. (1916), 86 L. J. K. B. 358; 115 L. T. 211; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 418; 21 Com. Cas. 248.

*Annotation :—Refd. Stewart v. Bank (1920), 36 T. L. R. 728.

B. Proceeding to Port of Loading.

See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 7, B., ante.

C. Arrival at Port of Loading.

(a) In General.

2783. What constitutes arrival—Arrival at specified loading place.]—(1) By a charterparty it was provided that a ship should proceed to Santander, excluding San Salvador old tip " to a loading previously arrived. In an action for demurrage by the shipowners against the charterers :—Held : the delay was due not to a " stoppage on railway " but to the fault of D. I. co., & that was a cause " beyond the personal control of the charterers & their agents," & the charterers were accordingly exempted from liability.—GLASGOW NAVIGATION CO., LTD. v. IRON ORE CO., LTD., [1909] S. C. 1414; 46 Sc. L. R. 908; [1909] 2 S. L. T. 133.—SCOT.

p. " Stoppage at collieries."]—ARDEN S.S. CO., LTD. v. MATHWIN & SON, [1912] S. C. 211; 49 Sc. L. R. 143.—SCOT.

q. " Hindrance beyond charterer's control."]—An exception in the case of " hindrance beyond the charterer's control " will not avail as a defence to a claim for demurrage where the charterers have been unable to obtain facilities for landing cargo in the manner customary at the port owing to circumstances & difficulties of the existence of which they effect discharge within a definite period.—HALVORSEN v. SOUTH AFRICAN LIGHTING ASSOCN., LTD., [1909] 16 E. D. C. 58.—S. AF.

r. " Defective packing."]—KOCH v. UNION-CASTLE S.S. CO., LTD., [1913] E. D. L. 286.—S. AF.

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—C. (a).

t. What constitutes arrival — Ship placed at disposal of charterer.]—The loss to a ship through an unexpected detention by quarantine on arriving at the port of loading falls upon the shipowner, even when the charterparty binds the charterer to load within a place as ordered " & there take on board a cargo :—Held : the ship could not be taken as an arrived ship for the purpose of the commencement of the lay days until she had arrived at the loading place as ordered, & arrival at Santander was not sufficient.

Sect. 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 1, C. (a) & (b), D. (a).]

(2) A shipowner who has a lien on the cargo for freight or demurrage, when he has the opportunity of unloading the cargo, cannot keep the cargo on the ship & then claim for the detention of the ship. —(MODESTO) PINEIRO & CO. v. DUPRE & CO. (1902), 86 L. T. 560 ; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 297 ; 7 Com. Cas. 105 ; 18 T. L. R. 351.

Annotation :—As to (1) Refd. Larsen v. Sylvester (1908), 99 L. T. 94.

2784. Notice of arrival.]—In an action by a shipowner against the charterers for not loading a cargo of coals pursuant to a charterparty by the terms of which the owner engaged that the vessel, then in the port of Sunderland, being tight, etc., should with all possible dispatch proceed direct to the South Dock, Sunderland, & there load, in the usual & customary manner, at any one of the collieries the freighters might name, a full cargo of coals, etc., which the freighters bound themselves to ship by a given day, for Calcutta, defts. pleaded that they had not any notice of the ship having proceeded to & having arrived at the South Dock, & of her being ready to receive cargo, wherefore they did not nor could ! ad :—Held : the allegation in the plea must be treated as an allegation of fact, meaning that by reason of want of notice of the ship's arrival at the dock & being ready to load, defts. were prevented loading her ; & so read, the plea was an answer to the action.—STANTON v. AUSTIN (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 651 ; 41 L. J. C. P. 218.

Annotation :—Refd. Davies v. McLean (1873), 21 W. R. 264.

2785. ——.]—GORDON v. POWIS (1892), 8 T. L. R. 397.

What is an " arrived ship "—Calculation of demurrage.]—See Sect. 8, sub-sect. 2, B., post.

(b) " So Near thereto as She may Safely Get."

2786. Meaning of provision.]—The stipulation in a charterparty that a vessel shall proceed to a certain place, or as near thereto as she can safely get, & there load a full cargo, means a place to which she can safely get, & from which, when loaded, she can safely get away.

Under the terms of a charterparty, pltf.'s ship was to proceed to B., or as near thereto as she could safely get, & to load from deft.'s agent a full cargo of timber. The vessel proceeded within the harbour at B., & there received a portion of the cargo, but owing to want of water she was then taken without the bar, but as near as she could safely get, where it was requested that the rest of the cargo should be delivered, which was refused : —Held : pltf. had complied with the charterparty, & deft. was liable for such refusal.—SHIELD v. WILKINS (1850), 5 Exch. 304 ; 19 L. J. Ex. 238 ; 155 E. R. 130.

Annotations :—Consd. General Steam Navigation Co. v. Slipper (1862), 11 C. B. N. S. 493. Distd. Dahl v. Nelson, Donkin (1880), 6 App. Cas. 38. Apld. The Alhambra (1881), 6 P. D. 68. Consd. Nielsen v. Wait (1885), 14 Q. B. D. 516. Refd. Reynolds v. Tomlinson (1896), 65 L. J. Q. B. 496.

2787. Application of provision—Obstacles affecting arrival or departure—At & from port of loading.]—SHIELD v. WILKINS, No. 2786, ante.

2788. —— —— ——.]—Defts. agreed by a charterparty that the ship should proceed to Galatz, or as near thereto as she could safely get, & there load a cargo, the act of God, etc., & every other dangers & accidents of the seas, rivers, & navigation during the voyage excepted. The ship arrived on Nov. 5, off the mouth of the Danube. At that time, & until Jan. 7, following, the water was unusually low on the bar & the ship was unable to cross. On Dec. 11 she was obliged by stress of weather to go to Odessa as the nearest safe port, where she afterwards took in a cargo & sailed for England. On & after Jan. 7 there was sufficient water in the port for the ship to have crossed & to have gone up to Galatz & there shipped a cargo :—Held : under these circumstances, there was a breach of the charterparty, & defts. were not justified in putting an end to the contract by any of the excepted causes.—SCHILIZZI v. DERRY (1855), 4 E. & B. 873 ; 3 C. L. R. 1160 ; 24 L. J. Q. B. 193 ; 25 L. T. O. S. 66 ; 1 Jur. N. S. 795 ; 3 W. R. 374 ; 119 E. R. 324.

Annotations :—Apld. Metcalfe v. Britannia Ironworks Co. (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 613. Consd. The Alhambra (1880), 5 P. D. 256 ; Dahl v. Nelson, Donkin (1881), 6 App. Cas. 38. Distd. Horsley v. Price (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 244. Refd. General Steam Navigation Co. v. Slipper (1862), 5 L. T. 641 ; Gibson v. Hillstrom (1869), 21 L. T. 302 ; Nielsen v. Wait (1885), 14 Q. B. D. 516.

2789. —— —— ——.]—By the terms of a charterparty, pltf.'s ship, a steam vessel, was to proceed to H., to be there ready to load by a given day, or so near thereunto as she might safely get, & there load from the factors of the merchant such quantity of oxen, sheep, &/or other lawful produce which the merchant might find it convenient to ship, not exceeding what she could reasonably stow & carry over & above her tackle, etc., &, being so loaded, was to proceed therewith to London, & deliver the same on being paid freight a lump sum of £450. Two working days were allowed for loading & discharging, & three days on demurrage. The cargo to be taken to & from alongside at the merchant's risk & expense. Arrived at H., the vessel went alongside the jetty, & received on board a number of barrels of hams & 300 head of live stock, for which the captain signed bills of lading. Being thus laden, the vessel was found to draw too much water to get over the bar, & the captain was consequently obliged to take out all the stock. He then proposed to the charterer's agent to stow on board so many of the cattle as would enable him to pass over the bar, & to remain outside & there take in the remainder at the charterer's expense & risk. The agent declined to accede to this, & refused to put any of the cattle again on board, unless the captain would take all. Being unable to come to terms, the captain proceeded on his voyage with only the hams on board :—Held : under these circumstances, the owners were not entitled either to the stipulated freight or to damages for the refusal to ship the cargo ; for although the captain was not obliged to go within the bar at all, yet, having chosen to do so, & having received the cargo on board, & signed bills of lading, he was bound to find his way to his destination.—GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. v. SLIPPER (1862), 11 C. B. N. S.

fixed period after the ship's arrival, in respect that the ship cannot be regarded as having arrived at the port of loading until it is placed by the shipowner at the disposal of the charterer. —WHITES, ETC. v. THE WINCHESTER (1886), 13 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 524 ; 23 Sc. L. R. 342.—SCOT.

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—C. (b).

2787 1. Application of provision—Obstacles affecting arrival or departure—At & from port of loading.]—GIFFORD & CO. v. DISHINGTON & CO. (1871), 9 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 1045 ; 43 Sc. Jur. 554.—SCOT.

a. Ship unable to enter port or lie there without previous lightening—" Safe port or as near thereunto as she may safely get always afloat."]—GRAHAM & CO. v. MERVANJI NUSSERVANJI (1881), I. L. R. 5 Bom. 539.—IND.

493; 31 L. J. C. P. 185; 5 L. T. 641; 8 Jur. N. S. 821; 10 W. R. 316; 1 Mar. L. C. 180; 142 E. R. 888.

Annotation:—Reld. Carlton S.S. Co. v. Castle Mail Packets Co. (1897), 66 L. J. Q. B. 819.

2790. —— —— ——.] — DAHL v. NELSON, DONKIN & Co., No. 3471, post.

2791. —— —— ——.]—If a ship is prevented from going to the loading place which the charterer has a right to name by obstacles caused by the charterer or in consequence of the engagements of the charterer, the lay days commence to count as soon as the ship is ready to load & would but for such obstacles or engagements begin to load at such place.

By a charterparty a ship was to proceed to B., or so near thereto as she could safely get, & there load as customary, always afloat, at such wharf, jetty, or anchorage as the charterers' agent might direct, a certain cargo. Owing to her draught the ship could not have loaded fully at the berth at the jetty, but according to the custom of the port she would be moved when partly loaded from the jetty to an anchorage to complete loading:—Held: the lay days did not begin to run until the ship was at the jetty or anchorage the charterers' agent directed, & the fact that she could not fully load there made no difference & did not prevent the charterers requiring her to come to the jetty & claiming that the lay days did not commence until she was at the jetty.—AKT. INGLEWOOD v. MILLAR'S KARRI & JARRAH FORESTS, LTD. (1903), 88 L. T. 559; 19 T. L. R. 405; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 411; 8 Com. Cas. 196.

Arrival for purposes of unloading.]—See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 1, B. (b), post.

D. Fitness to Receive Cargo.

(a) In General.

2792. Seaworthiness—Duty of shipowner.]—TOWSE v. HENDERSON, No. 1911, ante.

2793. —— ——.]—STEEL v. STATE LINE S.S. Co., No. 2693, ante.

2794. —— ——.]—A bill of lading of skeepskins exempted the shipowners from liability (inter alia) "for loss or damage resulting from the consequence of any injury to or defect in hull, tackle, or machinery . . . however such defect or injury may be caused & notwithstanding that the same may have existed at or at any time before the loading or sailing of the vessel . . . & whether . . . the loss or injury arising therefrom be occasioned by the . . . negligence of the . . . owners, masters, officers . . . crew, & whether before, or after, or during the voyage or for whose acts the shipowner would otherwise be liable, or by unseaworthiness of the ship at the beginning or at any period of the voyage, provided all reasonable means have been taken to provide against such unseaworthiness." Some of the sheepskins were damaged by fresh water which escaped from a pipe which was broken at the time when the cargo was loaded.

In an action by the indorsees of the bill of lading against the shipowners for the damage to the sheepskins, defts. admitted that the vessel was not fit to receive cargo at the time when the sheepskins were loaded, & that reasonable means had not been taken to provide against that unfitness, but defts. claimed exemption from liability under the terms on the bill of lading:—Held: the clause relating to unseaworthiness did not create an additional exception, but was a qualification of the prior exceptions; it included unfitness of the ship to receive the cargo; & as the shipowners had not taken reasonable means to provide against that unfitness, they were liable for the loss.

Primâ facie the term "unseaworthiness" in a bill of lading includes unfitness of the ship to carry the cargo as well as unfitness to encounter the perils of navigation.

With reference to the carriage of goods by sea, the law implies certain warranties on the part of the shipowner. It puts upon him certain obligations which will always bind him, unless there are in the contract clear & express words which without ambiguity relieve him from that which I may call his common law obligations (VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, L.J.).

Shipowners have been for a long time endeavouring to limit the general liability cast upon them by law as carriers by sea by inserting special exceptions without going the length of excepting their liability in respect of the warranty of seaworthiness & they have been, as I understand, from time to time extending the special exceptions. I think, however, I am right in saying that as a principle of construction the warranty of seaworthiness will be held not to have been excepted unless it plainly appears that it was intended to except it (ROMER, L.J.).—RATHBONE BROTHERS & Co. v. MACIVER (D.) SONS & Co., [1903] 2 K. B. 378; 72 L. J. K. B. 703; 89 L. T. 378; 52 W. R. 68; 19 T. L. R. 590; 47 Sol. Jo. 653; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 467; 8 Com. Cas. 303, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Borthwick v. Elderslie S.S. Co., [1904] 1 K. B. 319. Consd. The West Cock, [1911] P. 208.

2795. —— Vessel in leaky state.]—BREED v. YATES (1839), 8 L. T. 802.

2796. —— Defective valve chest.] — (1) The warranty, which is primâ facie implied in a contract for the carriage of goods by sea, that the ship is fit for the reception of the cargo, is an absolute warranty; & the incorporation in the bill of lading of the provisions of the Act of Congress known as the Harter Act does not cut down the obligation of the shipowner in that respect to an obligation to exercise due diligence to make the ship fit for that purpose.

The above warranty is a warranty only as to the condition of the ship at the time of loading; it does not continue in force after the goods are once on board.

(2) Defts. received on board their ship for carriage certain goods of pltf. After the goods were on board the ship's engineer had occasion to open a sluice-door in a watertight bulkhead in the lower part of the ship. He shortly afterwards shut the sluice-door, but failed to screw it down so closely as to make it water-tight. He subsequently proceeded to fill one of the ballast tanks, for which purpose he opened a sea-cock in the ship's side to allow the water to flow in. The water, on its way from the sea-cock to the ballast tank, passed through a valve-chest, the joint between the lid & body of which had been packed in the ordinary way with cotton to make it watertight.

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—D. (a).

2795. Seaworthiness—Vessel in leaky state.]—ROBERT & CHARRIOL v. ISAAC (1870), 6 B. L. R. App. 20.—IND.

b. Vessel not ready in reasonable time.]—BROWN v. LAMONT (1871), 32 U. C. R. 167.—CAN.

c. Construction of words.] — The words "ready to receive cargo" inserted in a shipping order mean that the ship, on the day named in the shipping order, shall be ready to receive a full cargo by whomsoever offered, & not merely ready to receive the quantum of cargo mentioned in the shipping order.—TAYLOR v. BROOKE (1864), 1 Bom. A. C. App. XLVIII.—IND.

d. Receipt of excessive quantity of freight—Precluding reshipment of goods within reasonable time.]—Where the following clause in a bill of lading

Sect. 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 1, D. (a) & (b), & E. (a).]

This joint had been remade shortly before the pltf.'s goods were put on board, & it had been imperfectly done. When the tank was full the engineer screwed down the sea-cock, but, owing to the accidental presence of some hard substance, the screw-valve was prevented from bedding down closely on to its seating & the sea-cock was left partially open, with the result that the continued pressure of the water forced out the defective packing of the valve-chest, & the water flowed through the joint down into the lower part of the ship where it passed through the sluice-door into the cargo hold & damaged the pltf.'s goods:—Held: the defective fitting of the sea-cock & of the sluice-door, being defects which came into existence after pltf.'s goods were loaded, were not breaches of the implied warranty of the fitness of the ship to receive the cargo; but the defective packing of the valve-chest, being an existing defect at the time of the loading of the goods, was a breach of the warranty.

Whether a particular defect is sufficiently substantial to amount to a breach of the warranty must in all cases be a question of fact; but it is a question of fact which must be determined by certain rules. The rule applicable to the present case is that a vessel must have that degree of fitness which an ordinary careful & prudent owner would require his vessel to have at the commencement of her voyage having regard to all the probable circumstances of it. To that extent the shipowner, as we have seen, undertakes absolutely that she is fit, & ignorance is no excuse. If the defect existed, the question to be put is, would a prudent owner have required that it should be made good before sending his ship to sea had he known of it? If he would, the ship was not seaworthy within the meaning of the undertaking (CHANNELL, J.).—MCFADDEN v. BLUE STAR LINE, [1905] 1 K. B. 697; 74 L. J. K. B. 423; 93 L. T. 52; 53 W. R. 576; 21 T. L. R. 345; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 55; 10 Com. Cas. 123.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Hordern v. Commonwealth & Dominion Line, [1917] 2 K. B. 420. Consd. Royal Exchange Assce. v. Kingsley Navigation Co., [1923] A. C. 235. As to (2) Consd. New York & Cuba Mail S.S. Co. v. Eriksen & Christensen (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 330; The Christel Vinnen, [1924] P. 61; Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522; Reed v. Page & East, [1927] 1 K. B. 743. Refd. The Northumbria (1906), 95 L. T. 618.

—.]—See, generally, Sect. 6, sub-sect. 1, post.

2797. Defective refrigerating machinery.]—A cargo of frozen meat was shipped on board a steamship at Melbourne, in Australia, for carriage to London. The ship was fitted with refrigerating machinery. The bill of lading was headed "Refrigerator bill." It described the cargo as consisting of 4,553 carcases of hard frozen mutton, & stated that they were shipped in apparent good order & condition, & were to be delivered in London in the like good order & condition, subject to the exceptions thereinafter mentioned. The bill of lading contained the following clause: "Steamer shall not be accountable (inter alia) for the condition of goods shipped under this bill of lading, nor for any loss or damage thereto arising from failure or breakdown of machinery, insulation, or other appliances. . . . ." In an action by the shippers against the shipowners for damages for injury to the cargo, by reason of the breaking down of the refrigerating machinery during the voyage:—Held: the bill of lading contained an implied warranty that the refrigerating machinery was at the time of shipment fit to carry the frozen meat in good condition to Europe, & the exceptions applied only to what might happen during the voyage, & not to the original fitness of the machinery.—THE MAORI KING (CARGO OWNERS) v. HUGHES, [1895] 2 Q. B. 550; 65 L. J. Q. B. 168; 73 L. T. 141; 44 W. R. 2; 11 T. L. R. 550; 39 Sol. Jo. 688; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 65; 14 R. 646, C. A.

Annotations: — Apld. Queensland National Bank v. Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Co., [1898] 1 Q. B. 567; Rathbone v. MacIver, [1903] 2 K. B. 378; Rowson v. Atlantic Transport Co., [1903] 1 K. B. 114. Consd. The West Cock, [1911] P. 208. Refd. Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522.

2798. ——.]—NELSON LINE (LIVERPOOL), LTD. v. NELSON (JAMES) & SONS, LTD., No. 3056, post.

2799. —— Defective boilers—Repudiation of contract by charterers.]—Defts. chartered a steamer from pltfs. upon the terms of a charterparty which provided (inter alia) that the steamer "being tight, staunch & strong & in every way fitted for the intended voyage . . . shall load . . . in Buenos Aires. . . . Should the steamer not be ready to load by 6 p.m. on Nov. 25, 1920, charterers shall have the option of cancelling this charterparty. The steamer reached her loading place at Buenos Aires on Nov. 25, 1920, & at 7 p.m. on that day the master gave notice of readiness to load. At the time when notice of readiness to load was given the steamer's boilers required repair, & there was no prospect of the repairs being completed for at least ten days, until the repairs had been completed & the boilers tested, a certificate of seaworthiness could not have been obtained. The charterers refused to load the ship under the charterparty, & cancelled the charterparty under the cancelling clause. The question whether the charterers were entitled to do so was referred to arbitration & the umpire decided in their favour, subject to the opinion of the court upon a case stated. On argument of the case:—Held: upholding the award, the charterers were entitled to refuse to load on the ground that the steamer was unseaworthy, & not, as provided by the charterparty, "tight, staunch & strong & in every way fitted for the intended voyage" at the time when the chartered service began, & there was no reasonable certainty when she would be ready for the intended voyage by the time the loading was finished.—NEW YORK & CUBA MAIL S.S. CO. v. ERIKSEN & CHRISTENSEN (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 330.

2800. Failure to clean.]—Frozen meat shipped for carriage from Melbourne to London arrived tainted with carbolic acid, with which the ship had been disinfected before shipment. The bill of lading contained two exception clauses. The first exempted the shipowner from liability for damage to goods whether arising from a defect existing at the time of the shipment or not, or from the neglect of the master or crew, or from any other cause whatsoever. The second clause also exempted the shipowner from liability for damage from defects, etc., "if reasonable means have been taken to provide against such defects & unseaworthiness":—Held: upon the true construction of the bill of lading the generality occurred:—"In case the whole or any part of the goods specified herein be prevented from any cause from going in said steamer, the shipowners are only bound to forward them by the succeeding steamer of this line, & incur no further penalty":—Held: under such a clause the carriers would not be justified in receiving for carriage by their ship such an excessive of freight as to preclude themselves from the ability to re-ship the shippers' goods within a reasonable time.—GIBB v. ALLAN (1883), 6 Nfld. L. R. 499.—NFLD.

of the first clause was qualified by the second clause, & reasonable care not having been taken in cleansing the ship before shipment, the shipowner was liable for the damage in an action brought by an indorsee of the bill.—ELDERSLIE S.S. Co. v. BORTHWICK, [1905] A. C. 93; 74 L. J. K. B. 338; 92 L. T. 274; 53 W. R. 401; 21 T. L. R. 277; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 24; 10 Com. Cas. 109, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. BORTHWICK v. ELDERSLIE S.S. Co., [1904] 1 K. B. 319, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Nelson Line (Liverpool) v. Nelson, [1908] A. C. 16. Consd. South American Export Syndicate v. Federation Steam Navigation Co. (1909), 100 L. T. 270; Wiener v. Wilsons & Furness-Leyland Line (1910), 102 L. T. 716; Ingram & Royle v. Services Maritimes du Tréport, [1913] 1 K. B. 538; Mitsui v. Watts, Watts, [1916] 2 K. B. 826. Refd. Chartered Bank of India, Australia & China v. British India Steam Navigation Co., [1909] A. C. 369; Rosin & Turpentine Import Co. v. Jacobs (1909), 101 L. T. 56; The West Cock, [1911] P. 23; Morrison v. Shaw, Savill & Albion Co., [1916] 1 K. B. 747; Denholm v. Shipping Controller (1920), 124 L. T. 378; Atlantic Shipping & Trading Co. v. Dreyfus, [1922] 2 A. C. 250; Ambatielos v. Anton Jurgens Margarine Works, [1923] A. C. 175; Layton v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1923), 130 L. T. 662; Brightman v. Bunge y Born, [1924] 2 K. B. 619; Alison v. Wallsend Slipway & Engineering Co. (1926), 43 T. L. R. 104; United States Shipping Board v. Strick, [1926] A. C. 545. Mentd. The Forfarshire, [1908] P. 339; Churm v. Dalton Main Collieries, [1916] 1 A. C. 612; Lebeaupin v. Crispin, [1920] 2 K. B. 714; Aron v. Comptoir Wegimont, [1921] 3 K. B. 435; Szymonowski v. Beck, [1923] 1 K. B. 457; Lancaster v. Turner, [1924] 2 K. B. 222; Lake v. Simmons, [1926] 1 K. B. 366.

Fitness for carriage of animals.]—See ANIMALS, Vol. II., p. 300, Nos. 689, 692.

See, also, Sect. 2, sub-sect. 6, F., ante.

(b) "Always Afloat."

2801. Application of provision.]—THE CURFEW, No. 1702, ante.

2802. ——.]—A charterparty provided that a ship should proceed to a named dock & "there load in the customary manner, Sundays & holidays excepted, always afloat as & where ordered by the charterers, a cargo of rails." The depth of water in the dock varied with the tides & was sufficient at spring tides, but not at neap tides, for a ship of the size of the chartered vessel to load there always afloat, & this was within the knowledge of the owners & of the charterers. The ship having arrived in the dock the charterers ordered her to a berth where the loading began & continued for several days; then the water began to fall, & to avoid taking the ground the ship was compelled to leave the dock. After several days she returned with the spring tides & completed her loading. The shipowners having sued the charterers for demurrage or damages:—Held: the charterers were not bound to do that which, as was known to the shipowners, might be physically impossible, namely, order the ship when she arrived to a berth where she could then load continuously always afloat, & they were not responsible for delay occasioned by natural & physical causes beyond their control.

The charterparty does not contain any provision to the effect that the ship shall "lie afloat." . . . It merely provides that she is to "load in the customary manner, always afloat." These words, according to their natural meaning, go no further than to impose a qualification of the charterer's right to load, by negativing his right to put cargo on board except at times when the ship is afloat (LORD WATSON).

There is no such thing as reasonable time in the abstract. The question is whether, having regard to all the obligations of the contract . . . more than a reasonable time has been taken in the performance of any one of these obligations in respect of which the parties have not, by their contract, expressed any limit of time for its performance (LORD HERSCHELL).—CARLTON S.S. Co. v. CASTLE MAIL PACKETS Co., [1898] A. C. 486; 67 L. J. Q. B. 795; 78 L. T. 661; 47 W. R. 65; 14 T. L. R. 469; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 402; 3 Com. Cas. 207, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Akt. Inglewood v. Millar's Karri & Jarrah Forests (1903), 88 L. T. 559. Refd. Barque Quilpué v. Brown, [1904] 2 K. B. 264; Darling v. Raeburn, [1907] 1 K. B. 846; Jardine, Matheson v. Clyde Shipping Co., [1910] 1 K. B. 627.

2803. ——.]—AKT. INGLEWOOD v. MILLAR'S KARRI & JARRAH FORESTS, LTD., No. 2791, ante.

E. Readiness to Load.

(a) In General.

2804. Whether readiness condition precedent.]—By a memorandum of charter between pltf., the captain & part owner, & defts., merchants, it was agreed that the ship should load in the London Dock, & there receive & take on board all such lawful goods as might be required by the charterers, & should therewith proceed to Geelong, & there deliver the cargo agreeably to the bills of lading; that the captain should attend daily at the broker's office to sign bills of lading as customary; that the whole of the ship should be at the disposal of the charterers for the conveyance of goods & specie, excepting cabin & room for officers, crew, & stores; that, if gunpowder were shipped, the same was to be taken on board where ordered below Blackwall, as customary, etc.: in consideration whereof the charterers agreed to pay freight for use & hire of the ship £1,400 with a gratuity of 25 guineas to the master, payable before leaving London: the freight to be paid as follows: so much as might be payable in the colony by bills of lading, to the extent of £800, to be taken & received in part payment, & balance £600 in cash, less seventy days' discount from the date of clearing from London: forty running days were to be allowed the charterers, Sundays & holidays excepted, if the ship were not sooner dispatched, for loading the said ship, to commence from date of her being ready at her loading berth to receive cargo: the owner further engaged that the ship should be ready to sail for her destined port at the expiration of the said laying days, or sooner if required by the charterers: if the ship were not ready either on the owner's or charterers' part at above-named dates, then demurrage to be paid by the party in default, at the rate of £7 per diem: the ship to be ready on or before Nov. 10, or charterers to have the option of cancelling that agreement: penalty for non-performance of the agreement £1,400: should bills of lading not represent £800 payable in Geelong to cover the balance due, then the difference to be paid in cash before sailing from London. By a memorandum in the margin of the charterparty, the charterers were to have the option of shipping acids on deck to the extent of 5 tons measurement at shippers' risk, to which effect a clause was to be inserted in bills of lading:—Held: (1) the £600 & the 25 guineas being by the terms of the contract payable on the sailing of the ship, when that event happened those sums were payable

---

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—E. (a).

2805. Meaning of readiness—Ship in ballast.]—A charterparty provided that the vessel was to receive cargo at Quebec, "on or before Aug. 10 next, or this charter is cancelled." The vessel arrived in port in ballast only on the morning of the 10th, & no ballast was discharged on that day. On the same afternoon the ship's agent notified the ship's charterer by protest that the ship was ready for loading, & demanded a cargo, which the latter refused to give, on request, & were recoverable upon common indebitatus count; & that the captain, who was a part owner, & with whom & in whose name the contract was made, might sue upon it alone; (2) the stipulation for the payment of the £600 was an independent stipulation, & the things to be done by pltf. before the clearing out of the ship were not conditions precedent to his right to sue for that sum; (3) the stipulation that the captain should attend daily at the broker's office to sign bills of lading, was not a condition precedent to pltf.'s right to sue for the stipulated freight; (4) the stipulation that the ship should be ready (for loading) on or before Nov. 10, was a condition precedent; (5) the demurrage clause was not applicable to the case of a delay caused by the captain's refusal to receive on board goods which he bonâ fide but erroneously supposed that he was not bound to receive; (6) the charterers were not entitled to set off or deduct from pltf.'s claim in respect of the £600 freight, the expenses incurred by them in consequence of such refusal of the captain.—SEEGER v. DUTHIE (1860), 8 C. B. N. S. 45; 30 L. J. C. P. 65; 3 L. T. 478; 7 Jur. N. S. 239; 9 W. R. 166; 1 Mar. L. C. 3; 141 E. R. 1081, Ex. Ch.

Sect. 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 1, E. (a) & (b).]

Annotations:—As to (2) Refd. MacAndrew v. Chapple (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 643. As to (4) Refd. Behn v. Burness (1863), 2 New Rep. 184. Generally, Refd. Corkling v. Massey (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 395.

2805. Meaning of readiness—Whether fitness included.]—VAUGHAN v. CAMPBELL, HEATLEY & Co. (1885), 2 T. L. R. 33, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Sailing Ship Lyderhorn Co. v. Duncan Fox, [1909] 2 K. B. 929. Refd. United States Shipping Board v. Strick, [1926] A. C. 545.

2806. —— Whether ship to be moored at quay.]—In an action for damages for loss of freight & for demurrage, it was proved that defts., who carried on business at O., made a contract with the agent of pltf. in L., in the form of a letter signed by defts. & containing these clauses: "Steamer to load end of Nov. or early Dec.

Charterers having the option of cancelling if she is not ready to receive cargo by Dec. 12 next. Steamer to be loaded on usual berth terms, 2 per cent. commission to us."

Defts. had made contracts with merchants at O. for loading the vessel, the merchants having the power of cancelling if the vessel was not ready to load on Dec. 12, & the vessel was not to be considered ready to load until moored alongside the quay. Pltf. had no notice of these contracts.

The vessel arrived at O. on Dec. 10, & her stern having been fastened to the breakwater, the captain gave defts. notice that he was ready to receive cargo, but the merchants refused to take notice that the vessel was "ready to receive cargo," until she was moored alongside the quay, which could not be done before Dec. 18. Meantime the merchants cancelled their contracts with defts., & the vessel was loaded at a lower rate of freight than that specified in the contract:—Held: (1) defts. were liable as principals, as they had contracted in their own names without any qualifications; (2) pltf. was entitled to recover damages for the loss of freight, as the vessel was "ready to receive cargo" within the meaning of the contract, although not moored alongside the quay, & the matter was not affected by an alleged custom at the port of O., that a vessel was not to be considered "ready to receive cargo" until moored alongside the quay; (3) pltf. was not entitled to damages for demurrage of detention of the vessel after Dec. 12 as the contract came to an end on that date.—HICK v. TWEEDY & Co. (1890), 63 L. T. 765; 7 T. L. R. 144; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 599.

Annotations:—As to (2) Refd. United States Shipping Board v. Strick, [1926] A. C. 545. Generally, Refd. Akt. Nordiska Lloyd v. Brownlie (Hull) (1925), 41 T. L. R. 294.

2807. —— Vessel in quarantine.]—GRAMPIAN S.S. Co., LTD. v. CARVER & Co. (1893), 9 T. L. R. 210.

Annotation:—Refd. United States Shipping Board v. Strick, [1926] A. C. 545.

2808. —— Steamer in dock—Though not at loading berth.]—RAYNER v. REDERIAKT. CONDOR, No. 3912, post.

2809. —— All holds empty.]—A ship to be "ready to load" must be completely ready & discharged in all her holds, so as to give the charterer complete control of every portion of the ship available for cargo.—GROVES, MACLEAN & Co. v. VOLKART BROTHERS (1885), 1 T. L. R. 454, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Sailing Ship Lyderhorn Co. v. Duncan Fox, [1909] 2 K. B. 929.

2810. —— Previous cargo partly undischarged—Master's request for stiffening refused.]—By a charterparty of Nov. 15, 1907, it was agreed between pltfs. & defts. that the ship Lyderhorn should proceed to load at Iquique & Caleta Buena & there receive from the agents of defts. a full cargo of nitrate of soda. Twenty-five lay days were to be allowed to the merchants for loading the ship & for waiting orders abroad; lay days to be reckoned from the day after the master should give notice to charterers' agents of being ready to receive cargo & not to commence before Jan. 1, 1908, at the respective ports, & to cease when they should give him notice that he was at liberty to proceed to sea. Stiffening of nitrate to be supplied as required at Iquique, but not before Dec. 10, on receipt of forty-eight hours' notice from captain of his readiness to receive the same. Time occupied in discharging ballast or in shifting ports not to count as lay days. Demurrage was provided for. Freight was payable at 16*s.* a ton. "Should the vessel not have arrived at her loading port & be ready for loading, in accordance with this charter, on or before noon of Jan. 31, 1908, charterers to have the option of cancelling this charter." At the date of the charterparty the Lyderhorn was at Caleta Buena discharging a cargo of coal & intended to complete her discharge at Iquique. She arrived at Iquique on Dec. 13, & by Jan. 27, 1908, had discharged as much of her cargo of coal as could safely be unladen without some stiffening. The captain therefore gave notice to defts.' agents that he required 700 tons of nitrate for stiffening, but they refused to supply it unless he would agree to redeliver it if the charterparty was cancelled. It was admitted that the whole of the coal could not have been discharged by noon of Jan. 31, 1908. Defts. on that day cancelled the charterparty, & the shipowners brought this action to decide whether they were entitled to do so, & for damages:—Held: the vessel was not ready for loading within the meaning of the charterparty, & defts. were entitled to cancel it.—LYDERHORN SAILING SHIP Co., LTD. v. DUNCAN FOX & Co., [1909] 2 K. B. 929; 79 alleging that the said ship was not ready to receive cargo according to agreement:—Held: the charterparty had become cancelled according to its terms, the ship not being ready to receive cargo or fulfil its obligations either literally, substantially or according to the usage of trade at Quebec.—PATTERSON v. KNIGHT (1878), 4 Q. L. R. 187.—CAN.

f. —— Time limit for loading.]—A ship, by the terms of the charter, was to load grain at Fort William before noon of Dec. 5:—Held: to load at Fort William meant to load at the

L. J. K. B. 105; 101 L. T. 295; 25 T. L. R. 739; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 291; 14 Com. Cas. 293, C. A.

Annotation:—Reid. Armement Adolf Deppe v. Robinson, [1917] 2 K. B. 204.

2811. —— —— Bunker coal.]—Held: on the evidence a steamship was ready to load a cargo of maize, notwithstanding that she had, when tendered to the charterers, a large quantity of coal stored on deck between the bulwarks & the raised coamings, which coal had formed part of the outward cargo & was bought by the shipowner as bunker coal for the homeward voyage.—LONDON TRADERS SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. GENERAL MERCANTILE SHIPPING CO., LTD. (1914), 30 T. L. R. 493, C. A.

2812. —— All shifting boards in position.]—A steamer was chartered to bring a grain cargo from the Danube to Western Europe. The charterparty provided: "Cargo shall be loaded at the average rate of 450 units per running day. . . . Time for loading to count from the morning after steamer's arrival . . . she being then . . . ready to load in all her holds & notice of readiness given. . . . Captain to declare in writing upon arrival at first loading port the quantity required for a full cargo. . . . Should lighterage be required, captain to declare in writing on steamer's arrival at first loading port the quantity of cargo he requires to be loaded from lighters." If the steamer was detained longer than the time so stipulated, demurrage was to be paid at the rate of £40 per running day.

The steamer arrived at Braila on June 4, 1923, & on that day notice of readiness to load was given, but on June 5, 6 & 7, work was still in progress in connection with the erection of shifting boards. Part of the cargo having been loaded at Braila, further cargo was taken in at Galatz, & this left a balance to be taken in from lighters in Sulina roads.

In an arbn. on the question for how many days demurrage was due from the charterers to the shipowners, the arbitrator found that it was a custom for the lighterage portion of cargo to be supplied in lighers in the river & the time occupied in loading same into the steamer at Sulina did not count against the charterers, & that it was a custom for charterers to count the lay days in respect of the cargo loaded in the river in accordance with the rate of loading provided by contract as applied to the whole cargo including the lighterage portion, but that the custom was not reasonable & did not bind the owners:—Held: (1) the number of days which the charterers were entitled to take in loading was to be ascertained by dividing 450 into a number of units shipped up-river & not into the total number of units including the portion of the cargo loaded from lighters at Sulina, & the custom to the contrary was unreasonable & directly contradicted by the contract; (2) as a general rule the whole of the shifting boards must be in position before the ship could be said to be ready, & there was nothing in this case to estop the charterers from contending that this general rule applied.—SUN SHIPPING CO., LTD. v. WATSON & YOUELL SHIPPING AGENCY, LTD. (1926), 42 T. L. R. 240.

2813. Notice of readiness — Necessity for.]—Where, by the terms of a charterparty, a ship is to proceed to a certain port, & there to load a full cargo for the agents of the freighter, but the freighter has no interest in the outward cargo, his agents are entitled to notice from the captain, that the vessel is ready to receive her homeward cargo; & if no such notice be given, the freighter is not liable for not providing such cargo.—FAIRBRIDGE v. PACE (1844), 1 Car. & Kir. 317, N. P.

2814. —— Effect of failure to give.]—The owners of a steamship chartered her to defts. to go to the Humber & load a cargo as ordered. The charterparty provided: (3B) The cargo to be loaded in eighty-four running hours. . . . Time to count when written notice of readiness to receive cargo is handed in to the office of the charterers' agents on weekdays between the hours of 9 a.m. & 6 p.m. & noon on Saturdays. (7) If steamer be prevented from entering harbour or docks or from arriving at or off loading place by reason of congestion of shipping or shore traffic (not due to strikes . . .), she is to be treated as a ready steamer from first high water on or after arrival at or off harbour or docks or so near thereunto as she may be permitted to approach & entitled thereupon to give written notice of readiness. . . . (8) If steamer be not loaded in the time allowed she is to lie on demurrage at the rate of . . . (11) Time for loading unless used not to count before 6 a.m. on March 21; & charterers to have option of cancelling this charter . . . if steamer is not ready from any cause on or before 6 a.m. on April 3. The vessel was ordered to load at Hull & arrived off the docks about 2 p.m. on Saturday, Mar. 31, 1923, & pltfs. alleged that from that time she was ready to load. The first high water after her arrival was at 5.21 p.m. on the same day. The following Monday being Easter Monday notice of readiness to load could not be given before 9 a.m. on Tuesday, Apr. 3, & the master then gave notice of readiness, but defts. claimed to cancel the charterparty under clause 11 on the ground that the vessel was not ready before 6 a.m. on that day. In an action for damages for breach of the charterparty:—Held: on the construction of the particular words of the charterparty, that as the vessel was under clause 7 to be treated as a ready steamer on the Saturday & as failure to give notice of readiness by a certain time did not give defts. an option of cancellation under clause 11, the pltfs. were entitled to recover.—AKT. NORDISKA LLOYD v. BROWNLIE (C.) & CO. (HULL), LTD. (1925), 41 T. L. R. 503; 69 Sol. Jo. 661; 30 Com. Cas. 307, C. A.

2815. —— Ship damaged after notice given.]—REEDEREI KIRCHNER & CO. v. HUGO STINNES G. M. B. H. (1924), 157 L. T. Jo. 284.

2816. —— Making binding obligation to load in time—Obligation not operating till time arrives.]—UNITED STATES SHIPPING BOARD v. STRICK, No. 4423, post.

2816a. Readiness prevented by vis major—Action of foreign government.]—By a charterparty it was agreed that deft.'s ship, the R., should, after loading "dead weight" at M., proceed to V., a Spanish port, & there load a cargo of fruit for pltf. At the time of entering into the charterparty pltf. knew that the "dead weight" intended to be put on board the R. at M. would consist of military stores, & he knew that by the ordinary law of Spain a vessel with warlike stores on board would not be allowed to load at a Spanish port. Upon application being made to the Spanish Govt. to relax the prohibition, permission to load elevator there; & the obligation of the shipowner was to have the vessel placed under the elevator in time to be loaded before the expiration of the time limit; & where, finding several vessels ahead of him, the captain saw that he could not be loaded by the time fixed, & left to save insurance, the obligation was not fulfilled, & the owner could not recover damages.—MIDLAND NAVIGATION CO. v. DOMINION ELEVATOR CO. (1904), 34 S. C. R. 578; 24 C. L. T. 202; 2 O. W. R. 754.—CAN.

Sect. 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 1, E. (a) & (b), F. (a) & (b).]

was refused. The R. arrived at V. with the warlike stores on board, but otherwise ready & fit to load the agreed cargo: she left immediately on learning that permission to load would not be granted:—Held: pltf. could not sue defts. for not having the R. ready to load, for, through the act of a superior power, the parties were unable to perform their respective duties under the contract, pltf. being unable to load the cargo, & defts. to receive it.—CUNNINGHAM v. DUNN (1878), 3 C. P. D. 443; 48 L. J. Q. B. 62; 38 L. T. 631; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 595, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. The Austin Friars (1894), 71 L. T. 27. Apld. Ralli v. Compañia Naviera Sota y Aznar, [1920] 2 K. B. 287. Expld. Cantiere Navale Triestina v. Russian Soviet Naphtha Export Agency, [1925] 2 K. B. 172.

2817. "Expected ready to load"—At given date.]—SANDAY & Co. v. KEIGHLEY, MAXTED & Co., SANDAY (S.) & Co. v. HILLERNS & FOWLER, No. 1845, ante.

(b) Obtaining Pratique.

2818. Necessity for.]—SMITH v. DART & SON, No. 1875, ante.

2819. ——.]—A ship that has not obtained pratique & is prohibited by regulations of the port from communicating with the shore is not "ready to load" within the meaning of those words in a charterparty.—THE AUSTIN FRIARS (1894), 71 L. T. 27; 10 T. L. R. 633; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 503; 6 R. 739.

Annotations:—Refd. New York & Cuba Mail S.S. Co. v. Eriksen & Christensen (1922), 27 Com. Cas. 330; Cantiere Navale Triestina v. Russian Soviet Naphtha Export Agency, [1925] 2 K. B. 172.

F. Failure to have Ship in Readiness—Damages.

(a) In General.

2820. Penalty for failure to provide—Recovery of damages in excess of penalty.]—HARRISON v. WRIGHT, No. 1968, ante.

2821. Natural & necessary consequences of failure to provide ship—Damages in former action against charterers for failure to supply homeward cargo—Charterer prevented from obtaining cargo—In consequence of failure to provide ship.]—A ship's husband covenanted that his ship should at one port take in a quantity of brandy & convey it to another port, & there receive a cargo of fruit, etc., which the freighters of the ship covenanted to supply. He did not take the brandy, & the freighters did not furnish a full homeward cargo; for which he recovered damages against them. They afterwards brought an action against his widow & representative to recover damages for the breach of his covenant:—Held: they could not recover in any shape, in that action, either the damages they had paid him or the costs they had incurred in defending the former action, although they were prevented from obtaining the homeward cargo by the neglect of the ship's husband in not taking in the brandy.

On the question of damages, they must be the necessary & immediate consequence, & not so remote as those sought to be recovered (TINDAL, C.J.).—WALTON v. FOTHERGILL (1835), 7 C. & P. 392, N. P.

2822. —— Expenses of detention paid to railway company—No expenses incurred if ordinary course of business followed.]—Defts., shipowners, contracted to load on board their ship, then lying at a berth in the London Docks, goods of pltfs. to arrive from a distance by the Great Western Ry., the goods to be alongside by a day named. Pltfs. thereupon agreed with the dock co. that the latter should haul the railway trucks containing the goods into the docks alongside the ship at a rate of 3*s.* per ton. In consequence of defts.' delay in loading the goods, the railway trucks were detained, & pltfs. became liable to pay demurrage to the railway co. If pltfs. had agreed with the dock co. for haulage of the trucks at the rate stated in the dock co.'s table of rates, namely, 3*s.* 9*d.* per ton, pltfs. would have been entitled to have the goods warehoused free of charge for three weeks, within which time the goods were in fact loaded by defts. In an action to recover from defts. the demurrage for detention of the railway trucks, defts. contended that, inasmuch as pltfs., if they had paid the usual rate for haulage, might have warehoused the goods free of charge, & would not, therefore, have incurred liability for demurrage, they could not recover it from defts., no notice having been given to defts. that the trucks were to be hauled, not upon the usual terms, but under a special bargain:—Held: the demurrage was the natural result of defts.' breach of contract, pltfs. were not bound to protect defts. against the natural result of a breach of contract by hauling the goods upon any particular terms, & pltfs., therefore, were entitled to recover.—WELCH, PERRIN & Co. v. ANDERSON & Co. (1891), 61 L. J. Q. B. 167; 66 L. T. 442; 8 T. L. R. 119; 36 Sol. Jo. 107; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 177, C. A.

2823. —— Delay in providing ship.]—Defts. both could & ought to have provided a ship fit in proper time to sail with the cargo on the stipulated voyage; they did not do so, & they failed to make out any excuse, in fact, which could avail them in answer to pltf.'s complaint. This breach caused a delay of fourteen days in the departure of the vessel, & really the only question is, what damages ought defts. to be called upon to pay. Defts., while denying liability, paid £300 into ct., saying that it was enough. Now, in dealing with a question of this kind, the ct. has to consider what the parties may reasonably be said to have had in contemplation at the time the contract was made; & for this purpose it is necessary to ascertain what circumstances were known to them. In the present case defts. knew that the object of the contract of charterparty was the carriage of a cargo of coal to Torre, & I think they must be taken also to have known that J. & co., or the persons for whom J. & co. were acting, wanted the coal for some purpose of trade, either to sell again before the vessel sailed or to sell or to use on or soon after arrival at Torre. This being so, I think that if they by their breach did delay or defeat any one of these possible objects of the charterparty contract, they must be held responsible for the "natural consequence" of such defeat or delay. What are the natural consequences of a delay of fourteen days in the transport of a cargo in these circumstances? The natural consequences are such as the parties as reasonable men may be supposed to have had in contemplation at the time they made the contract. These consequences may be very different indeed from the actual consequences of the breach, but these so-called natural consequences constitute the limit of legal liability (BIGHAM, J.).—GIACHETTI v. SPEEDING, & Co. (1899), 15 T. L. R. 401.

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—F. (a).

g. Allegation that master of vessel did not receive necessary orders.]—MCKENZIE v. DANCEY (1885), 12 A. R. 317.—CAN.

h. Condition to load & proceed with despatch—Plea that weather favourable.]—SPINDLER v. FARQUHAR (1905), 38 N. S. R. 183.—CAN.

k. Contract for freight—June shipment—Naming probable date of arrival of steamer—Later arrival no breach of contract.]—BEYTS, CRAIG & Co. v. MARTIN (1892), I. L. R. 16 Bom. 389.—IND.

l. Failure to provide ships according to agreement.]—DUNFORD & ELLIOT

2824. No damage in fact sustained.]—CLIPSHAM v. VERTUE, No. 3184, post.

2825. Action for breach—Averment of performance of conditions precedent—Tendering cargo, giving orders & naming port.]—In an action on a charterparty the declaration stated, that by a charterparty made between deft., the shipowner, & pltfs., it was agreed that the ship should proceed to two ports in Sicily, or usual place of loading, on & after the delivery of her outward cargo, & there load from pltfs.' factors a full cargo & thence proceed to Bristol, & that the vessel should have her orders before leaving Messina. Averment, that the ship arrived at Messina. Breach, that deft. within a reasonable time after the delivery of her outward cargo, & before pltfs. could have given orders for the ship to proceed to the said port, made a contract with other persons for the conveyance of goods from Messina, & therewith, & within such reasonable time as aforesaid, & before such reasonable time had elapsed, loaded his ship, & afterwards proceeded to London without taking on board the cargo agreed to be taken from pltfs., & thereby wholly incapacitated & deprived himself of the power of fulfilling the charterparty, although pltfs. within such reasonable time as aforesaid provided merchandise, & were ready & willing to load on board the said ship the said merchandise, & although pltfs. would have been ready & willing to have named & appointed, & given orders to defts. to proceed to two ports, & to have there loaded a full cargo :—Held : the declaration was bad for not showing performance by pltfs. of the conditions precedent of tendering a cargo giving orders, & naming a port, or not showing a sufficient excuse for non-performance thereof.—MATTHEWS v. LOWTHER (1850), 5 Exch. 574 ; 19 L. J. Ex. 364 ; 155 E. R. 251.

2826. Charterer prevented from fulfilling contract—Slight difference in dates of delivery in charterparty & contract immaterial.] — Pltfs., manufacturers of wood pulp at Stocka, Sweden, entered into a charterparty dated Jan. 20, 1900, with defts., shipowners of Glasgow, by which the latter agreed to carry 900–1,000 tons of wood pulp from Stocka to Cardiff, the cargo to be lifted in two shipments : " One in May (f.o.w.). The second in Aug.–Sept. (owner's option)." The ship was to have liberty to call at any port or ports in order to tow & assist vessels in distress, & to deviate for the purpose of saving life or property ; the owners to wire shippers of the cargo, Ströms Bruks, Stocka, six days' notice of readiness ; also ship's departure from last port. The contract was made by pltfs. with the view of enabling them to fulfil a contract, dated Dec. 4, 1899, for the sale & delivery of 900–1,000 tons of wood pulp to T. & co., Cardiff. The memorandum of sale contained a column of printed notes, opposite which were written particulars of the special terms of the contract. Against the note " Mode & place of delivery " were the words " C.i.f., Penarth Dock, Cardiff," & against the note " Time of delivery " the words " In two cargoes, first open water & Aug.–Sept. 1900." The first cargo, consisting of 500 tons, was duly forwarded & accepted by T. & co. ; but defts. wholly failed to fulfil their contract with regard to the second shipment, whereby pltfs. were unable to complete their contract with T. & co., who bought in against them 367 tons in several parcels in Manchester, Liverpool, & London. Pltfs. having paid T. & co. the amount of their claim in respect of the goods so bought in, brought their action to recover from defts. the amount paid by them :—Held : applts. were entitled to recover ; the proper measure of damages was the cost of replacing the goods at their place of destination at the time when they ought to have arrived, less the value of the goods in Sweden & the amount of the freight & insurance ; & pltfs.' right to damages would not be effected even if it were assumed that the dates of delivery in their contract with defts. did not exactly coincide with those in their contract with T. & co. —STRÖMS BRUKS AKTIE BOLAG v. HUTCHISON, [1905] A. C. 515 ; 74 L. J. P. C. 130 ; 93 L. T. 562 ; 21 T. L. R. 718 ; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 138 ; 11 Com. Cas. 13, H. L.

Annotations :—Apld. Wertheim v. Chicoutimi Pulp Co., [1911] A. C. 301 ; Phosphate Mining Co. & Coronet Phosphate Co. v. Rankin, Gilmour (1916), 115 L. T. 211. Distd. Watts, Watts v. Mitsui, [1917] A. C. 227. Reld. Montevideo Gas & Drydock Co. v. Clan Line Steamers (1921), 37 T. L. R. 544.

(b) Measure of Damages.

2827. Charterer taking other ship at advanced freight—Difference in rate of freight.]—Pltf. told deft. that Admlty. contracts were out for coals & inquired if he had any tonnage to offer. In consequence, pltf. chartered a ship of deft., which was not ready in time to enable pltf. to fulfil his Admlty. contract. Pltf. thereupon arranged with another vessel to take his coals, in pursuance of the contract ; & the jury found that this was best for the interests of all concerned :—Held : pltf. was entitled to recover as damages for the breach of the charter, the extra expense incurred by so forwarding the coals.—PRIOR v. WILSON (1860), 1 L. T. 549 ; 8 W. R. 260.

2828. —— ——.]— Defts., by charterparty, agreed with pltf. that their ship should, at a specified time, load 1,300 tons of coal in the river Tyne, to be carried to Havre for pltf. They broke their contract, & pltf. had, in consequence, first to hire other vessels at an advanced freight, & secondly, to buy 1,300 tons of coal at an enhanced price. He was unable, according to the custom of the colliery trade in the Tyne, to secure a cargo until he had chartered vessels to carry it. Pltf. having sued defts. in respect of both these heads of damage, defts. admitted their liability to pay the advanced freight, but denied that they were liable for the enhanced price of the coal. At the trial the rise in price at the pit's mouth was not disputed ; but it was not directly proved that there had been an equivalent rise at Havre :—Held : the fact of pltf. having paid the additional price was primâ facie evidence of damage to that extent, & entitled him, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, to recover.—FEATHERSTON v. WILKINSON (1873), L. R. 8 Exch. 122 ; 42 L. J. Ex. 78 ; 28 L. T. 448 ; 21 W. R. 442 ; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 31.

Annotation :—Consd. Whiteman v. Hawkins (1878), 4 C. P. D. 13.

2829. Charterer purchasing goods at increased

v. MACLEOD & CO. (1902), 4 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 912 ; 39 Sc. L. R. 719 ; 10 S. L. T. 151.—SCOT.

m. Shipowners rendering loading impossible—By undertaking other engagements.]—NELSON (THOMAS) & SONS v. DUNDEE EAST COAST SHIPPING CO., LTD., [1907] S. C. 927 ; 44 Sc. L. R. 661 ; 15 S. L. T. 38.—SCOT.

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 1.—F. (b).

2827 i. Charterer taking other ship at advanced freight—Difference in rate of freight.]—A., a shipowner, broke a contract with B. to carry goods across the Atlantic for him, & B. had to secure carriage for his goods by another route & at an increased rate of freight :—Held : A. was bound to pay to B. the full amount of the difference of freight, unless he could prove that B. had neglected a cheaper mode of conveyance which was open to him.—CONNAL, COTTON & CO. v. FISHER, RENWICK & CO. (1883), 10 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 824 ; 19 Sc. L. R. 698.—SCOT.

n. Damage to ship—Refusal of

Sect. 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 1, F. (b); sub-sects. 2 & 3, A. & B. (a).]

price—Difference in price of goods—Evidence in reduction of damages.]—FEATHERSTON v. WILKINSON, No. 2828, ante.

2830. Charterer unable to fulfil contract—Owner's knowledge of contract—Failure of ship to arrive at port of loading.]—COUPER & Co. v. RICHARDS (1887), 3 T. L. R. 739.

2831. —— —— Ship not of guaranteed capacity—Loss of profit on deficiency.]—Pltfs. chartered a ship from defts. By the charterparty the ship was to load a grain cargo of "not less than 13,000 quarters." Pltfs., before entering into the charter, had sold 13,000 quarters to third parties at a profit. The ship was not of the guaranteed capacity, & loaded 422 quarters less than 13,000:—Held: knowledge of pltfs.' contract not having been fully brought home to defts., they were not liable for pltfs.' loss of profit on the 422 quarters.—SCARAMANGA MANOUSSIN & Co. v. ENGLISH & Co. (1895), 1 Com. Cas. 99.

2832. —— Cost of replacing goods at destination at contemplated time of arrival—Less value at place of shipment & amount of freight & insurance.]—STRÖMS BRUKS AKTIE BOLAG v. HUTCHISON, No. 2826, ante.

2833. —— —— —— Market price at place of shipment immaterial.]—WATTS, WATTS & Co., LTD. v. MITSUI & Co., LTD., No. 2549, ante.

2834. Agreement to provide particular ship—Ship subsequently sunk—Expenses of detention between date of breach & sinking.]—ASSOCIATED PORTLAND CEMENT MANUFACTURERS (1900), LTD. v. HOULDER BROTHERS & Co., LTD., No. 2780, ante.

SUB-SECT. 2.—MODE OF AND TIME FOR LOADING.

2835. Mode of loading—Right of charterers to select—Adoption of other mode—Reasonable time to change plans.]—A ship was chartered to load cargo at a port at which three different methods of loading were in use, & the charterers had the option of selecting the particular method of loading to be employed; & the charterparty provided that detention by frost or ice was not to count as lay days. The charterers selected a method of loading in which a temporary delay was caused by ice, & they made no attempt to load by any other method; & the shipowners claimed demurrage. The claim was referred to arbn., & a special case was stated; & upon argument of the special case, held the charterers were liable because the provision that detention by ice should not count as lay days only applied if all possible methods of loading had been prevented, & the charterers had not shown that any method but that which they had in fact adopted had been prevented by ice. From that decision the charterers now appealed:—Held: (1) as the charterers had the option of selecting the method of loading to be employed & the obstruction to the method which they adopted was only temporary they were not under any obligation to adopt another method of loading, but were entitled to wait until the method selected had become possible; & (2) in any event if the charterers had been bound to adopt another method of loading they would have been entitled to a reasonable time in which to change their plans, & would not have become liable for demurrage until that reasonable time had elapsed, & such reasonable time had not elapsed in this case. Qu.: what would have been the legal position of the charterers if the method of loading selected by them had become permanently impossible.—LEWIS v. DREYFUS (LOUIS) & Co. (1926), 31 Com. Cas. 239, C. A.

2836. Time for loading—When time commences—Arrival at loading berth.]—A printed clause in a charterparty provided as follows: "The steamer to be loaded in usual turn, with customary dispatch, at Goole, & discharged in thirty-six running hours, commencing first high water on or after arrival at or off the berth, unless berthed before, but time, unless used, not to commence between 6 p.m. & 6 a.m. . . ." On the margin the following clause was written: "When steamer loads at Hull seventy-two running hours will be allowed for loading & discharging, which time is to commence when steamer is at or off loading berth, but should steamer be prevented from entering the loading dock owing to congestion, time to commence from first high water after arrival off the dock":—Held: when the steamer loaded at Hull the words in the printed clause "time . . . not to commence between 6 p.m. & 6 a.m." did not apply & the time commenced to count from the time the steamer got to the loading berth.

The charterparty also contained the following exception clause: "Strikes of workmen, lock-outs, pay days, idle days or cavilling days, or riots, or frost, rain or floods, or any accident or any cause whatsoever beyond the control of the charterer which may prevent or delay her loading or unloading excepted." At the port of discharge there was a delay of seventeen hours owing to a deficiency of railway waggons, this being due to the abnormal demands upon the railway co. at the material time. On a claim for demurrage in respect of the seventeen hours:—Held: the words in the exception clause, "or any cause whatsoever," were sufficiently wide to exclude the ejusdem generis rule of construction; in the circumstances the charterers came within the exceptions clause & were therefore not liable for demurrage.

If a person contracts to discharge in thirty-six hours unless prevented by some cause beyond his control, & if the cause beyond his control always would prevent the discharge within that time then, it is not an exception at all, & if in such a case he fails to discharge within the thirty-six hours he is not within the exceptions clause (BAILHACHE, J.).—FRANCE, FENWICK & Co., LTD. v. SPACKMAN (PHILIP) & SONS (1912), 108 L. T. 371; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 289; 18 Com. Cas. 52.

2837. —— —— Arrival in dock.]—THORMAN v. DOWGATE S.S. Co., LTD., No. 1685, ante.

2838. —— Reasonable time—Both parties with knowledge of cause of delay.]—HARRIS & TAYLOR v. DREESMAN, No. 2870, post.

2839. —— "Usual dispatch."] — Defts., by charterparty, engaged to load on board pltf.'s ship a cargo of coals. "To be loaded with usual dispatch." Defts. commenced loading by bringing the coal in boats along a canal to the dock where pltf.'s ship was, but before the cargo was charterers to furnish cargo when ship ready.]—SCHOFIELD v. CARVILL (1882), 21 N. B. R. (5 P. & B.) 558.—CAN.

o. Difference between value of steamer to plaintiffs as freight-earning instrument—& what ship was worth to plaintiffs at time of her delivery.]—SCHILLER v. FINLAY (1872), 8 B. L. R. 544.—IND.

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 2.

p. Agreement to give notice to charterer—Whether charterer bound to ship before notice.]—When a shipowner has contracted to give a certain notice to a charterer, or to do any other act, with a view to inform the charterer when the ship will be ready, the charterer is not bound to ship his goods until the shipowner has given him that notice or has done that act.—FLEMING v. KOEGLER (1878), I. L. R. 4 Calc. 237; 3 C. L. R. 297.—IND.

q. Meaning of "reasonable efforts."] — Where a charterparty stipulates that the shippers are to use "reasonable efforts" in loading the vessel chartered, these words mean reasonable with completed a severe frost rendered the canal unnavigable, & the ship was detained thirty-four days:—Held: the expression "usual dispatch" meant "usual dispatch of persons who have a cargo ready for loading," & defts. were responsible for the delay.—KEARON v. PEARSON (1861), 7 H. & N. 386; 31 L. J. Ex. 1; 10 W. R. 12; 158 E. R. 523.

Annotations:—Consd. Ashcroft v. Crow Orchard Colliery Co. (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 540; Grant v. Coverdale, Todd (1884), 9 App. Cas. 470. Distd. Nickoll & Knight v. Ashton, Edridge, [1901] 2 K. B. 126. Refd. Ford v. Cotesworth (1868), L. R. 4 Q. B. 127; Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 572; Postlethwaite v. Freeland (1880), 5 App. Cas. 599; Kay v. Field (1882), 8 Q. B. D. 594; Harrowing v. Dupré (1902), 18 T. L. R. 594; Jones v. Green, [1904] 2 K. B. 275. Mentd. Cave v. Mills (1862), 10 W. R. 471.

2840. Coal cargo—According to turn of arrival of ship at port—With turn of ship at colliery.]—EINAR BUGGE A. S. v. BOWATER (W. H.), LTD., No. 2908, post.

Sect. 4, ante

SUB-SECT. 3.—PROVISION OF CARGO.

A. In General.

2841. Implied warranty by shipper of fitness for voyage—Shipowner having opportunity to examine goods on board.]—(1) A master of a vessel cannot at an intermediate port sell goods, which are damaged & cannot be carried to the port of discharge, without communicating with their owner.

(2) Where goods damaged on the voyage are landed at an intermediate port & sold without the assent of their owner, the shipowners are not entitled to freight pro ratâ itineris.

(3) Where the owner of a vessel has an opportunity of examining goods shipped on board of her, no warranty on the part of the owner of the goods can be implied that they are fit to be carried on the voyage.

(4) It has been fully established by authority, that the master cannot hypothecate the cargo or freight if he has the means of communicating with the owner, & that is a question of fact for the jury (BRETT, L.J.).

(5) The measure of damages is not what the maize realised at the sale, but what it would be worth to the owner if it had not been sold (BRAMWELL, L.J.).

(6) The first point made was that the authority of the master to sell goods is to be measured differently when the goods become perishable owing to their own inherent vice at the time of shipment, & when they become so from being damaged by perils of the sea. There is no ground for any such distinction (BRETT, L.J.).

(7) The law of England looks with jealousy on the master selling any part of the cargo without the consent of its owner, & it gives the master no authority, unless there is an urgent necessity for the sale. . . . There may be an urgent necessity to sell goods, arising from the fact that if the goods are not sold they will perish, or that they will have to be kept in warehouses at great expense, so that as a matter of business it would be wrong to warehouse them; & it must be shown that the master has no means of communicating with the owner, & taking his directions whether he shall sell them or not. But I think, whether the goods are of a perishable nature or not, if the master has an opportunity of communicating with the owner before they actually perish, he cannot sell without communicating with the owner & obtaining his directions (BRETT, L.J.).—ACATOS v. BURNS (1878), 3 Ex. D. 282; 47 L. J. Q. B. 566; 26 W. R. 624, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (3) Consd. Bamfield v. Goole & Sheffield Transport Co., [1910] 2 K. B. 94. Apld. Transoceanica Soc. Italiana di Navigazione v. Shipton, [1923] 1 K. B. 31. Refd. Blacker v. Lake & Elliot (1912), 106 L. T. 533; G. N. Ry. v. L. E. P. Transport & Depository, [1922] 2 K. B. 742. As to (7) Refd. Atlantic Mutual Insce. v. Huth (1880), 16 Ch. D. 474; Prager v. Blatspiel, Stamp & Heacock, [1924] 1 K. B. 566.

2842. Promise of charterer to provide cargo—Interdependent with shipowner's promise to provide ship.]—VERGOTTIS v. CORY (WILLIAM) & SON, LTD., No. 3899,

B. Duty to Provide.

(a) In General.

2843. Duty of charterer.]—ATKINSON v. BUCKLE (1615), 3 Bulst. 152; 1 Roll. Rep. 312; Jenk. 324; 81 E. R. 130.

2844. ——.]—Declaration on charterparty, that deft. had agreed to put a cargo on board at Marseilles, & pay freight by a bill on London at three months. Breach, that deft. did not put any cargo on board, by which pltf. was put to expenses in procuring one, & that deft. did not pay pltf. those expenses, or give the bill in the charterparty mentioned, contrary to his promise:—Held: an unobjectionable breach, on motion in arrest of judgment.—HOGGETT v. EXLEY (1840), 6 Bing. N. C. 207; 8 Scott, 480; 4 Jur. 293; 133 E. R. 82; previous proceedings (1839), 9 C. & P. 324, N. P.

2845. ——.]—KAY v. FIELD, No. 2734, ante.

2846. ——.]—GRANT & CO. v. COVERDALE, TODD & CO., No. 2877, post.

2847. ——.]—STEPHENS v. HARRIS & CO. (1887), 57 L. J. Q. B. 203; 4 T. L. R. 11, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Furness v. Forwood (1897), 77 L. T. 95. Refd. Bunge y Born Co. v. Brightman, [1925] A. C 799.

2848. ——.]—By a charterparty dated May 30, 1900, which did not fix the time within which the vessel was to be loaded, the steamship Ardandearg, of which pltfs. were owners, was chartered by defts. to proceed to such loading berth as the freighters might name at Newcastle, New South Wales, & after being in loading berth as ordered to load "in the usual & customary manner" a full & complete cargo of Australian coal "as ordered by the charterers, which they bind themselves to ship, except in case of riot, strikes, etc., or any other accidents or causes beyond the control of the charterers, which may delay her loading." By the custom of the port of Newcastle a vessel was not allowed to occupy a loading berth until she had received a loading order from a colliery. These orders were issued in turn & there were no facilities for storing coal at the port. The Ardandearg arrived at her destination on July 14, 1900, & was reference to the circumstances known to the parties, & to the contingencies which might naturally be expected to arise out of these circumstances.—WATERSON v. CARSWELL (1899), 7 N. Z. L. R. 739.—N.Z.

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—A.

r. Meaning of "Cargo to be furnished vessel at port of loading as customary."]—The words, "Cargo to be furnished vessel at port of loading as customary," do not mean the ordinary mode in which the charterer loads vessels chartered by him, but the general custom of the port of shipment.—LOVITT v. SNOWBALL (1895), 33 N. B. R. 263.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (a).

2843i. Duty of charterer.]—SCHOFIELD v. GIBSON (1878), 17 N. B. R. (1 P. & B.) 619.—CAN.

2843ii. ——.]—HAJI ABDUL RAHMAN ALLARAKHIA v. HASANBHOY VISRAM (1892), I. L. R. 16 Bom. 501.—IND.

t. Lies on ship.]—By universal usage, the duty & expense of putting goods on board a ship lies on the ship, & that a contract to deliver goods "free on board" cannot be construed as relieving a charterer of that burden when he happens to be the buyer of the goods.—GLENGARNOCK IRON & STEEL CO., LTD. v. COOPER & CO. (1895), 22 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 672; 32 Sc. L. R. 546; 3 S. L. T. 36.—SCOT.

Sect. 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 3, B. (a).]

ready to load; but there was no cargo ready for her until Aug. 13, & then not enough. She had twice to be removed from her berth under a regulation of the port that a vessel must not occupy a berth when not loading, & her loading was not completed until Aug. 23. Pltfs. claimed damages for the detention of the vessel owing to the delay in providing the cargo:—Held: defts. were liable in damages on the ground that it was their primary duty as charterers to furnish the stipulated cargo; & there was nothing to be found in the charterparty or the evidence which qualified this absolute obligation.—ARDAN S.S. Co. v. WEIR (ANDREW) & Co., [1905] A. C. 501; 74 L. J. P. C. 143; 93 L. T. 559; 21 T. L. R. 723; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 135; 11 Com. Cas. 26, H. L.

Annotations:—Distd. Jones v. Green, [1904] 2 K. B. 275; Inverkip S.S. Co. v. Bunge, [1917] 2 K. B. 193; Eina Bugge A. S. v. Bowater (1925), 31 Com. Cas. 1; Vergottis v. Cory, [1926] 2 K. B. 344. Refd. The Sheila (1907), [1909] P. 31, n.; Brightman v. Bunge y Born, [1924] 2 K. B. 619.

2849. —— Whether absolute—Frustration.]—BLIGHT v. PAGE (1801), 3 Bos. & P. 295, n.; 127 E. R. 163, N. P.

Annotations:—Consd. Beale v. Thompson (1803), 3 Bos. & P. 405; Sjoerds v. Luscombe (1812), 16 East, 201. Apld. Barret v. Dutton (1815), 4 Camp. 333. Distd. Barrie v. Peruvian Corpn. (1896), 13 T. L. R. 101. Consd. Ralli v. Compania Naviera Sota y Aznar, [1920] 2 K. B. 287. Refd. Touting v. Hubbard (1802), 3 Bos. & P. 291; The Teutonia (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 394; Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 125; Cantiere Navale Triestina v. Russian Soviet Naphtha Export Agency, [1925] 2 K. B. 172.

2850. —— —— ——.]—Where the master of a ship covenanted in a charterparty to go to a certain port of America & receive a loading from the freighter, alongside the ship, & bring home the same; with an exception of the restraints of rulers, etc.; but the freighter covenanted absolutely to provide the loading without any such exception; it seems that an embargo in the American port, which prevented the freighter from loading the ship, did not discharge him from his covenant; but the plea alleging that deft. did provide a cargo, & was ready & willing, & offered to send it alongside the ship, but that pltf. refused to receive it there, & discharged deft. from sending alongside, on which issue was taken by the replication, was held not to be sustained by evidence of the master's written acknowledgment of deft. having offered to load the cargo on board, on his, the master's, being ready to take it, for the purpose of raising the question of law on the embargo.—SJOERDS v. LUSCOMBE (1812), 16 East, 201; 104 E. R. 1065.

Annotations:—Consd. Ralli v. Compania Naviera Sota y Aznar, [1920] 2 K. B. 287. Refd. Blackburn Bobbin Co. v. Allen (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1085. Mentd. Jacobs v. Crédit Lyonnais (1884), 12 Q. B. D. 589.

2851. —— —— ——.]—The charterer of a ship, who covenants to send a cargo alongside at a foreign port, is not excused from sending it alongside, though in consequence of the prevalence of an infectious disorder at the port all public intercourse is prohibited by the law at the port, & though he could not have communication without danger of contracting & communicating the disorder; therefore where to covenant for not sending a cargo alongside at Gibraltar deft. pleaded that a pestilent & infectious disorder prevailed there, & thereupon all intercourse was prohibited by the law of the place, & became impracticable, without imminent danger to the persons concerned, of contracting & communicating the same, & deft. was prevented from sending alongside during all that time, of which pltf. had notice, & thereupon departed with his ship on her return: replication, that deft. might have sent the cargo alongside before all intercourse became unlawful or impracticable, but refused, & thereupon pltf. departed with his ship by the consent of deft.'s agent:—Held: deft. was liable.

Perhaps it is too much to say that the freighter was compellable to load his cargo; but if he was unable to do the thing, is he not answerable for it upon his covenant? (LORD ELLENBOROUGH, C.J.).—BARKER v. HODGSON (1814), 3 M. & S. 267; 105 E. R. 612.

Annotations:—Distd. Pringle v. Mollett (1840), 6 M. & W. 80. Consd. Esposito v. Bowden (1857), 7 E. & B. 763; Ralli v. Compania Naviera Sota y Aznar, [1920] 2 K. B. 287. Refd. Evans v. Hutton (1842), 12 L. J. C. P. 17; Hall v. Wright (1859), E. B. & E. 765; Ford v. Cotesworth (1868), L. R. 4 Q. B. 127; Hudson v. Ede (1868), 8 B. & S. 631; Clifford v. Watts (1870), L. R. 5 C. P. 577; The Teutonia (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 394; Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 572; Postlethwaite v. Freeland (1880), 5 App. Cas. 599; Jacobs v. Crédit Lyonnais (1884), 12 Q. B. D. 589; Budgett v. Binnington, [1891] 1 Q. B. 35; Hick v. Rodocanachi, [1891] 2 Q. B. 626; Akt. Helios v. Eckman (1897), 2 Com. Cas. 70; Millar v. Taylor, [1916] 1 K. B. 402; Blackburn Bobbin Co. v. Allen (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1085; Cantiere Navale Triestina v. Russian Soviet Naphtha Export Agency, [1925] 2 K. B. 172. Mentd. Metropolitan Water Board v. Dick, Kerr, [1917] 2 K. B. 1.

2852. —— —— ——.]—Declaration stated that pltf. & deft. agreed, by charterparty, that pltf.'s ship should proceed to Odessa, & there load from deft.'s agent a cargo of specified goods, & therewith proceed home, a specified number of running days to be allowed for loading & unloading, & ten days for demurrage after the laying days: that the ship proceeded to Odessa; that the time for loading had elapsed; but deft. made default in loading. Plea: that, after the vessel proceeded to Odessa, & before the alleged breach of contract, war was declared by the Queen against the Emperor of Russia, & war had ever since existed between this kingdom & Russia, of which pltf. & deft. had notice before the alleged breach: that Odessa was part of the empire of Russia; & pltf. & deft. were subjects of this kingdom, & not of Russia: that the ship was a registered British ship; & no licence from the Queen could be obtained for loading the ship at Odessa; that deft. could not have procured a cargo or loaded the ship as agreed, nor could pltf. have received such cargo, without trading or corresponding with the enemy. Issue on this plea.

It was proved that the master was directed, by deft., to apply to deft.'s agent M. at Odessa. War between England & Russia was first known at Odessa on Apr. 1, 1854, which was before the expiration of the running days. M., before Apr. 1, repeatedly told the master that he should be unable to procure a cargo, owing to a Russian prohibition; & he also endeavoured to persuade the master to quit Odessa without a cargo, upon certain terms inconsistent with the charterparty. The master continued to demand a cargo till after Apr. 1, & on a later day, but before the expiration of the running & demurrage days, left Odessa in ballast:—Held: the plea was proved.—REID v. HOSKINS (1856), 6 E. & B. 953; 26 L. J. Q. B. 5; 28 L. T. O. S. 145; 3 Jur. N. S. 238; 5 W. R. 45; 119 E. R. 1119, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Folld. Barrick v. Buba (1857), 2 C. B. N. S. 563. Consd. Esposito v. Bowden (1857), 7 E. & B. 763. Distd. Akt. Reidar v. Arcos, [1927] 1 K. B. 352. Refd. Croockewit v. Fletcher (1857), 1 H. & N. 893; Ericksen v. Barkworth (1858), 3 H. & N. 601; Hudson v. Hill (1874), 43 L. J. C. P. 273. Mentd. Bartholomew v. Markwick (1864), 15 C. B. N. S. 711; Frost v. Knight (1872), L. R. 7 Exch. 111; Roper v. Johnson (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 167; Johnstone v. Milling (1886), 16 Q. B. D. 460; Veithardt & Hall v. Rylands (1917), 86 L. J. Ch. 604.

2853. —— —— ——.]—AVERY v. BOWDEN, No. 2763, ante.

2854. —— —— ——.]—ESPOSITO v. BOWDEN, No. 2764, ante.

2855. —— —— ——.]—(1) A declaration of war by this country against a foreign power, imports a prohibition of commercial intercourse with the subjects of that power; therefore a plea to an action upon a charterparty made between a subject of this country & a Russian subject for loading a cargo at Odessa, a Russian port, that, at the time of making the contract, pltf. was a subject of Great Britain & the vessel a British vessel, & deft. a subject of Russia residing & carrying on trade there, & that, before the expiration of the time for deft. to load the vessel according to the charterparty, & before any breach thereof, a state of war existed, & had ever since continued, between the two countries:—Held: a good answer.

(2) A mere intimation by the agent of the charterer at Odessa to the master, before the time for loading had expired, that "he had ceded the charterparty, with all its rights & obligations," to a third person, & that he must address himself to such third person for a cargo, did not amount to a renunciation of the charterparty, so as to entitle the owner to sue as for a breach at that time.—BARRICK v. BUBA (1857), 2 C. B. N. S. 563; 29 L. T. O. S. 199; 5 W. R. 665; 140 E. R. 536; sub nom. BARWICK v. BUBA, 26 L. J. C. P. 280.

Annotations:—As to (2) Refd. Frost v. Knight (1872), L. R. 7 Exch. 111; Roper v. Johnson (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 167; Johnstone v. Milling (1886), 16 Q. B. D. 460; Veithardt & Hall v. Rylands (1917), 86 L. J. Ch. 604.

2856. —— —— ——.]—By a charterparty dated Mar. 24, 1926, pltfs. chartered defts.' steamship to run consecutive voyages with cargoes of coal from one of the South Wales ports to one or other of specified Italian or Sicilian ports for a period of "twelve months as & from date of notice of readiness to load for first voyage." The charter was on the printed form of the Chamber of Shipping Welsh Coal Charter, 1896, & contained the ordinary clauses as to strikes & lock outs, with the addition of the following written clause: "Steamer not to be ordered to any loading port at which there is a strike in force. Steamer to be free to interpose a substantially similar voyage if charterers unable forthwith to order steamer to another loading port stipulated in charter, free of strike." In May, 1926, deft. shipowners, through their agents, & in accordance with the provisions of the charterparty, gave notice to pltf. charterers that the ship would be ready to load about the first week in June, & they asked for orders as to the port of loading. Meanwhile the coal strike had begun, resulting in a total prohibition of coal exports by the British Government, & on June 12 the charterers replied that they could not order the vessel to a port to load, & must leave the owners to make their own arrangements. Thereupon the owners, under the written clause in the charterparty, arranged to interpose two "similar" voyages after which as the strike was still proceeding, & as the charterers were still unable to order the ship to a loading port, the owners took independent action & chartered the vessel for voyages to America & back to Naples, Huelva, & Rouen. At the end of Nov., when the strike had become restricted in its operation, although the Govt. embargo upon the export of coal remained in force until Dec. 17, the charterers notified the shipowners that the ship must be ready to carry out the charter within a reasonable time after the settlement of the strike. The shipowners replied that by reason of the prolonged strike & the Governmental embargo on coal exports the commercial venture had been frustrated, & the contract therefore became null & void. In these circumstances the charterers claimed damages for breach of contract:—Held: the total impossibility of any export of coal from the South Wales ports for a period of upwards of six months was a circumstance not contemplated by the parties which had prevented the performance of the charter according to its true intent, &, the charterers not having been "ready & willing" to perform their obligations under the charterparty at the material times, the shipowners were justified in treating the contract as at an end.—THE PENELOPE (1928), 44 T. L. R. 597.

2857. —— —— Circumstances beyond freighters control.]—By a charterparty, the owner of the ship agreed that she should proceed direct to Ichaboe, & there load a full & complete cargo of guano, by the ship's boats & tackle, & by the labour of the crew, & being so loaded, should proceed therewith to Cork or Falmouth, etc., & deliver the same, on being paid freight, at £4 15*s.* per ton, restraint of princes & rulers, the acts of God & the Queen's enemies, fire, & perils of navigation, always excepted. Twenty-one working days to be allowed to the charterers, if the ship were not sooner discharged, at the port of unloading. The charterers to ship bags & other materials requisite for loading the ship, & to supply the stores for the vessel, at cash prices, for the voyage, & to deduct the amount from the balance of freight; but in the event of the vessel being lost, or any other unforeseen causes preventing the completion of the charterparty, the owner agreed to pay the charterers the amount of their disbursements for such stores. To a declaration on this charterparty, alleging as a breach of it, that deft., the shipowner, did not load a full & complete cargo of guano on board the ship at Ichaboe, he pleaded a plea, which stated, in substance, that he was prevented from doing so by an unforeseen cause, namely, that on the arrival of the ship at Ichaboe, & within a reasonable time afterwards, no guano was to be found there; & that he had paid to pltfs. the amount of their disbursements for stores for the vessel:—Held: this plea was bad in substance, for that the fact of no guano being to be found was not such an "unforseen cause preventing the completion of the charterparty," as entitled deft. to pay the amount of the disbursements, & treat the charterparty as at an end, but he was nevertheless bound by this positive contract to load a full cargo.—HILLS v. SUGHRUE (1846), 15 M. & W. 253; 153 E. R. 844; sub nom. MILLS v. SEYBOURNE, 6 L. T. O. S. 414.

Annotations:—Refd. Geipel v. Smith (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 404. Mentd. Clifford v. Watts (1870), L. R. 5 C. P. 577; Howell v. Coupland (1874), L. R. 9 Q. B. 462.

2858. —— ——.]—POSTLETHWAITE v. FREELAND, No. 3666, post.

2859. —— ——.]—BUNGE Y BORN CO. v. BRIGHTMAN (H. A.) & CO., No. 2776, ante.

2860. —— Provision within reasonable time—Extraordinary circumstances causing delay—Not contemplated by parties.]—ADAMS v. ROYAL MAIL STEAM-PACKET CO., No. 2903, post.

2861. —— —— Circumstances within knowledge of parties.]—JONES, LTD. v. GREEN & CO., No. 2872, post.

2862. —— Steamer unexpectedly ready.]—LITTLE v. STEVENSON & CO., No. 2874, post.

2863. —— Reasonable portion of cargo to be ready.]—HOGARTH v. CORY BROTHERS & CO., No. 4030, post.

2864. —— Procuring licence or pass for ship.]—Those ports of St. Domingo which are under the dominion of Christophe & the negroes engaged in hostility with France, are neutral ports; & no licence is necessary to legalise a trade with them. If a vessel be chartered to any ports of an island, part of which is hostile, & part neutral, & the freighter covenants to procure a licence, if the ship trades to a neutral port of the island, it is no breach of the covenant that the freighter has procured a licence which would not authorise the like trade to an hostile port. The master of a ship detained as prize, & libelled in the Prize Ct. at Jamaica, gave bills of lading of the cargo to one who became bail for the ship & cargo there :—Held : the master had no authority to contract that the cargo should be sold in London, & the proceeds remitted back to Jamaica, the owners being ready to give sufficient security to indemnify the bail in London.—JOHNSON v. GREAVES (1810), 2 Taunt. 344 ; 127 E. R. 1111.

Sect. 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 3, B. (a), (b) & (c), & C. (a) & (b).]

2865. —— ——.]—Declaration on a charterparty, whereby it was agreed between pltfs., owners of a vessel called the Brevet, & defts. that the vessel should sail to Melbourne & thence proceed to the port of Callao, Peru, where the captain should report his arrival to G. & co. : that the vessel being then tight, staunch, strong, & well conditioned for the voyage, G. & co. should send the captain orders for loading a cargo of guano at the Chincha Islands, to which place the vessel should at once proceed, calling on her way at Pisco to obtain the necessary pass to load, which should be given to the captain by the charterers' agents free of expense within twenty-four hours of his application. Breach : that defts. made default in providing the agreed guano, & only provided an insufficient & less quantity. Plea : that the port of Callao & the Chincha Islands are a part of the Republic of Peru, & that by the laws of that Republic every vessel proceeding from Callao to the Chincha Islands, for the purpose of taking on board a cargo of guano, is obliged to procure from the said Govt. a written pass so to do, & the said vessel could not lawfully have proceeded from Callao to the Chincha Islands without such pass : that the vessel was, after her arrival at Callao, surveyed by officers of the said Govt., & the said Govt. did, upon the report of the said surveyors refuse to give such pass, or to allow the vessel to proceed to the Chincha Islands ; & thereupon certain reparations were done to the vessel by pltfs. at Callao, & the said Govt. did afterwards give a written pass for the vessel to proceed to the said Island, to take in a cargo of guano, but upon the condition expressed in the pass that more guano should not be placed on board than would make the vessel draw eighteen & a half feet of water, that the vessel did by virtue of such pass proceed to the Chincha Islands & defts. caused to be loaded on board her sufficient guano to make her draw eighteen & a half feet of water & they could not without violating the laws of the said Republic have loaded a greater quantity, & if they had done so the vessel & cargo would have been liable to seizure by the said Govt. On demurrer :—Held : the plea was bad, since the obligation was on defts. to procure the proper pass, & it was not alleged that they were prevented from so doing by reason of the vessel not being well conditioned.—KIRK v. GIBBS (1857), 1 H. & N. 810 ; 26 L. J. Ex. 209 ; 4 L. T. 682 ; 156 E. R. 1427.

Annotation :—Refd. Ralli v. Compañia Naviera Sota y Aznar, [1920] 1 K. B. 614.

2866. —— Ship must become an arrived ship—What amounts to arrival.]—VERGOTTIS v. CORY (WILLIAM) & SON, LTD., No. 3899, post.

2867. —— —— Duty of shipper to help arrival.]—VERGOTTIS v. CORY (WILLIAM) & SON, LTD., No. 3899, post.

(b) Amount of Cargo.

See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 6, E., & Sub-sect. 8, C., ante.

(c) Option to Select Cargo.

See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 8, B., ante.

C. Conveyance to and Readiness at Place of Loading.

(a) In General.

2868. Duty of charterer.]—ATKINSON v. BUCKLE (1615), 3 Bulst. 152 ; 1 Roll. Rep. 312 ; Jenk. 324 ; 81 E. R. 130.

2869. ——.]—BUNGE Y BORN CO. v. BRIGHTMAN (H. A.) & Co., No. 2776, ante.

2870. Shipment of coals—Colliery not at work when charterparty signed—Loading within reasonable time.]—By a charterparty the master of a vessel engaged to proceed with his vessel to a particular colliery & there take on board for the freighters a cargo of coal. Before the charterparty was signed both parties knew that the colliery was not at work, an accident having happened to the steam engine, & both were told it would be repaired in a short time, & that the vessel would be loaded in her turn within a few days after the colliery got to work again, according to the practice of the port, which was, that ships were loaded in their regular turns as they were entered on the colliery books. The freighter had no control over the colliery. The ship was loaded in her turn, but not until several days later than the colliery agents had led the parties to expect :—Held : if the steam engine was repaired & the colliery got to work in a reasonable time after the execution of the charterparty, & if the vessel was loaded within a reasonable time after the colliery got to work, the freighters were not liable to compensate the master of the vessel for the delay in the loading.—HARRIS & TAYLOR v. DREESMAN (1854), as reported in 23 L. J. Ex. 210 ; 18 J. P. 458.

Annotations :—Distd. Adams v. Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. (1858), 5 C. B. N. S. 492. Folld. Jones v. Green, [1904] 2 K. B. 275. Refd. Ford v. Cotesworth (1868), L. R. 4 Q. B. 127 ; Postlethwaite v. Freeland (1880), 5 App. Cas. 599 ; Hick v. Rodocanachi, [1891] 2 Q. B. 626 ; Ardan S.S. Co. v. Weir, [1905] A. C. 501 ; The Sheila (1907), [1909] P. 31, n. Mentd. Krell v. Henry, [1903] 2 K. B. 740.

2871. —— Shipment subject to colliery guarantee—Colliery on strike.]—It was agreed by a charterparty that the ship should sail to Cardiff, & proceed to such loading berth as the freighters might name, & should there load " a cargo of steam coal as ordered by the charterers," which they bound themselves to ship, except in the event of (inter alia) strike of shippers' pitmen ; the vessel to be loaded as customary, " but subject in all respects to the colliery guarantee, in —— colliery working days as may be arranged, any claim for demurrage in loading to be settled with colliery direct." The charterers, for the purpose of fulfilling their obligation under the charterparty, contracted with a colliery for a cargo of steam coal, subject to the usual exception as to strikes. Subsequently a strike of pitmen took place, which extended to 85 per cent. of the South Wales collieries, including the before-mentioned colliery. The charterers, in performance of their obligation under the charterparty, tendered to the shipowners the guarantee of that colliery, by which the colliery proprietors undertook to load the ship in twenty days after she should be ready to receive cargo, subject to the usual exceptions as to strikes. The shipowners objected to the colliery guarantee, as not being in accordance with the charter on the ground that the colliery was then on strike. The strike still continuing for three months after the arrival of the ship at Cardiff, her loading was in consequence delayed for that period. Steam coal might have been obtained from other collieries in the district which remained working during the strike, although at a very high price.

a. Shipment of coals—Delay at colliery.]—KROG & Co. v. BURNS & LINDEMANN, THE AVIS (1903), 5 F. (Ct. of Sess.) 1189 ; 40 Sc. L. R. 874.—SCOT.

In an action by the shipowners against the charterers for damages for the detention of the ship:—Held: the shipowners were not entitled to object to the colliery guarantee as not being in accordance with the charterparty, & the action was not maintainable.—DOBELL & Co. v. GREEN & Co., [1900] 1 Q. B. 526; 69 L. J. Q. B. 454; 82 L. T. 314; 16 T. L. R. 204; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 53; 5 Com. Cas. 161, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Barque Quilpué v. Brown, [1904] 2 K. B. 264.

2872. —— No berth for ship until coaling order lodged—Loading berth allotted in proper rotation at colliery.]—On Feb. 14, 1900, a charterparty was entered into between pltfs., shipowners, & defts., charterers, which provided that the ship "shall with all possible dispatch proceed to such loading berth as freighters may name at Newcastle, New South Wales, & . . . shall there load in the usual & customary manner a full & complete cargo of coals as ordered by charterers," the name of the coal being left blank. The coal was to be carried to South America, & defts. sold the cargo as "Wallsend" to purchasers there. No time for loading was fixed.

On May 25, 1900, defts. notified pltfs. that the coal was to be "Wallsend," a coal coming from the Wallsend Colliery at Newcastle, which was in greater demand than the coal from other collieries in the neighbourhood. The output from the collieries was limited.

By the custom of the port, which was known to both parties at the time of the contract, a ship could not obtain a loading berth until a coaling order from the particular colliery was lodged with the port authority.

The ship arrived at Newcastle on Sept. 1, 1900. She did not obtain a loading berth till Dec. 15, 1900, the coaling order having been lodged on the previous day:—Held: (1) the charterers had fulfilled their obligation when the ship obtained a loading berth in accordance with her proper turn at the colliery, & they were not liable for the delay; (2) defts. had not acted unreasonably in not substituting another coal for Wallsend, their purchasers having declined to accept other coal.

(3) When the source from which a cargo is to come is expressly defined, no time being fixed for loading, there is no absolute rule that the charterer is bound to have the cargo ready whenever it may be reasonably expected that there will be a berth for the ship if the cargo is ready.—JONES, LTD. v. GREEN & Co., [1904] 2 K. B. 275; 73 L. J. K. B. 601; 90 L. T. 768; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 600; 9 Com. Cas. 20, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Einar Bugge A. S. v. Bowater (1925), 31 Com. Cas. 1. As to (3) Refd. Inverkip S.S. Co. v. Bunge, [1917] 2 K. B. 193. Generally, Refd. Ardan S.S. Co. v. Weir (1905), 93 L. T. 559.

2873. Ship "to receive prompt dispatch"—Want of facilities to bring cargo to port.]—A charterparty provided that the ship should proceed to a port, & there load from the factors of the charterers a cargo of "coal, taking her turn with other steamers," & receive "prompt dispatch in loading." The charterers employed the persons at the port of loading who were employed to load other ships, & the ship was loaded in her turn, but, by reason of an insufficient supply of coal, the ship was delayed:—Held: the charterers were responsible for the delay.—ELLIOTT v. LORD (1883), 52 L. J. P. C. 23; 48 L. T. 542; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 63, P. C.

2874. Ship unexpectedly berthed.]—A charterer is not bound to have a cargo ready at all times & under all circumstances in order to take advantage of the possibility of the ship getting an early loading berth out of her regular turn.

A charterparty provided that a ship belonging to applt. should proceed to B. & receive a cargo of coal to be supplied by resps. "lay days to count from the time the master has got ship reported berthed & ready to receive cargo." The ship reached B. on Oct. 19, & the charterers were informed of the fact. In consequence of the crowded state of the dock she was not allowed to enter in her ordinary turn till Oct. 26. She was loaded within the time allowed by the charterparty, & sailed on Oct. 28. A berth in the dock became vacant accidentally on Oct. 21, & if the cargo had been ready the ship could have been berthed on that day out of her turn:—Held: the charterers were not liable for demurrage for the detention of the ship from Oct. 21 to Oct. 26.—LITTLE v. STEVENSON & Co., [1896] A. C. 108; 65 L. J. P. C. 69; 74 L. T. 529; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 162, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Jones v. Green, [1904] 2 K. B. 275. Refd. Ardan S.S. Co. v. Weir, [1905] A. C. 501; Vergottis v. Cory, [1926] 2 K. B. 344.

2875. Source of cargo expressly defined—Readiness of cargo in expectation of ship berthing—No time for loading fixed.]—JONES, LTD. v. GREEN & Co., No. 2872, ante.

(b) Construction of Exception Clauses.

2876. Whether exceptions inoperative until goods alongside.]—KAY v. FIELD, No. 2734, ante.

2877. ——.]—By a charterparty it was agreed that a ship should proceed to Cardiff East Bute Dock & there load from the agents of the freighters a cargo of iron; the cargo was to be supplied as fast as steamer could receive at all hatchways; "time to commence from the vessel being ready to load, . . . & ten days on demurrage over & above the said lay days at £40 per day except in case of hands striking work, or frosts or floods, or any other unavoidable accidents preventing the loading, . . . in which case the owners to have the option of employing the steamer in some short voyage trade until receipt of written notice from charterers that they are ready to resume employment without delay to the ship." The ship arrived in dock & commenced loading; but subsequently canals through which part of the cargo had to pass became blocked with ice, & in consequence a stoppage occurred of five days in the loading. The frost would not have prevented the loading had the cargo been ready at the dock, but the cargo could not have been brought to the dock otherwise than by the canals without unreasonable expense:—Held: there was no frost "preventing the loading" within the exception, & the charterers were liable for demurrage.

It is important to observe, with respect to any argument founded on the particular accidents enumerated, frosts, floods or hands striking work, to which large general words are superadded, that those are in a printed form, & are meant therefore to suit each particular case as far as they can, but they are not introduced in contemplation of any particular case, this or any other (LORD SELBORNE, C.).

When the charterer has tendered the cargo, & when the operation has proceeded to the point at which the shipowner is to take charge of it,

Sect. 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 3, C. (b) & (c), everything after that is the shipowner's business, & everything before the commencement of the operation of loading, those things which are so essential to the operation of loading that they are conditions sine quibus non of that operation, everything before that is the charterer's part only. It would appear to me to be unreasonable to suppose, unless the words make it perfectly clear, that the shipowner has contracted that his ship may be detained for an unlimited time on account of impediments, whatever their nature may be, to those things with which he has nothing whatever to do, which precede altogether the whole operation of loading, which are no part whatever of it, but which belong to that which is exclusively the charterer's business. He has to contract for the cargo, he has to buy the cargo, he has to convey the cargo to the place of loading & have it ready there to be put on board; & it is only when he has done those things that the duty & the obligation of the shipowner in respect of the loading arises (LORD SELBORNE, C.).—GRANT & Co. v. COVERDALE, TODD & Co. (1884), 9 App. Cas. 470; 53 L. J. Q. B. 462; 51 L. T. 472; 32 W. R. 881; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 353, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. COVERDALE v. GRANT (1883), 11 Q. B. D. 543, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Stephens v. Harris (1887), 57 L. J. Q. B. 203. Distd. Allerton Sailing Ship Co. v. Falk (1888), 6 Asp. M. L. C. 287. Consd. The Alne Holme, [1893] P. 173. Distd. Jones v. Green, [1904] 2 K. B. 275. Consd. Langham S.S. Co. v. Gallagher (1911), 12 Asp. M. L. C. 109. Refd. Smith & Service v. Rosario Nitrate Co., [1894] 1 Q. B. 174; Furness v. Forwood (1897), 77 L. T. 95; Bunge y Born Co. v. Brightman, [1925] A. C. 799; Vergottis v. Cory, [1926] 2 K. B. 344.

2878. ——.]—By the terms of a charterparty it was provided that: "If the cargo cannot be loaded by reason of riots, civil commotions, or of a strike or lock out of any class of workmen essential to the loading of the cargo or by reason of obstructions or stoppages beyond the control of the charterers on the railways, or in the docks or other loading places . . . the time for loading . . . shall not count during the continuance of such causes. . . . In case of any delay by reason of the before-mentioned causes no claim for damages or demurrage shall be made by the charterers, receivers of the cargo, or owners of the steamer:—Held: (1) the charterers were not thereby excused for delay in loading caused by obstructions on the railways leading to the port or loading place, but not occurring actually at the port or loading-place; (2) the charterers were not protected by the exceptions clause quoted above, from liability for delay in loading caused by congestion in the port due to a strike which had come to an end before the lay days began to run.—BASSA (OWNERS) v. ROYAL COMMISSION ON WHEAT SUPPLIES (1924), 132 L. T. 634; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 461.

2879. ——.]—BUNGE Y BORN CO. v. BRIGHTMAN (H. A.) & Co., No. 2776, ante.

2880. —— Circumstances of port well known in trade—Unknown to shipowner.]—A charterparty provided that the ship should proceed to Sulina, or outside, in sufficient depth of water to load the ship, & there load from the agents of the merchants a complete cargo of grain. The cargo to be brought & taken from alongside the ship at the ports of loading & discharge at charterer's expense & risk. Thirty running days to be allowed, if the ship be not sooner dispatched, for loading & unloading, & ten days on demurrage over & above the laying days, at £6 a day; detention by ice & quarantine not to be reckoned as laying days. There are no storehouses at the port of Sulina itself; but the grain shipped at Sulina is kept at places higher up the Danube, & is brought by steam lighters down the river & unloaded direct into ships waiting their lading at Sulina. The ship being ready to load, notice was given to the charterer; but after six days, before any cargo had been supplied, the river immediately above Sulina became frozen up, & so remained for two months, the port of Sulina itself remaining open. The ship having been thus delayed waiting for cargo:—Held: this was a "detention by ice," within the meaning of the charterparty; though the circumstances of the port were unknown to the shipowner, yet, being well known in the grain trade, they must be taken to have been the basis of the contract; & whenever there was no access to the ship by reason of ice from any one of the storing places from which merchandise was conveyed direct to the ship, the exception in the charterparty would apply.—HUDSON v. EDE (1868), L. R. 3 Q. B. 412; 8 B. & S. 631; 37 L. J. Q. B. 166; 18 L. T. 764; 16 W. R. 940; 3 Mar. L. C. 114, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Distd. Stephens v. Harris (1887), 57 L. J. Q. B. 203. Folld. Allerton Sailing Ship Co. v. Falk (1888), 6 Asp. M. L. C. 287. Apld. Smith & Service v. Rosario Nitrate Co., [1894] 1 Q. B. 174; Michalinos v. Dreyfus (1924), 131 L. T. 177. Consd. Bunge y Born Co. v. Brightman, [1925] A. C. 799. Refd. Postlethwaite v. Freeland (1880), 5 App. Cas. 599; Kay v. Field (1882), 10 Q. B. D. 241; Grant v. Coverdale, Todd (1884), 9 App. Cas. 470; The Alne Holme, [1893] P. 173; The Austin Friars (1894), 71 L. T. 27; Furness v. Forwood (1897), 77 L. T. 95; Temple, Thomson & Clarke v. Runnalls (1902), 18 T. L. R. 822; Einar Bugge A. S. v. Bowater (1925), 31 Com. Cas. 1; S.S. Matheos v. Dreyfus, [1925] A. C. 654.

2881. —— ——.]—ALLERTON SAILING SHIP CO., LTD. v. FALK, No. 2768, ante.

2882. —— Customary mode of loading.]—SMITH & SERVICE v. ROSARIO NITRATE CO., No. 2559, ante.

2883. ——.]—BRUCE v. NICOLOPULO, No. 2556, ante.

2884. ——.]—Deft. agreed by charterparty to load pltf.'s ship with coal in regular & customary turn, "except in cases of riots, strikes, or any other accidents beyond his control" which might prevent or delay her loading. To an action for breach of the above covenant in the charterparty, deft. pleaded that he was prevented loading the vessel by a snowstorm, which rendered it impossible to bring the cargo to the agreed place of shipment:—Held: a snowstorm was not an "accident" within the exception.

The only question then is, does this snowstorm come within a reasonable interpretation of the exception? What is a reasonable time must be taken in connection with the possibility & the difficulty of loading, but it has no reference to getting the coals down (WILLES, J.).—FENWICK v. SCHMALZ (1868), L. R. 3 C. P. 313; 37 L. J. C. P. 78; 18 L. T. 27; 16 W. R. 481; 3 Mar. L. C. 64.

Annotations:—Consd. S.S. Knutsford v. Tillmanns (1908), 99 L. T. 399. Refd. Furness v. Forwood (1897), 77 L. T. 95; Mudie v. Strick (1909), 100 L. T. 701; S.S. Magnhild v. McIntyre, [1920] 3 K. B. 321. Mentd. Matsoukis v. Priestman, [1915] 1 K. B. 681.

2885. ——.]—Re RICHARDSONS & SAMUEL (M.) & Co., No. 1680, ante.

2886. ——.]—A charterparty provided that a ship should proceed to P. & there load a cargo of ore. It was known to the shipowners & charterers that the ore was to be brought down from the mines to the place of shipment by rail. When the ship arrived at P. it was impossible to bring a cargo to the place of shipment as portions of the railway had been rendered impassable by storms, floods & consequent subsidence. The charterparty excepted "stoppages of trains, mines & workmen, accidents to railways & to mines or piers from which the ore is to be shipped":—Held: the exceptions applied not only to causes preventing the shipment, but also to causes preventing the ore from being brought to the place of shipment.—FURNESS v. FORWOOD BROTHERS & CO. (1897), 77 L. T. 95; 13 T. L. R. 500; 41 Sol. Jo. 662; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 298; 2 Com. Cas. 223.

Annotation:—Refd. Bunge y Born Co. v. Brightman, [1925] A. C. 799.

2887. —— Through bill of lading.]—WIENER & CO. v. WILSONS & FURNESS-LEYLAND LINE, LTD., No. 2218, ante.

(c) Particular Causes of Detention.

Excepted perils.]—See, generally, Sect. 4, ante.

2888. Frost.]—KEARON v. PEARSON, No. 2839, ante.

2889. ——.]—HUDSON v. EDE, No. 2880, ante.

2890. ——.]—KAY v. FIELD, No. 2734, ante.

2891. ——.]—GRANT & CO. v. COVERDALE, TODD & CO., No. 2735, ante.

2892. ——.] — THE ROOKWOOD (1894), 10 T. L. R. 314, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Bunge y Born Co. v. Brightman, [1925] A. C. 799.

2893. ——.] — S.S. MATHEOS v. DREYFUS (LOUIS) & CO., No. 2736, ante.

2894. Snowstorm.]—FENWICK v. SCHMALZ, No. 2884, ante.

2895. Exceptional tides.] — ALLERTON SAILING SHIP CO., LTD. v. FALK, No. 2768, ante.

2896. Civil war.]—SMITH & SERVICE v. ROSARIO NITRATE CO., No. 2559, ante.

2897. Floods.]—FURNESS v. FORWOOD BROTHERS & CO., No. 2886, ante.

2898. Outbreak of war.]—REID v. HOSKINS, No. 2852, ante.

2899. ——.]—ESPOSITO v. BOWDEN, No. 2764, ante.

2900. ——.]—CLAPHAM S.S. CO., LTD. v. HANDELS-EN TRANSPORT-MAATSCHAPPIJ VULCAAN OF ROTTERDAM, No. 2117, ante.

2901. Embargo.]—SJOERDS v. LUSCOMBE, No. 2850, ante.

2902. Lock out.]—Re RICHARDSONS & SAMUEL (M.) & CO., No. 1680, ante.

2903. Strike.]—By a charterparty, the vessel was to proceed with all convenient speed to Cardiff, & there load from the factors of the freighters a full cargo of coals, in the customary manner, no time being mentioned:—Held: this meant a loading according to the usage of the port, & within a reasonable time, without reference to unforeseen casualties; &, consequently, the loading having been delayed for an unreasonable time, the freighters were not excused by reason of the delay having arisen from difficulties connected with the railway & the collieries, which were beyond their control.—ADAMS v. ROYAL MAIL STEAM-PACKET CO. (1858), 5 C. B. N. S. 492; 28 L. J. C. P. 33; 32 L. T. O. S. 92; 7 W. R. 9; 141 E. R. 200.

Annotations:—Expld. Hick v. Rodocanachi, [1891] 2 Q. B. 626. Refd. Ford v. Cotesworth (1868), L. R. 4 Q. B. 127; Wright v. New Zealand Shipping Co. (1879), 4 Ex. D. 165, n.; Postlethwaite v. Freeland (1880), 5 App. Cas. 599; Ardan S.S. Co. v. Weir, [1905] A. C. 501.

2904. ——.]—STEPHENS v. HARRIS & CO., No. 2743, ante.

2905. ——.]—DOBELL & CO. v. GREEN & CO., No. 2871, ante.

2906. ——.]—BASSA (OWNERS) v. ROYAL COMMISSION ON WHEAT SUPPLIES, No. 2878, ante.

2907. ——.]—BUNGE Y BORN CO. v. BRIGHTMAN (H. A.) & CO., No. 2776, ante.

2908. ——.]—Applts., defts. in the action, sold to resps. a quantity of South African coal. The coal was to be supplied from M. Colliery & to be delivered f.o.b. Delagoa Bay. Resps. chartered a steamer to go to Delagoa Bay to load the coal, & in the events which happened they became liable to pay demurrage to the owners of the steamer. They then brought an action in which they claimed to recover from applts. as damages the amount which they had been compelled to pay to the shipowners for demurrage.

The contract of sale provided that the coal was to be supplied at Delagoa Bay in accordance with the custom of the port, & also (inter alia) that the sellers were not to be liable to the buyers for damages resulting from delay due to strikes . . . railway derangements . . . or any other causes beyond the seller's control.

When the steamer arrived at Delagoa Bay the port was already congested with shipping, & owing to a strike & to shortage of trucks on the railway & other causes she was not able to load for several weeks:—Held: if applts.' obligation was to have cargo ready to load when the steamer came on turn in the order of arrival they were excused, in the particular circumstances, by the operation of the exceptions clause; & if the provision in the contract that the coal was to be supplied according to the custom of the port implied that the turn of arrival was to be combined with the turn of ships at the colliery, the steamer had been loaded within the time allowed by the contract.—EINAR BUGGE A. S. v. BOWATER (W. H.), LTD. (1925), 31 Com. Cas. 1, C. A.

2909. Prohibition of export.]—BLIGHT v. PAGE (1801), 3 Bos. & P. 295, n.: 127 E. R. 163, N. P.

Annotations:—Consd. Beale v. Thompson (1803), 3 Bos. & P. 405. Apld. Barret v. Dutton (1815), 4 Camp. 333. Refd. Touteng v. Hubbard (1802), 3 Bos. & P. 291; Sjoerds v. Luscombe (1812), 16 East, 201; The Teutonia (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 394; Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 125; Barrie v. Peruvian Corpn. (1896), 13 T. L. R. 101; Ralli v. Compañia Naviera Sota y Aznar, [1920] 2 K. B. 287; Cantiere Navale Triestina v. Russian Soviet Naphtha Export Agency, [1925] 2 K. B. 172.

2910. ——.]—BRUCE v. NICOLOPULO, No. 2556, ante.

2911. Failure to procure pass.]—KIRK v. GIBBS, No. 2865, ante.

2912. Infection at port of loading.]—BARKER v. HODGSON, No. 2851, ante.

2913. Failure to obtain colliery loading order.]—ARDAN S.S. CO. v. WEIR (ANDREW) & CO., No. 2848, ante.

2914. Shortage of trucks.] — EINAR BUGGE A. S. v. BOWATER (W. H.), LTD., No. 2908, ante.

D. Failure to Provide Cargo.

(a) In General.

2915. Condition precedent to action for breach—Readiness of ship to receive cargo—Necessity for PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—C. (c).

---

b. Want of diligence.]—A charterparty was entered into by which a steamer was to take on board a cargo of coal, at the port of Sydney, Cape Breton. In the charterparty was this stipulation: "Taking her turn with other steamers, & taking precedence of sailing vessels, & receiving prompt despatch, in loading & unloading." Sydney is a coaling port, & the coal is brought straight from the pit to the vessels loading. There were a number of vessels waiting to load, & the steamer did not get her cargo until seventeen days after the captain protested the freighters:—Held: want of diligence on the part of the lessees, defts., was established, the delay which occurred in loading the vessel being caused by the deficiency of coals at the port, & not by the necessity of taking turn according to the custom of the port.—LORD v. ELLIOTT (1883), 27 L. C. J. 30; 6 L. N. 146.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—D. (a).

c. Defences to action for breach—Satisfaction of defendant's agents condition precedent—To performance of promise to load.]—DIBBS v. COLONIAL SUGAR REFINING CO. (1872), 10

Sect. 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 3, D. (a) & (b) i.

averment.]—Assumpsit on the following charter-party: "It is mutually agreed between E. O., agent for the owners of The Lydia, new ship, now on the stocks, of the measurement of 1,100 tons or thereabouts, now at Quebec, to be launched & ready to receive cargo in all May, guaranteed to sail in all June, & F. & co., merchants, that the ship shall proceed to, etc., & there load a cargo of timber, etc.:—Held: the readiness to receive a cargo in all May was a condition precedent to pltf.'s right to recover for not loading a full cargo; & a plea stating that the ship was not ready to receive a cargo in all May was good on general demurrer.—OLIVER v. FIELDEN (1849), 4 Exch. 135; 18 L. J. Ex. 353; 13 L. T. O. S. 214; 154 E. R. 1155.

Annotations:—Refd. Croockewit v. Fletcher (1857), 1 H. & N. 893; Behn v. Burness (1863), 2 New Rep. 184; Corkling v. Massey (1873), L. R. 8 C. P. 395.

2916. Defences to action for breach—Non-performance of condition precedent—Failure of shipowner to deliver outward cargo.] — STORER v. GORDON, No. 4717, post.

2917. —— —— Covenant by shipowner to take in particular cargo.]—By charterparty between the shipowner & freighters, the shipowner covenanted to take on board 6 pipes of brandy at Havre, & therewith proceed to Terciera, & there take on board a complete cargo of fruit or other goods, as the freighters might think fit, & proceed to London or Bristol, as might be ordered by the freighters, & there make a right & true delivery of the fruit, etc.; & the freighters covenanted to pay certain freight for the fruit & the brandy, the freight of brandy, etc., to be taken out in fruit at Terciera, & guaranteed the ship a full cargo home:—Held: the covenant to take the brandy to Terciera was not a condition precedent, but a distinct & independent covenant; & the owner, in an action of covenant on the charterparty against the freighters for not putting a full cargo of fruit on board at Terciera, having averred general performance, the declaration was held good on demurrer.—FOTHERGILL v. WALTON (1818), 8 Taunt. 576; 2 Moore, C. P. 630; 129 E. R. 508.

Annotation:—Refd. Carpenter v. Cresswell (1827), 4 Bing. 409.

2918. —— Ship in leaky condition.]—BREED v. YATES (1839), 8 L. T. 802.

2919. —— Ship going aground after part of loading completed—Unloading necessary.]—A ship was chartered on Sept. 12, 1861, for the conveyance of a cargo of wheat from Harwich to St. Malo; ten days to be allowed for loading. The usual course was to load a portion of the cargo at a quay in the river Orwell, & to proceed lower down the river to take in the residue. The vessel having arrived on Sept. 14, & taken in 900 quarters, which was about three-fourths of the whole cargo, was proceeding down the river in charge of a pilot, when she got aground. The master, finding it necessary to take out the cargo in order to examine & repair the ship, gave notice to the charterers' agent, who accordingly, at the request of the master, & at the expense of the charterers, unloaded the 900 quarters, & dispatched the whole quantity to its destination by other vessels. On Oct. 4, the master gave notice that he was ready to receive the cargo & demanded it. The agent had none to ship:—Held: the owner could not, under the circumstances, maintain an action against the charterers for not supplying a cargo.—STRUGNELL v. FRIEDRICHSEN (1862), 12 C. B. N. S. 452; 9 Jur. N. S. 77; 142 E. R. 1219.

Annotation:—Refd. Blasco v. Fletcher (1863), 14 C. B. N. S. 147.

2920. —— Owners unable to perform contract—Sale of ship.]—By a berth contract made between shipowners & charterers the former agreed that their ship, The Rosalia, should proceed as ordered to Odessa & there load a complete cargo to be delivered at another port. Before The Rosalia proceeded to Odessa the shipowners sold her to a co. with the benefit of the berth contract, & the purchasers declared that they accepted the execution of that contract. Notice of the sale was given to the charterers. The Rosalia was tendered at Odessa to the charterers, but they refused to load her, contending that by the sale of the ship the shipowners had put it out of their power to perform the contract. The original owners claimed damages for breach of contract to load, & the dispute was referred to arbitration under a clause in the contract. The arbitrator found as facts that The Rosalia was duly tendered under the berth contract, & that both the original owners & the purchasers were always ready & willing to do all things necessary on their part towards the fulfilment of the contract, & that the vessel was not loaded solely by reason of the charterers' refusal to load her:—Held: upon these findings of fact, which meant that the original owners were always ready & willing to perform the contract personally & not merely through the purchasers, the original owners had not put it out of their power to perform the contract & the charterers were liable in damages for refusing to load the vessel.—SORRENTINO FRATELLI v. BUERGER, [1915] 3 K. B. 367; 84 L. J. K. B. 1937; 113 L. T. 840; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 164; 21 Com. Cas. 33, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Omnium D'Enterprises v. Sutherland, [1919] 1 K. B. 618.

2921. —— Provision in contract for payment of demurrage.]—AKT. REIDAR v. ARCOS, LTD., No. 1922, ante.

2922. —— Freight payable at final destination—Ship lost on homeward voyage.]—In an action on a charterparty, by which defts. covenanted to unload & receive the cargo at Charlestown, & then & there put on board 100 tons of goods, etc., pltfs. assigned as a breach that no goods were put on board. Defts. after oyer of the charterparty, in which there was a proviso, that the freight of the homeward cargo should be paid on delivery at London, pleaded that the vessel never arrived in London on the homeward voyage, but was lost. On demurrer the plea was held bad.—STEPHENSON v. PRICE (1784), 3 Doug. K. B. 353; 99 E. R. 692.

2923. —— Loss of ship.]—By a contract made in Oct. 1899, defts. sold to pltfs. a cargo of cotton seed, to be shipped per steamship Oriando at an Egyptian port during the month of Jan. 1900, & to be delivered to pltfs. in the United Kingdom. The contract provided that, in case of prohibition of export, blockade, or hostilities preventing shipment, the contract or any unfulfilled part thereof should be cancelled. In Dec. 1899, the Orlando was stranded through perils of the sea without default on defts.' part, & was so much damaged as to render it impossible for her to arrive at the port of loading in time to load during Jan. In an action by pltfs. against defts. for

N. S. W. S. C. R. 81, 323; 11 N. S. W. S. C. R. 198.—AUS.

d. —— Unseaworthiness of ship.]—In an action for breach of contract in not shipping certain goods, defts. pleaded the unseaworthiness of the vessel. It was found that the ship was unseaworthy at the time of sailing, & that defts. had placed part of the goods on board:—Held: it was a condition precedent that a vessel shall be in a proper state to take the goods on board for the purpose of the particular voyage; or in such a state that she may be made fit for the voyage with the failure to ship a cargo under the contract:—Held: the contract must be construed as subject to an implied condition that, if at the time for its performance the Orlando should, without default on defts.' part, have ceased to exist as a ship fit for the purpose of shipping the cargo, then the contract should be treated as at an end; & the action was therefore not maintainable.—NICKOLL & KNIGHT v. ASHTON, EDRIDGE & CO., [1901] 2 K. B. 126; 70 L. J. K. B. 600; 84 L. T. 804; 49 W. R. 513; 17 T. L. R. 467; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 209; 6 Com. Cas. 150, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Dunford v. Cia Anonima Maritima Union (1911), 104 L. T. 811. Distd. Seville & United Kingdom Carrying Co. v. Mann (1915), 32 T. L. R. 192; F. A. Tamplin S.S. Co. v. Anglo-Mexican Petroleum Products Co., [1916] 1 K. B. 485. Refd. Tredegar Iron & Coal Co. v. Hawthorn (1902), 18 T. L. R. 716; Blakeley v. Muller, Hobson v. Pattenden (1903), 88 L. T. 90; Kroll v. Henry, [1903] 2 K. B. 740; Chandler v. Webster (1904), 73 L. J. K. B. 401; Re Shipton, Anderson & Harrison, [1915] 3 K. B. 676; Horlock v. Beal, [1916] 1 A. C. 486; Leiston Gas Co. v. Leiston-cum-Sizewell U. C., [1916] 2 K. B. 428; Metropolitan Water Board v. Dick Kerr, [1917] 2 K. B. 1; Blackburn Bobbin Co. v. Allen, [1918] 1 K. B. 540.

—— Frustration.]—See Nos. 2849-2856, ante.

2924. Shipowner not bound to wait after day fixed—Agreement to load in time to join convoy.]—Where the charterer of a ship, for a voyage to Tobago & back, covenanted to load & dispatch her in time to join the convoy that should be appointed to sail from the West Indies on Aug. 1:—Held: he was liable for not having loaded & dispatched her by July 22, the day the West India convoy passed the Island of Tobago, although he offered to load her with a complete cargo if she would stop a few days longer.—THOMPSON v. INGLIS (1813), 3 Camp. 428; 170 E. R. 1434, N. P.

2925. Right of shipowner to minimise damage—Completion of deficient cargo.]—Where a charterer undertakes to load a full & complete cargo & fails to perform that duty, the shipowner, acting reasonably & in order to minimise damage, has implied liberty to load other cargo in order to fill up the space in the ship left vacant by the charterer, & to delay the charter voyage for the period of time reasonably & necessarily occupied in taking in that substituted cargo.

Charterers agreed by the charterparty to load a full & complete cargo at her ports of loading in Java, but failed to do so. At Alexandria, an intermediate port at which the ship called in order to discharge a portion of her cargo, the shipowners, without asking for or receiving the assent of the charterers, loaded additional cargo, & thereby minimised the damages for which the charterers would otherwise be liable. The ship was necessarily detained for a period of five days, during which time the further cargo was being loaded. At the close of the voyage the shipowners sued the charterers to recover dead freight. The charterers by their defence alleged that the ship by loading the additional cargo at Alexandria without their consent & by the consequent delay in her chartered voyage had deviated, & that as a result the shipowner's right to dead freight had been destroyed:—Held: inasmuch as the shipowners had an implied right to minimise the damages caused by the charterers' default & to load additional cargo to fill up the space in the ship left vacant by the charterers, the delay occasioned to the voyage by loading that cargo was impliedly authorised by the charterparty, & there had been no deviation.—WALLEMS REDERIJ A./S. v. MULLER (W. H.) & CO., BATAVIA, [1927] 2 K. B. 99; 96 L. J. K. B. 819; 137 L. T. 154; 43 T. L. R. 330; 71 Sol. Jo. 431; 17 Asp. M. L. C. 226; 32 Com. Cas. 219.

(b) Measure of Damages.

i. In General.

2926. Provision for penalty—Whether damages in excess of penalty recoverable.]—WINTER v. TRIMMER, No. 1967, ante.

2927. —— ——.]—Where a written contract had been made in the following terms: "We undertake to ship for you by the Warrior Queen, guaranteeing that she sails not later than the first week in July, or forfeit 2*s.* 6*d.* per ton, 300 or 400 packages, one-third yarn, at a through rate of 42*s.* 6*d.*, free of commission, provided they are forwarded per Thompson, M'Kay & Co., on or before 29th inst."; & deft. in answer to a declaration for breach of the said contract by reason of the non-shipment of a portion of the packages so sent, pleaded the payment of 2*s.* 6*d.* per ton on the said packages as & for the forfeit according to the agreement:—Held: on demurrer the plea was good.—HEUGH v. ESCOMBE (1861), 4 L. T. 517; 1 Mar. L. C. 79.

2928. Different articles payable at different rates—Average value of freight.]—THOMAS v. CLARK & TODD, No. 1908, ante.

2929. Agreement to charter particular ship—Owner earning profit by sending other ship on same venture.]—When a breach of contract has been committed with the owner of a ship whereby he is prevented from employing her upon an adventure, the damages payable to him cannot be reduced on the ground that he has earned a profit by sending another ship upon the same adventure in place of the first-mentioned ship.

Pltfs. were twelve in number, & were owners of a ship called the J.; by defts.' default she became unable to fulfil a contract to carry 240 emigrants from B. to A. Defts. were aware of this contract; five of pltfs. were part-owners of a ship called the H., & five of them were part-owners of a ship called the O. 202 out of the 240 emigrants were carried to A. in the H., & 25 more in the O. Pltfs. having sued to recover damages in respect of the loss happening to them through being prevented from carrying the 240 emigrants in the J., defts. contended that the gain to individual pltfs. from carrying the 202 emigrants in the H. & the 25 emigrants in the O. must be taken into account in mitigation of damages:—Held: the damages could not be so reduced; because even if there had been but one owner of the J., & the same person had been sole owner of the H. & the O., the profits made by him as owner of the two latter could not be deducted from the damages sustained by him as owner of the former; & the contention of defts. was in substance an attempt to set off against joint damage a several benefit.—JEBSEN v. EAST & WEST INDIA DOCK CO. (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 300; 44 L. J. C. P. 181; 32 L. T. 321; 23 W. R. 624; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 505.

Annotations:—Refd. The Marpessa, [1891] P. 403; British Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. v. Underground Electric Ry. of London, [1912] A. C. 673; Jamal v. Moolla Dawood, [1916] 1 A. C. 175; Hill v. Showell (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1106; City Tailors v. Evans (1921), 91 L. J. K. B. 379.

2930. Full freight.]—If a shipper by his default prevents the shipowner from earning the freight the rule of damages in ordinary cases does not apply, & the shipowner is entitled to the full goods on board, without such a delay as to frustrate the object of the merchant in shipping his goods.—TURNER, MORRISON v. RALLI & MAVROJANI (1869), 2 B. L. R. 127.—IND.

---

e. —— Contravention of law.]—KARL ERRLINGER v. CHAGANDAS & CO. (1915), 1 L. R. 40 Bom. 301.—IND.

Sect. 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 3, D. (b) i., ii. & iii.] freight.—CASEBOURNE v. AVERY & HOUSTON (1887), 3 T. L. R. 795, C. A.

2931. Agreement between charterer & sub-charterers—Difference between freight for which charterers liable & freight agreed upon by sub-charterers—Fall in market rate of freight.]—The owners of a ship chartered her to pltfs. for a particular voyage under a charterparty which stipulated for freights at the rate of 21*s.* per ton, & provided that in a certain event, which happened, pltfs. should be at liberty to cancel the charterparty. Pltfs. sub-chartered the ship to defts. for the same voyage at a freight of 28*s.* 6*d.* per ton. Defts., in breach of their contract, refused to load. The rate of freight obtainable in the market for a similar ship at the date of the breach had fallen to 17*s.* per ton :—Held : as the contract related to the hire of a specific ship which pltfs. were entitled to get rid of at a saving to themselves of 21*s.* per ton, the measure of damages was the difference between 28*s.* 6*d.* & 21*s.*, & not the difference between 28*s.* 6*d.* & 17*s.* the market rate.—WEIR (ANDREW) & Co. v. DOBELL & Co., [1916] 1 K. B. 722 ; 85 L. J. K. B. 873 ; 115 L. T. 387 ; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 496 ; 21 Com. Cas. 206.

ii. No Cargo Provided.

2932. Freight ship might have earned.]—WESTLAND v. ROBINSON (prior to 1690), 1 Eq. Cas. Abr. 375 ; cited 2 Vern. 212.

Annotation :—Apld. Edwin v. East India Co. (1690), 2 Vern. 210.

2933. —— Less expenses of carriage.] — A charterparty, on its face, purported to be accepted by M., by procuration of T., deft. To show the authority of M., evidence was adduced that deft., although resident in London, carried on the business of a corn factor at Limerick, where the charterparty was executed, & that M. was his brother, & had the general management of deft.'s business & warehouse there, & was in the habit of sending great quantities of corn to London, by vessels hired, & the charterparties signed, by him, by procuration of deft. :—Held : (1) the jury were at liberty to find that M. had a general authority so as to bind deft., although in fact no authority had been given by him to execute this charterparty, & it was one in which he had no interest. (2) Semble : the damages recoverable in an action for not loading pursuant to a charterparty are the amount of freight which the ship would have earned if she had been loaded, minus the expenses in carrying the freight, & also deducting any sum the ship has actually earned elsewhere.

I am not prepared to say that a shipowner, who has lost his freight by reason of a breach of contract by the charterer, is bound to go & look for employment for his ship so as to relieve the charterer from the consequence (MARTON, B.).—SMITH v. M'GUIRE (1858), 3 H. & N. 554 ; 27 L. J. Ex. 465 ; 31 L. T. O. S. 248 ; 6 W. R. 726 ; 157 E. R. 589.

Annotations :—As to (1) Refd. Cornish v. Abington (1859), 28 L. J. Ex. 262 ; Stagg v. Elliott (1862), 12 C. B. N. S. 373 ; The Fanny, The Maltilda (1883), 48 L. T. 771. As to (2) Consd. Aitken, Lilburn v. Ernsthausen, [1894] 1 Q. B. 773.

2934. Other employment found for ship—Whether owner must bring sum earned into account.]—LIDGETT v. WILLIAMS, No. 1792, ante.

2935. —— ——.]—SMITH v. M'GUIRE, No. 2933, ante.

2936. —— —— Where stipulation for payment of liquidated sum—Dead freight.]—Freighters chartered a foreign ship to take a cargo from London to St. Petersburg, & to load a cargo there & immediately return to London, paying so much freight per ton ; & it was covenanted that if political or other circumstances should prevent the shipping a return cargo, or discharging the outward cargo, the freighters might detain the ship at St. Petersburg for forty running days ; & if that time elapsed without the outward cargo being delivered, & consequently without the return cargo being put on board, the master should be at liberty to return to London, & the freighters should pay him £2,500 immediately upon the arrival of the ship at London. The freighters then procured a policy of insurance, whereby the underwriters agreed to pay a total loss in case the ship was not allowed by the Russian Govt. to load a cargo at St. Petersburg on the chartered voyage. In fact the Russian Govt., when the ship arrived at St. Petersburg, presuming that the outward cargo was British, refused permission to unload her, & consequently she could not take in a Russian cargo ; on which the master, judging for the best, proceeded immediately to Stockholm, where, after disposing of the outward cargo to disadvantage, he brought home a Swedish cargo to London, & earned freight thereon :—Held : as the freighters would be entitled to deduct from the sum payable to the master for dead freight the amount of the freight received by him on the cargo from Stockholm to London, though such intermediate voyage were not originally contemplated by the contracting parties, but was undertaken upon the emergency, therefore the underwriters were entitled to make the same deduction from the total loss stipulated for by the policy in the event which had happened ; every contract of insurance being in its nature a contract of indemnity.—PULLER v. STANIFORTH (1809), 11 East, 232 ; 103 E. R. 993.

Annotations :—Expld. Puller v. Halliday (1810), 12 East, 494. Distd. Bell v. Puller (1810), 12 East, 496, n. ; Lidgett v. Williams (1845), 5 L. T. O. S. 169.

2937. —— —— —— ——.]—Where a ship was chartered to take a cargo of lead from London to St. Petersburg, & there immediately receive a return cargo from the freighters' agent & bring it to London, with a proviso that if political circumstances should prevent a return cargo from being loaded, the master, after waiting at St. Petersburg forty running days, without the outward cargo being unloaded, & consequently without the return cargo being loaded, should be at liberty to return to London or any port in England :—Held : such political circumstances having occurred as hindered the unloading of the outward cargo at St. Petersburg, & the ship having waited forty running days there, the master was entitled to receive the freight of a homeward cargo, which he loaded on his own account upon the outward cargo, & brought home, in addition to the dead freight payable by the freighters according to the stipulations of the charterparty. —BELL v. PULLER (1810), 12 East, 497, n. ; 2 Taunt. 285 ; 104 E. R. 194.

Annotations :—Distd. Staniforth v. Lyall (1830), 7 Bing. 169. Refd. Puller v. Halliday (1810), 12 East, 494.

2938. —— —— —— Profit greater than under charterparty.]—Defts. chartered a ship to New Zealand, where they were to load her, or by an agent there to give pltf., the owner, notice that they abandoned the adventure; in which case they were to pay him £500. The ship went to New Zealand, but found neither agent nor cargo there, & the captain made a circuitous voyage home, by way of Batavia. This voyage, after making every allowance for increased expense & loss of time, was more profitable than the original adventure to New Zealand would have been. Pltf. having sued deft. on the charterparty for breach of covenant:—Held: he could not recover the £500 penalty in addition to the profit of the homeward voyage.—STANIFORTH v. LYALL (1830), 7 Bing. 169; 4 Moo. & P. 829; 9 L. J. O. S. C. P. 23; 131 E. R. 65.

Annotations:—Apld. British Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. v. Underground Electric Ry. of London, [1912] A. C. 673. Reld. Jamal v. Moolla Dawood, [1916] 1 A. C. 175; Hill v. Showell (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1106.

2939. —— —— No loss sustained by owner—Nominal damages.]—BOOTH v. SIMPSON (1837), 4 L. T. 179.

2940. —— Mitigation of damages—By endeavours to find other employment.]—By a charterparty it was stipulated that a ship should proceed to Limerick with her then present cargo, & there take a cargo of oats for London, at a freight of 2*s.* 8*d.* a quarter; six days being allowed for loading at Limerick. Before the expiration of the six days the freighter's agent offered the captain a cargo at 2*s.* 6*d.*, & said that the freighter's broker would pay the difference. The captain refused to take anything not according to the terms of the charterparty:—Held: as the contract had not been broken by deft., the captain was not bound to accept this offer; but, if the contract had been broken by the freighter not putting any cargo on board within the six days, it would have been the captain's duty to have taken a cargo at the most he could get, so that the damages to be paid by the freighter should be reduced as much as possible.—HARRIES v. EDMONDS (1845), 1 Car. & Kir. 686; 4 L. T. 180.

2941. —— —— ——.]—In actions of contract, where, supposing the data to be admitted or established, & to be unaffected by any evidence introducing other legitimate elements of consideration, the damages may be more or less matter of calculation, although, primâ facie, pltf. may be entitled to the full measure of damages, yet, where the actual amount of damage has been in any degree affected by the conduct of pltf. or his agents, that is a legitimate element of consideration, & the jury are at liberty to diminish the damages on that account. But if they do so unreasonably & arbitrarily the ct. can grant a new trial, as for a verdict against evidence.

In an action on a charterparty for not loading a cargo, the loading ports being Rangoon or Bassein, & the captain having been to Rangoon, & there received orders to go to Bassein, three days' sail, where no cargo could be obtained, & he was requested to go back to Rangoon or elsewhere, in hopes of obtaining a cargo, which he declined to do, & remained inactive at Rangoon until the time for loading had elapsed, the judge having told the jury that they were not bound to give the plaintiff the full amount of freight, £2,750, but that if they deemed the master's conduct unreasonable they might diminish the damages on that account, & left it to them to say whether pltf. should recover the full amount, or any other amount they might deem reasonable, & they having found for pltf. damages £500:—Held: there had been no misdirection, but granted a new trial on the ground that the verdict was against the evidence, & the amount of damages considerably too low, making it, however, a condition that pltf. should relinquish the costs of the first trial.—WILSON v. HICKS (1857), 26 L. J. Ex. 242; 4 L. T. 683.

Annotations:—Reld. Nichol v. Bostwick (1858), 28 L. J. Ex. 4; Roth v. Taysen, Townsend & Grant (1895), 73 L. T. 628; Payzu v. Saunders (1919), 35 T. L. R. 657.

2942. —— —— ——.]—SMITH v. M'GUIRE, No. 2933, ante.

2943. —— —— ——.]—Pltfs., by charterparty, dated May 26, 1871, agreed with deft. that deft.'s ship should sail to B., & there load from pltfs. factors a cargo of coals & proceed therewith to H. or D. & deliver same on being paid freight at the rate of 2*s.* 9*d.* per ton in cash on unloading & right delivery. The ship was to be loaded & discharged with all possible dispatch, & to load with G. or H. till end of Sept., at captain's option, but after Sept. with H; & was to continue at the above rate until Mar. 1872. In Sept. the captain exercised his option in favour of loading with G., but pltfs. refused to load him from G.; whereupon deft. declined further to perform the charterparty:—Held: the breach of the charterparty which pltf. had committed went to the root of the contract between the parties, & justified deft. in his refusal.

Suppose pltfs. had said they would not load till some distant date . . . but that afterwards they would again proceed with loading, what ought deft. to do in such a case? He would clearly be bound to find some occupations for his ship; otherwise, when he brought his action for damages, pltfs. would have good cause to complain (BRAMWELL, B.).—BRADFORD v. WILLIAMS (1872), L. R. 7 Exch. 259; 41 L. J. Ex. 164; 26 L. T. 641; 20 W. R. 782; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 313.

Annotations:—Reld. Hudson v. Hill (1874), 43 L. J. C. P. 273; Honck v. Muller (1881), 7 Q. B. D. 92; Rhymney Ry. v. Brecon & Merthyr Tydfil Ry. (1900), 83 L. T. 111. Mentd. Corcoran v. Proser (1873), 22 W. R. 222.

2944. —— Performance of contract refused on ground of excessive freight—Lower rate of freight offered—Whether measure taken on higher or lower rate.]—TAUBATE (OWNERS) v. BARNETT (1924), 157 L. T. Jo. 451.

2945. Half cargo shipped—Subsequent destruction by fire—Shipowner accountable for space left unfilled.]—A shipper contracted with a shipowner to load a full cargo at a given average rate of freight, fire excepted. When half the cargo had been shipped it was destroyed by fire, & the shipper declined to proceed with the loading. The shipowner obtained a full cargo from other sources. In an action for breach of charterparty:—Held: for the purpose of mitigating the damages, the shipowner was only bound to account for the freight earned by the cargo in that half of the ship which the shipper had neglected to fill up, & he was at liberty to fill up the half made vacant by the fire for his own benefit.—AITKEN, LILBURN & Co. v. ERNSTHAUSEN & Co., [1894] 1 Q. B. 773; 63 L. J. Q. B. 559; 70 L. T. 822; 10 T. L. R. 256; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 462; 9 R. 758, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. Weir v. Girvan, [1900] 1 Q. B. 45.

iii. Short Cargo or Cargo Not in Accordance with Charterparty.

2946. Difference between sum actually earned & sum ship might have earned.]—THE THOMAS BELL, RICHARDSON v. SADLER (1852), 6 L. T. 165.

---

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 3.—D. (b) iii.

1. Agreed freight.]—LORD v. DAVIDSON (1886), 13 S. C. R. 166.—CAN.

2. Dead freight.]—A shipper who had chartered a ship, agreeing to furnish a full cargo, & pay for it at a certain rate per ton, failed to furnish a full cargo:—Held: the dead freight

Sect. 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 3, D. (b) iii.; sub-sect. 4, A., B. & C.]

2947. ——.]—A charterparty provided that a vessel should load a full cargo of Jarrah wood for the United Kingdom, freight being payable at the rate of 35*s.* per load of 50 cubic feet delivered. "Cargo to consist of 9 inch by 3 inch planks, of reasonable lengths such as could go down ship's present hatchways." The cargo consisted of planks exceeding 9 inch by 3 inch by an average of about ⅛ inch. By a custom of the hardwood timber trade, in measuring cross dimensions, fractions of quarter of an inch are disregarded: —Held: freight was payable upon the number of loads ascertained by measuring the cargo in the customary manner, & assuming that there had been a breach of the obligation to load planks 9 inch by 3 inch the damages were measured by the difference, if any, in freight, which must be ascertained by measuring in the customary manner. Semble: the expression "planks 9 inch by 3 inch," meant planks of those measurements, when measured in the customary manner.—YOUNG v. CANNING JARRAH TIMBER CO., LTD. (1899), 4 Com. Cas. 96.

2948. —— Claim for dead freight.]—PEARSON v. GOSCHEN, No. 4528, post.

2949. —— ——.]—(1) "Dead freight" means compensation, liquidated or unliquidated, for the loss suffered by the shipowner by the failure on the part of the charterer to supply a full cargo, & the amount payable in respect thereof, where it is unliquidated, is such reasonable amount as the shipowner would have earned, after deducting such expenses as he would have incurred if a full cargo had been shipped.

(2) A lien on the cargo actually shipped for dead freight may be created by express stipulation in the charterparty.

(3) Where a charterparty is entered into on behalf of the indorsees of the bills of lading, given under the charter, so that they are the actual charterers, they are bound by a stipulation as to lien in the charterparty.

(4) Bills of lading signed by the master are primâ facie evidence that the quantities named therein were received on board by him; the onus of rebutting this presumption, & of showing that a less quantity than that specified was received lies on a shipowner.

The master is the agent of the shipowner in every contract made in the usual course of the employment of the ship. Though he has no authority to sign bills of lading for a greater quantity of goods than is actually put on board, yet, as it is not to be presumed that he has exceeded his duty, his signature to the bills of lading is sufficient evidence of the truth of their contents to throw upon the shipowner the onus of falsifying them (LORD CHELMSFORD).—MCLEAN & HOPE v. FLEMING (1871), L. R. 2 Sc. & Div. 128; L. R. 6 Q. B. 558, n.; 25 L. T. 317; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 160, H. L.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Gray v. Carr (1871), L. R. 6 Q. B. 522. Consd. Red "R" S.S. Co. v. Allatini (1909), 100 L. T. 268. Foll. Kish v. Taylor, [1912] A. C. 604. As to (4) Consd. Brown v. Powell Coal Co. (1875), L. R. 10 C. P. 562. Refd. Pyman v. Burt (1883), Cab. & El. 207; Smith v. Bedouin Steam Navigation Co., [1896] A. C. 70; The Hollinside (1898), 3 Com. Cas. 100; New Chinese Antimony Co. v. Ocean S.S. Co., [1917] 2 K. B. 664. Generally, Mentd. Whitechurch v. Cavanagh, [1902] A. C. 117.

2950. —— ——.]—GRAY v. CARR, No. 1958, ante.

2951. —— ——.]—KISH v. TAYLOR, No. 3170, post.

2952. Goods not in accordance with charterparty — Actual earnings more profitable — Nominal damages.]—THE OLANDA, STOOMVAART MAATSCHAPPIJ NEDERLANDSCHE LLOYD v. GENERAL MERCANTILE CO., LTD. (1917), [1919] 2 K. B. 728, n., H. L.

Annotation:—Distd. Steven v. Bromley, [1919] 2 K. B. 722.

2953. —— Recovery on quantum meruit.]—STEVEN v. BROMLEY & SON, No. 4870, post.

---

SUB-SECT. 4.—DELIVERY OF CARGO.

A. In General.

2954. Dividing line of liability of shipper & shipowner.]—GRANT & CO. v. COVERDALE, TODD & CO., No. 2877, ante.

2955. Cargo partly delivered—Departure of ship from port—Under apprehension of embargo.]—The master & the freighter of a vessel of 400 tons having mutually agreed in writing, that the ship, being fitted for the voyage, should proceed to St. P., & there load from the freighter's factor a complete cargo of hemp, & iron, & proceed therewith to London, & deliver the same, on being paid freight, etc.:—Held: the master, after taking in at St. P. about half a cargo, having sailed away upon a general rumour of a hostile embargo being laid on British ships by the Russian Govt., was liable in damages to the freighter for the short delivery of the cargo; though the jury found that he acted bonâ fide, & under a reasonable & well-grounded apprehension at the time; & a hostile embargo & seizure was in fact laid on six weeks afterwards.—ATKINSON v. RITCHIE (1809), 10 East, 530; 103 E. R. 877.

Annotations:—Apld. Splidt v. Heath (1809), 2 Camp. 57, n. Refd. Spence v. Chodwick (1847), 10 Q. B. 517; Esposito v. Bowden (1857), 7 E. & B. 763; The Teutonia (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 394; Jacobs v. Crédit Lyonnais (1884), 12 Q. B. D. 589; Watts, Watts v. Mitsui, [1917] A. C. 227; Ralli v. Compañia Naviera Sota y Aznar, [1920] 2 K. B. 287. Mentd. Hall v. Wright (1858), E. B. & E. 765; Blackburn Bobbin Co. v. Allen (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1085; Matthey v. Curling, [1922] 2 A. C. 180.

2956. Preparation of cargo for delivery—Pressing wool—Liability for expenses—Evidence of custom at port of loading.]—COCKBURN v. ALEXANDER, No. 1902, ante.

---

due for the deficiency was the actual damage occasioned to the shipowner by the failure, & consequently that any expense (such as drogherage) thereby saved to him, must be deducted from the amount of freight which would have appertained to the deficient cargo.—M'GAVIN v. CUDDY (1843), 6 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 297; 16 Sc. Jur. 164.—SCOT.

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 4.—A.

h. Expense of wood-boats—Whether implied contract that stevedore should pay.]—There is no implied contract between the shipper of deals & the stevedore (who is employed by the owner of the vessel & undertakes to bring the deals from the wharf), that the stevedore shall pay the expense of wood-boats employed by the shipper to bring part of the deals to the vessel.—WARD v. MCNICHOL (1857), 8 N. B. R. (3 All.) 499.—CAN.

k. Constructive delivery.] — Where pltf. gave evidence, uncontradicted, that deft., the captain of a vessel, told her to send her goods to a certain wharf, & that she sent them there:—Held: there was evidence of a constructive delivery to deft., which imposed on him the duty of looking after pltf.'s goods & taking them on board.—MORRISON v. THOMPSON (1877), 11 N. S. R. (2 R. & C.) 411.—CAN.

l. ——.]—FORSYTH v. BELL (1885), 18 N. S. R. (6 R. & G.) 374; 6 C. L. T. 489.—CAN.

m. Duty of shipper.]—It is the duty of the shipper to comply strictly with the terms of the shipping order.—GENTLE v. THOMSON (1862), 1 Ind. Jur. O. S. 69.—IND.

n. Carriage of stone-crusher.] — The Public Works Department wrote to resp. co.'s agents asking them to quote freight on a stone-crusher from Wanganui to Dunedin taken from & landed into railway trucks. The agents wrote in reply offering a price to carry the crusher from Wanganui 2957. Risk during delivery—Transit from shore to ship—When risk falls on shipowner—Absence of exceptional clause in charterparty.]—NOTTEBOHN v. RICHTER, No. 2533, ante.

2958. Delivery at "merchant's risk & expense"—Cargo to be loaded "as customary"—Exclusion of merchant's risk & expense—Expenses of lighterage.]—Pltfs. agreed with deft. by charterparty that deft.'s ship should load at Barbadoes, St. Kitts, or Trinidad, a full cargo of West India produce, "to be brought to & taken from alongside at merchant's risk & expense." These words, with others, were in print. The charterparty also contained the words "cargo at Trinidad as customary." These words, with others, were in writing.

The custom at Trinidad is, that the ship pays for the lighterage, & the shipowner allows the charterer the reasonable expense thereof. Deft.'s ship loaded at Trinidad in the customary manner, but the captain refused to pay the lighterage, whereupon pltfs. had to bear the expense of it:—Held: the stipulation, "cargo at Trinidad as customary," worked an exception to the stipulation as to loading at merchant's risk, & pltfs. were entitled to recover the lighterage from deft.—SCRUTTON v. CHILDS (1877), 36 L. T. 212; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 373, D. C.

Annotation:—N.F. The Nifa, [1892] P. 411.

—— Unloading cargo.]—Compare Part VII., Sect. 7, sub-sect. 5, F., post.

Delivery of dangerous goods.]—See Sect. 1, sub-sect. 8, ante.

B. Place of Delivery to Ship.

2959. Agreement to load on board ship—Goods brought to warehouse or quay—& offered to person in charge—Refusal of master to take goods on board.]—An agreement to load on ship board seven casks of brandy, is well performed when the master refuses to take them on board by bringing them to the warehouse or the quay from which the vessel takes in her cargo, & offering them to the party there to send them on board; for being cumbersome goods the tender is sufficient if they be brought to a place from whence they may be well received, & need not be carried to the ship's side.—STONE v. GILLIAM (1690), 1 Show. 149; 89 E. R. 505.

2960. —— —— —— Cumbersome goods.]—STONE v. GILLIAM, No. 2959, ante.

2961. Custom to deliver at wharf to mate—Delivery by wharfinger—Liability for goods lost from wharf.]—COBBAN v. DOWNE, No. 2967, post.

2962. Provision requiring cargo to be brought alongside—Expenses of removal to ship—Goods deposited at distance on wharf—Clause requiring usual & customary assistance from master.]—Defts. had executed a charterparty, under which the cargo was to be sent alongside the ship at the merchant's expense, the captain rendering the usual & customary assistance with his boats & crew, some of the cargo lying about thirty yards from the edge of the wharf, the captain applied to deft.'s factor for labourers to remove it into the boats, the factor having refused, saying he would abide by the charterparty, the captain hired labourers for the purpose:—Held: the expense so incurred might, notwithstanding the charterparty, be recovered on counts for money paid, & work & labour.—FLETCHER v. GILLESPIE (1826), 3 Bing. 635; 11 Moore, C. P. 547; 4 L. J. O. S. C. P. 202; 130 E. R. 659.

Annotation:—Refd. Holman v. Dasnieres (1886), 2 T. L. R. 480.

2963. —— —— Safe loading impossible inside bar.]—On a charter to receive a cargo alongside the ship, at a port where the ship cannot safely load inside a bar, if she is loaded outside the freighter cannot throw extra expense of lighterage on the shipowner.—TRINDADE v. LEVY (1861), 2 F. & F. 441, N. P.

2964. —— —— Master accepting cargo before brought alongside.]—HOLMAN & SONS v. DASNIÈRES, No. 2965, post.

2965. —— Duty of charterer to bring cargo as near as practicable—Meaning of "as near as practicable"—Question for jury.]—Where a charterparty provided that the cargo should be "brought alongside" for shipment:—Held: "brought alongside" meant that the charterer was to bring the cargo as near to the ship as practicable, & it was for the jury to say whether the charterer had done so.

He [the master] had no right to receive it & load it & then seek to throw upon the shipper the extra expense of loading it (LORD ESHER, M.R.).—HOLMAN & SONS v. DASNIÈRES (1886), 2 T. L. R. 607, C. A.

Annotation:—Consd. Akt. Helios v. Ekman (1897), 76 L. T. 537.

C. Effect of Delivery.

2966. Shipowner's responsibility attaches.]—GRANT & CO. v. COVERDALE, TODD & CO., No. 2877, ante.

2967. —— Delivery to officer or person accredited.]—Where goods are to be carried coastwise & the usage of the wharf is to deliver them on the wharf to the mate of the ship by which they are to be carried; if they are delivered to the mate, the wharfinger's responsibility is at an end, & he is not liable, though the goods are lost from the wharf before they are shipped.—COBBAN v. DOWNE (1803), 5 Esp. 41; 170 E. R. 731, N. P.

Annotations:—Refd. Leigh v. Smith (1825), 1 C. & P. 638; Blaikie v. Stembridge (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 894.

2968. —— ——.]—If a ship is chartered for a particular voyage & put up as a general ship by the charterer, it is not enough to make the owners liable for the non-delivery of goods, to show that they were put on board the ship to be carried in this voyage, unless it be proved that they were received on board by some person appointed or authorised by the owners.—MACKENZIE v. ROWE (1810), 2 Camp. 482; 170 E. R. 1225, N. P.

Annotations:—Refd. Hutton v. Bragg (1816), 2 Marsh. 339; Sandeman v. Scurr (1866), L. R. 2 Q. B. 86.

2969. —— ——.]—Goods were sent by canal carriers, directed to a person in the Isle of Man, to Dunedin, "to be delivered to & taken from alongside ship at port of loading & discharge." This offer was accepted by the Minister of Public Works without reference to the terms of the first letter:—Held: the stipulation made in the first letter that the crusher should be taken from & landed into railway trucks was not a term of the contract of affreightment, the offer which was accepted being to carry the crusher if delivered at the ship's side, & the duty of deft. co. to take delivery of the crusher did not therefore arise until it had been so delivered.—R. v. CANTERBURY S.S. CO., LTD. (1909), 28 N. Z. L. R. 361.—N.Z.

---

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 4.—B.

o. False representations as to depth of water.]—Pltf. declared that deft. by falsely pretending & representing to pltf., that if pltf. would go with his vessel to Willie's Bay, for the purpose of carrying a load of deft.'s wood thence to Cobourg, he would be able, by reason of the depth of water in said bay, to approach within a convenient distance from the shore, & load the wood on his vessel with scows, induced pltf. to go with his vessel to the said bay for that purpose, & to incur great expense, etc., whereas the depth of the water was not sufficient, etc.:—Held: it sufficiently appeared that deft. induced pltf. to go for the wood by his false representation, though no contract to carry was stated.—HARVEY v. WALLACE (1858), 16 U. C. R. 508.—CAN.

Sect. 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 4, C.; sub-sect. 5, A., B. & C. (a) i. & ii.]

to the care of deft., at Liverpool. On the arrival of the goods at Liverpool, they were landed on a public wharf, & notice sent to deft., who was the agent to a steam vessel co. He signed the carrier's book, & afterwards entered them in the manifest & clearance of the steam vessel going to the Isle of Man. There was also evidence, that, on former occasions, deft. had desired that goods sent to him should remain on the wharf:—Held: there was evidence to go to the jury of a delivery to, & acceptance by deft. of the goods, so as to make him be liable for a subsequent loss by negligence.—QUIGGIN v. DUFF (1836), 1 M. & W. 174; 1 Gale, 420; 3 Tyr. & Gr. 553; 5 L. J. Ex. 149; 150 E. R. 394.

2970. —— ——.]—BRITISH COLUMBIA SAW-MILL CO. v. NETTLESHIP, No. 3820, post.

2971. Right to demand redelivery—Right of charterer — Redelivery before freight due.] — THOMPSON v. SMALL, No. 1912, ante.

2972. —— Right of shipper—Necessity for payment of freight—& indemnity to master against bills of lading.]—TINDALL v. TAYLOR, No. 2179, ante.

2973. Unloading necessary to enable ship to pass bar—Charterer not bound to reship.]—GENERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. v. SLIPPER, No. 2789, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 5.—STOWAGE.

A. In General.

See Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article III., r. 2.

2974. Definition.]—(1) A custom that, in discharging long lengths of timber from a ship, the shipowner is bound to put the timber into lighters brought alongside by the consignees is not inconsistent with a charterparty which provides that the timber shall be taken from alongside at merchants' expense.

If the written terms of the charterparty stood alone, upon the true construction of a charterparty in those terms, the delivery of the cargo from the ship into barges or on to a quay is a joint operation, that is to say, neither party is bound to do it alone. It is to be a joint act, &, therefore, if one party is not there to perform his part in it, that prevents the other party from performing his part. Therefore, upon the written terms of the charterparty standing alone, the captain of the ship would not be bound to begin to deliver the cargo into the barges, unless the charterers had men there to assist in the joint operation; &, if they were not ready & willing to take part in it, the captain being ready & willing to do so, he would be prevented by the default of the charterers from discharging the ship, & demurrage would be payable for the consequent delay. That being the state of things with regard to a charterparty in these terms if they stood alone, a custom appears to have been evolved among the persons engaged in importing timber cargoes into the Thames by way of addition to the terms of the written contract.

What is the effect of the evidence as to the custom? The judge finds in plain terms, as to so much of the transaction as consists of delivery of the timber out of the ship into the barge, that it is to be wholly performed by the shipowner alone; but he does not find that the arranging of the timber when on the barge, so as to make the barge properly navigable, & to make the cargo of the barge as large as it can be, is to be done by the shipowner either alone or jointly with the charterer.

Then the question is whether the custom so limited is contrary to the terms of the charterparty. I think not. It simply explains what delivery of the cargo to the consignee alongside is & how it is to be effected—namely, by the act of the shipowner alone instead of the joint act of both parties. I therefore think that the view taken by the learned judge was correct (LORD ESHER, M.R.).

(2) Stowage means something over & above the loading of the barge from the ship (A. L. SMITH, L.J.).—AKT. HELIOS v. EKMAN & CO., [1897] 2 Q. B. 83; 66 L. J. Q. B. 538; 76 L. T. 537; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 244; 2 Com. Cas. 163, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Brenda S.S. Co. v. Green (1900), 82 L. T. 66. Consd. Glasgow Navigation Co. v. Howard (1910), 102 L. T. 172. Distd. Palgrave, Brown v. S.S. Turid, [1922] 1 A. C. 397. Reid. Langham S.S. Co. v. Gallagher (1911), 12 Asp. M. L. C. 109; Rederi Akt. Acolus v. Hillas (1925), 134 L. T. 184.

2975. By whom cargo to be stowed—Master or stevedore—What shipper entitled to assume.]—Semble: a merchant sending goods to be loaded on board a general ship is not entitled to assume, without inquiry that they are to be shipped & stowed by the master, rather than by a stevedore, & so, without any contract with the master, or wrong done by him or the crew, to insist upon holding the master liable for damage done to the goods in the loading thereof.

In the absence of custom or agreement to the contrary, it is the duty of the master, on the part of the owner of a ship, to receive & properly stow on board the goods to be carried; &, for any damage to the goods occasioned by negligence in the performance of this duty, the owner, & probably also the master, if the damage result from the neglect or misconduct of himself or of those for whose acts he is responsible, is liable to the shipper.

A ship was chartered by the owner to one A. for a voyage with cargo to Port Louis & back, for a stipulated rate of freight per ton on the homeward cargo, the cargo to be taken to & tendered alongside at the charterer's risk & expense, the ship to be consigned to charterer's agents at ports of loading & discharge, & a stevedore for the outward cargo to be appointed by the charterer, but to be paid by & to act under the captain's orders. The charterer put up the ship as a general ship for Port Louis, & appointed a stevedore, who with his men went on board for the purpose of stowing the vessel, in the usual course of his business. The master gave no orders to or in any way interfered with the stevedore, only looking into the hold occasionally to see how the cargo was being stowed, for the safety of the ship. Pltfs.' agent arranged with the broker of the charterer for the freight & carriage to Port Louis of certain sugar pans, & sent them alongside the ship. Whilst the pans were being hoisted on board from the lighter by the stevedore & his men, two of them were by their negligence damaged:—Held: under these circumstances, the stevedore was not the servant or agent of the master, so as to render him responsible.—BLAIKIE v. STEMBRIDGE (1860), 6 C. B. N. S. 894; 6

---

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 5.—A.

p. Duty of carrier—To use all reasonable & proper means to secure safe stowage.]—A carrier is only bound to use all reasonable & proper means, but not every possible means, to secure the safe stowage of his cargo. It is not incumbent on him to take special & exceptional precautions for its safe carriage.—AVERY v. INMAN S.S. CO. (1870), 5 Nfld. L. R. 357.—NFLD.

q. Stevedore's charges—Liability of owner]—CANADIAN STEVEDORING CO., LTD. v. ROBIN LINE S.S. CO., CANADIAN STEVEDORING CO., LTD. v. SEAS SHIPPING CO. (B. C.), [1927] 4 D. L. R. 614; [1927] 2 W. W. R. 737.—CAN.

Jur. N. S. 825; 8 W. R. 239; 141 E. R. 703; sub nom. BLAKIE v. STEMBRIDGE, 29 L. J. C. P. 212; 2 L. T. 570, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Distd. Sack v. Ford (1862), 13 C. B. N. S. 90. Consd. British Columbia & Vancouver's Island Spar, Lumber & Saw Mill Co. v. Nettleship (1868), 37 L. J. C. P. 235. Apld. The Catharine Chalmers (1874), 32 L. T. 847. Refd. Roberts v. Shaw (1863), 4 B. & S. 44; Ohrloff v. Briscall, The Helene (1866), L. R. 1 P. C. 231; Sandeman v. Scurr (1866), L. R. 2 Q. B. 86.

2976. Duty of master—To stow goods properly—As agent of owner—In absence of contrary custom or agreement.]—BLAIKIE v. STEMBRIDGE, No. 2975, ante.

2977. —— To inquire as to proper protection of goods.]—A charterparty provided that the stowage of the cargo should be under the control of the master, & that the shipowners should be responsible for proper stowage. The cargo loaded included a consignment of chloride of lime in iron drums, all of which were apparently in good condition. The charterers' agents who saw to the loading stowed the drums of chloride of lime below deck. During the voyage the chloride of lime corroded the drums, & fumes leaked out, causing damage to other cargo in the hold. The leakage of the fumes was due to a latent defect in the drums:—Held: the clause providing that the shipowners should be responsible for proper stowage of the cargo did not amount to an absolute warranty. It only meant that the shipowners would not be negligent in the stowage of the cargo, & in the absence of negligence on the part of the master in allowing the chloride of lime to be stowed below deck, the shipowners, as between themselves & the charterers, were not liable for the damage.—UNION CASTLE MAIL S.S. CO. v. BORDERDALE SHIPPING CO., [1919] 1 K. B. 612; 88 L. J. K. B. 979; 120 L. T. 669; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 435; 24 Com. Cas. 164.

2978. Duty of owner—To stow as skilfully as competent stevedore.]—ANGLO-AFRICAN CO. v. LAMZED, No. 3017, post.

2979. Stevedore's charges—Liability of owner—Ship sub-chartered—Bankruptcy of sub-charterer.]—The owner of a ship had chartered her to A. for the purpose of being loaded; the charterparty provided that the stevedore was to be nominated by the charterer, & be under the control of the captain, & was to be paid by the owner. A. sub-chartered the ship to B., entering into a charterparty with a similar clause. B. employed pltf., who was a stevedore, to load the ship, & introduced him to deft. as the person who was to load the ship. Deft. frequently came on board while the ship was being loaded, & superintended & gave certain instructions relative to the stowage of the cargo. On completion of the loading pltf. sent in his account to B. headed "To captain & owners," & pressed B. for payment. B. had sent in his account to A. & A. had sent in his account to deft., with the item "Stevedore's account" charged. Deft. had paid A.'s account, & A. had paid B.'s account, B. became bkpt., & did not pay pltf.:—Held: deft. was liable to pay pltf.'s account.—EASTMAN v. HARRY (1876), 33 L. T. 800; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 117, C. A.

Stowage resulting in unseaworthiness.]—See Sect. 6, sub-sect. 1, D. (b) iii., post.

B. Mode of Stowage.

See Sect. 2, sub-sect. 8, C. (c), ante.

C. Improper Stowage.

(a) What amounts to Improper Stowage.

i. In General.

2980. Less care bestowed than required by perils of sea.]—MUDDLE v. STRIDE, No. 2581, ante.

2981. Absence or insufficiency of dunnage.]—MORRISON v. SMITH (1840), 10 L. T. 275.

2982. ——.]—MORA ONA & CO. v. WATTS, WARD & CO. (1891), 8 T. L. R. 73.

2983. Goods stowed in portion of compartment—Less suitable than another portion.]—CALCUTTA S.S. CO., LTD. v. WEIR (ANDREW) & CO., No. 2507, ante.

2984. Heavy cargo over light.]—THE TRAFALGAR, RITSON v. TYRE (1855), 10 L. T. 242.

ii. Proximity of Different Kinds of Goods.

2985. Currants, oilcake & turpentine.]—THE SIR THOMAS GRESHAM, MCANDREW v. LIDGETT (1854), 10 L. T. 791.

2986. Cambric goods & sulphuric acid.]—Pltfs. chartered deft.'s vessel for a voyage from Glasgow to Colombo. Pltfs. sent on board the vessel some cambric goods, & they agreed with M. & co. for freight to carry goods for them. M. & co. shipped a quantity of sulphuric acid, which was stowed by deft. near pltf.'s goods. The master signed & delivered to pltfs. bills of lading for the goods & acid. It was alleged to be the duty & custom of merchants, who shipped sulphuric acid, to give notice of the same to the shipowner. No notice was given to deft. In the course of the voyage the sulphuric acid leaked & damaged pltf.'s goods. In an action by pltfs. on the bill of lading, for not delivering the goods in good condition:—Held: the neglect of pltfs. to give notice of the shipment of the sulphuric acid was no excuse for deft.'s breach of contract, since it was only a remote cause of the damage, the proximate cause being the act of deft. in placing the acid where it was; & even if the declaration had been on the charterparty, & it had contained an agreement to inform deft. when sulphuric acid was shipped, & pltfs. had actually shipped it, deft. would nevertheless have been liable.—ALSTON v. HERRING (1856), 11 Exch. 822; 25 L. J. Ex. 177; 27 L. T. O. S. 70; 156 E. R. 1005.

Annotations:—Refd. Blower v. G. W. Ry. (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 655; Budgett v. Binnington (1890), 60 L. J. Q. B. 1. Mentd. Minshull v. Oakes (1858), 2 H. & N. 793; Speeding v. Young (1864), 33 L. J. C. P. 286.

2987. Coffee & cocoanut oil.]—THE SEPOY, PALMER v. LEMON (1866), 3 Mar. L. C. Digest of Shipping Law Cases, p. 70.

2988. Tobacco & plassava.]—CHAVES v. BROOKS (1866), 3 Mar. L. C. Digest of Shipping Law Cases, p. 70.

2989. Casks of oil with wool & rags—Shippers superintending stowage—Ignorance of owner as to latent effect of heat.]—Under a charterparty the shippers put a cargo, consisting of casks of oil, wool, & rags, on board the chartered vessel, & personally superintended the stowage of the cargo in the hold of the vessel. In the margin of the bill of lading of the casks of oil there was this memorandum, "weight, measurement, & contents unknown, & not accountable for leakage." The bill of lading was indorsed in blank by the shippers, & assigned to B. & co. In the course of the voyage the oil casks became heated by the action & contiguity of the wool & rags, & a very large portion of the oil was lost. In a suit against the ship under the provisions of Admiralty Court Act, 1861 (c. 10), for damages occasioned by the shipowner's negligence:—Held: (1) ignorance of the shipowners as to the latent effect of heat, in storing the casks of oil with wool & rags, did not, in the circumstances of the shippers superintending the stowage, amount to such negligence as to make them liable to the holders of the bill of lading for the loss occasioned by the leakage of the oil; (2) the limitation of liability by the memorandum in the bill of lading, that the shipowners were not to be accountable for leakage, was not restricted as to the quantity of leakage, & protected the shipowners, in the absence of proof that the leakage was occasioned by their negligence.—OHRLOFF v. BRISCALL, THE HELENE (1866), L. R. 1 P. C. 231; 4 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 70; Brown. & Lush. 429; 35 L. J. P. C. 63; 14 L. T. 873; 12 Jur. N. S. 675; 15 W. R. 202; 2 Mar. L. C. 390; 16 E. R. 242, P. C.

Sect. 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 5, C. (a) ii. & (b) i.

Annotations:—As to (2) Expld. The Figlia Maggiore (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 106. Distd. The Nepoter (1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 375. Consd. Thrift v. Youle (1877), 46 L. J. Q. B. 402. Refd. Czech v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1867), L. R. 3 C. P. 14. Generally, Refd. The Xantho (1886), 11 P. D. 170. Mentd. Giblin v. McMullen (1868), L. R. 2 P. C. 317.

2990. Oilcake & tobacco.]—Pltfs. were assignees for valuable consideration of bills of lading for 1,000 barrels of oilcake shipped on board The Figlia Maggiore, at New York, & which the master had agreed "to deliver in like good order & condition at the port of London." The vessel was at the time under a charterparty, of which the shippers were ignorant, the master having put up the ship as a general ship. The oilcake was stowed with hogsheads of tobacco, oaken staves being placed between them. A suit having been brought by pltfs. against the shipowner for damage suffered by the oilcake on the voyage:—Held: (1) the onus of proving negligence lay on pltfs.; (2) the mode of stowage of the oilcake & tobacco was unknown to pltfs., & the damage, however caused, was occasioned by the negligence or misconduct, as well as by the breach of contract, on the part of deft. & his servants.—THE FIGLIA MAGGIORE (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 106; 37 L. J. Adm. 52; 18 L. T. 532, 3 Mar. L. C. 97.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. The Nepoter (1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 375. Generally, Refd. The Freedom (1869), L. R. 2 A. & E. 346; Sewell v. Burdick (1884), 10 App. Cas. 74.

2991. Coal & machinery.]—MACKILL v. WRIGHT BROTHERS & Co., No. 1823, ante.

2992. Cheese & chocolate.]—THE THORSA, No. 2732, ante.

2993. Eggs & rotting potatoes.]—Pltfs. were the owners of a quantity of eggs which were shipped in May, 1924, from Dantzig to London on a motor ship belonging to defts. Before the eggs were put on board at Dantzig the ship had already loaded a large consignment of potatoes, which in fact were in a rotting condition. The eggs were placed in the hold with the potatoes, & in consequence of their proximity became tainted & suffered in value. Pltfs. claimed damages from defts. accordingly. The bill of lading under which the eggs were carried contained exceptions relieving defts. from (inter alia) liability for loss due to bad stowage, & defts. contended that the damage in question was a result of bad stowage. Pltfs. contended that the damage was due to unseaworthiness, because the fact that the potatoes were on board before the eggs were loaded rendered the vessel unseaworthy for the carriage of eggs:—Held: (1) the loss was the result of bad stowage & not of unseaworthiness, & therefore defts. were protected by the exception; (2) obiter, where an exception protects shipowners against liability for loss due to unseaworthiness if they have taken reasonable means by appointing "experienced or qualified" officers to provide against unseaworthiness they must, to escape liability, appoint officers who are qualified by experience or qualified in some other way for the particular work, & it is not enough that the officers should be qualified in the sense of holding certificates.—WERNER v. DET BERGENSKE DAMPSKIBSSELSCHAFT (1926), 134 L. T. 573; 42 T. L. R. 265; 17 Asp. M. L. C. 18.

iii. Stowage on Deck.

2994. Whether improper stowage.]—(1) Semble: a plea of a custom of trade in London may be supported by proof of a custom prevailing in London & other English ports.

(2) Where issue is joined on the question whether a party had notice that goods would be stowed according to such alleged custom, proof of the usage of trade, though strong evidence of knowledge, is not sufficient to induce the ct. to assume the fact of notice, contrary to a finding of the jury negativing such notice.

(3) There may be other & valid reasons for stowing goods on deck; indeed, some goods could be stowed in no other place, such as timber, &, on some voyages, live animals (LORD DENMAN, C.J.). —MILWARD v. HIBBERT (1842), 3 Q. B. 120; 2 Gal. & Dav. 142; 11 L. J. Q. B. 137; 6 Jur. 706; 114 E. R. 452.

Annotations:—As to (3) Consd. Apollinaris Co. v. Nord Deutsche Insce., [1904] 1 K. B. 252. Generally, Consd. [illegible] v. Marwood (1881), 7 Q. B. D. 62. Refd. Royal Exchange Shipping Co. v. Dixon (1886), 12 App. Cas. 11. Mentd. Hall v. Janson (1855), 24 L. T. O. S. 289; Sweeting v. Pearce (1859), 7 C. B. N. S. 449; Miller v. Tetherington (1863), 9 L. T. 231.

2995. ——.]—On a ship carrying a general cargo from New Orleans to Liverpool cotton was shipped on deck under a practice by which owners of vessels trading between those ports were in the habit of stowing goods on deck in violation of their contract with the shipper, the shipowners accepting full responsibility for the consequences. The bills of lading for part of the cotton contained the words "under deck." All the bills of lading contained exceptions (inter alia) in favour of "jettison." On the voyage the ship took ground, & in order to get her off the master properly jettisoned the cotton. The indorsees of the bills of lading having brought an action against the shipowners to recover the value of the cotton:—Held: whether the bills of lading did or did not contain the words "under deck," the cotton was carried in breach of the contract, & was not within the exceptions specified in the bills of lading, which had exclusive reference to goods safely stowed under hatches; the shipowners had therefore no legal excuse for their failure to deliver; the cause of damage was not too remote, & the shipowners were liable to the indorsees for the value of the cotton.—ROYAL EXCHANGE SHIPPING CO. v. DIXON (1886), 12 App. Cas. 11; 56 L. J. Q. B. 266; 56 L. T. 206; 35 W. R. 461; 3 T. L. R. 172; 6 Asp. M. L. C. 92, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. NEWALL v. ROYAL EXCHANGE SHIPPING CO. (1885), 33 W. R. 868; sub nom. DIXON v. ROYAL EXCHANGE SHIPPING CO., LTD. (1885), 1 T. L. R. 490, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Diederichsen v. Farquharson, [1898] 1 Q. B. 150; Re Sutro & Heilbut, Symons, [1917] 2 K. B. 348. Mentd. Tancred, Arrol v. Steel Co. of Scotland (1890), 15 App. Cas. 125; Shaw v. Symmons, [1917] 1 K. B. 799.

2996. —— Evidence of usage.]—Where in a memorandum of charter, it is agreed that the ship shall proceed to Quebec, & there load from the factors of the freighter a full cargo, not exceeding what the ship can reasonably stow, the words in italics are merely a qualification upon the shipowner's engagement to carry a full cargo, & not a substantive engagement on his part to stow the cargo in a reasonable manner. Upon an issue whether a cargo, loaded on deck, is improperly loaded, A., a witness called on the part of pltf., to prove that the practice of stowing part of the cargo upon deck is dangerous, states, in answer to a question put to him on cross-examination, that it is usual for ships in the particular trade to carry deck cargoes. A. may be asked, upon re-examination, whether it is not usual for the shipowner to pay for deck cargo washed or thrown overboard. Upon an issue whether a deck cargo was loaded at the request & by the order & direction of the freighter, proof that the superintendent of the freighter's warehouse, who delivered out the goods for shipping, was aware of & approved of the stowage of the cargo, does not support the affirmative of the issue. A direction to a jury that primâ facie the deck was not the proper place for stowing any part of the cargo, & that if it increased the danger of the ship or of that part of the cargo, it is an improper stowage, was held to be correct, though it appeared that it had been usual to load deck cargoes in the particular trade, but it also appeared to be usual for the shipowner to bear the loss of deck cargo washed or thrown overboard.—GOULD v. OLIVER (1840), 2 Man. & G. 208; 2 Scott, N. R. 241; 133 E. R. 723; previous proceedings (1837), 4 Bing. N. C. 134.

Annotations:—Refd. Diederichsen v. Farquharson, [1898] 1 Q. B. 150. Mentd. Lewin v. Edwards (1842), 9 M. & W. 720; Carr v. Royal Exchange Assce. Corpn. (1864), 5 B. & S. 941; R. v. Murphy (1869), L. R. 2 P. C. 535; R. v. Paul (1890), 25 Q. B. D. 202.

2997. —— ——.]—MILWARD v. HIBBERT, No. 2994, ante.

2998. —— Stowage increasing danger to ship or cargo.]—GOULD v. OLIVER, No. 2996, ante.

2999. —— Goods stowed in cabin.]—MITCHESON v. NICOL, No. 1932, ante.

3000. —— Clause in bill of lading.]—ARMOUR & CO. v. LEOPOLD WALFORD (LONDON), LTD., No. 2188, ante.

(b) Liability.

i. In General.

See Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article III. (2).

3001. Liability of master—Accidental damage by servants.]—GOFF v. CLINKARD (1750), 1 Wils. 282, n.; 95 E. R. 620, N. P.

Annotation:—Refd. Nugent v. Smith (1875), 1 C. P. D. 19.

3002. —— Charterer appointing stevedore—Verbal agreement not incorporated in charterparty.]—SWAINSTON v. GARRICK, No. 3012, post.

3003. —— —— To act under master's orders.]—BLAIKIE v. STEMBRIDGE, No. 2975, ante.

3004. Liability of charterer.]—SWAINSTON v. GARRICK, No. 3012, post.

3005. ——.]—SANDEMAN v. SCURR, No. 2038, ante.

3006. Action for damages—When maintainable by consignor—Consignee having no property in goods—At time of shipment.]—By a bill of lading the captain was to deliver the goods for the consignor, &, in his name, to the consignee. At the time of shipment the consignee had no property in the goods:—Held: an action against the shipowners for damage done to the goods must be brought in the name of the consignor; & that, although the consignee had insured the goods & advanced the premiums of insurance before the arrival of the ship.—SARGENT v. MORRIS (1820), 3 B. & Ald. 277; 106 E. R. 665.

Annotations:—Consd. Dunlop v. Lambert (1839), Macl. & Rob. 663. Mentd. Coombs v. Bristol & Exeter Ry. (1858), 27 L. J. Ex. 269.

3007. —— —— Special contract by consignor with carrier.]—DUNLOP v. LAMBERT (1839), 6 Cl. & Fin. 600; Macl. & Rob. 663; 7 E. R. 824, H. L.

Annotations:—Refd. Coombs v. Bristol & Exeter Ry. (1858), 3 H. & N. 1; Calcutta & Burmah Steam Navigation Co. v. De Mattos, De Mattos v. Calcutta & Burmah Steam Navigation Co. (1863), 2 New Rep. 575; Colonial Insce. Co. of New Zealand v. Adelaide Marine Insce. (1886), 12 App. Cas. 128.

3008. Measure of damage—Loss on contract of resale before delivery—Owner's ignorance of contract.]—THE ST. CLOUD, No. 2490, ante.

3009. Onus of proof of damage.]—On an allegation that damage to cargo originated from defective stowage, & heat & fermentation arising from the cargo being stowed in too close conjunction with other cargo:—Held: pltfs. must establish affirmatively that the cargo on its arrival at its port of destination was in a damaged condition: & the onus then falls on the ship to prove that the original stowage was good, & the perils of the sea, subsequently occurring, created the damage.—THE ALEXANDRA (1866), 14 L. T. 742; 14 W. R. 466; 2 Mar. L. C. 372.

3010. ——.]—THE FIGLIA MAGGIORE, No. 2990, ante.

3011. Determination whether damage due to bad stowage or unseaworthiness—Order of shipment & stowage not ground of decision.]—WERNER v. DET BERGENSKE DAMPSKIBSSELSCHAFT, No. 2993, ante.

Excepted perils.]—See Sect. 4, sub-sect. 14, ante.

ii. Liability of Owner.

3012. Liability for negligent stowage.]—The owner of a ship, & not the charterer, is primâ facie liable to the consignees for damage done to goods on the voyage, by reason of improper stowage.

The master is primâ facie liable for the safe stowage of the cargo, but he is exonerated by the special appointment of his own stower by the freighter; & if the freighter by a verbal agreement with the owner, undertakes to appoint his own,

---

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 5.—C. (a) iii.

2996 i. Whether improper stowage—Evidence of usage.]—RAND INDENT, LTD. v. THE MOTHERLAND (MASTER & OWNERS) (1919), 40 N. L. R. 210.—S. AF.

3000 i. —— Clause in bill of lading.]—BURNS, PHILP & CO., LTD. v. WESTERN AUSTRALIAN STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. & OCEAN S.S. CO., LTD. (1922), 24 W. A. L. R. 115.—AUS.

3000 ii. —— ——.]—FORD MOTOR CO., LTD. v. UNION S.S. CO. OF NEW ZEALAND (B. C.), [1925] 3 D. L. R. 1169; [1925] W. W. R. 708.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 5.—C. (b) i.

t. Determination whether damage due to bad stowage or unseaworthiness.]—MCEWAN & CO. v. BRABENDER (1895), 16 N. S. W. L. R. 200.—AUS.

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 5.—C. (b) ii.

3012 i. Liability for negligent stowage.]—The shipper's knowledge of the manner in which his goods are being stowed under a contract of affreightment does not alone excuse shipowners from liability for damages caused through improper or insufficient stowage.—GLENGOIL S.S. CO. v. PILKINGTON, GLENGOIL S.S. CO. v. FERGUSON (1897), 28 S. C. R. 146.—CAN.

3012 ii. ——.]—BOMBAY & AFRICA STEAM NAVIGATION CO. v. HAJI AZUM (1917), I. L. R. 41 Bom. 119.—IND.

3012 iii. ——.]—The master & owners of a vessel are responsible for a deterioration in the quality of an article shipped on board such vessel, arising from the article in question having been placed too near another article, in its nature calculated to injure the former; & it seems that a knowledge on the part of the shipper of the damaged article of the other parts

Sect 5.—The loading: Sub-sect. 5, C. (b) ii., & D. Sect. 6: Sub-sect. 1, A.]

& he acts as such, the mere silence of a charterparty, subsequently entered into, does not subject the master to his original liability.—SWAINSTON v. GARRICK (1833), 2 L. J. Ex. 255.

Annotations :—Consd. Blaikie v. Stembridge (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 894. Distd. Roberts v. Shaw (1863), 4 B. & S. 44.

3013. ——.]—BLAIKIE v. STEMBRIDGE, No. 2975, ante.

3014. ——.]—HAYN v. CULLIFORD, No. 2699, ante.

3015. Charterer appointing stevedore—"Master & owner remaining responsible."]—By a charterparty the owner agreed to let & the charterer to hire the ship for a certain period, the ship, being in good & working order, & her master, officers, & crew being duly shipped, to be placed at the disposal of the charterer in the port of London on a given day, & the hire to commence from & after the time that she should have been placed at the disposal of the charterer with a clean & clear hold & ready to load. It was further stipulated, that the owner was to appoint, victual, & pay the master, officers, & crew, & to provide & pay for the necessary equipment for the working of the ship, & to pay all other charges whatsoever, save & except for coals, pilotages, port charges, & labour, which were to be paid by the charterers; & that the cargoes were to be taken on board & discharged by the charterers, the crew of the vessel rendering customary assistance so far as they might be under the orders of the master; & the charterers were to have liberty to employ stevedores & labourers to assist in the loading, stowage, & discharge thereof; but such stevedores & labourers, being under the control & direction of the master, the charterers were not in any case to be responsible to the owners for damage or improper stowage; & further, that "the master & owner of the ship should devote the same attention to the cargo, should use the same endeavours to promote dispatch, & should in every respect be & remain responsible to all whom it might concern, as if the ship was loading & discharging her cargoes & performing her voyages for account of the owner, & independently of that charterparty" :—Held : there was nothing in this charterparty to exonerate the owner from responsibility for negligent & improper stowage by the stevedores employed by the charterer under the above stipulation.—SACK v. FORD (1862), 13 C. B. N. S. 90; 1 New Rep. 96; 32 L. J. C. P. 12; 9 Jur. N. S. 750; 143 E. R. 36.

Annotations :—Distd. Roberts v. Shaw (1863), 4 B. & S. 44. Apld. Hayn v. Culliford (1878), 3 C. P. D. 410. Reld. Anglo-African Co. v. Lamzed (1866), Har. & Ruth. 216; Omoa & Cleland Coal & Iron Co. v. Huntley (1877), 37 L. T. 184.

3016. —— —— Theft by stevedore—Fines & damages paid by charterers.]—By a charterparty shipowners were made responsible for full & complete delivery of the cargo & also for its proper stowage by the stevedores, but the stevedores were to be employed by the charterers. When loading the ship for a voyage to Brazil the stevedores stole part of the cargo, & owing to their theft the charterers were unable to make full delivery at the Brazilian port. As the cargo actually delivered did not correspond with that shown on the ship's manifest, the Brazilian Govt. imposed fines on the local agent of the charterers. The charterers reimbursed their agent, & also paid damages to the owners of the goods which were stolen; & they now sought to recover the amounts of the fines & damages so paid by them from the shipowners :—Held : the clause in the charterparty which made the shipowners responsible for full & complete delivery of the cargo did not apply where the loss of cargo had been occasioned by the felonious acts of the charterers' own servants, & therefore the shipowners were not liable for either the fines or the damages.

Qu. : whether if the charterers had been protected by their bill of lading from any obligation in consequence of the theft to pay damages to the owners of the goods they could nevertheless under the charterparty have compelled the shipowners to make good the loss.—ROYAL MAIL S.S. Co. v. MACINTYRE BROTHERS & Co. (1911), 16 Com. Cas. 231.

3017. —— Failure to appoint—Cargo stowed to best of master's skill.]—It is the duty of the owner of a vessel to stow the cargo with as much skill as a competent stevedore can do. Therefore, in an action by charterers against shipowners, for not loading as much as the vessel could reasonably carry, the charterparty containing the words "Charterer's stevedore to be employed by ship" : —Held : to be no answer that pltfs. had not appointed a stevedore, & the cargo was stowed to the best of the master's skill & ability.—ANGLO-AFRICAN Co. v. LAMZED (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 226; Har. & Ruth. 216; 35 L. J. C. P. 145; 13 L. T. 796; 12 Jur. N. S. 294; 14 W. R. 477; 2 Mar. L. C. 309.

Annotation :—Reld. Standard Oil Co. of New York v. Clan Line Steamers, [1924] A. C. 100.

3018. —— Charterparty not amounting to demise.]—SANDEMAN v. SCURR, No. 2038, ante.

3019. —— At risk & expense of ship.]—THE CATHARINE CHALMERS, No. 2602, ante.

3020. —— Cargo at ship's risk—Stevedore paid by charterer.]—The ship had to take the cargo on board & stow it, & although by the terms of the charterparty the shipper was deputed to appoint & pay the stevedore, the work which the stevedore had to do was still the ship's work & the ship remained liable for its proper performance, the cargo being at the ship's risk (per CUR.).—ANDERSEN v. CRUNDALL & Co. (1898), 14 T. L. R. 256.

3021. Shipper's knowledge of mode of stowage.] —(1) If a person ship goods on board a vessel, knowing that she is chartered, the consignee of the goods can maintain no action against the owner of the ship if the goods be injured by bad stowage

(2) If the shipper of goods was warned as to the way in which goods would be stowed, the consignee cannot maintain any action for damage occasioned by such stowage, even if the stowage were bad.—MAJOR v. WHITE (1835), 7 C. & P. 41, N. P.

Annotations :—As to (1) Reld. Blaikie v. Stembridge (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 894; Wagstaff v. Anderson (1879), 4 C. P. D. 283.

3022. Shipper's knowledge that ship chartered.] —MAJOR v. WHITE, No. 3021, ante.

3023. ——.]—THE ST. CLOUD, No. 2490, ante.

3024. ——.]—SANDEMAN v. SCURR, No. 2038, ante.

3025. ——.]—THE FIGLIA MAGGIORE, No. 2990, ante.

3026. Liability apart from negligence.]—GILLESPIE v. THOMPSON (1856), 6 E. & B. 477, n.;

---

of the vessel's cargo, & of the manner of stowage used on board of her will not relieve the master & owners from this liability.— BECK v. THE KENYON (OWNERS) (1824), 1 Nfld. L. R. 407.—NFLD.

u. Onus of proof.]—In an action by a consignee against a shipowner for negligence in the loading & stowage of eggs :—Held : the onus of proving negligence was on pltf.—MAKINS PRODUCE Co. v. UNION S.S. Co. OF NEW ZEALAND, [1927] 1 D. L. R. 97 [1927] 1 W. W. R. 206.—CAN.

2 Jur. N. S. 713, n.; 119 E. R. 943; sub nom. THE STAR OF THE WEST, GILLESPIE v. THOMPSON, 10 L. T. 242.

Annotation:—Apld. Brass v. Maitland (1856), 6 E. & B. 470.

3027. —— Stowage under control of master.]—UNION CASTLE MAIL S.S. CO. v. BORDERDALE SHIPPING CO., No. 2977, ante.

3028. Stowage in course of voyage.]—In an action by a shipper against shipowner there being a general count for a breach of the bailment, not arising from the excepted causes, & also for a breach in bad stowage; the evidence being that the goods had been in the course of the voyage, & in bad weather, stowed in the tank upon coals; & that they arrived damaged by sea water & coal dust. The judge told the jury that they must find for defts. on the first count, & that they should find for them upon the second, if they thought that, under the circumstances, what had been done was the best that could be done.—ZIPSY v. HILL (1858), 1 F. & F. 570, N. P.; subsequent proceedings, 1 F. & F. 573, n.

3029. Ignorance of owner as to effect of stowage—Induced by wilful misrepresentation of shipper.]—Declaration against defts., shipowners, for negligently & carelessly stowing salt cake, whereby it sustained damage. Fifth plea, that salt cake was a corrosive & destructive substance, rotting casks & other substances being in contact with it, which pltfs. knew, but which defts., without any default on their part, did not know, & could not reasonably be expected to know, until after the happening of the damage complained of; that it was the duty of pltfs., before or at the time of the shipment or stowage, to have informed defts., & to have used due & reasonable care in ascertaining that defts. were informed of the corrosive & destructive nature of salt cake, in order to its proper & safe stowage by them; that pltfs. did not so inform defts., or ascertain that they were so informed, but, on the contrary, improperly & negligently delivered the salt cake to defts. in bulk, & pltfs. thereby & otherwise represented to defts. & induced them to believe, & they did reasonably believe, that the salt cake might be placed in contact with casks, etc.; that, under this reasonable belief, & induced as aforesaid, defts. stowed the salt cake in contact with & between & amongst casks of salt provisions, being, as they reasonably believed, a safe & proper mode of stowing the same; & that afterwards, & without default of defts., the salt cake corroded, rotted, & destroyed the casks, & the hoops thereof, & the brine therefrom damaged the salt cake, & caused the default in the delivery thereof complained of in the declaration. Replication that salt cake is an article of merchandise well known in trade & commerce, & the nature & properties of which are well known in trade & commerce, & is an article of merchandise commonly carried in ships, & the nature & properties of which are commonly & well known to persons carrying on the trade & business of carriers by water, & that, at the time of the shipment, defts. well knew that the goods were salt cake:—Held: the fifth plea was good, & the replication no answer to it: for, if defts.' ignorance arose from the wilful misrepresentation of pltfs., such ignorance was justifiable.—HUTCHINSON v. GUION (1858), 5 C. B. N. S. 149; 28 L. J. C. P. 63; 32 L. T. O. S. 276; 4 Jur. N. S. 1149; 6 W. R. 757; 141 E. R. 59.

Annotations:—Refd. Ohrloff v. Briscall, The Helene (1866), L. R. 1 P. C. 231; Blower v. G. W. Ry. (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 655.

3030. Acceptance of certificate of stowage by shipper—Certificate inconsistent with Harter Act.]—A bill of lading, incorporating the Harter Act, contained the following clause: "It is also mutually agreed that the carrier shall ship & stow the cargo in accordance with the requirements of the surveyors of the New Orleans Board of Underwriters, & that the shipper, owner, & consignee of the goods shall accept the certificate of any such surveyor or surveyors as conclusive evidence that the vessel has been properly prepared in every way for cargo, & that . . . the cargo has been properly dunnaged & stowed. . . ." Semble: the above clause, which purported to make the certificate of an outside body conclusive that the cargo had been properly stowed, was inconsistent with the Harter Act, which makes the shipowner liable for negligent stowage & prevents him from limiting his liability.—WALTERS v. RANK (JOSEPH), LTD. (1923), 39 T. L. R. 255.

D. Employment of Stevedores.

Improper stowage—Charter appointing stevedore—Liability of master.]—See Nos. 3002, 3003, ante.

—— —— Liability of owner.]—See Nos. 3015–3020, ante.

Whether liability excepted.]—See Nos. 2703, 2705, 2714, 2720, ante.

Stevedore's charges—Liability of owner.]—See No. 2979, ante.

---

SECT. 6.—THE VOYAGE.

SUB-SECT. 1.—SEAWORTHINESS.

A. In General.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), s. 2, Article III., r. 1, Article IV., r. 1; & compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 186–195.

3031. Presumption of seaworthiness—Rebuttal of presumption.]—When a ship, soon after her sailing on a voyage insured, is found to be unfit for sea, the question whether or not she was seaworthy at the commencement of the risk, or the voyage, when not otherwise ascertained, must be decided by rational inference from the circumstances.

A ship is primâ facie to be deemed seaworthy. But if it is found soon after her sailing that she is not so sound, without adequate cause by stress of weather, or otherwise, to account for it, the rational inference is that, notwithstanding appearances, she was not seaworthy

If a ship is seaworthy at the time of her sailing, however soon after she may become otherwise, the warranty is complied with.—PARKER v. POTTS (1815), 3 Dow. 23; 3 E. R. 977.

Annotation:—Consd. Franco v. Natusch (1836), Tyr. & Gr. 401.

3032. No absolute standard.]—BRADLEY (F. O.) & SONS, LTD. v. FEDERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD., No. 2777, ante.

---

PART VII. SECT. 5, SUB-SECT. 5.—D.

a. Death of horse — Tackle not sufficient & proper.]—MCWHINNIE v. UNION S.S. CO. OF NEW ZEALAND (1887), 9 N. S. W. L. R. (L.) 1.—AUS.

b. Liability of master or captain.]—Persons engaging a vessel under a charterparty in which they reserve themselves the right to employ a stevedore for the loading of the vessel have no recourse against the master or captain for damages incurred during the voyage & caused by bad loading or absence of ballast.—BOZZO v. MOFFATT (1881), 11 R. L. O. S. 41.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 1.—A.

3032 i. No absolute standard.]—Seaworthiness means that a vessel must be reasonably fit for the service she is employed to render. It is a relative term, & is to be construed with reference to the situation of the ship, the particular service she is engaged to

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 1, A. & B.]

3033. —— Knowledge of parties as to character of ship.]—The charterparty of a cylindrical tank steamer provided that it should remain in force for eight consecutive voyages. On the first & second voyages a large quantity of oil was lost by leakage, the steamer being in fact unseaworthy on those voyages. The charterers then repudiated the charter, & after the repudiation the steamer was made as seaworthy for the carriage of oil as a vessel of her description ever could be. On a claim by the owners for the hire which would have become payable if the remaining six voyages had been performed, the arbitrator found that the carriage of oil in a cylindrical tank steamer was always exceedingly dangerous & he made an award in favour of the owners:—Held: as the owners, in providing a cylindrical tank steamer, had performed their duty under the contract, & as the repairs were completed within a reasonable time, the charterers were not justified in repudiating the charter & the award in favour of the owners must be upheld.—COMPANIA CANTABRICA DI NAVIGACION v. ANGLO-AMERICAN OIL CO., LTD. (1923), 39 T. L. R. 614.

3034. Necessity for.]—THE SOPHY, MAGNUS v. FAIRBRASS (1856), 8 L. T. 802.

3035. —— Seaworthiness of lighter — Transhipment under through bill of lading.]—WILSON (THOMAS), SONS & CO., LTD. v. S.S. GALILEO (CARGO EX), THE GALILEO, No. 2213, ante.

3036. Claim for damage through unseaworthiness—Time for making claim.]—In an action by indorsees of bills of lading against shipowners for breach of contract & for damages for injury to the goods carried, it appeared that the goods were shipped at Wellington, New Zealand, upon The Clan Maclaren. At Port Pirie it was discovered that a portion of the goods, wool, was damaged by sea water, & the damaged portion was there transhipped into The Geelong. The Clan Maclaren arrived in London on Apr. 13 & The Geelong on Apr. 23, & on arrival the wool in both ships was found to be damaged by sea water owing to the unseaworthiness of The Clan Maclaren. Clause (a) of the bill of lading made provision for transhipment of the goods. Clause (b) provided that "No claim that may arise in respect of goods shipped by this steamer will be recoverable unless made at the port of delivery within seven days from the date of steamer's arrival there." Clause (c) provided that "The shipowners shall be responsible for loss or damage arising from any unseaworthiness of the vessel when she sails on the voyage." No claim was made by pltfs. upon defts. till June 10, more than seven days after the arrival of either vessel:—Held: (1) in view of the fact that the bill of lading was subject to an express condition making the shipowners liable for damage resulting from unseaworthiness, the provisions of clause (b) applied; (2) the clause, not being clear & unambiguous, afforded no protection to the shipowners in respect of the goods transhipped to The Geelong.—BANK OF AUSTRALASIA v. CLAN LINE STEAMERS, LTD., [1916] 1 K. B. 39; 84 L. J. K. B. 1250; 113 L. T. 261; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 99; 21 Com. Cas. 13, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Atlantic Shipping & Trading Co. v. Dreyfus, [1922] 2 A. C. 250. Reld. Ford v. Compagnie Furness (France), [1922] 2 K. B. 797; Paterson Zochonis v. Elder Dempster, [1923] 1 K. B. 420.

Duty to keep ship seaworthy during voyage.]—See No. 3222, post.

3037. Damage to cargo through unseaworthiness—Liability of shipowner—Position as common carrier.]—It is a good working rule to assume that when a ship is unseaworthy & the unseaworthiness is the cause of damage to the cargo, then qua that particular damage the shipowner's position is analogous to that of a common carrier of goods without any special contract, & that the conditions of the contract are gone subject to this that . . . the freight which is stipulated for by the charterparty is payable & that payment is not on a quantum meruit (BAILHACHE, J.).—FORD (H.) & CO., LTD. v. COMPAGNIE FURNESS (FRANCE), [1922] 2 K. B. 797; 92 L. J. K. B. 88; 128 L. T. 286; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 102, D. C.

3038. —— ——.]—THE SOPHY, MAGNUS v. FAIRBRASS (1856), 4 L. T. 742.

B. Warranty of.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), s. 2, Article III., r. 1, Article IV., r. 1; & compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 186–195, Nos. 1437–1556.

3039. Implied warranty—That ship fit for voyage.]—A carrier by water contracting to carry goods for hire impliedly promises that the vessel shall be tight & fit for the purpose, & is answerable for damage arising from leakage; & this, though he had given notice "that he would not be answerable for any damage unless occasioned by want of ordinary care in the master or crew of the vessel, in which case he would pay 10 per cent. upon such damage, so as the whole did not exceed the value of the vessel & freight." For a loss happening by the personal default of the carrier himself, such as the not providing a sufficient vessel, is not within the scope of such notice, which was meant to exempt the carrier from losses by accident or chance, etc.; even if it were competent to a common carrier to exempt himself by a special acceptance from the responsibility cast upon him by the common law for a reasonable reward to make good all losses not arising from the act of God, or the King's enemies.—LYON v. MELLS render, & also to the character & capacity of the vessel itself.—JONES v. AUSTRALIAN STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1888), 9 N. S. W. L. R. (L.) 208.—AUS.

3033 i. —— Knowledge of parties as to character of ship.]—As "seaworthiness" is merely a relative term, the character of the particular ship as known to the parties must be taken into consideration.—NORTHERN S.S. CO., LTD. v. DOMINION PORTLAND CEMENT CO., LTD., [1921] N. Z. L. R. 372.—N.Z.

3036 i. Claim for damage through unseaworthiness—Time for making claim.]—On a shipment of goods by steamer the bill of lading provided that all claims for damage to or loss of the same must be presented within one month from its date, after which the same should be completely barred:—Held: this limitation applied to a claim for damages caused by unseaworthiness of the steamer.—UNION S.S. CO. OF BRITISH COLUMBIA v. DRYSDALE (1902), 22 C. L. T. 278; 32 S. C. R. 379.—CAN.

c. Meaning of seaworthiness.]—"Seaworthiness" includes not only staunchness in the sense of being built to withstand the elements without injury to the hull, but also comprehends a condition which will include the safety of the cargo, both from perils of the sea as commonly understood, & from causes not accompanied by violence of the elements, such as leakage.—GRAIN GROWERS EXPORT CO. v. CANADA STEAMSHIP LINES, LTD. (1919), 43 O. L. R. 330.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 1.—B.

3039 i. Implied warranty—That ship fit for voyage.]—In a special contract guaranteeing to carry goods by ship, a warranty of seaworthiness is implied by law.—CONNOR v. SPENCE, SPENCE v. CONNOR (1878), 4 V. L. R. (L.) 243.—AUS.

3039 ii. ——.]—GRENIER v. CONNOLLY (1908), Q. R. 34 S. C. 405.—CAN.

3039 iii. —— ——.]—Where a contract with a carrier requires carriage by sea this entails on the part of the carrier, in the absence of effectual exempting provisions, a warranty of seaworthiness. Such warranty is absolute & is broken though the unseaworthiness be due to a hidden defect which the most careful inspection would not have revealed. Such warranty includes the unfitness of the ship to receive as well as carry the cargo.—AUTOMATIC ELECTRIC TELEPHONE CO. v. UNION S.S. CO., [1921] 1 W. W. R. 741.—CAN.

(1804), 5 East, 428; 1 Smith, K. B. 478; 102 E. R. 1134.

Annotations:—Consd. Chippendale v. L. & Y. Ry. (1851), 21 L. J. Q. B. 22. Expld. Liver Alkali Co. v. Johnson (1874), L. R. 9 Exch. 338. Consd. Harris v. G. W. Ry. (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 515; Nugent v. Smith (1876), 1 C. P. D. 423; The Glenfruin (1885), 10 P. D. 103. Refd. Phillips v. Clark (1857), 26 L. J. C. P. 168; Peek v. North Staffordshire Ry. (1863), 10 H. L. Cas. 473; Lloyd v. General Iron Screw Collier Co. (1864), 3 H. & C. 284; Redhead v. Mid. Ry. (1869), L. R. 4 Q. B. 379; Stanton v. Richardson, Richardson v. Stanton (1872), L. R. 7 C. P. 421; Kopitoff v. Wilson (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 377; Steel v. Steel Line S.S. Co. (1877), 3 App. Cas. 72; The Northumbria (1906), 95 L. T. 618; L. & N. W. Ry. v. Hudson, [1920] A. C. 324; The Christel Vinnen, [1924] P. 61; Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522.

3040. —— ——.]—EDWARDS v. INGRAM (1853), 21 L. T. O. S. 60.

3041. —— ——.]—LLOYD v. GENERAL IRON SCREW COLLIER CO., No. 2646, ante.

3042. —— ——.]—STEEL v. STATE LINE S.S. Co., No. 2693, ante.

3043. —— ——.]—Where a chartered voyage is necessarily divided into stages for coaling purposes, the ship is bound to have on board at the commencement of each stage sufficient coal for that stage, & if the ship starts with less she is unseaworthy.

There is no difference between the implied warranty of seaworthiness which attaches under a marine policy at the commencement of a voyage in the case of an insured shipowner & in the case of a shipowner under a contract of affreightment.

Pltf.'s vessel shipped, in the Philippine Islands, a cargo, including a quantity of copra belonging to defts., under a charterparty by which the cargo was to be carried to Liverpool for a lump sum freight. The charterparty & bill of lading relieved the shipowner from liability for the negligence of the master & crew from dangers of navigation & machinery.

The voyage, in order that the vessel might be able to recoal, was necessarily divided into three stages: from Cebu, in the Philippines, to Colombo, from Colombo to Suez, & from Suez to Liverpool. Owing to the negligence of the engineer, the vessel left Colombo for Suez, the second stage of her voyage, with an insufficient supply of coal for the transit. Another coaling port, Perim, lies between Colombo & Suez, & the vessel was supplied with sufficient coal to reach that place, where she might have obtained a further supply; but this she neglected to do. In consequence of the insufficiency of her coal some of the copra was used & consumed as fuel with the remaining coal:—Held: the shipowner was liable to the cargo owner for the loss of cargo because the vessel was unseaworthy.—THE VORTIGERN, [1899] P. 140; 68 L. J. P. 49; 80 L. T. 382; 47 W. R. 437; 15 T. L. R. 259; 43 Sol. Jo. 330; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 523; 4 Com. Cas. 152, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. Greenock S.S. Co. v. Maritime Insce., [1903] 2 K. B. 657. Refd. MacIver v. Tate Steamers (1903), 8 Com. Cas. 124; Darling v. Raeburn, [1907] 1 K. B. 846.

3044. —— ——.]—WADE SONS & CO., LTD. v. COCKERLINE & CO., No. 2730, ante.

3045. —— —— Not that shipowner will take reasonable care to make her fit.]—In every contract for the conveyance of merchandise by sea there is, in the absence of express provision to the contrary, an implied warranty by the shipowner that his vessel is seaworthy.

In an action to recover damages for the loss of iron-armour plates, which were lost on board defts'. ship, it appeared that defts., by their servants, stowed the ship, & that during rough weather one of the plates broke loose & went through the side of the ship, which in consequence was lost. At the trial the judge told the jury, as a matter of law, that a shipowner warrants the fitness of his ship when she sails, & not merely that he will honestly & bonâ fide endeavour to make her fit, & left to them the questions, was the vessel at the time of the sailing in a state, as regards the stowing & receiving of these plates, reasonably fit to encounter the ordinary perils that might be expected on a voyage at that season; secondly, if she was not in a fit state, was the loss that happened caused by that unfitness:—Held: the direction was right, & correctly stated the liability of a shipowner, even though he did not hold himself out as a common carrier.

In whatever way a contract for the conveyance of merchandise be made, where there is no agreement to the contrary, the shipowner is, by the nature of the contract, impliedly & necessarily held to warrant that the ship is good, & is in a condition to perform the voyage then about to be undertaken, or, in ordinary language, is seaworthy (FIELD, J.).—KOPITOFF v. WILSON (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 377; 45 L. J. Q. B. 436; 34 L. T. 677; 24 W. R. 706; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 163.

Annotations:—Consd. Cohn v. Davidson (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 455; Steel v. State Line S.S. Co. (1877), 3 App. Cas. 72; The Glenfruin (1885), 10 P. D. 103; The Europa, [1908] P. 84; Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522. Refd. The Northumbria (1906), 95 L. T. 618; Ingram & Royle v. Services Maritimes du Treport (1913), 109 L. T. 733; The Thorsa, [1916] P. 257; The Christel Vinnen, [1924] P. 61; Reed v. Page & East, [1927] 1 K. B. 743. Mentd. Hyman v. Nye (1881), 6 Q. B. D. 685.

3046. —— —— ——.]—THE GLENFRUIN, No. 2655, ante.

—— —— ——.]—See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Sched., Article III., r. 1.

3047. —— —— As to perils probable at season of voyage.]—KOPITOFF v. WILSON, No. 3045, ante.

3048. —— —— & likely to continue seaworthy during voyage.]—The ordinary warranty as to seaworthiness in a bill of lading is a warranty that the ship is seaworthy at the time, & reasonably likely to continue seaworthy on the voyage specified. If from special circumstances in her construction she requires special appliances to preserve the cargo from sea damage, the owner is bound to provide those appliances, & will be liable for damage to cargo arising from the want of them.—THE MARATHON (1879), 40 L. T. 163; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 75.

3049. —— Similarity to warranty in contract for marine insurance.]—THE VORTIGERN, No. 3043, ante.

3050. —— Absolute warranty.]—THE GLENFRUIN, No. 2655, ante.

3051. —— ——.]—JOSEPH THORLEY, LTD. v. ORCHIS S.S. Co., LTD., No. 3185, post.

3052. —— ——.]—RIO TINTO CO., LTD. v. SEED SHIPPING CO., No. 3161, post.

---

3039 iv. —— ——.]—In a contract to carry specific cargo there is an implied warranty that the ship is fit to carry such cargo.—RAMSAY v. HOKITIKA DREDGING CO. (1902), 22 N. Z. L. R. 138.—N.Z.

d. —— —— Whether clause in bill of lading limiting liability violation of statute.]—Bananas were shipped from Fiji under a bill of lading, which provided that no claim for loss or damage should be enforceable unless made within seven days from the date at which the cargo was or should have been landed. The bananas were damaged owing to the ship being unseaworthy in that, both at the commencement & during the continuance of the voyage, the refrigerating chambers were defective. The shippers sued to recover damages, but had failed to claim within seven days:—Held: the clause in the bill of lading above referred to weakened or lessened

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 1, B., C. & D. (a).]

3053. —— Reasonably fit.]—RIO TINTO CO., LTD. v. SEED SHIPPING CO., No. 3161, post.

3054. —— That shipowner will exercise due diligence to make ship seaworthy—Extension of warranty to acts of servants or agents.]—By Art. III., r. 1, of the Schedule to the Australian Sea Carriage of Goods Act, 1924, which is in the same terms as the Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Sched., Art. III., r. 1, "The carrier shall be bound, before & at the beginning of the voyage, to exercise due diligence to (a) make the ship seaworthy, (b) properly man, equip, & supply the ship, (c) make the holds, refrigerating & cool chambers, & all other parts of the ship in which goods are carried, fit & safe for their reception, carriage & preservation."

By Art. IV., r. 1, of the Schedule to the Australian Act, in the same terms as Art. IV., r. 1, of the English Act, "neither the carrier nor the ship shall be liable for loss or damage arising or resulting from unseaworthiness unless caused by want of due diligence on the part of the carrier to" comply with the requirements of Art. III., r. 1, (a), (b) & (c).

The obligation under these Rules of a carrier under a bill of lading to exercise due diligence to make the ship seaworthy & fit for the carriage of goods is not limited to his personal diligence; his responsibility extends to the acts or default of his agents or servants. Where, however, the carrier has contracted for the building of the ship he is not liable for lack of due diligence on the part of the shipbuilders or their workmen, unless he fails to engage builders of repute & to adopt all reasonable precautions, for example, requiring the builders to satisfy one of the recognised classification societies & engaging skilled naval architects, who advise him, & skilled inspectors, who supervise the work, with due diligence.

Semble: if he buys a ship he must take all appropriate steps to satisfy himself by surveys & inspections that she is fit for the service in which he puts her. The need to repair a ship may cast on the carrier a special duty to see, so far as is reasonably possible, by special advisers for whom he is personally responsible, that the repairs adequately make good the defects.

The Carriage of Goods by Sea Acts have introduced a new & obligatory code of responsibilities & immunities as affecting carriers under bills of lading in place of the former rule that carriers by sea, while generally under the liability of common carriers, were free by contract to vary & limit their liabilities. In particular the Acts have expressly abolished the previous absolute obligation to provide a seaworthy ship & have substituted an obligation to use due diligence to that effect (WRIGHT, J.).—ANGLISS (W.) & CO. (AUSTRALIA) PROPRIETARY v. PENINSULAR & ORIENTAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., [1927] 2 K. B. 456; 96 L. J. K. B. 1084; 137 L. T. 727; 43 T. L. R. 675; 32 Com. Cas. 388.

3055. —— Exclusion—Contract relating to specified vessel.]—Pltf., a master mariner, contracted with defts., for a lump sum to be paid him by defts., to take a certain specified steam tug of defts., towing six sailing barges, from Hull to the Brazils, pltf. paying the crew & providing provisions for all on board for seventy days. The engines of the steam tug were damaged & out of repair at the time of the contract, but neither pltf. nor defts. were then aware of this. The consequence, however, of the engines being so defective was that the time occupied in the voyage was increased, & pltf.'s gain in performing his contract was much less than it would otherwise have been:—Held: as the contract related to a specified vessel, there was no implied undertaking by defts. that it should be reasonably efficient for the purposes of the voyage, & therefore the defective state of the engines gave pltf. no cause of action, it not appearing that the engines were in a worse state when pltf. took possession of the vessel than they were at the time of the contract.—ROBERTSON v. AMAZON TUG & LIGHTERAGE CO., LTD. (1881), 7 Q. B. D. 598; 51 L. J. Q. B. 68; 46 L. T. 146; 30 W. R. 308; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 496, C. A.

Annotations:—Apld. The West Cock, [1911] P. 208; Point Anne Quarries v. The M. F. Whalen (1922), 39 T. L. R. 37. Refd. The Glenmorven, [1913] P. 141.

3056. —— —— Terms must be unambiguous.]—A shipowner agreed to carry frozen meat by an agreement which was so ill thought out & ill expressed in self contradictory sentences that it was impossible to feel sure what the parties intended to stipulate. Frozen meat shipped under this agreement arrived damaged owing to the unseaworthiness of the ship & the negligence of the shipowner's agents:—Held: there being no clear & express exemption, the shipowner was not relieved from his duty to provide a seaworthy ship & to take reasonable care.—NELSON LINE (LIVERPOOL), LTD. v. NELSON & SONS, LTD., [1908] A. C. 16; 77 L. J. K. B. 82; 97 L. T. 812; 24 T. L. R. 114; 52 Sol. Jo. 170; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 581; 13 Com. Cas. 104, H. L.

Annotations:—Distd. Chartered Bank of India, Australia & China v. British India Steam Navigation Co., [1909] A. C. 369. Apld. Rosin & Turpentine Import Co. v. Jacobs (1909), 25 T. L. R. 345; South American Export Syndicate v. Federal Steam Navigation Co. (1909), 100 L. T. 270. Folld. Ingram & Royle v. Services Maritimes du Trepont, [1913] 1 K. B. 538. Apld. Bank of Australasia v. Clan Line Steamers, [1916] 1 K. B. 39; Lepeaupin v. Crispin, [1920] 2 K. B. 714; Layton v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1923), 130 L. T. 662. Refd. The West Cock, [1911] P. 208; Pyman S.S. Co. v. Hull & Barnsley Ry. (1914), 83 L. J. K. B. 1321; Travers v. Cooper, [1915] 1 K. B. 73; Denholm v. Shipping Controller (1920), 124 L. T. 378; Paterson, Zochonis v. Elder Dempster, [1923] 1 K. B. 420; Lake v. Simmons (1926), 95 L. J. K. B. 586.

3057. —— ——.]—WIENER & CO. v. WILSONS & FURNESS-LEYLAND LINE, LTD., No. 2218, ante.

3058. —— ——.]—THE MARIONGA MARI (1922), 153 L. T. Jo. 450.

3059. —— —— Appointment of qualified officer—Meaning of "qualified."]—WERNER v. DET BERGENSKE DAMPSKIBSSELSCHAFT, No. 2993, ante.

3060. Express warranty—Condition precedent to payment of freight.]—THOMPSON v. GILLESPY, No. 1835, ante.

3061. —— Duty to use due diligence.]—MORRIS & MORRIS v. OCEANIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1900), 16 T. L. R. 533.

Annotations:—Consd. Pyman S.S. Co. v. Hull & Barnsley Ry., [1914] 2 K. B. 788; Bank of Australasia v. Clan Line Steamers, [1916] 1 K. B. 39. Refd. Baxter's Leather Co. v. Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. (1908), 99 L. T. 280; Wiener v. Wilsons & Furness Leyland Line (1910), 11 Asp. M. L. C. 413; Hordern v. Commonwealth & Dominion Line, [1917] 2 K. B. 420.

---

the shipowners' obligation, & therefore was void under Fiji Ordinance 14, s. 4; & the shipper was entitled to damages.—AUSTRALASIAN UNITED STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. v. HUNT, [1921] 2 A. C. 351, P. C.—FIJI.

e. —— —— ——.]—A clause in a bill of lading which limits the shipowners' liability to specified rates unless the value of the goods has been declared on shipment & extra freight paid thereon is not a violation of an Act which prohibits any agreement whereby the obligations of a shipowner to make his vessel seaworthy, & of the master, officers, or servants carefully to handle, stow, & deliver the cargo, are lessened, weakened, or avoided.—BEATH & CO., LTD. v. UNION S.S. CO. OF NEW ZEALAND, LTD., [1919] N. Z. L. R. 282.—N.Z.

3062. —— Whether implied warranty excluded.]—RATHBONE BROTHERS & Co. v. MACIVER (D.), SONS & Co., No. 2794, ante.

3063. —— Meaning of "unseaworthiness"—Fitness to meet perils of the sea—& fitness to carry cargo.]—RATHBONE BROTHERS & Co. v. MACIVER (D.), SONS & Co., No. 2794, ante.

When warranty commences.]—See Sub-sect. 1, C., post.

C. Time for.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article III., r. 1, Article IV., r. 1; &, compare, INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 191–193, Nos. 1501–1520.

3064. Commencement of voyage.]—KOPITOFF v. WILSON, No. 3045, ante.

3065. ——.]—STEEL v. STATE LINE S.S. Co., No. 2693, ante.

3066. ——.]—THE MARATHON, No. 3048, ante.

3067. —— Evidence of seaworthiness—Inference from circumstances.]—PARKER v. POTTS, No. 3031, ante.

3068. —— Subsequent repair insufficient—Although carried out before loss.]—Pltf. shipped goods on board deft.'s vessel, deft. undertaking that the vessel should be seaworthy at the commencement of the voyage. In an action on the contract the declaration alleged "that the vessel was not seaworthy at the commencement of the voyage, whereby pltf. was prevented from insuring"; to which a plea "that before any damage, loss, or prejudice accrued to pltf. the vessel was made seaworthy," was held no answer to the action, & bad on demurrer.—DUNBAR v. SMUTHWAITE (1854), 24 L. T. O. S. 92; 3 W. R. 68.

3069. —— ——.]—GILROY, SONS & Co. v. PRICE & Co., No. 3121, post.

3070. —— When voyage commences.]—By a charterparty, deft.'s ship was to proceed to a good & safe place in the river or dock as ordered, & there take on board a cargo of cement for pltf., & proceed therewith to port of discharge. She loaded according to pltf.'s orders at the usual wharf for such cargo, where, however, she of necessity grounded at low water. From the time of sailing she took in water, & although she proceeded on her voyage, the wind being fair, she foundered just before reaching her destination. The ship was seaworthy when she commenced taking in cargo, but not when she set sail, & she must therefore have received damage in the course of loading. The jury found the master innocent of negligence:—Held: the implied warranty of seaworthiness was not exhausted on the ships proceeding to the wharf under the agreement, but attached at the time of sailing, when the underwriters' risk commenced.—COHN v. DAVIDSON (1877), 2 Q. B. D. 455; 46 L. J. Q. B. 305; 36 L. T. 244; 25 W. R. 369; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 374.

Annotations:—Reld. The Rona (1884), 51 L. T. 28; The Thorsa, [1916] P. 257; Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522; Reed v. Page & East, [1927] 1 K. B. 743.

3071. Voyage in stages—Commencement of each stage.]—There may be different stages of seaworthiness in cases where the different stages of navigation involve the necessity of a different equipment or state of seaworthiness; but the vessel must be properly equipped, & in all respects seaworthy, for each of the stages respectively at the time when she enters upon each stage, otherwise the warranty of seaworthiness is not complied with.—QUEBEC MARINE INSURANCE Co. v. COMMERCIAL BANK OF CANADA (1870), L. R. 3 P. C. 234; 7 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 1; 39 L. J. P. C. 53; 22 L. T. 559; 18 W. R. 769; 3 Mar. L. C. 414; 17 E. R. 1, P. C.

Annotations:—Folld. The Vortigern, [1899] P. 140. Reld. Daniels v. Harris (1874), 23 W. R. 86; Sleigh v. Tyser, [1900] 2 Q. B. 333.

3072. —— ——.]—By a charterparty a ship was to proceed to Oran, & there load a part cargo of esparto, for delivery at Garston, with liberty to fill up with ore, or other dead weight cargo, for owner's benefit, & to call at any ports in any order. She loaded at Oran, & left with a supply of coal insufficient for a voyage thence to Garston. She called at Huelva, & was filled up with ore, but no further supply of coal was taken on board. After leaving Huelva, the ship went ashore, by reason of the insufficient supply of coal, & the cargo was lost. In an action for non-delivery of the esparto:—Held: even if the voyage could be treated as one divided into stages, the warranty of seaworthiness, which attaches at the commencement of each stage, had been broken at Huelva, & pltfs. were entitled to recover.—THIN v. RICHARDS & Co., [1892] 2 Q. B. 141; 62 L. J. Q. B. 39; 66 L. T. 584; 40 W. R. 617; 8 T. L. R. 571; 36 Sol. Jo. 501; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 165, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. The Vortigern, [1899] P. 140. Apld. MacIver v. Tate Steamers (1903), 8 Com. Cas. 124. Reld. Greenock S.S. Co. v. Maritime Insce. (1903), 72 L. J. K. B. 868.

3073. —— —— Determination of stages.]—THE VORTIGERN, No. 3043, ante.

3074. —— ——.]—MCIVER & Co., LTD. v. TATE STEAMERS, LTD., No. 3098, post.

D. What amounts to.

(a) In General.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article III., r. 1, Article IV., r. 1, &, compare, INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 187–191.

3075. Question of fact.]—STEEL v. STATE LINE S.S. Co., No. 2693, ante.

---

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 1.—C.

3064 i. Commencement of voyage.]—A steamship became unseaworthy by reason of an injury sustained after she had been moved from her wharf in intended prosecution of a voyage, which she continued to prosecute, until an inrush of water disclosed the injury, whereupon she was beached. The cargo was damaged by the inrush. When the injury was sustained some at least of the mooring lines had been released, but it did not appear whether or not the ship had been completely unmoored:—Held: applt., a shipper, on whom the onus lay, had not shown that the voyage began after the injury had been sustained, so as to constitute a breach of warranty of seaworthiness under Sea Carriage of Goods Act, 1904, s. 8.—WHYBROW & Co. PROPRIETARY v. HOWARD SMITH Co. (1913), 17 C. L. R. 1.—AUS.

3064 ii. ——.]—MCGREGOR v. HUDDART, PARKER, LTD. (1919), 26 C. L. R. 336.—AUS.

3064 iii. ——.]—The implied warranty of seaworthiness in a vessel applies to the state of the vessel at the commencement of the voyage.—QUEBEC MARINE INSURANCE Co. v. COMMERCIAL BANK OF CANADA (1869), 13 L. C. J. 267; revsd. (1870), L. R. 3 P. C. 234.—CAN.

3064 iv. —— ]—CANADIAN S.S. LINES v. GRAIN GROWERS EXPORT Co. (1919), 59 S. C. R. 643; 52 D. L. R. 680.—CAN.

3064 v. ——.]—HILL (C. ERNEST), INCORPORATED v. MCHENRY, [1925] 3 D. L. R. 1036.—CAN.

3064 vi. ——.]—PREMIER GOLD MINING Co., LTD. v. COASTWISE STEAMSHIP & BARGE Co., LTD. (1925), 35 B. C. R. 147; [1925] 1 W. W. R. 630.—CAN.

3064 vii. ——.]—CUNNINGHAM v. COLVILS, LOWDEN & Co. (1888), 16 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 295; 26 Sc. L. R. 249.—SCOT.

3064 viii. ——.]—PARK v. DUNCAN & SON (1898), 25 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 528; 35 Sc. L. R. 378.—SCOT.

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 1.—D. (a).

1. Muddy water in boiler.]—SEVILLE SULPHUR & COPPER Co. v. COLVILS, LOWDEN & Co. (1888), 15 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 616; 25 Sc. L. R. 437.—SCOT.

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 1, D. (a) & (b) i.

3076. ——.]—MCFADDEN v. BLUE STAR LINE, No. 2796, ante.

3077. Fitness to meet perils of the sea.]—Pltf. shipped a cargo of haricot beans on board deft.'s vessel, which was then lying in dock, for carriage & delivery at another port. Before sailing, it came on to blow a gale at night, the vessel started a plank, the water entered, & the beans were damaged. There was no direct evidence how the strain on the vessel was occasioned, whether by pressure of the adjoining vessels in dock, or by coming into contact with a mooring chain, as, in the opinion of one witness, she might have done. The only damage sustained by the vessel was the starting of a plank, which was sound, & the repairs cost but 5*s*. The jury found that the vessel was unseaworthy, & gave damages for the delay in the transport of the beans, & the loss sustained by pltf. from a falling market:—Held: (1) the vessel must be presumed unseaworthy as she ought to be equal to all the strain to which, in common with other ships, she might be exposed; & the ct., therefore, would not disturb the verdict; (2) pltf. was entitled to recover damages for the delay in carrying the beans to their port of destination, by reason whereof he had lost a market, & been obliged to sell at a less price than he would otherwise have obtained; although he had, after the accident, insisted on the beans being carried by defts.' ship instead of sending them by some other & earlier conveyance.—CHRISTIE v. TROTT (1853), 22 L. T. O. S. 101; 2 W. R. 15.

3078. ——.]—STEEL v. STATE LINE S.S. Co., 2693, ante.

3079. ——.]—RATHBONE BROTHERS & Co. v. MACIVER (D.), SONS & Co., No. 2794, ante.

3080. ——.]—The words "seaworthy for the voyage" in Merchant Shipping Act, 1876 (c. 80), s. 5, mean that the ship must be "in a fit state as to repairs, equipment & crew, & in all other respects, to encounter ordinary perils of the voyage." They do not include "a neglect properly to use the appliances on board a vessel well equipped & furnished."—HEDLEY v. PINKNEY & SONS S.S. Co., [1894] A. C. 222; 63 L. J. Q. B. 419; 70 L. T. 630; 42 W. R. 497; 10 T. L. R. 347; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 483; 6 R. 106, H. L.

Annotations:—Reid. Dobell Co. v. S.S. Rossmore Co., [1895] 2 Q. B. 408; Morris & Morris v. Oceanic Steam Navigation Co. (1900), 16 T. L. R. 533; Leonard v. Leyland (1902), 18 T. L. R. 727; Ingram & Royle v. Services Maritimes du Tréport (1913), 109 L. T. 733. Mentd. Tozland v. West Ham Grdns. (1905), 69 J. P. 240; Burr v. Theatre Royal Drury Lane, [1907] 1 K. B. 544.

3081. Ship in condition to satisfy ordinary prudent owner.]—MCFADDEN v. BLUE STAR LINE, No. 2796, ante.

3082. Dependent on trade in which vessel employed.]—JOHNSON v. CHAPMAN (1844), 8 L. T. 767.

3083. Latent defects.]—COHN v. DAVIDSON, No. 3070, ante.

3084. ——.]—THE GLENFRUIN, No. 2655, ante.

3085. Unseaworthiness distinguished from neglect or default in prosecution of voyage.]—GILROY, SONS & Co. v. PRICE & Co., No. 3121, post.

3086. Proper use of appliances with which ship furnished.]—HEDLEY v. PINKNEY & SONS S.S. Co., No. 3080, ante.

(b) Particular Requirements.

i. Adequate Crew and Equipment.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article III., r. 1, Article IV., r. 1, &, compare, INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., p. 189, Nos. 1479–1490.

3087. Necessity for.]—WYNNE v. FELLOWES (1691), Holt, K. B. 466; 1 Show. 334; 90 E. R. 1157.

3088. ——.]—HEDLEY v. PINKNEY & SONS S.S. Co., No. 3080, ante.

3089. —— Provision of special appliances.]—THE MARATHON, No. 3048, ante.

3090. Meaning of equipment — Medicines.]—When sickness of the master or crew is set up as an excuse for deviation, it is incumbent on pltf. to show that proper medicines & necessaries for the voyage were on board, in a case where the nature of the voyage requires that there should be a surgeon on board.—WOOLF v. CLAGGETT (1800), 3 Esp. 257; 170 E. R. 607, N. P.

3091. —— Documents—Required by English law.]—Where by a charterparty of affreightment the owner of the ship covenants that she shall be furnished with everything needful & necessary for the voyage, he is bound to furnish her not only with all documents required by the law of this country, but such as are required for her immediate admission into the foreign port mentioned in the charterparty; therefore, where by such a charterparty a ship was let to freight for a voyage to Sardinia & back:—Held: the owner was liable for not furnishing her with a bill of health, without which by the law of Sardinia she could not be admitted into port before performing quarantine.—LEVY v. COSTERTON (1816), 4 Camp. 389; Holt, N. P. 167; 1 Stark. 212; 171 E. R. 124, N. P.

3092. —— —— Necessary for admission to port named in charterparty.]—LEVY v. COSTERTON, No. 3091, ante.

3093. —— —— Sufficient bills of lading to obtain consular manifest.]—Deft., a merchant at L., chartered a ship from pltfs. at a lump sum & put it up as a general ship. The shippers of goods in the vessel, according to the custom of L., made out & delivered to deft., for the captain, copies of the respective bills of lading, which were eight in number. It was necessary, as deft. knew, that a document called a consular manifest should be made at L. before the ship sailed, containing an accurate account of the goods on board the ship, & that for that purpose the person employed to make it out should have all the bills of lading or copies of them before him. On application for the copies by pltfs., deft. delivered over only six out of the eight copies as the whole number. An imperfect consular manifest was drawn up from these, & pltfs. were in consequence subjected to fines & expense at the end of the voyage:—Held: in the absence of express contract or mercantile usage, there was no legal duty making it incumbent on deft. to deliver over the copies to pltf.'s, & therefore no action could be maintained against him for the omission.—DUTTON v. POWLES (1862), 2 B. & S. 191; 31 L. J. Q. B. 191; 6 L. T. 224;

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 1.—D. (b) i.

g. Hatches partially battened down.]—Where it is well known that heavy seas & gales may be expected on a projected voyage, & that total or partial battening-down might become necessary, any evil consequences likely to result from the battening-down ought to be foreseen & as far as possible guarded against by the shipowner. If cattle die when the hatches are partially battened-down & notwithstanding that everything has been done by the master that could reasonably be done, it shows that the cattle died because the vessel, so far as the cargo was concerned, was not seaworthy.—FLEMING v. RAMSAY (1906), 25 N. Z. L. R. 596.—N.Z.

h. Defect in cargo hook.]—Goods were shipped to be carried by sea, & after the ship had arrived at her

8 Jur. N. S. 970 ; 10 W. R. 408 ; 1 Mar. L. C. 209 ; 121 E. R. 1043, Ex. Ch.

3094. —— Provisions.]—THE PUSEY HALL (1848), 7 L. T. 866.

3095. —— Coal.]—THIN v. RICHARDS & Co., No. 3072, ante.

3096. —— ——.]—Defts. shipped goods on a steamer chartered by pltfs. to be carried to S. The ship, on arriving off S., was ordered to a quarantine station 120 miles away. The master, not being able to obtain bunker coals, used certain wood & cannel coal, which formed part of his cargo, to get to the quarantine station, & the ship was damaged in consequence :—Held : that the use of the cannel coal was a general average act, & pltfs. were entitled to a general average contribution from defts.—WALFORD DE BAEDEMAECKER & Co. v. GALINDEZ BROTHERS (1897), 13 T. L. R. 293 ; 2 Com. Cas. 137.

3097. —— ——.]—THE VORTIGERN, No. 3043, ante.

3098. —— ——.]—Where it was provided by the terms of a charterparty, by which a steamer was chartered for a round voyage from Liverpool to the River Plate & back to the United Kingdom, that the charterers should provide & pay for all the coal :—Held : this provision did not relieve the shipowners from the obligation of seeing that the ship was in a seaworthy condition in respect of her supply of coal at the commencement of each of the stages of the voyage.—MCIVER & Co., LTD. v. TATE STEAMERS, LTD., [1903] 1 K. B. 362 ; 72 L. J. K. B. 253 ; 88 L. T. 182 ; 51 W. R. 393 ; 19 T. L. R. 217 ; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 362 ; 8 Com. Cas. 124, C. A.

3099. —— ——.]—Cattle were shipped on board a steamship at Buenos Ayres for Deptford under a live stock contract which excepted the usual perils, & also excepted loss arising from force majeure, or from any negligence of the master, engineers, or other persons in the service of the shipowner, whether arising previously or subsequently to the vessel's sailing, or by unseaworthiness or unfitness of the ship or any part of her equipment at or after the commencement of the voyage. By a subsequent clause the vessel was to have liberty to deviate " for the purpose of saving life or property, but not to call at any port or ports before landing her live-stock except in case of force majeure." The vessel sailed from Buenos Ayres intending to call at St. Vincent to take in coal for the voyage from there to Deptford. After leaving Buenos Ayres it was found that she has not sufficient coal to take her to St. Vincent & she accordingly called at Pernambuco & took in coal there. On arriving at Deptford the vessel was detained in quarantine, Pernambuco being a prohibited port, & the cattle suffered deterioration in consequence :—Held : by the contract the vessel was not to call at any port before landing her live stock except in the case of force majeure ; the deficiency of coal owing to the miscalculation as to the quantity necessary to take the vessel to St. Vincent was not a case of force majeure, the vessel & cargo being in no danger ; & therefore the shipowner was liable for the deterioration of the cattle.—YRAZU v. ASTRAL SHIPPING Co. (1904), 20 T. L. R. 153 ; 9 Com. Cas. 100.

Annotation :—Refd. Lebeaupin v. Crispin, [1920] 2 K. B. 714.

ii. Fitness to Carry Cargo.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article III., r. 1, Article IV., r. 1, &, compare, Vol. XXIX., p. 191, Nos. 1498–1500.

3100. Particular cargo specified in contract.]—The word " seaworthy " means fit to carry the particular cargo safely in respect of the dangers which but for proper fittings & equipment might damage it during the carriage.—ROWSON v. ATLANTIC TRANSPORT Co., [1903] 1 K. B. 114 ; 72 L. J. K. B. 87 ; 87 L. T. 717 ; 52 W. R. 85 ; 19 T. L. R. 67 ; 9 Asp. M. L. C. 347 ; 8 Com. Cas. 74 ; affd., [1903] 2 K. B. 666, C. A.

Annotations :—Refd. Brown v. Harrison (1927), 96 L. J. K. B. 1025 ; Gosse Millard v. Canadian Government Merchant Marine, American Can Co. v. Same, [1927] 2 K. B. 432.

3101. ——.]—RATHBONE BROTHERS & Co. v. MACIVER (D.), SONS & Co., No. 2794, ante.

3102. ——.]—MOUNTPARK S.S. Co. v. GREY (1910), cited Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XXVI., at p. 216, H. L.

3103. —— Wet sugar—Insufficient pumps.]—STANTON v. RICHARDSON, No. 1899, ante.

3104. —— Meat—Refrigerating apparatus.]—Pltfs. shipped a cargo of frozen meat on defts.' steamship. The bill of lading contained the following clauses : " Steamer shall not be accountable for . . . any loss or damage . . . arising from failure or breakdown of machinery, insulation, or other appliances . . . nor for the consequences of any act, neglect, or default . . . of the master, officers, engineers, crew, or other persons in the service of the owners, nor for any other cause whatsoever." " Loss or damage resulting from any of the following causes or perils all excepted, viz. : . . . explosion, accidents to, or defects in hull, tackle, boilers, or machinery . . . barratry, jettison, neglect, default, or error in judgment of the master, mariners, engineers, or others in the service of the owners." The cargo was damaged by the breakdown of the refrigerating machinery : —Held : the above clauses did not limit the warranty that the ship was fit to carry the cargo.

Under an ordinary Bill of Lading there can be no question that the owner enters into an absolute undertaking that the ship on sailing shall be fit to carry the particular cargo to its destination. The ordinary exceptions refer to the incidents of the voyage after the ship has sailed, & do not qualify this obligation (MATHEW, J.).—MAORI KING (CARGO OWNERS) v. ALLEN (1895), 1 Com. Cas. 104, C. A.

3105. —— —— ——.]—WAIKATO (CARGO OWNERS) v. NEW ZEALAND SHIPPING Co., No. 2658, ante.

3106. —— —— ——.]—SOUTH AMERICAN EXPORT SYNDICATE, LTD. v. FEDERAL STEAM NAVIGATION Co., LTD., No. 2698, ante.

3107. —— —— Contaminated by disinfectant used in ship.]—Frozen meat shipped for carriage from Melbourne to London arrived tainted with carbolic acid, with which the ship had been disinfected before shipment. The bill of lading contained two exception clauses. The first exempted the shipowner from liability for damage to goods whether arising from a defect existing at the time of the shipment or not, or from the neglect of the master or crew, or from any other cause whatsoever. The second clause also exempted the shipowner from liability for damage destination, & while landing goods, a portion of the ship's discharging-tackle, viz. a cargo hook, which was weak & defective, broke, with the result that the goods were damaged :— Held : the defect in the cargo hook did not constitute a breach of the warranty of seaworthiness, but constituted a breach of the duty which the shipowner owed as a carrier, liability for which was limited by the special provisions of the bill of lading. —S.S. PORT STEPHENS v. INGLIS BROTHERS & Co., LTD., [1926] N. Z. L. R. 357.—N.Z.

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 1, D. (b) ii., iii. iv., E. & F.] from defects, etc., " if reasonable means have been taken to provide against such defects & unseaworthiness " :—Held : upon the true construction of the bill of lading the generality of the first clause was qualified by the second clause, &, reasonable care not having been taken in cleansing the ship before the shipment, the shipowner was liable for the damage in an action brought by an indorsee of the bill.—ELDERSLIE S.S. Co. v. BORTHWICK, [1905] A. C. 93 ; 74 L. J. K. B. 338 ; 92 L. T. 274 ; 53 W. R. 401 ; 21 T. L. R. 277 ; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 24 ; 10 Com. Cas. 109, H. L. ; affg. S. C. sub nom. BORTHWICK v. ELDERSLIE S.S. Co., [1904] 1 K. B. 319, C. A.

Annotations :—Apld. Atlantic Shipping & Trading Co. v. Dreyfus, [1922] 2 A. C. 250. Reld. The Forfarshire, [1908] P. 339 ; Nelson Line (Liverpool) v. Nelson, [1908] A. C. 16 ; Chartered Bank of India, Australia & China v. British India Steam Navigation Co., [1909] A. C. 369 ; Rosin & Turpentine Import Co. v. Jacob (1909), 101 L. T. 56 ; South American Export Syndicate v. Federal Steam Navigation Co. (1909), 100 L. T. 270 ; Wiener v. Wilsons & Furness-Leyland Line (1910), 102 L. T. 716 ; The West Cock, [1911] P. 23 ; Ingram & Royle v. Services Maritimes du Tréport, [1913] 1 K. B. 538 ; Mitsui v. Watts, Watts, [1916] 2 K. B. 826 ; Morrison v. Shaw, Savill & Albion Co., [1916] 1 K. B. 747 ; Denholm v. Shipping Controller (1920), 124 L. T. 378 ; Aron v. Comptoir Wegimont, [1921] 3 K. B. 435 ; Ambatielos v. Anton Jurgens Margarine Works, [1923] A. C. 175 ; Layton v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1923), 130 L. T. 662 ; Brightman v. Bunge y Born, [1924] 2 K. B. 619 ; Alison v. Wallsend Slipway & Engineering Co. (1926), 43 T. L. R. 104 ; United States Shipping Board v. Strick, [1926] A. C. 545. Mentd. Churm v. Dalton Main Collieries, [1916] 1 A. C. 612 ; Lebeaupin v. Crispin, [1920] 2 K. B. 714 ; Szymonowski v. Beck, [1923] 1 K. B. 457 ; Lancaster v Turner, [1924] 2 K. B. 222 ; Lake v. Simmons, [1926] 1 K. B. 366.

3108. —— Bullion—Bullion room fit to resist thieves.]—Boxes of gold, shipped abroad, under a bill of lading, for delivery in London, were placed in the bullion room of the ship, from which one of the boxes was stolen during the voyage. The bill of lading did not contain any mention of a bullion room, but it was known to pltfs. that defts.' vessels were provided with such rooms, & it was in the contemplation of both parties to the contract that the gold was to be carried in a bullion room :—Held : there was an implied warranty that the bullion room in which the gold was stowed was so constructed as to be reasonably fit to resist thieves.—QUEENSLAND NATIONAL BANK v. PENINSULAR & ORIENTAL STEAM NAVIGATION Co., [1898] 1 Q. B. 567 ; 67 L. J. Q. B. 402 ; 78 L. T. 67 ; 46 W. R. 324 ; 14 T. L. R. 166 ; 42 Sol. Jo. 212 ; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 338 ; 3 Com. Cas. 51, C. A.

Annotations :—Reld. Rawson v. Atlantic Transport Co. (1902), 87 L. T. 717 ; Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522.

3109. —— Lemons—Damage by sulphur fumigation.]—CIAMPA v. BRITISH INDIA STEAM NAVIGATION Co., LTD., No. 2569, ante.

3110. —— Palm oil—Absence of 'tween decks.]—ELDER, DEMPSTER & Co. v. PATERSON, ZOCHONIS & Co., GRIFFITHS LEWIS STEAM NAVIGATION Co. v. PATERSON, ZOCHONIS & Co., No. 3118, post.

iii. Stowage of Cargo.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article III., r. 1, Article IV., r. 1.

3111. Improper stowage—Whether amounting to unseaworthiness.]—KOPITOFF v. WILSON, No. 3045, ante.

3112. —— ——.]—TATE v. CROSBY, MAGEE & Co. (1898), cited in Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol. XXVI., at p. 77.

3113. —— ——.]—THE CITY OF LINCOLN v. SMITH, No. 2690, ante.

3114. —— ——.]—Pltfs., who were the consignees of 500 tons of wood pulp which arrived at Erith by steamer, employed lightermen to provide barges for the collection of that consignment from the steamer & to lighter it to Nine Elms. The lightermen sent to Erith three barges for this purpose, one of which, the Jellicoe, had a carrying capacity of 170 tons & no more. When the loading commenced the Jellicoe was seaworthy, but 190 tons were put on board, & after the loading was finished & while she was lying with that cargo on board alongside the steamer waiting for a tug to tow her to Nine Elms she sank, & her cargo was lost :—Held : when the loading of the Jellicoe was finished a new stage of the employment or adventure commenced, & as at that stage the Jellicoe was, by reason of being overloaded, unseaworthy either to lie in the river or to be towed, the lightermen were liable, as the London Lighterage Clause did not cover a loss due to unseaworthiness. —REED (A. E.) & Co. v. PAGE, SON & EAST, LTD., [1927] 1 K. B. 743 ; 96 L. J. K. B. 390 ; 137 L. T. 77 ; 43 T. L. R. 272 ; 17 Asp. M. L. C. 231 ; 32 Com. Cas. 243, C. A.

3115. What amounts to improper stowage—Heavy cargo breaking loose.]—KOPITOFF v. WILSON, No. 3045, ante.

3116. —— Lack of dunnage.]—THE CRESSINGTON, No. 2706, ante.

3117. —— Damage to part cargo by another part—Contamination.]—THE THORSA, No. 2732, ante.

3118. —— —— Goods crushed by heavier goods.]—A shipping co. ran a line of cargo steamers to West African ports for the carriage of West African produce. These vessels had their holds fitted 'tween decks, so as to relieve the cargo stored in the lower part of the holds from the weight of the cargo stored in the upper part. This co., hereinafter called " the charterers," requiring an additional vessel for their West African trade, chartered from another co., hereinafter called " the shipowners," on a time charter, a ship of the Isherwood type with deep holds & no 'tween decks. This ship loaded at a West African port a large number of casks of palm oil, which were properly stored in tiers at the bottom of the holds, & also loaded a large number of bags of palm kernels, which for the most part were stowed over the casks of palm oil. The palm kernels being very heavy crushed the casks of palm oil, so that before the ship left port the bilge well of the holds had 3 feet of oil in them, & on the arrival of the ship at her destination in England the greater part of the oil was lost or damaged.

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 1.—D. (b) iii.

3111 i. Improper stowage—Whether amounting to unseaworthiness.]—The fact that a cargo is improperly stowed in that it is not supplied with sufficient ventilation may be " unseaworthiness " as far as such cargo is concerned.—BALFOUR, GUTHRIE & Co. v. CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. Co. (B. C.), [1917] 3 W. W. R. 310.—CAN.

3111 ii. —— ——.]—CUNNINGHAM v. FRONTIER S.S. Co., [1906] 2 I. R. 12. —IR.

3111 iii. —— ——.]—Unless the conditions of a charterparty relieve the owner, as distinct from his servants & agents, from the consequences of personal negligence, he is liable for damages accruing during the voyage to cargo laden under his orders, owing to such cargo having been so laden as to render the ship, in other respects seaworthy, top heavy at starting.—THE CITY OF LINCOLN (MASTER & OWNERS) v. SMITH (1904), 25 N. L. R. 7.—S. AF.

The bills of lading under which the palm oil was shipped protected the charterers from damage due to bad stowage.

In an action by the shippers of the palm oil against the charterers & the shipowners for damages for breach of the contract of carriage evidenced by the bills of lading, or, alternatively, for negligence or breach of duty:—Held: (1) the ship being structurally fit to carry the palm oil at the time when it was loaded, the damage was due not to the unseaworthiness of the ship for the cargo by reason of the absence of 'tween decks, or the non-provision of a temporary 'tween deck, but to bad stowage, &, consequently, the charterers were protected by the exceptions in the bills of lading; in the circumstances the shipowners were entitled to the same protection.

Bad stowage, which endangers the safety of the ship, may amount to unseaworthiness, of course, but bad stowage, which affects nothing but the cargo damaged by it, is bad stowage & nothing more, & still leaves the ship seaworthy for the adventure, even though the adventure be the carrying of that cargo (LORD SUMNER).—ELDER, DEMPSTER & CO. v. PATERSON, ZOCHONIS & CO., GRIFFITHS LEWIS STEAM NAVIGATION CO. v. PATERSON, ZOCHONIS & CO., [1924] A. C. 522; 93 L. J. K. B. 625; 131 L. T. 449; 40 T. L. R. 464; 68 Sol. Jo. 497; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 351; 29 Com. Cas. 340, H. L.; revsg. S. C. sub nom. PATERSON ZOCHONIS & CO. v. ELDER DEMPSTER & CO., [1923] 1 K. B. 420, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Werner v. Det Bergensk Dampskibsselselschaft (1926), 134 L. T. 573; Reed v. Page & East, [1927] 1 K. B. 743.

3119. —— Cargo in excess of capacity.]—REED (A. E.) & CO. v. PAGE, SON & EAST, LTD., No. 3114, ante.

—.]—See, generally, Sect. 5, sub-sect. 5, C. (a), ante.

iv. Other Requirements.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article III., r. 1, Article IV., r. 1, & compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 189, 190, Nos. 1477, 1478, 1491–1497.

3120. Vessel without knees.]—Qu.: whether a vessel can be deemed seaworthy for a foreign voyage without knees.—WATT v. MORRIS (1813), 1 Dow, 32; 3 E. R. 612, H. L.

3121. Uncased pipe.]—A cargo of jute was shipped under a bill of lading, which contained an exception from liability for any act, neglect, or default whatsoever of the master & crew in the navigation of the ship in the ordinary course of the voyage. The ship during her voyage encountered stormy weather, & the pipe of the port water closet was broken by the pressure of the cargo, whereby water entered the vessel, & the jute was damaged.

In an action at the instance of the indorsees of the bill of lading, it was found as a fact "that the pipe was uncased at the sailing of the vessel," & "that the default came within the exemption." It was found also that it was the usual practice to case such a pipe before loading a cargo of jute; that when the cargo was loaded, the pipe was not visible; & that to case the pipe it would have been necessary to remove part of the cargo, but the evidence did not show how much:—Held: the findings of fact amounted to a verdict that the ship was not seaworthy on sailing, &, therefore, the exception in the bill of lading did not relieve the shipowners from liability.

It is said that it is found that this was a "neglect or default" in the course of the voyage, & it is found that it might be remedied in the course of the voyage. In my judgment if it is found that the vessel was unseaworthy when she started, that is absolutely immaterial. . . . I can conceive cases in which a defect which constitutes unseaworthiness at the time of the disaster may have existed at the time when the vessel started, & yet it may have been a case not, properly speaking, of initial unseaworthiness but of neglect or default in the prosecution of the voyage. If, for example, some port hole be left open, or there be some means of access for the water, which in the ordinary course of the prosecution of the voyage, if the master & crew were not negligent, would be closed, & which it is usual to leave open when starting, there is no doubt that although it existed at the time when the voyage commenced, it would properly be said not to be a case of unseaworthiness, but of "neglect or default" on the part of the master & crew (LORD HERSCHELL, C.).—GILROY, SONS & CO. v. PRICE & CO., [1893] A. C. 56; 68 L. T. 302; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 314; 1 R. 76, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. The Europa, [1908] P. 84. Refd. Kish v. Taylor, [1912] A. C. 604; Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522. Mentd. Anglo-Newfoundland Development Co. v. Pacific Steam Navigation Co., [1924] A. C. 406; Nimmo v. Connell, [1924] A. C. 595.

3122. Open porthole.]—GILROY, SONS & CO. v. PRICE & CO., No. 3121, ante.

3123. Vessel with one boiler.]—A vessel held not to be unseaworthy by reason of her proceeding to sea under one boiler only.—THE PENTLAND (1897), 13 T. L. R. 430.

3124. Provision of unusual fitting requiring special care.]—A ship is not seaworthy which has to rely upon an unusual & dangerous fitting permitting water to pass from the sea into the holds unless special care is used, & in which those who use the fitting in the ordinary course of navigation have no intimation of its unusual & dangerous character.

The Schwan was built under the superintendence of an engineer acting on behalf of the owners & under the rules of the Germanischer Lloyd, which contain stringent provisions that the arrangement shall be such as shall not permit sea water to run into the vessel by an act of carelessness or negligence. The ship was provided with a cock which in fact did allow sea water to enter the holds, & the water damaged applts.' cargo:—Held: the shipowners were liable for the damage sustained.—THE SCHWAN, [1909] A. C. 450; 78 L. J. P. 112; 101 L. T. 289; 25 T. L. R. 742; 53 Sol. Jo. 696; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 286, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522. Apld. Standard Oil Co. of New York v. Clan Line Steamers, [1924] A. C. 100. Mentd. Nimmo v. Connell, [1924] A. C. 595.

3125. Overloading.]—KISH v. TAYLOR, No. 3170, post.

E. Seaworthiness in relation to Excepted Perils.

Fire.]—See Nos. 2613–2616, ante.

Collision.]—See No. 2641, ante.

Latent defects in, & accidents to hull or machinery.]—See Nos. 2655–2662, ante.

Negligence.]—See Sect. 4, sub-sect. 14, C., ante.

F. Evidence and Proof.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV. (1); compare INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 193–195, Nos. 1531–1547.

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 1, F.; sub-sect.

3126. Onus of proof—Of unseaworthiness—When onus shifted.]—Though it is a principle of law that the onus of proving unseaworthiness lies upon those who allege it, effect must be given to such presumptions of fact, arising from the age of the vessel, the low classing or non-classing, the non-survey of the ship, the refusal to insure, admitted defects, & bad record of the vessel, as tend to shift the burden of proof.

A steamship started on a voyage from Libau to Leith with a general cargo. A few hours after she put to sea her feed pumps broke down with the result that the boilers had to be fed with sea water by means of the donkey engine. She met with bad weather & put into Elsinore for repairs after sustaining damage to ship & cargo. Particular average charges were incurred at Elsinore in connection with the discharge, reconditioning, & reloading of the cargo. In an action by the shipowners to recover from the owners of the cargo a contribution to general average & also a proportion of the charges incidental to the discharging & reloading of the cargo :—Held : defts. were not liable, for in the circumstances the onus was on pltfs. of showing that the ship was seaworthy at the commencement of the voyage, & they had failed to discharge that onus.—LINDSAY v. KLEIN, THE TATJANA, [1911] A. C. 194 ; 80 L. J. P. C. 161 ; 104 L. T. 261 ; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 502, H. L.

Annotation :—Refd. Munro, Brice v. Marten, Same v. R., [1920] 3 K. B. 94.

3127. —— —— Statutory liability for fire.]—LENNARD'S CARRYING CO., LTD. v. ASIATIC PETROLEUM CO., LTD., No. 2616, ante.

3128. —— —— Incorporation of Harter Act.]—Pltfs., parties interested in cargo carried by a steamer which was lost at sea while on a voyage from the United States to Hamburg, sued defts. as owners of the steamer, for breach of the contract of carriage, or, alternatively, for negligence in the custody of their goods. The bills of lading incorporated the Harter Act, which provided (inter alia), that if the owners of any vessel transporting merchandise from any port in the United States shall exercise due diligence to make the vessel in all respects seaworthy, neither the vessel nor her owners shall be held responsible for damage or loss :—Held : where the Harter Act was incorporated in the contract the burden of proof was not the same as it was under English law, but it was for the shipowner to prove that his ship was seaworthy or that he had exercised due care to make her so, & the cargo owner need not prove, as he must do in the case of an ordinary English contract, that the ship was unseaworthy.—MOORE v. LUNN (1923), 39 T. L. R. 526, C. A.

3129. —— That damage caused by unseaworthiness.]—A shipowner, whose ship is unseaworthy at the commencement of the chartered voyage, though liable in damages to the charterer, the owner of the cargo on board, for injury to the cargo caused directly by that unseaworthiness, is not liable for injury caused to other portions of the cargo, not as the result of that unseaworthiness, but by a peril of the sea excepted in the contract of affreightment ; that is to say, if unseaworthiness in the carrying ship is relied on by the cargo owner, he must prove that it was the cause of the damage.—THE EUROPA, [1908] P. 84 ; 77 L. J. P. 26 ; 98 L. T. 246 ; 24 T. L. R. 151 ; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 19, D. C.

Annotations :—Consd. Internationale Guano en Superphosphaatwerken v. Macandrew, [1909] 2 K. B. 360. Apprvd. Kish v. Taylor, [1912] A. C. 604. Apld. The Christel Vinnen, [1924] P. 61. Refd. Bank of Australasia v. Clan Line Steamers (1915), 21 Com. Cas. 13 ; Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522.

3130. Evidence of expert witness—Shipbuilder.]—A shipbuilder may be called as a witness to give his opinion as to the seaworthiness of a ship, on the facts stated by others.—THORNTON v. ROYAL EXCHANGE ASSURANCE CO. (1790), Peake, 37 ; 170 E. R. 70, N. P.

SUB-SECT. 2.—PROSECUTION OF THE VOYAGE.

A. In General.

3131. Duty of owner or master to convey cargo to destination.]—(1) All authorities are in unison to this extent, that " the master is at liberty to procure another ship to transport the cargo to the place of destination " : & in these words LORD TENTERDEN [in his book on Shipping] cautiously lays down the rule of our law. . . . It may therefore be safely taken to be either the duty or the right of the shipowner to tranship ; . . . if it be the former, it must be so on virtue of his original contract ; & it should seem to result from a performance by him of that contract that he will be entitled to the full consideration for which it was entered into without respect to the particular circumstances attending its fulfilment ; on the other hand, if it be the latter, a right to the full freight seems to be implied ; the master is at liberty to tranship ; but for what purpose, except for that of earning his full freight, at the rate agreed on ? . . . We may introduce another circumstance ; let the owner of the goods arrive, & insist, as he undoubtedly may, that the goods shall not proceed, but be delivered to him at the intermediate port ; there is then no question that the whole freight at the original rate must be paid ; & that because the freighter prevents the master, who is able & willing, & has the right to insist on it, from fulfilling the contract on his part, & because the sending the goods to their destination in another vessel as deemed a fulfilment of the contract (LORD DENMAN, C.J.).

(2) It may well be that the master's right to tranship may be limited to those cases in which the voyage may be completed on its original terms as to freight, so as to occasion no further charge to the freighter ; & that, where the freight cannot

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 1.—F.

3126 i. Onus of proof—Of unseaworthiness—When onus shifted.]—A vessel became unseaworthy during a voyage for which she was chartered, & put into port for repairs. These were executed, but surveyors who were employed by the owner to examine her reported unfavourably, & advised that she should be further strengthened. This was not done, & she proceeded to sea. In a question between the shippers of cargo, which was damaged, & the owners :—Held : the report by the surveyors, though not conclusive, operated to shift the onus of proving unseaworthiness from the shippers, & laid upon the owners the burden of proving the contrary.—SCOTT v. KALNING (1877), 14 Sc. L. R. 260.—SCOT.

k. —— ——.]—Although the onus is on the pltf. of showing unseaworthiness, yet if a vessel a few minutes after leaving the wharf begins to leak seriously from no ascertainable cause it is a reasonable inference that she was not fit to undertake the voyage at the time she started.—ROSS & GLENDINING, LTD. v. SHAW, SAVILL & ALBION CO., LTD. (1907), 26 N. L. R. 845.—N.Z.

That loss arose without actual fault or privity of shipowners—Lies on shipowners.]—ROYAL EXCHANGE ASSURANCE v. KINGSLEY NAVIGATION CO., [1923] A. C. 235 ; [1923] 1 W. W. R. 737 ; [1923] 1 D. L. R. 1048, P. C.—CAN.

m. Presumption of seaworthiness.]—It will not be presumed that a vessel was not seaworthy, merely because the cause of her foundering is unknown.—SMITH v. BISSET (1810), 15 Fac. Coll. 617.—SCOT.

be procured at that rate, another but familiar principle will be introduced, that of agency for the merchant. . . . The case now put supposes an inability to complete the contract on its original terms on another bottom, &, therefore, the owner's right to tranship will be at end; but still, all circumstances considered, it may be greatly for the benefit of the freighter that the goods should be forwarded to their destination, even at an increased rate of freight; & if so, it will be the duty of the master as his agent to do so (LORD DENMAN, C.J.). —SHIPTON v. THORNTON (1838), 9 Ad. & El. 314; 1 Per. & Dav. 216; 1 Will. Woll. & H. 710; 8 L. J. Q. B. 73; 112 E. R. 1231.

Annotations:—As to (1) Consd. Gibbs v. Grey, Grey v. Gibbs (1857), 2 H. & N. 22. Matthews v. Gibbs (1860), 3 E. & E. 282; Svendsen v. Wallace (1885), 10 App. Cas. 404; Bradley v. Newson, [1919] A. C. 16. Refd. Rosetto v. Gurney (1851), 11 C. B. 176; The Newport (1858), Sw. 335; The Bahia (1864), 11 Jur. N. S. 90; Kidston v. Empire Marine Insce. (1866), Har. & Ruth. 433; Atwood v. Sellar (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 342; Hill v. Wilson (1879), 4 C. P. D. 329. Assicurazioni Generali v. S.S. Bessie Morris Co., [1892] 1 Q. B. 571. Generally, Refd. Great Indian Peninsula Ry. v. Saunders (1862), 6 L. T. 297. Mentd. Re Clarke, Ex p. Buckley (1845), 14 M. & W. 469.

3132. ——.]—The ship Lord Cochrane, with a cargo on board, left Pernambuco, on a voyage to Liverpool on June 29, 1839; in proceeding out of the harbour at Pernambuco, she struck on a rock, & was obliged to put back to be repaired; the master, after several surveys, & with the concurrence of the persons to whom he had been addressed by the owner to procure a cargo, proceeded to repair the ship, the repairs continuing from June 29, 1839, till Jan. 4, following; the expenses of the repairs amounted to £7,132 3*s.* 8*d.*, a sum much exceeding the value of the ship & freight, & which sum the master, not being able to procure it in any other manner, was compelled to borrow on bottomry, & accordingly executed a bottomry bond, charging the ship, freight, & cargo; the cargo, which had been necessarily taken out during the repairs, was reshipped, & the ship sailed on Jan. 6, 1840, & arrived with the cargo at Liverpool; the obligees of the bottomry bond received the freight under a decree of the Ct. of Admlty. It did not appear when the owner was first informed of the accident to the ship; but it appeared that a letter from Pernambuco, dated Nov. 14, 1839, & received on Dec 30, containing an intimation that the Lord Cochrane's expenses were likely to exceed £5,000, with commission, discharging & reloading cargo, etc., was shown to him, & that, on the same day, he gave notice of abandonment of the ship & freight to the respective underwriters on each, & did not interfere in any way afterwards in respect of either ship or freight. In an action against the underwriters on freight, claiming for a total loss, by a special verdict, setting out the above facts, the jury found that pltf. had acted bonâ fide, without laches & as a prudent owner of the ship & freight, if uninsured, would have acted:—Held: (1) pltf. was not entitled to recover in respect either of a total or of a partial loss of freight, the freight having actually been earned, & its receipt by the obligee of the bottomry bond being, in law, a receipt by pltf.; (2) it is the duty of the master, in case of damage to the ship, to do all that can be done towards bringing the adventure to a successful termination, to repair the ship, if there be a reasonable prospect of doing so at an expense not ruinous, & to bring home the cargo, & earn the freight, if possible; that, in the absence of any finding to the contrary, it must be assumed that this duty has been properly performed; (3) where the master elects to repair, the mere fact of the expenses of repair ultimately proving to be greater than the value of the ship, would not be sufficient to show that he acted beyond the scope of his authority, or to entitle the owner to treat him as ceasing to be his agent, as soon as he commenced the repairs; & as the special verdict did not find that the owner, if on the spot, would not have repaired the ship, the ct. could not infer that he would not have done so.—BENSON v. CHAPMAN (1849), 8 C. B. 950; 2 H. L. Cas. 696; 13 Jur. 969; 137 E. R. 781, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. CHAPMAN v. BENSON (1847), 5 C. B. 330, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. Stewart v. Greenock Marine Insce. (1848), 2 H. L. Cas. 159; Scottish Marine Insce. v. Turner (1853), 21 L. T. O. S. 10; Barber v. Fleming (1869), L. R. 5 Q. B. 59. As to (2) Consd. Atwood v. Sellar (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 342; Assicurazioni Generali v. S.S. Bessie Morris Co., [1892] 1 Q. B. 571. Refd. Knight v. Faith (1850), 15 Q. B. 649; Blasco v. Fletcher (1863), 14 C. B. N. S. 147; The Bahia (1864), Brown. & Lush. 292; Kemp v. Halliday (1866), 6 B. & S. 723; Rankin v. Potter (1873), L. R. 6 H. L. 83; Mavro v. Ocean Marine Insce. (1874), L. R. 9 C. P. 595; Macbeth v. Maritime Insce., [1908] A. C. 144. Generally, Refd. Great Indian Peninsula Ry. v. Saunders (1861), 1 B. & S. 41. Mentd. Bowers v. Nixon (1848), 13 Jur. 334.

3133. ——.]—TRONSON v. DENT, No. 3447, post.

3134. ——.]—THE WILHELM, No. 3196, post.

3135. ——.]—HILL v. WILSON, No. 4848, post.

3136. ——.]—In the contract of affreightment there is an implied undertaking on the part of the shipowner, in consideration of his being entrusted with the custody of the goods, that if the further prosecution of the voyage should be interrupted by disaster to the ship, if he cannot, or does not choose to, tranship the cargo & send it on in another vessel in order to earn the freight, he will do his best to protect the interest of the goods owner; &, therefore, if the circumstances will admit of it, must find another vessel & forward the goods to their destination. Upon which assumption it may be contended that as the ship, having been repaired & rendered fit to resume the voyage, is available for the purpose, the master will be bound, as the best course to promote the interest of the goods owner, to reship the goods on board his owner's ship (COCKBURN, C.J.).—ATWOOD v. SELLAR & Co. (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 342; 27 W. R. 726; sub nom. ATTWOOD v. SELLAR, 48 L. J. Q. B. 465; 41 L. T. 83; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 153; on appeal (1880), 5 Q. B. D. 286, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Assicurazioni Generale v. S.S. Bessie Morris (1892), 61 L. J. Q. B. 754. Refd. Piric v. Middle Dock Co. (1881), 44 L. T. 426; Whitecross Wire Co. v. Savill (1882), 8 Q. B. D. 653; Svensden v. Wallace (1885), 10 App. Cas. 404; Anglo-Argentine Live Stock & Produce Agency v. Temperley Shipping Co., [1899] 2 Q. B. 403; Balmoral S.S. Co. v. Marten, [1901] 2 K. B. 396; Carlsbrook S.S. Co. v. London & Provincial Marine & General Insce. (1901), 50 W. R. 42; Hudson v. British & Foreign Marine Insce., The Leitrim (1902), 8 Com. Cas. 6; The Leitrim, [1902] P. 256; Hamel v. Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Co., [1908] 2 K. B. 298; Chellew v. Royal Commission on Sugar Supply, [1922] 1 K. B. 12.

3137. ——.]—CREW, WIDGERY & Co. v. GREAT WESTERN S.S. Co. (1887), 4 T. L. R. 148, C. A.

Annotation:—Refd. Robinson Gold Mining Co. v. Alliance Insce., [1901] 2 K. B. 919.

3138. ——.] — ASSICURAZIONI GENERALI v. BESSIE MORRIS S.S. Co., No. 3219, post.

3139. - - -.]—HANSEN v. DUNN, No. 3220, post.

3140. —— Damage to cargo—Master not bound to wait indefinite period to reload cargo.]—Owing to stress of weather a vessel, after sailing under charter from Cardiff for Cape Town with coals, put into a port of refuge. The coal was discharged partly to effect the necessary repairs to the ship, & partly for the benefit of the cargo, portions of which had become heated from wetting by excepted perils of the sea. After the repairs to the ship were completed, the charterer required

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 2, A. & B. (a) & (b), & C. (a) i.] the shipowner to reload the coal; the shipowner refused on the ground that in the opinion of the surveyors on both sides the coal was not then in a fit state for reshipment, though, subsequent to the commencement of an action by the charterer against the shipowner for breach of contract, the coal had dried sufficiently to be carried on if the small coal were eliminated from the bulk:—Held: the charterer was not entitled to recover, as, at the date of the issue of the writ, there was no breach of contract by the shipowner; up to that time, on the evidence before him, the master, acting on behalf of the shipowner, was justified in refusing to carry on the cargo, & was not bound to wait an indefinite period until experts should be agreed that, the coal being dry, there would be no further risk of spontaneous combustion on a voyage through the tropics, provided the excessive amount of small coal, due to repeated handlings, were removed, for which no facilities existed at the port of refuge, except at an expense out of proportion to the value of the cargo.—THE SAVONA, [1900] P. 252; 69 L. J. P. 95; 49 W. R. 303.

Annotations:—Consd. Embiricos v. Reid, [1914] 3 K. B. 45. Reid. The Fox (1914), 83 L. J. P. 89; Anglo-Northern Trading Co. v. Emlyn, Jones & Williams, [1917] 2 K. B. 78.

3141. —— In same ship.]—DUNCAN v. BENSON, No. 3327, post.

3142. —— ——.]—(1) Where a bottomry bond is made payable upon arrival at the ship's port of destination in England, the validity of the bond is triable by the general maritime law as administered in England, & not by the law of the ship's flag, or the law of the place where the bond was executed.

(2) If there are means of repairing the ship at the port of distress, the master has no obligation to tranship the cargo.

(3) The character of agent for the owners of the cargo is imposed upon the master solely by the necessity of the case. The master of a ship, therefore, has not authority to hypothecate the cargo, if in the circumstances of the case it is reasonably practicable for him to communicate with the owners before doing so; & if he hypothecates the cargo in such circumstances without so communicating, the bond, though given & taken bonâ fide, is not binding upon the cargo.

(4) Where a question is raised as to the duty of the master in a port of distress to have transhipped the cargo, it must be considered that his first duty is to carry his cargo to its port of destination in the same bottom.—DURANTY v. HART, THE HAMBURG (CARGO EX) (1864), 2 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 289; Brown. & Lush. 253; 33 L. J. P. M. & A. 116; 10 L. T. 206; 10 Jur. N. S. 600; 12 W. R. 628; 2 Mar. L. C. 1; 167 E. R. 362, P. C.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. Lloyd v. Guibert (1865), L. R. 1 Q. B. 115; The Gaetano & Maria (1882), 7 P. D. 137. Reid. The San Roman (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 583. As to (2) Reid. The Bahia (1864), Brown. & Lush. 292. As to (3) Distd. The Lizzie (1868), L. R. 2 A. & E. 254. Consd. Kleinwort, Cohen v. Cassa Marittima of Genoa (1877), 2 App. Cas. 156. Apld. Acatos v. Burns (1878), 3 Ex. D. 282. Reid. The Empire of Peace (1869), 39 L. J. Adm. 12; The Staffordshire (1871), 25 L. T. 137; Australasian Steam Navigation Co. v. Morse (1872), L. R. 4 P. C. 222.

—— Transhipment.]—See Sub-sect. 4, post.

B. Sailing from Port.

(a) In General.

3143. Duty to commence voyage without delay—Omission to take in stores—Ship detained by ice.]—THE WILHELM, No. 3196, post.

3144. Alteration of destination—Duty to give notice to shippers.]—PEEL v. PRICE, No. 1638, ante.

3145. No obligation to dispatch ship second time—Compulsory return against will of owner.]—In covenant upon a charterparty of affreightment, by which the owner covenanted to take on board at London the freighter's goods, & to proceed therewith to Monte Video, & there deliver them, & receive another cargo, & proceed therewith to the port of discharge in Great Britain, & there deliver the same & end the voyage, in consideration of which the freighter covenanted to pay so much per month for freight during the voyage to M. V. & back to her port of discharge, it is not enough to allege in the declaration that the ship, after taking in a cargo in G. B. & proceeding in part on her outward voyage was, against the will & without the default of the owner, & through the act of the super-cargo, the servant of the freighter, seized & brought back to London, & detained until restored to the owner, in consequence of which she required repair, & which pltf. caused to be done with proper dispatch, & was ready & willing to cause the ship to prosecute & complete her voyage, & offered her to deft. for that purpose, & requested him to dispatch her, & upon this to assign a breach that deft. refused to dispatch her, & renounced the charterparty & further prosecution of the voyage, & discharged pltf. from the same, per quod pltf. was hindered from endeavouring to complete the voyage, & to earn the money stipulated by the charterparty to be paid at her port of discharge; for deft. having once dispatched the ship, there was no obligation upon him to dispatch her a second time.—SMITH v. WILSON (1817), 6 M. & S. 78; 105 E. R. 1172.

3146. Advertisement of time of sailing—Whether amounting to warranty.]—Shipping brokers having represented that a ship, described as on their "line," would sail on or about a certain day; qu.: whether there is evidence on which a jury can find them liable as on a warranty that she should so sail. But, semble, if they without authority in fact reship the goods in another ship, insuring them in their own names, & refusing delivery except on handing over the bills of lading sent by the first ship, there being no authority in law so to act, there is evidence of a conversion on which they may be liable.—SIMPSON v. YOUNG (1859), 1 F. & F. 708, N. P.; subsequent proceedings (1861), 2 F. & F. 426, N. P.

(b) What amounts to.

3147. Departure from limits of artificial port.]—By the terms of a charterparty, a ship was to proceed to Cardiff, & there to load a full & complete cargo of coals, & therewith to proceed to the port of San Francisco or any of the landing places within the waters of San Francisco, & there to discharge the cargo, the cargo to be taken from alongside the vessel according to the custom of the port, & at the expense & risk of the freighters. The freight to be paid three-fourths in cash on the final sailing of the vessel from the port of loading, less 2½ per cent. discount & costs of insurance on the amount, & remainder in cash at the current rate of exchange on right & true delivery of the cargo. The docks at Cardiff communicate with the sea at high water by means of dock gates, & from these gates down to low watermark there is a ship canal, which was made under an Act of Parliament, no vessel being able to enter or leave the docks except by passing along this canal. Vessels using the canal have to pay certain tolls, & cannot hoist sail there,

& are also subject to the directions of the dock-master, who is at liberty to stop them. The vessel loaded a complete cargo, & being fully equipped for sea, with a pilot on board, got out of the docks; but in proceeding down the canal in tow of a steam tug she grounded. She afterwards got off & returned towards the docks, but was refused admittance by the dockmaster, & subsequently became a wreck outside the dock gates: —Held: by the terms "the final sailing of the vessel from the port of loading" must be understood the final departure of the vessel from the port of Cardiff, so as to be out of the limits of the artificial port & at sea; &, therefore, as that time had never arrived, the three-fourths of the freight was not payable.

The term "final sailing of the vessel from the port of loading" stated in a charterparty as the period for payment of the freight or part of it, means the final departure from the port & being at sea ready to proceed on her voyage, & not merely having the clearances on board, & being ready to sail.—ROELANDTS v. HARRISON (1854), 9 Exch. 444; 2 C. L. R. 995; 23 L. J. Ex. 169; 22 L. T. O. S. 289.

Annotations:—Apld. Thompson v. Gillespy (1855), 5 E. & B. 209. Consd. Garston Sailing-ship Co. v. Hickie (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 580. Refd. Van Baggen v. Baines (1854), 9 Exch. 523; Hudson v. Bilton (1856), 2 Jur. N. S. 784; Sharp v. Gibbs (1857), 1 H. & N. 801; Price v. Livingstone (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 679; Hunter v. Northern Marine Insce. (1888), 13 App. Cas. 717.

3148. —— To save spring tide—Crew & equipment incomplete.]—THOMPSON v. GILLESPY, No. 1835, ante.

3149. At sea ready to proceed on voyage.]—ROELANDTS v. HARRISON, No. 3147, ante.

3150. —— Ship driven back to port by weather.]—PRICE v. LIVINGSTONE, No. 1732, ante.

3151. Not mere readiness to sail.]—ROELANDTS v. HARRISON, No. 3147, ante.

3152. Not sufficient to have clearances on board.]—ROELANDTS v. HARRISON, No. 3147, ante.

3153. Master absent on shore—For purposes of obtaining ship's papers.]—Deft. chartered a ship of T. from Sunderland to Barcelona; by the charterparty, half the freight was to be advanced to the master on his signing the bills of lading T. being indebted to pltf., gave him an order on deft., requiring deft. to pay to pltf., on the ship "being load & sailed, out of the advance," £73. Deft. wrote, at the foot of the order, that he agreed to the above. The vessel, being loaded & in a fit state for sailing, but the clearances not being completed nor the bills of lading signed, left Sunderland harbour, with the captain on board. She crossed the bar; & the captain returned to land, in order to get the papers completed, & sign the bills of lading; he signed them, & got the advance of freight from deft., who deducted a sum to meet the £73. The vessel stood off & on, waiting for the captain; but, it being found that she had been injured, she returned into Sunderland harbour to repair, the captain not having rejoined her, & did not afterwards sail:—Held: (1) the sailing of the vessel was a condition precedent to the liability of deft. to pay the £73; (2) the vessel had not sailed, & deft. therefore was not liable.—HUDSON v. BILTON (1856), 6 E. & B. 565; 26 L. J. Q. B. 27; 27 L. T. O. S. 154; 2 Jur. N. S. 784; 119 E. R. 975.

Annotations:—As to (2) Distd. Price v. Livingstone (1882), 9 Q. B. D. 679. Refd. Valente v. Gibbs, Gibbs v. Valente (1859), 5 Jur. N. S. 1213; Garston Sailing-ship Co. v. Hickie (1885), 15 Q. B. D. 580.

3154. —— ——.]—THOMPSON v. GILLESPY, No. 1835, ante.

Meaning of port.]—See Nos. 1732, 1733, ante.

C. Deviation and Delay.

(a) Deviation.

i. In General.

3155. Duty of owner not to deviate unnecessarily.]—DAVIS v. GARRETT, No. 3188, post.

3156. —— Although charter time table not interfered with—Deviation on voyage to port of loading.]—Deft., by charterparty of Oct. 20, 1832, agreed to go in ballast from Portsmouth to St. Michael's, & bring back a cargo of fruit direct to London. The charterer was to be allowed thirty-five running days for loading & unloading, to commence on Dec. 1, then next; & if the vessel did not arrive at St. Michael's by Jan. 31, 1833, the charterer was to be at liberty to rescind the charterparty:—Held: deft. was bound to proceed at once to St. Michael's, & was not at liberty to make an intermediate voyage for his own purposes, although, notwithstanding such intermediate voyage, he arrived at St. Michael's before Jan. 31, 1833.—M'ANDREW v. ADAMS (1834), 1 Bing. N. C. 29; 4 Moo. & S. 517; 3 L. J. C. P. 236; 131 E. R. 1028.

3157. Ship driven out of loading port—Into other port—Necessity for return to loading port—Before proceeding to destination.]—If a ship be driven out of her loading port into another port, & being there, she does the best she can to get to her port of destination, she is not obliged to return to the port from whence she was driven. Neither is it a deviation if she complete her loading at the port into which she is driven. In the principal case, however, there was a custom to warrant this. —DELANY v. STODDART (1785), 1 Term Rep. 22; 99 E. R. 950.

Annotation:—Refd. Hibbert v. Carter (1787), 1 Term 745.

3158. —— —— Completion of loading at that port.]—DELANY v. STODDART, No. 3157, ante.

3159. Breach going to root of contract.]—JOSEPH THORLEY, LTD. v. ORCHIS S.S. CO., LTD., No. 3185, post.

3160. Deviation on Government order—Compensation for consequential expense.] — THE TREDEGAR HALL, No. 3195, post.

3161. Intention to deviate — Necessity for.]—Pltfs. chartered a steamer from defts. to carry a cargo of coke & coal from Glasgow to Heulva, the charterparty & bills of lading containing exceptions relieving the shipowners from liability for perils of the seas, strandings, & accidents of navigation, even when occasioned by the negligence, default, or error of judgment of the master. The master was competent & fit to command the ship, & he was apparently a man of ordinary health except that he suffered from indigestion, & on the day before starting he had had two attacks of giddiness. There was no suggestion of insobriety, but near Troon the master set a most unusual course & the vessel stranded & was totally lost. The charterparty contained no express exception relieving against liability for unseaworthiness.

In an action for damages for loss of the cargo pltfs. alleged that the master must have been in such a condition of health as not to be in possession of all his faculties, & that this constituted unseaworthiness of the ship, & that, as there was a deviation from the contemplated voyage, the exceptions in the charterparty did not apply:—Held: (1) the implied waranty of seaworthiness did not warrant that the master was in absolutely perfect health, but only that the shipowners should adopt the ordinary standard of care, & pltfs. had failed to discharge the onus of proving unseaworthiness, & (2) as the master never intended to leave the contract route there was no deviation, & the action failed.—RIO TINTO CO., LTD. v. SEED SHIPPING CO. (1926), 134 L. T. 764; 42 T. L. R. 381; 17 Asp. M. L. C. 21.

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 2, C. (a) i. & ii.]

3162. Reasonable deviation—Reasonableness dependent on all circumstances.] — FOREMAN & ELLAMS, LTD. v. FEDERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD., No. 2725, ante.

Deviation as barratry.]—See No. 2622, ante.

In insurance policies.]—See INSURANCE, Vol. XXIX., pp. 145–155, Nos. 975–1111.

ii. When Deviation Permissible.

See Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 4.

3163. To save life.]—A deviation for the purpose of saving life is justifiable, but not a deviation for the mere purpose of saving property.

Defts.' ship was chartered by pltfs. to carry a cargo of wheat from Cronstadt to the Mediterranean, the usual perils of the sea excepted. Whilst on her voyage she sighted & went to the assistance of a vessel in distress, called The Arion, & the master, in consideration of £1,000, agreed to tow her into the Texel, which was out of his direct course. Whilst so doing defts.' vessel was stranded, & ultimately, with her cargo, was totally lost. The jury found that it was not reasonably necessary to take The Arion to the Texel in order to save the lives of those on board her; but it was reasonably necessary to do so in order to save her & her cargo:—Held: the deviation was unjustifiable, & pltfs. were entitled to recover the value of the cargo against defts. as owners of the ship.—SCARAMANGA v. STAMP (1880), 5 C. P. D. 295; 49 L. J. Q. B. 674; 42 L. T. 840; 28 W. R. 691; 4 Asp. M. L. C. 295, C. A.

Annotations:—Refd. Kish v. Taylor (1910), 80 L. J. K. B. 601; A.-G. v. Smith (1918), 87 L. J. K. B. 1045. Mentd. Brandon v. Osborne, Garrett, [1924] 1 K. B. 548.

3164. To save property.] — SCARAMANGA v. STAMP, No. 3163, ante.

3165. To avoid danger—On receipt of credible information.]—The master of a Prussian vessel, a subject of the King of Prussia, having on board a cargo of nitrate of soda, contraband of war, under a charterparty & bill of lading from Pisagua, bound to Cork, Cowes, or Falmouth, for orders to proceed to any safe port in Great Britain, or on the Continent between Havre & Hamburg, both included, & there deliver the cargo, "the act of God, the Queen's enemies, fire, & all & every other risk, dangers & accidents of the seas, rivers, & navigation of whatever nature & kind soever excepted," arrived at Falmouth on July 10, 1870, & received orders on July 11 of that month to proceed to the French port Dunkirk, & there deliver her cargo. On the ship's arrival off Dunkirk on July 16, the master was informed by a French pilot that war had broken out between France & Prussia, whereupon the master put back to the Downs to make inquiries, & anchored there on July 17, which was Sunday. On July 18, having telegraphed to the owner of the vessel for instructions, he was ordered not to go to Dunkirk, & on July 19 he put into Dover, where he was informed, as the fact was, that war, which had been imminent from July 10, had been declared between France & the North German Confederation, formal declaration thereof having been given as upon July 19:—Held: (1) the master was justified in putting back to the Downs for the purpose of ascertaining whether war had been declared, & was guilty of no improper deviation or delay in not returning to Dunkirk before July 19, when war was actually declared; (2) the master committed no breach of contract in refusing to deliver the cargo at Dunkirk, & as the charterparty provided what freight was to be paid if the cargo was delivered, the delivery at Dover was within the terms of the charterparty, & the master was entitled to freight for the cargo from the owners before delivery thereof. Semble: where a master receives credible information that if he continues in the direct course of his voyage his ship will be exposed to some imminent peril, as from pirates, or icebergs, or other dangers of navigation, he is justified in pausing & deviating from the direct course, & taking any step that a prudent man would take for the purpose of avoiding the danger.—DUNCAN v. KÖSTER, THE TEUTONIA (1872), L. R. 4 P. C. 171; 8 Moo. P. C. C. N. S. 411; 41 L. J. Adm. 57; 26 L. T. 48; 20 W. R. 421; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 214; 17 E. R. 366, P. C.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. Giovanni Dapueto v. Wyllie, The Pieve Superiore (1874), L. R. 5 P. C. 482. Distd. St. Enoch Shipping Co. v. Phosphate Mining Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 624. Refd. The Argos, Gaudet v. Brown, The Hewsons, Geipel v. Cornforth (1873), L. R. 5 P. C. 134; Akt. Olivebank v. Dansk Svovlsyre Fabrik, [1919] 2 K. B. 162. Generally, Refd. The Patria (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 436; Anderson v. The San Roman, The San Roman (1873), L. R. 5 P. C. 301; Waugh v. Morris (1873), L. R. 8 Q. B. 202; Metcalfe v. Brittania Ironworks Co. (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 613; Price v. Union Lighterage Co., [1904] 1 K. B. 412; Horlock v. Beal (1916), 114 L. T. 193. Mentd. Wade v. L. & N. W. Ry., [1921] 1 K. B. 582; Ruffy-Arnell, etc. Co. v. R., [1922] 1 K. B. 599.

3166. —— Express orders to master.]—Where a master receives express orders from his owners as to the voyages which he is to make & the ports to which he is to take the ship, & those orders are given under & with a view to a state of circumstances out of which danger might arise to the ship, & which are known to & discussed by the master & owner at the time when they are given, the master is not justified, out of an alleged apprehension of that danger, in taking the ship on other

---

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 2.—C. (a) ii.

3163 i. To save life.]—Deviation of a ship from her course to ascertain if the state of a vessel in distress was such as to involve danger to the lives of those on board of her risking being infected with an infectious disease involves no hazard with regard to insurances or engagements with cargo owners.—NORTH COAST S. N. CO. v. THE EUGENE (1909), 9 S. R. N. S. W. 246.—AUS.

3163 ii. ——.]—In an action against the master or owner of a schooner for damages for deviation, pltf. having a large quantity of fish on board, of which he alleged he had lost the sale in consequence of such deviation:—Held: it was the duty of shipmasters to aid & assist ships in distress at sea, & for that purpose a vessel may go out of her regular course, & it is not considered a deviation; but having secured those on board, the shipmaster has no right to risk his own freight to render salvage services to another.—TARR v. DESJARDINS (1863), 13 L. C. R. 394.—CAN.

3163 iii. ——.]—SYLVAIN v. CANADIAN FORWARDING & EXPORT CO. (1895), Q. R. 7 S. C. 256; revsd. (1897), Q. R. 10 S. C. 195.—CAN.

3163 iv. ——.]—DRAIN v. HENDERSON (1860), 11 I. C. L. R. 497; 3 Mar. L. C. 24.—IR.

3164 i. To save property.]—UNION S.S. CO. OF NEW ZEALAND, LTD. v. JAKINS & BOWER (1901), 19 N. Z. L. R. 780.—N.Z.

p. Force majeure — Shortage of coal.]—The charterparty described the voyage in writing as being from Havana, Cuba, "to Montreal direct via the river St. Lawrence." A printed clause declared that the steamship should "have liberty to tow & be towed, & to assist vessels in all situations," also to call at any port or ports for coals or other supplies":—Held: the fact that the steamship called at voyages & to other ports ; & if he does so take the ship, he will not be entitled to recover his wages for the time during which she is engaged against the owners' orders, even if the voyages are for the owners' benefit.—THE ROEBUCK (1874), 31 L. T. 274 ; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 387.

Annotation :—Refd. The Macleod (1880), 5 P. D. 254.

3167. Force majeure — Shortage of coal — Through miscalculation.]—YRAZU v. ASTRAL SHIPPING CO., No. 3099, ante.

3168. —— —— Through accident.]—YRAZU v. ASTRAL SHIPPING CO., No. 3099, ante.

3169. Perils of the sea—Repair of damage by weather.]—A ship belonging to defts., who were shipowners & shipbuilders at Bristol, shipped, in addition to other cargo, some tin plates belonging to pltfs. at Cardiff, for New York. The bill of lading contained the usual exemptions from liability in respect of damage by collision, etc. In the course of the voyage the ship experienced very heavy weather, & repairs became necessary. The master put into Queenstown at first, & afterwards, having communicated with defts., determined to return to Bristol for repairs. In the Avon the ship came into collision with another vessel & sank. She was subsequently raised & taken to Bristol. Pltfs. sued for damages for the failure of defts. to deliver the tin plates in New York according to the bill of lading. The case was tried before a judge & special jury, & the verdict & judgment were for defts. Pltfs. applied for a new trial, & contended that the master was not justified without the consent of the cargo owners in returning to Bristol, but should have had the ship repaired at Queenstown or Swansea, that the jury had been misdirected, & that the verdict was against the weight of evidence :—Held : the return to Bristol was not such a deviation from the course as could not be held to be reasonably necessary ; the ship being a "general ship," it was not necessary to communicate with the cargo owners before returning to Bristol ; the question of reasonable necessity was one for the jury, & the verdict should not be disturbed.—PHELPS (JAMES) & CO. v. HILL, [1891] 1 Q. B. 605 ; 60 L. J. Q. B. 382 ; 64 L. T. 610 ; 7 T. L. R. 319 ; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 42, C. A.

Annotation :—Mentd. Prager v. Blatspeil, Stamp & Heacock, [1924] 1 K. B. 566.

3170. —— Seeking shelter.]—(1) A contract of affreightment is not put an end to either by a breach of the warranty of seaworthiness or by a deviation which is in fact necessary for the safety of the ship & crew but the necessity for which is caused by unseaworthiness.

(2) The charterers of a ship having failed to load a full cargo as required by the charterparty, the master, to minimise the loss, procured a cargo from other sources & overloaded the deck to such an extent as to render the ship unseaworthy. In consequence of her unseaworthiness the ship was obliged to deviate from her course in order to put into a port of refuge for repairs, &, after repairing, she completed the voyage in safety. The shipowner was entitled under the charterparty, the conditions of which was incorporated in the bills of lading, to a lien on the cargo for dead freight :—Held : he was not debarred from asserting the lien against the cargo owners.

(3) Dead freight is not freight at all properly so called but is in reality damages for breach of contract (LORD ATKINSON).—KISH v. TAYLOR, [1912] A. C. 604 ; 81 L. J. K. B. 1027 ; 106 L. T. 900 ; 28 T. L. R. 425 ; 56 Sol. Jo. 518 ; 12 Asp. M. L. C. 217 ; 17 Com. Cas. 355, H. L.

Annotations :—As to (1) Consd. Reed v. Page & East (1927), 137 L. T. 77. Refd. Bank of Australasia v. Clan Line Steamers (1915), 21 Com. Cas. 13 ; The Christel Vinnen, [1924] P. 61 ; Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522.

3171. Express stipulations—Liberty to call—Taking in cargo at port of call.]—If a ship has liberty to touch at a port, it is no deviation to take in merchandise during her allowed stay there, if she does not by means thereof exceed the period allowed for her remaining there.—URQUHART v. BARNARD (1809), 1 Taunt. 450 ; 127 E. R. 909.

3172. —— —— Ports within course of voyage.]—Pltfs. having purchased goods to be shipped from a foreign port on the terms that payment of the price was to be made in exchange for shipping documents, the bill of lading signed upon the shipment of the goods was, upon payment of the price, indorsed to them. The bill of lading, which contained the usual exception of sea perils, stated that the goods were shipped for delivery at Dunkirk on board a vessel lying at Fiume & bound for Dunkirk, with liberty to call at any ports in any order. The ship, instead of proceeding direct for Dunkirk, sailed for Glasgow, & was lost, with her cargo, off the mouth of the Clyde, by perils of the sea. In an action brought by pltfs. against the shipowners for non-delivery of the goods, evidence was given to show that the shippers of the goods, at the time when the bill of lading was given, knew that the vessel was intended to proceed via Glasgow :—Held : such evidence was not admissible to vary the terms of the bill of lading, which imported a voyage direct from Fiume to Dunkirk, subject to the liberty to call at any ports of call substantially within the course of such voyage ; Glasgow, being altogether out of the course of such voyage, was not such a port ; & the vessel was therefore lost while deviating from the voyage contracted for, & the excepted perils clause did not exonerate defts. from liability in respect of non-delivery of the goods.

The bill of lading is no doubt a receipt for the goods, & as such, like any other receipt, is not conclusive, for it may be controverted by evidence showing that the goods were not received (LORD ESHER, M.R.).—LEDUC v. WARD (1888), 20 Q. B. D. 475 ; 57 L. J. Q. B. 379 ; 58 L. T. 908 ; 36 W. R. 537 ; 4 T. L. R. 313, C. A.

Annotations :—Apld. Margetson v. Glynn, [1892] 1 Q. B. 337. Consd. Lecky v. Ogilvy Gillanders (1897), 3 Com. Cas. 29 ; Morrison v. Shaw, Savill & Albion Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 783. Apld. United States Shipping Board v. Bunge y Born Soc. (1924), 132 L. T. 323.

3173. —— —— ——.]—GLYNN v. MARGETSON & CO., No. 1715, ante.

---

the port of Sydney, C.B., for coal in the course of the voyage, was not a deviation therefrom other than permitted by the charterparty. — PETERS v. CANADA SUGAR REFINING CO. (1886), M. L. R. 2 Q. B. 420 ; 31 L. C. J. 72.—CAN.

3169 i. Perils of the sea—Repair of damage by weather.]—BURNS v. CASSELLS (1886), 26 N. B. R. 20.—CAN.

3170 i. —— Seeking shelter.]—It is not a deviation for a coasting vessel on a voyage from Mahone Bay, N.S., to Fortune Bay in Newfoundland, & thence, etc., to put into an intermediate port over night to escape threatened bad weather.—NOVA SCOTIA MARINE INSURANCE CO. v. EISENHAUER (1894), 1 Cout. Dig. 811.—CAN.

q. Want of water.]—The want of water is no legitimate excuse for a deviation from a lawful voyage, where it might have been prevented by ordinary prudence, or the master might have obtained a supply without such deviation. — THE PILGRIM (1813), Stewart, 533.—CAN.

r. ——.]—THE BELLE (1815), S. V. A. R. 537.—CAN.

t. Deviation agreed to by charterer's agent.]—LINDSAY & SONS v. SCHOLEFIELD (1897), 24 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 530. —SCOT.

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 2, C. (a) ii. & iii.]

3174. —— —— ——.]—WHITE v. GRANADA S.S. CO., LTD. (1896), 13 T. L. R. 1, C. A.

Annotation:—Apld. United States Shipping Board v. Bunge y Born Soc. (1924), 132 L. T. 323.

3175. —— —— ——.]—EVANS, SONS & CO. v. CUNARD S.S. CO., LTD. (1902), 18 T. L. R. 374.

Annotations:—Reld. Morrison v. Shaw, Savill & Albion Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 783; Re Sutro & Heilbut, Symons, [1917] 2 K. B. 348.

3176. —— —— ——.]—Pltfs. were indorsees & holders of two bills of lading under which wool was shipped at Napier, New Zealand, in defts.' steamship for carriage to London. Each bill of lading had in the margin the words "Direct service between New Zealand & London." It stated that the steamship was "now lying in the port of Napier, New Zealand, & bound for London," &, after giving the fullest liberty to proceed to & stay at any ports or places in New Zealand for any purpose without any liability on defts. on the ground of deviation, it continued: "& bound, subject to the before-mentioned liberties, on finally leaving New Zealand for London, & with liberty on the way to London to call & stay at any intermediate port or ports to discharge or take on board passengers, cargo, coal or other supplies, with permission, if desired, for the vessel to call at Rio de Janeiro &/or Monte Video &/or La Plata for the purpose of taking on board coal, supplies, &/or cargo &/or live stock," the goods to be delivered subject to all the above liberties to deviate & to the exceptions & conditions therein contained at the Port of London. The bills of lading contained an exception of the King's enemies. After pltfs.' goods were loaded on board & the bills of lading handed over a parcel of frozen meat was loaded on board for France, & the master received orders on the voyage to deliver the meat at Havre before going to London. When the steamship was about 8 miles from Havre she was torpedoed by a German submarine, & she sank with her cargo. The usual & well known course of the voyage of defts.' line of steamships from New Zealand to London was by Cape Horn, calling at one of the three named South American ports, thence to Teneriffe or Madeira, & thence direct to London. The distance via Havre to London was 54 miles longer than the direct route to London, & the distance from Havre to the nearest point on the direct route to London was 68 miles. No steamship of defts.' line had ever before called at Havre. There was, however, at the time in question no greater likelihood of danger from submarine attack in going to Havre than in going to London direct. In an action by pltfs. to recover the value of the wool:—Held: (1) Havre was not an "intermediate port" within the meaning of the bills of lading at which the steamship had liberty to call, that in proceeding thereto there had been a wrongful deviation from the named voyage, & defts. could not rely upon the exception of the King's enemies in the bills of lading; (2) as defts. in deviating were breaking their contract as carriers, they could not rely upon the implied common law exception of the King's enemies, & they were liable, not having shown that the loss must have occurred even if they had not deviated.—MORRISON (JAMES) & CO., LTD. v. SHAW, SAVILL & ALBION CO., LTD., [1916] 2 K. B. 783; 86 L. J. K. B. 97; 115 L. T. 508; 32 T. L. R. 712; 61 Sol. Jo. 9; 13 Asp. M. L. C. 504; 22 Com. Cas. 81, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Reld. Smith v. R. (1917), 86 L. J. K. B. 1147; United States Shipping Board v. Bunge y Born Soc. (1924), 132 L. T. 323. As to (2) Reld. The Oscar II., The Bernisse, The Elve, [1921] P. 173; Buerger v. Cunard S.S. Co., [1925] 2 K. B. 646. Generally, Reld. The Cap Palos, [1921] P. 458. Mentd. Shaw v. Symmons, [1917] 1 K. B. 799; Gibaud v. G. E. Ry., [1921] 2 K. B. 426.

3177. —— —— ——.]—Pltf. claimed to recover from defts., the shipowners, damages for loss of a parcel of oil shipped at M. under a bill of lading which described the shipment as a shipment in defts.' ship to L. with liberty to touch at any ports whatsoever, though it might be outside the route, without being considered a deviation. The shipowners relied on the deviation clause & the exceptions clause in the bill of lading as protecting them from liability, but pltf. said that they were not so protected because when the loss occurred defts. were not carrying the goods on the bill of lading voyage but were carrying them by means of an unauthorised deviation. For a considerable time deft. had been pursuing from M. to L., or other ports of this country, two distinct routes for the ships of their line, one "via Levante," which meant going North-East up the coast of Spain calling at various ports & then coming back from the furthermost port down the Mediterranean & through the Straits of Gibraltar to this country, & the other one, called "Directo," coming direct from M. to L. or other ports in this country. Both routes were well known to the representatives of pltf. at M. They knew that sometimes the route of the ship would be "via Levante," & sometimes it would be "Directo," & in this particular case, when they delivered their goods to the ship to be carried under this bill of lading, they knew that the route of that ship would be "via Levante":—Held: as between the parties in this case the bill of lading could be read as meaning that the goods were destined for L. by one of the usual routes, & even if pltf. had not known which way the ship was going on this occasion, still, as the ship was taking one of the known & usual routes to L., it was not deviating at the time of the loss. The shipowners were therefore protected by the exceptions clause in the bill of lading.—FRENKEL v. MACANDREWS & CO., LTD. (1928), 139 L. T. 327; 44 T. L. R. 580; 33 Com. Cas. 363, C. A.

3178. —— —— ——.]—CAFFIN v. ALDRIDGE, No. 1930, ante.

3179. —— —— —— Necessity to call at port outside course.]—A steamship constructed to use oil fuel was chartered to carry a cargo from the river Plate to a safe port in the United Kingdom, or on the Continent between Marseilles & Hamburg inclusive. By clause (a) of the charterparty it was provided that "the steamer shall have liberty to call at any port or ports, in any order for the purposes of taking bunkercoal or other supplies." The vessel was loaded with a cargo part of which was to be discharged at Malaga & part at Seville, & it was agreed that Malaga should be the first port of discharge. After discharging at Malaga the vessel had enough oil fuel left sufficient to take her to Seville, & to discharge her cargo there, but it would not have carried her to any further point. No oil fuel being obtainable either at Malaga or at Seville, she called at Gibraltar to obtain oil fuel from a tank steamer which was expected to arrive, but owing to the non-arrival of the latter, the vessel proceeded to Lisbon to procure oil supplies. Lisbon was out of the direct course from Malaga or Gibraltar to Seville. On a claim by the charterers claiming damages for the deviation:—Held: the call of the vessel at Lisbon for the purpose of obtaining oil supplies constituted a deviation which was not within the terms of the charterparty given either expressly or by implication. In order to justify such a deviation it was for the owners to show that it was reasonably necessary in a business sense, & for this purpose it was essential to show that all necessary steps had been taken to supply the vessel with adequate oil supplies at the commencement of the voyage. The owners, having failed to prove this, were therefore liable to the charterers in damages in respect of such deviation.

Qu.: whether the shipowners had any right to deviate for the purpose of obtaining the fuel that might be necessary to take their vessel out of the port of final discharge after the discharge had been completed.—UNITED STATES SHIPPING BOARD v. BUNGE Y BORN LIMITADA SOCIEDAD (1925), 134 L. T. 303; 42 T. L. R. 174; 16 Asp. M. L. C. 577; 31 Com. Cas. 118, H. L.

3180. —— Liberty to tow.]—Pltfs. shipped goods at Liverpool on board The Liberia, a steam vessel belonging to deft. co., to be carried, for freight, payable by pltfs. to defts., to Benin, on the coast of Africa, which goods, on the arrival of The Liberia at Bonny, were, in the usual course of defts.' business, & according to the terms of the bill of lading transhipped on board The Kwara, a small branch steamer belonging to defts., to be forwarded thereby to their destination at Benin. The Kwara, with pltf.'s goods on board, left Bonny, & proceeded on her voyage to Benin, calling on her way at Brass, where she had both to discharge & to take in cargo. Whilst lying in the harbour at Brass, & after having discharged & taken in cargo, & within two or three hours of being ready to proceed on her onward voyage to Benin, The Kwara was taken by her captain, at the request of the captain & owners of another vessel, to the mouth of the Brass river, some 3 miles from the harbour, for the purpose of towing off such other vessel which had got stranded on the breakers in attempting to cross the bar at the entrance of the river, & in her efforts to tow that vessel off, The Kwara herself, in consequence of her screw getting fouled with a rope, was wrecked, & pltf.'s goods were lost. It did not appear that human life was in any imminent danger, or that the assistance of The Kwara was sought for, except to save property. The bill of lading, given by defts. on receiving the goods at Liverpool, contained a clause giving to their vessels "liberty to tow & assist vessels in all situations"; & also a memorandum in the margin as follows: "The within goods to be transhipped at Bonny, & forwarded to destination by branch steamer at ship's expense but shipper's risk." In an action by pltfs. to recover the value of their goods they obtained a verdict, with leave to defts. to move to enter it for themselves:—Held: making absolute the rule to enter the verdict for defts.: (1) under the express words of the clause in the bill of lading giving liberty "to tow & assist vessels," etc., The Kwara was justified & protected in going to the assistance of the other vessel in the manner & under the circumstances stated; & (2) the words in the margin of the bill of lading "at shipper's risk" applied, as did also the words "at ship's expense," to the transhipment only of the goods from the one vessel to the other at Bonny, & not to the "forwarding of them from Bonny to Benin."—STUART v. BRITISH & AFRICAN STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1875), 32 L. T. 257; 2 Asp. M. L. C. 497.

Annotation:—As to (1) Refd. Potter v. Burrell, [1897] 1 Q. B. 97.

3181. —— ——.]—By a charterparty shipowners agreed with charterers to provide for the successive arrival at a foreign loading port of five steamers between Aug. & Dec. inclusive, "as nearly as possible a steamer a month," at approximate dates afterwards agreed upon; & the charterers agreed to present cargo within twenty-four hours after notice of each ship's readiness to receive it. The charterparty contained a clause excepting perils of the sea, & also a clause giving each steamer liberty to tow & be towed & assist vessels in all situations, & providing that salvages should be for the benefit of owners. Owing to perils of the sea, ship No. 2 arrived about a fortnight late; & while she was loading ship No. 3 arrived punctually. There was not sufficient labour to load the two ships at once, & ship No. 3 had to wait for her cargo till the loading of ship No. 2 was completed:—Held: upon the construction of the charterparty, the shipowners were entitled to damages for the detention of ship No. 3.

Ship No. 4 arrived three weeks late at her Australian port owing to her having while on her voyage to that port fallen in with a disabled ship & towed her to Mauritius as a salvage service; such towage was out of the course of the voyage, & took three weeks to effect. The arbitrator having found that the delay caused by this towing was not so great as to frustrate the object of the adventure:—Held: the salvage service was an allowable deviation within the contract between the shipowners & the charterers; & notwithstanding the delay in the arrival of the ship, the charterers were bound to present cargo within twenty-four hours after notice, & not having done so were liable to pay demurrage to the shipowners.

A clause in a charterparty that "any profit or loss on the charter shall be equally divided between owners & charterers" does not create a partnership between the owners & charterers so as to deprive the former of their right of action against the latter for demurrage.—POTTER (JOHN) & CO. v. BURRELL & SON, [1897] 1 Q. B. 97; 66 L. J. Q. B. 63; 75 L. T. 491; 45 W. R. 145; 13 T. L. R. 26; 41 Sol. Jo. 66; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 200, C. A.

*Annotations:—Refd. Nelson v. Nelson Line (Liverpool) (No. 3), Re Nelson & Nelson Line (Liverpool) (1907), 77 L. J. K. B. 97; United States Shipping Board v. Strick, [1926] A. C. 545.

iii. Effect of Unauthorised Deviation.

3182. Whether going to root of contract—Frustrating object of charterer.]—FREEMAN v. TAYLOR, No. 1856, ante.

3183. —— ——.]—A charterparty contained a clause that the ship should "with all convenient speed, on being ready, having liberty to take an outward cargo for owners' benefit direct or on the way, proceed to E., & there load a full cargo of cotton." This the freighters bound themselves to ship. The ship deviated to C., & arrived at E. a few days later than she would have done if she had gone there direct. The ship had not been taken up for any particular cargo, & a small loss in freight was the only result of this delay. In an action against the freighter for not loading a cargo:—Held: the above clause was a stipulation, & not a condition precedent, & the delay afforded no justification to the freighters for refusing to load a cargo; but their remedy for any damage that had accrued by reason of the delay was by cross action. Semble, if the delay had entirely defeated the object of the freighters in taking up the vessel, it would have afforded an answer to the action.

It seems to be now settled that delay by deviation is the same as a delay in starting; & it is also settled . . . that a delay or deviation which . . . goes to the whole root of the matter, deprives the charterer of the whole benefit of the contract, or entirely frustrates the object of the charterer in chartering the ship, is an answer to an action for not loading a cargo; but that loss, delay or deviation short of that gives an action for damages, but does not defeat the charter (WILLES, J.).—MACANDREW v. CHAPPLE (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 643; Har. & Ruth. 745; 35 L. J. C. P. 281; 14 L. T. 556; 12 Jur. N. S. 567; 14 W. R. 891; 2 Mar. L. C. 339.

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 2, C. (a) iii.]

Annotations:—Refd. Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 125. Mentd. Kidston v. Monceau Iron-works Co. (1902), 86 L. T. 556.

3184. —— —— No proof of frustration.]—By charterparty between pltf., owner of a ship, & defts., it was agreed that the ship should load from defts.' agent at Nantes a full cargo, &, being loaded, forthwith proceed to London, & deliver the cargo on being paid freight upon unloading & delivery, twenty-five running days being allowed for loading & discharging at Nantes & London, with penalty for demurrage beyond. A declaration in assumpsit set out the charterparty, & averred that the vessel arrived at Nantes, whereof defts.' agent there had notice; that the ship was ready to load the cargo, & defts.' agent was requested, during the running days to load it, & pltf. was ready to detain the ship on demurrage over those days: but defts. refused to load. Plea that, after the making the charterparty & before proceeding to Nantes, the vessel proceeded to Newcastle, contrary to the intent o the charterparty, &, by reason thereof, arrived at Nantes a long & unreasonable time after the time at which she would have arrived at Nantes had she sailed direct according to the intent of the charterparty:—Held: bad, on demurrer, for not showing that the delay frustrated the object of the voyage.—CLIPSHAM v. VERTUE (1843), 5 Q. B. 265; Dav. & Mer. 343; 13 L. J. Q. B. 2; 2 L. T. O. S. 120; 8 Jur. 32; 114 E. R. 1249.

Annotations:—Refd. Barker v. Windle (1856), 6 E. & B. 675; Tarrabochia v. Hickie (1856), 26 L. J. Ex. 26; Crookewit v. Fletcher (1857), 26 L. J. Ex. 153; Dimech v. Corlett (1858), 12 Moo. P. C. C. 199; Behn v. Burners (1863), 2 New Rep. 184; MacAndrew v. Chapple (1866), 14 L. T. 556; Richardson v. Stanton, Stanton v. Richardson (1872), 41 L. J. C. P. 180; Jackson v. Union Marine Insce. (1874), L. R. 10 C. P. 125.

3185. —— Displacing contract.]—(1) Goods were shipped on a vessel described in the bill of lading as "now lying in the port of Limassol & bound for London." By the bill of lading the shipowners were exempted from liability for any act, neglect, or default of (inter alia) their stevedores in the loading, stowing, or discharging of the vessel. The vessel deviated during the voyage. In the course of discharging at London the shipowners' stevedores damaged part of the cargo, consisting of locust beans, by allowing the beans to become mixed with a poisonous earth called terra umber:—Held: the shipowners were liable for the default of their stevedores, as by deviating they lost the benefit of the stipulations in the bill of lading.

A deviation is a breach of a condition in a contract or a warranty in the sense of that word when it is used in connection with seaworthiness, & the effect of that condition or warranty not being complied with is to displace the contract altogether. It goes to the root of the contract, & its performance is a condition precedent to the right of the shipowners to put in suit the liability of the other party to the contract (COLLINS, M.R.).

(2) Seaworthiness is an absolute condition, & the absence of seaworthiness at the commencement of the voyage displaces the whole contract of insurance (COLLINS, M.R.).—JOSEPH THORLEY, LTD. v. ORCHIS S.S. CO., LTD., [1907] 1 K. B. 660; 76 L. J. K. B. 595; 96 L. T. 488; 23 T. L. R. 338; 51 Sol. Jo. 289; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 431; 12 Com. Cas. 51, 251, C. A.

Annotations:—As to (1) Distd. The Europa, [1908] P. 84. Apld. Internationale Guano en Superphosphaatwerken v. Macandrew, [1909] 2 K. B. 360. Refd. Kish v. Taylor, [1912] A. C. 604; Morrison v. Shaw, Savill & Albion Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 783. As to (2) Refd. Buerger v. Cunard S.S. Co., [1925] 2 K. B. 646.

3186. —— —— Deviation necessary for safety of ship & crew—Necessity due to unseaworthiness.]—KISH v. TAYLOR, No. 3170, ante.

3187. Deviation giving rise to action for damages only—Object of freighters not defeated.]—MACANDREW v. CHAPPLE, No. 3183, ante.

3188. Liability of shipowner—Damages to cargo—Deviation proximate cause of loss.]—Pltf. put on board deft.'s barge, lime, to be conveyed from the Medway to London. The master of the barge deviated unnecessarily from the usual course, & during the deviation a tempest wetted the lime, & the barge taking fire thereby, the whole was lost:—Held: (1) deft. was liable, & the cause of loss sufficiently proximate to entitle pltf. to recover under a declaration alleging deft.'s duty to carry the lime without unnecessary deviation, & averring a loss by unnecessary deviation; (2) the law implies a duty on the owner of a vessel, whether a general ship or hired for the special purpose of the voyage, to proceed without unnecessary deviation in the usual course.—DAVIS v. GARRETT (1830), 6 Bing. 716; L. & Welsb. 276; 4 Moo. & P. 540; 8 L. J. O. S. C. P. 253; 130 E. R. 1456.

Annotations:—As to (1) Apld. Scaramanga v. Stamp (1880), 5 C. P. D. 295; Morrison v. Shaw, Savill & Albion Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 783. Consd. Elliott Steam Tug Co. v. Payne, [1920] 2 K. B. 693. Refd. Grill v. General Iron Screw Collier Co. (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 600; Taylor v. G. N. Ry. (1866), L. R. 1 C. P. 385; Svensden v. Wallace (1885), 54 L. J. Q. B. 497; Royal Exchange Shipping Co. v. Dixon (1886), 12 App. Cas. 11; Searle v. Lund (1903), 88 L. T. 863; Shaw v. Symmons, [1917] 1 K. B. 799; The Cap Palos, [1921] P. 458. As to (2) Refd. M'Andrew v. Adams (1834), 1 Bing. N. C. 29; Thompson v. Hopper (1858), E. B. & E. 1038. Generally, Refd. The Norway (1865), 13 W. R. 296; Buerger v. Cunard S.S. Co., [1925] 2 K. B. 646. Mentd. G. N. Ry. v. Taylor (1866), Har. & Ruth. 471; Harris v. G. W. Ry. (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 515; Morritt v. N. E. Ry. (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 302; Lilley v. Doubleday (1881), 7 Q. B. D. 510; Gibaud v. G. E. Ry., [1921] 2 K. B. 426.

3189. —— —— Stipulation limiting liability.]—BALIAN & SONS v. JOLY, VICTORIA & CO., LTD. (1890), 6 T. L. R. 345, C. A.

Annotations:—Folld. Thorley v. Orchis S.S. Co., [1907] 1 K. B. 660. Refd. The Europa, [1908] P. 84; Kish v. Taylor, [1911] 1 K. B. 625; Buerger v. Cunard S.S. Co., [1925] 2 K. B. 646.

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 2.—C. (a) iii.

3188 i. Liability of shipowner—Damage to cargo—Deviation proximate cause of loss.]—D. shipped horses to be carried on deck by the A. S. N. Co.'s steamer Victoria from Sydney to Townsville via Bowen. The Victoria deviated from her course & called at Brisbane, causing a delay of forty hours. After the Victoria had regained her course to Townsville, she encountered a violent storm of unusual duration. The stalls of the horses broke away from their fastenings during the storm & sixteen of the horses were killed:—Held: the A. S. N. Co. were liable for the loss, as the damage was proximately caused by the deviation.—DUNNE v. ASIATIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1876), 14 N. S. W. S. C. R. (Law) 131.—AUS.

a. —— —— Deviation beyond established usages of trade.]—Pltf. shipped 90 barrels of flour at Port Credit, in a vessel of deft.'s, to be carried to Quebec, such vessel being capable of carrying 4,500. She proceeded to Toronto, where she took in 400 barrels more, & thence to Oswego, where 2,450 were shipped for Quebec also. She was wrecked near Oswego. Deft. was held liable therefor, such

3190. —— —— ——.]—JOSEPH THORLEY, LTD. v. ORCHIS S.S. CO., LTD., No. 3185, ante.

3191. —— —— Shipowner as insurer.]—By charterparty deft.'s vessel was to load a cargo of wheat at Marianople for Gibraltar for orders for a port in the United Kingdom or on the continent between Havre & Hamburg, the master of the vessel, to avoid being frozen in at the port of loading, to be " at liberty to leave . . . with part cargo, & to fill up for steamer's benefit at any open Black Sea, Azoff or Mediterranean port for United Kingdom, Continent or Mediterranean; but in case of leaving with part cargo the steamer shall complete the voyage as if a full cargo had been loaded . . ."

The master, under this liberty, left Marianople with part of the cargo of wheat, & proceeded to Novorossisk, where he filled up for steamer's benefit with linseed. At Gibraltar he was ordered to deliver the wheat at Cardiff; but he first proceeded to King's Lynn, & there discharged the linseed. On the way between King's Lynn & Cardiff the wheat was damaged by fire. Pltf., who were holders of the bill of lading incorporating the conditions of the charterparty, sued defts. for the damage:—Held: defts. were liable as, between King's Lynn & Cardiff, they had become insurers of the consignees of the wheat, for, though the usual exceptions in the bill of lading & charterparty would have covered the loss if it had occurred in the ordinary course of the voyage, defts. were not entitled to deviate by taking the wheat round by King's Lynn, & could only discharge the linseed at a port on the way.—THE DUNBETH, [1897] P. 133; 66 L. J. P. 66; 76 L. T. 658; 8 Asp. M. L. C. 284.

3192. —— Loss of cargo—Stipulation limiting liability.]—Pltf. shipped eight bales of cloth, each above the value of £20 for carriage by a steamer belonging to deft. co. from London to Odessa under a bill of lading which excepted liability on the part of the co. for goods above the value of £20 per package, unless the value was therein declared & extra freight paid. Pltf. did not declare the value of the goods or pay the extra freight. The bill of lading, clause 2, reserved to the co. liberty for the steamer, before or after proceeding towards her port of discharge, to proceed to any port or ports whatsoever, although in a contrary direction, in any order, for any purpose whatsoever, & such ports were to be deemed included in the intended voyage, & it provided, clause 4, that in case the whole or part of the goods specified therein were not from any cause, including negligence on the part of the co.'s servants, found for delivery, or it was inconvenient for the ship's purposes to deliver during the vessel's stay at their port of destination, the co. was only bound to forward them to the port of destination from any subsequent port by any other steamer, either belonging to the co. or to other persons, & proceeding either directly or indirectly to such port, such carriage to be at the co.'s expense but at the merchant's risk. The contemplated voyage was to Constantinople & thence to the Black Sea ports including Odessa. On the arrival of the ship at Constantinople in Apr. 1919, it appeared that Odessa was likely to be captured forthwith by the Soviet forces, & accordingly it was agreed between the respective agents of pltf. & deft. co. that the destination of five of the bales should be changed from Odessa to Batoum & that the remaining three should be discharged at Constantinople, either then or on the ship's return voyage. They were not then discharged & the ship proceeded to Batoum & back by Novorossisk to Constantinople. The five bales consigned to Batoum remained on board after the ship had left that port. The three which were to have been brought back to Constantinople were landed at Norvorossisk for no explained reason & were detained by deft. co.'s agents for two months. Neither the five bales nor the three bales had since been heard of.

In an action by pltf. for non-delivery of the goods:—Held: the terms of the original bill of lading applied to the carriage to the substituted destinations, but in the absence of special protective provisions in the bill of lading, the overcarriage of the five bales & the landing & detention of the three bales at Novorossisk constituted a deviation from the contract of carriage so as to deprive deft. co. of the benefit of the exceptions in the bill of lading; & in the circumstances neither clause 2 nor clause 4 afforded any protection to the co.—CUNARD S.S. CO. v. BUERGER, [1927] A. C. 1; 96 L. J. K. B. 18; 135 L. T. 494; 42 T. L. R. 653; 17 Asp. M. L. C. 92; 32 Com. Cas. 183, H. L.; affg. S. C. sub nom. BUERGER v. CUNARD S.S. CO., [1925] 2 K. B. 646, C. A.

3193. —— —— Shipowner as common carrier.]—Pltfs. chartered defts.' ship to carry a cargo of superphosphates in bags for delivery at Algeciras & Alicante, with leave to call at Corunna. The vessel was delayed at Corunna & Algeciras. On leaving Algeciras she deviated from the chartered voyage by going to Seville, whence she went to Alicante. By reason of the various delays the cargo delivered at Alicante was damaged, the damage being due to the action of sulphuric acid in the superphosphates eating away the bags:—Held: the deviation to Seville put an end to the charterparty as from the beginning of the voyage, & defts. were therefore, as to the whole voyage, under the obligations of common carriers; as regards damage to the cargo by the delay at Corunna & Algeciras defts. were not liable, the damage being due to the nature of the cargo, & not to any failure on the part of defts. to carry the goods with reasonable despatch; but as regards the increased damage due to the delay occasioned by the deviation itself defts. were liable under the obligations of common carriers. —INTERNATIONALE GUANO EN SUPERPHOSPHAAT-WERKEN v. MACANDREW (ROBERT) & CO., deviation being beyond the established usages of trade.—WRIGHT v. HOLCOMBE (1857), 6 C. P. 531.—CAN.

b. ——.]—A ship was chartered to sail to two ports in New Zealand, & was consigned to agents of the charterers at the first of these ports. On arriving there, in consequence of some surmountable difficulties, the master arranged with the agents that the ship should not proceed to the second port, but that the passengers & cargo should be forwarded in other vessels. The agents furnished the money necessary for this purpose, & the master drew bills in their favour on the owner of the vessel at home. In an action by the charterers' agents against the owners:—Held: the deviation from the charterparty not having been necessary for the safety of the ship was ultra vires of the captain; & the expense incurred in consequence was not recoverable from the owner.—STRICKLAND v. NEILSON & M'INTOSH (1869), 7 Macph. (Ct. of Sess.) 400.—SCOT.

c. Goods carried by different route than contract stipulated—Nominal damages recoverable.]—LANGDON v. ROBERTSON (1886), 13 O. R. 497.—CAN.

d. Withholding of subsidy.]—A deviation which causes delay, but does not in other respects prevent the performance by a steamer of a contract to call at certain ports of call, does not justify the withholding of a subsidy for such service.—Re REID NEWFOUNDLAND CO. & GOVERNMENT (1904), 9 Nfld. L. R. 47.—NFLD.

e. Whether freighters liable as insurers.]—Where a ship master had altered the voyage of a vessel specified in a charterparty, at the request of the freighter, & where the vessel was lost

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 2, C. (a) iii., & (b) i. & ii.]

[1909] 2 K. B. 360; 78 L. J. K. B. 691; 100 L. T. 850; 25 T. L. R. 529; 53 Sol. Jo. 504; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 271; 14 Com. Cas. 194.

Annotations:—Refd. Morrison v. Shaw, Savill & Albion Co., [1916] 2 K. B. 783; Buerger v. Cunard S.S. Co., [1925] 2 K. B. 646.

3194. —— Fall in market value.]—DIMSDALE v. SMITH (1837), 6 L. T. 479.

3195. Deviation under Admiralty order—Right of shipowner to compensation.]—Where a British ship, on a voyage to a German port, has been diverted by the Admlty. on account of the war to a port in the United Kingdom, the owners are not entitled to compensation for outlays incurred by them in consequence of such diversion or for the additional cost of discharging the cargo at such port as compared with the cost of discharging it at the German port.—THE TREDEGAR HALL, [1916] P. 217; 32 T. L. R. 9; 60 Sol. Jo. 45; 1 P. Cas. 492.

(b) Delay.

i. In General

3196. Through act of master—Causing ship to become ice bound.]—The master of a ship, whilst waiting for cargo, omitted to take in sufficient stores & provisions for his voyage, & whilst subsequently taking in such provisions & stores the frost set in, & the ship was frozen in port & detained from the beginning of Oct. until the breaking of the ice in the ensuing year:—Held. the owners of the ship were responsible to the owners of the cargo for any loss accruing from such detention: it being, by maritime law, the duty of the master to convey the cargo to its port of delivery with all expedition: & if by neglecting to avail himself of all fair opportunity the voyage is delayed & damage accrues to the owners of the cargo, the owners of the ship are liable to make good the sum.—THE WILHELM (1865), 14 L. T. 636; 2 Mar. L. C. 343.

Annotation:—Refd. The Princess Royal (1870), L. R. 3 A. & E. 41.

3197. —— Apprehension as to weather—Liability of owners for master's navigation or management of ship.]—A cargo of fruit was shipped in deft.'s vessel from Gandia to London under bills of lading by which defts. were not liable for the master's neglect, default, or error in judgment in the navigation or management of the vessel. On the voyage, in Dec. 1914, the master put into Corunna & remained there twenty-three days for reasons of safety, though the weather was not such as to oblige the vessel to remain in port so long. The fruit was damaged by the delay in transit, & pltfs., as indorsees of the bills of lading, claimed damages from defts:—Held: as the delay at Corunna had nothing to do with the navigation or management of the ship as such, defts. were not relieved by the exception in the bills of lading from liability for damage to the cargo.—THE RENÉE HYAFFIL (1916), 32 T. L. R. 660, C. A.

3198. War—Master awaiting further instructions.]—POLE v. CETCOVICH, No. 1888, ante.

3199. —— Apprehension of capture.] — The master of a North German ship, lying at Constantinople, entered into a charterparty with North German subjects, there resident, to carry a cargo to a port in the United Kingdom or on the continent, to be delivered to English consignees. The charterparty & the bill of lading given under it were in the English language, & it was stipulated that the ship should call at one of three ports of the United Kingdom, for orders. The ship duly called at F., & was ordered to proceed to an English port to discharge. War then existed between France & Germany. The master sailed from F., as ordered, but, through a reasonable fear of capture, put into D. The ship remained at D. for two months, waiting for a steamtug, which was considered necessary by the charterers' agents to avoid capture, the master expressing himself ready to sail with the first fair wind. The ship was then sent forward by steam power, at the charterers' agents' expense. The cargo was damaged & pltfs. lost profits by the delay:—Held: (1) the master was justified in putting into & remaining in port, & the shipowners were not liable for the damage caused by the delay.

(2) Whilst the ship was yet to arrive, the charterers' agents, the consignees of cargo, appropriated the cargo & endorsed the bill of lading, through other persons, to pltfs. Pltfs. sustained no loss by deterioration, for, under the contract of sale, they paid for the cargo after deductions settled by arbitration, for the damage done to it:—Held: pltfs. were entitled to sue under Bills of Lading Act, 1855 (c. 111), & Admiralty Court Act, 1861 (c. 10), & perhaps even as trustees for the consignees.—THE WILHELM SCHMIDT (1871), 25 L. T. 34; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 82.

Annotations:—As to (1) Refd. The San Roman (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 583. As to (2) Refd. The Dannebrog (1874), 31 L. T. 759.

3200. —— ——.]—A vessel sailing under the flag of the North German Confederation was, by a charterparty made at Constantinople, in the English language, between her master & a firm of merchants at Constantinople, chartered to take on board a cargo at a port in the Sea of Azov, & to proceed therewith to a safe port in the United Kingdom, or a safe port on the Continent between Havre & Hamburg, calling at Cork, or Falmouth, or Plymouth, for orders, & deliver the cargo on being paid the stipulated freight, the act of God, the Queen's enemies, the restraint of princes & rulers, fire, & all & every the dangers & accidents of the seas, rivers, & navigation of what nature & kind soever excepted. In pursuance of the terms of the charterparty the vessel proceeded to Berdiansk, & took on board, from a Greek merchant there, a cargo of wheat. For the cargo a bill of lading, in the Italian language, was signed by the master. It was stated in the bill of lading that the cargo was consigned according to the tenor of the charterparty, & that the cargo was to be delivered on freight being paid according to the charterparty, with all other conditions expressed therein. The bill of lading was endorsed by the shipper to S. & co., who were the charterers' agents in London. The vessel sailed from Berdiansk; on Aug. 8 she put into Falmouth, & her master applied to S. & co. for orders. The master received no orders till Sept. 3, in the course of the voyage so altered the freighters were, in the circumstances of the case, not liable as insurers, for the value of the ship; but this without prejudice as to the question of their liability for freight.—RUSSELL & MOFFAT v. SHANNON & CO. (1821), 1 Sh. Sc. App. 83.—SCOT.

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 2.—C. (b) i.

f. Excuse for delay.]—Steam shipping co. held liable in damages for delay in forwarding goods to China. If the delay had been caused by the Govt. taking some of the steamers off the line for national purposes, that might have excused them.—LEMON v. PENINSULAR & ORIENTAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1856), 6 L. T. 478.—HONG KONG.

g. Repairs to ship—Undue delay.]—DARRELL & CO. v. THE AMERICAN, [1925] Exch. C. R. 2.—CAN.

when pltfs., to whom S. & co. had indorsed the bill of lading, ordered the vessel by their agent to proceed to Leith. After the making of the charterparty & the signing of the bill of lading a war broke out between the North German Confederation & France. The war continued until after the arrest of the vessel in the suit. From the time the master received orders to proceed to Leith until after the arrest of the vessel armed French national cruisers were cruising in the English Channel & North Sea, & German vessels could not sail in those seas beyond the limits of neutral waters without incurring risk of capture. When the master received orders to proceed to Leith, & on other occasions after that time & before the arrest of the vessel, he expressed his willingness to sail for Leith the first favourable opportunity. From the time the master received orders to proceed to Leith until the arrest of the vessel the prevailing winds at Falmouth were light & variable, or unfavourable for a passage to Leith, & during that time the master kept the vessel at Falmouth waiting for a leading wind, which would enable her to make a good passage, & afford her a fair chance of escaping the French cruisers. On Sept. 15, pltfs. instituted a suit against the vessel, alleging, as the cause of action, the neglect of the master to proceed to Leith. On Sept. 21 the vessel was arrested in the suit at Falmouth :—Held : the delay of the master under the circumstances was justifiable. Before the orders to sail for Leith were given, & afterwards, negotiations were continually going on between pltfs. & the master for the delivery of the cargo at Falmouth at a reduced freight, but no terms were agreed upon. —Semble : these negotiations modified the order to proceed to Leith, & afforded a reasonable excuse for the master remaining at Falmouth while the negotiations were being carried on.—THE HEINRICH (1871), L. R. 3 A. & E. 424 ; 24 L. T. 914 ; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 79.

Annotation :—Refd. The Dannebrog (1874), 31 L. T. 759.

3201. —— ——.]—A charterparty, in English, entered into at Constantinople between freighters who were subjects of the North German Confederation, resident there, & the master of a North German vessel owned by subjects of the North German Confederation, provided that the vessel should proceed to Taganrog, & there take on board a cargo as therein mentioned, to be carried to Queenstown, Falmouth, or Plymouth for orders, & thence to a safe port in the United Kingdom, or a safe port on the Continent between Havre & Hamburg, both inclusive, or as near thereunto as he could safely get, & deliver the same on being paid freight as therein mentioned, the act of God, the Queen's enemies, etc. excepted. The vessel proceeded to Taganrog, & a cargo, as agreed, having been shipped on board, bills of lading were signed by the master of the vessel, as per charterparty. On June 29, 1870, the vessel sailed on her voyage with the cargo to Falmouth, & on Aug. 16 put into Algeciras in order to obtain a supply of water. She there learnt that since she had sailed from Taganrog a war had broken out between France & the North German Confederation, & was still existing. In order to avoid capture by the French cruisers the vessel proceeded to Gibraltar, where she arrived on Aug. 15, & remained there with her cargo on board till Feb. 2, when, after receiving news that an armistice had been concluded between France & the the North German Confederation, she sailed for Falmouth & delivered her cargo, according to orders, in London. Whilst the vessel was lying at Gibraltar her master was requested by the owners of cargo to proceed on his voyage, & if he would not do so, then to tranship & forward the cargo to its destinaton at the expense of his owners, but no tender of freight & expenses was made, such as according to German law was necessary to entitle the owners of the cargo to demand its transhipment. The war continued until Jan. 1871, & if the vessel had left Gibraltar during the war she would have run great risk of capture from French cruisers :—Held : under the circumstances the master was justified in proceeding with his ship to Gibraltar, & keeping her there with her cargo on board during the continuance of the war.

I am of opinion that the only definite proposal made by S. & co. [the owners of the cargo] to the captain was that he should tranship at his own cost & expenses ; & that they were not authorised by the German code to make such a demand (SIR ROBERT PHILLIMORE).—THE EXPRESS (1872), L. R. 3 A. & E. 597 ; 41 L. J. Adm. 79 ; 26 L. T. 956 ; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 355.

Annotation :—Refd. The Dannebrog (1874), 31 L. T. 759.

3202. —— ——.]—THE SAN ROMAN, No. 2523, ante.

3203. —— Ship putting in at intermediate port—Negotiations for delivery at such port.]—THE HEINRICH, No. 3200, ante.

3204. Carriage of contraband—Ship seized & detained.]—DUNN v. BUCKNALL BROTHERS, DUNN v. CURRIE (DONALD) & CO., No. 2552, ante.

3205. Congestion at port of delivery—Goods over carried—Subsequent return to port of delivery.]—Defts. agreed to sell goods to pltf. c.i.f. London. A clause in the bill of lading provided "Ship to be at liberty . . . to carry the goods or part of them beyond their port of destination, & to tranship land & store the goods either on shore or afloat & reship & forward the same at the co.'s expense but at merchant's risk. The co. not to be responsible for any loss arising from late or wrong delivery of goods at port of destination. Goods overcarried to be returned at ship's expense but free of liability for any loss, depreciation or damage arising from overcarriage or return carriage." The ship arrived in London, & delivery of the goods was duly demanded, but was refused, because owing to the congestion of shipping much delay would have been caused by unloading at that time. The ship proceeded to Copenhagen, & eventually returned to London & delivered pltf.'s goods. In an action for breach of contract : —Held : the above clauses in the bill of lading did not protect defts. from liability.—SARGANT & SONS v. EAST ASIATIC CO., LTD. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 277 ; 32 T. L. R. 119 ; 21 Com. Cas. 344.

Annotations :—Consd. Broken Hill Proprietary Co. v. Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Co., [1917] 1 K. B. 688. Refd. Monte Video Gas & Dry Dock Co. v. Clan Line Steamers (1921), 37 T. L. R. 866.

Deviation.]—See Sub-sect. 2, C. (a), ante.

ii. Measure of Damages

3206. Delay in delivery of cargo — Whether damages for loss of market recoverable.]—CHRISTIE v. TROTT, No. 3077, ante.

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 2.—C. (b) ii.

3206 i. Delay in delivery of cargo—Whether damages for loss of market recoverable.]—CO-OPERATIVE BOX CO. OF NEW SOUTH WALES v. PIKE (E. D.) & CO., LTD. (1919), 19 S. R. N. S. W. 424 ; 36 N. S. W. W. N. 140.—AUS.

3206 ii. —— ——.]—MARSH v. PENINSULAR & ORIENTAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1855), 71 L. T. 195.—HONG KONG.

3206 iii. —— ——.]—BAULD v. SMITH (1901), 40 N. S. R. 294.—CAN.

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 2, C. (b) ii., & D.]

3207. ——— ———.]—Where, on account of defects in the ship, the voyage had been protracted, & in the meantime the market price of the goods shipped had fallen:—Held: the consignee could not recover damages for the loss of market.

There is no case, I believe, in which it has ever been held that damages can be recovered for delay in the carriage of goods on a long voyage by sea, where there has been what may be called a merely accidental fall in price between the time the goods ought to have arrived & the time when they did arrive. If goods are sent for the purpose of being sold in a particular season when they are sold at a higher price than they are at other times, & if, by reason of breach of contract, they do not arrive in time, damages for loss of market may be recovered (MELLISH, L.J.).—THE PARANA (1877), 2 P. D. 118; 36 L. T. 388; 25 W. R. 596; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 399, C. A.; revsg. (1876), 1 P. D. 452.

Annotations:—Apld. The Notting Hill (1884), 9 P. D. 105. Distd. Rodoconachi v. Milburn (1886), 18 Q. B. D. 67. Expld. & N.F. Dunn v. Bucknall, Dunn v. Currie, [1902] 2 K. B. 614. Consd. Monte Video Gas & Dry Dock Co. v. Clan Line Steamers (1921), 37 T. L. R. 866. Refd. The Star of India (1876), 1 P. D. 466; The Thyatira (1883), 8 P. D. 155; Smith Edwards v. Tregarthen (1887), 56 L. J. Q. B. 437; The Argentino (1888), 13 P. D. 191; Sargant v. East Asiatic Co. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 277. Mentd. Duckham v. G. W. Ry. (1899), 80 L. T. 774.

3208. ——— ———.]—A ship having been damaged by a collision with another ship, the owners of cargo on the former claimed damages from the owners of the latter ship. The argo owners claimed (inter alia) for damages in respect of the loss of market in consequence of a portion of the cargo having been delayed in its arrival at the port of destination:—Held: loss of market was too remote a consequence to be considered as an element of damage, & there was no difference in the principles which regulate the measure of damages in an action of collision, & an action for a breach of duty under a shipping contract.—THE NOTTING HILL (1884), 9 P. D. 105; 53 L. J. P. 56; 51 L. T. 66; 32 W. R. 764; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 241, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Monte Video Gas & Dry Dock Co. v. Clan Line Steamers (1921), 37 T. L. R. 866. Refd. Smith, Edwards v. Tregarthen (1887), 56 L. J. Q. B. 437; The Argentino (1888), 13 P. D. 191; Victorian Rys. Comrs. v. Coultas (1888), 13 App. Cas. 222; Anglo-Argentine Live Stock & Produce Agency v. Temperley Shipping Co., [1899] 2 Q. B. 403; H.M.S. London, [1914] P. 72; Sargant v. East Asiatic Co. (1915), 85 L. J. K. B. 277. Mentd. Addis v. Gramophone Co., [1909] A. C. 488.

3209. ——— ———.] — DUNN v. BUCKNALL BROTHERS, DUNN v. CURRIE (DONALD) & CO., No. 2552, ante.

3210. ——— Whether limited to interest on value for period of delay.]—THE PARANA, No. 3207, ante.

3211. ——— Reference to registrar & merchants.]—THE WILHELM (1865), as cited in L. R. 3 A. & E. at p. 45.

Annotation:—Refd. The Princess Royal (1870), L. R. 3 A. & E. 41.

3212. ——— ———.]—THE ELINA (1880), 5 P. D. 237, n.

D. Repairs.

Liability of owner for necessaries generally.]—See Part II., Sect. 4, sub-sect. 1; Part IV., Sect. 2, sub-sect. 1, A.; Sect. 3, sub-sect. 7, B., ante.

3213. Duty of owner or master to repair.]—COOK v. JENNINGS, No. 4765, post.

3214. ———.]—CANNAN v. MEABURN, No. 3402, post.

3215. ———.]—BENSON v. CHAPMAN, No. 3132, ante.

3216. ———.]—A clipper sailing ship of 2,000 tons, with an auxiliary steam screw of 130 horse-power, & carrying about 550 tons of coal, sailed on a voyage from Australia to England. After eleven days she came in collision with an iceberg, & suffered so much damage in her masts & upper works on one side as practically to have lost all power of sailing. She reached Rio de Janeiro under steam alone, having nearly exhausted her stock of coals. The repairs necessary to restore her sailing powers would have cost at Rio many thousand pounds more than in England, & would have occupied several months, & the cargo would have to be unshipped & warehoused. The captain, therefore, had only temporary repairs done, which took three days, sufficient to enable him to complete his voyage under steam alone; & in order to do this he had to purchase coals at Rio, & again at Fayal. The voyage having been accomplished under steam alone, the shipowner sought to charge the cost of the coals against shipper of cargo as general average; either on the principle that the expenditure was a substitution, beneficial to all parties, for a greater expenditure, which the captain had a right to incur by repairing at Rio, & ought to be apportioned in the same way as the greater expenditure would have been; or as an extraordinary expenditure for the general advantage of all interests concerned:—Held: (1) assuming the repairing at Rio would have been justifiable, & any of the incidental expenses chargeable against the shippers as general average, there was no legal principle on which expenses incurred by one course could be apportioned according to what might have been the facts if a different course had been adopted; (2) the shipowners, by the contract of affreightment on such a ship, were bound to give the services of the auxiliary screw, & to make all the necessary disbursements for fuel; & although the circumstances caused these disbursements to be extraordinarily heavy, they did not render them an extraordinary expenditure within the rule as to general average.

The shipowners . . . are bound to give the services of their crew & their ship, & to make all disbursements necessary for this purpose. In the case of such a vessel as this, which is equipped with an auxiliary screw, their contract includes the use of that screw, & consequently the disbursements necessary for fuel for the steam engine (BLACKBURN, J.).

(3) Inasmuch as the master could, by the expenditure of a comparatively small sum on temporary

---

3210 i. ——— Whether limited to interest on value for period of delay.]—Interest at the legal rate may be allowed as damages for delay in delivery of goods.—HAMILTON v. HUDSON'S BAY CO. & IRVING & BRIGGS (1884), 1 B. C. R. pt. 2, 1.—CAN.

h. Difference paid to consignee & excess of freight.]—MCEWAN v. MCLEOD (1884), 9 A. R. 239.—CAN.

k. ——— Price increased by import duty.] — Deft., a steamboat owner, agreed to carry certain wheat of the pltfs. from Oshawa to a port in the United States, by Mar. 17, when, as deft. knew, the reciprocity treaty would expire, & an import duty be payable there. He failed to do so, & pltfs. having sent the flour afterwards, were compelled to pay a large duty:—Held: such duty was recoverable as damages for the breach of contract; & it was immaterial that prices rose in the States soon after the day fixed for delivery, so that pltfs. actually made more, after paying the duty, than they could have done by selling it on that day.—GIBBS v. GILDERSLEEVE (1867), 26 U. C. R. 471.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 2.—D.

3213 i. Duty of owner or master to repair.]—THE CONQUEROR, ZIZINIA v. KNIGHT (1854), 11 L. T. 159.—IR.

l. Liability for repairs.]—A vessel was sent to a slip for the purpose of undergoing repairs & alterations. Upon completion of these operations disputes arose as to the amount to be repairs & coals, bring the ship & cargo safely home, it was his duty to do so; & though we do not decide a point which does not arise, we are not to be taken as deciding that his owners would not have been liable to the owners of the cargo if he had not taken this course (BLACKBURN, J.).—WILSON v. BANK OF VICTORIA (1867), L. R. 2 Q. B. 203; 8 B. & S. 290; 36 L. J. Q. B. 89; 16 L. T. 9; 15 W. R. 693; 2 Mar. L. C. 449.

Annotations:—As to (2) Consd. The Bona, [1895] P. 125. Refd. Harrison v. Bank of Australasia (1872), L. R. 7 Exch. 39. As to (3) Refd. Assicurazioni Generali v. S.S. Bessie Morris, [1892] 1 Q. B. 571. Generally, Refd. Svendsen v. Wallace (1885), 10 App. Cas. 404.

3217. —— To do all that prudent man would do.]—If a vessel after she had started on her voyage receive damage, the master, in considering what steps he shall take in regard to carrying on the cargo or first repairing the ship, is bound to consider not one individual interest, but the interest of all concerned, & to do that which a prudent master would do under the circumstances, whether it be to return to his port of loading & repair, or repair at the nearest possible place before proceeding, or go on without repairing but if it be in his power to effect the repairs without any great delay or expense to the interests entrusted to his charge it is his duty to repair before proceeding.

The R. a wooden vessel under a charterparty from the port of New York to London with a cargo of grain & flour, left her moorings & towed down the New York river, & on her way stranded on the Craven Shoal, which is about ten miles below New York.

A tug towed at her for an hour & three-quarters before she was got off, during that time her decks & waterways were much strained, & she was then found to be making five inches of water per hour; but the master did not examine her or cause any repairs or caulking to be done, but proceeded on her voyage & encountered very severe weather.

On her arrival in London the flour of pltf., which was immediately beneath the deck, was found to have been damaged by the sea water making its way through the deck, the grain at the bottom at the bottom of the ship being uninjured:—Held: the master was negligent in not repairing; that is, in not caulking the deck before he proceeded on his voyage, the ship was more liable thereby to sustain damage & to injure the cargo, & defts. were liable for the damage occasioned there.—THE RONA (1884), 51 L. T. 28; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 259.

3218. —— If repair possible without undue delay or expense.]—THE RONA, No. 3217, ante.

3219. —— —— ——.]—The exception of perils of the sea contained in a charterparty will not relieve the shipowner from his obligation to complete the voyage by carrying the cargo to the port of destination in the chartered ship if the damage caused by such perils is capable of repair within a reasonable time & at a cost not exceeding the value of the ship when repaired.—ASSICURAZIONI GENERALI v. BESSIE MORRIS S.S. Co., [1892] 2 Q. B. 652; 61 L. J. Q. B. 754; 67 L. T. 218; 41 W. R. 83; 8 T. L. R. 715; 36 Sol. Jo. 682; 7 Asp. M. L. C. 217; 4 R. 33, C. A.

3220. —— ——.]—Where a ship is damaged & obliged to put into an intermediate port for repairs it is the duty as well as the right of the shipowner, if he can repair his ship without unreasonable sacrifice & within a reasonable time, to repair his ship & carry the goods to their destination. This is the purpose for which he has been entrusted with the cargo, & this purpose he is bound to accomplish by every reasonable & practicable method. If he so determines to fulfil his contract, it is his duty, whilst the repairs are being done, to take all reasonable means to preserve the cargo from deterioration. If, on the other hand, the circumstances are such that the shipowner is justified in not repairing his ship, or are such that, even if the ship is eventually repaired, it is not, with a due regard to his own interest & the interest of the owner of the cargo, reasonably practicable, owing either to the length of the time which the repairs will take, or the perishable nature of the cargo, or to the expense involved, or all or any such reasons, that the carriage of the cargo should be completed in the ship when repaired, then the shipowner is at liberty to tranship & carry the cargo to its destination in another bottom & so earn his freight. He is not bound to employ another vessel to complete the voyage at his own loss. But if he chooses, because he deems it best & for his own advantage, to pursue this course, he must, where he has been entrusted with a perishable cargo, which is daily incurring on shipboard an increase of deterioration, use all reasonable promptitude in procuring the transhipment, & take all reasonable means to prevent, or at least minimise, the deterioration of the cargo until the transhipment is effected. Lastly, if the shipowner decides neither to repair nor to tranship, it is his duty, with the greatest dispatch which the circumstances reasonably considered admit, to inform the owner of the cargo, or his agents on the spot, in order that he or they may not be unreasonably hindered in the protection of his interests, & the perishable cargo may not be unnecessarily damaged by the lapse of time before the owner or his agents have it placed at his or their disposition. If instead of promptly transhipping a perishable cargo which is daily deteriorating on shipboard he prefers to negotiate for a pro rata freight to which he is not entitled, he can only do it by incurring the expense involved in discharging the cargo from the ship's hold. The absence of definite instructions from the cargo owners or underwriters on cargo does not relieve the shipowner from the duty of doing one or other of the above things.—HANSEN v. DUNN (1906), 22 T. L. R. 458; 11 Com. Cas. 100.

3221. —— Interests of all concerned in venture to be considered.]—THE RONA, No. 3217, ante.

3222. —— Continuation of venture with unseaworthy vessel.]—If a chartered vessel is seaworthy at the commencement of the voyage, but is afterwards damaged by the perils of the sea, though the owner is not bound to repair the vessel, yet if he elects not to do so, he ought not to proceed with the vessel in an unseaworthy condition.—WORMS v. STOREY (1855), 11 Exch. 427; 25 L. J. Ex. 1; 26 L. T. O. S. 106; 4 W. R. 115; 156 E. R. 898.

Annotations:—Consd. De Cuadra v. Swann (1864), 16 C. B. N. S. 772; Atwood v. Sellar (1879), 4 Q. B. D. 342. Refd. Notara v. Henderson (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 225; The Chasca (1875), 32 L. T. 838; Pirie v. Middle Dock Co. (1881), 44 L. T. 426; The Rona (1884), 51 L. T. 28; Assicurazioni Generali v. S.S. Bessie Morris, [1892] 1 Q. B. 571.

3223. —— Extent of Duty—Ship must be fit to carry on cargo.]—HILL v. WILSON, No. 4848, post.

3224. —— —— ——.]—The ordinary contract between shipowner & merchant is that the goods charged, & the vessel was detained upon the slip in security of the account:—Held: averments were irrelevant to entitle the owners of the ship to an issue claiming (1) ship-dues at a fixed rate during the time of the vessel's detention; (2) damages in respect of the slip being occupied by the vessel, & the trade of pursuers in repairing vessels being thus interfered with.—STEPHEN v. SWAYNE (1861), 24 Dunl. (Ct. of Sess.) 158.—SCOT.

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 2, D.; sub-sect. 3, A.]

shall be carried to their destination & shall there be delivered, unless prevented by the excepted perils, & this generally should be done in the original ship. Whenever the ship is disabled it must, in order literally to fulfil this contract, be necessary to repair the ship so far as to make her fit to carry on the cargo, & if any part of the cargo has been taken out to reship it (LORD BLACKBURN). —SVENDSEN v. WALLACE BROTHERS (1885), 10 App. Cas. 404; 54 L. J. Q. B. 497; 52 L. T. 901; 34 W. R. 369; 1 T. L. R. 476; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 453, H. L.

Annotations:—Consd. Assicurazioni Generali & Schenker v. S.S. Bessie Morris Co. & Browne, [1892] 61 L. J. Q. B. 754. Mentd. Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. v. English Bank of Rio de Janeiro (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 362; The Brigella, [1893] P. 189; McCall v. Houlder (1897), 76 L. T. 469; Iredale v. China Traders Insce., [1900] 2 Q. B. 515; Balmoral S.S. Co. v. Marten, [1901] 2 K. B. 896; Hamel v. P. & O. Steam Navigation Co., [1908] 2 K. B. 298; Chellew v. Royal Commission on Sugar Supply, [1922] 1 K. B. 12.

3225. —— Absence of instructions from cargo owners in indemnities on cargo—Not thereby absolved from duty.]—HANSEN v. DUNN, No. 3220, ante.

3226. Who may order repairs—Shipowner & agent—Master.]—BENSON v. DUNCAN, No. 2597, ante.

3227. —— —— —— Without consulting cargo owners.]—PHELPS (JAMES) & CO. v. HILL, No. 3169, ante.

3228. —— Not cargo owner.]—BENSON v. DUNCAN, No. 2597, ante.

3229. Right to reasonable time for repair—Where intending to carry cargo to destination.]—THE GALAM (CARGO EX), No. 4075, post.

3230. Cost of repairs—Lien of master.]—Lien of the master of a ship by bills drawn & payments made for necessary repairs abroad in the prosecution of the voyage though an instrument of hypothecation.—HUSSEY v. CHRISTIE (1807), 13 Ves. 594; 33 E. R. 417, L. C.

Annotation:—Consd. Ex p. Halkett (1814), 3 Ves. & B. 135.

3231. ——.]—The master of a ship has no lien on it for money expended or debts incurred by him for repairs done to it on the voyage.—HUSSEY v. CHRISTIE (1808), 9 East, 426; 103 E. R. 636.

Annotations:—Extd. Smith v. Plummer (1818), 1 B. & Ald. 575. Distd. Bristow v. Whitmore (1861), 9 H. L. Cas. 391. Refd. The Gustaf (1862), 7 L. T. 259.

3232. —— Action for quantum meruit.]—A ship outward bound with goods, being damaged at sea, put into a harbour to receive some repairs which had become necessary for the continuance of her voyage, & a shipwright was engaged, & undertook, to put her into thorough repair. Before this was completed he required payment for the work already done, without which he refused to proceed; & the vessel remained in an unfit state for sailing:—Held: the shipwright might maintain an action for the work already done, though the repair was incomplete, & the vessel thereby kept from continuing her voyage, at the time when the action was brought.—ROBERTS v. HAVELOCK (1832), 3 B. & Ad. 404; 110 E. R. 145.

Annotations:—Refd. The Tergeste, [1903] P. 26. Mentd. Appleby v. Myers (1867), L. R. 2 C. P. 651.

3233. —— Repairs improperly executed.]—THE TAMERLANE, ELMSLIE v. PITCHER (1857), 9 L. T. 302.

—— Hypothecation of ship.]—See Part IV., Sect. 3, sub-sect. 7, B., ante.

—— Hypothecation of cargo.]—See Sect. 6, sub-sect. 5, post.

—— Sale of cargo.]—See Sect. 6, sub-sect. 6, post.

—— General average contribution.]—See Sect. 14, post.

3234. Duty to preserve cargo during repair.]—HANSEN v. DUNN, No. 3220, ante.

3235. Decision not to repair—Duty to inform owner of cargo.]—HANSEN v. DUNN, No. 3220, ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 3.—PRESERVATION OF CARGO.

A. In General.

3236. Duty of master.]—Pltf.'s ship with a general cargo sailed from London for Havre with some petroleum on board. Under the bill of lading pltf. was to deliver the petroleum at Havre, & it was to be taken out by deft. within twenty-four hours after arriving at Havre, or ten guineas a day was to be paid for demurrage. On the ship's arriving at Havre, the authorities of the port made the captain take her away in consequence of the petroleum being on board. Thereupon he went to neighbouring ports, but was not allowed to stay there. Returning to Havre, he discharged his general cargo, & no bill of lading having been presented to him, & no application having been made to him for the delivery of the petroleum, he brought it back to London. On the shipowner claiming freight, back-freight, demurrage, & expenses:—Held: (1) he was entitled to freight, back-freight, & expenses. Freight is earned by the carriage & arrival of the goods ready to be delivered to the merchant. Although the petroleum could not be landed at Havre, it was in the port a reasonable time, during which the owner might have received it; & the freight was accordingly earned.

(2) In a case where no application for delivery is made, the captain may land & warehouse the cargo at the expense of the merchant; & where that is forbidden by the authorities of the port, he is not justified in destroying the cargo; but in the absence of advices he may take it to such a place as in his judgment is most convenient for the merchant, & may charge to the merchant all expenses properly incurred; consequently, here the shipowner was entitled to back-freight & expenses. The demurrage & the expenses incurred in the ineffectual attempt to land at the neighbouring ports were not allowed, but were looked on as part of the expenses of the voyage.

(3) A duty is cast on the master in many cases of accident & emergency to act for the safety of the cargo, in such manner as may be best under the circumstances in which it may be placed; &, as a correlative right, he is entitled to charge its owner with the expenses properly incurred in so doing (SIR MONTAGUE E. SMITH).

(4) No part of the port being expressly mentioned for discharging, there can be no doubt that under usual circumstances the ship ought to have been brought to the place in the port where cargo, such as she carried, is ordinarily discharged (SIR MONTAGUE E. SMITH).

(5) The master, as a rule, is only bound to deliver cargo upon production of the bill of lading; & it is clear that freight may be earned before actual delivery, if the goods have been brought to the port of arrival ready to be delivered according to the bill of lading (SIR MONTAGUE E. SMITH).

(6) The duty of a shipowner to deliver goods at the usual place of delivery of a port, to which he has contracted to carry under a bill of lading stipulating only that the goods shall be delivered at the port without any particular part of the port being named, is an implied duty only, & does not amount to an engagement to go to the usual place in all events & under all circumstances.—THE ARGOS (CARGO EX), GAUDET v. BROWN, THE HEWSONS, GEIPEL v. CORNFORTH (1873), L. R. 5 P. C. 134; 42 L. J. Adm. 1; 28 L. T. 77; 21 W. R. 420; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 519, P. C.

Annotations:—As to (3) Apld. G. N. Ry. v. Swaffield (1874), L. R. 9 Exch. 132. Generally, Mentd. Purkis v. Flower (1873), 43 L. J. Q. B. 33; Flower v. Bradley (1874), 44 L. J. Ex. 1; Gunnestad v. Price, Fullmore v. Wait (1875), L. R. 10 Exch. 65; The Alina (1880), 5 Ex. D. 227; Allen v. Garbutt (1880), 6 Q. B. D. 165; The Iona (1882), 7 P. D. 247; R. v. Southend County Court Judge (1884), 13 Q. B. D. 142; The County of Durham, [1891] P. 1; R. v. City of London Court Judge, [1892] 1 Q. B. 273; The Theodora, [1897] P. 279.

3237. —— Extent of duty—Preservation from excepted perils.]—There is a duty on the master of a ship, as representing the shipowner, to take reasonable care of the goods intrusted to him, not merely in doing what is necessary to preserve them on board the ship during the ordinary incidents of the voyage, but also in taking active measures, where reasonably practicable under all the circumstances, to check & arrest the loss or deterioration resulting from accidents, for the necessary & immediate consequences of which the shipowner is not liable by reason of exceptions in the bill of lading. For neglect of this duty by the master the shipowner is responsible to the shipper.

Pltfs. shipped beans on board defts.' ship, under a bill of lading, from Alexandria to Glasgow, with leave to call at intermediate ports, deliverable to pltfs.' order on payment of freight by consignees. The ship called at Liverpool, & in going out met with a collision, a peril excepted in the bill of lading, & was obliged to put back for repairs, which detained her a few days. The beans were wetted by sea water in consequence of the collision; & pltfs., being at Liverpool, offered to receive them there, paying freight pro rata; but defts.' agent refused to deliver them without being paid full freight; & the beans were carried on to Glasgow; & on their arrival there they were much deteriorated in value, beyond what they would have been by the mere wetting from the collision, if they had been dried instead of being carried on as they were. The beans might have been removed at Liverpool from the ship to warehouses & spread out & dried, & there was warehouse accommodation within half a mile of the dock in which the ship was; & by this means the decomposition would have been materially arrested or mitigated. The cost of unshipping, drying, & reshipping, would have been particular average, payable by the shippers. Pltfs. brought an action against defts., claiming the amount of the extra depreciation:—Held: the facts showed that the beans might have been taken out & dried, which was clearly a proper thing to do on behalf of the owners, & then reshipped, without unreasonably delaying the whole adventure; that it was, therefore, the master's duty to have done so, & consequently defts. were liable Semble: the measure of damages was the amount of extra depreciation in value in consequence of the neglect to dry the beans, after allowing the estimated expense of unshipping, drying, & reshipping.

The duty of the master is to take reasonable care of the goods intrusted to him, not merely in doing what is necessary to preserve them on board the ship during the ordinary incidents of the voyage, but also in taking reasonable measures to check & arrest their loss, destruction, or deterioration, by reason of accidents, for the necessary effects of which there is, by reason of the exception in the bill of lading, no original liability. . . . If, therefore, the master exercises a power which circumstances might justify, so that it is within the general scope of his functions, & it turns out that the facts do not warrant its exercise in the particular instance, as, for instance, if he unnecessarily throw goods overboard in a panic, or sell goods without justifying need, the owners are held liable for his acts. . . . The question, whether active special measures ought to have been taken to preserve the cargo from growing damage by accident, is not determined simply by showing damage done & suggesting measures which might have been taken to prevent it. A fair allowance ought to be made for the difficulties in which the master may be involved. The performance of such a duty, whether it be for the joint benefit of the shipowner & the shipper, or for the benefit of the shipper only, could not be excused by reason of insignificant delay not amounting to deviation; & there are many cases of reasonable delay in ports of call, for purposes connected with the voyage though not necessary for its completion, which do not amount to deviation. It could not be insisted upon if a deviation were involved. The place, the season, the extent of the deterioration, the opportunity & means at hand, the interests of other persons concerned in the adventure, whom it might be unfair to delay for the sake of the part of the cargo in peril; in short, all circumstances affecting risk, trouble, delay, & inconvenience, must be taken into account (WILLES, J.).—NOTARA v. HENDERSON (1872), L. R. 7 Q. B. 225; 41 L. J. Q. B. 158; 26 L. T. 442; 20 W. R. 413; 1 Asp. M. L. C. 278, Ex. Ch.

Annotations:—Consd. The Argos, Gaudet v. Brown, The Hewsons, Geipel v. Cornforth (1873), L. R. 5 P. C. 134. Apld. G. N. Ry. v. Swaffield (1874), L. R. 9 Exch. 132. Consd. Metcalfe v. Brittania Ironworks Co. (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 613; The Savona, [1900] P. 252. Apld. Hansen v. Dunn (1906), 22 T. L. R. 158. Refd. The Kathleen (1874), L. R. 4 A. & E. 269; Hingston v. Wendt (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 367; Prehn v. Bailey (1881), 45 L. T. 399; Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. v. English Bank of Rio de Janeiro (1887), 19 Q. B. D. 362; Rose v. Bank of Australasia, [1891] A. C. 687; Nobel's Explosives Co. v. Jenkins, [1896] 2 Q. B. 326; The Torbryan, [1903] P. 35; Anglo-Northern Trading Co. v. Emlyn Jones & Williams, [1917] 2 K. B. 78; Brandt v. Liverpool, Brazil & River Plate Steam Navigation Co., [1924] 1 K. B. 575. Mentd. Coldman v. Hill, [1919] 1 K. B. 443.

3238. What measures to be taken—Matters for consideration.]—NOTARA v. HENDERSON, No. 3237, ante.

3239. —— Dependent on circumstances.]—THE ARGOS (CARGO EX), GAUDET v. BROWN, THE HEWSONS, GEIPEL v. CORNFORTH, No. 3236, ante.

---

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 3.—A.

3239 i. What measures to be taken—Dependent on circumstances.]—A ship laden with a cargo of whale blubber & heads was detained by stress of weather, & in consequence the cargo became partially decomposed, so that the voyage could not be prosecuted in safety either to the cargo or the vessel. The owner of the cargo was resident at the port where the vessel was detained, but refused to give the shipmaster any instructions as to the course which he should pursue in regard to the cargo, or to relieve him of responsibility. The master, therefore, acting upon the best advice he could get, unloaded the cargo, subjected it to certain operations, & finally continued the voyage & delivered the cargo to the owner's consignee:—Held: the owner of the cargo was bound to reimburse the owners of the vessel for the expense incurred in the operations upon the cargo, in respect that these operations were necessary, for carriage,

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 3, A. & B. (a), (b) & (c).]

3240. —— Damage by sea water—Cargo to be taken out, dried & reshipped.] — TRONSON v. DENT, No. 3447, post.

3241. —— —— ——.]—NOTARA v. HENDERSON, No. 3237, ante.

3242. —— Transhipment.]—HANSEN v. DUNN, No. 3220, ante.

3243. Expenses of preservation — Liability of shipowner to master.]—THE ARGOS (CARGO EX), GAUDET v. BROWN, THE HEWSONS, GEIPEL v. CORNFORTH, No. 3236, ante.

3244. —— —— Lien of master.] — A vessel having gone ashore with a cargo on board, pltf., a ship agent, was put in possession of the ship & cargo by the captain, with authority from the captain to do, as his agent, what was for the benefit of all concerned. Pltf. did work & expended money in discharging the cargo, & brought it to a place of safety, where he took possession of it. The hull broke up, & became a wreck. The expenditure by pltf. was not for the purpose of enabling the shipowner to perform his contract & to earn freight, but was an extraordinary expenditure for the purpose of saving the property at risk, namely, the cargo:—Held: (1) pltf. had a lien on the cargo for his charges as against the owner, though such charges were incurred without authority from the owner, the claim being analogous to that for general average or salvage; (2) an agent to whom bills of lading are handed for the purpose of obtaining possession of the cargo of a stranded vessel, is impliedly authorised to bind the owner by an agreement to pay, on conditon of the cargo being given up, charges for which there is a lien on the cargo.

(3) The hardship would be very great if a master was bound to make a disbursement for the benefit of the goods, & had no remedy if the goods owner transferred the property & then became insolent, & as there was no hardship in holding the master bound to make such disbursements, we think it is not too much to infer that there was such a lien (BLACKBURN, J.).—HINGSTON v. WENDT (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 367; 45 L. J. Q. B. 440; 34 L. T. 181; 3 Asp. M. L. C. 126; sub nom. KINGSTON v. WENDT, 24 W. R. 664, D. C.

Annotations:—Generally, Refd. Prehn v. Bailey (1881), 45 L. T. 399; The Gas Float Whitton No. 2, [1895] P. 301.

Preservation of cargo during repair.]—See No. 3220, ante.

Duty to repair.]—See Sub-sect. 2, D., ante.

B. Liability for Damage or Loss.

(a) In General.

Deficiency on delivery.]—See Sub-sect. 9, C., post.

Exemption from liability—Excepted perils.]—See Sect. 4, ante.

—— Proof of quantity shipped—Terms of bill of lading.]—See Sect. 3, sub-sect. 7, A., ante.

Incorporation of charterparty in bill of lading.]—See Sect. 3, sub-sect. 11, E., ante.

Improper stowage.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 5, C., ante.

Measure of damages.]—See Sect. 7, sub-sect. 9, post.

(b) Express Limitation of Amount of Liability.

See, now, Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 5.

3245. When limitation clause applies—Ship unseaworthy.]—Pltf. shipped certain cattle on board defts.' ship for carriage from London to New York under a bill of lading which provided as follows:—"These animals being in sole charge of shipper's servants, it is hereby expressly agreed that the shipowners, or their agents or servants, are, as respects these animals, in no way responsible either for their escape from the steamer for accidents, disease, or mortality, & that under no circumstances shall they be held liable for more than £5 for each of the animals." The ship had on her previous voyage carried cattle suffering from foot & mouth disease. Some of the cattle shipped under the bill of lading were during the voyage infected with that disease, owing to the negligence of defts.' servants in not cleansing & disinfecting the ship before receiving pltf.'s cattle on board & signing the bill of lading, & pltf. in consequence suffered damage amounting to more than £5 for each of the said cattle:—Held: the provision in the bill of lading limiting liability to £5 for each of the cattle did not apply to damage occasioned by defts. not providing a ship reasonably fit for the purposes of the carriage of the cattle which they had contracted to carry.—TATTERSALL v. NATIONAL S.S. CO. (1884), 12 Q. B. D. 297; 53 L. J. Q. B. 332; 50 L. T. 299; 32 W. R. 566; 5 Asp. M. L. C. 206.

Annotations:—Apld. The Maori King v. Hughes, [1895] 2 Q. B. 550. Consd. Baxter's Leather Co. v. Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. (1908), 99 L. T. 286. Apld. Wiener v. Wilsons & Furness-Leyland Line (1910), 11 Asp. M. L. C. 413. Distd. Bank of Australasia v. Clan Line Steamers, [1916] 1 K. B. 39. Apld. Atlantic Shipping & Trading Co. v. Dreyfus, [1922] 2 A. C. 250. Consd. Ford v. Compagnie Furness (France), [1922] 2 K. B. 797. Refd. Carmichael v. Liverpool Sailing Shipowners' Mutual Indemnity Assocn. (1886), 56 L. T. 863; Queensland National Bank v. Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Co., [1898] 1 Q. B. 567; Pyman S.S. Co. v. Hull & Barnsley Ry., [1915] 2 K. B. 729; The Thorsa, [1916] P. 257; Elder, Dempster v. Paterson, Zochonis, Griffiths Lewis Steam Navigation Co. v. Paterson, Zochonis, [1924] A. C. 522; Werner v. Det Bergenske Dampskibsselskaft (1926), 134 L. T. 573.

3246. —— ——.]—MORRIS & MORRIS v. OCEANIC STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1900), 16 T. L. R. 533.

Annotations:—Consd. Baxter's Leather Co. v. Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. (1908), 99 L. T. 286. Expld. Wiener v. Wilsons & Furness-Leyland Line (1910), 11 Asp. M. L. C. 413. Consd. Pyman S.S. Co. v. Hull & Barnsley Ry., [1914] 2 K. B. 788. Expld. Bank of Australasia v. Clan Line Steamers, [1916] 1 K. B. 39. Distd. Hordern v. Commonwealth & Dominion Line, [1917] 2 K. B. 420.

3247. —— No special declaration of value.]—Pltfs. shipped two packages of leather goods on board defts.' ship for carriage from London to

---

& had proved beneficial to the owner of the cargo, & the master was entitled to perform them, as the owner of the cargo, although on the spot, refused to give any instructions in the matter.—GARRIOCK v. WALKER (1873), 1 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 100; 11 Sc. L. R. 16.—SCOT.

m. Duty of master.]—There is a duty on the master of a ship, as representing the shipowner, to take reasonable care of the goods entrusted to him, &, in the event of loss or deterioration resulting from accidents covered by the exceptions in the charterparty, to take reasonable measures in order that the loss or deterioration may be minimised.—ADAM v. MORRIS (1890), 18 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 153; 28 Sc. L. R. 149.—SCOT.

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (b).

n. General rule.]—A shipping co. is primâ facie bound to deliver goods in good order & condition, but this obligation is subject expressly to the conditions inserted in the bill of lading.—CUTLER PALMER & CO. v. BRITISH INDIA STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1898), I. L. R. 25 Calc. 654; 2 C. W. N. 423.—IND.

o. —— Express agreement that carriers not answerable.]—CRAFFORD v. BROWNE (1853), 11 U. C. R. 96.—CAN.

3247 i. When limitation clause applies—No special declaration of value.]—Neither the master nor the owner of a vessel is liable for any loss or damage which may happen to any gold, silver, jewels, etc., shipped on board such vessel, unless the owner or shipper shall insert in his bill of lading or declare in writing to the master the true

Buenos Ayres under a bill of lading containing a clause which specified a large number of excepted perils for which defts. were not to be responsible, whether the peril, or the loss or damage arising therefrom, was caused by the negligence of defts.' servants or agents or not, & a further clause by which defts. were not to be accountable at all for bullion or other specified valuable or fragile articles, "nor for any other goods of whatever description beyond the amount of £2 per cubic foot for any one package," unless shipped under a special declaration of value & extra freight paid. Pltfs.' goods were not delivered at Buenos Ayres, & their loss was found as a fact to have been due to the negligence of defts.' servants; they had not been shipped under a special declaration of value, nor had extra freight been paid upon them:—Held: notwithstanding that the loss was due to the negligence of defts., they were only liable to the limited extent provided by the bill of lading.—BAXTER'S LEATHER CO. v. ROYAL MAIL STEAM PACKET CO., [1908] 2 K. B. 626; 77 L. J. K. B. 988; 99 L. T. 286; 24 T. L. R. 537; 11 Asp. M. L. C. 98; 14 Com. Cas. 46, C. A.

Annotations:—Consd. Buerger v. Cunard S.S. Co., [1925] 2 K. B. 646. Refd. Wall v. Rederiakt. Luggude, [1915] 3 K. B. 66; Hordern v. Commonwealth & Dominion Line, [1917] 2 K. B. 420; Atlantic Shipping & Trading Co. v. Dreyfus, [1922] 2 A. C. 250; Layton v. General Steam Navigation Co. (1923), 130 L. T. 662.

3248. —— —— Carriage of goods by Sea Act, 1924 (c. 22), Article IV., r. 5.]—PENDLE & RIVETT, LTD. v. ELLERMAN LINES, LTD., No. 2724, ante.

(c) Damages.

3249. Liability of shipowner.]—Action may be brought against the master or owners of a ship where goods are taken to freight, & damaged.

The master or owners may maintain an action for freight money, unless some of the owners disagree to the voyage, for by that means they are exempted from the action (HOLT, C.J.).—BOSON v. SANDFORD (1690), Carth. 58; Comb. 116; Freem. K. B. 499; 3 Lev. 258; 3 Mod. Rep. 321; 2 Salk. 440; 1 Show. 101; 90 E. R. 638; sub nom. BOULSTON v. SANDIFORD, Skin. 278.

Annotations:—Consd. Boucher v. Lawson (1735), Lee temp. Hard. 194. Refd. Mitchell v. Tarbutt (1794), 5 Term Rep. 649; Govett v. Radnidge (1802), 3 East, 62; Powell v. Layton (1806), 2 Bos. & P. N. R. 365; Max v. Roberts (1807), 2 Bos. & P. N. R. 454; Corbett v. Packington (1827), 6 B. & C. 268; Blaikie v. Stembridge (1859), 6 C. B. N. S. 894. Mentd. Abbot v. Smith (1774), 2 Wm. Bl. 947; Laugher v. Pointer (1826), 5 B. & C. 547; Alton v. Mid. Ry. (1865), 19 C. B. N. S. 213; Kendall v. Hamilton (1879), 4 App. Cas. 504.

3250. ——.]—LESLIE v. WILSON, No. 1784, ante.

3251. ——.]—NOTARA v. HENDERSON, No. 3237, ante.

nature, quality & value of such gold, silver, etc.—BOWRING v. HARRISON (1824), 1 Nfld. L. R. 406.—NFLD.

p. Liability of shipowner & master.]—A voiturier par eau is answerable for the consequences of his own neglect. If, therefore, he carelessly quits his ship, & she is lost during his absence, he must be answerable for the cargo.—BORNE v. PERRAULT & NAUD, 2 R. de L. 75.—CAN.

q. ——.]—Whether the shipowner will be liable for loss of deck cargo depends on the usage which prevails in respect to deck loading in the particular navigation.—PATERSON v. BLACK (1849), 5 U. C. R. 481.—CAN.

r. ——.]—Under the terms of Art. 1676, C. C., the shipowner cannot validly contract himself out of responsibility for his negligence.—RENDELL v. BLACK DIAMOND S.S. CO. (1896), Q. R. 10 S. C. 257.—CAN.

t. ——.]—The owners of a ship for whose benefit she is navigated are bound to the owners of goods shipped for the due carriage thereof, & are liable for any negligence whereby the goods may be damaged.—TIFFIN v. WEBB (1864), 5 Nfld. L. R. 54.—NFLD.

a. ——.]—The master of a steamer trading between port & port in New Zealand is, in the absence of special contract, responsible for damage to cargo, even though caused by a peril of the seas, for he has all the liabilities of a common carrier.—EVANS v. HORSFALL (1877), 3 N. Z. Jur. N. S. 64.—N.Z.

b. ——.]—A shipmaster will be liable for damages resulting to cargo through negligence unless he specifically excludes liability for such in his bill of lading.—CLAN LINE OF STEAMERS v. ALCOCK & CO. (1896), 13 S. C. 104; 6 C. T. R. 130.—S. AF.

c. Defences—False invoices.]—It is no defence to a common carrier by water for not carrying goods safely from a foreign country, or on a claim for general average, that the owner of the goods had prepared false invoices, to defraud the revenue laws of this Province. — GROUSETTE v. F (1842), 3 Ont. Dig. 6448.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (c).

3249 i. Liability of shipowner.]—WING WAH v. AUSTRALASIAN STEAM NAVIGATION CO. (1868), 2 Q. S. C. R. 36.—AUS.

3249 ii. ——.]—JONES & CO. v. ROSS (1830), 8 Sh. (Ct. of Sess.) 495; 26 Fac. Coll. 396.—SCOT.

3249 iii. ——.]—Shipowners who received a cargo of corks on board their vessel, & were also the consignees of the cargo at the foreign port:—Held: liable for the value of the cargo, which was landed in a damaged state, no survey having been made, nor any steps taken to enable the shipper to recover, under a policy of insurance.—URQUHART v. BROWN (1833), 11 Sh. (Ct. of Sess.) 567.—SCOT.

3249 iv. ——.]—In an action against the owner of a trading steamer on a regular line for loss by negligence in the carriage of goods, he maintained in defence that in a circular issued with regard to the voyage to the port where the goods were taken on board he referred to conditions in his sailing bills which excluded his liability on the common law grounds alleged against him:—Held: negligence which would make him liable at common law as a carrier of goods was established, & therefore he was liable in damages.—MACRAE v. HUTCHISON (1886), 14 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 4; 24 Sc. L. R. 7.—SCOT.

d. —— Inherent vice.]—BRADLEY (F. O.) & SONS, LTD. v. FEDERAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD. (1927), 137 L. T. 266, H. L.—AUS.

e. —— For negligence.]—PIERCE v. RICHELIEU & ONTARIO NAVIGATION CO. (1890), Q. R. 5 S. C. 139.—CAN.

f. Liability of master.]—Pltfs., consignees of cargo, brought this action against the master of the vessel to recover damages for injury to their goods. The bill of lading contained a stipulation that "the shipowners' liability in case of loss or detention or injury to goods, for which they may be responsible, to be calculated on, & in no case to exceed, the net invoice cost." At the trial it was proved that the goods were damaged by train after being landed on the wharf; but, on being sold by auction they realised more than the net invoice cost. Verdict for pltfs.:—Held: pltfs. by reason of the stipulation in the bill of lading, were not entitled to any damages at all.—HEYDE v. SWAN (No. 2) (1885), 6 N. S. W. Eq. 33; 1 N. S. W. W. N. 106.—AUS.

g. ——.]—A shipmaster who receives a mirror on board, & grants a receipt for it, without examining its condition, is liable in damages to the owner, if it shall be found on delivery to be broken.—SPROTT v. BROWN (1803), 13 Fac. Coll. 240; Mor. Dict. 10114.—SCOT.

h. Nominal damages recoverable.]—HANCOCK v. BETHUNE (1846), 3 U. C. R. 47.—CAN.

k. Measure of damages—Price of wheat less freight.]—YOUNG v. LAIDLAW (1862), 12 C. P. 612.—CAN.

l. —— Value of goods.]—WALLACE v. SWIFT (1871), 31 U. C. R. 523.—CAN.

m. —— Market value of goods.]—The damages to be allowed to owners of cargo for the loss thereof by collision is the market value thereof to the owners at the time & place of delivery, if there is one, & if not, the value is to be calculated, taking into account among other things the cost price, the expenses of transit & importer's profit.—WARREN & STARR, LTD. v. SHIP PERENE, [1924] Exch. C. R. 229.—CAN.

n. —— Cost price of goods at port of shipment plus freight & insurance.]—A shipping co. received on board in good order & condition at Port Said goods for carriage to East London which had come by sea from Beirat, under bill of lading, which provided that the co.'s liability in case of damage should not exceed the cost price of the goods at port of shipment, together with freight & insurance. They arrived at East London in a damaged condition:—Held: the measure of damage was the cost at Beirat whence the goods had originally come, & not at Port Said, where defts. received them, together with freight & insurance.—JURIDINI v. DEUTSCHE OOST-AFRIKA LINIE (1905), 19 E. D. C. 74.—S. AF.

o. Burden of proof—Of condition of goods when shipped.]—In an action of damages done to a cargo of tea in the voyage from London to Montreal:—Held: as to proof of the condition of the goods when shipped there was no general rule of law or evidence, & it must depend on the circumstances of each case how far such proof is necessary, & when the case is to be urged

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 3, B. (c) & (d); sub-sect. 4, A.]

3252. ——.]—SIORDET v. HALL, No. 2593, ante.

3253. ——.]—ANDERSON v. CHAPMAN (1839), 7 L. T. 102; subsequent proceedings, 5 M. & W. 483.

3254. ——.]—THE SOPHY, MAGNUS v. FAIRBRASS (1856), 4 L. T. 742.

3255. ——.]—THE AFRICAN, SICHELL v. DIXON (1856), 9 L. T. 301.

3256. ——.]—ALSTON v. HERRING, No. 2986, ante.

3257. ——.]—ROWBOTTOM v. COOPER (1857), 6 L. T. 228.

3258. ——.]—VALLEE v. BUCKNALL NEPHEWS (1900), 16 T. L. R. 362.

3259. —— Action for damages—Not action for freight.]—GARRETT v. MELHUISH, No. 4860, post.

—— Improper stowage.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 5, C. (b) ii., ante.

—— Excepted perils.]—See Sect. 4, ante.

Admiralty jurisdiction.]—See ADMIRALTY, Vol. I., pp. 146–149, Nos. 524–570.

(d) Loss.

3260. Liability of shipowner.]—The owner & not the freighter is liable for a loss of gold sent by the ship.—PARISH v. CRAWFORD (1746), 2 Stra. 1251; 93 E. R. 1163.

Annotations:—Consd. Sandeman v. Scurr (1866), L. R. 2 Q. B. 86. Refd. Hutton v. Bragg (1816), 7 Taunt. 14; Colvin v. Newberry (1828), Dan. & Ll. 61; Baumvoll Manufactur von Scheibler v. Gilchrest, [1891] 2 Q. B. 310.

3261. ——.]—The owners of vessels on the navigation between A. & C. having given public notice that they would not be answerable for losses in any case, except the loss were occasioned by the want of care in the master, nor even in such case beyond 10 per cent. unless extra freight were paid, the master of one of the ships took on board pltf.'s goods, to be carried from A. to B., an intermediate place between A. & C., & delivered at B.; the vessel passed by B. without delivering pltf.'s goods there, & sunk before her arrival at C. without any want of care in the master:—Held: the owner of the vessel was responsible to pltf. for the whole loss in an action on the contract.—ELLIS v. TURNER (1800), 8 Term Rep. 531; 101 E. R. 1529.

Annotations:—Refd. Bodenham v. Bennett (1817), 4 Price, 31; Batson v. Donovan (1820), 4 B. & Ald. 21; Garnett v. Willan (1821), 5 B. & Ald. 53; Owen v. Burnett (1834), 3 L. J. Ex. 76; Morritt v N. E. Ry. (1876), 1 Q. B. D. 302.

3262. ——.]—HARVEY v. THOMPSON (1837), 4 L. T. 589.

3263. ——.]—BLACK v. BENNETT (1839), 7 L. T. 397.

3264. ——.]—THE ELIZABETH, BARING v. TWIZELL (1853), 7 L. T. 102.

3265. ——.]—THE PERSEVERANCE, USBORNE v. MATTOCKS (1856), 7 L. T. 166.

3266. ——.]—Owner of an insufficient barge held liable for loss of cargo of wheat, negligence being also proved.—USBORNE v. GLENDINNING (1857), 3 L. T. 419.

3267. —— Theft.]—REID v. REEDER (1844), 7 L. T. 195.

3268. —— ——.]—HYDE v. GREEN (1845), 9 L. T. 238.

3269. —— ——.]—When a statute creates a duty with the object of preventing a mischief of a particular kind, a person who, by reason of another's neglect of the statutory duty, suffers a loss of a different kind is not entitled to maintain an action in respect of such loss. Deft., a shipowner, undertook to carry pltfs.' sheep from a foreign port to England. On the voyage some of the sheep were washed overboard by reason of deft.'s neglect to take a precaution enjoined by an order of Privy Council, which was made under Contagious Diseases (Animals) Act, 1869 (c. 70), s. 75:—Held: the object of the statute & the

---

as insufficiently proved without it.—MOORE & HARRIS (1876), 2 Q. L. R. 147, P. C.—CAN.

p. —— Of cause of damage on plaintiff.]—In an action by a consignee against a carrier for damage caused by negligent handling of goods (eggs in cases) shipped by sea, wherein it was shown that the goods were receipted for by the carrier at the point of shipment as being in apparent good order & were delivered in the same apparent good order (with the exception of some cases which, deft. admitted, had been dropped on being loaded in one slingload & which it settled for), & the injury sued for was not discovered until after the goods had been reshipped by railway & delivered at a place several thousand miles away:—Held: deft. was not under the onus of proving how the goods were injured.—MAKINS PRODUCE CO. v. CANADIAN AUSTRALIAN ROYAL MAIL LINE, [1927] 1 D. L. R. 97.—CAN.

q. —— When shifted.]—Where a cargo shipped in good condition is delivered damaged by sea water, the onus lies, in the first instance, on the master of the ship, to show that he met with weather of such severity on the voyage, as would be sufficient, primâ facie, to account for the damage to the cargo, but thereafter the onus of proof is shifted, & it rests with the owner of the cargo to prove that the damage was caused by the fault of the master & not through stress of weather.—WILLIAMS v. DOBBIE (1884), 11 R. (Ct. of Sess.) 982; 21 Sc. L. R. 667.—SCOT.

r. Limitation of time for giving notice of loss.]—On a shipment of goods by steamer the bill of lading provided that all claims for damage to or loss of the same must be presented within one month from its date, after which the same should be completely barred: Held: this limitation applied to a claim for damage caused by unseaworthiness of the steamer.—UNION S.S. CO. OF BRITISH COLUMBIA v. DRYSDALE (1902), 32 S. C. R. 379.—CAN.

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 3.—B. (d).

3260 i. Liability of shipowner.]—Several packages of goods were shipped at London to a merchant at Quebec. Upon the arrival of the vessel & delivery of the packages it was ascertained that some of the goods were missing from one of the packages. Notice not having been given until several months afterwards:—Held: the master was not responsible for the deficiency.—SWINBURNE v. MASSUE (1834), Stuart, K. B. 569.—CAN.

3260 ii. ——.]—Where the owner of a vessel undertook by his bill of lading to carry goods, without any exception as to the dangers of navigation or otherwise, & the goods were lost in a violent tempest:—Held: the owner was liable.—WARREN v. WILSON (1842), 6 O. S. 435.—CAN.

3260 iii. ——.]—Where a person delivers a parcel to carry to a person on board a boat not as to a servant of the owners, but to be carried by such person himself, either for reward or otherwise, the person so engaging to carry it is alone responsible for its loss. If, however, the parcel is delivered to the person on board to be carried, not on any private undertaking, but as an officer of the boat, the owners of the boat would be chargeable with the loss, though they were to have no reward for carrying; but then, to establish the liability of the owners, it would be necessary for the jury to find gross negligence in the owners or their servants, or at least a want of that ordinary care which a prudent man would take of his own goods.—MCLEOD v. EBERTS (1850), 7 U. C. R. 244.—CAN.

3260 iv. ——.]—In an action against a steamship co. to recover the value of a case of plate glass carried from Liverpool to Quebec:—Held: the clause in the bill of lading granting the co. option to tranship & forward to Montreal, at the shipper's expense, but owner's risk, did not release the carrier from liability arising from neglect & want of care in the handling & landing of the goods at Montreal.—SAMUEL v. EDMONSTONE (1856), 1 L. C. J. 89.—CAN.

3260 v. ——.]—Where a common carrier receives goods from England on board his lighter, he is not responsible for loss arising from delay in transhipment owing to the ocean vessel being already full, when the bill of lading contains a clause that if, from any cause, the goods do not go forward on board that ship, they should be forwarded by the next steamer of the same line.—TORRANCE v. ALLAN (1863), 6 L. C. J. 190; 8 L. C. J. 57.—CAN.

3260 vi. ——.]—THOMPSON v. ALLAN (1887), 32 L. C. J. 69.—CAN.

3260 vii. ——.]—DHUNJEEBHOY BYRAMJEE METHA v. BETHAM (1867), 2 Ind. Jur. N. S. 305.—IND.

3260 viii. ——.]—A vessel advertised as a coasting vessel between Perth, Newburgh, & Leith, having touched at St. Andrews & having been lost in her course from thence to Leith, the owners of the vessel were found liable for the goods lost.—STEWART v. JOHNSTONE (1810), 2 Scots. Dig. 853.—SCOT.

order being to prevent the spread of contagious disease among animals, & not to protect them against perils of the sea, pltfs. could not recover.—GORRIS v. SCOTT (1874), L. R. 9 Exch. 125; 43 L. J. Ex. 92; 30 L. T. 431; 22 W. R. 575; 20 Asp. M. L. C. 282.

Annotations:—Mentd. Ross v. Rugge-Price (1876), 1 Ex. D. 269; Groves v. Wimborne, [1898] 2 Q. B. 402; Hemmings v. Stoke Poges Golf Club, [1920] 1 K. B. 720; Phillips v. Britannia Hygienic Laundry Co., [1923] 2 K. B. 832.

3270. —— ——.]—THE PRINZ HEINRICH (1897), 14 T. L. R. 48.

3271. —— ——.]—CITY OF BARODA (CARGO OWNERS) v. HALL LINE, LTD., No. 2719, ante.

3272. —— Hague Rules, 1921, Article IV., r. 2—Onus of proof.]—CITY OF BARODA (CARGO OWNERS) v. HALL LINE, LTD., No. 2719, ante.

—— Excepted perils.]—See Sect. 4, ante.

—— Improper stowage.]—See Sect. 5, sub-sect. 5, C. (b), ante.

---

SUB-SECT. 4.—TRANSHIPMENT OF CARGO.

A. In General.

3273. Effect of transhipment—Original contract deemed to be fulfilled.]—SHIPTON v. THORNTON, No. 3131, ante.

3274. —— ——.]—GIBBS v. GREY, GREY v. GIBBS, No. 1925, ante.

3275. —— Original voyage deemed to be continuing.]—HILL v. WILSON, No. 4848, post.

3276. Contract between master & owner of substituted ship—Position of master—Agent of shipowners not cargo owners.]—Defts., London merchants, by charterparty made between them & C., the master of the ship Planter, chartered that ship to bring a cargo of guano from Callao to England. The ship was, by the charterparty, consigned outwards to defts.' agents in South America; & freight at 70*s.* per ton was made payable on her arrival in England, deducting such advances on account of freight as charterers' agents might, as the charterparty empowered them, make to C. in the Pacific. The Planter arrived at Callao, loaded her cargo of guano & set sail for England, defts.' agents having, previously to her sailing, made large advances to C. on account of freight. Soon after sailing she sprang a leak, which compelled her to put back to Callao, & she arrived there the second time, consigned to a firm independent of defts. or their agents. It was then found that she could not proceed on her voyage, & C., defts.' agents refusing to interfere, transhipped the cargo into another ship, the Alarm, to be forwarded to England. For this purpose a charterparty was entered into between pltf., the master & apparent owner of the Alarm, & C. in his own name; under which freight was made payable by the consignees, on ship's arrival in England, at 70*s.* per ton. Pltf. then made out bills of lading, in which C. was named as shippers & defts. as consignees. At the date of this latter charterparty the current rate of freight at Callao was only 40*s.* per ton, & it was agreed between pltf. & C. that pltf. should pay the difference between that & the charterparty freight to C., but whether for C.'s benefit or that of his owners did not appear. The cargo arrived in England, in the Alarm; when pltf. claimed from defts. the full freight of 70*s.* per ton; from which defts., on the other hand, insisted on their right to deduct the advances made to C. by their agents at Callao. Defts. having paid the freight less the amount of such advances, pltf. brought this action to recover that amount. A verdict having been taken, by consent, for pltf., for this amount, leave being reserved to defts. to move to enter it for them, the ct. to have power to draw inferences of fact from the above facts, which were proved at the trial:—Held: making absolute a rule to enter the verdict for defts., (1) the proper inference from the facts was that C. made the charterparty with the Alarm as agent for his owners & not for defts.; the agreement by pltf. to return him part of the charterparty freight being a legitimate transaction in that view, but a gross fraud on defts., to which pltf. was a party, in the other; (2) assuming C. to have made the said charterparty as defts.' ostensible agent, he had no implied authority, from the necessity of the case, on transhipping the cargo, to bind defts. to payment of a higher than the current rate of freight; & pltf. had knowledge of that want of authority; (3) apart from the Alarm charterparty, pltf. had no lien on the cargo for a greater amount of freight than the balance due after crediting defts. with the advances to C., for assuming, a point which the ct. did not decide, that upon a transhipment of cargo arising from necessity, in a port of distress, in order to its being forwarded to its destination, the original shipowner can transfer his lien for freight to the substituted shipowner, he can transfer no greater right of lien than he himself possesses.—MATTHEWS v. GIBBS (1860), 3 E. & E. 282; 30 L. J. Q. B. 55; 3 L. T. 551; 7 Jur. N. S. 186; 9 W. R. 200; 1 Mar. L. C. 14; 121 E. R. 448.

3277. Liability of sub-contractor—Loss of cargo by negligence.]—(1) Gunpowder was shipped for Valparaiso on board a vessel chartered on a voyage to that port, with liberty to touch & stay at the Falkland Islands. On the arrival of the vessel at Port Stanley, where the captain had goods to unload for defts., it was found that by the regulations of the port it would be necessary to land & store the powder before the vessel could enter the harbour. To avoid the inconvenience & expense of this, the captain accepted the offer of the agent of defts. of the use of a vessel belonging to them, called the Fairy, in which to place the powder during his stay at Port Stanley. Defts.' agent afterwards requiring the Fairy for another purpose, without the consent of the captain transhipped the powder to a half-decked vessel called the Lily, which the jury found to be an unsafe & improper vessel for the purpose. Whilst the Lily was anchored outside the harbour, a storm arose & she was sunk, & the powder lost:—Held: defts. were responsible for the value, for that they were either trespassers in removing the powder without the captain's consent, or bailees who had been guilty of want of reasonable care. (2) On the arrival of the ship at Valparaiso, the consignees of the powder demanded it from the captain, &, not obtaining it, took proceedings against the ship, which the captain unsuccessfully resisted, being ultimately compelled to pay the consignees the

---

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 4.—A.

3275 i. Effect of transhipment—Original voyage deemed to be continuing.]—Fifty barrels of oysters having been shipped at Oswego for Toronto per deft.'s vessel the Junius, & the vessel having been obliged by stress of weather to go to Kingston, whence the goods were transhipped for Toronto by the steamer Oshawa, where they arrived in a damaged condition:—Held: deft. was the carrier throughout, that is, from Oswego to Toronto via Kingston.—MCCONKEY v. GORRIE (1856), 5 C. P. 430.—CAN.

3275 ii. —— ——.]—CLAN LINE OF STEAMERS v. ALCOCK & CO. (1896), 13 S. C. 104.—S. AF.

t. —— By unauthorised ship.]—VANCOUVER MILLING & GRAIN CO., LTD. v. UNITED STATES SHIPPING BOARD EMERGENCY FLEET CORPN. (1923), 32 B. C. R. 269; [1923] 2 W. W. R. 579.—CAN.

Sect. 6.—The voyage: Sub-sect. 4, A., B. & C. (a).

value of the powder & the costs:—Held: the owners of the ship could not claim these costs from defts., they not being a necessary consequence of their wrongful act.—RONNEBERG v. FALKLAND ISLANDS CO. (1864), 17 C. B. N. S. 1; 4 New Rep. 243; 34 L. J. C. P. 34; 10 L. T. 530; 10 Jur. N. S. 940; 12 W. R. 914; 2 Mar. L. C. 30; 144 E. R. 1.

3278. —— ——.]—Where the owners of goods contract with a steamship co. under a through bill of lading for their conveyance & delivery, including transhipment by barge at a port en route, a co. which contracts with the steamship co. to supply a barge to tranship the goods commits a tort against the owners of the goods by supplying an unseaworthy barge & is liable to them for damages.—THE TERMAGANT (1914), 30 T. L. R. 377; 19 Com. Cas. 239.

B. Under Express Term of Contract.

3279. Liability of shipowner—Breach of duty to use due diligence.]—A shipowner, being sued on a clause in a bill of lading, by which he was bound to forward the goods by steamer from London to a foreign port; the breach of duty being in not using due diligence to do so, whereby the season was lost:—Held: it was not enough that he had let the discharge & sorting of the cargo take the usual course of business at the docks where the vessel discharged, if he neglected means which might well have been used to hasten the sorting & to procure vessels for the transhipment.

If, for instance, he delayed the transhipment in order to save money he had to pay for freight, that would not be using due diligence, for he had no right to delay the goods for that reason. If, however, the delay was caused by a search for the missing package, & deft. otherwise used due diligence he would be entitled to the verdict (ERLE, C.J.).—CARALI v. XENOS (1862), 2 F. & F. 740, N. P.

3280. —— Where provision for transhipment at shipper's risk—Loss by wreck of vessel to which goods transferred.]—STUART v. BRITISH & AFRICAN STEAM NAVIGATION CO., No. 3180, ante.

3281. —— —— ——.]—Pltfs. shipped at Sydney on board defts.' mail steamer Mooltan a quantity of lead for delivery at Colombo under a bill of lading which exempted defts. from liability for loss due to (inter alia), perils of the seas, & which also contained the following clause: "The co. are to be at liberty to carry the goods to their port of destination by the above or other steamer or steamers . . . proceeding either directly or indirectly to such port, & in so doing to carry the goods beyond their port of destination & to tranship or land & store the goods either on shore or afloat, & reship & forward the same at the co.'s expense, but at merchant's risk." When the Mooltan arrived at Colombo riots had broken out there, which seriously interfered with the employment of coolie labour & the use of lighters into which cargo had to be discharged, & in consequence of these difficulties & the exigencies of the mail service the Mooltan left Colombo without having discharged pltfs.' lead, & proceeded to Bombay to get the Indian mail there. The Mooltan would have been seriously delayed if she had waited at Colombo to discharge pltfs.' lead. At Bombay the lead was transhipped into another steamer, which, while taking it back to Colombo, stranded, & in consequence a portion of the lead was lost. Pltfs. sued to recover the value of the lead that was lost, & the repayment of certain money paid under protest as a general average deposit, alleging that the loss occurred on a voyage from Bombay to Colombo which was not the voyage contemplated:—Held: (1) under the clause in the bill of lading giving defts. liberty to carry goods beyond their port of destination & to reship & forward the same to that port, defts. were entitled to carry the lead on to Bombay & to send it back to Colombo by another steamer, inasmuch as the parties must have contemplated that as the Mooltan was a mail steamer she would have to arrive at & leave the various ports at fixed times, & could not therefore be expected to remain at an intermediate port for an unusual time to discharge her cargo; (2) as the lead was lost by an excepted peril in the course of the voyage back from Bombay to Colombo, defts. were protected from liability.—BROKEN HILL PROPRIETARY CO., LTD. v. PENINSULAR & ORIENTAL STEAM NAVIGATION CO., [1917] 1 K. B. 688; 86 L. J. K. B. 273; 116 L. T. 635; 14 Asp. M. L. C. 116; 22 Com. Cas. 178.

Annotation:—Reid. Buerger v. Cunard S.S. Co., [1925] 2 K. B. 646.

3282. —— —— Negligence in transhipment.]—ALLAN BROTHERS & CO. v. JAMES BROTHERS & CO., No. 2220, ante.

3283. ——————.]—WILSON (THOMAS), SONS & CO., LTD. v. S.S. GALILEO (CARGO EX), THE GALILEO, No. 2219, ante.

3284. —— —— Negligent stowage on ship to which goods transferred.]—ALLAN BROTHERS & CO. v. JAMES BROTHERS & CO., No. 2220, ante.

3285. —— —— Goods carried beyond destination.]—A bill of lading provided (inter alia), that if the master reasonably anticipated that delivery would be impeded at the port of delivery by strikes, he might at any point of the transit, at the risk & expense of the owners of the goods, tranship or land or otherwise dispose of the cargo, or he might proceed on the voyage with the whole or part of the goods, & discharge the same on the return voyage, or forward them to their destination from another port, & if the discharge of the cargo was or threatened to be impeded by absence from whatever cause of facilities of discharge, he was to have liberty at ship's expense, but shipper's risk, to put the whole of the cargo into hulk, lighter, etc. Transhipment of cargo for ports where the ship did not call, or for shipowners' purposes, was to be at shipowners' expense. The bill of lading also provided that goods over-carried should be returned at ship's expense. Pltfs.' cargo was shipped under the bill of lading for London, but the vessel did not call there in consequence of a strike. She proceeded to Liverpool, where the cargo was transhipped & brought to London. In an action brought to recover the expenses of transhipment & dock dues:—Held: on the true construction of the bill of lading, the expenses in question were payable by the shipowners.—WILES & CO., LTD. v. OCEAN S.S. CO., LTD. (1912), 107 L. T. 825; 57 Sol. Jo. 213.

3286. Right of shipowner—To abandon voyage.]—Under a bill of lading goods were shipped on board a steamship "bound, subject to the liberties

---

PART VII. SECT. 6, SUB-SECT. 4.—B.

a. Liability of shipowner.] — A carrier who undertakes to convey goods from Quebec to Chicago, with power to tranship at Kingston, complies with the usages of that port by transhipping from a steamer into a sailing craft, & is further not responsible for the loss of such goods, occasioned by tempestuous weather, in which such sailing craft is wrecked.—WARREN v. HENDERSON (1858), 8 L. C. R. 108.—CAN.

b. —— Where provision for transhipment—At risk of company carrying goods when lost.]—MERCHANTS' DESPATCH TRANSPORTATION CO. v. HATELY (1887), 14 S. C. R. 572.—CAN.

hereafter mentioned, for London . . . with liberty to proceed to or call in any order for any purpose at any port or ports whatsoever, although in a contrary direction to or out of or beyond the ordinary route . . . with liberty either before shipment or at any period of the voyage, & so often as may be deemed expedient, at any port or place, to ship the whole or any part by any other steamship, whether belonging to the co. or not, or transhipment or land & store . . . & thence reship on the steamship or any other steamship, whether belonging to the co. or not, to be carried & delivered (subject to certain exceptions, limitations, & conditions) at the port of London." Among the excepted perils set out in the bill of lading was the following clause numbered 16: "Should the ship for any cause whatever not call at the port for which goods have been shipped, the owners or agents of the ship are at liberty to forward the goods from any port at which they may call to their port of destination by any steamer or steamers, either of their own or any other line. Should the goods for any cause be forwarded by a steamer of any other line shippers & consignees are to be bound by all clauses & conditions of the usual bill of lading of such steamer." During the voyage the destination of the vessel on which the goods were shipped was changed from London to Cardiff, where the goods were transhipped into a small steamer, & by it the goods were carried to London. In an action by the consignees claiming damages on the ground that by abandoning the voyage to London the shipowners lost the protection of all exceptions in their favour in the bill of lading:—Held: (1) the exceptions were wide enough to cover the total abandonment of the final destination to London & were reasonable & did not defeat the object of the bill of lading contract to carry the goods to London; (2) the words "other line" in Clause 16 of the bill of lading meant merely another steamer; & did not therefore compel the shipowners to transhipment the goods into a "liner" as distinguished from a small trading steamer.—HADJI ALI AKBAR & SONS, LTD. v. ANGLO-ARABIAN & PERSIAN S.S. CO., LTD. (1906), 95 L. T. 610; 22 T. L. R. 600; 10 Asp. M. L. C. 307; 11 Com. Cas. 219.

Annotation:—As to (1) Reld. Morrison v. Shaw, Savill & Albion Co., [1916] 1 K. B. 747.

3287. Construction of terms—"Other line"—Not construed to mean "liner."]—HADJI ALI AKBAR & SONS, LTD. v. ANGLO-ARABIAN & PERSIAN S.S. CO., LTD., No. 3286, ante.

3288. —— "Transhipped"—Whether includes putting into lighters.]—WILSON (THOMAS), SONS & CO., LTD. v. S.S. GALILEO (CARGO EX), THE GALILEO, No. 2219, ante.

C. In Interest of Shipowner.

(a) In General.

Duty of master to convey cargo in same ship.]—See Sect. 6, sub-sect. 2, A., ante.

